Katy couple charged with conspiracy to commit felony in MS

BY GEORGE SLAUGHTER
NEWS EDITOR

A Katy couple is free on $20,000 bond apiece following their arrests and charges of conspiracy to commit a felony in Mississippi.

Angela McClelland, of Katy, was arrested Jan. 18 in Fort Bend County. She was released on Jan. 20 on fugitive bond so she could travel to Mississippi to appear in a Ridgeland, Miss., municipal court.

When McClelland arrived Jan. 23 at court, authorities told her that her husband, Colburn McClelland, would also be charged. Both pled not guilty and were arraigned.

"They've been arrested, they've been bonded out," Boty McDonald, Ridgeland Municipal Court prosecutor, said in an interview with the Katy Times. "In Mississippi, when you're arrested in a city, the felony comes through my court (a city court) for a bond to be done and an arraignment to be done."

Now, McDonald said, their case will be given to the Madison County, Miss., district attorney, for presentation to a grand jury, which will decide whether to indict.

The case involves an alleged kidnapping by two men: Jerrell Powe, a former Ole Miss and NFL player from Hattiesburg, Miss., and Gavin Bates, of Rosemont, Calif. They were charged with conspiracy to commit a felony and kidnapping Bryce Mathis. Reportedly, Powe and Bates were among some investors with Mathis, who reportedly was fronting a multi-million medical marijuana growing plant near Powe's hometown of Buckatunna, Miss.

Reportedly, Powe and Bates were trying to collect money Mathis owed them and took him to a Chase bank in Ridgeland where he supposedly had the money. But it wasn't enough money, and police arrested Powe and Bates for taking Mathis to the bank against his will.

"The fact that someone may owe you money does not allow you to collect your debt," McDonald told the Mississippi Daily. "When this becomes a Netflix series, it's going to be Apple Dumpling Gang meets The Sopranos."

Powe and Bates posted bonds of $100,000 apiece, according to local reports.

Details of the McClellands' alleged involvement in the case have not been made public. McDonald said he guessed the case would be presented to the grand jury within the next two to four months because

HCC working on programs for horticulture, environmental, agriculture studies students

BY GEORGE SLAUGHTER
NEWS EDITOR

As Katy-area students continue to show a strong interest in agriculture, horticulture and environmental studies issues, officials at Houston Community College's Katy campus are developing programs to train workers in those fields.

Zach Hodges, HCC Northwest Campus president, said the college's approach is two-fold. First, the college is developing certificate and short-term courses to provide workers.

"It's a workforce program for the local agricultural and horticultural industry," Hodges said. "There are lots of certificate programs within the landscaping industries. 'There are a lot of small agriculture businesses, lots of commercial and residential businesses. We want to create workers for those industries, from entry-level through management."

One certificate program the college now has works with the Texas Landscape Nursery Association, Hodges said. Through this program, Hodges said, a student can sit for his or her first certification exam.

The second part of the college's approach is developing a program where students can attend HCC for their first two years and transfer, with credits, to colleges with four-year agricultural and horticultural programs, such as Texas A&M University or Sam Houston State University. The college has 300 similar transfer plans to 65 partner universities, according to HCC's website. Major areas of study include art and design, business, engineering, health sciences, industry and manufacturing, public service and science and technology.

"We have such successful FFA programs in West Houston and Katy ISD," Hodges said, adding that other area districts such as Sealy, Royal, Lamar, Spring Branch and Alief have FFA programs.

Zach Hodges, HCC Northwest Campus president.

"Those kids are interested in majoring in agriculture," Hodges said. "We want to provide a pathway for them to transfer to a four-year university."

Towards that end, Hodges said, HCC wants to work closely with area FFA instructors.

COMMUNITY BRIEFS

Wild West Brewfest set for March 23-25 at Typhoon Texas

Preparations are underway for the 2023 Wild West Brewfest, a fun weekend full of great beer, live music, food and more hosted by the Rotary Club of Katy. The K-Town Throwdown will kick-off the multi-day event on March 23, followed by the Launch Party on March 24. The official Brewfest will be on March 25. The entire weekend of events will be hosted at Typhoon Texas, 555 Katy Fort Bend Road.

The Brewfest showcases some of the best liquids, including over 800 different beers, plus a fantastic wine garden. The event is more than just a great time, it's about helping others in need through its proceeds. Founded in 2011 by Katy Rotarians, the event was volunteer run and 100% of all proceeds are given back to the local community in student scholarships and donations to charitable organizations. Since its inception, the Brewfest has raised and donated over $1 million.

For more information and to purchase tickets, visit the website wildwestbrewfest.com.

Texas utility help program receives more energy bill assistance fundings

The Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs (TDHCA) announced it is directing an additional $48 million from the Federal Infrastructure and Investment Jobs Act to the Texas Utility Help program to support homeowners and renters who need help paying energy bills.

Through Texas Utility Help, homeowners and renters can pay off total past due utility bills for electricity, natural gas, propane, water, and wastewater, plus get up to $2,400 in prospective payments. All approved payments are issued directly to the utility company on the applicant's behalf.

Topo Chico hard seltzer has been among the drinks for Wild West Brewfest attendees to enjoy. The next Brewfest is set for March 23-25 at Typhoon Texas.

DAVID FRISHMAN

Applicants must meet the following criteria to qualify:

- Household income must be at or below 150% of Federal Poverty Income Guidelines.

- At least one occupant in the household must be a United States citizen or Qualified Alien.

"The past year was hard on Texans, with rising food, housing and transportation costs and higher energy bills due to extreme heat over the summer. With the additional funds, we hope to ease some of the burden for as many renters and homeowners as possible," Bobby Wilkinson, TDHCA executive director, said. "We anticipate receiving more funding this year, although it's unclear when or how much that will be, so we encourage everyone to apply now if they need help."

Cottage Charm LLC acquires Cottage Charm at the Romack House

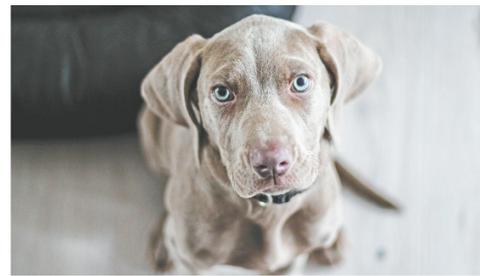

The historic Cottage Charm at the Romack House, an event venue and fixture in the Old Town Katy district, has been acquired by Cottage Charm LLC.

Originally built in 1905, this nostalgic cottage sits on an all-weather, half-acre site that is completely shaded by 100-year-old heritage oak trees. The Cottage Charm venue is ideally suited for parties up to 100 guests and is the frequent choice for private party and event planners for weddings, baby showers, bridal showers, Quinceañeras, family reunions, graduation parties, anniversaries, business meetings, private catered dinners, Prom and Homecoming events.

Longtime Katy residents and new owners of the property, Hector and Magdalena LaRotta, will continue to operate the property as one of Katy's premier event venues. The sellers and operators of the Cottage Charm venue, Nancy and David Gillespie, will assist the buyers in the transition and fulfillment of events already scheduled at the venue.

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test.

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

English and I help to facilitate that learning to where they are able to communicate and continue to learn the English language.”

Nesossi teaches history at Paetow High, where he is also the academic decathlon coach. This is his third year there. He taught at Tompkins High before moving to Paetow and taught in Cy-Fair ISD before that. He is a US Navy veteran.

Teachers are selected Campus Teacher of the Year at their respective campuses. Campus principals and those teachers submit nomination essays to a Districtwide Teacher of the Year selection committee, which uses a blind application review process to make selections. Teachers with the three highest scores are brought in for interviews, and from there the committee makes its final selections.

On relationships and relevance

Two keys to great teaching, McDonald and Nesossi said, were building relationships with students and making the content relevant to students. To build that good relationship, McDonald said teachers must be student-centered.

“Building that relationship with the student is your very first, I guess not line of defense, but the first thing that you need to do so that student not only trusts you, but you build that respect,” McDonald said. “If you respect your students and you have that relationship with them, they’re going to be willing to do anything and everything they can for you.”

Nesossi said there were slight nuances between the elementary students McDonald teaches and the high school student he teaches, and it was important to understand and work with them.

“I work with 11th graders, and I think particularly what we need to pay attention to is that these are human beings that also have life outside of school,” Nesossi said. “And so, when I look at the tremendous portfolio of some of our students extracurriculars, many of them don’t get home until 7 o’clock at night.”

High school students can be overextended, and Nesossi said he and other teachers try to work with that.

“If they come to me and say they need an extension on a deadline, nothing as large as a research paper—that’s pretty much established, and they know they’re working towards that goal at the end of the semester—but if there’s a small little assignment that they need an extra night on and they said, look, I’m going to the Ag Barn at 5 a.m. and we’ve been at a basketball game up in Brenham until 11 p.m., a good teacher, a great teacher will understand to be flexible with that student to meet them halfway,” Nesossi said.

Nesossi also said it was important to provide, as he put it, “a consistent rationale for what you’re teaching and providing a connectivity to the real world.” As a history teacher, he said this meant he wasn’t going to start listing a litany of dead people with dates and birthdates for memorization. He wants students to understand how history impacts them.

“You try to put into the lap of the students the content so they have a rationale and in turn start to learn intrinsically,” Nesossi said. “They might think, oh, this impacts me. I have a stake in this bit of information or in this content. When they find themselves in that, then they become better students and we have that symbiotic relationship.”

McDonald said teachers who make the content relevant to the students get that student buy-in.

“I love the term buy-in,” Nesossi said. “I use that quite a bit myself. You’ve got to have that and establish that in the first two weeks of school. I have young mentees that I work with, first- and second-year teachers, and I’m like, you don’t get those first two days of school back. And I’m not trying to make you nervous on that first day of school, but that’s where you are selling yourself to the students and they’ve got to have that buy-in.”

McDonald said students speak 28 different languages at Rylander, and the students she works with have little to no English.

“It’s really just letting them know that I’m there for them, that I care about them and that we are really going to work together,” McDonald said. “It’s not me versus them or them just doing the assignment. We are working together so that they can grow in their ability to speak English, to listen, to read and to write and working on those small steps. It is a step at a time.”

CITY

on efforts to update the city’s strategic plan and the priorities it spells out for the city. The top five of those priorities are:

- Ongoing attention to Katy’s infrastructure and public safety services.
- Proactively preparing for ongoing growth.
- Enhancing mobility at access.
- Achieving an even more livable Katy.
- Advancing plan priorities through new and improved implementation tools.

To address these areas, the plan focuses on growth capacity, land use and development, transportation, economic development and recreation and amenities.

The plan calls for 19 actions for the city to take. Two of them—completing a review of the city’s zoning and land development regulations and providing input for the Texas Department of Transportation for the Brookshire-Katy Mobility Study—are to be completed in two years.

The plan calls for nine actions to be completed within five years and three within 10 years. The remaining five actions, which are ongoing, include:

- Continually evaluating new technologies and options for improving public service delivery.
- Completing advanced municipal service planning for the future growth of the city’s incorporated areas.
- Securing Katy’s long-term water supply.
- Continuing efforts to use the Historic Downtown Square more regularly.
- Continuing to implement the city’s 2022 parks, trails and recreation master plan.

The plan comes as city officials look at a growing community. According to the July 2021 Census Bureau estimate, Katy has a population of about 24,000 people, Mitchell said.

Efforts to update the strategic plan have been underway for about a year. Officials and Kendig Keast Collaborative representatives have held listening workshops with former Katy mayors and other community leaders. They have also held meetings with a comprehensive plan advisory committee, most recently in December. Two public hearings on the final proposed plan are expected to be set. One will be later this month, and the other in March.

The city has been working with Kendig Keast, an urban planning consultancy, on the plan revision. Kendig Keast is based in Sugar Land, according to its website.

To see the working draft of the plan, visit the website, the abbreviated URL for which is bit.ly/3YdWZ0H.

Election candidate filing period underway

The candidate filing period for the city’s May 6 election is underway.

Three seats are up for election, and the incumbents—Council Member-at-Large Chris Harris, Ward A Council Member Janet Cote and Ward B Council Member Rory Robertson—have filed for re-election. Nobody else has filed as of Jan. 30, according to the city’s secretary’s office.

Filing deadline is Feb. 17.

“We want to build the transfer program,” Hodges said. “We’re just getting started, but it’s a commitment we’re making to the agricultural and horticultural industries. We hope to continue to implement the certificate program. Or working to implement this transfer program.”

Hodges said the college hope to have students enrolled in the transfer program by this fall.

Hodges said the program has been endowed, and would be called the Warren Bernard Itz Agriculture, Horticulture and Environmental Studies Program. According to materials provided by HCC, Itz, a native Texan, served in the US Army Air Corps during World War II and received the Bronze Star. Following his honorable discharge from the military, he returned to Texas and went on to a long career in banking, ranching and farming. He served in a number of community service positions in San Antonio and Houston.

Hot for hot chocolate

I've never been a huge fan of hot chocolate. For some reason, I don't enjoy cauterizing the inside of my mouth after being duped by the deceptively-tepid whipped cream or marshmallow topping.

These days, I mainly have hot chocolate when my three teenage daughters, who I'm pretty sure started drinking coffee as toddlers, invite me and my credit card to join them in the drive-thru of one of our roughly 200 local coffee shops. Since I've never learned to relish the scalding bitterness of designer coffee, and I refuse to order anything with a name as silly as "Frappuccino," I typically order myself a hot chocolate to avoid feeling left out.

Unfortunately, in addition to costing about the same as several gallons of premium unleaded, the hot chocolate from these caffeine dispensaries usually tastes like the water out of an old tire — if the tire were on fire.

And I won't even get into the abominations inflicted upon the American public by Swiss Miss. I'm not sure who this young lady is, but she should apologize to the fine people of Switzerland for representing them with those so-called marshmallows.

In spite of my checkered history with this classic winter beverage, I was willing to put all of that behind me on our recent family vacation to New York City. We happened to be in the Big Apple during a historically-frigid arctic blast that even made it too cold for native New Yorkers to curse at the tourists.

Since we were in the city during the holiday season, my daughters were keen to visit several famous holiday markets. Our first stop was the Holiday Shops of Midtown Manhattan's Bryant Park Winter Village, touted as a "European-inspired open-air market" and designed to separate tourists from their cash with multicultural flair.

For me, the highlight of the market was a large cup of Max Brenner classic hot chocolate. This was the hot chocolate my blood glucose levels had been waiting for my whole life. It was the perfect temperature (meaning that it didn't cause the top layer of my tongue to peel off), and it tasted like a freshly baked and liquefied homemade brownie. It was so good that I nearly forgot about the frostbite.

The next day, we hit the Union Square Holiday Market, featuring 185 local craftsmen, artists and entrepreneurs (all equipped with hand-crafted credit card readers). It was here that my eldest and most expensive daughter introduced me to the social media-famous Rubyzaar Baked Liquid S'mores.

Normally, I prefer to eat marshmallows, chocolate, and graham crackers in their pure, untainted states, but the combination of ingredients in this molten cup of decadence was something to behold. It's really difficult to describe, but let's just say that if preparing hot chocolate requires the use of a miniature blowtorch, sign me up!

Our visit to New York opened my nostrils to new levels of freezer burn, my wallet to new levels of emptiness, and my taste buds to new levels of chocolaty deliciousness. Until I return, I guess I'll somehow make do with Swiss Miss—and my own miniature blowtorch.

Grateful for Punxsutawney's silly fun

Groundhog Day cannot come soon enough.

It's the thick of winter. Cabin fever is setting in. Incivility is worse than ever.

A delightful, silly diversion is what we need about now, and Punxsutawney Phil has been delivering needed joy this time of year since 1887.

As you know, every Feb. 2, on Groundhog Day, Phil is pulled from a tree stump on Gobbler's Knob, a few miles outside of downtown Punxsutawney, Pa.

If he sees his shadow, his Inner Circle organizers allege, there will be six more weeks of winter. If he doesn't, spring will be just around the corner.

Regardless of what Phil proclaims, there will be an abundance of fun surrounding the event.

The Inner Circle, a group of local dignitaries, works hard all year long to make sure of that.

As the legend goes, the Inner Circle president is the only person on Earth who understands Phil's native language, "Groundhogese."

At daybreak on Feb. 2, Phil tells the president whether or not he has seen his shadow. The president then directs his vice president to present a paper scroll that shares Phil's prognostication to the world.

This event has put smiles on thousands of people's faces for many years, but, with the popularity of the delightful 1993 Bill Murray movie, "Groundhog Day," it has swelled to attract some 20,000 visitors to the small town every year.

In addition to the festivities on Feb. 2, visitors enjoy a large banquet, a talent show, a dueling-piano contest and a "Groundhog Club" event in which Phil's fans from all over the world celebrate their love of all things Phil.

TOM PURCELL

SPECIAL TO THE KATY TIMES

If he sees his shadow, his Inner Circle organizers allege, there will be six more weeks of winter. If he doesn't, spring will be just around the corner. Regardless of what Phil proclaims, there will be an abundance of fun surrounding the event.

Phil's popularity has led to the establishment of the Punxsutawney Weather Discovery Center, which, this Feb. 2, will induct Phil as the final member of the Weather Discovery Center's Meteorologist Hall of Fame.

The Center hosts a series of entertaining and educational weather exhibits for children, as well as adults, that helps them learn and explore "tornados, thunderstorms, weather folklore (including our own famous Punxsutawney Phil), precipitation, clouds, the water cycle, weather forecasting technology, lightning, and weather emergency readiness."

The Center also hosts a variety of field trips and educational events, such as the exploration of the winter season through activities, games and technology. Their "Snow Day Saturday" lets children immerse themselves in winter-related exhibits, snow crafts and activities like the "famous snowball fight"—even though that old-fashioned childhood "sport" is probably now illegal in other parts of the country!

All of these wonderful, fun and informative communal events—which have grown out of an innocent and silly bit of folklore—are what we need right now.

They offer an example of human nature at its best—one worth noting in a world surrounded by so many examples of human nature at its worst.

I wish I had planned ahead to attend the events in Punxsutawney this year.

My two-year-old Labrador, Thurber, was born there (he can't predict the weather but he sure does have meal times down pat).

I've become good friends with the two terrific "Punxsutawney-ians" whose two beautiful dogs, Sunny and Tank, gave me the best pup I could ever hope for. (See more at ThurbersTail.com.)

The point is, every day, each of us has the choice to be positive or negative, hopeful or dour, kind or rude.

The kind citizens of Punxsutawney have chosen to bring much needed cheerfulness into an increasingly uncheerful world with an enjoyable and upbeat tradition that brings out the best in us all.

When a whole town of people get civility and good humor so right, it's worth calling attention to their great work!

TRIBUTES

Randy Lemmon, Houston radio host of The GardenLine program on 740 KTRH, died Jan. 4. He passed away at Mt. Sinai Hospital in New York City of complications due to a stroke. He was surrounded by his family.

For over 25 years, Lemmon hosted the weekend gardening program, during which he shared all sorts of tips, tricks and serious science for handling this area's unique climate. In what he called the "Most-listened-to Garden show in the country", he was faithfully followed by serious landscapers as well as the weekend gardener as he shared his enthusiasm and advice about lawns, gardens and outdoor living. He was a go-to expert when climate issues became serious or dangerous to the public such as during hurricanes and deep freezes.

Before his radio program Randy spent years as a television and radio producer for the Texas Farm Bureau. He then spent nearly a decade at his alma mater- Texas A&M University producing news and commentary for an agricultural network he created with the College of Agriculture. One of his responsibilities was producing the R.C.

Slocum show.

Randy authored four books on everything from fertilizer schedules to the 10 commandments of mulch. His most recent book, New Decade Gardening: a Gulf Coast Guide can be found at nurseries, garden centers and feed stores in and around the greater Houston area. Over the past few years in addition to his radio program Randy shared his passion and expertise with homeowners throughout the Gulf Coast region through his company, Randy Lemmon Consulting.

He was born Randal Scott Lemmon on January 4, 1962 in Whittier, California to Richard "Dick" Lemmon and Phyllis Lemmon. The family moved to Houston where Randy attended Robert E. Lee High school and went on to Texas A&M University where he graduated in 1984 with a BS degree in Journalism. While at Texas A&M he lived in Moses Hall. Later while working for the University's College of Agriculture, Randy earned a Master of Science in Agriculture degree.

He volunteered his time for many years with the Houston Livestock Show & Rodeo where he served on the media committee and the Best Bites competition.

In addition to Randy's passion for all things growing, he was known for his sense of humor, his cooking skills, and his passion for Aggie football and Astros baseball. Randy also enjoyed other hobbies including concerts, disc golf, racquetball and Broadway shows. He was a talented singer and was involved in acting and musicals in high school and college. He even earned extra money in college doing singing telegrams.

Randy was a devoted father. He and Yvonne Salce Lemmon were married from 1999 to 2021. Together, they continued putting their two children first and were dedicated to making Randal and Selena's dreams come true.

Randy was predeceased by his parents and his uncle, Tommy Lemmon. Randy was married for 22 years to Yvonne Salce Lemmon (a graduate of Katy High School, 1987), and is survived by Yvonne and their children, Randal, 21 and Selena, 16. He is also survived by his sister, Terri Langer (Ron) and his Sister-in-laws, Jennifer Spriggs (Kevin) and Melissa Salce (Joab), as well as nieces; Lindsey Langer, Lauren Langer, Jessica Spriggs, Jamie Spriggs, Paighton Salce, and nephews Preston Salce and Parker Salce. He's also survived by his aunt and uncle, Janelle and Ron Stokes and their two sons, Conner and Reid, along with his cousins, Jennifer and Tony Masuccio, and Loretta and Chuck Bradshaw.

In lieu of flowers, contributions can be sent to Salem Lutheran Church SSM, 22601 Lutheran Church Road, Tomball, TX 77377.

RODERICK JOSEPH NICHOLS
1936-2023

Roderick Joseph Nichols, 86, passed away peacefully on January 24, 2023. Rod was born on November 11, 1936, to Simeon Eugene Nichols, Sr. and Mary Elizabeth Blaise Nichols in Houston, Texas. In 1959, he met the love of his life, Betty Sue Dearing and they wed in 1961. They had 2 children, Laurie and Lisa. In 1965, the family relocated from Houston, Texas to Katy, Texas and lived there for the next 42 years. Rod worked as a home builder for many years and was a talented cabinet maker and wood worker. He was employed by Katy I.S.D. Maintenance Department as a craftsman for 27 years before retiring. After retiring in 2007, Rod and Betty moved to Edna, Texas to be near their grandchildren. Rod spent his time enjoying going to his granddaughters' sporting events, spending time with family and occasional trips to the casino.

Rod was preceded in death by his wife, Betty Dearing Nichols; father, Simeon Eugene Nichols, Sr.; mother, Mary Elizabeth Blaise Nichols; brothers, Simeon Eugene Nichols, Jr., Peter William Nichols, John Francis Nichols and sister, Ethel Perl Nichols Raif.

He is survived by his daughters, Laurie Nichols of Victoria and Lisa Gabrysch (Kent) of Edna; grandchildren, Stephanie Laskowski (Luke), Courtney Novella (Jonathan), Morgan Musser (Rhett); great grandchildren, Ryleigh Novella, Madisyn Laskowski, Lane Laskowski (on the way) and his beloved cat Toby.

Visitation for family and friends will be Friday, January 27, 2023 from 1PM-2PM at St. Theresa Catholic Church in La Salle. A rosary will be recited at 2PM with a Funeral Mass to follow with Rev. Johnson Owusu-Boateng officiating. Burial will be at St. Theresa Catholic Cemetery. Pallbearers will be Luke Laskowski, Jonathan Novella, Rhett Musser, Payton Gabrysch, Craig Gabrysch and Logan Gabrysch.

We would like to thank all of the doctors, nurses and caregivers who so lovingly cared for Rod during his illness.

Memorial donations may be made to Jackson County Home Health.

Words of comfort may be shared at www.rosewoodfuneralchapel.com.

BIS Houston named International School Awards 2023 Winner of the Diversity, Equity, Inclusion and Justice Award

The British International School of Houston (BIS Houston) has been named winner of the 'Diversity, Equity, Inclusion and Justice' Award from ISC Research at the 2023 International School Awards.

The winners were announced during a live online event on Jan. 24. ISC Research received 291 applications this year from international schools in 61 countries.

BIS Houston won its award for its initiative which involves a school-wide auditing of curriculum offerings to ensure the representation of all stakeholders. BIS Houston was the only school in North America to win an award and be shortlisted.

Barrie Scrymgeour, BIS principal, accepted award on behalf of the school.

"We are immensely proud to receive this award," Scrymgeour said. "Rooting DEI within the curriculum at BIS Houston is integral and impactful at BIS Houston. As an international school with a diverse international community BIS Houston are proud to celebrate such good practice."

BIS Houston was also shortlisted for Innovation and creativity in learning: This award recognizes a school initiative that is being implemented that supports students in future thinking and creative innovation.

Katy ISD releases 2024-25 instructional calendar

Katy school trustees approved the 2024-25 instructional calendar at their Jan. 23 meeting. The calendar includes the following highlights:

- Wednesday, August 14, 2024: First Day of School
- Friday, May 16, 2025: Last Day of School for Seniors
- Thursday, May 22, 2025: Last Day of School

Included in the approved calendar are district holidays such as Independence Day, Labor Day, Columbus Day, Martin Luther King Day, Good Friday and Memorial Day.

Katy ISD will continue providing a full week off for Thanksgiving, two weeks for Christmas and New Year's, as well as one week off for spring break.

Trustees also reviewed and approved minor amendments to the 2023-24 instructional calendar that affect staff only and include the addition of one new teacher orientation day and changes to flex days for i00 and i01 pay grades.

The development of both calendars follows weeks of community feedback from over 16,000 participants throughout the Katy ISD boundaries.

Hangar Unity Center to offer construction training

The Hangar Unity Center, 4010 4th St. in Brookshire, is offering the Hangar Trade Program, a program in which students grades 6-12 can learn how to use tools and basic construction skills.

Classes begin Feb. 6 at the Hangar Unity Center. Classes are 2:30-4 p.m., and from 4:30-6 p.m., Mondays and Wednesdays.

No previous experience is necessary and tools are provided.

For more information, call Paul Kitchen at 254-220-2149.

Katy ISD FFA Livestock Show set for Feb. 14-18

BY GEORGE SLAUGHTER
NEWS EDITOR

This month marks the 80th anniversary of both the Katy ISD FFA Livestock Show and Katy Rodeo. They began in 1943.

The livestock show runs from 8 a.m.-9 p.m. Feb. 14-18. The rodeo begins at 7 p.m. Feb. 16-18. All events are at the Gerald D. Young Agricultural Sciences Center, 5801 Katy Hockley Cutoff Road. The livestock show and rodeo run concurrently, but they are separate events organized by separate entities. Katy ISD oversees the livestock show. The Katy Rodeo oversees the rodeo, with proceeds benefiting the Katy ISD FFA.

Rodeo activities include barrel racing, bull riding, and a calf scramble. The rodeo also features a carnival and a buyer's luncheon for those looking to purchase livestock raised by Katy ISD FFA students. Prospective buyers can see the livestock at the livestock show. Sponsorships are available for the rodeo. For more information and to purchase tickets, visit the website katyrodeo.org. Other annual community events have been set up to support the livestock show and rodeo. The Texas Chili Cookoff, proceeds of which benefit the Katy FFA, is set for 11 a.m.-4 p.m. Feb. 11 in the American Furniture Warehouse parking lot, 500 Pin Oak Road. For more information, call the Katy Ara Chamber of Commerce at 281-391-5289.

The annual Katy ISD FFA Livestock Show and Rodeo Parade is set for 9:30 a.m. Feb. 18. The parade begins at the Academy Sports Complex-Rhodes Stadium parking lot, 1733 Katy Fort Bend Road, and runs south on Katyland Drive, then west on Highway Boulevard, ending at the Katy High School campus, 6331 Highway Blvd. For more parade information, including sponsorship and volunteer opportunities, email parade committee at KatyRodeoParade@gmail.com.

While the livestock show and rodeo are contemporary events, they do have an interesting history. Diana Robinson Elder, daughter of show founder L.D. Robinson, shared some photos of the people and places of the livestock show's past.

CINCO RANCH'S KING EARNS 300TH COACHING WIN IN OVERTIME THRILLER

Cinco Ranch dug deep. They wanted to win Tuesday — they knew what the game against Jordan meant not just to their playoff hopes but also for their head coach Neil King. The Cougars trailed for most of the game, but things clicked for the Cougars in the fourth quarter as they made a comeback and won in overtime 55-52 in thrilling fashion over Jordan. The reason it meant so much to the Cougars? It was their head coach Neil King's chance to get his 300th win of his career, and the Cougars wanted to make sure it happened on Tuesday. "He's just a great coach," said senior guard Josh Lennon. "He has so much experience and he always puts us in the right positions. We trust him and what he does really just helps us win games. We're always in the right defense and always in the right play, I'm just glad we could get him win 300." The win was more than just the 300th for King for Cinco Ranch. It was a win that kept the Cougars in the top four in what is a tight battle in District 19-6A, and a win over a Jordan side that they are competing with for playoff spots and positioning. Jordan came out with a strong start and built a seven-point lead in the first quarter and went into halftime up eight. But Cinco Ranch kept pushing and kept finding a way to stay in the game, and they started to get back into it in the second half, as the Cougars did not give in. "I'm just so proud of the way we Seven Lakes has a number of goals this season. The Spartans want to build off their historic year last year, where they made it to the Class 6A-State Semifinals, they want to prove they are one of the best teams in the state and they want to continue the legacy of the classes that came before them in the Spartans program. But their first — and most important — goal right now is their main focus and not on any of that — it's on taking things a game at a time and defending the team's District 19-6A title, which the team has won three years running. "That's our first goal and we talk about it at the beginning of every year," said senior striker Hunter Merritt. "We want to go on a run, we want to win state and we want to do those things, but first and most importantly we have to take care of the here and now. Our first thing we have to take care of is winning a district championship. We want to make it four straight and we don't want that streak to end." The Spartans find themselves in prime position to be able to do that this season,

Tompkins' Ellis named Regional Assistant Coach of the Year

BY TYLER TYRE
SPORTS EDITOR

Tompkins assistant coach Bethany Ellis was named a Texas High School Coaches Association Assistant Coach of the Year, garnering the honors in Region V-6A.

Ellis was named the assistant coach of the year for the region after helping Tompkins to a District 19-6A title, a Class 6A-Region III title and an appearance in the Class 6A state title game.

Tompkins finished the season 42-5, falling to Dripping Springs in the state title game in the teams first ever state appearance.

The Falcons went the entire district season without losing a match, winning 16 in a row over the course of District 19-6A, before going on their long playoff run. The Falcons produced five all-state members on the year and looks to have a very strong team returning for the 2023 season.

Brookshire Royal head coach Theadis Reagins was named the recipient of the first ever Texas High School Coaches Association Football Regional Coach of the Year Award on Tuesday.

Head coaches from each region around the state were recognized and Reagins was named the Region VI-4A head coach of the year, while Royal offensive coordinator Phil Wilson was named the assistant coach of the year for Region VI-4A.

The two were named coaches of the year after a terrific season for the Falcons, which was their best season since 2010, in which they finished with a 9-2 overall record and mad the bi-district round of the playoffs. Royal lost only one game in district play, going 5-1 and finishing second to Silsbee as they continued to improve under Reagins. The Falcons averaged 34 points while giving up under 14 points on average in the regular season.

The Falcons fell in the first round of the playoffs but showed lots of improvement and look to be in just as good of a spot for next season.

Only one other Houston area coach was named as a coach of the year, in New Caney head coach Travis Reeve.

Sasser earns spot on Naismith Defensive Player of the Year Watchlist

STAFF REPORT

University of Houston senior guard Marcus Sasser was named to the Naismith Defensive Player of the Year Watch List, the Atlanta Tipoff Club announced Thursday.

Known for his offensive prowess, Sasser has been just as much of a leader for the Cougars on the defensive end of the court in 2022-23.

The Dallas native leads the Cougars and ranks seventh in the American Athletic Conference with 1.9 steals per game. Sasser has recorded at least one steal in all but five games with multiple steals in 10 contests this season.

A four-year letterman, Sasser leads the defensive efforts in the backcourt for the Cougars, who lead the nation in scoring margin (+21.2 ppg), rank second in the country in field goal percentage defense (34.7) and scoring defense (54.2 ppg) and stand fourth in 3-point field goal percentage defense (26.0).

The Naismith Defensive Player of the Year Award is annually presented to the nation's most outstanding defensive basketball player who achieves tremendous on-court success. The award has been presented annually since 1969.

spot in district all season.

That connection has been key to Cinco Ranch's success, and it was there once again as the two led the Cougars to a 60-32 win over Paetow, as Cinco Ranch kept pace in the District 19-6A playoff race, staying in third place as the regular season enters the home stretch.

"We just read each other and know how to work together," said Foy, a sophomore guard. "We've been playing with each other for almost two seasons now and we just know how each other are going to play — we make plays off each other and it just makes the game easier for both of us."

Foy and Williams combined for 37 points in the win, with Foy scoring 21 and Williams scoring 16 in the win in a game that Cinco Ranch had control over from start to finish.

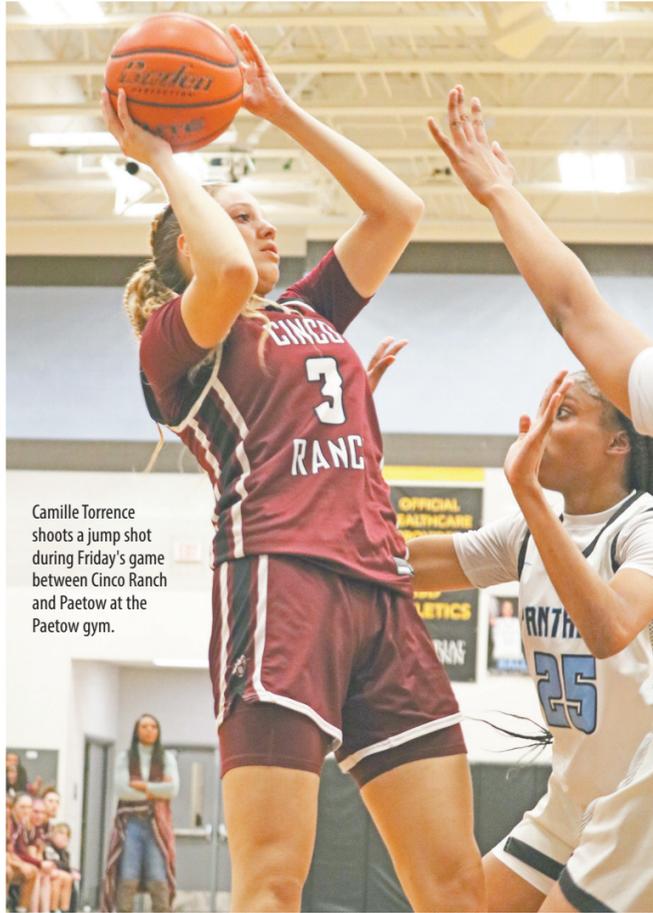

The Cougars jumped out to a four point lead in the fourth quarter but quickly ballooned that to an 11 point lead at the end of the second as they ended the half up 24-13.

And as much as the offense did for the Cougars, it was the defense that had the biggest impact, as they held the Panthers to just one double digit scorer and held Paetow under 10 points in all but one quarter on the night.

"The girls have really committed to playing on that end of the floor," said Cinco Ranch head coach Tamara Collier. "They're communicating and talking back there and it's made a big difference. It helps their rotates and switching and it just goes a long way in winning games."

The Cougars put things beyond a doubt in the third quarter, going up by 16 points before cruising the rest of the way in the fourth.

"We've been working on our passing as a team and wanting to make sure on every possession we have as many players touch the ball as possible," Williams said. "It's just a lot of team stuff that's improved our offense. We've been picking at a lot of details in practice and getting better with that because it opens up the floor with everyone. That's something we've started to do really well I think."

The win keeps Cinco Ranch just half a game back of Tompkins and in the third spot in district. The Cougars have two games remaining, going up against two of the tougher teams in district in Katy and Seven Lakes to close things out, and they know they can't afford to take their foot off the gas.

"I think we just need to continue what we've been doing," Williams said. "We have to listen to our coaches, know what we need to do when we go out there every night and listen to the minor details that we need to fix the rest of the way. If we do that we'll be in really good shape."

fought for this whole game," King said. "We battled for the entire time, a lot of things didn't go our way but they just kept competing. It's what we're about and to see them pull out a win here the way they did was awesome."

Cinco still trailed by eight entering the fourth quarter, but continued to get back into it and started to trim the deficit behind a terrific performance from Lennon. Lennon scored all 18 of his points in the third and fourth quarters, including seven in the fourth. The Cougars finally tied things with 40 seconds left and took the game to overtime where Prince Jones-Bynum scored six of his 18 points to seal the win for the Cougars.

Lennon had been out with an injury and his return was felt both on the scoresheet and with the way he helped open the offense up for others.

"He's a first team all-district player and a two-year letterman so he's a big piece," King said. "The team plays with a lot of confidence when he's out there — he's a part of everything that we do. I'm just glad that he was able to recover from that injury and credit to him for how he worked himself back. He didn't want to let any of his brothers down and he was huge for us tonight."

The Cougars continue to grind out performances and it's brought them to a decent position in the second half of the district schedule, but they know there is work to do and that they can't let up moving forward.

"This win was such a big one for us," Bynum said. "It's a confidence booster for us after we had lost some of these close games. We came back stronger and now have to go out and continue winning."

returning a large amount of talent from last year's team, especially on the attacking end.

That attacking prowess though has led teams to playing very defensively against the Spartans, and that's exactly what the Spartans faced on Saturday as Mayde Creek came out in a defensive heavy lineup and played deep, clogging space in front of goal and trying to keep Seven Lakes off the score sheet.

But it was something that the Spartans prepared for. They had faced a Morton Ranch team that had deployed the same strategy on Tuesday and in practice after the game they had worked on ways to break down a compact back line.

That paid dividends, as the Spartans scored two goals in the first 14 minutes in what ended up being a 3-0 Seven Lakes victory over the Rams.

"You have to be patient when you're going against a team in a 5-4-1 like they were," said Seven Lakes head coach Jimmy Kreuger. "It can be frustrating to go up against and it can be tough to find those pockets of space you need. But when it opens you have to go quick, because as quick as it opens up it will close because the number of bodies there. We had moments where we did that today, we stayed patient, found the passing lanes and when the opportunity came to attack we did get a couple of goals."

The Spartans first came from an own goal after Daniel Ejerena swung in a cross that was deflected into the back of the net in the 11th minute. Kortay Koc doubled the lead just three minutes later, playing a give and go with Jesus Duque, who played Koc in behind the Rams defense where he calmly put the ball past the Mayde Creek keeper.

Merritt sealed things in the second half when he took a cross from Aidan Morrison and headed it in to make things 3-0, as the Spartans were able to put a happy note on a rainy Saturday morning.

The Spartans had to replace all four of their back four from last season as well as their goalie, as every starter from the defense graduated, but the team has been up to the challenge, only allowing one goal through their first four district games.

"We knew that was big to fill those roles back there and we've constantly worked on it," Morrison said. "We do whole things based on just the defense and everyone playing back there has stepped up in a big way. I'm proud of the guys and the job they've been doing so far and I know we can build on it."

The Spartans are 4-0 through their first four district games and are tied for first place in district, but they know they have to keep improving and pushing if they are to achieve their goals.

"We just have to keep playing the way we play," Morrison said. "We have to play our game and not fall into what other teams want us to do. And we can't take any days off."
