Baldwin County’s Chief School Financial Officer wins international award

Submitted

A big honor has been bestowed upon Baldwin County Public Schools as one of our own, Baldwin County’s Chief School Financial Officer John Wilson, has been given the International Association of School Business Official’s – International Pinnacle of Achievement Award for the innovative strategy used to address our past funding crisis, growth demands and overcrowded schools. While other school systems raise taxes and use bonds to fund construction projects, Baldwin County Public Schools did not have that option. Officials looked at strategic planning for budget cuts to create a small, “Pay-As-You-Go”, construction plan to meet the needs of our unprecedented growth. The program utilizes existing taxes and short-term loans over a recurring four-year cycle. While this program is being implemented over several phases, in the last decade we have seen nearly $150 million in school construction with all debt paid off by 2021! This award highlights

County to update master plan

BAY MINETTE — After using the same long-range growth plan for more than 20 years, officials in Alabama’s fastest growing county want to update how they prepare for the future.

The Baldwin County Commission will discuss a proposal in August to create a new master plan for the county. Commission Chairman Charles “Skip” Gruber said the current plan was created in 1996, although some parts were modified later.

“The plan we’ve got definitely needs to be updated,” Gruber said.

Commissioners discussed the proposal to update the plan at the county work session on Monday. The issue will be presented for consideration at the next regular commission meeting on Aug. 6.

County Administrator Wayne Dyess said an updated plan would help guide growth in Baldwin.

“What our goal would be is to have a master plan, or a land use plan, long-range plan that would identify areas of growth in the county and where we would anticipate it,” he said. “We could encourage that growth. We could identify areas where, due

A $6 toll proposed for I-10 bridge

MOBILE — While a $125 million grant will be available for the new Mobile River bridge and Bayway, tolls are still expected to be $6 a trip when the span opens in 2025, but a $90 monthly rate will also be available, state officials said.

At a press briefing July 17, at the Alabama Department of Transportation District Office in Mobile, ALDOT officials said tolls are the only way to pay the cost of a new Interstate 10 bridge over the Mobile River and replacing the Bayway, estimated at a total of $2.1 billion.

Edwin Perry, ALDOT bridge project manager, said that while the toll proposal has raised objections, it is the only way to pay for the work.

“We understand that tolling is not everybody’s favorite subject,” Perry said. “Tolling is the direction that the federal government is heading to finance large projects like the Mobile River Bridge, just because of the challenge of being able to fund these multi-billion-dollar projects. President Trump’s proposed infrastructure plan relies heavily on tolling.”

Perry said the state applied in February for $150 million in federal grant funding for the project after previous applications for $500 million and $250 million were rejected. On Monday, it was announced that the state will receive $125 million in federal Infrastructure for Rebuilding America grant funding. Perry said before the grant

Thieves target grandmother in jail scam, officials say she is not alone

They nearly had her. Earlier this summer a Foley grandmother answered her phone and on the other end was a lawyer, or so he said he was a lawyer.

Her grandson, he said, was in jail in New York City, and needed her help. Then, her grandson came on the line.

The grandmother, who has asked that her name be withheld for safety reasons, said it sounded just like him. He begged her for help. He implored her not to tell his parents.

She believed him. She wanted to help. How could she help?

The lawyer had an answer. Wire $6,500 for fees and he could have the charges dropped and her grandson out of the slammer in a day.

But grandma is 79-years-old, and undergoing treatment for lung cancer. She

Baldwin County House delegation sponsors resolution naming 2020 as ‘The Year to Embrace the Gulf’

STAFF REPORT

Several Coastal Alabama legislators, including four members of the Baldwin County House legislative delegation, sponsored and passed a joint resolution proclaiming 2020 as “The Year to Embrace the Gulf.”

The joint resolution is part of a multi-state effort to celebrate the economic and cultural significance of the Gulf of Mexico next year. According to embracethegulf.org, the Gulf of Mexico Alliance conceived the “Year to Embrace the Gulf” as an awareness campaign to highlight the value and vitality of the Gulf Coast region.

Baldwin County Delegation Chair Rep. Steve McMillan (R – Foley) said he was proud to be the primary sponsor the resolution, which was presented at a regional Alliance meeting held at The Lodge in Gulf Shores.

“There is so much more to our Gulf than just white sugar sand beaches that make for an attractive destination,” McMillan said. “There is an entire economy that generates hundreds of millions of dollars, several thousand jobs and attracts millions of tourists to our area, The Gulf is part of the lifeblood that makes our county and Coastal Alabama the great place it is to live.”

Rep. Harry Shiver (R – Bay Minette) echoed McMillan’s statements and said he was glad to see the support for both the joint resolution and the 2020 celebration.

“The Gulf touches every facet of life we have down here,” Shiver said. “It provides food, oil and gas, transportation, wildlife habitat, and, of course, a wonderful destination for people and families from across our nation to enjoy.”

The purpose of the Embrace the Gulf: 2020 campaign is to raise awareness of the value, sustainability and beauty of one of our nation’s greatest treasures: the Gulf of Mexico. It is designed to preserve, promote and enhance the Gulf through effective communication, education, partnerships, and community engagement.

Reps. Joe Faust (R – Fairhope) and Matt Simpson (R – Daphne) were also co-sponsors of the resolution.

“Studies have shown 30 percent of the entire coastal economy for the United States is generated along our Gulf Coast region,” Faust said. “It goes without saying that making sure the Gulf is safeguarded and protected so it can continue to be an economic engine that helps move our county and this region forward.”

Senator Doug Jones joins call for “Operation Safe Return”

Submitted

U.S. Senator Doug Jones (D-Ala.) has joined a bipartisan group of senators in sending letters to President Donald Trump, Vice President Mike Pence, Acting Department of Homeland Security Secretary Kevin McAleenan and Attorney

General William Barr to urge the implementation of “Operation Safe Return” — a pilot program that uses existing law and authorities to rapidly, accurately and fairly determine and process credible fear claims. This is a first bipartisan step in trying to address the current border crisis.

OUTDOOR CONDITIONS: Baldwin County fishing remains steady during the “dog days” of summer. Speaking of which, do you know where that expression comes from? The “dog days” name actually refers to Sirius, the Dog Star, which rises at the same time as the sun through much of July into August. In the Northern Hemisphere, that coincides with the hottest, most uncomfortable time of year and ancient civilizations believed Sirius played a role.

During our dog days of summer, the Eastern Shore phenomenon known as a “jubilee” is more likely to occur. A jubilee happens when oxygen levels drop in certain areas of the stagnant, warm water in Mobile Bay. Many of the bays creatures become oxygen-starved and head into the shallow waters near the Eastern Shore at first light. Shrimp, crab, catfish, flounder, trout and even redfish can be found in a trance-like state, there for the picking. Just make sure you have a valid fishing license and stick to applicable limits! Recent reports from the Gulf State Pier show occasional king mackerel as well as spanish mackerel, bluefish, flounder and even a few tarpon making an appearance. If you are heading out there, good luck and be safe!

The buzz: pollinators are essential

By KATIE NICHOLS

The Alabama Cooperative Extension System salutes pollinators everywhere who are irreplaceable pieces of the puzzle in gardens, cropland and flowerbeds. Bees are more than honey-makers and hive builders. Bees are essential to the most important part of the food chain — pollination.

Importance of Pollinators

Bees are essential for the pollination of one-third of the food we consume. Sallie Lee, an Urban Extension regional agent, said pollinators have long been taken for granted. “Honeybees never send a bill. It seems many people have taken their services for granted for far too long,”

Lee said. Lee said many foreign countries caused have caused harm to the pollinator population. In those countries orchard workers are paid to climb into the fruit trees with feathers and pollinate. With high agricultural expectations in the United States, producers cannot afford to pay humans to complete a job pollinators have done cost-free for so long. Yes, bees do sting, but there is no truth to the saying “the only good bee is a dead bee.” Pollinators are important! Without bees, people wouldn’t be able to enjoy many favorite foods or flowers. Honeybees While the U.S. has many valuable native pollinators, none produce harvestable honey. Not all native pollinators are as efficient at pollinating as honeybees. “All bees pollinate,” Lee said. “Honeybees are unique in their mobility for pollination, as well as their ability to be managed in hives.” Called flying livestock by the Food and Drug Administration, honeybee numbers are enormous in the hive. Their power in numbers has allowed bees to pollinate crops from one side of the country to the other. Lee said one such example is the almond crop in California. “California grows eighty percent of the world’s almond crop,” she said. “The volume of almonds produced requires one half of the country’s bees to do the job. For this reason, when it is time to pollinate the almond trees, tractor trailer loads of bees travel across the country to California.”

Protecting Pollinators

While many are just realizing the value of pollinators, others — like producers and home gardeners — are taking steps on larger scales to protect pollinators. Whether you are a farmer or a backyard gardener, Lee lists several ways to protect pollinators. 1. Get over the fear of bees. Most bees only sting if threatened, or if honey harvest is in progress. 2. Carefully use insecticides and herbicides. While many major companies are taking steps to protect pollinators, one of the biggest issues is misuse of inputs in the yard and garden. Be sure to read the label and apply per directions on the canister. 3. Plant things to attract and feed pollinators. An entire landscape can be a pollinator garden — fill with herbs, shrubbery, trees and perennials. No matter the scale of your operation, Lee said taking these three guidelines to heart has the potential to drastically improve the status of Alabama’s pollinator population. More Information For more information on pollinator habitats and alternative pest control planting methods, visit www.aces.edu. Extension professionals are exploring ways to deter insects and promote pollinators through alternative planting methods, like trap cropping.

was announced that the funding would not be enough to reduce the proposed toll. On Tuesday, Spanish Fort Mayor Mike McMillan said he and other residents in his city continue to be concerned about the effect of a toll. “We’re very concerned about the effect to not only our residents, but the businesses on the Causeway and in our shopping centers,” McMillan said. The Spanish Fort City Council passed a resolution July 15 opposing a toll for the route. The mayor said he hoped that federal funding can be appropriated before work begins on the project.

Perry said that in addition to a $6 charge to use the entire facility, from the Eastern Shore to Mobile one-time, frequent users could also sign up for a monthly rate for cars, pickup trucks and similar passenger vehicles. “Right now, what we’re looking at is a monthly unlimited pass of $90,” Perry said. “Use the facility as many times as you want. One thing we learned during the public comment period is that the majority of people use the facility 40 times a month.” At 40 trips a month, about what a commuter would make going to Mobile and back over 20 days in a month, the price would be $2.25 for each trip. Perry said another plan would allow drivers to receive a 15 percent discount if they make fewer trips but use the Bayway and bridge at least five times a month. Drivers who use part of the route will also pay a lower toll. Someone going from Daphne to the middle of the Bayway would pay $2.50. From Daphne to the east end of the Bayway, before crossing the bridge or going through the Wallace Tunnel would cost $4.25. While Eastern Shore commuters have objected to the toll proposal, saying it would hurt the economy and their personal finances, not building the bridge would have an even worse economic impact, said John Cooper, ALDOT director. “One reason we’re trying to do this project is that we believe this corridor will devolve into gridlock over the next 20 years if we don’t do this project,” Cooper said. “We believe the toll over that period of time has value to the user of the facility and we believe that over this period of time the toll will add to the economic well-being of the area. Because it will provide the ability to plan and rely on a transportation corridor that today is becoming unreliable.” The Wallace Tunnel, which opened in 1973, was designed for a capacity of 36,000 vehicles a day. Today, the average is 75,000, Perry said. By 2040, that year-round average is expected to be 95,000. The initial cost of the Mobile River bridge to increase that capacity was $800 million. Perry said that after design studies began, officials realized that the Bayway would also have to be replaced. The Bayway, which also opened in the 1970s, cannot withstand a 100-year hurricane storm surge as required by federal highway regulations passed since Hurricane Katrina in 2005 and Ivan in 2004. Work to raise the Bayway another 10 feet added at least $1 million to the estimate. Perry said the new bridge and Bayway are expected to be finished in 2025. No tolls would be charged until all the work is finished, he said.

Carter appointed to dean of academics for Baldwin County

Submitted

Superintendent Eddie Tyler has announced that Renee Carter has been appointed Baldwin County Public Schools’ Dean of Academics. Carter will replace Dr.

Joyce Woodburn who is retiring in December. Carter has 26 years in education with a passion for leading staff and students. Carter said she knew she was intended to be an educator from a very young age and it was through substitute teaching she confirmed her love of shaping young lives. She received a Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education in 1991 from Livingston University (University of West Alabama). She started her teaching career at W.D. Robbins Elementary in Mobile, Ala., and would make teaching stops at Robert E. Lee Elementary in Satsuma, Ala., Reed’s Chapel Elementary in

McIntosh, Ala., Frank Boykin Elementary in McIntosh, Ala. and Chatom Elementary in Chatom, Ala.. She returned to college and received her Master of Arts in School Administration from the University of West Alabama in 1999. This degree allowed her to work in multiple leadership positions throughout her career including Special Services Supervisor for Baldwin County Public Schools.

to natural constraints, such as wetlands, flood zones, lack of utilities or lack of infrastructure, we would probably try to limit new growth and gear it toward areas that already have the proper infrastructure.” Dyess said that since some cities have planning jurisdictions beyond their corporate limits, county and municipal officials would need to work together to develop coordinated plans for all of Baldwin. “Part of our charge, if we do have this master plan, is that we would have to work very collaboratively with these cities and make sure that our plans and their plans mesh together so we can help one another with these issues,” Dyess said. Dyess, who was planning director for the city of Fairhope before becoming county administrator, said a master plan would provide clear guidelines for anyone wanting to develop property in the county. “Our whole goal in this process is to make it fair, consistent and predictable for people who want to invest money in the county,” he said.

Impact fees are an issue that could be considered in the plan, Gruber said. The commission also discussed imposing impact fees in the future at the Monday meeting. Impact fees are costs charged on new developments to compensate city or county government for the effect that the growth would have on streets, schools, police and fire protection and other services. Dyess said a local legislative act passed in 2006 allows Baldwin municipalities and the County Commission to charge an impact fee equal to 1 percent of the value of newly developed property. He said the commission was considering adding an impact fee in 2007 but dropped the idea after growth slowed during the recession at that time. Commissioner Joe Davis said that if the commission considered impact fees, the issue would have to be explained to residents. “It will be viewed by some constituents as ‘y’all are just trying to figure out a way to raise more taxes. Whether that’s right or wrong doesn’t matter,” he said. “That’s their perception.”

didn’t have that type of cash to give. She fretted. The lawyer thought. He advised her that he would talk to the judge and call back. And indeed he did. The judge agreed to $950, all charges dropped. But don’t send the money to the office, the lawyer advised. We wouldn’t want your grandson’s good name dragged out in the newspapers, he purred. Send it here instead. Here turned out to be the Dominican Republic. And grandma almost did. An employee at the local Western Union office where she stopped to wire the money told her to go home. It was a scam. And it was. “There are many, many types of these scams out there and unfortunately they work; therefore, they continue to pop up,” said Chief Thurston Bullock of the Foley Police Department. The grandmother said once she looked back on the conversations, she should have easily recognized the warning signs. “They had three different numbers all in New York. There was no secretary, this guy, this lawyer always answered the phone,” she said. He called three times to ask if she was leaving to make the wire. He even offered to find a location for her near her house. As for the instructions to send the money, they were unusual as well. “He said to tell them to say you know this lady and she’s on vacation there. The lawyer said this. That’s not right. What sort of lawyer says that?” she said. But, her judgement was clouded by fear and concern. The scammers knew her name, her information, her grandson’s name and information. They knew he was in the military. They knew everything. Who else would know that but a legitimate lawyer in an emergency situation, she wondered. “They had everything on me. Then had somebody representing him who sounded like him, knew his name, knew his background, that’s scary,” she said. “I should have known better but I didn’t want him to be in trouble.” Bullock said any call or correspondence, especially those that are not from Baldwin County, in which you are asked for money should be considered carefully and is likely a scam. If you do take the call, never offer information such as a social security number, birth date or other information. If it is a legitimate business that holds your account, they will already have your information. Bullock suggested asking, “what do you show for me on that” rather than providing answers. Government agencies such as the IRS do not ask for money over the phone. “It is easy to find out the names of relatives through a Google search or Facebook, so it is not uncommon for them to have a little bit of knowledge about you,” he said. Ransom type scams that claim a loved one is in trouble or even kidnapped are also popular. Bullock said if you receive a call, hang up and call the person they claim is in trouble. The Foley grandmother didn’t call her grandson on his phone or any other relatives for days and didn’t check on him until after she decided not to send the money. He was fine, working the night shift in Arizona. Bullock said lottery and sweepstakes styled scams ask you to send money to receive money or ask you to purchase or send gift cards or pre-paid cards. Also, anyone asking you to cash a check for them is a scam. “Don’t let greed cloud your judgement when they promise something in return,” Bullock said. “The old adage is true, if it is too good to be true, it probably is.”

Baldwin County Schools tout SRO, safety programs

COMBINED REPORT

ROBERTSDALE — With the 2019-20 school year just around the corner, Baldwin County officials gathered for a press conference on Thursday, July 18 in the Baldwin County School System’s Communications Center in Robertsdale to discuss school safety and the success of the county’s School Resource Officer Program.

“We’re excited about this partnership between the school system, the Sheriff’s Office and local law enforcement,” said Baldwin County School Superintendent Eddie Tyler.

For the first time in Alabama, every school in the Baldwin County School System will have an assigned School Resource Officer.

“I think there may be other school systems that have what we have, but nothing to this scale,” Tyler said. “We are excited to have a year under our belts with this program and are ready to start a second. We are proof that this system can and does work.”

First implemented in the 2018-19 school year, the Baldwin County Board of Education has matched funds provided by Baldwin County law enforcement to ensure full, armed officers on every campus, every day. The partnership includes the Baldwin County Board of Education, the Baldwin County Commission, the Baldwin County Sheriff’s Office and Baldwin County municipalities.

“I represent not only the Baldwin County Sheriff’s Office, but I am also here on behalf of the 12 police chiefs throughout Baldwin County,” said Baldwin County Sheriff Hoss Mack. “This program would not have worked if we did not have 100 percent cooperation from all of our municipalities.”

Mack presented statistics from the first year of the SRO program and said the Sheriff’s Department continues to evaluate the success of the program.

“In the first year of the program there were 1,000 incidents that directly involved a School Resource Officer,” Mack said. In a press release issued by the school system, Mack added, “There are instances where we have found neglected and abused children through our officers being on campus and developing trust relationships with these children. We came to the schools to keep out those who want to do harm, but we have learned our presence has a much greater value than just securing the campus.”

The No. 1 reported incident, Mack said, was harassment, “which is the legal term for bullying.” The second most reported incident was trespassing.

“In a lot of cases, these were students that were on campus at a time when they shouldn’t have been on campus.”

During the school year, there were also five weapons seized by SRO officers, including four handguns and one shotgun.

SRO involvement in the school system went beyond the reporting of crime. Mack also presented statistics from individual school feeder patterns.

“In the Daphne feeder pattern alone, SROs reported 755 student consultations,” Mack said, “including 270 that involved the students’ parents.

“Orange Beach’s SRO implemented the ‘Shop With A Cop’ program where the officers took students who would not have otherwise been able to afford it and bought clothing and school supplies.

“In Foley, SRO officers reported 2,577 foot patrols. That’s a lot of walking.”

In addition to on-site officers, Baldwin County Public Schools has also invested millions in new technology in a commitment to safety. This includes a “buzz in” video identification entry at each school, video monitoring systems, alarms and direct connectivity back to law enforcement who can monitor these systems.

“I know as superintendent, I can probably walk into any school, but I make a point to carry my driver license with me to all schools and will not answer until someone asks me if they can help me,” Tyler said. “I want everyone at every school to think safety first and to practice safety every day. I want the safety of our students to be paramount in everything we do.”

Also on hand for the July 18 press conference were BCSO Chief Technology Officer Homer Coffman and Director of Prevention and Support Services Antony Sampson.

Coffman went over upgrades in the school system’s technology systems, which not only provides computer and safety systems to every school, but also provides a computer to every student in grades K-12.

“We have one of the safest networks in the state,” Coffman said, “with more than 60,000 devices connected to a secure network.”

The multi-layer security software monitors, filters and protects students’ online activities, relying on many, overlapping software solutions to alert system managers to areas of concern.

Computer safety is not just software based. Teachers, local school administrators and Educational Technology system administrators review students’ digital activity through monitoring software to ensure compliance with school policies.

This includes sophisticated artificial intelligence to conduct in-depth scanning of student online activities analyzed by administrators. These systems are not limited to activity on campus. The security systems log students’ activities on district devices at home, at a library or any other location regardless of Wi-Fi connection or physical location. The system is designed to flag cyberbullying, self-harm, suicide, inappropriate content and other concerning behaviors.

Coffman

“We have specific guidelines that we go by,” Sampson said. “If an incident is monitored or reported, we have the tools to follow up and act on that incident. Our No. 1 priority is always to ensure the safety of our students.”

With new construction going on and upgrades to equipment and tools, the security system for the schools is constantly being monitored and updated, Sampson said.

Also with the data now available and continuing to come in, it will make it easier for officials moving forward.

“The best thing about having a year under our belts is that we now have a year’s worth of data to compare moving forward,” Mack said. “I truly believe we will look back and realize this partnership saved Baldwin County from the wave of juvenile crime impacting so much of our country today.”

BREIDENICH

Richard (Dick) Hubert Breidenich died at his home in Fairhope, Alabama on July 19, 2019. Dick was born in Detroit, Michigan on Jan.

22, 1937. He was a graduate of Catholic Central

High School and Wayne State University. Dick spent the first 15 years of his career as a designer at the General Motors Tech Center in Warren before buying a hardware and lumber yard and moving his family to Lexington, Michigan. Dick was an avid sailor who enjoyed spending summers cruising on Lake Huron with his wife, Mary. When they got older, he traded in the sailboat for a 30-foot trawler. In 1999 accompanied by a dog and a cat, he and Mary took the trawler around the Great Lakes, down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers to Fairhope. The following year they returned to Lexington via the Atlantic Intracoastal Waterway, the Hudson River and the Trent-Severn. Richard was preceded in death by his wife, Mary Frances Breidenich; and his siblings, Carl, Franz and Mary Anne Breidenich. He is survived by his daughters, Clare and Kristen; his sister, Louise Tucker; and his beloved dog, Maddie. A funeral mass and memorial will be held in Lexington, Michigan in September. Attorney General Steve Marshall announces Alabama joins $600 million multistate settlement with Equifax, the largest data breach settlement in U.S. History

Submitted

Attorney General Steve Marshall today announced that a coalition of 50 Attorneys General has reached a $600 million settlement with Equifax regarding a massive 2017 data breach. In Alabama, approximately 2.3 million consumers were affected and are eligible for compensation.

An investigation by the Attorneys General found that Equifax’s failure to maintain a reasonable security system enabled hackers to penetrate its systems, exposing the data of 56 percent of American adults — the largest-ever breach of consumer data. The Attorneys General secured a settlement with Equifax that includes a Consumer Restitution Fund of up to $425 million, a $175 million payment to the states, as well as extensive injunctive relief, which also includes a significant financial commitment from Equifax. This is the largest data breach enforcement action in national history.

“Equifax failed utterly in its responsibility to safeguard the information of consumers with due diligence, with consequences of untold harm by identity thefts that have occurred and may yet occur,” said Attorney General Marshall. “This settlement provides important steps to compensate consumers and mitigate the damage from Equifax’s careless practices. Perhaps as significant is the message to other businesses that they will be held to account for maintaining a high standard of protection for their customers’ data. I am extremely proud of the commitment and hard work by the staff of my Consumer Interest Division, which was part of the multistate executive committee, in reaching this settlement for the benefit of Alabama consumers.”

On September 7, 2017, Equifax, one of the largest consumer reporting agencies in the world, announced a data breach affecting more than 147 million consumers— nearly half of the U.S. population. Breached information included Social Security numbers, names, dates of birth, addresses, credit card numbers, and in some cases, driver’s license numbers.

Shortly after, a coalition that grew to 50 Attorneys General launched a multistate investigation into the breach. The investigation found that the breach occurred because Equifax failed to implement an adequate security program to protect consumers’ highly-sensitive personal information. Despite knowing about a critical vulnerability in its software, Equifax failed to fully patch its systems. Moreover, Equifax failed to replace software that monitored the breached network for suspicious activity. As a result, the attackers penetrated Equifax’s system and went unnoticed for 76 days.

Under the terms of the settlement, Equifax agreed to provide a single Consumer Restitution Fund of up to $425 million — with $300 million dedicated to consumer redress. If the $300 million is exhausted, the Fund can increase by up to an additional $125 million. The company will also offer affected consumers extended credit-monitoring services for a total of 10 years.

Equifax has also agreed to take several steps to assist consumers who are either facing identity theft issues or who have already had their identities stolen including, but not limited to:

- making it easier for consumers to freeze and thaw their credit;
- making it easier for consumers to dispute inaccurate information in credit reports; and
- requiring Equifax to maintain sufficient staff dedicated to assisting consumers who may be victims of identity theft.

Equifax has also agreed to strengthen its security practices going forward, including:

- reorganizing its data security team;
- minimizing its collection of sensitive data and the use of consumers’ Social Security numbers;
- performing regular security monitoring, logging and testing;
- employing improved access control and account management tools;
- reorganizing and segmenting its network; and
- reorganizing its patch management team and employing new policies regarding the identification and deployment of critical security updates and patches.

Consumers who are eligible for redress will be required to submit claims online or by mail. Paper claims to mail may be requested by phone. Consumers will be able to obtain information about the settlement, check their eligibility to file a claim, and file a claim on the Equifax Settlement Breach online registry. To receive email updates regarding the launch of the Equifax Settlement Breach online registry, consumers can sign up at ftc.gov/Equifax. Consumers can also call 1-833-759-2982 for more information. The program to pay restitution to consumers will be conducted in connection with settlements that have been reached in the multi-district class actions filed against Equifax, as well as settlements that were reached with the Federal Trade Commission and Consumer Financial Protection Bureau.

In addition to Alabama, other Attorneys General participating in this settlement include Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming, the District of Columbia and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

Baldwin County’s commitment to fiscal responsibility. By not using bonds, nor long term debt, the current construction projects have saved the county tax payers more than $75 million in interest and expenses over this four year period. Today, Baldwin County Public Schools are booming with school construction with three new schools opening this summer. More than a dozen projects, valued at over $100 million, are still in the works to fill the needs for one of the fastest growing counties in America. The next Pay-As-You-Go phase is already being planned and Mr. Wilson and our Strategic Leadership Team are developing the third phase.

The ingenuity and out of the box thinking John Wilson brought to Baldwin County has been a game-changer for us. This Pay-As-You-Go program is unique to Baldwin County Public Schools and is a great example of how stable funding and a commitment to working together can solve many of our problems.

Wilson will be presented the International Association’s Crystal Pinnacle of Achievement Award this October, at the ASBO 2019 Annual Conference & Expo.

Local program provides school supplies for needy students

By JOHN UNDERWOOD

ROBERTSDALE — Volunteers at the Baldwin County Catholic Social Services in Robertsdale are busy stuffing backpacks to help students get ready for school through the organization’s Project R.E.A.C.H. program. Those who need help with supplies began signing up in July and volunteers began handing out supplies on Monday, July 22. Project REACH, which stands for Resources for Educational Advancement of Children, serves low-income school-age children throughout

Baldwin County by providing school supplies and financial assistance of fees. “We’ll go through next week,” said Baldwin County CSS Director Phyllis Beam, “and if there’s a need we can help even after school starts. All they need to do is call us and we will try to help them.” The colorful backpacks are stuffed with a variety of supplies, including pens, notebooks, rulers, colored pencils, crayons, binders, scissors, even headphones that students can use with their computers supplied by the schools. “The only thing we don’t supply is loose paper,” Beam said, “but we have reams of paper that we will be donating in bulk to the schools.” Supplies are purchased in bulk to keep costs down, Beam said. Anyone wishing to donate to the project can make a monetary donation for the Project R.E.A.C.H. program. “We generally ask for $25 per student,” Beam said, “but really any amount is helpful.”

Project R.E.A.C.H. is another way Catholic Social Services, with assistance from local churches, provides assistance for Baldwin County students in need. Every year the organization also provides assistance through its Child Nutrition Program, which provides backpacks filled with food so students can have nutritious meals through the weekend. What started as assistance just for students at Robertsdale Elementary has expanded, Beam said, into Rosinton, Elsanor, Pine Grove and Stapleton Schools among others.

Catholic Social Services also provides assistance to families during the holidays through Project Christmas. Christmas Sharing is an annual project to provide food, toys and gift items through a coordinated community effort. Each child receives three brand new gifts. CSS also hosts a special project with Catholic Ladies of Charities for the elderly or home bound providing holiday bags filled with gifts. Catholic Social Services welcomes donations for these and other programs, Beam said. If you would like more information, you can call 251-947-3877.

Fairhope Unitarian Fellowship invites you to join us this Sunday for an enlightening talk. Speaker: Pinky Bass. Title of talk: ‘Lois Slosson Sundberg: Unheralded Turn of the Century Photographer.’ AlabamaMosaic is a repository of digital materials on Alabama history, culture, places and people, part of Alabama’s Biocentennial Celebration. The Fairhope Public Library received a grant to scan the Slosson collection of images. This will be a presentation of photographs from Silverhill, Fairhope and Mobile by Lois Slosson Sundberg made at the turn of the century using glass place negatives. Bass spent the years of WWII in Fairhope with her Grandmother, Lois Sundberg. She attended the Organic School and began her piano studies with Dot Cain. At age 50 she returned to school where she discovered photography for which she received her MFA. It had previously not been known to her that her grandmother had actually made photographs at the turn of the century under the tutelage of Frank Stewart, the Picture Man. The discovery of 150 plus glass negatives made by the grandmother greatly influenced her work as a photographer. Bass returned to live in her grandmother’s home on Bayview, work as Artist in Education for the Alabama State Arts Council and has continued to research from Lois Sundberg’s photo collection. We are located at 1150 Fairhope Ave., Fairhope, and service starts at 11 a.m.

New summer anthem: Caroline Jones teams up with big names in country music for “Gulf Coast Girl”

By SYDNEY MCDONALD
Special to the Baldwin Times

Country music’s rising star Caroline Jones is bringing the Gulf Coast a song that will hit close to home this summer. Jimmy Buffet and Mac McAnally teamed up to write “Gulf Coast Girl” and Jones used her vocals to put her own spin on. “Gulf Coast Girl” is a song that expresses how the seaside towns along the beaches of the Gulf Coast are more than get-aways, they are home. The song features many other big names in country music including Kenny Chesney, and Lukas Nelson. “The song is about the places that they grew up and have spent much of their lives. There are so many beautiful traditions and memories associated with all the places along the Gulf for them,” Jones said. “So, inhabiting those ideas, and lending my carefree, joyful spirit to the track, is a real treat.” Jones’ endearing and lively voice brings you right in, and makes you feel at home here on the coast, even if you are not a native. Jones herself is not from the Gulf Coast area, but you will not know any different with the familiar way she sings about the local area. This is not Jones’ first brush with the who’s who of country music. This is her third year touring with the Zac

Brown Band who Jones says is another mentor and friend in the industry. Jones says “Gulf Coast Girl” is the first of many new songs that will be released this summer and early fall. “It’s the joy of my life to be performing on these big stages and connecting with new audiences” she said. The next leg of the tour kicks off Aug. 9 in Denver, Colo. Find more information and tickets at carolinejones.com.

Marty Stuart to perform at the Saenger Theatre on Oct. 15

Submitted

WSRE will present country music torch-bearer Marty Stuart, as he celebrates the 20th anniversary of his iconic album The Pilgrim, at the Pensacola Saenger Theatre on Tuesday, Oct. 15 at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are on sale at pensacola-saenger.com or the Saenger Theatre box office.

Stuart is a five-time Grammy winner, a recipient of the Americana Music Association’s Lifetime Achievement Award for Performance, and the 2019 Country Music Hall of Fame and Museum artist-in-residence.

He began his musical career at 12 when he joined the Sullivan Family Gospel Singers and first played the Grand Ole Opry at 13. He has played alongside the masters, from Johnny Cash to Lester Flatt, who discovered him; has been a worldwide ambassador for Nashville, Bakersfield and points in between; and has safeguarded country’s most valuable traditions and physical artifacts.

His collection spanning more than 20,000 pieces of country music memorabilia will soon serve to share the storied history of the genre at the Marty Stuart Congress of Country Music, which is slated to open soon in Philadelphia, Miss. with live musical performances and educational programming.

Stuart continues to record and release keenly relevant music, records that honor country’s rich legacy while advancing it into the future.

His band, the Fabulous Superlatives, is made up of guitarist Kenny Vaughan, drummer Harry Stinson and bassist Chris Scruggs.

“The Superlatives are missionaries, they’re fighting partners. They’re my Buckaroos, my Tennessee Three, my Strangers. They’re my legacy band and have been since Day One,” says Stuart. “Lester Flatt saw something in me and gave me his wisdom, wit and music. Johnny Cash was my best friend. But all of that doesn’t come for free. The job is to pass it along. That’s the way it’s supposed to be in country music.”

For his Pensacola audience, Stuart will share his remarkable life through story and song.

Seats are $32, $65 and $134. Additional fees may apply.

The Big Chief Special VIP package for $249 includes a premium seat; pre-show event with two-song performance and a storytelling session; a commemorative limited edition poster and VIP laminate and lanyard; an individual photo opportunity and autograph session with Marty Stuart and his band; and crowd-free merchandise shopping.

The Hummingbird Bonanza VIP package for $179 includes a premium seat, the pre-show event and the poster and VIP laminate and lanyard.

WSRE is presenting Marty Stuart and His Fabulous Superlatives in conjunction with the fall release of Ken Burns’ “Country Music” film series on PBS.

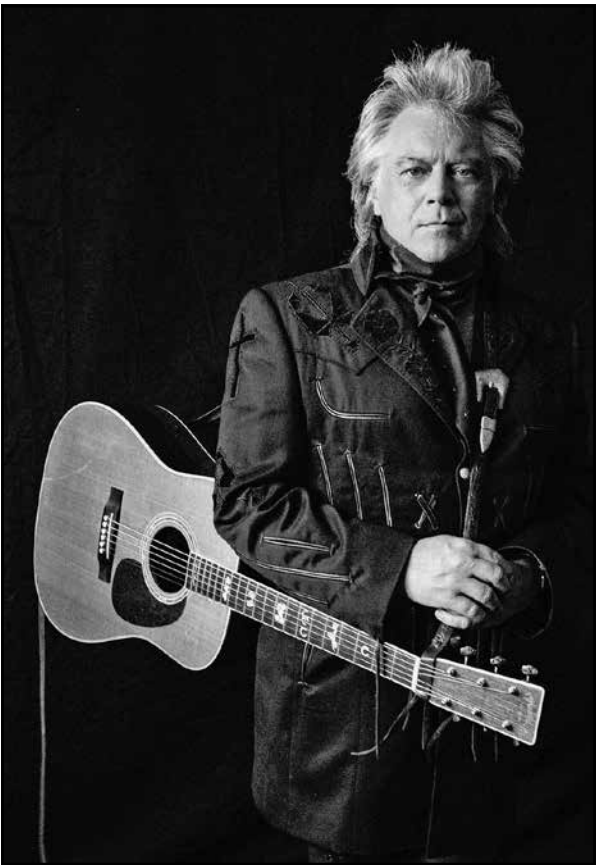

“Like the Ken Burns

‘Country Music’ documentary, this concert is one of several community engagement events we have planned to explore the remarkable stories of the people and places behind a true American art form,” said Mary Riker, WSRE’s director of marketing and communications.

A portion of the proceeds from the concert will benefit the WSRE-TV Foundation in support of WSRE’s mission to positively impact communities through education, entertainment and engagement. For sponsorship opportunities, contact Tracie Hodson at 850-484-1246.

About WSRE

locally owned and licensed to the Pensacola State College District Board of Trustees. Since 1967, WSRE has served Gulf Coast communities with informative, educational and entertaining programs and services. WSRE produces, acquires and distributes programs that address local interests and reflect the diverse cultural, political, geographic and demographic characteristics of the coverage area, and WSRE connects teachers, parents, caregivers and children to PBS educational resources.

Alabama is truly a beautiful and spectacular place! From the mountains of North Alabama through the Montgomery River Region to the coast and everywhere in between, the opportunities for award-winning photography are abundant. Outdoor Alabama would like to recognize the breathtaking images captured in Alabama. The Outdoor Alabama Photo Contest is now accepting entries through Oct. 31. The contest is a joint project between the Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, the Alabama Tourism Department and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. The photo contest is open to state residents and visitors alike, but qualifying photos must have been taken in Alabama.

This is the 15th year for the photo contest, which encourages people to experience nature, watch wildlife, visit public lands and document it through photos. A new category in this year’s contest is “Find a Refuge,” which is for photos taken on one of Alabama’s 11 National Wildlife Refuges managed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in Alabama. The complete list, which includes Eufaula and Wheeler Refuges, is found at www.fws.gov/refuges/refuge-LocatorMaps/Alabama.html.

The contest is open to adults and youth. A total of 10 photos per person may be entered in the following categories:

- Birds of a Feather
- Bugs and Butterflies
- Coastal Life
- Cold-Blooded Critters
- Find a Refuge
- Nature-Based Recreation
- Shoots and Roots
- State Park Adventures
- Sweet Home Alabama
- Watchable Wildlife
- Waterfalls
- Young Photographers

Category explanations and additional entry information may be found at <http://www.outdooralabama.com/photo-contest>. Entry is restricted to the online upload of digital images, which can be completed from a computer, tablet or mobile phone.

The deadline for entries is Oct. 31. First, second, third and one honorable mention will be awarded in each category. Winning images will be featured online and in an exhibit traveling to various venues across the state during 2020. The schedule can be found online at <https://www.outdooralabama.com/photo-exhibit>. An exhibit of the 2019 winning photos is currently on display at the Five Rivers Delta Resource Center in Spanish Fort through July 12.

Moving forward with your July checklist

As we bid July 2019 farewell let us take a moment and review. Did I meet my July projections? Why or why not? Did it rain on crucial days? How do I prepare for next July now? What items or services can I add to my business that would enhance my customer’s experience? Yes, experience.

If you are not choreographing your customer’s shopping/buying experience from the first click on your website to completed transaction then you are behind your competition and NOTHING is more important. Every brick and mortar business should be “on” with each customer implementing a customer experience plan because the internet can offer most anything you can within 24 hours. Your customer experience is your differentiator from all competitors. Next, how’s your cash flow? Is now the time to apply for the loan you will need this winter? Improve your odds of securing a loan by proving you can pay it back with your cash flow analysis and description of any collateral that could be used as secondary repayment. Do not ask the bank/credit union how much they are willing to loan. After reviewing your financial situation suggest an amount that is relevant to your need and repayment ability. Do you need to increase your credit score with this July cash? Can’t pay everything off? At least pay your credit cards, lines of credit and other revolving loans to below half of their limits. This will help more than paying 1 off and the others having a high balance. Do you have a plan as to how you will stretch the abundance of the Summer until next Spring Break? If not, develop one before the cash is gone to non-strategic actions. Have you made progress this month with CyberSecurity? If not, consider limiting entry to your business by creating user accounts for each employee, change passwords regularly, restrict administrative access to trusted IT and key personnel, and create access to entry by using password plus approach which could be additional information or action. All ideas are worthless without implementation. “Just do it.” Take one action toward securing your business from a cyber attack today. Farewell July! See ya’ next year! Big Smiles!

uBreakiFix’s new store brings high quality electronics support to the Eastern Shore

Submitted

Tech repair brand uBreakiFix opened uBreakiFix Daphne at 6883 US Highway 90, Suite 104.

uBreakiFix services anything with a power button, including smartphones, game consoles, tablets, computers, drones, hoverboards, and everything in between. To date, uBreakiFix has completed more than 5 million repairs. While common fixes include cracked screens, software issues, and camera issues, the brand offers support for most technical problems on any electronic device, regardless of make or model.

Through strategic partnerships with leading technology companies, including Samsung and Google, uBreakiFix provides Samsung Galaxy customers and Google Pixel and Pixelbook customers with manufacturer-backed, same-day repair services using genuine parts. Through the partnership with Samsung, Galaxy owners can get in and out-of-warranty repairs at more than 350 locations nationwide, with most repairs completed in two hours or less.

uBreakiFix Daphne is the third location for business partners Steve Curtindale, Warren Dedeaux, and Garlon Pemberton, who also own stores in Atascocita and Baytown, Texas. The trio is opening an additional uBreakiFix location in Mobile, Alabama on July 1, 2019. Curtindale also owns the store in Gulfport, Mississippi.

“Daphne is a beautiful and up-scale area that is in need of a high quality technology repair option,” Curtindale said. “We’re excited to offer our services to the local community here, and we have a great location to make it happen. We are located right off of I-10 and Highway 90, surrounded by local shops and restaurants.”

uBreakiFix was founded in 2009 by millennial duo Justin Wetherill and David Reiff, who later partnered with Eddie Trujillo to transition their Internet-based brand to a brick and mortar model. By offering convenience, accessibility, and unparalleled customer service, uBreakiFix filled a gap in the repair marketplace and has since emerged as an industry leader in growth, service offerings, and authorized partnerships. In 2018, Wetherill was inducted into the Forbes Technology Council, and uBreakiFix earned a top spot on Entrepreneur’s Franchise 500® list, ranking #18 overall, #1 in the Electronics Repair category, and #1 on the Top New Franchises list. uBreakiFix has more than 500 locations open across the U.S. and Canada. The brand opened nearly 130 new stores in 2018 and plans to increase growth in 2019. For more information on uBreakiFix franchising, visit <http://ubreakifix.com/franchising>.

“At uBreakiFix, our goal is to take the hassle of a broken device and create the most positive, convenient experience possible for our customers,” Wetherill said. “We are a customer service company first, and a tech repair company second. As we expand into Daphne, we look forward to becoming the trusted resource to keep consumers and businesses connected to the things and people who matter most.”

uBreakiFix Daphne is located at 6883 US Highway 90, Suite 104, Daphne AL, 36526 and can be reached at: (251) 625-8556. For more information and to view a service menu, visit <https://ubreakifix.com/locations/daphne>.

About uBreakiFix

Founded in 2009, uBreakiFix specializes in the repair of small electronics, ranging from smartphones, game consoles, tablets, computers, and everything in between. Cracked screens, software issues, camera issues, and most other problems can be repaired by visiting uBreakiFix stores across the U.S. and Canada. Since 2016, uBreakiFix has served as the exclusive walk-in repair partner for Google Pixel customers. In 2017, uBreakiFix expanded the partnership to include exclusive after sales support for Google Pixelbook customers. In 2018, uBreakiFix became a Samsung Care authorized service provider offering same-day, in-person support for Samsung Galaxy customers across the U.S. In 2018, uBreakiFix also ranked #18 on Entrepreneur’s Franchise 500®, #1 in the Electronics Repair category, and #1 on the Top New Franchises list. Bryant Bank welcomes new mortgage lender

ORANGE BEACH — Bryant Bank has announced the hiring of Lynn Ferrie as a new mortgage lender for the bank. He will provide mortgage lending and refinance services to the Orange Beach and Foley communities. “It is with excitement that Bryant Bank has hired an additional mortgage lender to serve the Baldwin County area,” said Michelle Robinson, Executive Vice President and Senior Mortgage Sales Manager. “Alabama’s gulf coast continues to be an area that demands mortgage lending services and I am confident that Lynn will go above and beyond to meet the homebuying needs of the community.” Ferrie attended Jamestown Community College in New York and resided in the Pensacola area for most of his life. He has lived in Baldwin County for the past four years. Ferrie’s 30 years of mortgage lending experience ranges from being an independent owner of a mortgage company that was licensed in four states to owning a title company and then overseeing an entire mortgage department for a lending institution. “I am most excited about my new role at Bryant Bank because the team members truly care about their customers and make every interaction both personable and memorable,” says Ferrie. “My heart lies on the side of originating mortgages and helping customers obtain the American dream of home ownership. Assisting a first-time homebuyer is by far the most rewarding aspect of being in the mortgage business.” Ferrie has made the transition into his new role at Bryant Bank and community members are encouraged to visit him in Foley or Orange Beach.

About Bryant Bank

Bryant Bank opened in 2005 and is headquartered in Tuscaloosa, Ala. Bryant Bank’s vision is to see Alabamians experience a financially stable future and live in a thriving community. To accomplish this, we put care into action to help others invest in their full potential. We care because Alabama is our home, too. The Bank operates in the Huntsville, Birmingham, Tuscaloosa, and Baldwin County markets with 15 branches and offers personal, business, and mortgage banking services. Visit www.BryantBank.com.

The richest professional golfers in the game

By PHILLIP ELLIS
Golf Today News

Who are the richest golfers in the game? The answer to this question might seem obvious. Donald Trump and Bill Gates are both billionaires that play golf, but that’s not how they make a living. What we’re looking for is the golf professional that has won enough tournaments and received sponsor support and personal endorsements to earn a stupendous pile of money so high that most of us would need a ladder to see over. You can throw income from movie making, commercials, golf course design and logo golf threads into the mix. Winning any of today’s four major events pays enough to satisfy most needs. The 2019 Open, recently won by Shane Lowry, paid him $1,935,000, a king’s ransom for most, but surprisingly the smallest winner’s purse in the foursome. This year the PGA Championship paid $1,980,000, the Masters, $2,070,000, and the U.S. Open topped the list at $2,225,000. Add that to the above-mentioned array of money makers and it’s an impressive sum. What if they win again next year, or win all four and keep on winning? What you end up with are the 10 richest professional golfers listed below from No. 10 to No. 1. It’s an international field, with half Americans and the remainder made up of Europeans, South Africans and Islanders. Most have cool nicknames and the ages vary, but the common denominator is they are all champions. Here’s the list courtesy of the Daily Record:

10. Vijay Singh, aka the Big Fijian is worth $75 million.
9. Ernie Els, The Big Easy, from South Africa, also has a golf course design business and has accumulated a tidy $85 million.
8. Rory McIlroy, an Irish lad and the youngest player on the list, won the U.S. Open, the PGA Championship twice and the Open Championship and amassed $110 million in the process.
7. Fred Couples turned pro in 1980, has been inducted into the World Golf Hall of Fame, and owns a course design firm. His bank account is north of $250 million.

6. Gary Player, from South Africa, is the only non-American to win career grand slam titles and is worth $250 million.
5. Greg Norman, the Great White Shark from Australia, has 20 PGA Tour wins that propelled him to over $300 million.
4. Jack Nicklaus, The Golden Bear, with 18 majors and 73 tour championships has topped out at $320 million.

3. Phil Mickelson, Lefty, has stayed in the top 10 for over 700 weeks and earned $400 million.
2. Arnold Palmer, the King, with a life achievement of 62 tour titles, a long list of majors and a PGA event named after him, the PGA Arnold Palmer Invitational, comes in at $700 million.
1. Tiger Woods won the career Grand Slam three times and was ranked the No. 1 player in the world for 545 weeks; all of which broke the bank with a whopping $750 million.

Seminoles looking to adapt rather than rebuild in 2019

Rebuilding was not going to be an easy objective for the Florida State Seminoles and new head coach in Willie Taggart. Although, last season, the Seminoles (5-7) never expected a disastrous season that resulted in their first losing record since 1976 and missing their first bowl game since 1981. This was seen coming by Jimbo Fisher, who is now the head coach of the Texas A&M Aggies. Now the Seminoles are looking to adapt rather than rebuild more throughout the 2019 season. On defense, they’ve already started through reshuffling the defensive backs with four starters returning. These starters, however, are the same players who were responsible for the Seminoles being ranked 120th in the nation in passing yards allowed per game (268.7). They also allowed the fifth most touchdown passes in the nation with 30. Losing their main pass rusher in defensive end/outside linebacker Brian Burns will be a huge loss to the Seminoles defense in 2019. Last season, he accounted for 15.5 tackles for loss and 10 sacks. The Seminoles are hoping that new starting defensive end in Joshua Kaindoh (4.5 tackles for loss and three sacks in 2018) and returning starting nose guard Marvin

Wilson (four tackles for loss and 3.5 sacks) will provide the support for the Seminoles defensive backs. Offensively, the Seminoles are moving past their biggest weaknesses in the departing offensive line. Last season, the offensive line gave 36 sacks (tied for 18th highest). They only return their two starting guards from last year. Florida State is looking to ignite a huge spark in their passing offense with sophomore quarterback James Blackmon winning the position battle with former Wisconsin Badger and redshirt senior quarterback Alex Hornibrook. The Seminoles did hire former Baylor Bear and Houston Cougars offensive coordinator in Kendall Briles for the same position and quarterbacks coach.

South girls, North boys win AHSAA North-South Cross Country races Wednesday morning at AUM

Baldwin runners (Girls: DuPlantier, Boyd; Boys Rowe, Cook) finish state 2019 event with medal honors

AHSAA.com

MONTGOMERY — The South girls’ placed four runners in the top five finishers Wednesday morning to beat the North 19-36 in the third annual North-South All-Star Cross Country competition being held at Auburn-Montgomery University as part of the AHSAA All-Star Sports Week and Summer Conference. The North boys’ team won a close 27-28 victory over the South in the North-South boys’ race. All participants were rising seniors.

Leading the South, coached by Paul Agnew of Baker High School, was Samantha Rogers of Auburn. She finished fifth in the AHSAA Class 7A state championships last fall and clocked 19:22.20 at AUM’s course to win the girls’ race Wednesday. She was awarded the South Fastest Runner Award. McGill-Toolen Catholic’s Claire Bolton was second at 20:01.30, Bolton was eighth in the 7A state meet in 2018. Rounding out the top five finishers were Isabel Valenzuela of St. Paul’s Episcopal (20:28.20), Leslie Baxter

Encouraging developments to eliminate proposed bridge tolls

A $6 toll to cross the proposed Mobile Bay Bridge will hinder the economy of Baldwin County.

New residents moving to the area to work in Mobile will be less likely to consider Baldwin County as a residential choice. A proposed $48 round-trip toll for 18-wheelers crossing the bridge will also be passed along to Baldwin consumers.

Those families commuting on the bridge to work every day will need to find a way to absorb an estimated $3,000 per year, per vehicle bill to drive on what is now a free route. Obviously, for Baldwin residents, the toll idea cannot stand.

We are encouraged to see movements and activities to mitigate or eliminate the toll rapidly developing.

Just this week, U.S. Sen. Richard Shelby (R-Alabama) steered $125 million in federal funds to pay a portion of the staggering ALDOT-estimated $2.1 billion project. That's a 6 percent start to non-toll funding.

An active Facebook group, Block the Mobile Bayway Toll, now has 35,600 followers, and more join each day. We encourage you to take part. Most of the posts on the site are measured and well considered in opposing the toll. A post attributed to Alabama State Auditor Jim Zeigler outlines a funding option for the bridge that would require no tolls, including use of federal funds, use of a portion of the new gasoline tax recently passed and signed by Kay Ivey, and bonding future GOMESA income coming to the state from oil and gas extraction revenue.

One post on the Block the Mobile Bayway Toll Facebook page suggests that a state lottery should be implemented to fund the bridge and other transportation projects. Anyone passing Florida-Bama when the Powerball jackpot reaches dreamy amounts can see Alabama's scarce money pouring into Florida. Although an Alabama lottery is a tax on the mathematically impaired since the chances of winning are astronomically small, at least it is voluntary and will keep state funds in the state. Funding transportation projects with lottery funds is better than a bridge toll.

Another approach to eliminate the toll for local residents is proposed by Alabama State Sen. Chris Elliott. If passed, his bill would refund Alabama residents and companies the entirety of the tolls paid to any Alabama state toll authority using tax credits or refunds each year at tax time. This approach would still be onerous to residents' cash flow, shelling out $3,000 per year before they get it back as a tax credit or refund. But the good news in this approach is that out-of-state bridge users would fund the project via their tolls.

This newspaper has reported on taxes generated in Baldwin that routinely leave the county and fund other projects in the state. Simply put, our homes in Alabama's coastal geographical appendage, with its unique needs and abundant tax generation, is outvoted by the rest of the state. Baldwin County is a cash cow for Alabama. But this time may be different.

Statewide support for toll expense mitigation may take hold as ALDOT looks to fund other state projects throughout the state with tolls.

Let's face it. A soaring I-10 bridge over Mobile Bay is needed. And even though most Alabama residents will never travel the span tucked far in the state's southwest corner, opposition to tolling the bridge has a shot at statewide support.

The bridge will benefit out-of-state residents and we have no problem if they pay a toll to use it.

We'd prefer that no one pay a toll. But if tolls are the only way to pay for the bridge, then we support Sen. Elliot's plan to refund the expense to Alabama residents throughout the state, despite the cash flow challenges to families and businesses.

2020 U.S. Senate Race

The long hot summer has brought some crystallization to the 2020 U.S. Senate race. This seat is the Senate Seat held by Senator Jeff Sessions for almost two decades. He unwittingly made a strange and probably very regrettable decision to join President Donald J. Trump's administration as attorney general. Very few U. S. Senators with 20 years seniority would leave their permanent seats in the illustrious, powerful and elite United States Senate for a temporary four year at best tenure in a tumultuous and transient cabinet post.

Trump is tempestuous at the least and still likes to think of himself as the host of his TV reality show, The Apprentice, who famously says, "You're fired!" Trump has recently tweeted that Sessions appointment as Attorney General was the most regrettable appointment that he has made. You can more than likely ascertain that Jeff Sessions feels the same way about his decision to leave his safe senate seat for a shot as Trump's Attorney General. However, you could safely bet that the reserved, squeaky clean, Dudley-Do-Right, Eagle Scout Sessions will not do any tweeting, or betting, on anything, much less his Trump controversy.

Therefore, the biggest question regarding the 2020 Senate race in the Heart of Dixie is would Jeff Sessions run to get his seat back? The answer is that he considered it. He was encouraged to run by the Washington Republican Establishment, including Mitch McConnell. However, he has decided that at 72 he will not seek his seat.

My thoughts are that he could have and probably would have won. However, his departure from the race makes for some good theater.

It is assumed that the winner of next year's March 3rd GOP Primary will win the six-year senate term. Alabama is one if not the most Republican states in America. With it being a presidential election year, Alabama will probably vote 65 to 35 for Donald Trump. The GOP senate candidate can expect to mirror that landslide or at least win by a 60/40 margin, with maybe one exception.

That exception would be if Judge Roy Moore for some reason were to be the Republican nominee, then that would give the Democrat, probably Doug Jones, a possible opening.

Roy Moore begins the race with overwhelmingly negative name identification. He has 2 to 1 negative to positive polling numbers. Those numbers are not going to improve. Believe you me, the National Republican, Mitch McConnell, Establishment money is going to pour in here to run negative ads against old Moore to make sure he is not the GOP standard bearer in the Fall of 2020. When they get through with him, his horse Sassy will even have negative numbers.

STEVE FLOWERS
Inside the Statehouse

My guess is that Judge Roy Moore's best days are behind him and that he will not be the GOP nominee. However, he still has a hard core of support that will stay with him come hell or high water. He will probably get 18 percent of the primary vote and that will place him in a strong third place finish.

My early prediction is that First District Congressman, Bradley Byrne and Secretary of State, John Merrill will ultimately be in a runoff. Either would easily beat the Democrat in November 2020.

Bradley Byrne dedicated himself to this race over a year ago. He jumped in and made a full commitment. He has been campaigning at full throttle for 15 months. There is a tried and true adage that applies in politics that the early bird gets the worm. Indeed, he has used his early dedication to the race to raise significant early money and some good commitments.

However, Byrne's initial polling numbers are not great. The surprising aspect to the internal polling reveals that his 2010 Governor's race does not give him name identification. The good side for him is that his negatives are also low. Folks have obviously forgotten he ran for governor in 2010.

Most astute state inside observers believe that Secretary of State John Merrill is the man to beat in this race. He is simply the hardest working retail politician in the state. He has a grassroots organization in all 67 counties. He has gotten his traction the old fashioned way with hard work and a love for one-on-one politicking. He will outwork and out organize all the candidates in the race combined. Even though he has built his organization the old fashioned, hardworking way, he understands the new medium of networking and campaigning through social media.

It will be fun to watch.
See you next week.

Did the Legislature paint themselves into a corner?

By LARRY LEE

There were hosannas and smiles all over goat hill when the legislature recently passed a bill calling for a vote on a constitutional amendment next March as to whether Alabama should have an elected state school board or one appointed by the governor and confirmed by the state senate.

The fact it passed the senate 30-0 and the house, 78-21, sent a loud and clear message that the legislature has little confidence in the present state school board and the leadership of state school superintendent Eric Mackey, who the board hired on a 5-4 vote just over a year ago.

However, it's unlikely that legislative leadership stopped and considered that this vote will, in effect, be a referendum on what the public thinks about them. A YES vote will mean that people agree with the legislature and trust the governor and the senate to do what is right for our 720,000 public school students. But a NO vote will mean that they simply do not trust our politicians.

My guess is that this was never given any thought in legislative chambers.

Results of the survey we recently did that had 1,170 responses, indicate that many of the 140 house and senate members may have made a serious miscalculation.

Granted that 44 percent of respondents are teachers and that many more work in public education, but their responses are so overwhelmingly against an appointed state board that they cannot be discounted. How overwhelming? Try 89 percent against and only 11 percent in favor of the constitutional amendment.

But what makes the numbers so intriguing is that these are not people enamored with education in Alabama as we now know it. Anything but. In fact, 60 percent think education is headed in the wrong direction and 45 percent give the state superintendent a letter grade of C, D or F. In fact, slightly more give him an F than they do an A.

So one cannot claim that respondents are happy with what we are doing and don't want change.

Rather, they don't believe the change we need means giving final say on who sits on the state school board to the Alabama state senate who must sign off on any names a governor sends them. Only 18 percent have confidence in the senate to approve competent people.

This is easy to understand. Since 2010 when today's super majority came to power, education has been hit with A-F school reports cards that serve no useful purpose for educators, the Alabama Accountability Act that has diverted $145 million from class rooms and the charter school act, that is governed by an appointed board, and has caused chaos in tiny Washington County by approving a charter that is unwanted and unneeded.

All of these have a collective impact and weigh heavily on the minds of educators now being asked to ignore the track record of those running the legislative process and entrust them with even more power. Respondents, 49 percent who identify as Republicans, see senate majority leader Del Marsh as the primary architect of this attack on public schools.

We have heard legislator after legislator lament that education needs to get better and somehow, turning even more control over to them, will be a step in the right direction. That's an argument that 1,039 (89 percent) survey respondents just ain't buying.

And the day after the vote, legislative leadership may well find themselves way over in the corner of the room looking at the fresh paint that just put them there.

WEEK OF JULY 29, 2019

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Your honesty is, as always, admirable. But you might want to be more tactful in discussing a sensitive issue with a family member. Remember: You can give advice without giving offense.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) An unexpected workplace snag should be handled quickly and efficiently so that it leaves you time for family get-togethers. Also, you might soon get that long-sought apology.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Aspects favor family matters, especially where children might be involved. Spending time with loved ones helps restore some much-needed balance to your typically busy schedule.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) That seemingly clear-cut agreement might not be quite so straightforward after all. Recheck for language that could make you liable for hidden costs and other unpleasant surprises.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Careful, Kitty. Better to deal with someone with proven reliability than with a big talker who promises much but can't confirm that he or she will deliver. Your social life really zings this weekend.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Your matchmaking skills are at peak performance levels both in helping to staff workplace teams for upcoming projects and for bringing people together on a more personal basis.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You're finally seeing some progress with your new venture. But be prepared for it to continue at a slower pace than you're used to. Meanwhile, a loved one could be preparing a surprise.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) A family member's success pulls you into the spotlight as well. Enjoy it, but don't let it overshadow or otherwise obstruct what you're doing with your own creative projects.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Using what you already know might not be quite enough to get a proposed project off the ground. Look for any new information that might help tilt the scales in your favor.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Good news: While a changing workplace environment can be daunting for some, it could be the challenge you've been hoping for. If so, confront it with confidence and move on.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) It's a good time to re-check travel arrangements for any changes that could work to your advantage. Aspects also favor strengthening and restoring old, fraying relationships.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Using your intuitive reasoning helps you cut right through the double-talk and go straight to what's really going on around you. Stay the course until all your questions are answered. (c) 2019 King Features Synd., Inc.

There will be no proration of taxes, rents or other income or liabilities, except that the purchaser will pay, at or before closing, his/her/their/its prorata share of any real estate taxes that have been paid by the Secretary to the date of the foreclosure sale.

When making his/her/their/its bids, all bidders, except the Secretary must remit to the undersigned a deposit totaling $13,987.68 (10% of the Secretary's bid) in the form of a certified check or cashier's check made out to the Secretary of HUD. Each oral bid need not be accompanied by a deposit. If the successful bid is oral, a deposit of $13,987.68 same as 10% must be presented before the bidding is closed. THE DEPOSIT IS NON-REFUNDABLE. The remainder of the purchase price must be delivered within 30 days of the sale or at such other time as the Secretary may determine for good cause shown, time being of the essence. This amount, like the bid deposits, must be delivered in the form of a certified or cashier's check. If the Secretary is the high bidder, he/she need not pay the bid amount in cash. The successful bidder will pay all conveyancing fees, all real estate and other taxes that are due on or after the delivery of the remainder of the payment, and all other costs associated with the transfer of title. At the conclusion of the sale, the deposits of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned.

The Secretary may grant an extension of time within which to deliver the remainder of the payment. All extensions will be for 15-day increments for a designated fee of 500.00, paid in advance. The extension fee shall be in the form of a certified or cashier's check made payable to the Secretary of HUD. If the high bidder closes the sale prior to the expiration of any extension period, the unused portion of the extension fee shall be applied toward the amount due.

If the high bidder is unable to close the sale within the required period, or within any extensions of time granted by the Secretary, the high bidder may be required to forfeit the cash deposit or, at the election of the Foreclosure Commissioner after consultation with the HUD field office representative, will be liable to HUD for any costs incurred as a result of such failure. The Commissioner may, at the direction of the HUD field office representative, offer the Property to the second highest bidder for an amount equal to the highest price offered by that bidder.

There is no right of redemption, or right of possession based upon a right of redemption, in the mortgagor(s) or others, subsequent to a completed foreclosure pursuant to the Act. Therefore, the Foreclosure Commissioner will issue a deed to the purchaser(s) upon receipt of the entire purchase price in accordance with the terms of the sale as provided herein. HUD does not guarantee that the property will be vacant.

Legal Notice

The scheduled foreclosure sale shall be cancelled or adjourned if it is established, by documented written application of the mortgagor to the Foreclosure Commissioner not less than 3 days before the date of sale, or otherwise, that the default or defaults upon which the foreclosure is based did not exist at the time of service of this notice of default and foreclosure sale, or all amounts due under the mortgage agreement are tendered to the Foreclosure Commissioner, in the form of a certified or cashier's check payable to the Secretary of HUD, before public auction of the property is completed.

The amount that must be paid if the Mortgage is to be reinstated prior to the scheduled sale is $139,876.75 as of August 14, 2019, plus all other amounts that would be due under the Mortgage agreement if payments under the Mortgage had not been accelerated, advertising costs and postage expenses incurred in giving notice, mileage by the most reasonable road distance for posting notices and or the Foreclosure Commissioner's attendance at the sale, reasonable and customary costs incurred for title and lien record searches, the necessary out-of-pocket costs incurred by the Foreclosure Commissioner for recording documents, a commission for the Foreclosure Commissioner, and all other costs incurred in connection with the foreclosure prior to reinstatement.

Tender of payment by certified or cashier's check or application for cancellation of the foreclosure sale shall be submitted to the address of the Foreclosure Commissioner provided below.

MORTGAGE
FORECLOSURE SALE

Default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness secured by that certain mortgage executed on December 23, 2004 by Deborah Marshall, an unmarried woman, originally in favor of Mortgage Electronic Registration Systems, Inc. as nominee for Bladon Mortgage, LLC, and recorded in Instrument # 861487 on January 4, 2005, in the Office of the Judge of Probate of Baldwin County, Alabama, and secured indebtedness having been transferred or assigned to Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. as reflected by instrument recorded in 1293140 of the same Office. Shapiro and Ingle, L.L.P., as counsel for Mortgagee or Transferee and under and by virtue of power of sale contained in the said mortgage will, on August 29, 2019, sell at public outcry to the highest bidder in front of the main entrance of the Baldwin County, Alabama, Courthouse in the City of Bay Minette, during the legal hours of sale, the following real estate situated in Baldwin County, Alabama, to wit:

LOT 20, CRESTFIELD, ACCORDING TO PLAT THEREOF RECORDED ON SLIDE 2141-C IN THE OFFICE OF THE JUDGE OF PROBATE, BALDWIN COUNTY, ALABAMA.

For informational purposes only, the property address is: 14287 Lexington Dr, Summerdale, AL 36580.

Any property address provided is not part of the legal description of the property sold herein and in the event of any discrepancy, the legal description referenced herein shall control.

This sale is made for the purpose of paying the indebtedness secured by said mortgage, as well as the expenses of foreclosure. Furthermore, the property to be offered pursuant to this notice of sale is being offered for sale, transfer and conveyance AS IS, WHERE IS. Neither the mortgagee, nor the officers, directors, attorneys, employees, agents or authorized representative of the mortgagee make any representation or warranty relating to the title or any physical, environmental, health or safety conditions existing in, on, at or relating to the property offered for sale. Any and all responsibilities or liabilities arising out of or in any way relating to any such condition, including those suggested by Code of Ala. (1975) § 35-4-271, expressly are disclaimed. This sale is subject to all prior liens and encumbrances and unpaid taxes and assessments including any transfer tax associated with the foreclosure. The successful bidder must tender a non-refundable deposit of Five Thousand Dollars and no/100 ($5,000.00) in certified or cash funds at the time and place of the sale. The balance of the purchase price must be paid in certified funds by close of business on the next business day thereafter at the Law Office of Shapiro & Ingle, LLP at the address indicated below. Shapiro & Ingle, LLP reserves the right to award the bid to the next highest bidder, or to reschedule the sale, should the highest bidder fail to timely tender the total amount due.

Alabama law gives some persons who have an interest in property the right to redeem the property under certain circumstances. Programs may also exist that help persons avoid or delay the foreclosure process. An attorney should be consulted to help you understand these rights and programs as a part of the foreclosure process.

“Four Weddings and a Funeral”
Mindy Kaling (“The Mindy Project”) is the creative force behind this adaptation of the hit 1994 feature film about a group of friends and how their lives intersect over the course of five events. Nathalie Emmanuel, Brandon Mychal Smith, Rebecca Rittenhouse and — from the movie — Andie MacDowell head the cast. (ORIGINAL)
Series Premiere

“Movie: Along With the Gods: The Last 49 Days”
From South Korea and director Kim Yong-hwa (“Mr. Go”) comes this 2018 actioner set in the afterlife, where a guardian must help a firefighter through his trials while two cohorts help a former guardian on Earth. Ha Jung-woo and Ju Ji-Hoon star.

“Movie: The Field Guide to Evil”
This 2018 anthology movie from New Zealand explores eight stories of dark folklore through a series of myths and tales that have terrified people throughout history. Birgit Minichmayr, Sarah Navratil, Claude Duhamel and Vangelis Mourikis head the large cast.

“Movie: Dior and I”
French filmmaker Frédéric Tcheng (“Halston”) helmed this 2014 documentary that brings the viewer inside the storied world of the Christian Dior fashion house during the creation of Raf Simons’ first haute couture collection as its new artistic director.

Coming Soon

“Looking for Alaska” (Oct. 18)
Josh Schwartz (“Hart of Dixie,” “The Carrie Diaries”) created this eight-episode limited series that’s based on John Green’s best-seller about a boarding school student who falls for the beguiling coed down the hall. (ORIGINAL)

“Dollface” (date TBA)
Kat Dennings (“2 Broke Girls”) produces and stars in this 10-episode comedy series about a young woman who must deal with her own imagination to rekindle female friendships after her longtime boyfriend dumps her. (ORIGINAL)

“Wu-Tang: An American Saga” (date TBA)
Alex Tse (“Superfly”) and former Wu-Tang Clan frontman The RZA are the creative forces behind this 10-episode drama series that tells the story of the band’s rise from the crack-ridden streets of early ‘90s New York to become one of the most influential groups in hip-hop history. (ORIGINAL)

“Marvel’s Helstrom” (date TBA)
The complicated dynamic between the son and daughter of a serial killer is front and center of this action series as they track down the worst of humanity. (ORIGINAL)

Marvel’s Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D.
It’s hard to tell whether actual time travel is a component of the new episode “From the Ashes,” but in any case, several of the S.H.I.E.L.D. agents are forced to confront ghosts from their past, metaphorical or otherwise, before they can move forward. That’s the decision they reluctantly reach once they grasp that they are out of answers — and running out of time. Clark Gregg, Ming-Na Wen and Chloe Bennet star.

7:30 p.m. on CW-55
The Big Stage
Hosts Elizabeth Standon and James Maslow welcome another diverse lineup of entertainers to the ultimate non-competitive platform for outstanding acts from around the world in the new episode “Rocking the Classics, Hip Hop, and Aerial Rope Spin.”

Saturday Bets

7 p.m. on LIFE
Movie: V.C. Andrews' Heaven
Lifetime racked up big ratings with its adaptations of "Flowers in the Attic" and related novels by V.C. Andrews. The network goes back to that same literary well with this new 2019 thriller drawn

Sunday Bets

7 p.m. on DSC
Expedition Unknown: Megalodon
Shark Week 2019 officially gets under way with this new documentary that looks way, way back to the 60-ton shark-like creature that was five times as large as a Tyrannosaurus rex and ruled the world's oceans from the first in Andrews' series of books about the Casteels, an impoverished West Virginia clan. Eldest daughter Heaven Leigh Casteel (Annalise Basso) is determined to repair her family's reputation, but her hopes are dashed when her alcoholic father sells Heaven and her four siblings to different families. Chris McNally and Julie Benz also star.

as apex predator for nearly 20 million years before inexplicably disappearing. Where did this behemoth go? Paleontologists use fossilized teeth from one of these creatures to take a bite out of this baffling mystery, and also search for clues among its contemporary descendants. Josh Gates and Alison Towner dive into shark infested waters to further investigate.

Monday Bets

7 p.m. on FOX-10 FOX-25
Beat Shazam

This game show routinely features diverse batches of contestants, but as this latest episode title indicates, the new "Southern Fried Shazam!" players all hail from the American South, as host Jamie Foxx welcomes brothers from Louisiana, cousins from Texas and a band of churchgoers from Virginia. As always, the teams play against each other, and the clock, as they try to identify hit songs from as few notes as possible. Corinne Foxx, Jamie's daughter, is the disc jockey.

7 p.m. on CW-55
Penn & Teller: Fool Us

In a new episode called "Are You Better Magicians Than a 6th Grader?," the featured illusionists trying to stump Penn & Teller with a trick include Hans Petter Secker, Xulio Merino, Zoe LaFleur and Josh Farley, and Christopher Castellini. Alyson Hannigan is the host.

8 p.m. on DSC
Legend of Deep Blue

Brandon McMillan and Jimi Partington, a pair of celebrated shark experts, travel to Guadalupe Island hoping to pick up the trail of Deep Blue, the creature believed to be the largest great white shark on Earth. She measures nearly 21 feet in length and weighs more than two and a half tons. McMillan and Partington hope to catch and study her long enough to learn more about these deep-sea mega-sharks.

9 p.m. on DSC
The Sharks of Headstone Hell

At the end of the 18th century, Norfolk Island in the South Pacific was home base to one of the harshest penal colonies in the world. Today, however, it's a mecca for shark lovers who gather to witness an extraordinary event, as islanders toss full-size animal carcasses into the sea as a treat for some of the largest tiger sharks on Earth.

9 p.m. on FOOD
Cupcake Championship

This five-episode event draws to a close in the Season 4 finale "From Science Fiction to Just Plain Science," which starts out with the four exceptional bakers being tasked with taking two mythical creatures and combining them into a new entity. Judges Maureen

"Lights Out With David Spade"

McCormick, Stella Parks and Joshua John Russell decide which three contenders advance to the championship round, where they must create an entire planet out of cupcakes. Kardea Brown is the host.

10:30 p.m. on COM
Lights Out With David Spade

The former "Just Shoot Me" funny guy brings his sardonic style to this new Monday-through-Thursday late-night series, in which Spade offers his distinctive take on pop culture news of the day, joined by a rotating panel of Spade's fellow comics and celebrity friends. The show also incorporates sketch comedy and field segments outside the studio.

Tuesday Bets

7 p.m. on CW-55 Pandora

A celebrated war veteran from the Sea Hawk, a space battle cruiser with a near-legendary status, delivers an alarming revelation to Jax and Greg (Priscilla Quintana, John Harlan Kim) in a new episode called "Masters of War." Once she recovers from the shock, Jax dares to hope that this new insight eventually could lead her to discern the true identity of her parents' killers. Oliver Dench also stars.

7 p.m. on CNN Democratic Debate

From Detroit, CNN anchors Dana Bash, Don Lemon and Jake Tapper moderate the second in a series of debates among candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination. As with June's initial debate, the event is split over two nights (concluding Wednesday) to accommodate up to 20 hopefuls who have met the qualifications set by the Democratic National Committee, based on polling and financial donations. Since the first debate in Miami, U.S. Rep. Eric Swalwell of California has withdrawn as a candidate.

7 p.m. on FREE Good Trouble

Mariana (Cierra Ramirez) and her team are thrust into an incredibly stressful situation when the launch timeline for her app gets moved up drastically in the new episode "In the Middle." It certainly doesn't help matters when Gael (Tommy Martinez) is presented with a potential new opportunity that conflicts with a major presentation.

9 p.m. on DSC Air Jaws Strikes Back

Shark expert Chris Fallows leads a research team to explore a newly discovered bloody feeding ground for sharks in the waist-deep waters at the foot of a 200-foot cliff. Here, the denizens of a seal colony desperately try to fend off attacks from great white sharks, which in many cases involves the seals teaming up to make ferocious counter-attacks on their finny nemeses.

9 p.m. on FX Pose

The members of the House of Evangelista put their heads together to devise an elaborate prank designed to get under the skin of Frederica (guest star Patti LuPone), the conniving real estate magnate, in a new episode called "Blow." Meanwhile, Angel (Indya Moore) is shaken when she is introduced to an unsavory side of life as a model.

Tastemade's 'Struggle Meals' shows how to eat well for less

With the cost of groceries climbing ever higher, a show like "Struggle Meals" is most welcome.

Currently streaming on the foodie/travel digital platform Tastemade, the series walks viewers through the steps in making creative, delicious meals that don't break the bank, offering up tips on how to reduce their food bills dramatically by eliminating waste and sharing kitchen hacks and tasty recipes. The show's theme, "Life can be a struggle but a good meal doesn't have to be" says it all.

Leading the charge is the series' host, New York-based chef Frankie Celenza, who is passionate about not wasting food.

"The biggest thing," explains Celenza, who won a New York Emmy Award for his YouTube series "Frankie Cooks," "is really making sure that everybody cooks with everything that they buy because the U.N. has this stat that 40 percent of food in America is thrown out. That's the U.N. So in theory, if one cooks or consumes everything they buy at the supermarket, they're saving 40 percent of their money, right? So right there, you can almost double the efficiency of what you're spending."

A great example of that, he says, is the corn chowder he made in one recent episode.

"We've got a bucket where every vegetable end, we're throwing it in there and making stocks from it," he says. "We just did a corn chowder ... where the broth was literally corn husk and cob leftovers, like made a corn broth. I mean, that's just saving money. That's cheaper than using a bouillon cube. It's cheaper than using three boxes of vegetable stock. It's a byproduct of the main ingredient. It's good."

Celenza also doesn't like the fact that Americans consume a lot of food prepared outside the home, such as canned foods and takeout. With the advent of this, he says, people didn't need to cook and so they never learned. He intends to give that power back to them by giving them knowledge.

"Food cost is high in America," he says, "and this is the country that has made it easier than any other in the world for you not to cook – because you're too busy, you can't cook. 'We'll do it for you, have this frozen food. Go through this drive-thru.' They've made it really easy and stolen – I personally think since the 1970s on, we kind of like lost a generation of home cooks and I think people want it back."

Extinct or Alive:
The Lost Shark

Forrest Galante, a wildlife biologist and animal tracker, travels to the Indian Ocean on a search for the Pondicherry shark, a species believed by many to be extinct. Galante hopes that some of the many unidentified sharks spotted recently near Sri Lanka and in the Maldives may actually prove to be Pondicherry, but his search, with wife

Jessica as part of his team, has a staggering degree of difficulty: The Pondicherry is able to swim in both fresh and saltwater, leaving Galante a vast area to cover.

Kenan Thompson

OF 'BRING THE FUNNY' ON NBC

You taped most of "Bring the Funny" before it premiered. Did it fulfill what you'd hoped for?

Oh, yeah, absolutely. It was intriguing from the get-go. We wanted a super-duper-diverse squad (of judges), and we have a wonderful host in Amanda Seales, so we were ready to start runnin' and gunnin'.

What do you look for in comics who appear on "Bring the Funny"?

You've got to please the room that you're performing in front of, and audience reaction is key. For any performance, it's critical to have volume be the main thing that people are reacting with. For a $250,000 grand prize, you have to blow the roof off the place.

Does watching comics compete on "Bring the Funny" bring back memories of your own auditioning for "Saturday Night Live"?

It's similar, because you don't have a lot of time to make a first impression. And even if it goes great the first time or the second time, you don't have that many other chances, so it all feels very dire and critical. I'm sure it's very nerve-racking and stressful for the performers, so yeah, I can relate to that.

As "Bring the Funny" airs, you're also starting to work on your new NBC sitcom "The Kenan Show" for next season. How is that going so far?

It's going great ... so far, so good. We're going to write a lot and then we're going to shoot a lot, so I don't feel like I'm being rushed into the whole "figure it out and make it perfect" of it all right away. But yeah, it's a lot to tackle.

OF 'SWEETBITTER' ON STARZ

How much has your wine and food knowledge grown since you started doing "Sweetbitter"?

(Laughs) Significantly. I will say I called all of my foodie friends when I got the job and I was like, "What books do I need to read and where do I need to eat?" The research for this job was really satisfying and fun. I'm still a novice with wine but I certainly know more and I had a really good time researching (laughs). ... I wouldn't say I'm 100 percent fluent but I have a lot more knowledge, certainly, and I've read some books about wine and I've watched the movies and I've drunk a significant amount (laughs) of wine. Research. Entirely research.

What initially attracted you to your role of alpha waitress Simone?

It felt really close to home, this story, in particular. I was graduating college in 2006, the year that our show was set, and I was waiting tables in New York City and it was a really formative experience for me. And there's something about being young in New York and kind of finding your way that I felt really resonated with me and felt incredibly nostalgic and beautiful. And that was sort of the impetus for me to join in. And I thought the contradictions and the complications of Simone were really interesting.

The devoted fanbase of this freewheeling TV adaptation of Chris Roberson and Michael Allred's DC Comics book series reportedly are none too happy that the critically lauded series is ending its run after five seasons, but at least the writers seem to be putting a happy face on the occasion with their finale title, "All's Well That Ends Well." The characters aren't going away quietly, either, because this final storyline sees the human vs. zombie war finally coming to a head. Rose Mclver stars.

Guadalupe Kill Zone

The waters around Guadalupe Island, 150 miles off the coast of Baja Calif., have long been known to be a favored feeding hot spot for great white sharks, who decimate the abundant seal colonies in that area by means of surprise attacks. Surprisingly, though, these waters are crystal clear, so why don't the seals see the sharks coming? Dr. Yannis Papastamatiou and Melissa Marquez lead a team of experts seeking to record never-before-witnessed hunting behaviors of sharks in this locale.

The NFL preseason officially begins with the Hall of Fame game between the Denver Broncos and the Atlanta Falcons at Tom Benson Hall of Fame Stadium in Canton, Ohio. The game now kicks off Hall of Fame weekend, rather than ends it. Perhaps a glimpse is to be had of Broncos rookie quarterback Drew Lock, who they drafted in the second round out of Missouri? Atlanta, meanwhile looks to improve on last year's 7-9 season.

BINGO – Solution

BEST HENRY FONDA MOVIES

"Jezebel" (1938) Sort of a "Gone With the Wind" without the same exact characters, this well-regarded drama casts Bette Davis as a willful Southern belle who wants to retrieve the man she let get away (Fonda).

"Young Mr. Lincoln" (1939) Among the Fonda titles included in Turner Classic Movies' "Summer Under the Stars" opening-day salute to him Thursday, Aug. 1, this John Ford-directed view of the young Abraham Lincoln did much to advance the star's profile.

"The Grapes of Wrath" (1940) A milestone in American movies, director John Ford's version of the John Steinbeck novel hinges largely on Fonda's moving portrayal of Tom Joad, the next generation of a Depression-era migrant family.

"My Darling Clementine" (1946) Stories of the Old West continued to hold appeal for Fonda as he teamed yet again with director John Ford by playing Wyatt Earp, who becomes a lawman in his quest to find those responsible for the death of one of his brothers.

"The Fugitive" (1947) John Ford once again was the principal director for Fonda in novelist Graham Greene's melodrama about a priest on the run because of conflicting religious beliefs in a Mexican town.

"Fort Apache" (1948) John Ford called the shots for Fonda again – as well as for John Wayne, Shirley Temple and others – in this signature Western about opposition between the commanding officers at a military outpost.

"Mister Roberts" (1955) Fonda recreated his Broadway performance in the title role as a Navy officer having his own war with his ship's captain (James Cagney) while stationed in the South Pacific during World War II.

"12 Angry Men" (1957) Also serving as producer, Fonda mounted a classic by turning a television play into a movie vehicle for an outstanding ensemble cast as the members of a deliberating jury in a murder trial.

"Spencer's Mountain" (1963) The inspiration for television's "The Waltons," this affecting drama casts Fonda as the patriarch of a close-knit mountain family.

"The Best Man" (1964) Gore Vidal's play made a fine screen vehicle for Fonda and Cliff Robertson as highly dissimilar rivals for a political party's presidential nomination during a very eventful convention.

"Once Upon a Time in the West" (1968) A notably vicious Fonda, playing a hired killer in the Old West, was a highlight of "Spaghetti Western" director Sergio Leone's much-admired epic.

"On Golden Pond" (1981) The climax of Fonda's big-screen career came with his Oscar win for this moving adaptation of Ernest Thompson's play about a couple in their twilight years, produced by Fonda's daughter (and co-star) Jane and also marking another Academy Award victory for Katharine Hepburn.
