LOXLEY — The Loxley Town Council will hold a public hearing at its next meeting Monday, June 10 to discuss a proposed tax revenue sharing and incentive agreement with Manning Inc., owners of Piggly Wiggly.

Officials broke ground this past November on a new 30,500 square-foot Piggly Wiggly Cost Plus facility, with an additional 7,200 square feet of retail space, which is scheduled to open at some point during the summer at 1078 S. Hickory St., across from Loxley Town Hall.

Ahead of the store’s opening, which at this point should be sometime in July or August, officials are looking at tax incentives in which the town will make monthly payments to Manning equal to 50 percent of the net town sales tax pro-

Bank presentation

Linda Mong, vice-president and bank manager, of Spanish Fort's Bancorp South Bank gave a presentation at the Bay Minette Area Senior Citizens' Center on April 18. Her assistant, Kady Smith, who is the head teller was on hand to assist Mong. The group enjoyed Panera

Bread sandwich boxes. Bancorp South Bank offers personal credit solutions. Mong talked about terms and conditions upon application, automatic bank drafts, and overdraft protection services. She also discussed fraud with the seniors. In the pictures, Mong is speaking to the good-sized crowd who were on hand for the presentation. The seniors thank these fine ladies for coming and telling them know of their services offered. Mong summed up her presentation by saying, “Bancorp South is committed to helping our friends and neighbors. We like to share information that can help.”

“We commend the leadership and many stakeholders of the designated communities for their dedication to ensuring long-term economic success for their communities through the Alabama Communities of Excellence process,” said ACE President and Chairman of the Board, Brandon Bias.

Additionally, ACE announced the 2019 incoming class which includes Florala and Gardendale. The two cities will begin the process of becoming ACE communities this summer. To apply, communities with eligible populations complete a competitive application process in order to be considered for the ACE program.

The two main criteria used in selecting ACE participants are: the level of local commitment to the ACE program; and the community’s capacity to support the ACE program. ACE strives to guarantee widespread geographic coverage across Alabama.

The ACE program offers a systematic three-phase approach with technical resources and the tools needed to help Alabama’s small towns foster growth and prosperity by focusing on their distinctive assets and resources. The ACE comprehensive program includes: Phase I, known as the assessment phase.

During this time, a comprehensive report card detailing community assets and weaknesses will be prepared by an ACE Team and presented to the community along with recommended strategies and actions.

During Phase II, the Leadership Development and Strategic Planning component, each community must establish a leadership development program, prepare an up-to-date strategic plan, and identify a local nonprofit development organization.

Phase III is the Implementation and Comprehensive Planning segment. Issues adressed during Phase III include comprehensive planning, commercial business development, education enhancement, infrastructure, health and human services, retiree attraction, tourism, economic development, and quality of life.

Throughout each of these phases, ACE Partners work with each community to successfully achieve their goals. “The ACE program would not be possible without the financial support and expertise provided by our partners. We thank all of our partners that range from state agencies and associations to banks, utilities, universities and others — to foster unique community development programs to assist smaller towns to plan, grow and prosper” remarks Brandon Bias at the Alabama League of Municipalities Annual Convention.

The ACE Partner organizations for 2019 include: Alabama Department of Commerce; Alabama Department of Economic and Community Affairs; Alabama Historical Commission, Alabama League of Municipalities; Alabama Mountain Lakes Tourist Association, Alabama Municipal Electric Authority; Alabama Power Company; Alabama Small Business Development Center Network; Auburn University – Government and Economic Development Institute; Byard Associates, LLC; David Mathews Center for Civic Life; Goodwyn, Mills and Cawood, Inc.; Jacksonville State University; Regions Bank; Spire; The University of Alabama Center for Economic Development; The University of West Alabama, and the United States Department of Agriculture – Rural Development (USDA-RD). ACE also receives grant funding from the Appalachian Regional Commission.

ACE was created in 2002 as a 501(c)(3) non-profit corporation organized to provides technical assistance to select communities with populations ranging from 2,000 to 18,000 that helps to strengthen the communities’ long-term economic success. This year marks 17 years of ACE providing the resources and knowledge for small communities across the state to focus on the importance of planning, leadership development and broad-based community engagement. Community leaders are provided with training and workshops to develop vision and mission statements, implementation strategies and a sustainable leadership development program. ACE assigns each community with a team of experts from the ACE Associates Council that guide them with an implementation strategy as they work through the program.

ACE principles include the active involvement by community stakeholders across a broad demographic spectrum coupled with development of local leaders and leadership capacity and an emphasis on the importance of developing and implementing short- and long-term plans to further the realization of the municipality’s vision.

Christian “Ecology”

In 1926, the last wolves in Yellowstone National Park were killed. As an apex predator, they struck the same sort of fear in people as the shark does, and fear’s logic demanded that they be eliminated. Over the next seventy years, biologists watched the ecological dynamic of the park shift in a negative direction and, in 1995, wolves were re-introduced. The results have been remarkable. Wolves brought the elk and coyote populations down resulting in an increase in certain species of trees, which brought back beavers, which brought back dams, which brought stability to rivers, which brought back fish and reptiles, which brought back birds of prey, and on and on. A cog had been removed from the ecological engine of Yellowstone, knocking the whole thing out of sync. When it was restored, everything went back in rhythm. So, it is for the Christian life. Very often, things enter the “ecology” of our walk that seem frightening to us, and so we banish them before they are allowed to do their work in us. This results in lives that are out of balance, in which even “good things” grow beyond their proper proportion (like the elk of Yellowstone) and slowly rob us of certain essential aspects of Christ following. So, make room for the surprising, mysterious, and even scary things that God wants to do in you. He is usually trying to give you a gift that changes everything for the good.

Jones and Sewell say expand Medicaid to save our rural hospitals

By SENATOR DOUG JONES AND CONGRESSWOMAN TERRI SEWELL

In the past eight years, 13 Alabama hospitals — seven of which have been in rural areas — have been forced to shutter their doors. Not only did these hospitals provide lifesaving care in their communities, they also employed hundreds of Alabamians.

Many of the rural hospitals that are still hanging on have had to cut essential services, such as labor and delivery. In 1980, hospitals in 45 of Alabama’s 54 rural counties provided obstetrical services. Today, just 16 of them offer these services — and we are seeing the effects reflected in dismal maternal health outcomes across the state. We are in a crisis.

Last year, we sat down with Centers for Medicaid and Medicare Services (CMS) Administrator Seema Verma and Senator Shelby about the ever-growing challenges our medical providers, especially Alabama’s rural hospitals, are facing. One of the greatest challenges our hospitals face are the inexplicably low Medicare reimbursement rates resulting from the flawed area wage index formula, which calculates how much Medicare reimburses hospitals for the services they provide. As this crisis has continued to worsen, the entire Alabama congressional delegation sent Administrator Verma a bipartisan letter urging the agency to provide relief for Alabama hospitals.

Administrator Verma announced recently that she heard us loud and clear — CMS is now planning to address disparities in the area wage index formula and increase Medicare reimbursements for Alabama’s hospitals. CMS’ proposed change will help struggling hospitals in low-income states like Alabama provide critical care and keep their doors open.

While this proposed change is a big win that we have been working toward for many years, there is still work to be done to support our hospitals and health care providers so they can meet health care needs in all of our communities.

However, this wage index update is just a first step. Importantly, Governor Ivey and the state legislature should expand Medicaid. This would be the best way to help shore up Alabama’s rural hospitals and improve health care affordability, access and quality across the state — and provide a boon to our economy, as well.

Medicaid expansion has proven to be a life-or-death issue for health care providers and patients in many states: almost 90 percent of rural hospital closures have occurred in states that did not expand Medicaid. With 88 percent of Alabama hospitals operating in the red, we simply cannot afford the status quo.

What’s more, while other states like California and New York benefit from coverage expansions, funded in part by Alabama taxpayers who are not receiving the same benefits, some 320,000 Alabamians remain uninsured because of the state’s refusal to expand Medicaid. We know that access to good primary care results in people living longer and healthier lives, but too many working Alabamians fall into the Medicaid gap and can’t afford even basic primary care. This means that hundreds of thousands of Alabamians are foregoing medical care. And when people forego primary and preventative care, our emergency rooms fill up and we all pay the price. Furthermore, it’s not just those on Medicaid who suffer when rural hospitals close — it causes everyone in the community to lose access to the health care they rely on.

Alabama has one of the most bare-bones Medicaid programs in the country. Adults who don’t have children don’t qualify. And parents who have children only qualify if they make 18 percent or less of the federal poverty line, which amounts to less than $3,000 a year for a family of two.

Our state leaders proudly claim to value work, but our Medicaid program is notorious for leaving the working poor behind, with no assistance to afford health insurance. Medicaid expansion would allow Alabamians making up to $23,336 a year for a household of two, or 138 percent of the poverty level, to receive health care they can afford.

Moreover, if Alabama expands Medicaid, it could generate $2.7 billion in annual economic activity in addition to helping shore up our rural hospitals and local economies. If our state had chosen to expand, we could have seen approximately 12,000 new jobs across all sectors of Alabama’s economy in 2016 alone. Rural hospitals are often the largest employer in the region, and they serve as economic drivers for their communities. In addition to being essential to providing care Alabamians need and keeping our rural hospitals open, state leaders should see Medicaid expansion for the economic boon that it is.

For all these reasons, we introduced legislation to incentivize Alabama to expand Medicaid by guaranteeing a 100 percent federal match for the first three years. Regardless of our state’s past resistance, we believe the federal government should give Alabama another chance to do right by our citizens and expand Medicaid.

We are doing our part to shore up our rural hospitals and increase access to health care for working Alabamians, and Administrator Verma is finally acting on the wage index. We hope Governor Ivey and the state legislature follow suit by doing the right thing and expanding Medicaid. Alabamians and our hospitals are depending on it.

Road rage and deer hunting bills take center stage in Legislature

Over 20 years ago when I was a legislator the State Trooper assigned to my county asked if he could come visit with me. “Of course,” I said. When he came he had a somber look on his face. I thought maybe he had a serious personal problem or had lost a loved one.

He began, “This may not sound like a major highway problem, but one of the things that causes a good many accidents and incidents on our roads is people driving slow in the left lane and not moving over.” I never pursued legislation to this effect. However, he made me aware of the need to remedy this problem.

Well, finally, a legislator has taken up this legislation. Rep. Phillip

Pettus, a Republican from Lauderdale County, who by the way retired as a captain in the

STEVE FLOWERS
Inside the Statehouse

Alabama State Troopers after a 25-year career, has passed legislation to remedy this problem. He calls his Bill, “The Anti-Road Rage Act.”

The Bill would prohibit drivers from staying in the left most lane on interstates for more than a mile and a half without passing another vehicle. Pettus explained, “People get ill when they come up behind people driving slow in the left lane and they are wanting to get by. Interstates were set up for the movement of traffic. This will make interstate traffic move better if the said road rage causes more wrecks than accident records would indicate, like when angry drivers cut in front of another vehicle and cause that vehicle to run off the road.” The House has passed the Bill on a 61-24 vote. It awaits action in the Senate.

It has been 20 years since I was in the Legislature, and during the entire time I was there we had a perennial issue that would surface every year; whether or not to let deer hunters hunt deer with dogs. Today the issue has evolved into whether or not to allow hunters to use bait to attract deer. This Bill has become an annual debate in the Legislature. Both sides are ardent and take their deer hunting seriously. Well it looks like the baiters have finally won. Rep. Danny Crawford (R-Limestone) has passed legislation that gives hunters the option of hunting over bait. The bill passed overwhelmingly in both chambers.

The deer hunting issue has been around forever. During the 1950’s and 60’s there was a legendary legislative sage named Rankin Fite of Marion County. Ole Rankin had been in the Legislature a long time. He was actually Speaker of the House well into the 1970’s when the first Ethic Laws were passed. Rankin was one of only six House members to vote against the Ethics Law. After the vote the media asked the former Speaker why he voted against the Ethics Law. He wryly replied, “It wasn’t tough enough.” He further pontificated this advice, “I voted for every tax, voting for taxes won’t beat you.” “I just voted against the Ethics Bill, voting against ethics won’t beat you.” “The issues you need to avoid are voting on daylight savings time or hunting deer with dogs.”

Gov. Kay Ivey has done a good job with her judicial appointments throughout the state. In 2017, she appointed Circuit Judge Brad Mendheim of Dothan to the Supreme Court to fill a vacancy. Mendheim is a very well qualified jurist to sit on the state’s highest judicial tribunal. Mendheim is extremely well liked and respected in his native Houston County.

In the 2018 elections, Mendheim lost a close election to Judge Sarah Stewart of Mobile. Gov. Ivey wisely reappointed Mendheim to the Court in the place of Justice Tom Parker who was elected Chief Justice.

Former Chief Justice Lynn Stuart, who Tom Parker replaced, has taken a seat on the State Ethics Commission. Judge Stuart was a Baldwin County Judge for 12 years prior to being elected to the Supreme Court in 2000. She served 18 years on the Supreme Court. Her term on the Ethics Commission is for four years, through August of 2023.

Gov. Ivey has set the Special Election dates for the seat of Dimitri Polizos in Montgomery. Dimitri, a popular restaurateur in the Capital City, died in March. The first primary is June 11 with a runoff on August 27. It is a Republican seat, which has drawn a crowded field of candidates.

Runners needed for 9th annual Memorial Day Flag Relay Run

By ALLISON MARLOW
allisonm@gulfcoastmedia.com

Every year 50 runners spend Memorial Day crossing the county in memory of those who gave the ultimate sacrifice. This is the ninth year the Memorial Day Flag Relay Run will be conducted to honor America’s fallen military members. “It’s the least we can do to honor those who gave their lives. This isn’t even close to what they’ve done for us,” said Elizabeth York, who is helping to organize this year’s run with her husband, Tyler York, a veteran. “This is to honor not only the fallen, but also the families, to show them that their loved one, is still remembered and haven’t gotten lost in the noise of Memorial Day. This is not a day to have a party.”

This year’s route will begin in Daphne and end in Orange Beach. The route will be tackled by two groups of runners traveling simultaneously (one beginning in Daphne at 7 a.m. and one beginning in Foley at 7 a.m.). Each three person group will carry two flags (The American Flag and The Armed Forces Flag) for 2 - 3 miles, before handing the flags to the next three person group. The total distance is about 47 miles, requiring roughly 48 runners, who will be accompanied with police escorts. The United States Army Recruiting Station of Spanish Fort will accompany Route 1 and The United States Marine Corps Recruiting Station of Spanish Fort will accompany Route 2 with follow vehicles as well. York said the teams need about 10 more runners to complete the circuit. The run also features a sponsorship program which allows supporters to purchase a memorial sign in honor of the fallen. Family members or friends of a deceased service member can order a sign that includes a photo and brief description of the service member. The signs will be used as mile markers along the route. Signs are returned to the purchaser after the event and can be ordered at the following website: <https://memorialdayflagrun.costaprints.com>. York said she is touched every year by the number of passersby who stop to recognize the runners. “I’m always in awe of how many people pull over to salute or to have their hand over their heart as the comes by,” she said.

Take an unexpected journey to the Copper Kettle TeaBar

Though the Copper Kettle is busy making travelers feel at home throughout the year, on Saturday, April 27, the staff welcomed special guests as Hobbits, elves, dwarves, dragons, and wizards made an unexpected journey to a magical dinner under the oaks during the 5th Annual Hobbit Tea. Sister Hobbits Robin and Sue treated guests to a variety of teas and delicious homemade food under the watch of reluctant host Bilbo himself, while familiar faces from Tolkien’s epics mingled with the crowd, from Sam, Smaug, Radagast and Gandolf. Magic tricks were provided by wizard Joseph Varner, dwarves Comedia Del Arte led songs, and music was provided by Leah Johnson, elf Katy Herndon, and Hobbit Melody Duncan. A costume contest was held, and the evening ended with wands of sparklers and good company around the bonfire. It’ll be another year before the next Hobbit Tea, but the Copper Kettle hosts special events each month, as well as welcoming anyone during regular business hours. For more information on the Kettle’s daily menus and upcoming events, follow them on Facebook. For a full gallery of the Hobbit Tea, check out our website at GulfCoastNewsToday.com.

Did you know that frogs are an indicator of the health of water systems? Andie MacDowell and Hugh Grant reunite in a “Four Weddings and a Funeral” mini-sequel on NBC’s annual Red Nose Day special, airing Thursday.

NBC’s Red Nose Day revisits ‘Four Weddings and a Funeral’

By Jay Bobbin

Since “Love Actually” had a mini-sequel on Red Nose Day two years ago, maybe it isn’t surprising “Four Weddings and a Funeral” is getting similar treatment now.

Both movies were written by Richard Curtis, a co-founder of the Comic Relief-spawned fundraising effort to benefit children in need around the world. For the “Four Weddings” follow-up — already shown in England and airing during NBC’s fifth annual Red Nose Day special Thursday, May 23 — he regathered many of the original cast members including central stars Hugh Grant and Andie MacDowell plus the 1994 film’s director, Mike Newell, to tell the story of another wedding the characters attend.

Titled “One Red Nose Day and a Wedding,” the short subject seemed a natural to Curtis after the positive response to his revisiting of “Love Actually,” which he says “caused the question to be asked just around my house, as it were: ‘Is there anything else that we can do?’ The ‘Love Actually’ one was easier, because I could just move on with all those people and it only required a fragment of story.

“With this one, it was really only one story (initially), and I wasn’t sure I just wanted to hang around with Andie and Hugh in their kitchen. Then it came to me that it’s another generation and it’s been 25 years, so it would be time for another wedding. The moment I decided I could do that, it became fun.”

That’s also how MacDowell found it to reprise the part of Carrie, the American love interest of severely smitten Englishman Charles (Grant). “I was just excited to get to see everybody, and for such a positive cause,” the actress reflects. “To help those in need and also to all be together, it’s a beautiful idea. I was aware of Red Nose Day and the amazing work (those behind the event) have been able to do. They’ve raised so much money.”

Kristin Scott Thomas, John Hannah and Rowan Atkinson are among other “Four Weddings” returnees. “Everybody showed up,” marvels MacDowell, who also appears (“briefly,” she notes) in a forthcoming Hulu series the movie has inspired. “It was amazing.”

However, two key cast members are absent from the Red Nose Day reprise: Simon Callow, alias “Gareth,” for a reason anyone familiar with the film will know; and Charlotte Coleman, who played Charles’ sister Scarlett and died in 2001.

As fans of Curtis’ movies might suspect, he’s also planning a Red Nose Day return to “Notting Hill.” He hopes that projected occasion will have a similar result as the “Four Weddings” reunion, which he describes as a group reliving “a defining experience. There was genuine warmth and genuine friendship and genuine delight.”

The American Farm

Season 1 of this compelling docu-series draws to a close with a finale called "Never Give Up," which opens as fall is drawing to a close. While other Americans are throwing themselves into the whirl of autumn's many festive events, the featured farm families are painfully aware that their fall harvests will be a do-or-die act for their business.

and then a brave soul steps forward to shine a cleansing light on such malfeasance, even though it may come at a cost to themselves. Host Alex Ferrer returns for another season of thrilling and heartfelt stories of such real-life David vs. Goliath confrontations and the ordinary people who put it all on the line to do the right thing.

Summer is the time for Junior Golf

By PHILLIP ELLIS
Golf Today News

Every parent wishes the best for their children. That they will grow up to be caring, honest, and responsible adults. One way to ensure that outcome is to invest time with your family and focus them on activities that promote good values. Golf, often described as a pastime for ladies and gentlemen, is a great way to develop those traits. It teaches manners, dedication, hard work, honesty, respect, and discipline, all important values to success in life. It's also a lot of fun for everyone regardless of age or gender and makes for wonderful family memories.

In today's world, most moms and dads spend their days rushing around trying to earn a living and often the kids are lost in the shuffle. It's a tragedy, but one that can be corrected. Here's an idea: if you're reading this article, you probably are a golfer; so the next time the greens beckon, invite your child to tag along and find out what golf is all about.

It's an investment that bears great dividends and you don't need Wall Street to make the call.

Many youngsters begin playing in a summer program offered by local courses or associations. Parents and grandparents drop them off to practice where they learn the fundamentals and develop a love for the game. Once they learn the basics, they move into more complex programs and competition.

Senior quarterback Stevens transferring to Mississippi State

Penn State Nittany Lions senior quarterback Tommy Stevens is transferring to Mississippi State University as a graduate transfer.

When replacing a long-time starter, it takes more time to find an impact player who can create the same productivity on the field. The Mississippi State Bulldogs added another name to the list of potential players to replace three-year starter Nick Fitzgerald, who signed as an undrafted free agent with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

MICHAEL HANICH

Stevens spent his entire collegiate career with Penn State and the past three years backing up Trace McSorley.

Stevens was competing heavily for the starting quarterback for Penn State along with sophomore Sean Clifford. The two have been competing since the conclusion of the 2018 College Football season. Clifford is the more productive and established passing quarterback while Stevens is a bigger bodied, dual-threat RPO (run-pass-option) style quarterback much like Fitzgerald was for Mississippi State.

As spring football was concluding, it was becoming evident that Clifford would be the favorite to be named as the starting quarterback for the Nittany Lions when they kick off the 2019 College Football season. Having the capability to transfer immediately as a graduate student to another university, he chose to compete for a starting quarterback position and play for a head coach whom he has experience with.

Second-year head coach of the Mississippi State Bulldogs in Joe Moorhead was previously the offensive coordinator/quarterback coach of Penn State in the 2016 and 2017 College Football season. During that time, Moorhead coached Stevens when he was a redshirt freshman and a sophomore. As a backup for McSorley, Stevens had limited playing time due to the offensive philosophy and the fact that McSorley was helped the Nittany Lions compete for the College Football Play-offs.

The most productive season for Stevens as a player was in his sophomore season. This was the last season for Moorhead as offensive coordinator before accepting the head coaching position at Mississippi State. That year, Stevens accounted for 14 completions (out of 27 attempts) for 158 yards and three touchdowns. Due to his ability to run the ball as an RPO system quarterback, he rushed for 190 yards and four touchdowns on 27 rushes.

Now that Stevens is on campus at Starkville and playing under Moorhead again, he is the favorite to win the starting quarterback position when the Bulldogs kick off the 2019 season against the Louisiana-Lafayette Ragin Cajuns in the Mercedes-Benz Superdome in New Orleans.

Tiger Guard members for 2019-2020 includes: Mallory Hastings, Jacklyn Ganey, Jaelyn Gray, Autumn Hardy, Brianna Broadus, Tamichael Neal, Chloe Fettes, Jada Murphy, Takhia Gray, Jamya Gaines, Zoe Duncan, Dadbi Broadus, Lorelai Durant and Madde Brooks.

Buxton Group assisting in Summerdale growth

By JESSICA VAUGHN
jessica@gulfcoastmedia.com

SUMMERDALE — During February, the town of Summerdale approved hiring the Buxton Group to assist in bringing in businesses that matched with the town. Since, the town reported progress was already being made, and 12 businesses were interested in possibly locating to the town after Buxton contacted them with information regarding the town.

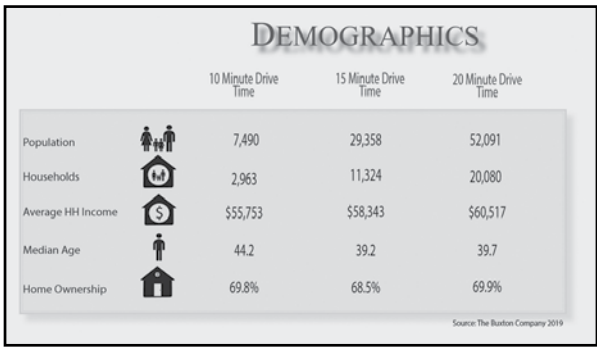

“The purpose of this is to bring businesses to the town of Summerdale,” said Mayor David Wilson. “We have a handful of businesses that we’re proud of, but we do not have the number of businesses to sustain us where we can do all of the things we would like to do for the town. We’ve been able to pave roads, keep all the lights on, and keep the police protection, but just to operate the police department alone is 50 to 60 % of our entire budget.”

Buxton is an analytical data company that gathers data from towns like Summerdale and matches the information with businesses that fit with the town. The cost for the service is a three-year contract of $50,000 per year, and results are usually seen beginning in the second and third year. Summerdale has created an Economic Development Division and hired Shannon Carlson to head it and set up and meet with potential retailers. She has been hard at work with Buxton to gather the appropriate data needed for the next steps.

“The information Buxton is providing us is invaluable,” said Carlson. “I cannot see how we could do what we need to do without Buxton. They’ve given us all the demographics that we need so we can bring these retailers in and know what we can get from them and what we can provide for them.”

Carlson has begun a marketing campaign for the town, which can be found on their website. The material includes the data collected and released by Buxton as well as information compiled by Carlson pertaining to the reasons retailers should consider Summerdale and what makes it “right where [businesses] want to grow,” the campaign’s tagline. The information includes Summerdale’s key location between the two main highways leading to Orange Beach and Gulf Shores, information Carlson states retailers in New York may not know without being told.

“All this growth that Robertsdale and Foley are invested in is going to encroach on us, and the area is going to grow whether we want it to or not,” Carlson said. “It’s very important as residents of Summerdale that we control that growth, that we have a say in who’s going to come and where they’re going to go and what they’re going to bring to our town. We will be the middleman to facilitate that so we have a say in what comes.”

Buxton takes information provided by Summerdale and data they gather to determine what businesses would be best suited in Summerdale to thrive. To start, Summerdale chose Highways 32 and 59 as the center of activity and focus, creating a trade area of 10-minutes, 15-minutes, and 20-minutes away. Buxton then collected information to determine how many residents live in that area, income, how much they’re willing to spend, median age, and how far they’re willing to drive for certain services.

“There is no way we could have collected all this data on our own, it all came from Buxton,” said Carlson. “Numbers are winning the game now, it’s what businesses want to know, and Buxton supplied us with that.”

At the point of Highways 32 and 59, it was reported there were over 52 thousand residents within a 20-minute radius, many who were willing to drive to get what they want. When looking at trade potential, Buxton provided information stating there is 659 million dollars being spent within Summerdale’s trade area every year, while 160 million dollars are being spent elsewhere because people can’t find what they need within the trade area and are driving outside the area to obtain it.

“Those are our future retailers,” Carlson said. “We can use these numbers to entice them, to show them that there is money that they can make here, because if you can offer people what they need in town I can’t imagine they’d drive if they don’t have to.”

The trade numbers have been broken down into categories such as grocery stores and food to show what residents are driving to find, all which can be seen online at Summerdale’s website.

“Buxton not only represents places like Summerdale that are looking for the businesses to come, but businesses are hiring Buxton on the other end,” Wilson said. “These businesses that Buxton brings to the town of Summerdale are people that they have already matched their criteria with ours and know this is the place they need to locate.” In preparation for oncoming businesses, Summerdale and Carlson have been working to pinpoint all available property within their trade area to be ready for potential retailers.

All information, including demographics collected, available lots, and trade numbers can be found at Summerdale’s website at: www.summerdaleal.com/economic-development-division.

Town of Loxley hosts annual summer camp

By JOHN UNDERWOOD
john@gulfcoastmedia.com

LOXLEY — There will be something for everyone when the Town of Loxley begins its 15th Summer Youth Program next week at the Loxley Civic Center and Municipal Park.

The camp, which begins the day after Memorial Day, May 28, features daily activities and crafts throughout the five-week program, ending June 28.

Started in limited capacity in 2004 by then activities director Joey Knight, the camp is open to boys and girls ages 5 to 12. After drawing as many as 100 campers in its early years, the camp is now limited to 50, said Tina Harris, who came on board as activities director for the town in 2013.

“Now that school’s almost out, we’ve had a lot of calls from people showing asking questions about the camp,” Harris said, “so I’m hoping we have a good turnout, at least 40 or more.”

Registration for the camp is $150, which includes all art and craft supplies, special events, daily snacks and teachers, among other things. Lunch is provided at a cost of $2 per meal and a light breakfast will be offered for $1 per meal.

“Things are going to be a little bit different this year,” Harris said. “Debbie (Huffer), the person who has been doing the camp for the last several years, is not going to be able to do it this year, so we’ve had to hire a lot of new people, but we’ll figure it out. The important thing is that we provide these kids with a fun, safe environment.”

Harris said most of the programs will be confined to the Civic Center and Municipal Park grounds with possible field trips to the town library.

Margaret Odom with the Auburn Extension is planning some programs, Harris said, and the program will host Mobile Infirmary’s De-

Harris said she is also hoping to welcome the Loxley Fire Department or Police Department at some point during the camp for programs and demonstrations.

The camp will also offer water days with slip and slides and other water activities every other week with an extended splash day offered the day before the last day of the camp on June 30.

“We just want to provide a variety of fun activities,” she said.

You can download a registration form at townofloxley.com. Under “DEPARTMENTS” go to Civic Center, then click on Summer Youth in the right column.

You can also pick up a registration form at the Civic Center, call 251-964-7733 or email tharris@townofloxley.org for more information.

UB Community Development announces funding for meter replacement

ATMORE — UB Community Development, LLC, a community development partner of United Bank, has announced $3,100,000.00 in Community Facilities Lending funds designated to North Baldwin Utilities for the purchase of an estimated 9,400 automatic radio read water meters, two blowers at one of NBU's wastewater treatment plants and the installation of an additional well. Community Bank Lender Chris Walker helped secure financing for the project.

Established by the City of Bay Minette in 1945, NBU is a public utility providing water, wastewater and natural gas to the residents of North Baldwin County. NBU is governed by a five-member board appointed by the mayor and city council. To better represent the service area, director positions are held by customers who reside in Bay Minette, Stockton and Stapleton. Currently operating at only 44 percent capacity based on 2016 calculations, NBU proudly serves water to over 40,000 residents. NBU also provides sanitary sewer service to most residents and businesses in Bay Minette. Always expanding to new areas, NBU's natural gas system currently serves 1,800 residential customers, 24 industrial customers and 335 commercial or other customers.

Over the last 20 years, NBU's service area has grown exponentially as smaller community water systems needed to be absorbed. Due to this growth, many additional water services have been added to properly serve customers. With new customers and miles of additional territory to cover, NBU is continually looking for ways to allow additional growth as needed. "We never stop undergoing expansion and upgrade projects. We embrace any improvement that can increase efficiency and allow us to offer reasonable rates," said Jason Padgett, NBU's General Manager and CEO.

To help employees with the increased workload from additional services, NBU has begun an improvement project to upgrade manual read water meters to automatic read meters. These new meters can transmit directly to NBU employees by just traveling by the meter with no need to stop the vehicle. Once received, automatic meter readings are electronically sent to NBU's billing software for staff to process. Traditional manual meters require an employee to stop the vehicle and physically find the meter to get a reading. The repeated bending and squatting can become difficult for a meter reader, as well as cause exposure to poisonous plants, insects and unfenced pets. "Our employees work hard and take pride in what they do each day. We want to make sure they are provided with the best tools and equipment. The new radio read meters are an improvement for both employees and customers," Padgett said.

NBU regularly performs maintenance or replaces water meters to prevent unaccounted for water usage which can drive up utility rates. With more accurate readings, automatic meters can help NBU quickly detect leaks and other minor damage that results in unaccounted for water usage. With many existing manual water meters nearing scheduled replacement, now is the perfect time to upgrade to the automatic meters. Where automatic meters have already been installed, time to collect reads has decreased by 80%. With the additional time, staff can be more efficient and thorough with all aspects of the billing process. With such success with the already installed automatic meters, NBU is working diligently to complete this improvement project.

"We're excited to partner with United Bank on several upcoming projects," Padgett said. "Since we live in the community we serve, we strive to support our City, schools and other organizations any way we can. We're pleased to work with another community-oriented organization like United Bank. With their support, we continue our efforts to offer customers and our community the very best."

"I am excited to have the ability to affect the quality of the lives of the residents that North Baldwin Utilities serves," said Chris Walker, commercial lender of UB Community Development. "Through this loan process, I have reflected on the impact that Community Facilities Loans have on the quality of life in rural areas and their growth and development.

To aid smaller communities in providing services already prevalent in larger cities is truly gratifying."

For more information about United Bank, contact Tonya Lambert, vice president of Marketing and Public Relations, at 251-446-6004 or email tonya.lambert@unitedbank.com.

William Frank Laraway Jr., born May 26, 1933, died March 22, 2019 after a brief illness.

He is survived by his wife of 56 years, Patricia G. Davis Laraway; children, Jacqueline, Kennedy and Kristen Acee Laraway; and grandchildren, Kate, Stephen and Anna Laraway. He is greatly missed by his loyal canine friend, Sandy. He thoroughly enjoyed relationships with his surviving nieces and nephew, Bobbie Urbanek Harris, Peggy Urbanek Dunnam, Steve Urbanek and Joan Panke.

Mr. Laraway was a native of Fairhope, Alabama, where he was born and raised on a small dairy and chicken farm, learned the arts of farming and carpentry from his father, William Frank Laraway Sr. and mother, Emilie K. Laraway; and was taught manners and grammar by his sisters, Margaret Laraway Urbanek and Emilie Grace Laraway Panke.

He attended the Marietta Johnson School of Organic Education in Fairhope, Alabama for 14 years, graduating in 1951. He attended Guilford College in Greensboro, North Carolina, completing studies in philosophy, mathematics and sciences to receive a BA in 1956.

He was an architectural apprentice to Frank Lloyd Wright from 1958-1959, acquiring his degree in architecture at the University of Michigan in 1963. During his stay in Ann Arbor, Michigan for education, he worked with Dr.s Conn, Fajans, Louis and Floyd at the Endocrinology & Metabolism Research Laboratory for five years, which was one of the singular exceptional experiences of his life; and they remained lifelong friends.

He and Pat married in Ann Arbor at the Ann Arbor Unitarian Church in 1963 before moving back to Fairhope in 1965, shortly thereafter settling at his long-term home on Fish River in 1966-2019. He taught architecture at Auburn University for a period of time.

He is past secretary and president of the Baldwin County Historical Society. He shared a lifetime fascination with the history and accouterments of the American Civil War with many historical society friends throughout the years.

He spent many hours “boon-docking” through the woods of Baldwin County and the rest of Alabama in search of the original Mobile settlement at Mauvila and other Civil War sites and entrenchments built on Indian mounds throughout the state.

Through these pursuits, he became an avid kayaker and biker, traveling with the Sierra Club for many events around the country. He followed the trail of naturalist and artist, William Bartram with great interest, and planted many native plants described by Bartram in his travels on his property at Fish River.

He was also a longtime friend and supporter of the Weeks Bay National Estuarine Research Reserve in Baldwin County, Alabama.

A memorial gathering will be held in celebration and honor of Mr. Laraway’s life on May 26, 2019 at 3:30 p.m. at the Fairhope Unitarian Fellowship, located at 1150 Fairhope Ave., Fairhope, Alabama.

Family and friends are invited to bring pictures or written accounts of Mr. Laraway to leave with the family. This will be an informal gathering to reminisce, respect and share any items of interest regarding Frank’s life.

The family asks that in lieu of flowers or cards, displays of respect and condolence be carried out in the form of charitable donations to Mr. Laraway’s favorite organizations in memorium: The Sierra Club, Emily’s List, The Marietta Johnson Museum, Weeks Bay National Estuarine Research Reserve, Fairhope Unitarian Fellowship and Baldwin County Historical Society.

Bait privilege license provides options for hog, deer hunting

By DAVID RAINER

Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources

A buddy of mine recently returned from vacation to discover what many landowners have been dealing with for the past couple of decades.

“Hogs tore up my place while we were gone,” the message read.

Now my friend has another tool that he can use to help minimize the impact of the scourge known as feral hogs.

The Alabama Legislature recently passed legislation that allows hunters on privately owned or leased land to purchase a bait privilege license that makes it legal to hunt feral pigs (year-round during daylight hours only) and white-tailed deer (during the deer-hunting season only) with the aid of bait.

The Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources (ADCNR) is issuing the new license ($15 for resident individual hunters and $51 for non-residents) through any outlet that sells hunting licenses and online at www.outdooralabama.com.

Hunters who want to thin the destructive hog herd right now can purchase the license, but be aware that license will expire on Aug. 31. If you wish to hunt hogs or deer with the aid of bait during the 2019-2020 hunting seasons, you will need to purchase a new bait privilege license when it becomes available in late August.

The bait privilege license applies to everybody who hunts those species with the aid of bait with no exceptions. That means hunters 65 years old and older and hunters under 16 must have a valid bait license when hunting with the aid of bait. That also includes people hunting on their own property and lifetime license holders.

Plus, each hunter must have his/her own bait privilege license to hunt with the aid of bait.

Also understand that baiting any wildlife – including white-tailed deer and feral pigs – on public lands remains illegal.

Sen. Jack Williams, R-Wilmer, who has been dealing with the destructive feral hogs for years, sponsored the Senate bill. This was the fourth year Williams had submitted similar legislation.

“The biggest thing in my area is the hogs are tearing your property up,” said Williams, who farms and operates a plant nursery in Mobile County. “I’m overrun with them in my area.

“I killed one Easter morning off my porch, in my back yard. They were rooting my driveway up. We’re doing everything we can to kill them. We have more opportunities to kill them during deer season than any other time.”

Williams drew a parallel with how some natural wildlife forage can also congregate animals in tight spaces.

“In my viewpoint, there is not any difference between a group of deer eating the corn spread out or in a trough and white-oak acorns with all the deer up under that tree,” he said. “We’ve fed for years, and I think most people who are trying to grow any deer have too. We haven’t had any problems with it at all.”

Included in the law is a provision that ADCNR can suspend the use of the bait privilege license on a county, regional or statewide basis to prevent the spread of diseases, like chronic wasting disease (CWD), among wildlife.

Williams said he’s received significant feedback on his Facebook page about the bill, and the majority of responses have been positive.

“The polling we had before it was passed was about 84% in favor,” he said. “And it’s a choice. If you don’t want to bait, you don’t have to. If you own property, you can put in your lease that hunters can’t use bait. This is not being forced on you. It’s up to you if you do it or not.”

Williams thinks the use of bait illegally has been a common occurrence in Alabama in the past.

“People have been feeding anyway,” he said. “This is just making a lot of people legal. That’s the way I see it.

“I don’t see it helping the people who grow corn. I know every feed store around here that sells it, and they can’t get it in fast enough during hunting season. It’s not going to make the price of corn go up. That will be market price.”

Williams also mentioned, for those who choose not to hunt with the aid of bait, the Area Definition Regulation remains in effect. The Area Definition Regulation allows for supplemental feeding as long as the feed is more than 100 yards away and out of the line of sight of the hunter because of natural vegetation or naturally occurring terrain features.

Conservation Commissioner Chris Blankenship said this was not a Department-sponsored bill, but the Department did work with Senator Williams to include the provisions that help prevent the spread of disease.

“We wanted it to be clear in the bill that the Conservation Commissioner had the authority to suspend the baiting privilege if CWD or some other disease was detected,” Blankenship said. “It also says the Commissioner can suspend the feeding of wild game in areas where CWD or other disease might be present.

“This gives us some abilities to ensure that we can protect the deer

Feral pigs create significant damage to agricultural fields and wildlife openings in Alabama.

herd in the case of a disease outbreak in our state.”

Blankenship said there has been much discussion regarding the bill.

“People like that this bill makes it clear that if they want to hunt with aid of bait, they can, like they do in Georgia and other states,” he said. “I’ve also got some calls from people who are unhappy, who don’t think it’s a way that you should hunt.”

Blankenship reiterated what Senator Williams said about choice to participate or not.

“This is not a requirement that people hunt over bait,” he said. “It’s a tool that people can use if that is what they prefer. Somebody who is totally opposed to that type of hunting can hunt the way they always have. This is just an option.”

Like Williams and my friend, Blankenship expects significant participation from people who are dealing with feral pigs.

“This may help us throughout the whole year to better help control the population of feral hogs,” the Commissioner said.

Blankenship said the Alabama Wildlife and Freshwater Fisheries (WFF) Division will continue to closely monitor the white-tailed deer herd and any harvest rate trends that might be associated with the use of bait.

“The Department will make sure this is not a detriment to the wildlife and that we have a healthy deer population in our state,” he said. “This is just another factor we will examine as we look at the health of the deer population. With the three-buck limit and other seasons and bag limits, we think our deer population will be fine.”

Revenue from sale of the new bait privilege license will be eligible for federal matching funds to support conservation efforts in the state. That revenue is determined, in part, by the number of licenses sold. Exempt hunters who buy a bait privilege license but don’t buy a hunting license will be eligible to be counted for federal matching funds.

Blankenship said he doesn’t have a projection about the amount of revenue the bait privilege licenses will produce.

“We really don’t know right now,” he said. “After the first season, we’ll have a lot better idea.”

Red Cross: Critical type O blood shortage; donors needed now

All donors who come to give by June 10 receive a $5 Amazon.com Gift Card in thanks

Submitted

The American Red Cross has a critical shortage of type O blood and urges eligible donors to give now to help patients facing trauma and other life-threatening situations. As a thank-you for helping replenish the blood supply, all donors who come to give blood or platelets now through June 10 will receive a $5 Amazon.com Gift Card via email.

Right now, the Red Cross has less than a two-day supply of type O blood available for emergency rooms, where it can be most critical. That means just six units of type O blood are available for every 100,000 people, but at least 14 are needed every day. While just 7% of the U.S. population has type O negative blood, it can be transfused to patients with any blood type and is what hospital staff reach for during emergencies when there isn't time to determine a patient's blood type. Type O positive blood is the most transfused blood type and is also critical in trauma situations.

"All blood types are urgently needed, but we're facing a critical shortage of type O blood — the blood group most needed by hospitals," said Cliff Numark, senior vice president, Red Cross Blood Services. "Because it's vitally important for hospitals to have type O blood available when every second counts, type O donors are urged to donate now and make a point to donate often."

The Red Cross collected approximately 11,500 fewer type O blood donations than needed to sustain a sufficient blood supply. Spring break schedules are known to decrease blood donations, and schools, including high schools and colleges, begin to host fewer blood drives in late spring as school years end. Because these drives account for about 20% of blood donations during the school year, less drives can also greatly affect the blood supply.

Donations needed now

Donors of all blood types, especially type O, are urged to be urged to make an appointment to donate using the Blood Donor App, at RedCrossBlood.org or by calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767). Eligible donors with type O blood are encouraged to make a whole blood or Power Red donation, where available. During a Power Red donation, donors give a concentrated dose of red blood cells during a single donation, allowing them to maximize their impact.

In thanks, all those who come to donate blood or platelets with the Red Cross May 1 through June 10, 2019, will receive a $5 Amazon.com Gift Card via email. (Restrictions apply; see amazon.com/gc-legal. More information and details are available at RedCrossBlood.org/Together.) Additionally, those who come to give May 24-28 will receive an exclusive Red Cross-branded T-shirt, while supplies last.

not uncommon and can have a direct impact on patient care. Dr. Atif Shafqat, an oncologist and hematologist at Missouri Baptist Medical Center in St. Louis, says that hospitals face consistent shortages of blood products year-round, even causing some surgeons to delay elective procedures because of individual shortages. "When I ask our blood bank director the toughest part of her job, she always tells me it is these shortages and how to deal with them," he said.

Despite these challenges, hospitals and the Red Cross work to ensure patients have the blood products they need, but that can only happen when a volunteer donor rolls up a sleeve to give. "This is all possible thanks to the volunteers and the blood donors who are giving this generous gift," said Shafqat.

How to help

Eligible donors can find a blood or platelet donation opportunity and schedule an appointment to donate by using the free Blood Donor App, visiting RedCrossBlood.org or calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767). Donation appointments and completion of a RapidPass® are encouraged to help speed up the donation process. RapidPass lets donors complete the pre-donation reading and answer the health history questionnaire online, on the day of their donation, from the convenience of a mobile device or computer, or through the Blood Donor App.

Those interested in hosting a blood drive can learn more and sign up to sponsor a drive this summer by visiting RedCrossBlood.org/HostADrive.
