Business license denied a 2nd time

Owner change,
new business are denied by Foley council

By ALLISON WOODHAM

After two attempts, the business at 1021 N. Hickory St. in Foley, that was previously B&R Tires Automotive and B&R Auto Depot, remains out of business. In December, Foley City Council voted to revoke the business license of B&R from Klifton Adam Bond and Amanda Rawson Bond, with evidence that Bond was trafficking drugs out of his business.

At that council meeting, Attorney Casey Pipes stated that a different person can reapply for a business license in the city of Foley at that same location. The application would be treated like any other new business license in Foley.

On Dec. 14, Amanda Bond applied for an owner change for B&R Tires Automotive. The business had only been in her husband's name before. At the Dec. 19, council meeting, Foley council denied the request.

On Dec. 28, an individual applied for a new business license for Saily's Tire and Auto Repair LLC at 1021 N. Hickory St.

Silverhill Council discusses concerns about town's volunteer fire department

By JOHN UNDERWOOD
john@gulfcoastmedia.com

SILVERHILL — Much of the discussion at the Tuesday, Jan. 17 meeting of the Silverhill Town Council centered around the town's volunteer fire department.

It was announced during the meeting that the town's fire chief, Gary Patrick, who has served nearly four decades in that capacity, had taken a voluntary leave of absence. Reasons for the leave of absence were not discussed during the meeting.

"He has not resigned and we have not received any letter expressing his desire to resign," said fire department volunteer George Watters. "I have talked with him repeatedly trying to get him to Foley Police Department responded to Freeman Collision on 225 E. Laurel Ave. at approximately 12:45 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 19.

Susan Kotkiewicz, 56, who has a history of stalking a male employee at Freeman Collision, was parked across the street in the State Farm parking lot.

KOTKIEWICZ

When she observed the male employee in the bay of Freeman Collision she proceeded to accelerate attempting to run over the male employee. As she rapidly accelerated crossing Cypress Street from the parking lot, she collided with a silver Camry, an unintended northbound vehicle.

The Camry slammed into the building and the suspect's vehicle collided with a parked vehicle that was also pushed into the building. The intended male victim was unharmed.

The driver of the silver Camry was transported to South Baldwin Regional Medical Center (SBRMC) with serious injuries.

From SBRMC, she was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital in Pensacola.

At the Jan. 17 council meeting, Council President Wayne Trawick asked for the recommendation from the Foley Police Department and Foley Fire Department for recommendations regarding this new business.

“I would like to comment,” Police Chief David Wilson said. “Based on the applicant’s lack of cooperation with the police department on our processes, I would recommend they not move forward.”

During the work session, Wilson mentioned the applicant was not returning calls and emails.

“At this point, I can say assuredly, she’s blowing us off,” he said. “... And there’s questions we have and she will not come in and cooperate.”

Deputy Fire Chief Chad Brewer said the fire department had no issue with the business license approval, but there were open deficiencies as far as an inspection that would need to be complete before the business opened.

Councilman Ralph Hellmich made a motion at the council meeting.

“Based on the recommendations — if at some point, they can work things out, we can move forward with the individual that comes forward — I make a motion we deny the business license at this time,” he said. Seconded by Councilman Charlie Ebert, the council unanimously denied the business license for Saily’s.

come back, but he is still on a leave of absence.”

Watters was introduced during the meeting as the acting fire chief. Mayor Tim Wilson confirmed on Wednesday that, during a meeting held Tuesday after the council meeting, the fire department voted to appoint Josh Rice as acting chief.

Several concerns between Wilson, council members and volunteers present were discussed during the council meeting.

“This department is broken,” Watters said, “and I believe it is largely because of the micromanagement of the department from people outside the department who do not understand how the department works.”

Council members Jared Lyles and Wayne Gruenloh both expressed their concern over that statement saying that the council is only acting in the best interests of the town.

“First and foremost I want to say that we understand and appreciate what you do for the town,” Gruenloh said. “There might be things going on behind the scenes that we don’t know about, but from the town council’s perspective, I don’t think it’s an issue of micromanagement. Our actions are taken out of concern for the department and the community.”

Watters addressed concerns over proper equipment maintenance and concerns over the department being short-handed.

“We currently have about 20 on our roster, but only about six on average show up for calls,” he said. “As far as the equipment issues, as far as I know we have never had an issue with equipment failure and we might have had a few minor injuries, but we’ve never had any major injuries. The main issue is that we’ve been shorthanded and had to call in other departments for support.”

Last year, Watters said, the department handled nearly 300 calls and has responded to 16 calls already in 2017.

“I don’t think you’re going to find a more dedicated group of people,” he said. “We all have jobs and we all work hard, but when a call comes in at 4 in the morning, we get up and we go without complaint.”

Another issue expressed is the department utilizing volunteers that do not live within the town’s police jurisdiction.

“There is currently an ordinance on our books that states that volunteers must live within the police jurisdiction,” Wilson said, “and as long as that is in the ordinance, it needs to be enforced.”

Watters disagreed with the issue, stating that there were volunteers that joined when they lived within the town’s police jurisdiction that chose to remain with the department when they moved outside the police jurisdiction.

“Those volunteers are still a vital part of our department,” he said. “I want someone to show me what we have to gain by enforcing this ordinance, because I don’t see a benefit.”

Wilson said the council is currently considering a modification to the ordinance allowing volunteers to live within the town’s fire district, which in some areas extends beyond the town’s police jurisdiction, which extends 1 ½ miles outside the town limits.

Concerns were also expressed over the appointment of a new fire chief. According to the ordinance, Wilson said, the council has the right to appoint a new chief if the position is vacant.

Wilson stated after the meeting that he would like Patrick to continue in the position of chief and the appointment of a new chief would only happen if Patrick decides he does not want to continue in that capacity.

“Our task is to appoint the most qualified person for that position,” Wilson said, “and there is no one more qualified than Gary Patrick.”

The town council passed two resolutions at the Tuesday evening council meeting the first regarding a checking account for the fire department and the second regarding a bank credit card for the town, to be used by the fire department.

The first resolution moved the checking account for the fire department from Regions Bank to Citizens Bank to take advantage of better rates, Wilson said.

The second resolution closed the town’s credit account with Regions Bank and opened up a credit account at United Bank in Silverhill. Wilson said the town would be acquiring a pre-paid debit card that would be used to make petty-cash purchases for the fire department.

In other business an ordinance concerning the use of golf carts within the town limits was introduced to the council was introduced during the Jan. 17 meeting.

The ordinance was proposed following the passage of a statewide legislative amendment in November, allowing municipalities to set their own ordinance regarding the usage of golf carts.

Police Chief Kevin Brock said the ordinance was formulated based on ordinances from other municipalities.

According to the ordinance, golf carts must meet minimum safety standards (equipped with working headlights, taillights, seat belts and other safety features), must be properly insured and operated by a licensed driver over the age of 16.

“Companies who manufacture golf carts are ahead of this issue,” Brock said, “and all new golf carts already have the proper equipment. If the golf cart has a VIN number, it should meet the proper standards. My concern is with older golf carts that may not be properly equipped.”

Wilson asked all council members to review the ordinance and request any changes that need to be made to present the ordinance for passage at a future meeting.

The council also discussed with property owner Gil Barnard regarding helping provide water service for his subdivision on County Road 48 and West Boulevard.

After discussing several logistical points about what would be provided by the town and what would be provided by Barnard, council members asked Barnard to contact the town’s attorney — who was not present at Tuesday’s meeting — to draw up a contract.

North Baldwin Chamber Foundation donates to projects

By TINA COVINGTON
For The Onlooker

BAY MINETTE — The North Baldwin Chamber Foundation presented $3,600 to the City of Bay Minette to support the Bay Minette in Bloom campaign and the installation of an additional Welcome to Bay Minette sign.

Foundation Secretary/Treasurer Ben Hansert and Foundation Executive Director Ashley Davis made the presentation to Mayor Bob Wills and J.J. Hall with the Bay Minette Beautification Committee.

The “Bay Minette in Bloom” campaign began in 2013 as a way to bring beautiful hanging baskets to downtown Bay Minette. The project has continued to blossom under the guidance of the North Baldwin Chamber Foundation, which continues to raise funds to install and maintain the Bay Minette in Bloom hanging baskets.

For a donation of $250, individuals or businesses can sponsor a basket display which consists of one pole with two hanging baskets. Sponsorships are then renewable each year for $150 to help with the upkeep of the basket. Sponsorships can be made in memory or honor of someone and a sign will be hung at a basket location upon request of the donor.

Since its inception the “Bay Minette in Bloom” project has raised more than $16,000 for the project. For more information about making a donation or becoming a sponsor, contact the North Baldwin Chamber Foundation at 251-937-5665 or visit its website at northbaldwinchamber.com.

One of the new “Welcome to Bay Minette” signs is already complete at the intersection of Hand Avenue and McMeans Avenue/287. Plans are already in the works to replace the “Welcome to Bay Minette” signs in Douglasville and on U.S. Highway 31 South and to add a new sign on U.S. Highway 31 North. The North Baldwin Chamber of Commerce on McMeans Avenue will also receive new signage on McMeans Avenue.

Falcons top Packers to claim NFC Championship

THE ATLANTA FALCONS ARE THE 2016-17 NFC CHAMPIONS after a dominating 44-21 win over the Green Bay Packers. Falcons' head coach Dan Quinn was cautious of the red-hot Packers who were on an eight-game win streak, including a win over the No. 1 NFC seed Dallas Cowboys last week.

MICHAEL HANICH
Sports Analysis

Before the game started, the Falcons had the edge with all their role players but they still had to contain the high power passing of Packers' quarterback Aaron Rodgers.

Falcons' quarterback Matt Ryan and Rodgers are in contention for 2016 NFL MVP so the game could be a factor for the award.

Ryan accounted for 27 completions (out of 38 attempts) for 392 yards (an average of 10.3 yards), four passing touchdowns and one rushing touchdown.

Falcons' wide receiver and former Foley Lion Julio Jones had another big game despite multiple injuries with nine receptions for 180 yards and two touchdowns.

Jones dismantled the Packers' secondary with out routes and a 73-yard touchdown.

Atlanta dominated the Packers in every major category. They had 493 total yards while Green Bay had 367 total yards.

The Falcons averaged 7.2 yards per play while Green Bay averaged 5.7 yards per play. Of the 60-minute game, Atlanta had possession 11 minutes and eight seconds more than Green Bay.

In the first half the Falcons held the ball for 20 minutes, two seconds while the Packers only held the ball for 9 minutes, 58 seconds.

Atlanta's defense played surprisingly well against Rodgers and the Packers offense.

The Falcons were 27th in the league in points allowed per game this season.

So when Atlanta only allowed 127 total yards and shut out Green Bay in the first half, they proved they are Super Bowl contenders.

Robert Alford had five tackles and three pass deflections. Ra'Shede Hageman had three tackles, one sack, three tackles for loss, one quarterback hit and Ricardo Allen snagged an interception from Rodgers.

The Packers needed to have their pass defense play more efficiently.

The Packers were 31st in the NFL in passing yards allowed

Spanish Fort holds memorial for coach Akins

GCM SPORTS

SPANISH FORT — A memorial service tribute was held Sunday afternoon for Spanish Fort High girls varsity basketball coach Thad Akins who died Thursday night in an auto accident near Fort Deposit.

"Though he's only been at our school for two years, the impact he's had on our students and our teachers is one of a coach who has been here for his entire coaching career," said Spanish Fort High School Principal Brian Williamson.

Alabama High School Athletic Association Executive Director Steve Savarese added his concerns from Montgomery:

"The AHSAA is saddened to learn of the untimely death of Spanish Fort High School coach and teacher Thad Akins. Our thoughts and prayers go out to his family. We are heartbroken and also send our deepest condolences and prayers to the entire Spanish Fort community."

The school and community also held a candle light vigil for the 43-year-old teacher and coach Friday night. Those in attendance lit candles in remembrance of Akins who also served SFHS as an assistant baseball and football coach.

Students, players and colleagues took turns sharing how Akins impacted them.

It ain't all it's cracked up to be

IT HAS BEEN TEN YEARS since we made landfall from our three-year sojourn in the sailing vessel Starchaser. Yet when people hear about it, they are all a-twitter with questions and curiosity about what cruising and living aboard are all about. After answering their questions, the next one is the most difficult, "Why don't you write about it?" In short, it ain't all it's cracked up to be.

I have succumbed. This is it. I am writing about it. If your dream is to sail away and live forever cruising the blue, calm waters of the Caribbean, or the world's oceans, visiting exotic ports, and even more exotic, secluded anchorages off tiny, uncharted islands, catching your own lobster which are cooked right out of the water, drinking your favorite beverage while dining and watching the sun set on another perfect day, while you listen to Jimmy Buffet, stop right there. Do not read any further. That is the dream, but a dream is not reality. I'm telling you, it ain't all it's cracked up to be.

Sailing is hard work. You see these idyllic pictures of a tanned couple dressed in clean, crisp, white outfits, standing at the helm of an immaculate sailboat, smiling with a glass of wine in hand, and saying something like, "Now, bring me that horizon," a 'la Captain Jack Sparrow. That is not the reality.

A cruising vessel, if it has been to sea longer than a couple of days is not clean and uncluttered. There is all manner of gear lashed to the deck, all salt encrusted, and all a daily necessity. The idyllic, smiling couple will look as salty as the gear on deck. The outfits are no longer crisp or white. If they have not been dumped in favor of cut-offs and t-shirts, if that much, they will now be sweat soaked, grease and food stained, and will smell like the bilge.

If there are only two of you and you are making a several days crossing, you are likely to be sailing in four-hour watches, which do not allow for much sleep, and even basic personal hygiene is abandoned. Showering on a pitching, rolling boat is almost out of the question even if you have the water on board to take one.

After four hours of standing watch, the only thing you want to do is lie down, and as soon as you do, you're out... cold until the Admiral hollers, "I need you up here, QUICK!" It is usually minor, sometimes not, but the adrenalin is surging, and sleep of any sort is now only a wish.

DAVID ATWOOD
Points of the Compass

Put two little girls, a dog, and two frogs into this mix, and there is no way you are ever going to capture the attention of the ad agency that took the idyllic, white outfitted photo. You soon realize why sailors are characterized as surly, unshaven, and ill kept. It is now embarrassingly clear where, and how, the term "cusses like a sailor" came about.

In your cruising dream, if you imagine hours of lounging at anchor reading a book, swimming, or resting, if you are the captain, forget it. Your time at anchor will be spent repairing all the stuff that broke on the crossing while the Admiral and the Princesses do all the things they dreamed of... washing dishes, doing laundry, re-supplying, and handing me tools.

As captain of a sailing vessel, you are ultimately responsible for everything. You are plumber, carpenter, electrician, rigger, painter, mechanic, minister, doctor/nurse, meteorologist, navigator, hydrologist, sail maker, and all around encyclopedia. Heaven help you if you ever say the words, "I don't know." If you do, you might as well get off at the next port and give the boat away. Your credibility with the crew is shot.

You must be these things because, in the middle of the big, blue, wet thing, there is no roadside assistance or anyone likely to pass near if you break down. You are on your own. At sea, as captain, there is God, then you. He will help, but the decisions and work are all on you.

There comes a point when you wear down and instead of settling in some exotic locale that you dreamed of, you end up in Fairhope, Alabama... never a sweeter place on

A tribute to Governor Albert Brewer

THE PASSING OF GOVERNOR ALBERT BREWER ON JAN. 2 AT 88 YEARS OLD, marks the passing of an era in Alabama politics.

Albert P. Brewer was a good man and a true public servant. Brewer was born in Tennessee, but his folks moved to Decatur when he was very young after his father accepted a job with the Tennessee Valley Authority.

STEVE FLOWERS
Inside the Statehouse

He graduated from Decatur High School with honors, then matriculated to the University of Alabama where he earned his undergraduate and law degrees. Brewer returned to Decatur to begin his law practice. Soon thereafter he was elected to the Alabama Legislature at the ripe old age of 25. He was elected without opposition three times and during his third term he became Speaker of the House. Brewer was the youngest Speaker in state history. In 1966, he beat two prominent state senators without a runoff to win the lieutenant governor's job, which was much more powerful than it is today.

During his tenure as Speaker and Lt. Governor, either George or Lurleen Wallace was Governor. Brewer was a Wallace ally. When Gov. Lurleen Wallace died of cancer after only 16 months in office, Brewer ascended to the Governor's office. He quickly and decisively took the reins of state government and became immediately effective. His years in the legislature gave him a keen insight into the machinations of state government. He was very well liked among the legislators and senators he had worked with over the past 15 years and therefore was extremely successful with his legislative agenda. He became a working governor.

Although Brewer was governor for only 33 months, he accomplished more as governor than most of his successors over the past 30 years combined. Brewer brought a low key businesslike style to the governor's office, which was strikingly different than George Wallace's racist flamboyant rhetoric and cronyism.

In 1970, Brewer and George Wallace squared off in what is the most memorable classic and pivotal governor's race in Alabama political history. Brewer led Wallace by a slim margin in the first primary. However, Wallace, with his political life on the line, played the race card overtly in the runoff and defeated Brewer by a narrow margin.

Most political observers believe that had Brewer won, Alabama would have joined other southern states like North Carolina and Florida who had elected progressive pro-business governors. Brewer is often referred to as Alabama's "New South" Governor.

He was a prince of a fellow and a good friend for over 50 years. I first met Governor Brewer when I was a young 13-year-old page in the State Legislature and he was Speaker of the House. My mentor was the State Representative from my home in Pike County. Mr. Gardner Bassett had been in the House for 24 years and was in his 70's. He was training me to take his House seat once I was old enough. Mr. Gardner adored and admired the young Speaker Albert Brewer. He got Brewer and I acquainted and we became friends. Brewer would let me sit next to him in the Speaker's box as he explained how he assigned bills to their proper committee. When Brewer became Lt. Governor in 1967, I was 15 and he made me head of the pages in the Senate. His daughters Becky and Allison served with me as Pages.

Gov. Brewer spent the last 30 years of his life teaching and mentoring law students at Samford University's Cumberland School of Law. He was a mentor to my daughter, Ginny, while she was in law school at Cumberland, and followed her legal career as if she was his own daughter. Last January, Ginny and I ran into Gov. Brewer at a Birmingham restaurant. He was aging but still had that keen smile and twinkle in his eye.

Gov. Brewer and I had remained good friends over the years and he is featured prominently in my book, Of Goats and Governors: Six Decades of Colorful Political Stories. Thus, it is appropriate that the last time I visited with him was at a book signing in Bessemer. We later had lunch together at the Bright Star. As I close this column I am looking at a photo of Gov. Brewer and me from that day that adorns the wall of my office, with his ever present smile.

Albert Brewer has a special place in Alabama political history and in the hearts of many.

See you next week.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

A response to recent editorial on taxes

At the federal, state, county and city levels, tax-paying citizens have lost faith and confidence in government entities to fairly, honestly and efficiently spend the tax dollars that those entities extract from the public.

Too many tax dollars are wasted in inefficient government operation, miss-spent on frivolous and/or overreaching actions by government and/or stolen by dishonest politicians.

Politicians have increasingly been unable to satisfactorily explain their hunger for more and more taxpayer dollars.

Facing pushback from the voters, the politicians are now resorting to trying to trick the voters into approving new taxes with obfuscated wording on State Constitutional amendments, besmirching tax-payers attitudes or bypassing the voters entirely in levying taxes like the Baldwin County Commission recently did.

Unless and until city, county and state politicians come clean with the voters and justify more taxation, they will continue to get push-back from tax-payers.

Meme's Restaurant

THERE ARE A FEW PEOPLE AROUND who remember eating at the world famous seafood restaurant named Meme's at the end of Highway 49 right on the Bon Secour River. It is now a part of the folklore of Baldwin County. If you are in the Bon Secour area, chances are you will smell a pot of gumbo simmering (not boiling) on a stove somewhere. But are those smells from this day and time or from more than fifty years ago?

OUTLAW
Local Folklore

Amelia Swift was one of the 11 children raised in the historic Swift Coles Home in Bon Secour by Charles and Susan Swift who ran the Swift Lumber Company. Meme, as she was known, married Charles Wakeford and they built a reputation as the finest seafood cooks in the south. During World War II they lived in the original house and were said to have hosted many a seafood fest for the military personnel stationed at nearby Fort Morgan and Barin Field. This was their contribution to the war effort on the home front, giving the boys a taste of southern hospitality. The kitchen in the Big House was always full of laughter and there was always something cooking on that old wood stove.

After the war, they decided to move into one of the fishing cabins on the river and then they ran a post office from one room of their home. People often came in and asked where they could buy good oysters, so they opened a small oyster bar in 1953. Soon it grew into a full service seafood restaurant and little did they dream the heritage they would build there. At first, the restaurant was in a cement block building and later a River Room was built over the water. Boaters could dock right at the front door, and it was advertised accessible by "good" roads. Dirt roads and pot holes only added to the charm of the destination and many famous people made the trek to dine on the best gumbo ever made. It was at first made by a French Creole cook, but once when she was ill, Charley stepped in and used the recipe he had learned from Meme's mother who he called "The Madam." He used her spoon that was flat on the bottom due to years of stirring the rich gumbo, and the diners raved so much that recipe was used from that time on. Charley made it known that good gumbo must be cooked very, very slowly (never boiled) and stirred almost constantly.

The menu lists a deviled crab dinner for $3.50 and a seafood platter cost a whopping $4.00, with drinks and dessert included. One specialty was broiled oysters on toast and another was "Fish Baked in a Sack." The gumbo could be shipped frozen to almost anywhere.

Meme's became a hot spot for political gatherings and a few election campaigns were kicked off there. The menu had a list of famous people who had graced her doors, including most of the governors of Alabama during her years of operation. Listed are guests from all fifty states and more than 53 foreign countries, including His Royal Highness The Prince of Durrani, Hessian.

After Charley died, Meme continued to run the restaurant with the assistance of Rose Weeks, who stayed on as Meme's caretaker after the restaurant closed. It seems the restaurant never opened back up after the devastation of Hurricane Frederic in 1979.

There are now no remains of the restaurant on the grounds of the Bon Secour Fisheries (which now owns the private property) except maybe the concrete slab. The ruins of the house stood for years as a reminder of the horrible storm that changed all who were here then. But that is another story... In the meantime, take a whiff of that delicious gumbo simmering on the wood stove somewhere along the river – maybe it is from the Tin Top, which is building a legacy of its own.

Meme and Charley Wakeford wrote a book entitled, Food, Fun, and Fable, available at the Swift Coles Historic Home. There are recipes, historical anecdotes and stories included.

Special thanks to Judy Roberds and the other members of the Higbee family who saved a copy of a menu from Meme's. What a treasure! Harriet Outlaw is a local folklorist and storyteller, author of several publications.

Beating those winter blues

THIS PAST SUMMER, my son moved to a new job in Grand Rapids, Michigan. His aunt who had lived in the Michigan area for ten years told my son to buy a sun lamp, enroll in a local gym, and buy plenty of happy music to use during the long winter months in Michigan.

My son now understands with all the winter snow and ice why his aunt recommended the three ingredients of light, exercise, and happy music to survive the winter months.

BETH PINYERD
Senior Spotlight

Too, family has encouraged him by telling him, "May is Coming!"

In working with the elderly, I wanted to offer some simple suggestions that I have gleaned from healthcare professionals and my senior friends on how to survive the winter time blues. I hope these help my Senior friends and caregivers.

1. When there is sunshine go drink it up! Open up curtains and blinds and let the sunshine in! Too, when there are warmer, sunshine days, go and take a walk in the bright sunshine! Sitting in the sunshine makes us feel more positive and energized! Caregivers be sure to take your elderly love ones outside in the sunshine whether they are on walkers or in wheelchairs.

Reading or having "Sit and Chats" with your Senior friends or family while enjoying the sunshine can boost energy and optimism! In Mobile and Baldwin County, we are blessed with beautiful weather even during the winter! Try to schedule a time during the day when you can enjoy the health benefits and emotional boosters of sunshine.

If you live in an area like my son does, with not much sunshine during the winter months, investing in artificial light like a sun lamp or light box can aid Seniors to experience healthy light during the winter.

The Low vision group, "The Eyes have It" at Westminster Village in Spanish Fort, Alabama share that lighting makes a huge difference in what they can see. This is a group that I help to facilitate and we discuss how different kinds of lighting can help with emotions. One important suggestion they make is to consciously turn on lights in your bedroom before you get up out of bed. Light helps a Senior adult to welcome a new day!

2. In talking to dieticians and nutritionists for the elderly about what is important in helping them to avoid the winter blues, they stress that it is very important for the elderly to stay hydrated. Seniors need to drink plenty of water and fluids. Adding more fruits and vegetables to the diets of Seniors are "foods for good thoughts" to avoid winter depression. It is very important for Senior adults to get plenty of rest during the Winter months.

3. Be encouraged to be happy and optimistic! When I have Sit and Chats" with my Senior friends we talk about "POP" P-Stands for Positive, O-stands for Optimistic, P-stands for peacemaker. We come up with ways to stay happy during the winter months. One of those suggestions is to anticipate the coming of Spring! Too, bird watching as different birds fly up to winter bird feeders is a favorite past time. And too, accept the season of winter in what it brings to us. In our area we don't see a lot of snow or ice. In the 30 years I have lived in Baldwin County, I can remember just 3 times that I have seen snow or ice. But in our area we can experience colder temperatures in which we can enjoy cozy warm activities!

4. Increase your movement and exercise during the Winter months. Exercise helps to alleviate winter blues. Too, exercise helps our health, thinking skills, emotions, and increases a person's immunity to seasonal illnesses. Walking outside is good but if the weather does not permit, walking inside a mall is good. Some malls have scheduled walking times. Too, many gyms have places for walking. Many seniors in facilities will exercise by walking up and down the halls.

Too, Seniors can walk up and down the halls within their own homes. For those Seniors who are disabled, they can engage in restorative exercises under the guidance of their doctors and therapist.

5. As a Senior it is so important for them to keep up their Social relationships. My own mother who lived to be 97 years old use to joke with we children by saying that being with other people was her life line. She attended all activities that she could. She would schedule her day where she could meet and greet people each and every day. Sometime with her age she did not feel well, but she would share with me that it made her feel better to be with other people. I love to hear the greater generation where I serve greet and share with each other over the coffee table during these winter months. Too, at many community centers Seniors can enjoy weekly games and activities. As caregivers of the elderly we can encourage them to connect in activities whether it be in a facility or in a community center. Being connected with others truly boost good health!

I hope these few simple tips will be gentle reminders of having winter happiness and not winter blues!

Local businessman Jin Pak passes away

SUBMITTED

Yun Kol "Jin" Pak chose Baldwin County in Alabama as his home when he immigrated to the United States from Korea in 1974. Together with his wife Michele Piastro, a Peace Corps volunteer, they raised a family and built a family business, Baldwin Optical & Hearing Aid Company. Michele recalls, "We had relatively little to live on other than hopes and their dreams of having a home, making a living and raising a family."

PAK

When they first arrived, Jin worked as a dishwasher at a Japanese restaurant in Pensacola. Michele was a waitress. They saved up about $250 and opened Baldwin Optical in a corner of The Country Market — a Bon Secour convenience store serving local shrimpers and community members.

Within a year the business grew enough to allow them to open a small shop in Foley, in an Alston Street office they rented from Arthur Holk. Because of their dedicated service to the community, the business grew and eventually they were able to build their own store on Laurel Street, across from the Foley Public Library, where it remains today.

Jin was known for his dedication to family and his business. His first employee, Cheryl Riebe Pilgrim, was hired when she graduated from Foley High School and has been a mainstay at Baldwin Optical & Hearing Aid Company for nearly four decades.

In the 1990s, Jin expanded the business to provide hearing tests and hearing aids to customers. For the last 13 years, Stephen Michael has been Jin's right-hand man, gaining his license in audiology and assisting with dispensing both hearing aids and eye glasses.

June Wu has been the friendly face greeting customers, scheduling appointments and working in the lab for the last five years.

Dr. Bryan has joined the team and provided years of expertise to ensure patients receive thorough exams and correct prescriptions.

"Cheryl, Stephen and June are essential to the business's success," said Daniel Pak, Jin's son. "We are grateful for their hard work and dedication and rely on their expertise to help keep our family business running for generations to come."

munities of Foley, Elberta and Lillian where he made his home. He and Michele were very active in the community and with the youth as scout leaders and the founders of the Elberta Soccer League. Jin was involved in several area churches and was a popular tenor soloist during the Christmas season. He was involved in the Optimist club and volunteered for many of their community activities. Though the Lion's club, Jin took trips to Mexico where he fit hearing aids and eyeglasses on hundreds of less fortunate people.

Jin made a life dedicated to doing what was right and serving those around him. He spent the last year of his life living in Eugene, Oregon with his daughter, Maylian and her husband Matt and in San Francisco with his son, Daniel and his wife Annie and their three sons — Makaio, Alden and Zander.

Jin died peacefully at his daughter's home in Eugene, Oregon on Dec. 11. His family will host a celebration of life on Saturday, April 22 at Peace Lutheran Church (8250 Roscoe Road in Gulf Shores).

Jin always loved serving youth and often mentioned that he would like to be remembered through programs that supported children's needs. Any memorials in Jin's name might be directed to deserving youth programs as a fitting tribute to his vision.

Our community mourns

the passing of this up-standing citizen and proud and dedicated business-man.

8 p.m. on FREE Beyond

This eerie new series about a young man emerging from a 12-year coma has proven to be that basic cable rarity, an out-of-the-gate hit. Just a week after its premiere earlier this month, Freeform executives gave "Beyond" an early Season 2 order. For any fantasy fan, there's still time to catch up.

8:30 p.m. on CBS The Odd Couple

Are the mismatched roommates about to go their separate ways? It looks that way in the Season 3 finale, "Conscious Odd Coupling," which finds Oscar and Felix (Matthew Perry, Thomas Lennon) embroiled in a heated argument in which a lot of nasty things get said. When the dust settles, the guys both consider the possibility it would be best for both of them to change their living arrangement and get new roomies.

7 p.m. on CBS Super Bowl Greatest Commercials 2017

CBS Sports analyst Boomer Esiason ("The NFL Today") and Daniela Ruah ("NCIS: Los Angeles") host a countdown of the best Super Bowl commercials, during which viewers are invited to vote live online for their favorites. This year's format pits five classic blockbuster commercials that take the "Bigger Is Better" approach against five smaller yet still powerful spots illustrating that sometimes "Less Is More."

7 p.m. on FREE The Fosters

The show's midseason premiere finds Jesus (Noah Centineo) sustaining a knockout during a fight with Nick (Louis Hunter) over Mariana (Cierra Ramirez), so he gets rushed to the hospital, where he soon is fighting for his life as his condition deteriorates in the new "Insult to Injury."

Laura Ella Durant Ford

Laura Ella Durant Ford was born in Epps, Alabama on Feb. 11, 1920 to David Richardson and Mary Helen Lewis Durant. She grew up in Uriah, Alabama.

Laura is survived by her daughters, Laura Dean Ford Friedrich (Corydon Emory Friedrich) and Helen Elizabeth Ford Sandoe; her granddaughters, Stacey Elissa Sandoe (Richard Lee Lile) and Michal Ford Friedrich Slovic (Ronald Wiet Slovic); her great-granddaughters, Jordan Elyssa Allen and Cassidy Rae Allen; her great-grandsons, Benjamin Alexander Slovic and Charles Friedrich Slovic. She is also survived by her brother-in-law, Edwin Roy Ford; and numerous Ford and Durant nieces and nephews.

After 41 years of marriage, Laura's husband, Curtis Scruggs Ford, preceded her in death in 1986, just two months before his retirement from active pastoral ministry at St. Paul United Methodist Church in Bay Minette, Alabama.

Laura was also predeceased by her brother, David Richardson Durant Jr.; her sister, Mary Hellen Durant Beckett; and her two younger brothers, Lewellyn Leslie Durant and Lewis Durant.

Laura graduated from Uriah High School in 1938 and entered Judson College in the fall of that year. She transferred to Montevallo College, now Montevallo University, in 1939 and enrolled in the College of Home Economics. She graduated from Montevallo in 1942, having earned a degree in merchandizing with a minor in art.

Laura lived a long and fruitful life. She graced her family, church, community and the wider world with her deep faith in Christ, her great love for all people and her many talents and skills. She enriched the lives of all who knew her, and she was well loved and appreciated by all who knew her.

Mary "Faffee" Thomson Perrin

Throughout her 78 colorful years, Mary "Faffee" Thomson Perrin was often seen holding court on her Uptown front porch with her loving and devoted husband of 56 years, Robert "Bobby" Farrell Perrin. That life drew to a peaceful close on Jan. 17, 2017.

Born Oct. 30, 1938, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Thomson (deceased) of Montrose, Alabama, Mary was tall, stately and languid, with a full head of red hair often pinned up with just enough nonchalance to authenticate her Alabama roots. Mary embraced life in New Orleans, but never lost her silk-shielded, dagger-sharp Southern charm.

The lure of faster times and higher education drew Mary to New Orleans where she earned a degree in English from Sophie B. Newcomb College and a master's degree in Guidance Counseling from Loyola University.

An English teacher for over 15 years, Mary later left the classroom to travel the world alongside her filmmaker husband, working as a sound recordist on documentaries for the BBC, NBC and Frontline. When the Perrins returned from location shooting, Mary studied painting at the New Orleans Art Academy.

A superb cook and avid gardener, Mary filled her later life with painting, reading and holding dazzling conversation filled with humor, punctuated with pithy observation and frank honesty that catalyzed her genuine kindness to all souls who crossed her path, regardless of species.

Mary is survived by her husband Bob; her loving daughter, Elizabeth; and equally loving four-legged canine companion, Shirley. Although she will be sorely missed by all who knew and loved her, Mary's striking beauty and universal radiance will continue to shine on.

Funeral service will be private and a memorial celebration of Mary's life will be held for family and friends at a later date.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made in her name to the Alzheimer's Association's Louisiana Chapter.

Fair 'matriarch' dies at age 98

By JOHN UNDERWOOD
john@gulfcoastmedia.com

ROBERTSDALE — Longtime Robertsdale resident Mertis Teel Childress, a staple at the Baldwin County Fair, died Friday, Jan. 13 at the age of 98.

Born in Opp March 10, 1918, Childress moved to Baldwin County with her family, graduating from Robertsdale High School in May of 1937 and married farmer Guy "Duel" Childress in December that same year.

Over the years, she has belonged to various sewing groups, before started her own group, affectionately dubbed The Ole Ladies, making everything from quilts, to baby booties to dolls and everything in between.

She's also known as a pretty good cook, baking goodies for families in the neighborhood.

Every year Childress and her husband would host an Easter Egg Hunt for children throughout the neighborhood and every Christmas, Childress makes divinity for families throughout the area, sometimes more than 100 batches in a season.

"We all called her 'Wonder Woman,' because we were always wondering what she was going to do next," said retired educator Evelyn Lowery, who helped Childress with many of her projects. "She always had three or four projects going at one time."

But it is at the Baldwin County Fair where Childress has shined year in and year out, producing bags full of ribbons of every color, mostly blue, for baking, canning, sewing and just about everything else.

"The first year we had a booth at the Fair, there was nothing but space on the floor," said Childress in October 2016. The old Robertsdale Coliseum, located at the park on Palmer Street, was then under construction. "I've seen it grow from there to what it is now."

The fair was moved to its new location on what was Berner Road, renamed Fairground Road, in 2007, a couple of months before the 38,000 square-foot Baldwin County Coliseum was finished.

"I call her the fair's matriarch," said Fair Manager A.B. "Sonny" Hankins. "She had a booth at the fair every year for 68 years and I could always count on her to help out when I needed someone to mentor a young person. I also sought her advice on numerous occasions for gardening and other things. I'm just going to miss talking to her. She was such a huge part of our community."

According to the memorial program for Childress, she was affectionately called Aunt Mertis by both her family and community.

"Although she did not have any children of her own, she was actively involved in the lives of her nieces and nephews," according to the memorial. "She would entertain her young nieces by giving them old pots and pans to play with outside. They would pretend to cook making mud pies from morning to dark."

She worked part time at the M & F store in Robertsdale and was a lifelong member of the Robertsdale United Methodist Church, where she helped with many events, including weddings, shows and Vacation Bible School.

She was chosen as the "Featured Quilter" to highlight her quilts at the biannual quilt show in 2007, which is one of the church's projects that benefit their mission work.

She belonged to many community organizations, including the Robertsdale Home Demonstration Club where she served as the Baldwin County president for several years. She was also head of the Women's Auxiliary for the Sportsman's Hunting Club and was active in the Rosinton Farmer's Club. She participated in the annual dinner of the Robertsdale Livestock Auction.

She helped to organize Robertsdale's annual Christmas parade which was held on the first Saturday morning in December.

She was a vital part in establishing The Ladies Tea Party which is held each year by the RHS Alumni Association. Over $20,000 has been raised for scholarships for RHS seniors. She was honored one year at the tea and was named Homecoming Queen complete with a crown and sash.

Childress received the Central Baldwin Chamber of Commerce Woman of the Year in 1990 for her lifelong commitment of making her community a better place to live.

"She was very active in her community and her church and was always willing to go the extra mile to help others," said Robertsdale Mayor Charles Murphy. "She always had a smile on her face and she will be truly missed by all who knew her."

She was preceded in death by her husband; her parents, Daniel Leamon and Dellie Harrison Teel; brother, Roy Teel; sister, Marjorie Teel Youngblood; and nephew, Danny Youngblood.

Survivors include nieces and nephews, Sandra Teel Clark, Nancy Teel Strube, Eddie, Paul, J. W., Tony, Pam Youngblood Lane, Robert and Terry Youngblood, along with numerous great and great-great nieces and nephews.

A memorial service was held Monday, Jan. 16 at Mack Funeral Home. The family requests memorial donations be made to the Robertsdale High School Alumni Association, P.O. Box 1458, Robertsdale, AL 36567. A scholarship will be set up in her honor.

Foley to build multi-use path along Foley Beach Express

SUBMITTED BY LADONNA HINESLEY
City of Foley

Foley continues to become a more pedestrian-friendly city with more walking and biking paths scheduled to be added in the next few months. Ground breaking for multi-use paths along the Foley Beach Express and County Road 12 is expected to begin by Feb. 1.

The project includes an approximately one-mile long, 12-foot-wide, asphalt bicycle path along the east side of the Foley Beach Express from County Road 20 to County Road 12, and approximately 1.3 miles of paved shoulder widening for a bicycle lane along the south side of County Road 12, from the Foley Beach

Express to Wolf Bay Drive. Completion of these paths will provide walking and biking access to Foley's Graham Creek Nature Preserve.

The project is expected to be completed by March, if the weather cooperates, according to city engineer Chad Christian.

The project is funded by the Federal Highway Administration Transportation Alternatives Program. The program provides funding for projects that are defined as transportation alternatives, which includes on- and off-road pedestrian and bicycle facilities.

Foley received $334,920 in federal funding for the project, and will match at 25 percent, or $83,730, for an estimated project total of $418,650.

Elsanor School promotes 'Happy Families'

Program helps parents relate to Leader In Me principles

By JOHN UNDERWOOD
john@gulfcoastmedia.com

ELSANOR — If your child came up to you and said "Mom/dad, you are not putting enough deposits into my Emotional Bank Account," would you know what that means?

If you are not familiar with the "Leader In Me" program or the "7 Habits ..." series of books by Dr. Stephen R. Covey, then chances are you won't, but a new program at Elsanor School is hoping to change that.

Covey's "7 Habits of Highly Effective People" is a nationwide best seller and the "Leader In Me" program, which has been implemented in several Baldwin County's schools, including Elsanor, is based on the "7 Habits of Happy Kids" follow-up.

The new Happy Families program at Elsanor School, led by Principal Susan Runnels and school counselor Patty Mulkey, is based on the book "The 7 Habits of Successful Families."

"It's really all about parents being able to speak the same language as their kids," said Tammy Morrison, Elsanor's reading specialist, who helps with the Leader In Me program at the school. "This is something that these kids are learning every day and it helps the parents if they know what their kids are talking about."

The series, which began last year, meets in hour-long sessions every other month beginning with an introduction in August, followed by lessons with the first two habits in October, then finishing with habits 5, 6, and 7 in March.

All of the 7 Habits books follow the same basic principles: Habit 1: Be Proactive; Habit 2: Begin with the End in Mind; Habit 3: Put First Things First; Habit 4: Think Win-Win; Habit 5: Seek First to Understand, Then to Be Understood; Habit 6: Synergize; and Habit 7: Sharpen the Saw.

"This is more than just a school program," Mulkey said, "these are principles that will take these kids through the rest of their lives and we think the parents can benefit from it as well."

The first two habits and the last habit, Mulkey said, are about the students and parents working on themselves. The rest are about interacting with others, whether they are fellow students or family members.

The Emotional Bank Account is part of Habit 4: Think Win-Win and is about providing positive, rather than negative reinforcement.

So far, Mulkey said, about 15 to 20 parents participate in the Happy Families program, mostly mothers of students, but there is one couple who regularly attends the sessions, along with another father and two grandmothers, both of whom are not the child's primary caregiver.

"Our hope is that these parents will come away with a positive experience from this," Mulkey said. "They will, in turn, tell other parents who will want to participate."

A Leadership Day for the school's Leader In Me program will be held Feb. 22, Mulkey said.

"The children do everything," she said. "They greet the parents, organize performances and lead the entire program. There is a small question and answer session that involves the principal and a couple of parents, but other than that, it is all about the students."

The final Happy Families session for the 2016-17 school year will be held March 15 beginning at 8 a.m. at the school.

If you would like to learn more about the program, you can call the school at 251-947-5401. For information about Dr. Stephen R. Covey, the 7 Habits series and the Leader In Me series, visit stephencovey.com.

Stepping out on faith

Church breaks ground on new sanctuary

And the LORD said unto Noah, Come thou and all thy house into the ark; for thee have I seen righteous before me in this generation.

Genesis 7: 1 (KJV)

By JOHN UNDERWOOD
john@gulfcoastmedia.com

SILVERHILL — Much like Noah and his family stepped out on faith to build the ark, members of the Christian Faith Assembly Church in Silverhill gathered on Sunday, Jan. 15 to break ground on a new sanctuary.

“We have been calling it the ark,” said Pastor Timothy Willingham, “because that is what this is all about, stepping out on faith in order to do God’s work in the community.”

And much like the descendants of Noah would eventually become the foundation of the modern-day church, the small church at the corner of Silverhill Avenue and Second Street has gone through some trials and tribulations to get where it is today.

Built as the Infant Jesus of Prague Catholic Church in the late 1940s, the original structure of about 1,000 square feet served residents until a centralized St. Patrick’s Catholic Parish was built in Robertsedale in the 1970s.

After going through a few different incarnations, the building was leased by the Rev. Robert Ledger and a small congregation of members who formed the non-denominational Christian Faith Center in 1983, later changed to Christian Faith Assembly after becoming a full-fledged church. The building was rented until it was purchased and remodeled in 2003.

Willingham and his wife

Christine came to the church as youth pastors in 1992, before he was ordained as associate pastor in 2006. He took over as senior pastor of the congregation of about 50 members following Ledger’s death in March of 2015.

“We have gone through a lot in the church’s short history,” he said, “but it is by faith that we are still here and it is by faith that we will grow.”

Last July, Willingham said, the congregation began praying about expanding and building a new structure, which, when complete will be about 6,675 square feet and house the sanctuary and two classrooms. The original historic structure would be used as a youth and fellowship hall, he said.

“We’re planning on using church members to pour the slab and do the prep work ourselves,” Willingham said. The main structure of the church will be a prefabricated metal structure that will be built off site.

“We’re planning a pay as you go program and hope to have everything in place by the time the structure is ready, no later than March,” he said.

What are the Unborn

Last Sunday, churches all over the country (including mine) observed “Sanctity of Life Sunday,” addressing the uncomfortable but unavoidably crucial issue of abortion. This issue evokes passionate and, too often, angry engagement from all sides because it touches nearly all of the fundamental issues of human existence from the widely political to the deeply private. Because so much is at stake, fruitful and meaningful discussions are, ironically, both much needed yet very difficult to come by. As someone who is convictionally pro-life, I still believe that engagement with those who disagree with me is of critical importance.

Perhaps a single, simple question can bring everyone to the table: What are the unborn? This is a critical moral question that must be answered whether you are pro-choice or pro-life. If pro-life advocates are right and the unborn are persons from the moment of conception, then abortion is quite literally the greatest and most horrific injustice in human history. If pro-choice advocates are right and the unborn are just tissue, then millions of women are being prevented from an important healthcare option that has the moral significance of a tooth extraction. There is no place of neutrality.

What are the unborn? This question pushes all other dynamics of the debate to the periphery. Privacy, religious commitment, freedom, even the circumstances of the conception are all secondary to the question of the ontological status of the embryo. If it’s a person, that’s all that matters. If it’s tissue, it does not matter at all.

What are the unborn? Finally, the implications of the answer to this question couldn’t be more far-reaching. If the unborn are persons, then they deserve the same protection and care as all other persons. If the unborn are tissue that become persons at some later point, then the point of personhood must be determined and articulated with absolute certainty and an ironclad rationale, because, so far, when societies determine that some groups are only sort of human, the outcomes are always terrifying and always wrong. What are the unborn?
