THE CLASS OF 1999

High school eeks out sixty-eight graduates

Sixty-eight members of the class of '99 participated in graduation rehearsal immediately following the senior breakfast. It was hot and humid that morning, but not to the degree it had been in recent years. The graduates ran through the ceremonies without a hitch. Mr. Glen Dosselt stood in for a board member so students could shake his hand and receive their imaginary diplomas. Students with speaking parts practiced hearing themselves over the sound system, while everyone practiced walking across the stage, shaking hands, and posing for a picture and for Mr. Cannon to change their tassels. Within an hour, practice was over and the graduates were on their way to enjoy the sunny weather. They were to report back by 7:15 that night to line up for the ceremonies which ended relatively quickly because of the small class size. (Right) Robert Corliss practices his pseudo-valedictorian speech while Mr. Elliott looks on.

Senior year slowly slips into memory

The senior class broke tradition once again by holding the annual senior pep rally on the new gym floor. Instead of having a peer sing the class song, the students selected Sarah McLachlan's "I Will Remember You" to be played while the closely-united class listened at their final fall semester pep rally. This year's pep rally was held on Jan. 8th, during the morning advisory period. (Right) Pictured left to right, Seniors Mitch Mahan, Shuntyl Sanders, Heather Williams, and Josh Coates await the start of the last pep rally.
