St. Patrick School to host 40th anniversary celebration

By JOHN UNDERWOOD

ROBERTSDALE — “Reading and writing and ‘rithmetic ...”

Those subjects, along with science and language arts have been taught at St. Patrick Catholic School in Robertsdale for four decades now, with the addition over the years of art and technology.

“The curriculum has changed through the years and technology has certainly enhanced that,” said St. Patrick’s School Principal Sister Margaret Harte. “But I still believe in a balance between textbooks and technology. Students still need the hands-on teaching tools. They need to be able to turn the pages and feel a book in their hands.”

St. Patrick School will celebrate its 40th anniversary on Saturday, Nov. 15 with an old fashioned 70s Disco Night, to be held from 7 to 10 p.m. at the school, 23070 Alabama 59, Robertsdale.

The adult event will include food, drinks and disco, with many shared memories from the four-decade long history of the school. While the event is free, you must RSVP to attend by calling the school at 251-947-7395. The deadline to RSVP is Nov. 7.

In 1979, Harte said, Father James Kirwan, the church’s first pastor, who was also a native of Ireland, decided to invite the Sisters of Presentation in that country to establish a school in Robertsdale.

case has been assigned to a detective.

GCAA employees declined to comment or be interviewed.

Artist Peggi Agosti Brewton confirmed that three of her paintings were slashed in the incident.

"I was contacted by the GCAA board but I don't have much info beyond that," she said.

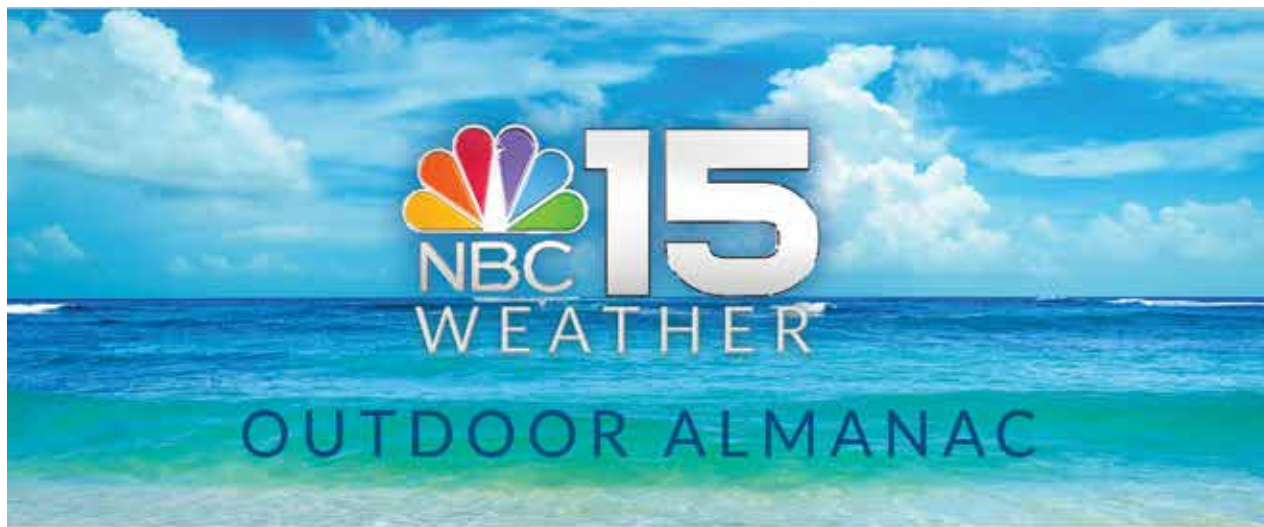

Anne Webb, of Webb Pottery, said her pieces were not affected.

"I actually had not heard about the break in, but I did speak to someone at the gallery this morning. I'm unsure at this point if any on my work was affected but based on where my work was situated in the front part of the gallery in relation to the path of destruction described, I suspect I'm OK," Webb said.

"I am relieved to hear the police are now involved and aware. You know, earlier this year someone stole a metal sculpture from out front of the gallery, and someone tipped over one of their big concrete planters, and now this. I find it disheartening that a grassroots organization like the GCAA would be targeted by petty vandals and thieves when their goal is to enrich the community."

Now that we are approaching the "holiday season" it doesn't necessarily mean the fishing season is over and done with. On the contrary! Even with a real taste of Gulf Coast fall weather, conditions still look good for a fairly consistent inshore bite.

Recent reports suggest there is no shortage of speckled trout in our inshore waters. The trick is finding the right area, as some spots are dead while others not too far away can offer red hot action. With live shrimp in short supply try any number of shrimp imitation lures when fishing the "skinny water." Also, don't be surprised if you find a hungry redfish at the end of your line. Reds have been showing regularly in the past month or two along the eastern shore of Mobile Bay.

If you're heading out there, good luck and be safe!

By MARLEE MOORE

For hundreds of youth across Alabama, fall fair season means one thing — it's livestock show time.

That translates to family time for youth like Cole Eubanks of Cullman County, one of about 250 exhibitors to compete in livestock shows during the Alabama National Fair Oct. 4-14.

The Alabama Farmers Federation and Alfa Insurance annually sponsor shows at the Montgomery-based fair, along with the National Peanut Festival in Dothan Nov. 1-10.

"I like showing livestock because I like to spend time with family, and I like to go places with my family," said 10-year-old Eubanks, who showed Charolais cattle from his family's Holly Pond farm.

On the fair circuit, youth may exhibit beef cattle, goats, sheep, dairy cattle or swine, in addition to competing in showmanship contests.

Preparing for the show ring is no small feat, with youth spending hours each day in the barn learning to fit their animals.

"You fix their hair the right way and brush it till it's right," Eubanks said. "After that you walk into the show ring and are ready to go."

Students also compete in Premier Exhibitor Contests, which test livestock knowledge, evaluation skills and showmanship. Mary Hannah Gullatt of Lee County was named the Intermediate Division High Individual and echoed Eubanks' thoughts on training.

"We work the calves every day washing, drying and practicing," said Gullatt, 15, who lives in Salem and was inspired to show cattle because of her older sister, Grace. "We spend a lot of time in the barn and mainly learn about working hard."

Gullatt exhibited the Market Show Bred and Owned Reserve Grand Champion and Hereford Division Reserve Champion Heifer. Her 11-year-old brother, Silas, exhibited the Hereford Division Bred and Owned Reserve Champion Heifer. Gullatt said her experiences showing cattle encouraged her to pursue joining a livestock judging team in college.

Lessons learned showing livestock will resonate throughout the lives of these youth, said the Alabama Farmers Federation's Brady Ragland.

"Responsibility, dedication and hard work are just a few of the traits students pick up through showing livestock," said Ragland, the commodity director who oversees the Federation's youth livestock programs. "They also get an up-close look at Alabama's No. 1 industry, agriculture. It's important to invest in these youth and help cultivate characteristics we need in future agricultural leaders."

Jobs program gets grant funding from Baldwin County legislators

Students in a Baldwin County jobs program will be able to continue to get to work every day, thanks to grant funding procured by the Baldwin County Legislative Delegation.

Last week, Baldwin County Legislative Delegation members Sen. Chris Elliott (R – Daphne) and Rep. Matt Simpson (R – Daphne) were on hand at Thomas Hospital to help present a check for $25,445.70 to the Baldwin County School System that would help pay for transportation needs associated with the Project SEARCH Baldwin County program.

Project SEARCH Baldwin County helps young adults with disabilities get necessary job skills training and experience through classroom instruction and on-site internship opportunities.

The program is based at Thomas Hospital in Fairhope, where participants engage in a series of three 10-week internships in different departments throughout the hospital. Students are paired with those departments based on a number of criteria, including interests, opportunity for growth and existing skill sets.

Simpson said helping with the funding for the program was something the delegation unaniously decided to do.

“We’re glad to be able to provide needed funding for this amazing program that continues to touch the lives of these students and to help hone the skills they need to have good, productive jobs,” Simpson said.

Rep. Joe Faust, whose district includes Thomas Hospital, said he was similarly proud to help support the program.

“This is a great opportunity for these kids to get job skills and learn how to help themselves and their community,” Faust said. “I’m proud of Thomas Hospital and the school system for partnering together to do this program, and I’m glad we were able to help find funding to keep this going.”

Project SEARCH is in its seventh year of operation and more than 50 students have worked in the program, with an 80 percent successful employment rate. Currently, 12 interns work with eight different departments at the hospital.

Elliott said he was pleased to help with needed transportation funding for Project SEARCH.

“Being able to help these young people get to this program is essential for them to continue to learn and grow,” Elliott said. “It’s easy to see the impact that Project SEARCH has had on our community and at the hospital, helping to create more opportunities for all of these great students.”

and their work with Christ the King School in Daphne,” Harte said. “He went to Ireland to meet with them and the Superior General visited Robertsdale. She said ‘Let’s do it,’ and with that the school was established with a varying number of sisters through the years.”

The school was established in August of 1979 with grades K-8 with Sister Anna Flannagan as its first principal.

She was followed by Sister Marie Ryan, then Sister Una Murphy. Harte, who came from Ireland to Robertsdale in 1980 as an eighth-grade teacher, succeeded Murphy as principal in 1990 and has served as the school’s top administrator ever since. Harte is now the only member of the order who serves the school.

“It was a culture shock moving from another country,” she said. “I think it would be a culture shock even today. People think that social media has brought us all together culturally, but each country has its own way of doing things. But there were a lot of people who made my transition as smooth as possible, including Father Kirwan. We worked together for 10 years and brought a lot of great things to the school.”

K-4 was added at the school in 1997, then K-3 was added several years later, Harte said, but the school remains a one-classroom school, meaning that there is only one classroom per grade, with limited class sizes for a more hands-on learning experience..

“The school provides an added opportunity for families to make choices about their children’s education,” Harte said. “I think it’s important to have choices when it comes to education.

“We’ve always had a good working relationship with the local public-school system and the Superintendent of Catholic Schools has a good relationship with the superintendent in Baldwin County.”

The school participates in various activities with the local school system, such as Red Ribbon Week, the annual Spelling Bee and various sports competitions.

The addition of St. Michael’s Catholic High School has afforded the school additional opportunities, such as participation in band, along with junior varsity soccer, baseball and football, Harte said.

“We’ve always been able to keep everything up to date through the years to provide a well-rounded education opportunity for our students,” Harte said.

St Michael students embrace debate and diplomacy at first annual Cardinal Model UN Conference

On Saturday, Oct. 5, the Saint Michael Catholic High School Model United Nations (UN) team hosted its first annual Cardinal Model UN Conference, involving over 60 students and marking the arrival of the new Saint Michael Model UN Program.

Model UN is an activity through which students simulate a committee of the United Nations, discussing and debating real world topics with the goal of proposing and passing Resolutions, the UN's equivalent of a bill or treaty that attempts to resolve the issue under discussion. During the Cardinal Model UN Conference, 61 St. Michael students and a St. Patrick eighth grader served as delegates in the Disarmament Committee (DISEC) and addressed the proliferation of nuclear weapons with a focus on the Democratic People's Republic of Korea (North Korea). The Cardinal Model UN Conference taught the delegates how the real UN works by guiding them through the rigors of speaking under the rules of parliamentary procedure and the process of resolution writing and advocacy. After six hours of debate, the delegates passed two resolutions that called for countries to better support the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty (NPT) and the Comprehensive Test Ban Treaty (CTBT), to embrace nuclear power as a safe alternative to fossil fuels, and to condemn and oppose acts of aggression.

Freshman Mimi Smith, Delegate for Pakistan, noted, "It is more difficult to keep peace than to wage war." Junior Erin Koster, Delegate for Saudi Arabia, agreed, arguing, "It is all about rolling with the punches — sometimes you spend three hours drafting a paper to craft peace in the Middle East and halfway through Iran violates your treaty and obtains nuclear weapons, but you have to stay calm and adapt."

During the Closing Ceremony, several delegates were recognized for their conference preparation and participation. Best Position Paper Awards for students completing research and optional position papers for their countries were presented to Saint Michael freshman Marguerite Cowles and sophomore Gwyneth Vogler while Best Position Paper Honorable Mention Awards were presented to Saint Michael students Andrew Corbett, Anna Claire Potter, Maeghan Reilly, and Tradd McDaniel.

Best Delegate Awards were presented to delegates who did the best job representing their country's views and working with their fellow delegates to solve the issue at hand. Saint Michael freshman Tradd McDaniel earned the Best Delegate Award while Saint Michael students Eloise Arthur, Andrew Corbett, Erin Koster, Isaac McBane, Mimi Smith received Best Delegate Honorable Mention Awards.

Finally, Delegate Choice Awards were voted on by the delegates themselves for participants who best captured the spirit of the UN. The Delegates Choice Award was presented to St. Michael junior Isaac McBane while St. Michael freshman Tradd McDaniel earned a Delegates Choice Honorable Mention Award.

"I felt proud of receiving the Position Paper and Best Delegate Honorable Mention Awards because it feels like the hours of research really accomplished something," said sophomore Andrew Corbett, Delegate for Egypt.

"I was honored to have won the Best Delegate Honorable Mention Award while representing the DPRK and I am looking forward to future Model UN Conferences," stated sophomore Eloise Arthur.

"Involving 20 percent of the Saint Michael student body was beyond my wildest expectations for our first conference," said St. Michael Model

UN Advisor Paul Saboe. "It shows that Saint Michael students are keen to embrace a global perspective and to develop life skills including research, public speaking, and critical thinking skills that will serve them in high school, college and beyond."

The Saint Michael Model UN Team will next compete in their first travel conference at the University of Alabama Model UN Conference (ALMUN) in February 2020. Next October, the Saint Michael team will sponsor the second annual Cardinal Model UN Conference with the students serving as chairs for the first time and with all area high school and middle school students invited to participate.

FRANGIONI

Dorothy Miller Sirmon (Kornegay) Frangioni was born to Edna M. Miller Sirmon and Joel G. Sirmon in Belforest, Alabama, on Feb. 28, 1924. She passed away at age 95 on Oct. 25, 2019, due to complications of heart and respiratory issues.

She was preceded in death by first husband, Milton E. Kornegay; oldest son, James M. Kornegay; second husband, Ralph K. "Tony" Frangioni Sr.; sisters, L. Georgene Sirmon and C. Joyce Sirmon; and brother, Joel G. Sirmon.

She is survived by sons, Donald F. Kornegay (Susan) and Dennis M. Kornegay (Betsey); daughters, Marian K. McBryde and Karen K. Lusk (Kevin); stepson, Ralph K. Frangioni Jr. (Marie); stepdaughter, Kay Frangioni Pierce (Gerald); sisters, Amanda L. Baker (Malcolm) and Carolyn M. Courduff (William); brother-in-law, Omer R. Foley; sister-in-law, Shirley A. Sirmon; and many grandchildren, great-grandchildren, nieces, nephews and cousins.

Dorothy grew up on what is now known as Sirmon Farms (sirmonfarms.com) in the Belforest community of Daphne Alabama. The oldest of five girls and one boy, her Southern beauty and charm led her to be selected as the Baldwin County Harvest Queen while she was in high school.

After completing high school and business college, she worked at Brookley Field in Mobile, Alabama as a clerk/typist.

She met Milton Kornegay at the wedding of mutual friends, and she and Milton were married on July 22, 1943. She transferred to Eglin Field where Milton was stationed near Valparaiso Florida, and worked there until they began their family.

Her extensive career as a homemaker for five children throughout six states was highlighted with superb skills as a seamstress, culinary artist, and demanding hairdresser/barber.

However, it was her musical talents that filled the home with even more joy as she played the piano or organ regularly — each session ending with a polka for all to dance to!

After Milton passed in 1980, she returned to the workforce as a PBX operator at the hospital in Fort Walton Beach, Florida. While working there, she met "Tony" Frangioni, and the two eventually married on March 11, 1989. She was now the matriarch of an extended family that included two more children, plus a host of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Her homemaker skills only expanded, even adding Italian cuisine to her culinary repertoire.

Dorothy was always willing to volunteer her talents, especially if it meant supporting her children. One shining example of this is her time spent with the Girl Scouts. She began with Brownies, and this earned her the nickname "Brownie Leader," which Milton continued to call her up until his death.

Perhaps the greatest legacy Dorothy leaves to her children to model is her love for the Lord. She shared her faith in many ways, just as it was modeled for her by her parents and grandparents. She shared her talents as a Vacation Bible School teacher, Sunday School teacher, and Acolyte Coordinator.

She taught her children to pray before meals and at bedtime, and made sure they were dressed just right for Sunday School and church.

As a homemaker, Dorothy was never satisfied to sit at home. She was a member of First United Methodist Church of Fort Walton Beach for decades as well as a member of the Order of the Eastern Star. She was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and was active in the Choctawhatchee Bay Chapter.

One of her greatest joys was working with the Cooperative Extension Service of Okaloosa County which provides educational programs in the areas of agriculture, 4-H, family and consumer sciences, horticulture and marine science.

The family of Dorothy Frangioni extend their sincere appreciation to the wonderful health care providers at White-Wilson Medical Clinic, Magnolia Medical Clinic, Fort Walton Beach Medical Center, Shoal Creek Rehabilitation Center, and North Okaloosa Medical Center for the excellent and compassionate care provided to her over the years and especially in her last weeks.

A celebration of Dorothy's life will be held on Friday, Nov. 1, 2019 at First United Methodist Church, 103 First Street SE, Fort Walton Beach, Florida. Gathering will begin at 1 p.m. and the service will be held at 2 p.m.

A reception will follow at the church with graveside services to be held at a later date.

If desired, donations in lieu of flowers may be made to the Florida Methodist Children's Home (funch.org).

Arrangements entrusted to Emerald Coast Funeral Home, and online condolences may be viewed and placed at www.emeraldcoastfuneralhome.com.

MARSHALL

Dr. Teresa Bell "Tesi" Marshall DVM, 64, passed away peacefully on Oct. 21. A beloved Fairhope veterinarian, she owned the Downtown Animal Clinic for many years, counting both her animal patients and their owners as friends.

Her deep compassion for animals led her to found the Haven, the first no-kill animal shelter in Baldwin County out of her clinic. She expanded the clinic to increase housing until the city granted space. Today, the Haven has placed over 10,000 homeless pets in loving homes.

Born March 11, 1955 to Sam and Philomena Marshall in Pensacola, Florida, Tesi developed her love for animals when she was introduced to horses as a young girl. Initially participating in amateur events, she eventually traveled around the country competing as a professional hunter/jumper. Her love for horses ultimately inspired her to choose veterinary medicine as her career.

Tesi was one of those rare individuals blessed with a brain for both science and art. You could often find her roaming the shores of the Mobile Bay with her pack of rescued dogs, scavenging

Kim Koniar sworn in as mayor of Magnolia Springs

By JESSICA VAUGHN
jessica@gulfcoastmedia.com

MAGNOLIA SPRINGS — At the Oct. Magnolia Springs council meeting, councilmember Kim Koniar was voted into the position of town mayor. The nomination was unanimous among all councilmembers. Koniar recently joined the council in June after previous councilmember Dotty Johnson stepped down from seat one. Koniar was sworn in at the meeting by Judge Tim Russell beside her father-in-law Foley Mayor John Koniar.

“What a distinct pleasure I have,” Russell said. “I may be wrong, but I don’t believe in the history of the county we’ve ever had two mayors, one a father-in-law and the other a daughter-in-law; I don’t think this has ever happened before.”

The vacant mayor position occurred earlier in the month when Bob Holk announced his resignation from the position, stating it was “the right time.” He requested his resignation be accepted immediately. Holk served on the council in some fashion for 13 years prior to his resignation.

“Bob served for the entire history of this village, he was here at the beginning,” said Mayor Pro Tem Ben Dykema. “He was here during the formative years when the heavy lifting was done, then in the early years when they had to work on planning, zoning, town ordinances, the organization of the town and so much more; all we’re doing now is steering the ship. This position is a public service, and I for one appreciate all that Bob Holk has done in this 13-years. This job is not about money, it’s not about your ego, it’s not about personal gain, and we should appreciate and thank anyone who is willing to serve.”

With Koniar’s new appointment as mayor, seat one has a vacancy on the council. The council is asking anyone who is interested in serving to submit letters of interest to Jenny White, Town Clerk/Treasurer, at clerkms@gulfcoastmedia.com or by regular mail to the Town of Magnolia Springs, PO Box 890, Magnolia Springs, AL 36555. Those interested must be a registered voter and a resident within the Town of Magnolia Springs town limits. Letters will be accepted up until Tue., Nov. 19 at 5 p.m., and the appointment of the position will be made during the Nov. council meeting that same day.

For more information on Magnolia Springs, check out www.townofmagnoliasprings.org.

for driftwood treasures. With her artist’s eye and a doctor’s skilled hands, she would turn these washed up pieces into beautiful furniture and art which she loved to gift to her closest family and friends.

As anyone who met her quickly learned, her family, especially her two children, were always her first priority.

She is survived by her daughter, Katy English; son, Mathew English; their father, Joe English; her brother, Mike Marshall and his wife Suzy; and three nephews.

Teresa Marshall lived more in her 64 years than most do in a lifetime. For those who knew and loved her, the brightness and humor that followed her wherever she went will be missed eternally.

A celebration of Tesi’s life will take place in the near future.

Dancer roars onto stage in “The Lion King”

By JESSICA VAUGHN
jessica@gulfcoastmedia.com

Jodi Johnson has studied ballet, jazz, tap, lyrical dance and musical theatre. This weekend she will use those talents to help tell one of the most beloved modern tales: “The Lion King.”

The Baldwin County Virtual School freshman has been studying dance for seven years, the last four with Dance Arts South in Daphne. She’s been singing since she was 6-years-old.

She’s also spent time tumbling and flipping in a gymnastics program.

Now, she’s set to play Sarabi in Eastern Shore Repertory Theatre’s production of “The Lion King Jr.” which opens this weekend in Fairhope.

“When I auditioned I honestly just wanted to be a dancer,” Johnson said. “Then when I got a minor lead role I was super excited.”

Johnson will perform both as the regal lioness, Sarabi, wife of villain Mufasa, and as a company dancer in the production.

“The Lion King Jr.” is directed by Erin Langley and choreographed by Matthew Kiel.

Want to go?

WHAT: “The Lion King Jr.” by The Eastern Shore Repertory Theatre

WHERE: Fairhope Civic Center

WHEN: Nov. 1 – 3

TICKETS:
www.eventbrite.com

Langley said over 100 kids from Baldwin County and as far away as Selma auditioned for the show. Many have trained at dance studios from across the area to create a spectacle that is unlike any other production of the show.

“He really did an amazing job putting that together,” Langley said.

Johnson said she hopes “The Lion King” isn’t her last spin on stage. She already plans to audition for Eastern Shore Repertory Theatre’s spring production of “Beauty and the Beast” and will be traveling with the company to California as part of the theatre’s elite travel team to perform “The Lion King Jr.”

Johnson said performing has given her a solid background.

“I would like for performing to be part of my future, but I’d also like to become a doctor,” she said. “I’m not sure which way I’ll go. I might go to college to become a doctor and minor in performing arts, because it’s very fun to me. I’ve always just loved the whole aspect of performing for other people and making them happy.”

At Dance Arts South, where Johnson has danced for four years, many dancers there are participating in theatre productions across the county. Chloe Theriot, another Dance Arts South student, will perform the role of Rafiki in “The Lion King Jr.”

In the upcoming production of “Annie,” by Center Stage Performance, local dancers will fill the roles of dancing orphans. Dance Arts

South students included in that production are Michelle Bossard, Kate McDonald, Vivian Marlow, Avery Kane, Bennett Middleton, Blakeney Wells, Ann Bradley Wells, Audrianna Gambino, Ella Scism and Abigail Robinson. Vivian Marlow is also performing as a lost boy in Bay Area Performing Arts’ upcoming production of “Peter Pan Jr.”

“When students study dance they are preparing to be part of many types of productions,” said Jamie Leatherbury, owner of Dance Arts South. “They can tell the story of any character on stage simply through movement.”

Dance Arts South is opening a new 5,000 square foot studio in spring, 2022 on County Road 32.

Chef ‘Panini’ Pete Blohme chats all things Oyster Cookoff

By MELANIE LECROY
melanie@gulfcoastmedia.com

Local chef and restaurateur, Pete Blohme or Panini Pete as many people know him, is quite possibly the busiest chef in Lower Alabama. If he isn’t at one of his four restaurants, recording a Hot Off the Press podcast episode, or on Guy’s Grocery Games, you might find him at the airport jetting overseas to serve our military with the Messlords.

This weekend Blohme will be one of several celebrity chefs at the 12th Annual Hangout Oyster Cookoff, Craft Spirits & Beer weekend in Gulf Shores. The two-day event showcases the talents and tastes of the best chefs from the Southeast for an afternoon of oysters, spirits, craft beer, and music right on the beach.

While the name is Oyster Cookoff there’s plenty of food to sample if you aren’t a fan of the bivalve.

“We are really trying to grow the event and get the community and region involved and take it beyond the oyster. The reality is there are people that say they don’t eat oysters. It’s not for everyone. When you throw in the barbecue and other food elements it draws more people. This year the competing teams also get to do an anything goes dish. There will be some different food to taste,” Blohme said.

Blohme has watched the Oyster Cookoff grow immensely over its 12 years.

“I was there year one. The first few years I was involved as a judge when it was really small and just a few local teams. Then I got back involved five or six years ago when it really started to ramp up. I have seen it grow to where it has become a really nice event. They are bringing in really good talent and great teams and are paying tribute to a lot of the farm raised oysters,” said Blohme.

“One thing I love about what Shaul Zislin does is he creates a good event for participants and for the public. Everything he does makes it a first-class festival,” he said.

Stop by the North American Oyster Showcase and sample oysters flown in from Pacific Northwest, New England, the Maritimes, British Columbia, the mid-Atlantic, Baja Peninsula and right here from the Gulf Coast.

Legendary musical act the Jimmy Hall and the Muscle Shoals All-Stars will be playing in the background, as you sample dishes, visit live cooking demonstrations, meet and greet at book signings, and watch the competitors go head-to-head.

The Oyster Cookoff will feature restaurant and amateur competition teams competing for cash prizes and bragging rights. Teams are required to cook a minimum of 24 dozen oysters in each of the three categories: Rockefeller, Gulf Coast Cajun and a raw oyster. Visitors will be able to sample the creations throughout the day.

For the first time Blohme will have a team competing in the cookoff.

“I have never competed at the Oyster Cookoff, but we are putting a team in this year because I have nothing to do with the judging. We didn’t do oysters in the past, but we do them here at Sunset Pointe and at Ed’s Seafood Shed so it makes since for us to be involved. Every one of my executive chefs are coming down so we are going to have a power team. It’s an opportunity for my guys to break away, do something different and flex their muscles,” Blohme said.

Genealogical Society discusses Clotilda discovery

Submitted

For decades, the Clotilda was a legend, and some doubted she even existed. The stories said the cargo ship was used to settle a bet, by bringing 110 Africans to Mobile, Alabama, long after the United States banned the importation of enslaved people. The ship was burned to help hide the secret. Some of the survivors — freed just a few years later by the Civil War — founded a community that became known as Africatown.

Today, their descendants are celebrating the discovery of the Clotilda's remains. The gutted hulk is proof of their ancestors' stories. They are working with local, state and federal leaders to preserve their heritage, and they are searching for other descendants.

On Nov. 9, the Baldwin County Genealogical Society welcomes Darron Patterson with the Clotilda Descendants Association. He'll discuss the efforts to preserve the history of both the ship and Africatown, and explain how they're trying to connect to the families of other survivors.

Food Network Star coming to "A Holiday Market"

Submitted

The Committee of Public Art – Bay Minette is partnering Down in the Delta to bring Martie Duncan to the area as part of "A Holiday Market," set for Nov. 9 at Pimperl Place.

Martie represented home cooks everywhere as runner-up on Season 8 of the popular television show, Food Network Star. Since then, she has traveled extensively, appearing at food events across the United States with celebrities like Michael Symon, Bobby Flay and Guy Fieri.

In June 2018, Martie appeared on Food Network with Justin Warner, and together the pair won a Food Network Star duo episode of Guy's Grocery Games.

More than a cookbook, "Alabama Cravings" is the ultimate Alabama dining guide. From the Rocket City to the Gulf Coast, Alabama's own Food Network Star, Martie Duncan, spent four months on the road, sampling more than 400 dishes, drinks, and desserts along the way. The resulting collection of 97 recipes captures every possible craving and takes readers into the dining rooms of beloved Alabama restaurants, cafes, and diners. Martie's "don't miss" tips for each locale will make readers want to plan a restaurant road trip immediately.

She is also the author of two cookbooks, Birmingham's Best and

Magic City Cravings.

Her website, MartieDuncan.com, showcases her easy recipes and fun ideas for affordable entertaining at home. As the party expert for MyRecipes.com, her Martie Knows Parties videos are consistently one of the site's most popular features.

COPA will be set up at A Holiday Market to sell copies of "Alabama Cravings" for the discounted price of $25. Advance, unsigned copies of the book are available now at Bay Minette City Hall and will also be sold at Ladies Night Out on Nov. 8. Proceeds from these books will benefit COPA projects. # Fox Festival this weekend in Elberta

Submitted

The Southern Fox Festival hosted at the Veranda at the Preserve in Elberta will be held on Saturday, Nov. 2 with proceeds to benefit Mary's Shelter Gulf Coast.

The day begins at 9 a.m. at Soldier Creek Golf Course with a four-person scramble shotgun start golf tournament. Tickets are $65 per person and include lunch and a beverage ticket. Smokey B's BBQ will provide the food for the event. To sign up call 986-TOFF (8633).

The Fall Festival

begins at 1 p.m. and includes a harvest market, arts and crafts, food trucks, Kids Zone and live music from local bands. The family friendly event is free, but donations will be accepted. Food may be purchased at the food trucks which include Bleu's Burgers, Greens n Grains, Gourmet Waffle Bar and Bakery and the unique Foam Coffee Cart.

At 6 p.m. the big bands take the stage for listening and dancing. Bonfires and other special events are planned.

A special vine planting will take place in the afternoon. The vines will eventually provide Muscadine grapes that will be used at the Southern Fox Winery. A descendant of the Woerner farming family, event organizer Blake Woerner Higgins, recalls the many times she and her Dad picked the grapes in their backyard and ate them straight from the buckets.

Known for their special turf, the Woerners turned some of their acreage in Elberta into a golf course. Blake quickly found she didn't have the "golf gene", but she wanted to continue the Woerner legacy, being an integral part of the Elberta landscape.

She studied the Muscadines and found they were called Southern Fox grapes with female varieties named "Higgins", her married name. Blake decided she wanted to start a winery and have a venue for weddings, family events and a yearly festival. Attendees at the Southern Fox Fall Festival will have an opportunity to participate in the planting and become a part of the Southern Fox legacy.

This year the festival benefits Mary's Shelter Gulf Coast, a home for homeless pregnant

Witches ride through the streets of Daphne

By SYDNEY MCDONALD
Special to The Baldwin Times

Halloween spirit filled the streets around Mancini's Antique Club Sunday, Oct. 27 at the 3rd Annual Witches, Wizards, and Warlocks Ride. Local families gathered around the streets of Mancini's to watch their fellow community members, and even a few dogs in costumes, ride while dressed head-to-toe in witch costumes.

The participants in the event did not hold back with creativity and turned their bicycles into broomsticks and even an uncomfortably large bike-sized spider.

Other participants rode in golf carts that were intricately decorated with skeletons, spider webs, and much more.

People spent the day eating delicious dishes from Mancini's while admiring each other's costumes. The ride benefits Rileigh and Raylee Angel Ride Foundation. Some onlookers like Peggy Wiggins said they love coming out and supporting a good cause in the community.

"I came for them [Rileigh and Raylee]. They are really dear to my heart," Wiggins said. "Also, it's such a beautiful day, who wouldn't want to be here?"

Participants rode through the streets surrounding Mancini's throwing candy and toys to children lining the streets, while they tried to catch a glimpse of all the witches flying by on their "broomsticks."

For first time participant, Heather Gibbs, it was fun to be a part of the event that she had been watching for three years prior.

"My daughter and I, and a bunch of girlfriends from work decided to do it together this year," Gibbs said. "I am very excited. It's a mixed crowd. It's not a serious biking event. It is more family friendly, which I really enjoy."

Lighthouse host candlelight vigil for domestic violence victims

john@gulfcoastmedia.com

ROBERTSDALE — The Lighthouse of Baldwin County hosted a candlelight vigil on Wednesday, Oct. 23 at Honeybee Park in Robertsdale for victims of domestic violence as part of Domestic Violence Awareness Month in October.

More than 50 residents attended the vigil, including Jerry Sommer Davis, the original executive director and current Board treasurer for The Lighthouse, and Judge Pamela Baschab who helped create The Lighthouse in 1994 as the Baldwin County Family Domestic Violence Project.

“My first encounter with domestic violence as a judge was in the form of a woman with two black eyes who sat outside my office all day demanding that her husband be released,” Baschab said. “When I refused, she threatened to sue to have me removed from the bench. It was confusing and frustrating.”

At every turn, Bascab said, she encountered judges and officials that said she couldn’t change the system and would have to work with the system the way it was.

Two cases, she said, caused her to continue to pursue her dream, a man who shot his ex-wife and her mother outside of an attorney’s office in Bay Minette; and a man in north Baldwin County who beat his mother to death with a tire iron.

“These were deaths that could have been prevented if there was a system in place to protect those women,” she said. “Everyone told me I was jumping into the deep end and I’m here to tell you, don’t ever stop jumping into the deep end. Don’t ever stop fighting for what is right.”

Songs and poems were presented by victims and children of victims of domestic violence.

Everyone present was given a name of someone who has been killed as a result of domestic violence. They read the name as they lit a candle for them.

Lighthouse celebrates 25th anniversary with luncheon

By JOHN UNDERWOOD
john@gulfcoastmedia.com

ROBERTSDALE — The Lighthouse of Baldwin County celebrated its 25th anniversary with a luncheon held Wednesday, Oct. 23 at the Baldwin County Central Annex in Robertsdale.

The event will honor all current and past Lighthouse Board members, including the organization's first executive director, Jerry Sommer Davis, who is also a current member of the Board.

"I just want to take this opportunity to thank everyone who has had a hand in making this organization what it is," said Rhyon Ervin, who is just the third executive director to serve the organization since its founding. Former executive director Joanne Shields Barfield was also recognized and was present for the event.

"Our mission has always been the elimination of family violence and sexual assault through intervention, education, services and collaboration with the community."

Judge Pamela Baschab, who was instrumental in founding the organization in 1994, served as the keynote speaker for the luncheon and talked about the early days when the organization was established as the Baldwin County Family Violence Project, and finding executive director Jerry Sommer through an article in the local newspaper.

"We could not have been more different, but we worked together to establish this organization against all odds," Baschab said of Sommer. "We were like Lucy and Ethel, I'll let you decide which is which. I was the one who had all of the crazy ideas and she was the one who would always rein me in and

Based in Robertsdale, The Lighthouse opened in 1994 and "is committed to providing support, preventing violence and promoting justice for victims of domestic violence and sexual assault."

The Lighthouse is authorized by the county District Attorney's office as the official domestic violence shelter in Baldwin County and also provides a 24-hour crisis line, individual and group counseling, case management, court advocacy services, transitional housing, advocacy for children and prevention education.

The Lighthouse is a non-discriminatory, equal opportunity agency, partially supported by the Family Violence Prevention and Services Act, Victims of Crime Act, Violence Against Women Act, Department of Public Health, U.S. Department of Housing and Development, and the Baldwin County United Way.

The Lighthouse is a member of the Alabama Coalition Against Domestic Violence and the Alabama Coalition Against Sexual Violence. Established with $75,000 in seed money, the group leased property for $450 a month before receiving a donation of land from Jewell Campbell, Baschab said. A shelter was built with a $250,000 grant obtained by the city of Robertsdale.

All former board members and staff were also recognized during the luncheon.

Board members for 2019-20 are Michael Gorum, president; Andolyn Fitzgerald, vice president; Jerry Sommer Davis, treasurer; Susan Young, secretary; Joan Dunlap, Keri Green, Donna Hornsby, Kristin Phillips, Jason Spry, Thomas Chad Vander-heyden, Bernadette Dees, Thad Evans, Bonnie Hindman, Jackilynn Langley, Nikki Rider and Michelle Tesch.

Ervin also recognized past and current Lighthouse staff, which consists of Raven Chadwick-Ates, weekend advocate; Sonja Bowen, night manager; Susanne Glass, operations manager; Joyce Lumar, transitional housing service coordinator; Jessica Nelson, SA on-call advocate; Joan Salzmann, assistant court advocate; Norma White, community advocate; Angela Bernard, direct services advocate; Kendall Buchanan, sexual assault services manager; Amanda Glass, family resources worker; Kimberlie Jackson, weekend advocate; Dana McLeod, director of programs; Ashley Palmer, shelter advocate; Cody West, community education specialist; Kathy Wood, court advocate coordinator; Diane Zills, night advocate; Jan Brown, Evelyn Magretto, Rita Levens and Brenda Naf-tel, relief workers.

"You are the lifesavers for countless women and children who have come to The Lighthouse through the years seeking shelter from the storm of domestic violence," Ervin said. "Without you none of this would have been possible."

The program also include musical selections by Marjorie Searcy and a survivor's message presented by Analisha Banks.

Banks told her story of coming to the Lighthouse in 2013 from Atmore.

"I had had enough," she said. "I decided that I did not want my kids to grow up thinking that this was normal, that verbal abuse and physical abuse was normal."

Banks said at the time she had never heard of The Lighthouse, but just days before she left her home, someone had given her a flier from the organization.

When the opportunity presented itself, she said, she gathered up her son, who was home with her, picked up her other two children after school and went to a park in Atmore.

"I didn't know where I was going, I just knew I needed to get out," she said.

While at the park, she remembered the flier in her pocket and called the number.

"She told me I had 24 hours to get to the shelter and that I needed to go to the Bay Minette Police Department and they would escort me there," she said. "They worked with me and fought with me every step of the way and it is because of them that I am where I am today and my kids are all honor students."

Pamela Baschab

Ervin also made special presentations to Baschab and Sonya Osborn for 24 years of service to the organization. Closing remarks were presented by Board President Michael Gorum.

Anyone who would like more information on The Lighthouse and its services can contact Ervin at 251-947-6197 or they can visit The Lighthouse of Baldwin County page at facebook.com/abeacon.

By MICHAEL HANICH

Sports Analysis

The 2019 Sun Belt Conference Women's Soccer Tournament Championship is all set for the first postseason run of eight of the top Sun Belt teams. From Wednesday, Nov. 6 to Sunday, Nov. 10, the Foley Sports Tourism Complex will be hosting the conference tournament championship once again.

The South Alabama Jaguars (13-3-2; 8-1-1 in Sun Belt conference play) are the No. 1 seed going into the tournament. This season, the Lady Jaguars became the regular season conference champions for the fifth out of the last sixth seasons. The Jaguars are looking to win their sixth conference championship tournament in seven years. Last season, the Jaguars came into the tournament as the fifth seed before losing to the No. 1 seeded Texas State Bobcats with a 4-2 score in a shootout.

The Lady Jags are looking to get revenge after their underwhelming 8-9-2 record last season in the regular season and conference championship tournament. Jaguars senior forward Briana Morris leads the conference with points per game (1.67) and goals per game (0.78). She has scored 14 goals this season, six more than the second-place recipients of Appalachian State's Sarah Sodoma, Georgia Southern's Frieda Brattum, and Texas State's Kaylee Davis.

All seven matches of the conference championship tournament will be broadcasted on ESPN+ streaming service. The first round will be on Wednesday, Nov. 6 with No. 6 Texas State Bobcats facing the No. 3 Arkansas State Red Wolves, the No. 7 Louisiana-Lafayette Ragin Cajuns facing the No. 2 Troy Trojans, the No. 8 Georgia Southern Eagles facing the No. 1 South Alabama Jaguars, and the No. 5 Georgia State Panthers facing the No. 4 Coastal Carolina Chanticleers.

The semi-finals matchups will be on Friday, Nov. 8 and the championship match will be on Sunday, Nov. 10.

After the conference championship tournament, the NCAA Tournament will be established with a selection show on Monday, Nov. 11. The winner of the conference will automatically be included in the NCAA Tournament that will conclude their semi-final matchups and championship game in Avaya Stadium in San Jose, California.

Foley gives thanks for a November of soccer

GCM SPORTS

FOLEY — For many, November is a month to give thanks or enjoy turkey and pumpkin spice. At Foley Sports Tourism, November is about soccer. The month kicks off with the Alabama Soccer Association's State Cup (Nov. 1-2); the Sun Belt Conference Women's Soccer Championship (Nov. 6, 8, 10); and wraps up with the Coastal Academy Cup (Nov. 23-24).

ASA State Cup

Alabama Soccer Association has hosted the State Cup for 45 years, and 2019 will make the fourth time they've brought Division I and Division II portions of the tournament to Foley. ASA State Administrator Lynn Bertovic said the event anticipates to draw approximately 120 teams, both boys and girls, in ages ranging from 14-19.

Teams qualify through State League play and hope to win their way to the next round of Regional Championships with U.S. Youth Soccer. The competition is fierce with so much on the line, however, the players don't shy away from the challenge. Bertovic said the State Cup continues growing year to year because soccer is being played throughout the state.

"It continues to grow as soccer becomes more mainstream in our schools and parks across Alabama," Bertovic said. "We hope with the increase in publication and access to games on television and across the world (especially with the U.S. Soccer Women's Team winning the World Cup for the fourth time) the numbers in youth soccer will continue to grow."

Sun Belt Conference Women's Soccer Championship

Much like the ASA State Cup, the Sun Belt Conference Women's Soccer Championship is no stranger to FST, as the 2019 Championship marks the fourth consecutive year at the FST complex.

Each year brings something new and interesting to the competition, including last year, when the University of Arkansas Little Rock snapped the University of South Alabama's five-year win streak. The Jaguars will look to reclaim their title in 2019, as the team currently sits atop the conference standings, having already secured their spot in Foley.

Sun Belt Assistant Commissioner of Championships & Corporate Sales, Spencer Dodd, explained that everyone is excited to return to FST.

"Foley is a great location for our student-athletes, coaches, and fans to come and enjoy great attractions, and an outstanding championship facility," Dodd said.

Those fans who can't enjoy Foley and the event's free admission firsthand can still keep up with all the competition. All matches will be streamed live on ESPN+.

Coastal Academy Cup

The excitement doesn't stop there, as November closes with the return of the Coastal Academy Cup, Nov. 23-24.

Snap Soccer's Zack Touchstone expects 150 club soccer teams to participate with a mix of both boys and girls in age divisions ranging from U8 to U15. "This is the fifth year we've held the Coastal Academy Cup," Touchstone said. "It's grown every year and we are nearing max capacity."

The Season is For Soccer

Foley Sports Tourism hosts a variety of sports throughout the year, but November continues to be a soccer-filled month bringing thousands of visitors to the city, said David Thompson, Foley director of Recreation and Sports Tourism.

"We love to host a range of different events, and we are always looking to bring new things to Foley," Thompson said. "But the return of our soccer events in November is something we look forward to each year. Some people celebrate the season with turkey, we celebrate with the ASA State Cup, the Sun Belt Conference Women's Soccer Championship and the Coastal Academy Cup."

HOROSCOPES

WEEK OF NOVEMBER 4, 2019

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Caution dominates the Sheep's monetary aspect this week. Rams and Ewes might want to shear their big spending plans until a more favorable financial picture begins to emerge by week's end.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Thrift counts both at home and at work. So you might want to rethink major purchases or investments. Also, be wary of a so-called revelation about a personal decision.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Both household budgets and workplace accounts might benefit from some judicious trimming of unnecessary expenses. A partnership could lead to an unexpected challenge.
CANCER (June 21 to July 22) A previously overlooked opportunity could re-emerge with a new travel-related matter. Check this out carefully to see if it's what you really want before you decide one way or another.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) This could be the start of a new career-changing phase, so start marking down your many accomplishments for those who need to know how much you have to offer. Good luck.
VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) It's not too early for the sometimes procrastinating Virgo to start making those long-distance travel plans. The sooner you decide where to go, when to go and how to go, the better.
LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Financial matters once again figure in any major action you might take regarding career, travel or other endeavors. You'll want a ready reserve to help you back up those moves.
SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Trying to resolve a problem in a personal relationship could be more difficult than you'd expected. Look into the possibility that someone might be interfering for his or her own reasons.
SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A project you once rejected might be more attractive because of changes that you feel you can now work with. The weekend is especially favorable to family matters.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) This is a good week for the gregarious Goat to enjoy being with people you care for. You might even want to show off those creative kitchen skills you're so adept at.
AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A colleague might think your attitude is patronizing or even outright insulting. True. That might be his or her problem. But you might want to take some reassuring steps anyway.
PISCES (February 19 to March 20) It's a good time to jettison those old concepts about a family matter you might have been holding on to. This will help make room for a new and more enlightened way of dealing with it.

No simple solution to garbage problems

Residents and officials in Baldwin County and throughout the country face a growing dilemma between responsibilities to make the best use of taxpayer funds and do what is best for the environment and resources.

In recent meetings, city councils in municipalities such as Daphne, Fairhope and Spanish Fort have faced growing expenses for solid waste collection – including garbage, recyclables and yard debris.

Projected deficits of more than $500,000 a year between costs and income from fees charged to residents have been reported in at least one Baldwin city.

One problem is the rising costs of disposing of recyclable materials, particularly plastic. At one time, recyclables brought in money or at least broke even. Now, one city reports that the cost of recycling material is about $69 a ton. The cost of taking garbage to be dumped in the landfill is $29 a ton.

As officials have stated, this is not a Baldwin County problem, this is a national and worldwide problem. The market for recyclables is changing around the world, making it harder and more expensive to find locations that will take items such as plastic.

Some of the proposals discussed in council chambers and work sessions for dealing with this situation here include cutting scheduled collections, hiring private companies and raising rates.

County Commissioners and Baldwin employees have also joined the discussion. The county is discussing possible agreements with some cities to allow some recyclables to be included in the material stored at the Magnolia

Landfill until the most practical arrangement can be found to take the items to be recycled.

This is a problem that does not have a simple or painless solution.

No one wants to pay more for a basic necessity.

For years, educators and officials have worked to encourage residents to recycle materials, saving resources as well as landfill space. Few want to go back to filling that space with plastic, paper and aluminum.

People here are working to find the best solutions. Residents have told council members that they would be willing to pay higher fees if they could keep the same level of service. County officials are working with a private company to determine if materials taken to the Baldwin landfill can be processed into building materials or fuels.

Innovation and cooperation are keys to finding the solution to this and many other problems that Baldwin County will encounter as it grows. We do not always have the luxury of continuing to do things they way they have always been done.

We will have to look at all the alternatives, discuss them together and find the way forward that works best for the entire community.

Light being shown on Poarch Creek gambling casino monopoly in the Heart of Dixie

Recently an organization was formed with the name, “Poarch Creek Accountability Now.” This nonprofit group is headed by former 40-year veteran State Senator Gerald Dial, who retired from the Alabama Senate in 2018.

The stated goal of this nonprofit group is to spread the true and accurate information about the Poarch Band of Creek Indians and their gaming revenue and expenditures. Dial says it is time to point out the unfairness of their operation. “They make billions upon billions in this state and pay zero in taxes,” said Dial. He said, and rightfully so, “that’s not right.”

Dial continued, “We just want to make sure that the general public is aware of the true facts about the Poarch Creek Indians. The PCI Gaming syndicate is using the vast revenues collected in Alabama on nontaxed gambling and using these Alabama dollars to purchase the Sands Casino in Pennsylvania for $1.3 billion and then the Alabama tribe would begin a $250 million renovation of their Pennsylvania Casino.”

Dial says that while the Alabama Tribe makes this out-of-state $1.5 billion investment with Alabama money, the Pennsylvania casino will be taxed at a 16% onsite gaming fee and 54% of online profits.

It is no secret that during the past legislative session, the PCI lobbyists worked to kill a Lottery Bill that would have allowed Alabamians the right to vote on a lottery. It is good that Senator Dial and fair-minded Alabamians are shedding light on this unfair and some say un-American advantage and gravy train that the Poarch Creek casinos have acquired in our state. It is not only unfair, it is dangerous. The unimagineable profits being accumulated by these shadowy operations allow them to contribute large amounts of campaign money to legislative candidates, mostly incumbents, which in turn allows them to accumulate immense power politically. This is evidenced by their ability to kill Alabamian’s right to vote to have a simple lottery.

These Indian Casinos were created by the Abramoff and Scanlan corruption scandal. Several years ago these two bagmen came to Washington with a Brinks truck full of money. Congressional testimony indicates that it came from Las Vegas as their way of spreading these casinos nationwide. Scanlan and Abramoff went to jail, but the Indian casinos were granted asylum and sanctified their once native lands to open casino gambling operations.

They took full advantage of those new federal laws here in Alabama. Most of the land in the state prior to our statehood was occupied by the Creek Indians. History reveals that our Creek Indians were done wrong. What Andrew Jackson “Ole Hickory” did to the Creek Indians in Alabama was inhumane to say the least, and most would call it a barbaric massacre. How those few who survived his sword made it to Oklahoma was a miracle.

However, the Creeks were not the only ones slaughtered by “Ole Hickory” during that time frame. As soon as he got through with the Creeks, he traversed down the Mississippi River and did it tenfold to the British Red Coats in New Orleans in 1812. There were very few survivors of Jackson’s savage victory over the British. He made sure that the Indians and the British knew that this was the land of some tough new American frontiersmen and they were led by one tough as nails, take no prisoners leader.

There are some folks with British ancestry who should be asking for some reparations after what Jackson did to their ancestors. The Creek Indians left in Alabama got their reparations from the Abramoff/ Scanlan Federal Deal. With that grant came some inherent federal protection from taxation along with their casinos. However, states like Alabama should not allow them to have a monopoly.

Let me give some legislators an idea on how to extract a little well-deserved penance from these greedy PCI gaming operations in the state. My guess is that the roads leading to their shiny, gold plated, gambling palaces are state roads. What would be wrong with making those roads toll roads and charge a $100 fee to pass through to the casino and prohibit any other road being built parallel to our state toll road?

I bet that toll fee would give us the same amount of revenue as a lottery. You can bet your bottom dollar that Huey Long or Lyndon Johnson would take that approach to those arrogant, money grubbing, power mongering casinos.

See you next week.

Saturday Bets

7 p.m. on HALL
Movie: Merry & Bright
 Cate Merriweather (Jodie Sweetin), the chief executive of a family-owned candy-cane factory, is forced to confront the modern financial realities of running a seasonal business in this 2019 yuletide romance. As Christmas approaches, Gabe Carter (Andrew Walker), a New York consultant who works with struggling firms, is dispatched to assess Cate's company for possible remedies, but almost immediately clashes with her, due in part to his lack of holiday spirit. As he spends time with Cate, though, he starts to see the charms of small-town life. Sharon Lawrence also stars.

Sunday Bets

8 p.m. on SHO
The Affair
 The title may be somewhat generic, but this splendidly acted TV drama earned critical kudos and multiple Golden Globe Awards during its five-season run, with both Maura Tierney and original leading lady Ruth Wilson picking up trophies along the way. Wilson's character is no longer part of the show, but Tierney, Dominic West and their colleagues are still turning in first-rate performances as the drama airs its series finale, which sees everything coming full circle on Whitney's (Julia Goldani Telles) wedding day.

- 8 p.m. on FOOD Holiday Baking Championship
- Host Jesse Palmer welcomes 10 bakers who will vie in a series of challenges designed to show off their kitchen skills as well as their own family traditions as Season 6 gets under way. In the premiere, "Gearing Up for the Holidays," the newcomers introduce themselves via edible place cards and one-bite signature holiday desserts. For the main heat, the bakers must create and decorate a Danish kranssekake (wreath cake) featuring such holiday ingredients as chestnuts or toffee. Nancy Fuller, Duff Goldman and Lorraine Pascale are the judges.
- 8 p.m. on HBO His Dark Materials
- Philip Pullman's epic fantasy comes to the small screen as a new limited series, a U.S.-British co-production set in a world wherein every human being has an animal called a daemon, a manifestation of the soul that is, in some respects, similar to the patronus in the "Harry Potter" stories. Young actress Dafne Keen stars as Lyra, an orphan who has grown up at Jordan

College, Oxford, England and serves as the protagonist of the fantasy. Ruth Williams, James McAvoy and Lin-Manuel Miranda also star.

8 p.m. on SUND Movie: Saving Private Ryan

Steven Spielberg won the best director Oscar for this 1998 World War II drama, whose opening portrayal of the Normandy invasion is one of the most powerful war sequences in movie history. Tom Hanks stars as the captain in charge of a platoon assigned to go behind enemy lines and retrieve a private (Matt Damon) whose three brothers have all been killed. Edward Burns and Tom Sizemore also star, with Jeremy Davies very affecting as the platoon's interpreter.

8:01 p.m. on FOX-10 FOX-25 Prodigal Son

Bright's (Tom Payne) all-consuming hunger to find answers leads him to a junkyard, where he narrowly escapes a hail of gunfire in the new episode "Q&A." Later, he and the NYPD team discover multiple human bodies on the scene, spanning decades. Bright strongly suspects the deaths are the work of a serial killer who had something to do with The Surgeon. Elsewhere, Ainsley (Halston Sage) teams up with Bright after her exclusive interview with their father (Michael Sheen) takes an unexpected turn.

1 a.m. on PBS-42 Independent Lens

In the new documentary "Decade of Fire," filmmakers Vivian Vazquez Irizarry, Gretchen Hildebran and Julia Steele Allen reopen a dark chapter from 1970s New York, when virtually the entire borough of The Bronx burned down, reducing the community to rubble. Although government agencies blamed the mostly black and Latino residents for their own calamity, city archives reveal how "redlining," a political policy that began in the 1930s, automatically classified any black or Puerto Rican neighborhood as "declining."

Throwing a holiday party? The web has some drink ideas

It may be early November but it's never too early to get started on the drink selection for your holiday party.

From mulled wines and fruity sangrias to flavored martinis and pumpkin-spiced everything, holiday cocktails have come a long way from the hot buttered rums and Brandy Alexanders of yore. So if you're looking for a few ideas for your own bash, boot up the laptop and log onto some of the following videos for a few pointers.

Martha Stewart has a few on her website (www.marthastewart.com/252489/holiday-cocktails), as she is joined by New York bartender Charles Corpion to demonstrate the making of three drinks – the Candy Cane, the Winter Solstice and something called the Blizzard, which is Irish whiskey, Frangelico, Baileys and coffee topped with Grand Marnier-infused whipped cream. Delicious and formidable.

If you're looking for something that packs a little less of a punch, Amanda Storey of MyRecipes.com has her "5 to Try Holiday Cocktails" (www.myrecipes.com/how-to/5-to-try/5-to-try-holiday-cocktails), among them an easy-to-make homemade eggnog, a blood orange sangria and a champagne pomegranate cocktail – a combination of pomegranate juice, ginger ale, a little brandy and champagne. She calls it "an absolute festivity unto itself." You be the judge.

For those trying to stay on the straight and narrow and avoid the "holiday 15" this November and December, Health.com (www.health.com/food/healthy-holiday-cocktails) has what it calls some "healthy-ish" drink options, the arguably healthiest being the Sparkling Greyhound – a mix of vodka, grapefruit juice and club soda for a total of 87 calories. And that's with a half-cup of liquor.

On the decidedly more caloric side, there is Andrew Rea of "Binging With Babish" (www.youtube.com/watch?v=LftLcYM6Fzw) – the YouTube content creator who specializes in re-creating noteworthy meals from classic movies and TV shows – who goes to great trouble and detail to mix up a homemade eggnog from eggs, steamed milk, cream, homemade whipped cream, spices, bourbon and white rum. It looks delicious but be prepared to invest some time in this project.

8 p.m. on PBS-42 NOVA

"Dead Sea Scroll Detectives" explore how scientists have developed new technologies to glean fresh insights from the Dead Sea Scrolls, the fragile parchment relics found by a Bedouin shepherd boy in 1947. The still-intact portions of these scrolls, which are believed to date from the time of Christ, provided dramatic shifts in understanding both early Judaism and the birth of Christianity, but now researchers have developed new procedures to recover sections previously too ravaged to decipher.

8 p.m. on CW-55 Nancy Drew

Belatedly realizing that George (Leah Lewis) has been possessed by Tiffany's spirit, Nancy (Kennedy McMann) moves quickly to free her friend from her ghostly "hitchhiker" before it's too late in the new episode "The Case of the Wayward Spirit." Meanwhile, Owen (Miles Gaston Villanueva, "The Resident"), a mysterious stranger, wanders into The Claw and tries to arrange a catering gig at his country club for later that same day. Scott Wolf and Riley Smith also star.

8 p.m. on WGN-A Dog's Most Wanted

This reality series closes out its first season on a somber note with a finale called "Farewell to a Queen," which sees the Chapman family bidding their final farewells to their matriarch as Beth Chapman loses her valiant fight against cancer.

8 p.m. on HBO Movie: The Apollo

Oscar-winning filmmaker Roger Ross Williams' new feature-length documentary chronicles both the unique history and contemporary legacy of this landmark New York theater, interweaving performance clips by musicians, comics and dancers with behind-the-scenes footage of the team that keeps this celebrated venue running. The film also incorporates interviews with Common, Jamie Foxx, Savion Glover, Patti LaBelle, Smokey Robinson and Pharrell Williams, among others.

8:01 p.m. on FOX-10 FOX-25 Almost Family

In a new episode called "Risky AF," Julia (Brittany Snow) has to make a drastic decision after she discovers that Isaac (Mustafa Elzein) has been covertly working with Leon (Timothy Hutton) for advice on his current patients. Elsewhere, Roxy (Emily Osment) takes her new protégé back to her former gym, where she runs into old adversaries from her days as a gymnast.

OF 'PEAKY BLINDERS' ON NETFLIX

What are the challenges and fun of playing Polly?

She's a fantastic character to play because Steven's (Knight, series creator) always given her very witty lines; she's very, very dry. And she's one of life's survivors. And even though the audience may see her vulnerability and her inability to cope - those scenes that Steve will always write, where Polly will be in a bath or she will be by herself (in) very intimate, quiet moments. So the audience sees that side of Polly but the other characters never really do. She'll always try and keep up a front because she's trying to keep the family together ...

But the fun thing is that she's in charge definitely of the family. She might not be in charge of the business in the same way that Tommy (Cillian Murphy) is but she's in charge of the family and keeping them together. And with Tommy, she's probably the only person that Tommy speaks to as an equal and shares her secrets with. So it's fun because she's stylish, she's witty, she's strong but also there are consequences for all of her actions, so you don't feel that you're playing a cartoon character.

You've said that you've had trouble watching some of the more violent scenes.

Yeah. I think Steve has always been very, very adamant that when those scenes are filmed, that they should be brutal. He grew up in quite a tough area of Birmingham and I think he felt it was very important that those scenes of violence should be ugly, violence should be disgusting. It is disgusting and it should have consequences. Men who are involved with violence don't sleep at night. You know, there's a reason that these people often end up self-medicating - because to be a violent person is not the natural order of things. And I think he was very aware of that and he was very aware that you should want to look away. That is the healthy reaction from someone and so you try to avoid in any way glorifying it.

OF 'HOLIDAY FOR HEROES' ON HALLMARK MOVIES & MYSTERIES

What was the process of making "Holiday for Heroes" like for you?

We shot it in Mystic, Conn., from mid-January through February - and in the night scenes we shot, you can see that we were cold, and I love that. Some nights, we shot until 2 in the morning, and your mouth starts to freeze and you can't get the words out ... but I'd much rather be cold than hot.

I also love that this is not just a romantic movie, but it's also about the military. This was my first Hallmark experience, and it was truly one of the best professional experiences I've ever had. I feel pretty lucky to be part of the Hallmark family now.

You made "Holiday for Heroes" while on a break from your role as Chelsea on the CBS weekday serial "The Young and the Restless." What brought you back to that show?

I had left a few months prior (to making the movie). My contract was up, and there had been some changes in the writing, so I didn't want to renew at the time - but Josh Griffith is back as the head writer, so now, I am happy and I've been back on for about five months now.

The Hallmark channels' audiences and fans of daytime dramas seem to match up pretty well. Would you agree?

Absolutely. When I tweet or Instagram photos, the fans (in both areas) freak out, so it's such a similar fan base. And it's a real family and community in the Hallmark world.

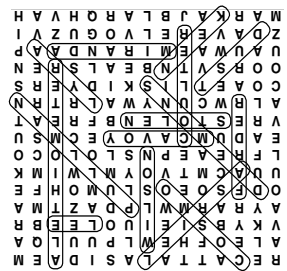

The same weekend the movie debuts, I'm doing an event called Christmas Con (in Edison, N.J.), and it's a convention of all these Christmas-y actors ... like Lacey Chabert and Cameron (Mathison), who's one of my closest friends. A bunch of the Hallmark people are going, so I'm excited for that, too.

There's little doubt that series star Jensen Ackles is going through a lot of complicated feelings as he shoots the 15th and final season of one of The CW's flagship shows. 9 p.m. on TBS

Conan

For the 11th time in four years, Conan O'Brien takes his show to a foreign destination in the new special episode "Conan Without Borders: Ghana." Joining O'Brien on this adventure, which was filmed last June, is former "Veep" cast member Sam Richardson, who will act as an informal cultural attaché for his host. That's only appropriate, given that Richardson's family hails from this African nation.

What's New NOW On amazon prime video

Coming Soon

November 3

“Unforgotten”

The third season of this British crime drama finds London detectives Cass Stuart and Sunny Khan (Nicola Walker, Sanjeev Bhaskar) investigating when the remains of a teen girl who went missing around the turn of the millennium turn up at a construction site, and suspicion falls on four men.

“Movie: A.I.: Artificial Intelligence”

Adapted and directed by Steven Spielberg from a concept by the late Stanley Kubrick, this 2001 fantasy proved darker than many moviegoers expected. Haley Joel Osment (“The Sixth Sense”) plays an artificially created boy brought home by a couple to take the place of their deceased child. Later abandoned by them, he’s mentored by an “older” robot (Jude Law).

“Movie: Astro Boy”

The classic Japanese cartoon gets an impressive stylistic update in this computer-animated retelling, featuring the voice of Freddie Highmore (“Finding Neverland”) as the title character, a robot designed in the image of its creator’s (voice of Nicolas Cage) son. While Astro Boy has great responsibility, he just wants to find his own place in the world. Charlize Theron, Samuel L. Jackson, Donald Sutherland and Kristen Bell also are heard.

“Movie: The Great Gabbo”

Viewers may be reminded of the 1978 horror film “Magic” when watching this musical from 1929 about an egotistical ventriloquist (Erich von Stroheim) who is possessed by his wooden dummy, which gives his lovelorn human handler advice on wooing the woman of his dreams. Betty Compson, Donald Douglas and Marjorie Kane also star.

“The Expanse” (Dec. 13)

A new chapter begins as the crew of the Rocinante embark on a mission from the U.N. to explore new worlds beyond the Ring Gate as the former Syfy series moves over to Amazon for its fourth season. Chad Allen, Cas Anvar, Steven Strait and Frankie Adams are among cast returnees. (ORIGINAL)

“Event Horizon” series (date TBA)

Amazon and Paramount Television are developing a series adaptation of the 1997 sci-fi horror film “Event Horizon,” about a deep-space vehicle that went to an evil dimension and returned with mind-warping powers. Adam Wingard (“Blair Witch”) will serve as executive producer and director. (ORIGINAL)

“Truth Seekers” (date TBA)

Nick Frost and Simon Pegg are executive producers and stars of this horror-comedy series about paranormal investigators who team up to uncover and film paranormal sightings across the U.K. (ORIGINAL)

“Bandish Bandits” (date TBA)

This romantic musical series from India follows the love story of two musicians of differing abilities and interests and from starkly contrasting backgrounds. (ORIGINAL) ## best of...

BY GEORGE DICKIE

"F Troop" (ABC, 1965-67) Movie veteran Forrest Tucker starred with Ken Berry and Larry Storch in this lightweight satire about the bumbling soldiers of Fort Courage, a fictional U.S. Army outpost in the Old West, and the indigenous tribe they befriended. In fact, TV trivia mavens will note that the Hekawis (a play on "Where the heck are we?") originally had a more salacious name that began with the letter F, but network censors figured out the reference and had it changed. Though the series lasted only two seasons on ABC, it ran for decades in syndication.
"The A-Team" (NBC, 1983-87) This action-adventure series about a ragtag band of ex-Special Ops-turned-soldiers of fortune not only resurrected the career of 1960s leading man George Peppard, made a star of brawny Mr. T and launched the 1980s-90s juggernaut that was Stephen J. Cannell Productions, but it also spawned a cottage T-shirt industry from such catchphrases as "I love it when a plan comes together," "Hannibal's on the jazz" and "I ain't gettin' on no plane." Its premiere after the 1983 Super Bowl garnered 26 percent of the viewing audience, fourth on Nielsen's all-time list.

"V: The Series" (NBC, 1984-85) Disguised as humans, carnivorous, lizardlike extraterrestrials known as "Visitors" invade Earth, and a small group of rebels band together to fight their fascist reign in this sci-fi allegory of the Nazis' takeover of Germany in the 1930s. Based on two highly regarded early '80s miniseries (and reimaged in 2009), this show was one of the most anticipated of the 1984-85 season, but cast trouble, cheesy special effects and a $1 million-per-episode cost doomed it to oblivion.

"The L Word" (Showtime, 2004-09) The "L" stood for lesbians, and they – and their sex lives – were front and center of this groundbreaking and often graphic drama about a group of gay, bisexual, transgender and straight people living in trendy West Hollywood. Well received by fans and critics, it featured first-rate acting talent, including "Flashdance" star Jennifer Beals, Oscar winner Marlee Matlin ("Children of a Lesser God"), Leisha Hailey, Pam Grier and Katherine Moennig.
