The Katy Area Newcomers Guide is a publication of the Katy Times Newspaper.

HISTORIC KATY: the heart of dynamic community

Katy history spans many years — back to prehistoric times when layers of strata deposited salt domes that made this area rich for natural gas and the geological formations that created the flat Katy prairie, ripe for farming and ranching.

Early settlers dealt with wild animals that are long gone. What they found here was a cane-filled creek, an “island” of cane surrounded by a vast prairie of tall grass; and the area became known as Cane Island.

By the mid-1800s, San Felipe Road was a rough wagon trail that cut right through the Cane Island area. The road was busy with wagons and stagecoaches running bi-weekly service between Houston and San Antonio, but few families called the area home. That all changed in the 1890s when the Missouri-Kansas-Texas (MKT) Railroad Company extended their line and enterprising settlers founded the town of Katy right where Waller, Harris and Fort Bend County merged.

The new town thrived with the development of the railroad. Businesses were established to meet the needs of new residents. Ranching and agriculture ventures thrived with the greatest success found in growing rice on the flat, wet prairie.

There were many hardships. Lightning frequently started prairie fires causing the tall grass to burn for days at a time. Freezing weather, floods and mud, packs of voracious wolves, miserably hot summers and disease-carrying mosquitoes all made settling in Katy a challenge.

In the early 1930s, State Highway 73 opened west from Houston; it cut straight through Katy. When a bridge over the Brazos River was completed in 1940, Highway 73 was improved and renamed Highway 90. More traffic traveled through Katy, bringing new business to retailers and more work for the community.

But real growth came in 1943, when the Humble Gas Plant opened just west of town. Production at the plant was astounding. The first-year Katy gas reserves, in terms of British Thermal Units, were equivalent to one billion barrels of oil. The impact of the Katy Gas Plant on the city cannot be overestimated. It doubled the population and funded the young Katy Independent School District — making it possible to build new schools and upgrade equipment.

In October 1945, an election was held and the town incorporated into a municipality. Katy began emerging as the city we know today. The area around the new city was still defined by smaller communities; Barker, Addicks, Gaston and others slowly surrendered to become known as the “Katy area.”

When the Addicks School District closed in 1961, part of it was incorporated into Katy ISD. Katy ISD boundaries were set at 181 square miles, which have not changed since that time and is the boundary that defines what we know as the Katy area today.

When Interstate Highway 10 (Katy Freeway) was opened in 1966, all six lanes of the highway were often busy. It was the development of State Highway 99 (Grand Parkway) in the 1980s that really started growth in the Katy area. New neighborhoods began replacing rice fields and pastures. Rail service continued until 2000, when the Texas Department of Transportation bought the old MKT right-of-way and removed the line as part of an expansion of IH-10.

More than 300,000 people live in the Katy area, which has won national accolades for growth and sustainability. KISD has more than 70,000 students who attend schools recognized for their educational excellence. The expansion of the Grand Parkway will create the longest beltway in the world and there is no sign that growth and development in Katy will slow down.

At the heart of it all, there is still the small City of Katy with a population of approximately 15,000 residents.

Katy has emerged from its history as one of Southeast Texas’ prime suburban areas, but is still a community with friendly compassionate people, and where families and businesses can flourish. It still has the spirit of adventure and possibility that our founding families came to find when there was nothing here but tall grass and wild prairie.

LOCATION. LOCATION. LOCATION.

The Katy area, a rapid population growth center located west of Houston, enjoys the benefits of being part of the Houston metropolitan area.

Katy offers a suburban atmosphere, “small town” life-style and an energetic talent base for quality companies.

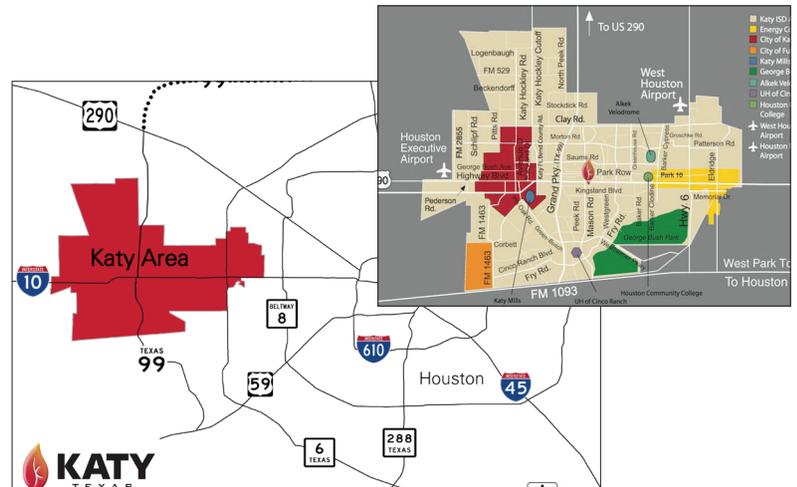

Katy’s location is key for many businesses located here. Among the companies with a presence in the Katy area are BP America, WoodGroup Subsidiaries, Shell Exploration and Production, ConocoPhillips, Katy Mills-Simon Group, Academy Sports & Outdoors, Walmart and Igloo Products.

Some features of the Katy are include:

- Encompasses a 181-square-mile area of the Katy Independent School District;
- Hub of three counties;
- On Interstate 10 and State Highway 99;
- Promoting the Energy Corridor;
- Award-winning master planned communities;
- Outstanding K–12 public education system;
- Diverse shopping opportunities;
- Low cost of living; and
- Outstanding parks and recreation.

The lure of the Katy area has drawn huge numbers of new workers and families over the past decade. The city’s population has now surpassed 309,000 residents, with more moving here every week.

Katy continues to be the western cornerstone of the Greater Houston area, providing numerous opportunities for excellence in business, education, healthcare, recreation and living.

What differentiates City of Katy from Katy

What exactly is inside the Katy city limits? Katy residents often split the city into two informal sections: “Old Katy” or “Katy Proper” and the “Greater Katy Area.”

Old Katy is the actual city limits of Katy and lies mostly north of Interstate 10. This is the original Katy from before the 1970s when Houston’s Energy Corridor (and the mushrooming development that came with it) made its way west on I-10.

The approximate city limit boundaries are drawn on the map provided. In the past year, the City of Katy has been busy on the annexation front, adding hundreds of acres of new property to the city’s tax rolls.

The Katy area is made up of large sections of unincorporated Harris and Fort Bend County and mostly sits east and southeast of the city limits of Katy.

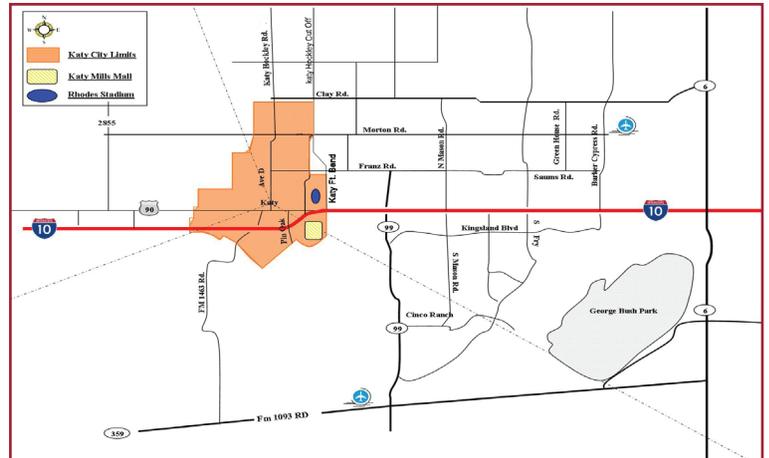

This area is within the Katy Independent School District, and nearly everyone in this area has a Katy postal address.

The Katy area includes communities such as Cinco Ranch, Green Trails, Grayson Lakes, Seven Meadows, Silver Ranch, Firethorne and Grand Lakes, while also encompassing developments from the 1970s and 1980s such as Memorial Parkway, Kelliwood and Nottingham Country.

All of the Katy area lies in the City of Houston’s extraterritorial jurisdiction (ETJ), not Katy’s ETJ.

This means that most of the greater Katy area is controlled by the City of Houston and that Houston has the ability to annex it in the future.

The City of Katy cannot annex this area unless Houston releases the area’s ETJ which has occurred in several small chunks within recent years.

HOUSTON
Methodist[®]
WEST HOSPITAL

Katy area known as ‘MEDICAL CENTER WEST’

The Katy area has recently been named “Medical Center West” for the greater Houston area. Why? Katy’s healthcare options are growing rapidly.

During the next few years, hospitals will invest nearly $800 million in new and expanded facilities.

HOUSTON METHODIST ST. CATHERINE HOSPITAL

Most patients who are admitted to a traditional hospital are there for just a few days, but some need attention for longer periods. Long-term acute care (LTAC) hospitals like Houston Methodist St. Catherine are specialty facilities dedicated to serving these patients.

Contrary to some popular misconceptions, LTAC hospitals are not nursing homes (long-term care facilities), nor are they only for critically ill patients. Many LTAC patients simply need daily care from a dedicated medical team for a longer period (typically 25 days or more) before they are well enough to return home.

Patients who need a long-term acute care hospital include those requiring:

- Intensive physical therapy.
- Respiratory therapy.
- Treatment for head trauma.
- Pain Management.

Houston Methodist St. Catherine Hospital is a fully accredited specialty hospital. Hospital services include:

- Mammogram.
- Outpatient Imaging.
- Outpatient Rehabilitation.

- Long-term Acute Care.
- Rehabilitation and Sports Medicine.

KATY URGENT CARE CENTER

Having a sick or injured child can be scary. The last thing you want to do is wait hours in the emergency room not knowing if they will be alright.

Katy Urgent Care Center is for non-emergency problems such as ear infections, sore throats, flu, ear infections, bladder infections, minor burns or cuts, sprains bruises and broken bones.

More serious injuries or illnesses are best treated at an emergency department. Contact your primary care physician for chronic problems like depression or diabetes.

Katy Urgent Care Center provides treatment of routine health care issues such as physical exams, consultative issues and treatment for illness and injury.

Urgent Care physicians are board certified and see patients from six months of age to adults.

MD ANDERSON REGIONAL CARE CENTER

The Regional Care Center in Katy is located at 19770 Kingsland Blvd. on the campus of Houston Methodist St. Catherine Hospital.

It treats all kinds of cancer and offers many of the same patient services as the main campus, with more being added every day.

MD Anderson wants to ensure their patients are getting the same world-class standard of care in a comforting community setting.

The Regional Care Center in Katy offers complete suspicion of

The hospital is licensed for 96 intermediate and acute beds, an emergency center, inpatient and outpatient operating floors, ambulatory care facility, diagnostic imaging, physical medicine and rehab services, subspecialty care and physician office space.

The first phase of the campus was completed in December 2010.

METHODIST WEST HOUSTON HOSPITAL

Methodist West Houston Hospital broke ground in 2008 on a 192-bed, acute care hospital adjacent to Texas Children's Hospital.

Area sports fans can't seem to get enough of the KATY TIGERS

The Katy High School Tigers not only won their record eighth state football championship in 2015, but the team was also crowned as the national high school football champions.

As a whole, Katy ISD features thousands of outstanding student athletes who consistently advance to state playoffs and championships throughout the school year.

Many newcomers and visitors, along with longtime Katy residents, know all about Katy football and its much-deserved reputation as one of the top programs in Texas and beyond season after season.

Katy also captured football state championships in 1959, 1997, 2000, 2003, 2007, 2008, and 2012. Tigers head coach Gary Joseph was named the 2012 American Football Monthly National High School Coach of the Year. Joseph is an incredible 153-12 in 10 years as Katy's head coach (he's been with the program 32 years).

"It's just a tremendous honor to work with all the outstanding administrators, teachers and coaches in the Katy ISD, and of course, the players, parents and fans," Joseph said. "The program's success is a direct result of a tremendous combined effort, and the tremendous dedication from our players."

Katy High competes in UIL District 19-6A with co-Katy ISD high schools Cinco Ranch, Seven Lakes, Taylor, Morton Ranch, Tompkins, Mayde Creek, and Houston Strake Jesuit (boys' sports only).

Along with football, girls volleyball, cross country and team tennis are played in the fall, and are followed by wrestling, swimming and diving, basketball and soccer. In the spring, there's golf, tennis, track and field, baseball and softball.

Most Texas private schools, like Katy Faith West Academy and Pope John XXIII, compete in TAPPS (Texas Association of Private and Parochial Schools), which also offers a wide variety of girls and boys varsity sports and state championships.

In TAPPS football, Faith West and Pope John XXIII compete in Division II District 4.

Teams in the district include Sugar Land Fort Bend Baptist, and Houston schools Lutheran North, Lutheran South, Northland Christian, Second Baptist and Westbury Christian.

GLOWING LEGACY STADIUM HONORS LEGENDARY COACH JOHNSTON

BY DENNIS SILVA II
TIMES SPORTS EDITOR

Mike Johnston arrived at Katy High in 1981 as the football program's fourth head coach in five years.

The fieldhouse only suited 150 kids, there was no weight room, and many community members made it loud and clear to Johnston that Katy could produce basketball and baseball players, but not football players.

"The only thing that got me through was my faith, knowing God brought me here for a reason," Johnston said. "We've come a million miles from where it was."

Eventually, Johnston built the program from scratch. It went from a landmark regular season win over then-top 10 program Klein in 1985, to an appearance in the state championship game in 1994.

The rest is Katy history.

The Tigers made five more appearances in the state championship game to complete Johnston's 22-year tenure at the helm. Katy won the title three of those times. Johnston finished with a 200-76 record at Katy High, or a winning percentage of 72.5. Since his retirement, Katy High has won four more state championships under Johnston's protégé Gary Joseph.

It's largely because of Johnston's impact that Katy ISD elected to honor him in early March 2017 by naming the field at new Legacy Stadium after him, Mike Johnston Field.

The field and 12,000-seat stadium debuted in August 2017 to rave reviews and gives Katy ISD two stadiums to use along with neighbor Rhodes Stadium, which was introduced in 1982 and holds 9,700-plus seats.

"It is an honor," Johnston said. "We don't coach for those types of things, but it's a blessing. It's really an honor for my family, because to have your family name attached to a facility in a school district like Katy ISD is a pretty awesome thing. I have a wife and two sons and I know it means a lot to them. My brother and his family used to drive across Houston every Friday night to watch us play for 22 years. It means a lot to your family and it's a tribute to the great coaches I've had and the community of Katy."

Legacy Stadium cost $72.1 million to construct. According to Katy ISD spokesperson Maria DiPetta, the stadium is expected to bring in more than $500,000 in revenue to the district each year.

"Playing in Legacy Stadium will have a tremendous impact on our players and coaches," Morton Ranch coach Ron Counter said. "I can remember coaching against Cy-Fair the first year that the Berry Center (now Cy-Fair FCU Stadium) opened. There was a great deal of excitement. Having two stadiums in Katy ISD will be a benefit to everyone, including the bands, cheerleaders and fans."

Katy football is what it is today because of Johnston, though he had a great sidekick in Joseph. Joseph was Johnston's defensive coordinator since those early 1980s until he retired after the 2003 season.

"I worked with Coach for a long time and (the field name) is such a neat thing for his family," Joseph said. "It's a compliment for the things he did for Katy and Katy High School. I'm thankful the people saw to it to honor him in that way. His 20-plus years here were a big deal and helped change the culture of Katy High School and Katy."

"When he came, he had to start from the ground floor. Everything had to be developed. I tell people anything is possible, you just need a little patience."

To Johnston, it wasn't long ago when Katy High didn't have a weight room until 1985. Now there's turf practice fields on each of Katy ISD's high school campuses and two premier stadiums.

Katy ISD is on the map. The community and district largely has Johnston and his former coaches and players to thank for that.

The legacy is undeniable.

"There's a winning tradition there that is so hard to build, as long as you've got a foothold on things and they know what it takes, then you still have a chance to compete at a high level," Johnston said. "There's a standard to live up to, a standard to perform to. The kids know there will be a challenge waiting for them, but will it be worth it? Well, yeah. There's nothing like walking off the field knowing you're the best team in the state."

HUG A WAY IS A GODSEND FOR HOME HEALTH CARE PATIENTS

By Jimmy Galvan

A Hug Away Healthcare is a godsend for those families wanting to retain a quality lifestyle for their loved ones who need medical care at home. Located at 1203 Avenue D, Suite A, in Old Town Katy, A Hug Away Healthcare is owned by sisters Marisa Frazier and Tikisha Johnson.

Marisa is the Administrator and Tikisha is Alternate Administrator.

“Our heart is in Katy, but our care has no limits,” said Marisa. “We are licensed to service all of Texas, including the Fulshear area, and we’ll go as far as we have to in order to fulfill our patients’ needs.

“Our goal is to leave a legacy. We boast on our ability to help doctors heal patients and to comfort families and friends. Our census stays small because we assign nurses and therapist who help get patients back to a full time lifestyle that they can embrace.”

The business is truly a one-stop shop for anyone who needs home health care services. Included among its services are: infusion care, wound care, skilled nursing, hospice care, IV therapy, physical therapy, medical equipment, social services and companionship services — all offered within the convenience of one’s own home.

But that’s not all, A Hug Away also provides full-time hospice care, occupational therapy, speech therapy, intravenous injections, intramuscular injections, catheter insertions, blood pressure and glucose level checks and other vital checks for body temperature, pulse rate and rate of breathing. A Hug Away is also expanding its services to include pediatrics and psychiatry.

“Our licensed physicians, registered nurses and other medical professionals work in collaboration with family physicians to deliver the best home health care available,” said Marisa. “It’s all about giving our patients the quality lifestyle they want and deserve.”

Most of the home health care referrals come from doctors who have knowledge of A Hug Away or have personally experienced “our high level of care,” said Marisa. Word-of-mouth advertising drives about three-fourths of their business, she added.

A major focus of A Hug Away is hospice care and that’s understandable, as it was this issue that actually launched the idea for the business. When Marisa worked at a previous job, the wife of one of her employees was suffering from brain cancer. Marisa started hospice care in an effort to ease his mind while at work, allowing him to maintain his job and be at peace with the hospice process.

After that successful effort, Marisa and Tikisha “went at hospice full time.”

‘HOSPICE FAMILIES ARE VERY CLOSE TO OUR HEARTS AS WE HELP COMFORT AND EDUCATE THEM CONCERNING THE GRIEVING PROCESS. THIS IS A VERY DELICATE TIME FOR ALL INVOLVED.’
— Marisa Frazier

Hospice care focuses on improving the quality of life for patients and their families faced with a life-limiting illness. The primary goals of hospice care are to provide comfort; relieve physical, emotional and spiritual suffering; and promote the dignity of terminally ill persons. Hospice care neither prolongs nor hastens the dying process.

Hospice services provided by A Hug Away include, but are not limited to:

- Spiritual counseling;
- Medical social worker assistance;
- Skilled nursing assistance;
- Dietician services;
- Family bereavement counseling;
- Physical, speech and occupational therapy services;
- Frequent medical status updates;
- Psychological consulting; and
- Explaining medical conditions (for family and patient).

“We always encourage volunteers to help with our hospice program,” said Marisa. “Interested parties can contact us at 832-437-1983 for training and assignments.”

Another major offering by A Hug Away is its respite service that is available hourly, daily or weekly.

“Even though many families take great joy in providing care to their loved ones so that they can remain at home, the physical, emotional and financial consequences for the family caregivers can be overwhelming without the right support,” said Marisa. “Our respite service offers you the much-needed temporary break from the often-exhausting challenges faced by the family caregiver.”

Respite services include, but are not limited to: doctor visits with an assistant; supervised maintenance; nutritional services; sitter companion services; “planned” emergency care; medication reminders and reading assistance. A Hug Away offers respite care for both hospice and sitter services to allow the family a time to rest. In addition, A Hug Away offers a wide array of medical equipment to assist in the care of a loved one, including wheelchairs, hospital beds, oxygen, walkers and shower benches.

COMPLETING MOBILITY, INFRASTRUCTURE PROJECTS KEY TO ADDRESSING GROWTH IN TIMELY FASHION FOR KATY AREA

Ann Hodge said there's no reason to think that Katy will quit growing anytime soon. After all, the population has mushroomed in the past decade at now stands at close to 310,000.

"Based upon the demographic projections provided by Katy ISD, I do not see any decrease in the growth for our community over the next five to 10 years," said Hodge, President and CEO of the Katy Area Chamber of Commerce. "The challenge will be for our community to complete the mobility and infrastructure projects necessary to address that growth in a timely fashion."

"Additionally, our community must work together to ensure a strong education system through Katy ISD for all of our children. A well-trained workforce is essential to maintain a business growth," Hodge said.

According to Hodge, the major success for the Katy Area Chamber of Commerce is the completion of Segment E of the Grand Parkway.

"We worked for more than 12 years to see the Segment E completed," Hodge said. "The economic growth and jobs created through that corridor will benefit the entire region."

With more ease of access to, from and into the Katy area, Hodge estimates more businesses will begin looking at either relocating or expanding in the region now that more infrastructures have been added to the area. Specifically, she expects to see more growth in the area around Segment E of the Grand Parkway.

"To insure business growth and success, we must have excellent roads," she said. "The completion of Segment E is one more project that will enable our community to decrease the amount of time they spend in traffic. These are critical projects to address the rapid growth we are experiencing."

The community continues to be one of the fastest-growing regions in the United States.

The combination of a vibrant community, exceptional education system, outstanding quality of life and potential for growth are all ideal conditions for businesses to look toward the Katy region.

"Over the past 15 years during my tenure as President/CEO of the Chamber, we have seen growth from a wide variety of areas throughout the world," Hodge said. "One of the interesting areas of growth continues to be oil and gas employees who are transferred overseas. When they are transferred back to the States, we see them coming right back to the Katy communities with their families."

The vast array of businesses coming into the area is another testament to the opportunities available in the region.

"I believe all businesses are attracted to Katy," she said. "They conduct their market analysis and recognize the tremendous opportunity for growth"

The Katy Area Chamber of Commerce partners with the Katy Area Economic Development Council as well as the City of Katy and Katy ISD to present a strong partnership to potential businesses looking to relocate to the area.

"Our chamber belongs to everyone in the community. To be a strong and effective organization serving as the advocate for our community, we must have the support of businesses and community-based organizations," Hodge said.

Hodge said when she speaks with business owners who are thinking of coming into the area, she always mentions the outstanding growth in the region.

"I tell them, 'You will not regret your decision. We would be happy to give you testimonials from other businesses that have relocated to the Katy community,'" Hodge said. "It is absolutely the right decision for your business as well as your employees."

Showcased each night, along with the pro cowboy events and a funny man act, will be the crowd favorite Katy ISD youth events including stick horse race, mutton busting, calf scramble, junior calf-roping and junior barrel racing.

The parade kicks off the festivities Saturday morning, allowing residents and supporters to showcase their decked out vehicles, antique cars, scouting organizations and other festive items.

The event supports agricultural education within Katy ISD and is held in conjunction with the school district’s annual FFA livestock show. Students showcase animals including steers, hogs, lambs, goats, rabbits and chickens. There are also other events including an ag mechanic competition and art contest.

The show is usually held at the L.D. Robinson Pavilion on the grounds of the Katy ISD Administration Building on the corner of Interstate 10 and FM 1463.

The Katy Livestock Show and Rodeo was one of Texas’ first events of this kind. It remains one of the oldest and largest FFA Livestock Show and Rodeos in the nation.

It was first established by former Katy ag teacher L.D. Robinson in 1943 and quickly became the standard for other local livestock show and rodeo programs throughout the state.

KATY RICE HARVEST Festival

The event, now sponsored by the City of Katy, takes place the second weekend of October between Avenues B and C and Second and Third Streets.

Festival attendees and shoppers can browse more than 250 booths offering homemade candles, jewelry, woodwork, knitting and crocheted items, handmade belts and buckles, inspirational crosses, original artists' work and much more.

The entertainment lineup usually features local favorites like the Eder-Mace Band and other well-known groups in the area.

Children of all ages will also be able to enjoy the attractions provided by the carnival. In addition to the big rides, the carnival will also have a "kiddie kingdom." Pony rides and a train ride will be available for smaller children.

The carnival is open Friday night, as well as Saturday and Sunday. Special discount wristbands are available for purchase.

KATY AREA HAS PLENTY TO OFFER

Art CONNOISSEURS, Music LOVERS

Katy Culture & Arts Alliance

Katy Culture & Arts Alliance is an umbrella organization featuring members from most every area arts organization dedicated to fostering the growth of an active arts community.

If there's something happening in Katy, it can usually be found on the blog at www.itsakatything.com.

Katy Area Artists & V The Gallery

Katy Area Artists (KAA) is a nonprofit artists' group. The basic idea is to provide a community, education and mentoring to adult artists (age 16 and older).

V The Gallery, located in the Villagio Town Center at the corner of Westheimer and Peak, hosts a slew of workshops taught by major players in today's art scene.

The gallery collection is swapped out every month, and most of the pieces are by local artists.

An art mixer is held twice every month, where patrons can meet the artists and others with an artistic bent.

For more information, visit the KAA Web site at www.katyareaartists.org.

Katy Contemporary Arts Museum

Established in 2013, the Katy Contemporary Arts Museum is a not-for-profit institution in Katy dedicated to presenting the contemporary art of the time to the public.

The Katy Contemporary Arts Museum provides an interchange for visual arts of the present and recent past, presents new directions in art, strives to engage the public and encourages a greater understanding of contemporary art through education programs.

The Katy Contemporary Arts Museum occupies a white concrete building in the heart of Katy's Museum District. The prominent building was originally designed and built for the Ray Woods Lumber and Supply Company in 1953 and later housed several other businesses. This building is supposed to have been the very first poured concrete building built in Texas.

The museum is located on the corner of Avenue B and First Street in downtown Katy — right across from the Katy Railroad Park and Tourist Center. Admission is free.

Katy Visual & Performing Arts Center

Katy Visual and Performing Arts Center (KVPAC) is nonprofit group aimed at “providing opportunities for individuals to develop their talents, skills and abilities,” according to the KVPAC mission statement.

The center, located near The Great Southwestern Equestrian Center on Mason Road, provides classes in all aspects of theater and the visual arts. It also offers a Pre-K program that combines academics and an introduction to the creative process.

In addition, KVPAC has multiple theater troupes, including The Encore Players, an adult community theater.

For more information, visit kvpac.org.

The Music Scene

Katy is host to a number of festivals and music events. Every summer, both the Villagio Town Center and LaCenterra at Cinco Ranch host a series of live music events each Thursday evening featuring local artists from every genre.

The West Houston Jazz Festival and The Katy Guitar festival are held in conjunction during the summer, featuring a slew of local and national talent. All three of these events are a fantastic way to get acquainted with the local music scene, and an ear to the street will find a great show most every weekend.

Katy also has several restaurants and bars that play host to live music on a regular basis.

Katy ARTreach

Katy ARTreach is a nonprofit dedicated almost exclusively to mentoring and outreach programs aimed at giving at-risk students, the disabled persons and others who haven't been given the opportunity to study and participate in the arts.

ARTreach was established in 2003 to bring the arts to the underprivileged, with a leaning towards programs serving abused and abandoned children in residential treatment, children at risk in the school district and neglected elderly citizens in public care nursing homes.

These programs introduce and provide an opportunity to practice, life skills that can help address issues such as student apathy, social dysfunction, grief, drug abuse awareness and prevention, health and recovery.

Katy ARTreach provides an array of performing and visual arts events and community presentations that contribute to improving the quality of life for residents in the tri-county area of Katy.

The group is always seeking volunteers, if this sounds like a program you can get behind, visit artreachcoterie.org.

WITH ALL ITS GROWTH, KATY IS A CITY

Katy is a city on the move, as evidenced by the ongoing development of the Cane Island master-planned community, construction of a new city hall, purchase of land to build a second fire station and the Morton Road expansion project.

There are also plans to build a two-mile boardwalk that will encircle an 8-acre retention pond on city-owned property near Katy Mills Mall, and tentative plans for that area include building a convention center, luxury hotel and retail—much like CityCentre in Houston.

Former Mayor Fabol Hughes, all this activity means only one thing. “We’re open for business,” he said. “There’s nothing we can do to stop the growth. It’s coming, and we’re determined to manage this growth and not have it manage us.”

To accomplish this, Hughes said the city has worked diligently on several fronts. One area has been for developers. The city shored up some of its permitting requirements and made a few changes in customer service. City engineers are on-task to get back to developers quickly to ensure open lines of communication, he said.

“We want to take a hand in this business,” Hughes said. “Business is coming, and there’s no other place for it to go.”

One of Katy’s big developments occurred by revamping the city’s fire and emergency service departments.

Foremost in the reorganization was to find a new fire chief, and the city found what it wanted in the hiring of Russell Wilson, the assistant chief in Irving and a 27-year veteran of the fire service.

“The thing is, we needed structure in the fire department,” Hughes said. “Over the last few years, our respectability had gotten to a low. We were the laughingstock of the surrounding fire departments. We’ve turned the corner on that now. We have really, really good, super firemen, battalion chiefs, and all the firemen are first-class people.”

Previously, the city relied on part-time firemen to operate its station. Now the city has employed 36 full-time firemen, plus a chain of command.

“We’ve managed to accomplish this without a tax increase or bonding or anything like that,” Hughes said. “We’ve totally restructured it from the top down.”

The city will also break ground on Fire Station No. 2 on Kingsland Boulevard. Hughes said the city will house its tower ladder, ambulance and new pumper truck at the upcoming new station.

“We’re hopeful we might get that open this year, we’re not sure,” he said. “We need to have presence on that southside of town because we have so much commercial and tall buildings over there.”

Hughes said another giant milestone for the city is the development of Cane Island, the master-planned community built by Rise Development that will add 3,000 houses in between Hwy. 90 and I-10 near FM

Hughes estimates the Cane Island project will bring in close to 12,000 people to live in the community. To prepare for the influx, the city is working to establish more businesses and infrastructure in the area.

"It's such a big deal that we haven't had anything like this happen to us before," Hughes said. "These people are not going to come in here and live here if they don't have the support services with things like cleaners and local little stores and places to shop. They'll be shopping right here in Katy."

To help ease in and out of the city, a strong mobility plan must be in place. The expansion of Segment E of the Grand Parkway will bring more people into Katy, Hughes said. Future plans call for expansion of several city streets and thoroughfares in the area. Cane Island will be a catalyst to open the door for more commercial developments and residential communities to look toward the west side of Katy.

"The Katy Freeway and the Energy Corridor are continuing to go west," Hughes said. "There's more opportunities and the thing about all of this is, we don't have to use the dang Katy Freeway into Houston. People can work out here."

The area west of Katy will be the next boom, Hughes said.

"There's no other land available," he said. "We have to be able to manage it and get a handle on the growth. We're set to do that. We're in great shape now. We have manpower, facilities and money to do it. We're not hurting for anything. We're ready to take it. All that does is help all of us now."

KATY HAS A VARIETY OF COURSE OPTIONS FOR AREA GOLFERS

If golf is your game, the Katy area has six different championship — quality clubs at different levels to fit every golfer’s game.

In addition, each club location offers more than just golf. Tennis classes and programs, swimming facilities and programs, health and fitness facilities, junior golf camps and elegant clubhouses that can host wedding receptions and ceremonies are also included.

Bear Creek Golf World

Bear Creek Golf World is the first daily-fee course in Houston not run by a municipality. Since the original course opened more than 25 years ago, two more courses have been added. The best of the courses at Bear Creek is the Master’s Course, which has long been regarded as one of the finest public facilities in the country. In fact, “Golf Digest” rated it as one of the Top 50 courses in America. The banquet/meeting room is a great place to meet before or after a golf game. It seats 35 people and overlooks the golf course. Bear Creek can cater breakfast, lunch or dinner.

Club at Falcon Point

The Club at Falcon Point goes out of its way to provide golfers with a memorable experience. The club offers a private setting where one may enjoy golf, tennis and camaraderie with a personal level of attention to service. In addition to a challenging round of golf, the Club at Falcon Point offers tennis classes, camps and tournaments. A recreational summer swim league offers children ages 5-18 an opportunity to participate in organized swimming with the emphasis on individual improvement and fun.

Golf Club at Cinco Ranch

Golf Club at Cinco Ranch is located within the 8,100-acre master-planned community. The 18-hole, par-71 golf course features a rolling layout that will challenge low handicappers while still offering the average player or beginner the opportunity to play an enjoyable round of golf. The first-class practice facility and driving range is complete with two enormous tees that are always open for practice from grass. The amenities include two giant, undulating practice greens for putting and chipping improvement as well as a short game area that offers a huge bunker, many shade trees and provides lies of varying degrees. A golf academy is offered during the summer, while the elegant clubhouse — set in a picturesque background of lakes, perfectly manicured lawns, a panoramic view of the course and the dramatic architecture of the Cinco Ranch development is a great location to hold wedding ceremonies and receptions.

Meadowbrook Farms

Meadowbrook Farms is a semi-private club that is recognized as one of the top courses in the Greater Houston area. In addition, members as well as daily fee golfers enjoy a championship-style golf course designed by legendary PGA Tour Champion Greg Norman. After a challenging 18 holes, relive the course conditions and experience in the comfortable ranch-style clubhouse. A professional teaching staff rooted in sound fundamentals and techniques are available to juniors and adults alike in both individual and group lesson settings. Meadowbrook Farms is also home to "Birdies for the Brave," a nationwide program launched by the U.S. Department of Defense that recognizes citizen's support for military men and women and communicates that support to members of our Armed Forces at home and abroad.

Pine Forest Country Club

Pine Forest Country Club is a prestigious, private member owned country club located on the highly-rated west side of Houston. Golf at Pine Forest is definitely multi-faceted. The course is beautifully maintained and offers 27 holes of superb, challenging golf.

Nestled in 214 acres of wooded lands, Pine Forest also offers other activities that include a fitness/spa facility, a resort-style swimming pool and a 10-court tennis facility. In addition, Pine Forest can exceed private party needs. With three private rooms to choose from, they can accommodate anything from the smallest business meeting to a large 375 person wedding reception.

River Ridge Golf Course

River Ridge Golf Course opened in 1998. The clubhouse and pavilion are reminiscent of the Frank Lloyd Wright genre. Among the honors for this course: a "Four Star" Rating from the Houston Chronicle; a Top 3 winner for "Best New Public Courses" and "Best Public Courses", #2 - "Favorite Public Courses", "Top 12 Courses in Texas" and #1 - "Best Public Course Value" in the Chronicle 2000 Golf Survey. Additionally, River Ridge was the only daily-fee course in Texas noted in Dan Jenkin's article, "Best Modern 18 Holes" (Golf Digest). River Ridge continues to be honored by patrons each day, by spreading the word of its natural beauty.

Weston Lakes Country Club

Weston Lakes Country Club, located in Simonton in Fort Bend County, is one of the top exclusive private clubs in the area. Weston Lakes offers a variety of entertainment options, from the 18-hole championship golf course designed by legendary PGA Tour Champion Hale Irwin, to the two lighted tennis courts.

Patrons may also choose between the relaxing atmosphere at the adult pool and the excitement of the family pool.

Willow Fork County Club

KATY EDC HELPS drive surge IN NEW AND EXPANDED BUSINESSES

New businesses, expanded companies and more rooftops in master-planned communities have kept the City of Katy moving forward. “Companies like Geico, Dyna-Drill, Welltec, New Park Drilling Fluids and others have found the Katy area attractive primarily because of a talented workforce, the excellent school system, access to I-10, master-planned communities and available land and buildings,” said Lance LaCour, Katy Area Economic Development Council President and CEO.

The past year, the Katy Area EDC has helped attract several new and expanded businesses to the area. The increase brings in tax revenue, job growth and an abundant workforce.

Some of the biggest announcements to the Katy community included Geico bringing more than 1,000 jobs to the area during the next three years with its new Claims Center. Geico has leased a two-story building at Mason Creek Office Center in Katy and will become one of the top 20 largest employers in the city.

In addition, Igloo Coolers built a new 420,000 square-foot distribution center in the area, which brought with it 250 new jobs. In the retail section, wholesale club Costco opened its new warehouse center, which will employ 200 people.

“We have some new office, retail and industrial spec buildings that are starting or are under construction that will attract top-quality employers to Katy,” LaCour said.

Some of those include The Offices at Greenhouse, LaCenterra, Mason Creek Corporate, Ten West Crossing and West Ten Business Park. The Offices at Greenhouse has inked an office lease that should also bring several hundred office jobs to the Katy area, LaCour said.

More businesses and workers are being attracted to the Katy region for a variety of reasons. However, the expansion of the Grand Parkway is a major factor in contributing to the city’s recent successful boom.

“The Grand Parkway is a strong growth area with Segment E now finished from I-10 to US 290,” LaCour said. “The area from Mason Road to I-10 down to LaCenterra is generating a great deal of interest.”

Developers are scouting the location around Segment E, between US 290 and I-10, and are planning new business parks, he said.

“Segment E is a major growth stimulator for recruiting new businesses and for residential growth,” LaCour said.

LaCour and others at the Katy Area EDC help entice businesses to the area in a variety of ways. They market and promote the Katy region and guide companies through site selection and the incentives process.

“We also respond to state, company and consultant requests for proposals,” he said. “We are a full-service economic development organization.”

The Katy Area EDC boasts to potential businesses about the area’s acclaimed school district, the large region of the Katy area that spans over three counties, and the prime location with ease of access into Houston and the Energy Corridor, where many of the world’s major energy companies call home.

When these puzzle pieces fit together, the Katy area is becoming more appealing to local, national and world-wide companies.

“Future growth will continue to be driven from the energy industry and other companies enhancing the growth including light manufacturing, distribution, office and technology companies,” LaCour said. “(Five to 10 years from now,) Katy will see more top-quality companies and corporations, more options for high-end retail, restaurants and shopping, more entertainment options and continued residential growth.”

The Katy Area EDC isn’t done yet. They are continuing to look forward and push other businesses to see the opportunities that are available in the area.

“This past year was great for the EDC,” LaCour said. “We appreciated the opportunity to work with and help locate Geico in the Katy area. And this is proving to be a great year as well. Stay tuned for new announcements.”

KATY IS home to stars LIKE RENEE ZELLWEGER, CLINT BLACK AND ANDY DALTON

Roll out the red carpet, Katy. A blonde bombshell, popular country singer, some NFL players and former Microsoft bigwig are just a few of Katy's A-listed stars.

Film

Known for her big break in 1996 for her role in "Jerry Maguire," Renee Zellweger was born and raised in Katy, Texas. Zellweger was in the class of 1987 at Katy High School; she was actively involved with extracurricular activities such as cheerleading, girls' athletics and the drama club. She earned a bachelor's in English from the University of Texas.

After involvement in commercials and low-budget films, Zellweger's starring role in "Nurse Betty" won her first of three Golden Globes in 2000. In 2004, Zellweger won the Academy Award for Best Supporting Actress in "Cold Mountain." Her roles in "Bridget Jones' Diary," the musical "Chicago" and "Cinderella Man" are a few other critically acclaimed films to name.

Her latest project, "4 ½ Minutes," includes actors, Johnny Knoxville and Ed Harris. "4 ½ Minutes" is under the direction and production of Zellweger herself.

Music

By age of 15, country singer Clint Black taught himself how to play the guitar and harmonica. Born in New Jersey, Black's family moved and grew up in Katy, Texas.

Black dropped out of Katy High School to pursue a musical career and played at many bars, festivals and open venues with his brothers, Brian, Kevin and Mark.

His first single, "A Better Man," reached No. 1 on the Billboard Hot Country Songs in the early 1990s in June. Black was the first male artist in 14 years to debut a single that peaked at the top of the chart. Black currently holds 13 No. 1 records in the Billboard Country Charts and continues to tour and entertain crowds across the country.

After releasing nine studio albums, Black had a starring role in "Still Holding On: The Legend of Cadillac Jack" and made a cameo appearance in "Maverick."

One of the most recent athletes to go into professional, Andy Dalton, is a Katy High School football legend. Class of 2006, Dalton played quarterback and led the Katy Tigers to state finals in 2005. Dalton was then recruited by Texas Christian University.

In 2009, Dalton led the Horned Frogs to an undefeated season and in 2011, to their first Rose bowl victory in school's history against the Wisconsin Badgers his senior year. Dalton maintains school career records for wins, touchdown passes, passing yards, pass attempts, completions and completion percentage.

In the 2011 NFL draft, Dalton was selected in the second round by the Cincinnati Bengals. He has signed a four-year contract and was named NFL Rookie of the Month for October 2011. Dalton married Jordan Jones in July 2011.

Other Katy High athletes who went on to play pro football include Eric Heitmann, a member of the Class of 1998 at Katy High School. Heitmann played center for the Katy Tigers, and played football at Stanford University, where he was named a First-Team All-American after his senior year.

In the 2002 NFL draft, Heitmann was drafted by the San Francisco 49ers in the seventh round. He started at guard as a rookie but then moved back to center in 2005. He suffered a neck injury and was released from the 49ers in July 2011. Heitmann is married to his wife, Emily.

Katy has always been a traditionally rural community, playing roles as a railroad hub, rice farming and agricultural center, as well as one of the largest gas fields in this part of Texas.

While much has changed since the townsite was platted in 1895, one building in Katy Heritage Park houses hundreds of items including vehicles, farming equipment, photos and other memorabilia in an effort to preserve a piece of history.

“Katy was a rice farming community for years and years, and we wanted to preserve that and what makes this community the City of Katy,” said Johnny Nelson, former city administrator.

“Charles Cardiff, a longtime rice farmer here, had restored a whole bunch of the stuff back there. When he died, his estate was going to sell it,” Nelson said. “That’s when I went to city council to ask city council if I could buy it.”

The city council authorized the purchase in the amount of $16,400. But the items were stored in the public works department until Nelson came forward with the idea of building a museum.

An 80 x 120 foot, air-conditioned building was built for about $300,000 and the facility was dedicated on June 13, 2002.

“This building wouldn’t be here today if it weren’t for the rice farming industry and its Katy farmers,” said former mayor Doyle Callender during the ribbon cutting ceremony. “I thank all of you citizens for preserving the rice history the way you have today and letting the generations after you enjoy it.”

Among the equipment were a binder and separator that were used in early days of rice farming, as well as a combine that was popular in the mid-1940s.

“The binder would cut (the crop), and it would put straw there, and you had to manually tie it,” Nelson said. “The bundles would stand up in the field, but a lot of times, you would have to walk through there and stand them up yourself.”

“Then you had what we called a bundle wagon that would drive through there and pick those up and take them to the trucks so they could be hauled into the separator,” he said.

“When this combine came out, that eliminated all that,” Nelson said. “This combine did all that itself so you didn’t have to do that anymore.”

But the building that housed the museum proved to be insufficient as the items were crammed in facility, leaving little room for visitors, especially those on wheelchairs.

In 2006-07, the city expanded to a 80 x 200 foot facility for an estimated cost of $100,000.

Today, visitors can still get a glimpse of city’s history as curator Bill Murray leads them through the museum at 6002 George Bush Drive.

Hours are Tuesday through Thursday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., as well as the first weekend of every month, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday and noon to 3 p.m. on Sunday. Admission is free.

Old Katy Post Office

This post office was built sometime before 1920. In 1922, it became the fourth post office in Katy. Prior to that time, the post office had been located in various stores, but in 1922, it was moved to Second Street near Avenue B.

The building has also been used as a private residence, jewelry store, grocery store and storage space. It was given to the Katy Heritage Society in 1995 by Fred and Roberta Rylander and moved to park property on East Avenue. It was moved to Katy Heritage Park in 2003.

Tradition Bank Stand

Tradition Bank donated the bandstand to the society in 2005, and it is now a favorite location for community events. The Katy Heritage Society hosts free public concerts at the bank stand throughout the year.

Stock dick House

Walter Adcock built a craftsman-style house in 1916 at the corner of Fourth Street and Avenue A for the Adam Henry Stockdick family. Stockdick came to Katy from Iowa in 1896 and became one of the area's first real estate agents.

The house remained in the family until the First United Methodist Church, which owns the adjacent property, acquired it in 2001.

The following year, the church wanted to use the land for other purposes and donated the house, a small well house and the white picket fence to the Katy Heritage Society. In 2003, the society moved the house and fence to Katy Heritage Park leaving the well house for the church to use for playground storage.

The society removed a large addition from the house to move it. Its early 20th century style with period wall coverings, beautiful wood floors and charming vintage kitchen has been restored.

Today the house can be rented for small parties, special events or meetings.

Featherston House

The house was built on Second Street in 1898 for the family of W.H. Featherston when they moved to Katy from Illinois. Featherston and his family lived in the house and took in boarders. Featherston later became the first preacher for the Baptist church.

It was used briefly for school classes and church services for those displaced by the storm.

In 1910, the Featherston family moved to another home, and this house was sold to be attached to the Cobb Hotel, which was built next door.

In the 1980s, First Baptist Church of Katy bought the hotel for the land adjacent to their church building. The hotel, including this house, was used for some church functions.

In 1986, the hotel was demolished, but this house was saved and donated to the Katy Heritage Society. In 2003, the house was moved to Katy Heritage Park and restored.

Wright House

The Queen Ann style bungalow was built in 1898 for Edward Everhart. That same year, John Henry Wright and his brother Wilbur drove a team and wagon from Missouri, seeking a healthy climate for the ailing Wilbur. Everhart was ready to leave Katy and agreed to swap this house for the Wright home in Missouri.

In 1899, John and Wilbur's parents, David and Sarah Wright came to Katy and moved into the home. John Wright became the first pharmacist in Katy and with Dr. J. M. Stewart opened the first drug store in 1904.

Veterans Memorial Museum is considered one of area's best

The Katy Veterans Memorial Museum houses many war artifacts ranging from military apparel and weaponry to historical documents and battlefield maps. Mannequins in Marine uniforms watch over war books, oral history tapes, as well as a collection of medals ranging from the Bronze Star to Good Conduct medals.

Since its grand opening in 1996, when President George Herbert Walker Bush attended the formal dedication, visitors can make their way through the museum and browse artifacts from as early as the American Revolution and the War of 1812 to World War I and II, the Korean and Vietnam Wars, as well as the Gulf War.

"When it was initiated, there were about a dozen World War II vets that wanted to recognize and memorialize all veterans in some matter," said Mike Mastrangelo, VFW past post commander. "Our country has been involved in more than 65 conflicts, and they wanted something that would tell the history of the price of freedom."

But as the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9182 continues to receive donations from veterans, many of the artifacts are packed away in closets to make room for new displays.

"When more artifacts come in our possession, we have to switch them out," Mastrangelo said. "In 2005 or 2006, we decided we needed to expand because it was doing no justice to the artifacts, especially with the more current conflicts."

Plans for the expansion of the 750-square-foot museum began in 2008 when former post commander Peyton Lumpkin began negotiations with the City of Katy to use the soon-to-be vacated room that was occupied by the Texas Department of Public Safety's driver's license office at the time.

When the DPS moved out in February 2010, the council allowed the VFW to use the driver's license office, as well as the adjacent hallway. In addition, the council approved a $34,433.30 Convention and Tourism Bureau grant in November 2010 to help fund some of the renovations. Post member Norris Miertschin was designated museum director and oversaw the renovations. The veterans museum now houses the Hall of Freedom, which contains murals, artifacts and information depicting the history of the country's involvement in more than 65 conflicts; the Hall of Fame, which highlights the five branches of military, the U.S. Army, Air Force, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast guard; and the Hall of Heroes, which honors veterans and sponsors, many of whom were Katy residents.

The VFW Hall is open Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. For more information, call 281-391-VETS (8387) or e-mail vfw9182@consolidated.net.

EXPANSION OF RAILROAD PLAYED IMPORTANT ROLE IN Katy's History

In June 1870, the Missouri, Kansas and Texas (MKT) Railway won a race between three railroad companies to finish construction to the Indian Territory border. That earned the MKT the sole right to build a railroad south to Texas. The MKT worked on lines running north and south from Dennison to Galveston.

Meanwhile, in 1873, the Texas Western Railway built a narrow gauge railroad from Houston to Sealy. A station was located about a mile south of the present City of Katy — on the west side of Cane Island Creek.

When the train first operated, water was pumped out of the creek by hand to feed the engine, but soon a well was dug and a water tower tank and loading platform erected. The Texas Western, as it was called, traveled only about 15 miles per hour. For a few years, the train did business hauling bales of cotton and other products to and from Houston. The train also brought parties from Houston to hunt on the Katy prairie.

In 1897, the Texas Western, beset by financial and maintenance problems, was abandoned and most of its rails removed. The train would have run through what is now the WoodCreek neighborhood.

The MKT railroad was expanding and in April 1893, it purchased the right-of-way through Cane Island (Katy was called Cane Island until 1896) for $100 and started operations a year later.

As a southern branch of the MKT ran from Smithville to Houston, a water well, tank and tower were erected in Cane Island. A crew house and coal conveyors were installed soon after and in 1895, a box car was parked next to the tracks for use as a station office. In 1898, a railroad station depot was built.

The train allowed many families to come to Cane Island from northern states. Real estate agents enticed new residents with promises of cheap land and rich soil. Katy was also a short trip from Houston, where almost anything could be purchased.

The depot was enlarged in 1919 with an additional waiting room. The depot building standing today at the MKT Depot Museum at 5615 First St. has not been changed — except for fresh paint, utilities and the addition of a restroom.

The train was an important part of life for early Katy families and businesses. People from the area would come to the depot to socialize as well as pick up freight or passengers, and sent or receive telegrams.

The MKT railroad diesel era began in 1946 and larger engines began pulling larger trains. Katy remained a busy stop on the way to Houston but as the use of trucks and automobiles increased, the need for rail began to decline. The rail line remained busy, but only for freight. The Texas Department of Transportation bought the MKT right-of-way in 1998 and the line was closed in 2000.
