Flu cases decline for second week in Alabama

By ALLISON MARLOW
allisonm@gulfcoastmedia.com

So far, flu season has been relatively gentle on southwest Alabama. According to the Alabama Department of Public Health, the state's southwest district, which includes Baldwin County, is leading the state as one of the places seeing the least number of doctor visits associated with flu-like symptoms. Officials said 5.9 percent of patients in this area report flu symptoms while the number across the state remains at 5.11 percent. At Thomas Hospital, officials there treated 84 patients for influenza between Nov.

3, 2019 and Jan. 5, 2020, a staggering decline from the previous year which saw 139 patients in the same time period. Between Nov. 1, 2019 and Jan. 20, 2020, South Baldwin Regional Medical Center in Foley treated 224 patients for influenza. The number of patients treated the previous year was unavailable by press time. The Centers for Disease Control also reported a drop in flu activity for the past two weeks, however high levels of the virus remain active in 32 states, including Alabama. Officials said they are

Baldwin County chambers set legislative agenda

By ALLISON MARLOW
allisonm@gulfcoastmedia.com

This year when the Alabama Legislature gathers, representatives will hear a single, unified voice from Baldwin County's Chambers of Commerce. The five area chambers collectively represent 3,600 businesses and 75,000 employees. Last fall they polled everyone in their rosters and created a legislative agenda that looked to improve life as a whole in Baldwin County.

"The Coalition aims to support business by educating employers and their employees regarding important legislative issues, connecting directly with our local elected officials about issues that matter to our business members in Baldwin County," said a press release for the Baldwin County Chamber Coalition. The survey touched on everything from road repair to health-care. "We always appreciate the counsel and advice from our chambers from across Baldwin County," Rep. Matt Simpson said.

LOXLEY — About 40 souls braved the cold and close to 80 participated in a program to honor Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. on Monday, Jan. 20 in Loxley.

After marching from the Loxley Church of God to the Loxley Civic Center, Monday's program featured Dr. Willie L. Patterson III, chief of the Real Estate Division, Mobile District, with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Patterson's speech focused on "How we can keep the dream alive today."

"Dr. King's dream was about focusing not on the color of a person's skin, but on the content of their heart," Patterson said. "To do that we have to learn to love each other."

Patterson said keeping the dream alive, you have to be

BAY MINETTE — Baldwin County will be asking the public for help later this year to resolve a $200-million funding challenge for local highway expansion, officials said Tuesday, Jan. 21.

County Engineer Joey Nunnally told county commissioners that improvement projects needed to increase capacity on Baldwin roads are expected to cost about $227 million.

Most of that cost is $200 million to extend the Baldwin Beach Express from where it now ends at Interstate 10 north to Interstate 65, he said.

Commissioner Charles "Skip" Gruber said the county does not have the money to pay the cost of extending the highway. An amendment on the November 2020 ballot would allow Baldwin County to create a toll authority for

By highlighting these issues, the chambers continue to help our delegation make sure we maintain and improve upon the Baldwin County we live in and love."

The following are the goals set forth by the coalition, based on the poll results:

Infrastructure

- As members of the Alliance for Alabama's Infrastructure, the Baldwin County Chamber Coalition supports continued advocacy for improvements, development, and adequate funding of Baldwin County's Roads and Bridges.
- Supports efforts that will create progress on the I-10 / Mobile Bay Bridge Project and the development of the I-65 Beach Express Connector in Baldwin County.

- Supports efforts to ensure reliable broadband connectivity across Baldwin County for business, industry and residents.

Workforce and Education

- The Baldwin County Chamber Coalition supports legislation that will support and fund Youth and Adult Apprenticeship Programs and Skilled Workforce Training Centers for skilled workforce development through partnerships with regional workforce councils such as SAWDC Alabama Works.
- Supports Governor Kay Ivey's Strong Start, Strong Finish K-12 Education initiative.
- Supports the development of housing that will sustain all workforce needs in Baldwin County.

- Supports the widening and deepening of the shipping channel at the State Port in Mobile, as well as improvements to the Alabama Port and any legislation and the allocation of funding at the state and federal levels to complete these projects.

Quality of Life

- The Baldwin County Chamber Coalition supports legislation that will establish and promote responsible and sustainable interactions with and the enjoyment of natural resources, including but not limited to the Causeway Master Plan, Baldwin County Beaches, Mobile Bay and the Tensaw River Delta.
- Supports legislation which will encourage environmentally-friendly business practices for growing, sustaining and developing business and industry in Baldwin County.
- Supports programs that will allow increased access to and quality of healthcare for employees and service providers through legislation and allocation of funding at the state and federal levels hearings and briefings, and answering constituent letters on various issues.

Byrne said: "I am pleased to once again be able to offer summer internships in my offices in Mobile and Washington. The opportunity to learn the legislative process firsthand and work directly with the people of Southwest Alabama provides invaluable practical experience for students looking to enter nearly any career field. I encourage all who are eligible to apply."

Outdoor Conditions: Can you believe it's almost February? This time of year along the Gulf Coast can bring us some of the coldest weather of the winter. Mobile's all-time record low of -1° was set on February 13, 1899! February also brings occasional warm weather (it can get into the 80s) and rounds of severe weather, something to be mindful of before hitting the water. February also brings us Mardi Gras this year (February 25th) and the beginnings of sheepshead fishing season along the coast of Baldwin County. While the best fishing for these toothy, black and white striped fish doesn't come until March and April, you may get lucky and run into a small school of these "convicts," notorious for their tendency to steal the bait right off your hook. Other than sheepshead, your angling choices at this time of year are limited by the chilly water temperature and the whims of the weather. You are most likely to encounter white trout, whiting and a smattering of speckled trout. If you are heading out there, good luck and be safe!

Stop committing crape murder

By ANN CHAMBLISS
Alabama Agricultural Extension Service

This time of year, too many crape myrtles are slaughtered. Homeowners go wild pruning these trees, possibly damaging and stunting their growth and beauty.

Crape myrtles are a popular choice because of the bright bloom colors of red, white, pink or purple. Pruning crape myrtles correctly is essential for these qualities to flourish in the tree.

Crape Murder
Sadly, the wrong pruning techniques happen most often with crape myrtle trees. That is why many have called this practice crape murder. Gardeners often do not know how to properly prune their crape myrtles and end up doing what everyone else in the neighborhood does.

Crape myrtles come in all different sizes ranging from four to 40 feet. Dani Carroll, an Alabama Extension home grounds regional agent, said a common mistake gardeners make is planting large crape myrtles in flower beds.

“People don’t realize that crape myrtles are trees, not shrubs,” Carroll said, “They must be planted and pruned according to their size.”

Knowing and executing the correct pruning technique helps make trees and shrubs healthier and more productive.

Pruning with Purpose

“Always prune with a purpose,” Carroll said. “Never prune just because it is the right time of year.”

Pruning should only be done if the tree is in need of reshaping, if branches are rubbing against each other, creating wounds or if parts of the tree are dead or diseased. The right time of year to prune crape myrtles is in late winter.

SUBMITTED PHOTO

However, if the tree has dead or diseased wood, the limbs can be pruned at any time of year.

Carroll offers the following tips for pruning this winter.

- Use hand pruners for pruning limbs less than 1 inch in diameter
- Use lopping pruners for pruning limbs up

- to 2 inches in diameter
- A pruning saw is the best tool for pruning any branches more than 2 inches in diameter.

There is still hope for stopping crape murder. Now is the time to correct past hurts on crape myrtle trees and prune them to enhance what they have to offer.

County long-range plan discussions set

By GUY BUSBY
guy@gulfcoastmedia.com

BAY MINETTE — Baldwin County residents will have two chances to discuss long-range planning for the county at public meetings Jan. 30 and Feb. 13.

The meetings will be at the Baldwin County Annex on Palmer Street in Robertsdale from 6 to 8 p.m., Sherry-Lea Bloodworth Botop, county public information officer and community engagement manager, said Tuesday.

Baldwin County’s current master plan was created in 1996. Officials said the plan needs to be modified to help the county deal with the fastest growth rate in Alabama.

Since 1970, Baldwin County’s population has increased 261 percent, to more than 218,000. By comparison, Alabama’s population has increased 42 percent in the same period.

The plan would help the county identify areas where the population is expected to increase in the county, County Administrator Wayne Dyess said in an earlier interview, and identify locations where growth could be directed.

Luther King Group held its program in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Each year, the nationwide Martin Luther King Jr. Day of Service is held on the third Monday of January to commemorate his birthday on Jan. 15. Introduced as legislation by U.S. Sen. Harris Wofford of Pennsylvania and Atlanta Congressman John Lewis, MLK Day was signed into law by President Bill Clinton in 1994.

Marches held in King's honor commemorate the 1965 march from Selma to Montgomery that created national support for federal voting rights legislation.

The program also featured prayer and singing, including closing with "We Shall Overthe new section of the Beach Express.

"With the Baldwin Beach Express, we have a big vote coming up in November with the toll authority. That's something that we really need to consider, to start working on, to make that one of our priorities so the citizens can vote on whether we do that or not," Gruber said. "We need to get started on that because November is right around the corner."

In 2016, Baldwin voters rejected a bill that would have allowed the county to create a toll authority. Opponents said at the time that they feared that the amendment would have allowed the county to place tolls on existing roads.

Commissioner Joe Davis said the new legislation would only allow a toll on the new section of the Beach Express.

"That toll authority is not authorized to toll anything but BBII," he said. "It's very important for our citizens to realize that. We're not opening a door through this legislation to toll everything."

Nunnally said the language of the new toll proposal should clarify what can and cannot be tolled.

"The first time that was on the ballot, it was very unclear that was the intent, so we made it very clear that the intent on this one was to just toll the Baldwin Beach Express from I-10 to 65," Nunnally said. "That's the only section of the Baldwin Beach Express that's to be tolled."

Nunnally said the new toll plan would also allow drivers to use the current roads without tolls, unlike the proposed toll for a new Mobile River bridge and the current I-10 Bayway that was rejected by Baldwin officials in 2019.

"This road doesn't exist today," Nunnally said of the Beach Express extension. "Obviously, there's another route that people could take if they didn't want to take the toll road. That route would still be available for them to take as well."

Even without the expense of the Beach Express, the county still faces expensive road and bridge challenges, Nunnally said.

Other needed capacity improvements will cost about $27 million. The county needs to improve 16 bridges at a cost of $36.8 million.

Nunnally said paved roads should be resurfaced about every 12 years. With 1,377 miles of paved road, the county would need to resurface about 115 miles of road a year, to keep up with that rate. Since 2015, the county has resurfaced between about 50 and 70 miles a year.

"So you can see we're not meeting our needs from a resurfacing standpoint, but we're doing all we can do with the funds that we've got," Nunnally told commissioners.

Fine arts focus of Superintendent's January breakfast

By JOHN UNDERWOOD
john@gulfcoastmedia.com

ROBERTSDALE — Fine arts was the focus of the January Superintendent's Breakfast held Friday, Jan. 17 at the South Baldwin Center for Technology Culinary Arts Building in Robertsdale.

Chef Dan Navarro and his award-winning student culinary staff again cooked up and served breakfast for the meeting, which was presided over by Marty McRae, assistant superintendent, secondary, for Baldwin County Schools, because Superintendent Eddie Tyler was out of town.

Artwork from Baldwin County School students was featured and music was provided by the Saxophone Ensemble at Robertsdale High School.

RHS Band Director Lee Hughes said the students operate independently, scheduling their own practices and requesting their own music.

"I'm basically just a secretary at this point," he said. "I assist them in whatever way I can, but this is completely student run."

The Saxophone Ensemble is one of many ensembles on the school's campus, Hughes said, commending his students, not only for accolades achieved in the music field, but also academically.

"Right now the top two students at RHS are band students," he said. "These are some of the brightest most accomplished students we have and I take pride in the fact that, whether or not they choose music as their career path, they will be successful in whatever they choose to do."

McRae reiterated the importance Baldwin County schools place on fine arts programs throughout the county.

"This is a prime example of students providing leadership in our schools," he said, "and it is the reason programs like these are so important to the education of our students."

Tom Hartner, secondary coordinator for curriculum and instruction with Baldwin County Public Schools, spoke on behalf of Amy Plunkett, BCBE Fine Arts supervisor, who was in Mobile at a competition.

Baldwin County currently employs 95 educators in the Public School System's fine arts programs.

hopeful that flu season is beginning to wind down, but it is still too early to tell. And, many places, including southern states, have faced a very different flu experience than in previous years.

Aarol Sheehan, director of the public information division of the Alabama Department of Public Health, said a strain of influenza B hit the southeast region hard and hit early. That strain usually doesn't show up until the end of flu season. The switch caused early flu numbers to swell across much of the nation but also means flu cases now are disappearing quicker.

Sheehan also said since the B strain is one that more people have faced in previous years, the elderly population may have had a better immune response and suffered less illness and fatalities.

Unfortunately, younger populations have not had as much

Flu Facts

Patti P Thames, MSN, BSN, RN, CIC, of the Infectious Disease Division at Thomas Hospital, answered our questions about the flu, how to treat it and prevent it.

Why get the flu shot?

Influenza is a potentially serious disease that can lead to hospitalization and sometimes death. Vaccination has been shown to have many benefits including reducing the risk of flu illness. Some people who get vaccinated may still get the sick, however flu vaccination has been shown in some studies to reduce severity of illness in people who get the flu.

The benefits are of flu vaccination are:

- Flu vaccination can keep you from getting sick with flu.
- Flu vaccination can reduce the risk of flu-associated hospitalization for children, working age adults, and older adults.
- Flu vaccination is an important preventive tool for people with chronic health conditions such as heart disease, chronic lung disease, diabetes just to name a few.
- Flu vaccination helps protect women during and after pregnancy
- Flu vaccination can be life-saving in children.

- Flu vaccination can reduce severity of illness in people who get sick
- Getting vaccinated yourself can protect people around you, like babies, young children, older people and those people with chronic health conditions.

What is the best prevention for flu?

- Get the annual flu vaccination every year. CDC recommends all who are 6 months and older should get the flu vaccine before the flu activity begins in your community.
- Wash your hands frequently! Use soap and water at least 15 seconds, or the use of alcohol-based hand rub.
- Keep hands off face, this is the number one way germs are spread by touching of mouth, eyes, and nose. Keep hands below the chin!
- Try to avoid close contact with people who are sick.
- Clean and disinfect environmental surfaces and other objects (such as your phone) that may harbor germs.
- Cover your cough and sneezes.

What are flu symptoms?

Usually flu symptoms come on suddenly.

The symptoms can be any combination of the following: fever, chills, cough, sore throat, runny or stuffy nose, muscle or body aches, headaches, fatigue. Some people may have nausea, vomiting and diarrhea.

How do you differentiate between flu and other viruses you may catch?

It can be difficult to tell the difference amongst viruses when just assessing symptoms. In general, the flu is worse and the symptoms are more intense. There are a number of influenza tests available, however many of them are not very accurate. You could still have the flu even though the test reads negative. Most healthcare providers will diagnose you with flu based on symptoms and their clinical judgement.

When should you seek medical attention for flu?

If you are in the high-risk group for flu complications which includes young children, adults 65 years of age or older, pregnant women, and people with medical conditions such as asthma, diabetes, and heart disease, or you are very sick or worried about your illness, contact your healthcare provider. The CDC provides a list of emergency warning signs of flu. The list below is not all-inclusive.

For Children:

- Rapid breathing or trouble breathing
- Fever above 104 or children less than 12 weeks any fever
- Severe muscle pain (child refuses to walk)
- Ribs pulling in with each breath
- Dehydration, no urine for 8 hours, dry mouth, no tears when crying
- Decreased alertness, appears listless

In Adults:

- Shortness of breath or difficulty breathing
- Abdominal pain or chest pain
- Confusion, or the inability to arouse
- Dehydration such as not urinating
- Fever

How do you treat flu?

Antiviral drugs may be a treatment option especially if you are at high risk for flu complications. Again, remember those who are at high risk for flu complications include young children, adults 65 years of age or older, pregnant women, and people who have medical conditions such as asthma, diabetes, and heart disease. For others non-high risk, just treating the symptoms, such as fever reducing medications.

exposure to the B strain, resulting in higher cases of severe illness, especially in children. Nationally there have been 39 pediatric deaths this year attributed to flu, compared to 28 last season. Alabama has had no pediatric deaths in the 2019-20 season. Nationally, the CDC estimates so far this season there have been 13 million cases of the flu, 120,000 hospitalizations and 6,600 deaths. During the 2018-19 season the CDC reported that 42.9 million people were sick with the virus, 647,000 people were hospitalized and 61,200 died. That season lasted 21 weeks, the longest the U.S. had experienced in a decade. On average flu season lasts 13 weeks and peaks in January or February. Both the CDC and local providers are urging anyone who has not received a flu vaccine yet to get one.

Fairhope Library hosts program on Alabama success story

Submitted

The public is invited to attend a presentation by Gerald Andrews at the Fairhope Public Library on Tuesday, Jan. 28, at 10:30 a.m. Andrews will be discussing his new book “A Mill Village Story: A Southern Boyhood Joyfully Remembered.”

“A Mill Village Story” is the record of one man’s upbringing in a place and time that is quickly vanishing. A quintessentially American small town, West Point, Georgia, is a place defined by its local industry — a world-class textile mill run by the West Point-Pepperell corporation — and adherence to traditional Southern values of congeniality, manners, and friendliness. Everyone author Gerald Andrews knew or even just rubbed shoulders with worked at the mill, and it was Andrews’s experiences there that would take him from relative poverty to the corporate boardroom. “A Mill Village Story” is an account of Andrews’s early years, his rapid rise to leadership in various textile firms, and the special character of the village that shaped him.

Gerald Andrews grew up in a small Southern mill village. He attended Auburn University and Harvard Business School, and has received over eighty honors and awards in praise of his creative brand of leadership. He has served as Corporate Executive Vice President of West Point Stevens, Inc. in New York; President and CEO of Johnston Industries; CEO and Chairman of Accelerate Technologies; and Executive-in-Residence at Auburn University. “A Mill Village Story” is his first book.

This program is presented by the Friends of the Fairhope Public Library as part of the library’s weekly Tuesday Book Review & Lecture Series.

Parents, high school students, teachers, and community members are invited to a free movie night celebrating education at Bernheim Hall at the Ben May Main Library on Thursday, Jan. 30. The event will run from 6 – 9 p.m. and feature a screening of “Miss Virginia,” as well as free popcorn, soda, and snacks.

“Miss Virginia,” the critically acclaimed Moving Picture Institute Original feature film starring Uzo Aduba, Matthew Modine, Vanessa Williams, and Niles Fitch, is inspired by the true story of Virginia Walden Ford. A struggling single mother, she is losing her teenage son to the rough streets of Washington, DC. Unwilling to see him drop out and deal drugs, she puts him in a private school. But when she can’t afford tuition, she launches a movement to change the system that is destroying him and thousands like him.

This event is planned to coincide with the history-making celebration of National School Choice Week 2020, which will feature more than 50,000 school choice events across all 50 states.

“The movie showcases a perfect example of how much school choice matters to struggling families that don’t have the means to afford private school,” said Julie Benz, scholarship program manager at Alabama Opportunity Scholarship Fund.

Bernheim Hall is located at the Ben May Main Library at 701 Government St.

The “Miss Virginia” film screening is being hosted by Alabama Scholarship Opportunity Fund, which provides tax-credited scholarships to low-income K-12 children across Alabama to attend the public or private school of their choice.

For more information, contact Julie Benz at jbenz@alabamascholarshipfund.org or 205-206-7806.

As a nonpartisan, non-political public awareness effort, National School Choice Week shines a positive spotlight on effective education options for students, families, and communities around the country. From Jan. 26 through Feb. 1, more than 50,000 independently-planned events will be held in celebration of the Week. For more information, visit www.schoolchoice-week.com.

The Black Jacket Symphony to Present Pink Floyd’s The Wall

Submitted

The Black Jacket Symphony offers a unique concert experience through recreating classic albums in a live performance setting. Friday, May 8 at Mobile’s Saenger Theatre will see The Black Jacket Symphony perform Pink Floyd’s The Wall in its entirety by a group of handpicked musicians specifically selected for the album, with no sonic detail being overlooked — the musicians do whatever it takes to musically reproduce the album.

The performance is separated into two sets. The first set features The Wall. The second set, which features a selection of Pink Floyd’s “greatest hits,” opens in full contrast to the first set with an incredible light display and the symphony being much more laid back. The tone is set very quickly that the show will feature the high level of musicianship of Pink Floyd and will also be accompanied by all the bells and whistles of a major rock and roll show.

Tickets on sale today and cost $27 and $32. Additional fees may apply.

Purchase tickets at bit.ly/bjspinkfloydmob or in person at the Saenger Theatre Box Office (open Monday - Friday, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., and located at 6 South Joachim Street) or the Mobile Civic Center Box Office (open Monday – Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and located at 401 Civic Center Drive). For information regarding accessible seating tickets, call 251-208-7381. Additional fees, service charges and/or taxes may be added to ticket prices. All dates, acts and ticket prices subject to change without notice.

Throughout January and February, Gulf

The lecture series not only showcases the uniqueness of Alabama's Gulf Coast,

To improve the lecture experience for all guests, this year's lectures offer the opportunity for advanced registration. To ensure you get a seat at the lectures of your choice, register online at GulfShores.com/lectures.

All lectures will be held in the Gulf Shores Welcome Center located at 3459 Gulf Shores Parkway. Each lecture is free to the public and

Sea Turtle half-marathon and Sweetheart 5K Feb. 15

LA Fleet Club has announced the 19th Annual Sweetheart SK and 1-mile Fun Run at The Hangout. The race will kick off Saturday, Feb. 15, at 7:30 a.m. with the Sea Turtle half-marathon, a beautiful destination run and a fast and flat course.

This event draws athletes, runners and families from across the Southeast because of the unmatched scenery of the course, adjacent to the white sandy beaches and turquoise Gulf waters.

The 1-mile Fun Run will start at 8:30 a.m. and the Sweetheart SK will follow at 9 a.m. One of the many reasons families love this iconic race is because the children can participate in the fun run while parents compete in the half-marathon, and all 3 races finish at approximately the same time.

Immediately following the race, a post-race after-party in The Hangout courtyard with live music, craft beer, and games for the children like giant Jenga, foosball and ping pong, foam parties and more.

Participants receive one box lunch provided by The Hangout, and the award ceremony will take place in front of the main stage. The race coordinators will announce the winners for each category and age group.

Nonprofit support every year with 100 percent of the race proceeds support charitable causes such as Camp Rap-A-Hope, Mary's Shelter Gulf Coast, Share the Beach, Gulf Coast Arts Alliance, Alabama Marine Mammal Stranding Network, and Miracle League of Coastal Alabama.

Review of South and North Squad in practices for the 2020 Senior Bowl

SOUTH

The 2020 Senior Bowl in Mobile has seen adjustments with multiple players pulling out either the day before or at the last minute. Alabama Crimson Tide defensive tackle Raekwon Davis and Auburn Tigers offensive tackle Prince Tega Wanogho both pulled out of the Senior Bowl week due to injuries. Alabama cornerback Trevon Diggs also pulled out at the last second.

MICHAEL HANICH
Sports Analysis

Many players here at the Senior Bowl are practicing in front of scouts and coaches looking to boost their NFL Draft stock and continue to develop their playing ability. Many players on the South Squad saw significant improvement on their draft stock on only one day of practice and weigh-in last Tuesday.

One of the biggest players that impressed scouts and coaches from the very beginning of the week was South Carolina Gamecocks defensive tackle Javon Kinlaw. He measured in at 6-foot-5, 315 pounds as one of the biggest players in this event. During the first day of practice, Kinlaw dominated the one-on-one drills and team period against opposing offensive line. Kinlaw displayed his explosive get off, violent movement at the point of hitting, and elusiveness.

Oregon Ducks quarterback Justin Herbert, who is projected to be selected within the top 15 of the 2020 NFL Draft, had a great first day of practice. Many analysts, scouts, and coaches already knew of his talent and ability to throw the ball. They wanted to see how he would react to being coached by an NFL coaching staff in the Cincinnati Bengals. He was the best thrower of the South Squad quarterbacks, made great decisions and throws in the team period, and displayed his athleticism in position drills.

The player who might have had the best day in the first practice was Auburn Tigers defensive end Marlon Davidson. Before the practices, he measured in 6-3, 297 pounds which impressed many NFL personnel. From start to finish, Davidson displayed his quickness and explosive get-off and great athleticism for his size. Davidson is a player who might have boosted his draft stock the most on day one of all the participants in the 2020 Senior Bowl.

Throughout the week, there will be many areas to watch for the remaining week. Oklahoma Sooners quarterback Jalen Hurts struggled in his first day throwing the ball, he will have the rest of the week to improve. Clemson Tigers safety K'Von Wallace, Florida Gators defensive end Jabari Zuniga, and LSU Tigers tight end Stephen Sullivan will all be players to watch for as well.

NORTH

With the South Squad taking much of the attention of the fans, analysts, and NFL personnel, it is up for the players on the North Squad to showcase their talent while being under looked. This 2020 Senior Bowl will be big for all players to raise their NFL Draft stock in front of NFL scouts and coaches. Many of the participants of the North Squad of the Senior Bowl made their presence known with a great first day of practice.

Oklahoma Sooners defensive tackle Neville Gallimore was a borderline first-round prospect before the 2020 Senior Bowl week started. While most participants of the North Squad defensive line had a successful first day, Gallimore was the best and most consistent player in position drills and team period drills. His hitting ability and elusiveness were on full display on the first day of practice. He was easily winning one-on-one matchups against offensive linemen of high-caliber talent.

This 2020 Senior Bowl was the first big opportunity for Utah State Aggies quarterback Jordan

Love for his potential pro career. Like Carson Wentz (Philadelphia Eagles) and Josh Allen (Buffalo Bills) coming from North Dakota State and Wyoming, respectively, Love needed this big stage to present his dual-threat playing abilities. On Tuesday, Love was the most consistent quarterback with a great arsenal of weapons. He will continue to be able to impress NFL scouts and coaches in the Senior Bowl to secure a first-round Draft grade for an NFL playoff team.

Washington Huskies center Nick Harris and Notre Dame Fighting Irish cornerback Troy Pride Jr. were the other participants that performed well on the first day of practice. These were players that were energetic and efficient in one-on-one matchups. Even though they were beat a very few times, both players responded well to win the next matchup. Harris was stout in his reach blocking and keeping the pocket clean from the pass rush. Pride was a lockdown cornerback on multiple different routes by the receivers.

Other players to watch for in this Senior Bowl as they continue to build their NFL draft stock include North Carolina Tarheels defensive end Jason Strowbridge, UCLA Bruins running back Joshua Kelley, and Dayton Flyers tight end Adam Trautman.

Opinion

Baldwin, Alabama's "donor" county, should strive to donate 100% of its numbers to the 2020 census

We're different here. Different than the rest of Alabama.

In a state consistently ranked near the bottom compared to the other 49 on important quality of life measurements ... income, education, poverty, unemployment and more ... Baldwin County is a rare exception.

Those differences were graphically shown at a recent Eastern Shore Chamber of Commerce breakfast where national, state and local demographic statistics generated by the Public Affairs Research Council of Alabama were presented to a crowd of community and business leaders.

Some of the statewide statistics presented were sad. Twenty-eight of Alabama's counties were classified as "dying counties", characterized by a combination of death rates greater than birthrates and out-migration greater than in-migration. But not Baldwin County. Our 218,022 residents increased by 2.5% last year. The state's 4.9 million residents only grew .3%.

Ten years ago, Alabama and South Carolina had virtually the same population. Now South Carolina has 250,000 more residents than Alabama. Over the past 10 years, while Alabama's population has stood still, the rest of the southeast (except Mississippi) has seen significant population increase. It seems Alabama is surrounded by growth but somehow is missing out on the trend.

On important measures, Baldwin is different than the entire state. Baldwin's population increased by 129.6% over the past ten years while Alabama grew by just 2.6%.

90.3% of Baldwin residents have high school diplomas, Alabama's total is 85.8%.

Thirty-one percent of Baldwin residents hold bachelor's degrees compared to Alabama with 24.9%.

Baldwin median household income is $55,962. Alabama's is $48,486.

Baldwin per capita income is $31,203 compared to the state at $26,846.

Under 10% of Baldwin residents live in poverty compared to 16.8% of Alabamians.

Total retail sales per capita is $16,488 in Baldwin compared to $12,145 across Alabama.

Usually, being one of Alabama's few affluent and educated counties, while certainly good for us, also has accompanying problems. We are out-voted in Montgomery by the majority of the state's elected officials representing areas that have less. Hence the Deepwater Horizon oil spill compensation, paid to remedy the damages done here, was spent across the state instead of in just the two coastal counties actually experiencing the economic and ecological damage. And hence the sales tax monies generated each year by six million annual visiting tourists using Baldwin infrastructure, police, fire and medical being syphoned to the rest of the state instead of being spent where it is generated.

But being one of the few affluent counties also comes with a responsibility to our fellow Alabama citizens, despite the economic injustice coming from Montgomery. And this year, we have a big chance to act on that responsibility, namely, the 2020 US census.

Alabama is poised, due to its lack of growth in the face of other state's impressive growth, to lose a congressional seat, moving from our present seven seats to six, for the next ten years and to also get reduced federal funding that is dolled out from Washington based on census numbers. We are poised to lose political clout and money due to virtually no growth.

The 2020 census will try to count all U.S. residents this year. But on the first round of Alabama questionnaires sent in 2010, only 72% of residents responded. Later, census workers fanned out to conduct in-person interviews and try their best to count the non-respondents to get as close as possible to 100% accuracy.

But it is the more marginalized citizens who typically do not respond to the census. Young people. Under educated. Unemployed. Homeless. Illegal immigrants. All needing social services but falling through the cracks when trying to be counted.

Baldwin's demographics make the marginalized citizen less likely to be present in our population. We should strive throughout Baldwin to count every single resident. High Baldwin participation rates will help all of Alabama grapple with a stagnant population growth compounded by a likely undercount.

Although Baldwin certainly gives enough to the rest of the state in taxes and damage remedies, in the case of the census, we should strive to give our numbers at 100%. It will help Baldwin and all of Alabama.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Thank you for sharing the meaning of Christmas

Dear Editor,
I am writing to thank Foley residents for sharing the true meaning of Christmas with children in need this past holiday season.

Because of the generosity of donors in Foley and across the United States, Operation Christmas Child, a project of Samaritan's Purse, collected more than 8.9 million shoebox gifts in 2019. Combined with those collected from partnering countries in 2019, the ministry is now sending 10,569,405 shoebox gifts to children worldwide.

Through shoeboxes — packed with fun toys, school supplies and hygiene items — Foley volunteers brought joy to children in need around the world. Each gift-filled shoebox is a tangible expression of God's love, and it is often the first gift these children have ever received.

Thanks to the generosity of donors, Operation Christmas Child has collected and delivered more than 178 million gift-filled shoeboxes to children in more than 160 countries and territories since 1993.

It's not too late for people to make a difference. Though drop-off locations serving Foley are closed until November 16 – 23, 2020, information about year-round volunteer opportunities can also be found at samaritanspurserg.org/occ or by calling 770-777-9342.

Thank you again to everyone who participated in this global project — many who do so year after year. These simple gifts, packed with love, send a message to children worldwide that they are loved and not forgotten.

Sincerely,

*Dana Williams

The biggest mistake parents make when it comes to education

By ANDREW R. CAMPANELLA

This National School Choice Week (January 26 - February 1), I want to share with you one of the most common short-circuits that parents run into when choosing the right school for their child. That way, if you see it coming, you can run the other way.

It starts with a thought like this: "Do I as a parent really know best about my child's education? After all, I don't have a graduate degree in education. There's a lot of school jargon I'm not sure about. Should I let more equipped people make the calls about where and how my child is educated?"

I understand the tendency to think that way. But I work with tens of thousands of school leaders around the country - the "education experts" — every year, and here's what I believe:

You know your child better than anyone else. You are the expert on your child as a whole person — How they learn, experience the world, and what they're passionate about. You are best positioned to help your student find the learning environment where their unique self will be cared for and inspired. Nobody is more invested in your child's happiness than you.

The biggest mistake you can make as a parent is not recognizing that power you hold. Not only are you best equipped to make choices for your child's education, but it can be one of the most rewarding things you ever do! When a parent finds a learning environment where their child's potential is unleashed, it can mean the difference between that child finding success and confidence, or feeling like a failure.

Change that starts with parents is the single most powerful way to improve education in the Mobile and Pensacola area. Seek advice and use research, certainly, but also believe in your instinct and expertise as a parent. Around the country there's evidence that, when we make it easier for parents to choose, they do make good choices for their child's education. We've seen the positive impact accessible school options have had in places like Miami, Philadelphia, Phoenix, and more.

In the Mobile and Pensacola area parents have different options depending on whether they reside in Florida or Alabama.

In Alabama, families can choose from traditional public schools, charter schools, magnet schools, private schools, homeschooling, and online schools. Alabama does not offer open enrollment in traditional public schools. However, students below a certain income level or transferring from underperforming schools are eligible for state-run scholarship programs. In Florida, there are a variety of educational options available to attend including: traditional public schools, charter schools, magnet schools, private schools, online schools, and homeschooling. Florida's state-run scholarship programs extend to students in families with modest incomes, with an Individualized Education Plan, or victims of violence in public schools, in addition to a few other student groups.

School choice is the starting point for better schools, where families are personally invested and there is a strong human connection and open communication between parents and teachers. When students learn that learning is something to be excited by, invested in, and challenged by, that shapes their perspective for life.

This School Choice Week, parents, students, and educators in the events and activities, celebrating all types of K-12 education and sharing knowledge with each other. It's also a celebration of parents recognizing their power and choosing to be involved in their child's education. This Week, realize your power as a parent and start thinking about what learning environment can best inspire your child to happiness in the 2020-2021 school year.

A nationally recognized advocate for children and families, Andrew R. Campanella serves as president of National School Choice Week, the world's largest-annual celebration of opportunity in education. He lives in Miami, Florida.

Greg Kinnear, Melanie Liburd and Sherri Shepherd also star.

“Movie: Luce”

Parents are forced into a reckoning when a teacher raises a red flag on their son, who they adopted from war-torn Eritrea, in this 2019 drama movie from director Julius Onah (“Don’t Look Back”). Naomi Watts, Octavia Spencer and Tim Roth head a talented cast.

Monday Bets

- 7 p.m. on FOX-10 FOX-25 9-1-1: Lone Star
- Judd (Jim Parrack) accuses Owen (Rob Lowe) of giving preferential treatment to TK (Ronen Rubinstein) in a new episode called "Texas Proud," and the circulation of another viral rescue video leaves Marjan (Natacha Karam) feeling ostracized at her new mosque. While the team responds to an accident at a grain silo, Owen tries to help Michelle (Liv Tyler) uncover new information about her sister's disappearance. Sierra McClain also is featured.
- 7 p.m. on CW-55 All American
- Tyrone (guest star Demetrius Shipp Jr.) is back on the streets, forcing Spencer (Daniel Ezra) to step outside his comfort zone and turn overly protective of Coop and Laura (Bre-Z, Monet Mazur) in the new episode "Protect Ya Neck." Elsewhere, a nervous Olivia (Samantha Logan) looks for support from Asher (Cody Christian) as her SoLa Muse Cotillion event looms, but he seems more focused on football than ever. Coop's jealous streak comes out, threatening her relationship with Patience (guess star Chelsea Tavares).

- 8 p.m. on CW-55 Black Lightning
- Jefferson, Anissa and Jennifer (Cress Williams, Nafessa Williams, China Anne McClain) are dismayed to discover that the entire Pierce family is being pursued by the ASA in the new episode "The Book of Markovia: Chapter Two." Elsewhere, Lynn (Christine Adams) does something unthinkable. James Remar, Damon Gupton, Marvin Jones III and Jordan Calloway also are featured.
- 9 p.m. on PBS-42 No Passport Required
- Chef and host Marcus Samuelsson continues Season 2 of this absorbing culinary series exploring the rich diversity of immigrant traditions and cuisines in American communities with a visit to Houston, which was named the most diverse city in the United States in a recent WalletHub.com survey. Local foodies have embraced eateries serving vibrant West African dishes from Nigeria, Senegal and Liberia, foundations of the soul food movement that came here through slavery.

Ian Ziering

9:01 p.m. on FOOD Challenge

The theme of the Season 4 finale is "Back to the Future Cakes," linked to the 35th anniversary of the iconic sci-fi/comedy movie series starring Michael J. Fox and Christopher Lloyd. Host Ian Ziering introduces four virtuoso cake artists who respond to their challenge brilliantly, delivering cakes that draw from such unforgettable imagery from the movies as DeLorean vehicles and flux capacitors. After an early round sends one competitor home, the three finalists compete for the $10,000 prize. Matt Adlard, Keegan Gerhard and Claudia Sandoval are the judges.

7 p.m. on PBS-42 Finding Your Roots With Henry Louis Gates, Jr.

Host Henry Louis Gates Jr. works with three formidable actresses — Sigourney Weaver ("Ghostbusters: Afterlife"), Justina Machado ("One Day at a Time") and Amy Ryan ("The Office") — as they try to sort through their complicated family histories. The revelations they unearth are by turns poignant and shocking, but what they have in common is that this experience leaves all three women seeing themselves in a different way, in the new episode "Secrets & Lies."

8 p.m. on CW-55 Arrow

As the recent epic mega-crossover event "Crisis on Infinite Earths" underscored, executive producer Greg Berlanti and The CW have crafted a vibrant DC Comics-based fantasy universe of programming, but it all started eight seasons ago with "Arrow," which — like its muscular title character (Stephen Amell) — provided the strong shoulders for the later shows. Former series regular Emily Bett Rickards returns as Felicity Smoak for the series finale "Fadeout," tonight's final adventure for Team Arrow.

8 p.m. on TLC I Am Jazz

Senior year of high school is an emotional time for any student, but for Jazz Jennings, it's even more of a whirlwind as this docuseries launches Season 6. In addition to the usual flurry of college application letters and subsequent decisions, she undergoes yet another surgery in the season premiere, "I Will Survive." It's a third operation to correct defects caused by complications during her gender confirmation surgery. While in New York, Jazz attends the premiere of a film she starred in. The Jennings family also celebrates the twins' 21st birthday.

9 p.m. on ABC-3 Emergence

The first season of this sci-fi thriller concludes with

"Killshot Pt. 2," which finds Jo and Brooks (Allison Tolman, guest star Enver Gjokaj) in grave danger. A determined Piper (Alexa Swinton) is resolved to figure out a way to help them, though. Now that Helen's (guest star Rowena King) mysterious plan nearly has been realized, Piper hastily assembles an improvised team of allies to stage a rescue before it's too late. Currie Graham also guest stars; Owain Yeoman and Donald Faison also star.

Looking for Super Bowl party ideas? Food Network has a few

It's a week before Super Bowl LIV and you still haven't figured out what to serve your party guests.

Sure, you could order the usual pizza, wings and sliders and just be done with it. But no, that's mailing it in and that's not in your DNA. You want to make a culinary impression.

In that case, tune it to Food Network this week for their plethora of suggestions on imaginative eats that are certain to please the discerning palates of the football fans gathered before your flatscreen. Because after all, isn't that why you're throwing this bash in the first place?

We start at breakfast time on Sunday, Jan. 26, with "Brunch at Bobby's," in which Chef Flay offers up a sweet and savory menu featuring salsa verde chicken burritos, chicken cracklings, scrambled eggs and cheese with a side of crispy hash browns, and maple-glazed baked donuts.

Next on "Guy's Ranch Kitchen," host Guy Fieri and his friends make gourmet sliders featuring a cheese fondue sauce, a classic cornbread chilli casserole and a grilled corn dish with a twist.

If flavors from far-off lands are your thing, then "Valerie's Home Cooking" may be for you as it finds host Valerie Bertinelli prepares a feedbag of Italian beef sandwiches with giardiniera aioli and an Italian-style fennel coleslaw. And for dessert: salted caramel chocolate chip cookies. Delicious!

Continuing on the exotic theme later that morning is "Girl Meets Farm," in which host Molly Yeh shares some of her favorite Chinese-inspired recipes, including her grandmother's sweet and sour Tepong pork with fried rice, a sauteed spinach with sweet black garlic, and for dessert, chocolate-stuffed sesame balls.

Moving ahead to the morning of Saturday, Feb. 1, "The Kitchen" has uber-hearty game-day fare on tap with barbecue pork slow-cooker chili, molasses gochujang chicken wings, a meaty cheesy slider casserole, assort dips, and in-a-blanket versions of a Cubano and meatball parmesan.

Later, it's Ree Drummond skewing up the game-day eats on "The Pioneer Woman," which finds her preparing a quick-and-easy menu of five-cheese pepperoni pizza queso, sheet pan sausage and pepper hoagies, a garlic ranch party mix and caramel and chocolate cookies for dessert.

And at midday on "Trisha's Southern Kitchen," host Trisha Yearwood invites the Nashville Predators hockey team over for a game-day feedbag of loaded curly fry nachos, Philly cheesesteak pull-apart bread, slow-cooker corn dip, peanut butter and jelly cookie bars and a cherry citrus smash.

Clean Harbors has a sterling reputation as the leading environmental and industrial service provider and hazardous waste disposal company in North America, but chairman and CEO Alan S. McKim doesn't shrink from getting down and dirty to see whether his company needs cleaning up in any respects. One of the biggest challenges in his investigation, though, presents itself at a "re-refinery" that processes waste oil, where McKim must work in a tightly confined space while treating the inside of a dirty tank.

OF 'STATION 19' ON ABC

Does it feel like you're working on a different show when you're doing these crossover episodes with "Grey's Anatomy"?

No. It feels like the same show but with different faces. I feel like no matter what, ultimately since we're living in the same universe it feels like one giant family and all the characters' worlds are sort of like intertwined. So it keeps us all connected and it's been an amazing experience so far, so I'm just excited to see more of it and see what Krista (Vernoff, "Grey's" writer/producer) does.

How physical is this role for you?

It requires a lot of persistence and discipline. At times, being that we're shooting a one-hour drama TV show, we're working 13-15 hours and so there are going to be days where I want to just eat anything I want and so the physical duties of playing a firefighter sort of like keep me in check. And so it requires a lot of discipline and strong-willed self-control (laughs).

So yeah, we have to train and it's encouraged that we do. And of course, obviously it's a Shondaland show so you never know when you're going to show some skin, and as a firefighter you want to be believably fit and strong. So yeah, it forces me to work out and some days I just don't want to. (laughs)

So do you climb into the hot tub at the end of a shooting day?

You know, if I had the time I would absolutely do that. No, but this is the kind of role that I get to sort of practice so many different strengths as an actor. I get to be physically strong, I get to be vulnerable, I get to be a little sexy. So you've got like your badass, independent, strong female role model in one role and that's an honor to play.

OF 'THE CIRCUS: INSIDE THE CRAZIEST POLITICAL CAMPAIGN ON EARTH' ON XXX

With "The Circus: Inside the Craziest Political Campaign on Earth" starting Season 5, how do you see the show's mission to cover the preceding political week as the 2020 presidential election draws ever nearer?

Although it's a scary time for a lot of people in America to be alive and to see what's going on – the level of divisiveness, the partisanship, just how emotional and how angry a lot of our politics are – from the standpoint of journalism, it kind of elevates our sense of commitment and the degree to which we enter this election with a sense of both enthusiasm and a certain amount of joie de vivre about covering something so big and so important, but also with a sense of the gravity of the fact that we have really significant responsibilities to do this and do it right.

Regarding the present-day polarization of politics, do you think that by showing that, "The Circus" can have an effect on changing it?

Is there anything that we as a television show could do about that? I believe the answer to that question is "No." It's a much bigger problem, and the country will decide whether it wants to grapple with it or not. But the trajectory we are on is now a trajectory that's been going on for at least three decades, and it's getting more and more pronounced in that direction.

Each episode of "The Circus" opens with you and the other hosts sharing a meal. Have you gotten a lot of reaction to that?

We wanted to set the table for the week, and we made that literal rather than metaphorical. We don't want to be a studio show, we don't want to be suits on sets... and when we started doing the very first episode, we needed a way to kind of tee up the show. We thought, 'Well, let's go to a restaurant.'

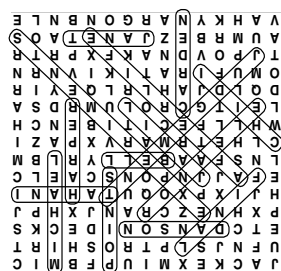

And once that started, it became a habit. And once it became a habit, it became kind of iconic. Strangely, we have a large food porn audience that follows the show explicitly for that reason.
