BAY MINETTE — Jennifer Mitchell, 41, has been in and out of prison on drug charges since she was 18.

"You can watch me grow up on the jail view, and that's sad," Mitchell said.

But for her, the cycle ended two years ago. Every day she makes a choice to do better. She has indeed done better by being resolute in her willingness to change and enroll in the Baldwin Day Reporting Center Lite Program in Bay Minette.

"It's kind of like having a job — this program is my job first," she said.

While initially she was apprehensive about the workload involved in the program, it quickly became an integral part of her life. She actively participated in each program required as a condition of parole.

After being released from prison the

Baldwin County May housing report

Days on market increases, new listings and closed sales decrease

STAFF REPORT

The real estate market continued to stabilize in Baldwin County this past month.

Baldwin REALTORS® Multiple Listing Service (MLS) reported year-over-year increases for May in average days on market, but the number of new listings and closed sales decreased for both traditional residential and resort/island-based properties in the county. Additionally, the traditional residential properties in the county continued to see slight average sales price increases, while the resort/island-based properties experienced a slight dip in sold prices in May.

In the resort area of Baldwin County (all of Orange Beach, Fort Morgan and anything in Gulf Shores south of Canal Road/180), average sales price saw a 1.9% decrease from May 2022, resulting in an average of $719,985. Listings spent more time on the market at an average of 68 days, compared to just 25 days the year prior. A decrease was reported in total closed sales as 198 properties sold in May 2023, compared to 248 in May 2022.

In Baldwin County's traditional residential area, average sales price experienced a 4.3% increase from May 2022 at $399,695. Properties stayed on market longer with an average of 51 days, which is 28 more days than the average a year ago. There were 132 less new listings

ORANGE BEACH — On June 12, Zeke's Restaurant became the vibrant backdrop for the eighth-annual Alabama Seafood Cook-Off, where seafood enthusiasts and industry professionals congregated to honor and celebrate the state's seafood industry.

It also provided a short road for the first-place trophy to find its new home after local chef Brody Olive of Voyagers at Perdido Beach Resort and sous chef Luis Silvestre took the top spot out of four finalists.

The achievement was rewarded with a prize of $2,500 and a distinguished plaque. The pair also qualified for a trip to New Orleans to compete at the national level of the Great American Seafood Cook-Off later this summer.

After Olive claimed the championship from the 2017 event, he led the litany of preparations for this year's competition.

"We've done a lot of fishing, a lot of bait collecting and a little bit of prep. We can't do too much before we get here," Olive said. "We're just here for a good time and to challenge ourselves to raise the bar a little bit."

Silvestre echoed his sentiments, stating, "We want to think outside of the box and do what nobody else is doing. That is what we want to do."

Drawing in a diverse crowd, this culinary event showcased the talents of four accomplished chef teams selected from a pool of recipes across the state. Representing culinary hotspots such as Magnolia Springs, Auburn, Birmingham and Orange Beach, these culinary virtuosos prepared their best dishes to have a chance at being named the champion.

As anticipation filled the air, the four chef teams meticulously crafted their creations, knowing their dishes would soon face the second time, Mitchell was determined to build a better life and never go back. An important ingredient to her success is her job at Waffle House, which worked with her to keep her position serving customers open upon release from prison. Through her interactions, she was able to build a loyal group of regular customers and was able to make enough money to purchase a car and sustain a living.

Her key to success: "It's not hard to be kind to people. Kindness doesn't cost a thing."

She shared an important moment of kindness she experienced from a dining couple. Mitchell had a broken front tooth due to a previous abusive relationship and made it a goal to have it repaired. While serving tables, a couple she had never met discretely wrote on a napkin she should go to the dentist. Initially, she was taken aback, but the couple wanted her to get in contact once making the consultation. She did and found out the couple had arranged to pay for her dental repairs.

After asking the dentist office why the couple wanted to pay, they gave the explanation that it was simply because she was so kind.

"Had I not been sober, doing the right thing and having a job, I wouldn't have received that blessing," she said.

Mitchell has a lot to live for outside of the walls of prison: a family, a job, hobbies and a life.

"I don't ever want to go back. I'm too old," she said.

Mitchell's story is an ideal example of the Day Reporting Center program serving its intended purpose. She mentioned multiple times how supportive employees at the program have been to her, telling Mitchell they're proud of her and providing the curriculum needed to continue her rehabilitation. While the success of a participant ultimately comes down to the choices of the individual, the resources for success are there.

"She was driven," Baldwin DRC Lite Administrator Joshua Davis said. "Talk is cheap, but there was something different about her."

Davis commended her ability to keep appointments and hold herself accountable.

Don't give up. Keep pushing. These were the words she gave future DRC participants. You must want positive change and productive habits. You can't make excuses, and you must chase the goals set for you. Having now graduated the program, Mitchell sits in on future DRC classes and encourages participants with her advice and experiences.

"I'm proud of how she helped the others be accountable," Baldwin DRC Lite Psychological Associate Valencia Cureton said. "She called them out if they were wrong."

"Drugs, drugs, drugs - I chose them over everything," Mitchell said. "Not today."

By having the willingness and want to change, every day refusing to live the old way, she unlocks a new and better life.

Chief Meteorologist Alan Sealls

When I wrote about Tropical Storm Arlene last week, you may have had flashbacks to a different Tropical Storm Arlene. Tropical Storm Arlene in 2005 arrived on our coast on June 11, with a landfall along the Alabama-Florida line. Not only was it a strong tropical storm, with maximum steady wind of 70mph, but it created more anxiety than usual, landing 9 months after the devastation of Hurricane Ivan. That 2005 Arlene also preceded Hurricane Katrina by 2 months. The name Arlene, like all other tropical storm and hurricane names, is recycled every six years. Only if a storm is devastating or expensive is the name retired. Early season storms are generally not overly intense so we may keep hearing that name. Given that Arlene is the A storm, there's been one every six years since 1981. They've occurred in the Gulf, Caribbean, and Atlantic. Half made landfall somewhere. Arlene storms have formed as early as May, and as late as August. Most had short lives, but some lasted over a week. One became a hurricane. That tells us that the same-named storm has no connection to previous storms with the same name. In 6 years, we'll find out how the next Arlene behaves!

discerning palates of four esteemed individuals from the food industry. Fans gathered outside to watch the teams carefully prepare their dishes, listen to live music and watch the delivery of each meticulously prepared dish to the awaiting judges.

Jim Smith, founder and executive chef of The Hummingbird Way in Mobile and chairman of the Alabama Seafood Marketing Commission, said he was excited to be back at the cook-off, this time as a judge. Smith previously has taken home the win, and The Hummingbird Way founder said he looks for specific things in a dish as a judge.

“The first thing I want to make sure of is that everything is prepared correctly,” Smith said. “Once I realize that fish is cooked properly, then it becomes more of a question of creativity, combination of ingredients and what really showcases the Alabama seafood in the best way.”

After an intense hour of culinary finesse, the judges

Agency to host dementia-friendly memory cafe

kara@gulfcostmedia.com

The Area Agency on Aging will host a memory café on June 21 for those affected by memory loss or related cognitive changes.

The event, held in Robertsdale from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the Baldwin County Annex Revenue Commission Auditorium, will offer complimentary snacks and arts activities for both caregivers and care partners.

Della Sanchez, Alabama Cares coordinator, said the café is designed to make those living with dementia more comfortable so they can enjoy time with friends and family.

“Each café will be free of charge and should include an activity and snack for participants,” Sanchez said. “For caregivers and care partners, the café is a much-needed break and a chance to have fun together without focusing on the disease.”

The event will be overseen by South Alabama Regional Planning Commission staff, who are all licensed clinical and master's level social workers trained in dementia caregiving.

“We also recently received a Dementia Care Specialist certification,” Sanchez said. “We have also arranged for an art therapist to lead the class in an art project using pastels and other mediums.

It will be a fun way to relax with art.”

According to Sanchez, there are plans to hold another memory café event at First Baptist Church in Foley on July 27.

“Caregivers and their partners will truly enjoy the experience,” Sanchez said. “It is a nice way to take a break from your regular daily routine.”

USS Alabama's original wood deck being turned into items for purchase

STAFF REPORT

MOBILE — Battleship Memorial Park is recently announced the original WWII teak deck of the USS Alabama is available for purchase. Anyone will now have the opportunity to bring a piece of the USS Alabama home.

After over 80 years of wear, the battleship deck required replacement. Beginning in 2022, Battleship Memorial Park's three-year teak deck replacement project was underway. Since then, contracting crews have completed nearly three of five phases.

"Replacing our World War II teak deck is a three-year, $8.5 million project. Whatever is paid for an item of BB-60 teak will go into our teak deck account. Maintenance of the battleship, submarine and park exhibits is expensive. We work those requirements simultaneously with the teak deck project. The Battleship Commission is pleased that the public can finally purchase a part of the "Mighty A," said Maj. Gen. Janet Cobb, USA (Ret.), the park's executive director.

The worn original planks will come in the form of pens, coins, coasters, plaques, magnets, cutouts and blocks varying in size. Customers have the option to make their purchase in-store or via phone/email. Larger dimensions of the unfinished teak planks will also be sold by the linear foot by appointment only. All proceeds will go directly to the funding of teak deck replacement project.

"As a memorial, it is our duty to honor all veterans, both past and present, as well as to educate the public," a press release stated. "Each year, the United States loses more and more WWII veterans. By bringing a piece of the USS Alabama home, younger generations can continue to carry on its legacy and value the sacrifices that were made by those heroic servicemen and women."

For more information, visit Battleship Memorial Park's website at <https://www.ussalabama.com/teak-deck-project/> or call the Ship's store at (251) 432-0261. Emails related to purchases can also be sent to shipsstore@ussalabama.com.

USA MOUNTAIN BIKE TRAILS

There are many trails to explore within the state parks listed above, but there is also a system of popular mountain biking trails on the campus of University of South Alabama in Mobile. Created by the South Alabama Mountain Biking Association, the trails are listed as some of the top in the state of Alabama and are said to be good for beginners to intermediate riders. There are over 23 miles of trails located next to a student residential area on the USA campus. The trails are closed between 7 p.m. to 5 a.m. for security reasons and are free to the public. The trailhead car park is immediately north of the football practice facilities off Planton Lane and S. Waringwood Drive just to the west of the main campus. To access a map and more information, visit trailforks.com.

Amateur Radio Field Day is part educational, operating, public service event

STAFF REPORT

The largest annual, remote, on-the-air event for amateur radio will return later this month.

K4MZ, the Robertsdale-based Baldwin County Amateur Radio Club, will be participating in the ARRL Field Day this year at the Silver Creek Boy Scout Camp in Silverhill, 16914 Co Rd 52, Silverhill, AL, 36576.

Club members will once again set up temporary radio stations/antennas and generators to support their effort to reach out to other amateur radio operators, "hams," all across the U.S.

and Canada. Local "hams" will be available for questions about their hobby; and to explain how the amateur radio community assists local emergency agencies with communications during environmental disasters, such as hurricanes.

Ham radio has always been for the exchange of non-commercial messages, wireless experimentation, education and emergency communication. During the event, as an added incentive to amateur operators, points can be earned for each radio contact, with added bonus points for making use of alternative power sources such as solar panels and wind powered/charged batteries. Even bouncing a signal off of one of the many amateur radio satellites, or the ISS, garners extra points. Amateur radio clubs compete with each other based on these earned points and other categories. The size of the club, the number of radio stations manned and the level of radio signal power all affects their scores. There is nothing like a little competition to get folks involved.

Amateur radio makes use of radio frequencies allocated by the FCC for the exclusive use of amateur radio.

There are many allocations covering very low to very high frequencies. These "bands" require the amateur radio operator to be skilled at creating an antenna(s) that work well on many transmit and receive frequencies. Choosing the right antenna, the right frequency and at the right time of day all increase the chance of a completed contact.

Radio contacts will be logged, converted to a computer file and then submitted to the amateur radio national organization, the ARRL (American Radio Relay League), along with statements of how the equipment was setup and powered.

Scores are awarded later and published in the ARRL's monthly magazine.

Since the first ARRL Field Day in 1933, radio amateurs throughout North America have practiced the rapid deployment of their radio communications equipment into environments ranging from tents in remote areas, vacant shelters, and/or county, state and federal Emergency Operations Centers (EOCs).

During the field day exercise, operations using emergency and alternative power sources are highly encouraged, since electricity and other public infrastructures are often among the first to fail during a natural disaster or severe weather. There will be times when the amateur radio community will be called upon by the local county emergency management agencies to aid in establishing emergency communication for first responders and EMA officials.

The public is encouraged to come, watch and listen.

It will be hot, so cold drinks will be available starting at noon on Saturday.

Harrison earns Fairhope's first Miss Softball honor

South Alabama signee one of 14 Baldwin County players named all-state by Alabama Sports Writers Association

For the first time in the history of the award, a Fairhope athlete was named Miss Softball by the Alabama Sports Writers Association when South Alabama signee Ryley Harrison was bestowed the honor Sunday, June 11.

Harrison helped the Pirates back to a second Class 7A state championship game in the last three years where Fairhope took home another Red Map Trophy as state runners-up.

By the end of the season, Harrison registered a 26-1 record in the pitcher's circle with a 0.74 ERA and 275 strikeouts as part of 17 shutouts, 3 no-hitters and 3 perfect games. Not only that, but she also compiled a .474 batting average to go along with 20 home runs, 76 RBIs and a .572 on-base percentage which helped create a 1.580 OPS.

For her efforts, Harrison was also recognized as the Class 7A player of the year and earned a spot on the first-team all-state. She was joined in representing Fairhope by junior Jesslyn Gordon who was named an all-state honorable mention. Gordon, a recent Spring Hill College commit, was also named to the all-state tournament team as well as earned a spot on the North-South All-Star roster.

BALDWIN COUNTY PLACES 14 ON ALL-STATE TEAMS

The pair of Fairhope Pirates marked two of 14 local players named to all-state teams for their classification by the ASWA.

The Class 6A state semifinalist Spanish Fort Toros led the way with four all-state selections as well as the classification's coach of the year in Barclay Kercher.

The Class 4A state champion Orange Beach Makos garnered four first-team all-state selections, all of whom were still underclassmen this spring. A pair of underclassmen standouts from the Daphne Trojans also earned first-team all-state distinction in Class 7A after their run to the state tournament.

Both Baldwin County (Class 6A) and Gulf Shores (Class 5A) registered one all-state recognition where the Tigers had a first teamer and the Dolphins earned a second-team nod.

'Food Truck Race' starts historic season of competition

After 15 seasons, "The Great Food Truck Race" is ready for a shakeup. With eight new episodes and higher-than-ever stakes, this special edition series will — for the first time — pit returning champions and industry professionals against some very talented up-and-coming rookies from across the country — all food truck novices. Their toughest challenge yet, "The Great Food Truck Race: David vs. Goliath," premieres Sunday, June 18, on Food Network.

Representing cuisines from all over the world — from Jamaican tacos and Pakistani street foods to elevated vegan dishes — this season's chefs hail from pop-ups, specialty spots and traditional restaurant kitchens alike, each prepared to face some of "TGFTR's" toughest food-truckers yet.

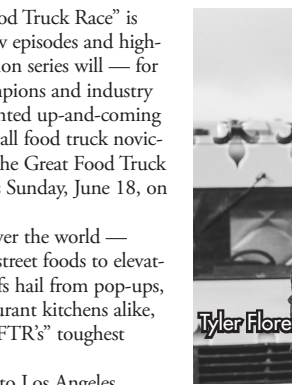

"Tyler welcomes the nine teams to Los Angeles, where the food truck business is booming and cut-throat," shared Food Network in a sneak peek of the season's first episode. "With five talented rookie teams who have never owned or operated a food truck and four teams of seasoned pros, this 'David vs. Goliath' battle gives each business the once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to establish themselves in the country's food truck capital."

They go on to explain that: "For the first challenge, the teams must make a jaw-dropping dish that not only defines them as a business — but also demonstrates they are ready to compete at a high culinary level." From there, the teams "hit the baseball field to serve Little League players and their families," joined by Mookie Betts of the L.A. Dodgers.

As the season continues, the teams will be asked to

'Food Truck Race' starts historic season of competition

make dishes inspired by the menus at chef Antonia Lofaso's well-known L.A.-based restaurants (Black Market Liquor Bar, DAMA and Scopa Italian Roots) and create masterpieces delicious enough to satisfy guest judges, chefs Jet Tila and Joe Sasto, along with last season's winner, Señoreata's Evanie Holz. Outside of the kitchen, the chefs must put their business savvy to the test, drawing crowds through social media and exercising their best and most effective selling techniques.

Parked in the city's business epicenter, these truck-runners are not only fighting against each other but also against a hectic flow of hungry people passing by, looking for a delicious meal on the quick. Fast-paced as ever, one team will be eliminated each episode, leaving only two to go head-to-head in a battle for the winning title and a $50,000 grand prize.

OF IT'S ALWAYS SUNNY IN PHILADELPHIA ON FXX, HULU

Q: Now that you're in the 16th season of "It's Always Sunny in Philadelphia," how do you feel about the vast variety of things you've been asked to do in your time on the show?

A: I get thrown out of windows. I come out of couches naked. I bleed all over everything. I've done everything. I mean, not everything ... because there are probably going to be other things. If anybody thinks of anything that they want to see me do, you can write to (the producers), and if it's outrageous enough, they'll put it in the show.

Q: Has the era of political correctness made it tougher to do some of the bawdy humor the show is known for?

A: The main thing about that is respect. There's funny and then there's abusive. There's jokes, and everybody kids each other about stuff - but when there's the violation of personal space, then I think you're in a big mess. To a certain degree, I don't think I've ever changed anything. Women need to be heard and listened to and that's great, but I really don't feel like the majority of the comedians in the world who poke fun at themselves and each other are abusive. I don't think that's the case. There are rare cases of that, and they've come to the surface.
