His last day will be Friday. Hitt has accepted the role of director of the Community Development department of the city of Meridian. He was nominated by Meridian Mayor Jimmie Smith and approved last week by the Meridian city council.

"It has been a good nine-years for me," Hitt said. "I have enjoyed working with the people of Kemper County."

Prior to coming to Kemper County, Hitt served 12 years on the Lauderdale County board of supervisors. Prior to that, he owned a timber consulting company, managing timberlands.

A resident of Collinsville, Hitt is a graduate of West Lauderdale High School and went to then East Hitt reflected on the things that were done during his years at Kemper EDA. Getting the Kemper County Gas District ranked high on the list.

We got that under way," Hitt said. "We have some good people on that board of directors who will keep that going forward.

COVID-19 cases continue to rise here

Compiled by STEVE SWOGETINSKY The Kemper County Messengers

The number of COVID-19 cases reported in Kemper County by the Mississippi Department of Health increased by 58 in the past week.

Kemper County has 1,231 infections reports since March 2020. That has gone up from 1,173 in the past week. There has also been no additional death related to COVID-19 in the past week, moving the total of 31 people in Kemper County being taken by the dread disease.

Statewide, there have been 413,498 cases reported since last March 2020. That is an increase of 24,512 in the past week. The number of deaths stands at 8,047, an increase 234 deaths.

Mississippi is experiencing high levels of COVID-19 cases and hospitalizations due to the delta variant. The delta variant is much more contagious, and spreads twice as easily compared to other strains. Outbreaks have been identified in youth camps, faith-based gatherings, funerals and social events According to the health department, if you are fully vaccinated, you can participate in many of the activities that you did before the pandemic. To maximize protection from the Delta variant and prevent possibly spreading it to others, wear a mask indoors in public if you are in an area of substantial or high transmission.

Wearing a mask is most important if you have a weakened immune system or if, because of your age or an underlying medical condition, you are at increased risk for severe disease, or if someone in your household has a weakened immune system, is at increased risk for severe disease, or is unvaccinated. If this applies to you or your household, you might choose to wear a mask regardless of the level of transmis-

EMCC assumes administration of GTECHS

MAYHEW — Since its inception in 2015, the Golden Triangle Early College High School has been located on East Mississippi Community College's Golden Triangle campus.

GTECHS has not operated under EMCC's umbrella, however. That changed July 1 when the college assumed administration of GTECHS, which was formerly a fiscal and administrative agency of the Lowndes County School Dis-

"The intent all along was for GTECHS to be part of EMCC and we are finally bringing that to fruition," EMCC President Dr. Scott Alsobrooks said. "The school has been enormously successful and changed a lot of students' lives. We are excited about the possibilities for the school moving forward."

Classes at GTECHS began Monday, Aug. 9. GTECHS Principal Jill Savely said having EMCC assume administrative control of the school is a natural fit.

"EMCC has always been our support system because we have been here on campus," Savely said. "They have treated us like family and we are grateful for EMCC Vice President of Operations Dr. Paul Miller welcomed the GTECHS students to EMCC during an Aug. 10 orientation. "We are very excited to have you with us," Miller said. "We hope you are really going to plug in to EMCC and that you know coming to GTECHS was the best decision you and your family could have made.'

GTECHS was created through a partnership between EMCC, the Mississippi Department of Education and the Research and Curriculum Unit at Mississippi State University, with agreements to accept students from the Columbus Municipal, Lowndes County, Noxubee County, Starkville-Oktibbeha Consolidated and West Point Consolidated school districts.

Last year, the Columbus Municipal, Lowndes County and Starkville-Oktibbeha Consolidated school districts opted out of GTECHS, although students from those districts already enrolled at GTECHS at that time were allowed to remain in the school.

Agreements are still in place between EMCC and the Noxubee County and West Point Consolidated school districts, which will continue to allow students to attend GTECHS. The students will remain enrolled in their home school districts, although they will attend GTECHS.

Final Notice and Public Explanation of a Proposed Activity in the 100-Year Floodplain

To: All interested Agencies, Groups

This is to give notice that the Kemper County Board of Supervisors has conducted an evaluation as required by Executive Order 11988 in accordance with HUD regulations at 24 CFR 55.20 to determine the potential affect that its activity in the floodplain will have on the environment. The proposed project involves installation of water and sewer lines at the Kemper Crossing Industrial Park currently under development in Kemper County, Mississippi. Portions of the project lie within the community's Special Flood Hazard Area (SFHA).

The Kemper County Board of Supervisors has determined that it has no practicable alternative other than locating the proposed Community Development Block Grant project in a floodplain. This activity will have no significant impact on the environment for the following reasons:

1. The proposed action involves installation of water and sewer lines at the Kemper Crossing Industrial Park currently under development in Kemper County, Mississippi. The proposed site is located in the floodplain. The County could choose to not proceed with the project, but it would leave the new Industrial Park without water and sewer service, which would lead to the loss of revenue and jobs for the County. The County determined that there were no alternative methods to accomplish the identical project obiective because the improvements are necessary for the development of the Industrial Park. The water and sewer improvements will not significantly alter the floodplain in any way.

a. Proceeding with the project as described above: b. Taking no action to address the problem; and c. Relocating the project to other impacted areas within the County. The County determined that proceed ing with the project as described above was the best available alternative to make the improvements necessary to complete the new Industrial Park. 3. No mitigation measures were iden tified through this review. In order to minimize the environmental impacts of this project, all practicable measures to reduce impacts on the floodplain will be taken during the construction phase of the project

Alternatives considered

Written comments must be received by the Kemper County Board of Supervisors at the following address on or before September 2, 2021: Kemper County Board of Supervisors, P. O. Box 188, Dekalb, Mississippi 39328 Attention: Honorable Pat Granger Board President.

GTECHS employees who were Lowndes County School District employees will now work for EMCC.

There was no incoming freshman class in 2020 after the three school districts opted out. There are 30 new students from West Point Consolidated School District this year. This summer, the Mississippi Department of Education appointed Dr. Washington Cole IV as the interim superintendent of the Noxubee County School District. He replaces Rodriquez Broadnax, who accepted another position elsewhere.

Savely said hopes are that applications for next year's freshman class at GTECHS will be opened to Noxubee

Miller, who was among those involved in early efforts to create GTECHS, said original plans were to pattern the early college high school after ones offered in North Carolina and Texas, the latter of which serves nearly 65,000 students at 182 designated early college high schools, according to the Texas Education Agency web-

"The idea was EMCC would be the administrator over GTECHS similar to the way some of the schools in North Carolina and Texas operated," Miller said.

Funding for the GTECHS students is allocated to their home school districts through the Mississippi Adequate Education Program, the state's funding formula for public schools, with the school districts paying a portion of that to cost of educating the students. There are 55 juniors and 54 seniors who returned this year to GETCHS. Kevon Scales, who is a junior this year, is among those students. Scales, a Noxubee County resident, enrolled in GTECHS during his freshman year.

"I wanted to try something different." Scales said of his decision to attend GTECHS. "I tell my friends it is a great school if you want to learn something new and be on a different schedule than what you would normally have been on. One of the things I like the most is that the teachers communicate with you a lot.' It isn't just GTECHS students who can take classes at

All five school districts who participated in the original agreement with GTECHS may still allow high school juniors and seniors to take dual enrollment classes at EMCC with an opportunity to pick up needed classes at GTECHS through the middle college model.

"That is really centered on career technical education and etting high school students dual enrolled in workforce programs that feed the local economy," Alsobrooks said. "They would come to our Mayhew campus or the Communiversity and enroll in one of those highdemand, high-wage programs that lead to really good jobs."

Savely said if the students have taken most of their core courses at their home school, they would have the option of picking some high school classes at GTECHS if they are available. "Maybe they only need an English, math or science class to graduate from high school," Savely said. "Rather than taking their college classes at EMCC and having to drive back to their high school for a class, we would be happy to provide them with a class or two if what they need is some-

The middle college model provides students greater opportunities for training while they are still in high school, Miller said.

"All of the area school districts have a fair selection of career technical education options for the kids at their campuses, but there are definitely some programs we have here at EMCC that would be very difficult for them to replicate." Miller said.

Getting the Message/Rev. Chris Shelton

Psalm 40:1-5

This psalm begins with remembrance and thanksgiving for a past act of deliverance David experienced from the Lord. David establishes this precedent in his mind before his appeal to the Lord for deliverance from a critical situation he addresses later in the psalm. He remembers how he "waited patiently" for the Lord, and the Lord "turned to him and heard his cry." The word "turned" means to turn attentively toward someone, like a judge interested in a testimony leaning forward with interest. The Lord, David remembers, was ready and listening the time he was in a desperate condition.

David recounts for us in Psalm 13 a time when he was in desperate need of the Lord's deliverance. The Lord had hidden his face from him. and he was like Job's misery at its height when he said, "O that I knew where I might find him... Behold, I go forward, but he is not there; and backward, but I cannot perceive him."

God sometimes delays his visitations of relief to the soul for his own reasons. In Psalm 13, David cried out for the Lord to "turn to me and answer me O Lord my God... lest I sleep the sleep of death." His love is so great for the Lord; the thought of dying in a sense of rejection is intolerable. But the Lord answered David, and the psalm ends with songs of thanksgiving and rejoicing.

That may be the deliverance David is thinking of here. He describes just how bad his situation was. He was lifted "out of the slimy pit, out of the mud and mire." We don't have to understand this as a literal pit like Jeremiah was thrown into, but a metaphor of intense distress David was under. It was a kind of imprisonment that was overwhelming to David, something he had no hope of extracting himself from on his own. The Lord alone could have and did rescue David.

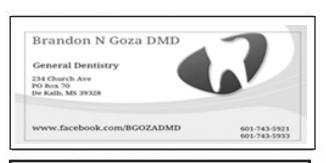

The Lord did not stop with mere liberation; he made sure to set David's feet "on a rock and gave him a firm place to stand." In other words, the Lord gave David permanent stability. This foundation is what gives David confidence that the Lord will help him in his present trial. The salvation in the past was too great for David to consider that the Lord would not come to his aid again.

This is, of course, a picture of the gospel. The greatest pit we are in by nature is the pit of sin. It not only renders us guilty before God, but it controls our life. The Scripture says all men are under the power of sin. Christ came to pay the penalty for sin on the cross and to free us from the guilt and power of sin. He sets our feet on the solid rock of his salvation in contrast to the miry clay of our own sinful works.

The deliverance of salvation is so great because it is plain that none but God could have wrought it. William Plumer writes, "The pit was too deep for a created arm to reach its bottom. The load was too heavy for created strength to bear. God will have, because he deserves to have, all the glory of man's salvation."

The problem is we don't naturally feel as if we are in a miry bog and that reconciliation with God is our desperate need. We can list a dozen other things we could use God's help in and this is what we focus on. But the gospel forces us to always consider our greatest need first and all other needs in light of it. There is never a time when the Christian doesn't evaluate his circumstances on the basis of God's delivering him from sin by Christ's death in his place. The greater the trial, the greater the deliverance, and the more joyous and loud should be the song which we sing to the praise and glory of God. A true believer rejoices over redemption in Christ above all else.

We see David's thanksgiving in verses three through five. David says of the Lord, "He put a new song in my mouth, a hymn of praise to our God." A "new song" is not ordinary; it is a particular refrain for an extraordinary event. This is how Christians are to regard the salvation they have in Christ. We are to never stop singing the "new song" that is particular to salvation whatever circumstances we are in and whatever other needs we have.

'And we know that in all things God works for the good of those who love him, who[a] have been called according to his purpose.' Romans 8:28

Scissor-tailed Flycatcher lives interesting life

By JAMES L. CUMMINS Special to The Messenger

The scissor-tailed flycatcher (Tyrannus forficatus) is a striking bird.

Measuring up to 13 inches in length, pale gray is the scissortail's predominant color that approaches white on the face and breast. The wings are blackish; the tail, black and white. Their scarlet "armpits" are mostly concealed while the bird is perched, and their scarlet crown patch stays hidden.

The scissortail's flanks and belly are flushed salmon-pink, varying in brightness from individual to individual. The adult heights of 100 feet and makes a scissor-tailed flycatcher, with its extremely long tail, is only likely to be confused with the stray fork-tailed flycatcher, but this species has a dark cap.

Found only in a few states, the scissor-tailed flycatcher forms large pre-migratory roosts in late summer. It is not unusual to encounter flocks with up to 1,000 in number. These flocks often roost near towns, taking advantage of large trees as roosting sites.

The courtship between two scissor-tailed flycatchers is truly a sight to behold. Rarely viewed, the male scissortail soars to series of V-shaped flights, plunging down in an erratic, zigzag course while uttering a rolling, cackling call. He will hover about 3 feet above the ground for nearly 20 seconds and expose his magnificent forked tail, salmon-colored flanks, and crimson-tipped shoulders. The interested female will watch from where she is perched and cheer her suitor on by calling out, "cah-key...cahkey...CAH-KEY." The female will then construct a nest. When building the nest, the scissor-tailed flycatcher will use many human products. Though the scissortail also uses plant material in building the nest, one study found that artificial materials account for nearly 30 percent of the weight of the nests.

Once the nest is constructed, the female will lay between 3 and 6 eggs. The eggs are white with dark markings around the larger end. When the eggs hatch, the fledglings are sparsely covered in white down and completely helpless. As it grows, the juvenile scissortail and molting adult will sport a much shorter tail than the adult and has a somewhat duller plumage.

Adult scissor-tailed flycatchers will capture most of their prey by aerial hawking, but they will also grab insects off of vegetation. Since their diets are largely composed of agriculturally harmful insects such as grasshoppers, crickets, and beetles, the scissortail is also an economically and environmentally beneficial bird.

This magnificent wonder of nature was almost completely wiped out at the turn of the 20th century. Throughout the Dust Bowl and Great Depression years, the scissor-tailed flycatcher was poached to dangerously low levels. Poachers would kill these birds by the thousands, solely for their tails. Selling for 2 cents apiece, the tails were a hot commodity and could be quickly sold to European hat makers. Thankfully, strict laws and a staunch conservation effort saved the scissortail from possible extinction.

James L. Cummins is executive director of Wildlife Mississippi, a non-profit, conservation organization founded to conserve, restore, and enhance fish, wildlife, and plant resources throughout Mississippi. Their web site is www.wildlifemiss.org.

ACT average for 2020 was 17.7, according to the Missis-36 years: Melinda McMurtry sippi Department of Education website.

The school's success has led to some misconceptions, Savely believes.

"I think there are some people who think we want to take the high flyers out of their home districts and put them here to get an associate's degree," Savely said. "That is absolutely not true because they can do that in their home schools.

'We want those kids who feel like they need a new place to go to school. Maybe they need new friends or a place where they can find a connection. Maybe they have struggled with attendance, or grades or test scores. Maybe they have even struggled with discipline a little bit, but that's OK. Those are the kids who have been the most successful here."

These are healthy ways to meet their sweet tooth and hold their hunger off until supper time. These have fruits, dairy, and other great ingredients they need and will help us keep them healthy. They will also cool them on these hot August days.

Youth art camp

This Summer the Kemper Springs Community Center presented the Free Youth Creative Arts Camp. Grades K-12 were welcome to the center to learn about and create different forms of art like paintings, pottery, collages, and more. However, all ages and even some parents joined in on the fun. The idea was first presented to the community center board members by a local artist & recent graduate from the School of the Art Institute of Chicago, Brejenn Allen. "I wanted to share everything I learned with the youth who don't have access to art classes until high school," said Brejenn. She talked about how art education can do so much for mental health & childhood development. "The community center wanted a revival & I wanted to serve my community." The Creative Arts Camp ended July 30th with the county's first Fine Art Exhibition and Auction. Participants displayed their work throughout the center while parents, instructors, and sponsors bid on the artists' artwork. "We all had a lot of fun," Brejenn grinned, "and those kids made a good chunk of money." Mr. Abner Love, the Community Center Director was all smiles at the auction and told us, "I really enjoyed the art camp and we hope to have it again in the near future. We appreciate the Allen Family and all their hard work."

Brejenn and the Kemper Springs Community Center would like to thank the countless sponsors and supporters who made this program possible. For more information please contact Brejenn Allen at (601) 616-3719.

MSU launches online natural resources degree programs

STARKVILLE —Two departments in Mississippi State's College of Forest Resources are adding new online master's degrees, making online degree options now available in all three departments.

Students can now earn master's degrees in sustainable bioproducts or wildlife, fisheries and aquaculture conservation education. These new offerings are in addition to the current forestry master's in the MSU Center for Distance Education which has been graduating students for more than a decade. Through its online forestry master's degree, the college has trained dozens of students in forest management, natural resource policy and law and forest economics over the years.

Wes Burger, interim dean of the College of Forest Resources and interim director of the Forest and Wildlife Research Center, said several types of students may benefit from these online programs.

'I believe the diversity of our online offerings is one of the greatest assets to our programs. A virtual classroom may benefit a mid-career individual who can't take off work to complete an advanced degree or a fresh graduate who wants to spend more time with their family while guaranteeing their future. Our distance-based degrees provide lifetime learning opportunities for anyone place-based," Burger said. Amber Barrow is pursuing an online master's in conservation education while working fulltime. For the last decade, the Ellijay, Georgia, native has been an environmental educator at the Charlie Elliott Wildlife Center in Mansfield, Georgia. After graduating with a biology degree from Berry College, the wildlife interpretive specialist and assistant coordinator with the Georgia Department of Natural Resources initially sought a research career but found an opportunity in conservation education instead.

Barrow will graduate in December 2022 and will continue to work for the Georgia Department of Natural Resources. Allison Purdue, also seeking an online master's degree in conservation education, followed a more traditional track. The Marietta, Georgia, native earned a bachelor's degree in wildlife, fisheries and aquaculture from MSU in 2020 during the height of the pandemic.

In addition to pursuing her advanced degree, Purdue is already practicing her educational skills by coaching volleyball.

The online degree at Mississippi State has already taught me so much about having confidence in myself. I am determined to encourage and inspire people through the lessons I teach, be it wildlife or volleyball. The online program has been the perfect fit for me, and I'm so appreciative," Purdue said.

The master's degree in sustainable bioproducts is a 30-hour, non-thesis program designed to help students grow and apply their knowledge of forest products and other bio-based building materials. The courses create an intersection between the chemical, physical, botanical and engineering sciences, while promoting the responsible use of renewable resources through the development, innovation and improvement of wood products, materials and ener-

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING ON THE PROPOSED BUDGET AND PROPOSED TAX LEVIES FOR THE 2021-2022 FISCAL YEAR FOR KEMPER COUNTY NO TAX LEVY INCREASE

The Kemper County Board of Supervisors will hold a public hearing on its proposed budget and proposed tax levies for fiscal year 2021-2022 on September 3, 2021 at 8:00 a.m. in the Barney Brown Center Meeting Room in the City of Dekalb, Mississippi.

The Kemper County Board of Supervisors is now operating with a projected total budget revenue of $28.848.316. 10.55% or $3.042.322 of such revenue is obtained through ad valorem taxes. For the next fiscal year, the proposed budget has a total projected revenue of $29,784,262. Of that amount, 10.42% or $3,103,643 is proposed to be financed through a total ad valorem tax levy.

For the next fiscal year, the Kemper County Board of Supervisors plans keep your ad valorem millage rate at 100.81 mills, the same as last year. This means that that you will pay the same ad valorem taxes on your home, automobile tag, utilities, business fixtures and equipment or rental real property unless your assessed value has changed.

Any citizen of Kemper County is invited to attend this public hearing on the proposed budget and tax levy, and will be allowed to speak for a reasonable amount of time and offer tangible evidence before any vote is taken.

Protect Your Health and Your Future Avoid Opioid Misuse. Say "No" to Meth and Other Drugs!

The rise of synthetic opioids and stimulant drugs, as well as amplified mental health conditions related to Covid-19, has caused the highest number of overdose deaths ever. Over 87,000 American lives were taken by drugs!

Facts about these dangerous drugs:

Opioids are a class of drugs that includes prescription pain killers and heroin. Mixing opioids with alcohol or other drugs can slow down or stop your breathing and your heart. Misuse of opioid drugs is a leading cause of accidental death in the United States.

Methamphetamine, also known as meth, is an addictive stimulant drug. Some people notice an urge to use meth after the first use.

Sometimes people use meth in combination with heroin, prescription opioids or other drugs. This greatly increases the likelihood of health problems, overdose and death. Illegal drugs can be mixed with dangerous drugs or toxic chemicals, such as fentanyl, that can cause poisoning or death. Just a sprinkle of fentanyl is deadly.

> IT ONLY TAKES A LITTLE TO LOSE A LOT. Overcoming addiction is not easy, but it's possible.
