FIRST THINGS FIRST

Some things just feel right

As you read this column you are holding in your hands a dream that seemed as though it would never become reality.

As of last Friday, my wife Barbara and I became owners of the Kemper County Messenger. Over my 45 years of journalism I had toyed with the idea of owning a paper, but it seemed like it was a thought that would never be birthed into fact.

A few months ago when Jim Prince, the longtime owner and publisher of the Messenger, and a man this community owes much to for keeping this paper alive during bleak times, approached me about the possibility of purchasing the paper.

I thought that ship had sailed. Just a few months earlier I had publicly announced that at the end of 2021 I was retiring from the journalism business. Then I got the call.

Barb and I prayed about this opportunity and felt like it was truly what the Lord wanted us to do. So here we are, owners, publishers, and editors of the Kemper County Messenger.

There were two presentations with very positive news for Kemper County made to the Kemper County Board of Supervisors during its regular meeting on Monday morning.

Representatives from Emelia Resources LLC, which employees just under 100 people, told the board that they had just landed a new contract that could eventually lead to them making 30 new hires and possibly being in operation 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The volume of work will also require them to need extra warehousing space.

The supervisors were informed that this new line they would be producing and packaging would be on a "permanent" basis, instead of a temporary one.

There was also discussion of needed repairs to the current county-owned facilities the company operates from.

In another matter Dr. Scott Alsobrooks, president of East Mississippi Community College, gave a report on the two-year school's connection with Kemper County.

EMCC currently has 106 full-time students from Kemper County with 43 of the school's 275 full-time faculty and staff members currently residing in the county. Every student from Kemper County received some kind of financial aid, totaling $624,268.93 for the 2020-21 academic year.

In another matter County Road Manager Glenn Williams shared a concern that the employees he supervises have with the county's newly mandated direct deposit policy. Williams said he just Retired State Sen. Sampson Jackson II reflects on legislative career

by Monique Harrison

Kemper County Messenger

Longtime local State Senator Sampson Jackson II says that he looks back on his years representing District 32 with a sense of both pride and peace.

"I look back at some of the things that we did – some of the accomplishments – and I have to say, I think we did really good," he said. "I feel good about the time I spent there and the work I did for the people. That was always it for me – doing what I could to actually help people."

Jackson represented District 32, which includes parts of Kemper, Lauderdale, Noxubee and Winston counties, since 1992.

At the time of his resignation, he was the chair of the Senate Forestry Committee. He had previously served on a number of legislative committees, including appropriations, corrections, energy and education.

Woman faces multiple charges in weekend shooting

By Austin Bishop
Kemper County Messenger

A Meridian woman has been charged with two felonies in the aftermath of a Saturday morning shooting that left her husband in stable condition in a Jackson hospital. Kemper County Sheriff

James Moore said that Dorthea Crowe, 32, is currently in the Kemper County Jail under a $50,000 bond on a charge of aggravated assault/domestic violence and a $25,000 bond on a charge of felony possession of a firearm. Moore said his department's investigation following the shooting revealed that Crowe, whose address is listed as 107 71st place Apt. A117 in Meridian. had a previous felony conviction. Moore said the victim, 41-year-old Kenneth Donell Crowe, suffered multiple gunshot wounds and was treated by emergency personnel at the scene before being transferred to Jackson. The shooting took place at 4:30 a.m. Saturday at a home at 386 Rosie Coats Road, according to the Sheriff's office. Moore said that both the alleged shooter and the victim are residents of Meridian. He said that the shooting took place at the unoccupied dwelling of the victim's relatives. According to the investigation Dorthea Crowe, along with one of her relatives, drove to the house that morning where a confrontation took place between the alleged shooter and the victim. According to an eye witness Dorthea Crowe put the gun into her mouth and threatened to kill herself. At that point the witness left the room in order to go outside to get a cell signal to call law enforcement. After hearing gunshots the witness returned inside the building to find Kenneth Donell Crowe had been shot.

Local team works to educate about vaccines

By Mike Robertson
Kemper County Messenger

During the pandemic, which began in the spring of 2020, some areas of the state have been more heavily affected than others, with Kemper County being one of those areas. In fact, DeKalb Alderman Tracy Naylor stated he believes the community has been one of the hardest-hit in the state. For this reason, Delta Health Alliance is working with a local team to help educate residents about the COVID vaccines and the importance of being vaccinated, with Naylor heading up that group. Delta Health Alliance is a non-profit organization that seeks to understand the fundamental causes of poor health in the region through comprehensive research programs and statistical analysis of relevant data, and based on the research results will fund programs to increase access to health care and education for residents. Naylor and team members Wallace Grady, Rontal Jenkins, and Margaret Jackson are part of that education process as they engage local residents wherever they possibly can. The team goes to churches, schools, parking lots or wherever people might be found to present true and accurate information about the vaccines. Naylor stated that only about 40 percent of Kemper County residents have received the COVID vaccinations, but in the three months the team has been working they have seen an increase in the numbers, so it appears that their efforts are working. Vaccinations are available at the Health Department, and periodically there are other locations such as the Farmers Market, Kemper County High School, and on certain days at EMCC. Those times and locations are advertised on social media, television, radio, and the newspaper. Churches also alert their members. These vaccine drives are held every couple of weeks, and it should be noted that the vaccines are free of charge. Naylor added, "I would just like to tell the people that the vaccines work. I have gotten vaccinated myself. I have seen that the vaccines help save lives." He also noted that most of those who die from the virus are mostly the unvaccinated.

ger. It just felt right. As I moved into my 50s (I'm now 63), I began to realize that if I ever owned a paper it would be the one in DeKalb. I live 17.1 miles from the doorsteps of the Kemper County Courthouse and over my many years working for the Messenger off and on and for The Meridian Star for what seemed like an eternity I got to know the people of Kemper County. And more importantly, they got to know me. I remember shaking the hand of coach Billy Brown following a West Kemper football game in the late 1970s. Most of you who know coach Brown recognize that you never forget that handshake. Honestly, over time, despite graduating from Louisville High School in 1976 and living near the Daleville community in Daleville since 1987, I have become to feel like a Kemper Countian. What happens here matters to me and more importantly what the future holds for this county has a place in both my heart and dreams. So, what kind of newspaper will the Messenger become? Well, that's really pretty simple. If it's local and matters to you, we are interested in it getting in the paper. Of course we will cover the local governmental bodies and the schools, but it must go much deeper than that. On the Community page of this week's paper you will find the return of the "Looking Back" feature. That has always been one of my favorites. Another thing I would love to see return is the local community columns. If you are interested in writing about your community, let us know. I want to see columns about communities, churches, and local organizations. Tell us, and the readers of this newspaper, what is happening with you! I have talked to the top administrators at both the Kemper County School District and Kemper Academy and have let them know if it is happening on their campuses we are interested. I have also reached out to the media relations people at East Mississippi Community College and let them know the same thing. For the most part myself, and others on staff, will cover the news and politics, but the community is welcome to submit local interest items for publication. The paper you hold in your hand is 16 pages. That's the smallest it will be. If our ad revenue picks up we may go up to 24. It would make me happy if it had to be 32 pages. The size of your local newspaper is driven by revenue. While we will do our best to run every local item that is submitted, we also want to balance our coverage with statewide and perhaps even nationwide news that has an impact on Kemper County. When local photos and news items are submitted we will do our best to get them in the very next paper. If not that one, then the next. It is our goal that if you send us something to run we will never take longer than 17 days for us to get it in for you. My heart's desire is that each week you are eager to get a Kemper County Messenger so that you can read about people you know, as well as about things you need to know. You can look for this column on the front page of the paper each week. Sometimes it will be about particular subjects; sometimes it may be about the newspaper itself; sometimes it may be somewhat whimsical; and often it will touch on multiple topics and subjects that I hope will both interest and inform you. I you would like to submit items to the paper you can e-mail them to office@kempercountymessenger.com or to my personal e-mail address at starsportsboss@yahoo.com You are also free to text or call me at 601-938-2471. We ask you to be patient during our growing pains as we strive to bring Kemper County the local newspaper it so richly deserves. Be blessed! Austin Bishop is editor and publisher of the Kemper County Messenger.

He noted that only 19 of the 42 employees under his direct supervision had signed up for direct deposit of their payroll check and that the other 23 had indicated that they did not plan to.

He told the supervisors that most of those not signing up didn't have checking accounts and a handful of them would not be able to get one.

There was no discussion among the board members during the meeting about potentially chaining the policy. When asked after the meeting what would happen if his employees didn't sign up, Williams re-resigned with 2.5 years remaining in his term after he ran unopposed in 2019. The special election to fill his seat is set for November 2.

Candidates that have qualified to run for the seat include W.J. Coleman, a former counselor at Parchman; Stan Copeland, a member of the Northwest Water Association Board of Directors; James Creer, a member of the Kemper County Board of Education; Justin Curtis Creer, a former Kemper County supervisor; Minh Duong, a Meridian optometrist; Rod Hickman, a county prosecutor with Noxubee County Justice Court; Kim Houston, a former Meridian City Councilwoman; and Keith Jackson, who is the son of Sen. Sampson Jackson II.

Jackson said that he considered resigning a few years back, when he was diagnosed with prostate cancer. Then, during the 2021 session, the longtime legislator said he started to realize he was ready for a change.

"I looked at my wife one day and said, 'I think I might be ready to retire,'" he recalled. "I never really thought about how much time I had left. I just knew I liked my job. But I started to get tired of going back and forth (to Jackson) so much."

He said he also was motivated by learning that because he was eligible for retirement, he would make more retired than he did working.

"It just didn't make any sense any more for me to be doing it," he said.

Jackson said he believes he left the legislature on good terms with most, if not all, members.

"I was always someone who would work with the leadership," he said. "I don't disagree about something just to disagree – not if I believe that it will help someone. You have to really think about people, not just about what party is behind things."

Jackson said he is proud of the way he consistently handled requests from voters.

"I always returned phone calls," he said. "It didn't matter if you voted for me or not – if you supported me or not. And doing that – returning calls and trying to help people get what they need – it led to a lot of support and a lot of confidence from people. I'm proud of that."

Jackson, who was in office for about 28 years, said despite his efforts to reach across the political aisle, he has been disappointed at times to see how the legislature has changed.

"It used to be a lot more like a fraternity," he said. "We might not agree and we might not be from the same party, but we looked out for each other – we talked to each other and we helped each other in any way we could. I don't think it's like that as much anymore."

Jackson said social media also has changed things dramatically.

"It used to be, a vote would be made and people might not know about the vote for months," he said. "They wouldn't know how you voted and they wouldn't know exactly what the vote was for a long time. Now, they know immediately, and they expect you to be able to explain immediately. I think that's actually a really good thing for people."

Jackson said he is proud of a number of appropriations he was able to secure for local communities, including funding for the John C. Stennis Hospital and for the Kemper Neshoba Regional Jail.

"Those were good things for people," he said.

He also helped secure funding for a multi-purpose building used to house mental health offices in DeKalb.

He also said he is proud of his role in passing sweeping education legislation in the 1990s, when the Mississippi Adequate Education Program (MAEP), was funded. Additionally, he supported and helped to pass legislation that provided teachers with additional incremental pay increases as they gained more experience.

"We still have a long way to go in education," he said. "I wish that wasn't true. We aren't where we need to be, but I do believe that we have made some improvements."

Jackson said when he first ran for office, he knew almost nothing about campaigning. But he knew he needed to make personal connections with people, and he also needed a team of people in each county willing to also provide that personal touch to voters.

"Over the years, a lot of people came to support me," he said. "People of different backgrounds – and even people with different beliefs. They learned they could trust me and that I would do my best to do what was best for people. I might not have gotten it all right – I know I didn't. But I am proud of what I did do.

"You have to be respectful to people – your colleagues and voters," he said. "You have to do your best every day and you have to put the people first. You have to return everyone's phone calls – really be there with them when they need something."

Jackson has other involvements beyond the legislature. He is a member of C Phi C Social Fellowship Club, NAACP, Kemper County Political Black Caucus and the Farm Bureau and the Mississippi Cattleman's Association.

He enjoys spending time with his sons – Keith, Kelvin and Sampson Jackson III. He has eight grandchildren, including six that live locally and two that live in Jackson. The family has several businesses.

"I say I am going to slow down," he said. "And I know I will but I don't think it's happened just yet."

It feels sooo great to be flying again!

Finally taking that vacation; Catching up with family and friends. As always, we're here for you. Let us get you on your way.

PACES Project strides into 13th Year

From special reports

Given the bright outlook for PACES in its 13th year, it is one of those times that 13 can be thought of as a “Lucky Number”. The PACES Project is excited to announce that it will return to sponsoring college campus visits after a two year COVID induced delay, and PACES will be able to observe all Kemper County High School COVID19 requirements. Each year about 30 KCHS seniors and juniors participate in the PACES Project program.

Kemper County Economic Development Authority’s PACES Project (Parents and Community Equals Educational Success) is an all-volunteer, self-supporting educational advocacy and mentoring program that help prepare KCHS students for life beyond high school by increasing community awareness of the value of higher education and increasing student access to information and resources about post-high school education and career opportunities.

This year PACES members will visit several Mississippi colleges and one in Alabama: The first trip will be to visit the campuses of East Mississippi Community College and the University of West Alabama. During the tours the students will get insights into what it takes to get into these institutions and the efforts required to remain a student. An added benefit of being a member of PACES is that PACES Alumni that are currently enrolled at college being visited, come out and join the PACES members during lunch and share their college experiences with our seniors.

The seniors were elated to see the return of the college campus trips and set about quickly completing PACES Projects community service requirement for becoming a member of PACES. In less than a week 10 Seniors had completed the requirements. Those quick responding stu-

Kemper Academy annual meeting set for Oct. 12

By Austin Bishop
Kemper County Messenger

The annual meeting of the Kemper Academy patrons is set for 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 12 in the assembly room at the school. All patrons are encouraged to attend.

Among the top items on the agenda for the meeting will be the election of two members to the 10-member school board. The board is broken up into five “beats” built around the districts of the Kemper County Board of Supervisors. Each district has two members on the board.

This year it is Beat 1 representation that will be voted on. The candidates must be from that beat and a beat meeting has already been held to come up with nominations, but they can also be taken from the floor. The members are then voted on by the entire patron list in attendance, not just those living in that particular beat.

The board officers will then be selected by the 10-member school board.

The current board president is Scott Johnson.

Head of School Mary Ellen Waters will be making her annual report as well and will be discussing several items, including a grant the school has recently received.

After the business of the annual meeting is concluded there will also be reports from the KA Booster Club and the PTA.

Waters said there are currently 125 families connected to Kemper Academy and that she is expecting an attendance of between 75 and 100.

How To Lead Your Family

By Rev. Bob Wilburn

Family is the bedrock of society regardless of country or culture. Family is the laboratory for life. It is in the family that God and the truths of God's Word are learned and revered. It is in the family that love and loyalty and the lessons of life are learned. Knowing how to navigate the current pandemic is important-but beyond that and more importantly than that is the glaring need of every husband and wife and mom and dad to know how to lead their family to walk with God in a world that is fighting against God.

Any person with any knowledge of what is happening around us would well understand that there is a broad and relentless movement in this country against God, God's Church, God's Word and anything that represents God. We live in a culture that is literally hostile towards God.

So, the question that begs for an answer is: How can we lead our family to walk with God in a world that is fighting so hard against God?

First of all; to do nothing is to be negligent of the most important responsibility given to us. Hebrews 2:3 says:

How

"How shall we escape if we neglect so great a salvation?" The greatest harm we can do our children and extended family is to nothing to influence them towards God. Listen to what God's Word says in Proverbs 3:13: "The curse of the Lord is on the house of the wicked but he blesses the home of the just". Secondly, every parent must themselves walk with God and thereby model a day to day relationship with God. We can't teach what we don't know. We as husbands and wives and parents will create a positive, encouraging and spiritual atmosphere in our home as a result of us acknowledging the Lord daily and spending time in God's Word and prayer on a day to day basis. Thirdly, we must regard and teach God's Word as the manual for life and love. Without that, what do we have? The opinions and philosophies of a very broken world? When we teach our children the principles and precepts of God's Word we provide them with an unchanging standard by which they can live their life. Proverbs 14:26 says, "In the fear of the Lord is strong confidence, and our children will have a place of refuge". The Word of God and the Presence of God become a place of refuge for our children in this messed up world and Christ-less culture. Fourthly, we must pray for wisdom and discernment. The Holy Spirit in us will give us wisdom for every situation. We must not make decisions based on what other people think or what other parents do. The Holy Spirit will give us Godly wisdom. When we pray over our children the Holy Spirit helps us discern what is going on in our children's lives. That is huge. In closing, there is a way to raise our family to walk with God. The bottom line is every husband, every wife, every mom and every dad must choose God and choose to utilize the truths of His Word as we do life as a family. Our choices as parents will influence the destiny of our children.

APAC, Mississippi, Inc., donates asphalt roller to EMCC

From school reports

APAC Mississippi Inc., an asphalt paving and construction materials company, donated a refurbished Caterpillar asphalt roller to East Mississippi Community College that will be used to teach students enrolled in the college's Heavy Civil Construction program.

"I can't thank APAC enough for this very generous donation and the support they have given us for this program," EMCC Vice President of Workforce and Economic Development Dr. Courtney Taylor said. "The asphalt roller donated by APAC Mississippi is a very costly piece of equipment that is like brand new. This will allow us to provide training we would not have otherwise been able to do."

The Heavy Civil Construction program is a 10-week training program in the safe operation of heavy machinery that alternates between EMCC's Scooba campus and The Communiversity. Industry experts sit on advisory committees for the program at both locations and APAC Mississippi has representation on both committees.

"We strive to produce quality aggregate and asphalt mixture for the Mississippi market," APAC Mississippi Inc., Engineering Services

APAC Mississippi, Inc., donated a Caterpillar asphalt roller, at right, to our Workforce and Community Services division that will be used for training students enrolled in the Heavy Civil Construction program. Pictured at left is an excavator also used in the program that teaches students about the safe operation of heavy equipment.

Manager James Williams said. "To accomplish our goals, a well-trained staff is necessary. The partnership between APAC and EMCC has resulted in providing well trained students who have the potential to make an immediate impact on our industry. We view this donation as an investment into the next generation of highly trained individuals in our industry."

Tests reveal pandemic hindered student learning

By Kayleigh Skinner
And Kate Royals
Mississippi Today

State test results from the spring paint the first picture of how the pandemic has affected Mississippi students' learning — and overall, it's not good.

The results from the spring administration of state tests, or the Mississippi Academic Assessment Program (MAAP), show the percentage of students who passed the tests dropped 9% in English and 14% in math statewide. These assessments measure student achievement in grades 3-8, and high schoolers also take an English II and Algebra I test.

These results, presented to the Mississippi State Board of Education in late September, offer a snapshot of the effect the pandemic has had on K-12 education in the state. State tests were not administered in 2020 because of the virus, which shut down schools in spring of that year.

This also marks the first time proficiency levels, or the percentage of students who scored at the two highest levels on the tests, dropped since the test was first administered in 2016.

This year, 34.9% of students were proficient in English and 35.1% were proficient in math. Proficiency refers to the percentage of students who scored at a level 4 or 5 (proficient or advanced) on a 1 through 5 scale. A level 1 indicates a score of "minimal," 2 is "basic" and 3 is "passing."

But Carey Wright, state superintendent of education, said she was "pleasantly surprised" the numbers did not decrease more than they did. She also praised schools for ensuring that around 96% of students came into buildings and participated in testing in the spring, even when some were learning entirely virtually.

"I need to be honest with you, I was pleasantly surprised that we did not drop more ... This was a historical event in our nation when you think about what happened," she said. "I think the districts pivoted and did the best they could."

She said the nearly 7% drop in English proficiency is a testament to the work of the state's teachers, and the more dramatic 12% drop in mathematics reflects national trends.

"I am proud of the way Mississippi students, families, teachers and school leaders persevered through the most challenging school year of their lives," said

Wright.

Wright also said it was important to note there were districts where student performance improved.

One of those was Ocean Springs School District, which improved its district-wide English Language Arts proficiency level compared to 2019. Bonita Coleman, the superintendent, thanked teachers "who helped ensure a worldwide pandemic did not stand in the way of our continued progress."

But a statewide analysis of students who passed the tests show declines as a state and by grade level.

Timely stops key Kemper County's District win

By Cooper Sanders
Kemper County Messenger

Things started off slow for the Kemper County High School Wildcats in their 32-21 win over the Lake Hornets on Friday night, but in the end the KCHS defense closed out the game for the winners.

"We didn't always stop them, but we got stops at the right time," said Wildcat Coach Ray Westerfield. The Wildcat defense forces three turnovers in the second half.

That's huge for our defense," said Westerfield, "For them to step up at this time in our first district ball game, that's huge for their confidence and huge for us as a coaching staff". While the Wildcats did give up over 300 rushing yards, the Wildcats did not give up a single passing yard as the Hornets were 0-7 passing, including two interceptions. "We knew Lake was gonna come down hill on us playing smash mouth football

If we get a team like Lake to throw it, that means we are doing something right in the run game", said Westerfield. After a big win opening district play, The Wildcats will travel to Macon tomorrow to face Noxubee County.

After being forced to punt from their own 28 yard line, the Wildcats gave up a blocked punt, recovered by the Hornets for a touchdown, to make the game 7-0. A few drives later Kemper County's Aaron Steele ran it in from two yards, however a missed PAT made the score 7-6. After a few empty drives for both teams, Aaron Steele threw to Rickey Little as Little ran through the defense like a freight train, breaking many tackles on his way to the end zone for a 50 yard touchdown. The two-point conversion made the score 14-7.

The run game for Lake was strong all game as on the very next drive, LHS quarterback Brady McGee broke off for a 49 yard run setting up for a 10 yard touchdown by Cornelius Mayers. The PAT then was wide right ending the half with a score of 14-13.

Lake then came out of halftime controlling the ball with the run game for a seven minute possession. On the last play of the possession McGee threw the ball deep but was intercepted by Jamar Grace. The rest of the third quarter was scoreless for both teams but after a minute of play in the fourth, Steele threw to Grace for a 44 yard touchdown to make the score 20-13, with a failed conversion.

On the next drive, the Wildcats forced a crucial fourth down for the Hornets, however Hornet running back Mayers broke free for a 45 yard touchdown. The conversion gave the Hornets a one point lead over the Wildcats. This was the final touchdown the Wildcats allowed as they ran off with the win afterwards. On the next drive Mayers ran the ball for nearly 20 yards but lost the football, which was recovered by the Wildcats. Following a 39-yard run by Di-cenzo Miller Jr., Steele ran the ball in for a four-yard touchdown. On the next drive the Hornets' quarterback McGee broke off for a run that went 72 yards but Steele once again made a big play, this time on the defense as he chased McGee down, tackling him at the five yard line. On the next play Nicholas Murray recovered a fumble inside the five yard line. The next play resulted in a holding, pushing the Wildcats back to their own 2-yard line. Steele then broke off for a 62 yard run, giving his offense even better field position. He then threw the ball to Jamar Grace once again who waltzed in for a 30 yard touchdown. If the touchdown didn't seal the deal for the Wildcats, Kessler Thompson's interception on the next play from scrimmage did.

By Cooper Sanders

Before the huge homecoming win to open district play for the Kemper County Wildcats football team, a ring ceremony was held in honor of the Lady Wildcats track team, who won the 4x200 relay State Championship last spring. The team consisted of Brynesha Bourrage, Kalyan Clayton, Jashunti Bourrage, and Zariyah Moss and was coached by Keith Cole. The team finished with a time of 1:48.01. Winning the schools first state championship in track. Cole said that to him it was just a blessing, but to the girls it gives them an opportunity to change their lives. Cole was proud of all the hard work his team put in throughout the year, for it all to end with a championship. "It shines a light on Kemper County," Cole said. "Not just for football, not just for basketball, but for track."

EMCC teams finish third in men’s and fourth in women’s

Press Reports

LIVINGSTON, Ala. — Highlighted by a pair of first-place individual finishes, the East Mississippi Community College rodeo teams placed third in men’s competition and fourth on the women’s side during this past weekend’s UWA Rodeo Showdown hosted by the University of West Alabama. The three-day NIRA Ozark Region event concluded Saturday evening at UWA’s Hines-Spree Rodeo Complex. For the EMCC men, newcomer Clay Liven-good (Cleveland, NC) led the way by claiming top honors in tie-down roping with times of 9.5 and 10.3 seconds to earn 145 team points. Local product Matt Watt (Scooba) tied for fifth place and earned 60 points in tie-down roping, while also pairing with teammate Tanner Brown (Florence) to claim fourth-place honors and 140 total points in team roping. The tandem posted a winning time of 6.1 seconds during first-round action. Brothers Cade and Cooper Cowan (Lamar) also advanced to Saturday’s short-go round in team roping for the Lions but did not register a time. The Lions’ other 110 points were collected by Myles Neighbors (Benton, AR) for his second-place showing in the steer wrestling event. His performance featured a winning effort of 4.3 seconds during first-round competition. Women’s scoring for EMCC consisted of Jaylie Matthews’ (Wynne, AR) second straight barrel racing win in as many events to begin the 2021-22 Ozark Region schedule. With winning times of 15.47 and 15.56 seconds at UWA, Matthews garnered the maximum 180 points to collect her ninth Ozark Region regular-season barrel racing victory. The reigning CNFR reserve champion barrel racer and 2019-20 Ozark Region champion previously secured four event titles in her specialty event last year and three first-place finishes during the pandemic-shortened 2019-20 rodeo season. In other EMCC women’s action this past weekend, Mikayla Joh Almond (Olin, NC) advanced to Saturday’s short-go round in break-away roping but did not score. Missouri Valley College dominated the men’s competition at UWA with 945 team points. UT

Martin earned team runner-up honors by finishing 35 points ahead of the EMCC men. Host West Alabama secured the women’s team title with 405 points to place ahead of runner-up Missouri Valley (295 pts) and Pearl River Community College (275 pts). Coach Morgan Goodrich’s EMCC rodeo teams will take a week away from competition before resuming action Oct. 14-16 at the Three Rivers College event in Sikeston, Mo.

No. 6 EMCC remains undefeated with big division win

Fast start spurs No. 6
EMCC Lions to key 30-21
road win over No. 13 Northwest

From School Reports

SENATOBIA – After scoring the game’s first 27 points, the sixth-ranked Lions of East Mississippi Community College held on for a key 30-21 road victory over No. 13 Northwest Mississippi during Thursday’s MACCC North Division clash played at Bobby Franklin Field.

Entering the game as the NJCAA’s No. 4 scoring offense (46.5 ppg) on the year, the Lions’ 20-point opening quarter began with Jamari Jones’ 19-yard scoring pass to Zias Perryman coming out of the backfield at the 8:52 mark. The point-after-touchdown attempt was unsuccessful.

Aided by a costly Northwest penalty called on a third-and-long play deep in EMCC territory, the Lions proceeded to go 74 yards on the next three plays for their second score of the quarter. Following Perryman’s 26-yard rumble and Jones’ 12-yard keeper, EMCC’s sophomore quarterback found Jontarius Henderson in the end zone from 36 yards out to make the score 13-0 with 4:27 remaining in the quarter.

The visitors closed out the first-quarter scoring by taking advantage of an opportunity created by their defense immediately following a big play during Northwest’s ensuing kickoff return. After Keyon Fordham’s 59-yard kickoff return to EMCC’s 39-yard line, Trey Laing stripped NWCC quarterback Michael Hiers of the ball from behind on the next play from scrimmage and the fumble was recovered by Devonyal Lofton near midfield. Five plays later at the 2:08 mark, Jones scored on an 8-yard keeper and Peyton Rodgers’ subsequent PAT was good to increase the lead to 20-0.

The Lions maintained their momentum into the second quarter. Set up by a 45-yard catch and run by Arkansas transfer Montae Spivey, who sped down the right sideline before cutting across the field to the 18-yard line, EMCC’s seven-play, 75-yard scoring drive was capped off by Ethan Conner’s 2-yard keeper to extend the margin to 27-0 with 9:11 still remaining in the first half.

The Rangers responded on their next possession by going 70 yards on nine plays to get on the scoreboard at the 5:41 mark when Jaquerrious Williams went untouched into the end zone from 11 yards out to cut the deficit to 27-7.

Following the intermission, the only scoring of the third quarter came on the half’s opening drive when Northwest receiver D.T. Sheffield hauled in Hiers’ 3-yard touchdown toss over the shoulder in the back left corner of the end zone. Eli Hamlin’s successful PAT completed a 10-play, 73-yard drive to make it a brand new ball game at 27-14 with 9:53 remaining in the quarter.

Later in the quarter, the Lions couldn’t take advantage of a 12-play drive, highlighted by a 47-yard run by Perryman, which consumed nearly five minutes on the game clock. Rodgers’ 32-yard field goal attempt hit off the upright during the final minute of play to keep it a 13-point contest heading into the final quarter.

In an attempt to make it a one-score game, almost half of the fourth quarter was taken up by Northwest’s 16-play, 68-yard drive that ate up seven minutes on the game clock before stalling on EMCC’s 12-yard line.

Following the Lions’ ensuing three-and-out possession and a 23-yard punt midway through the quarter, Northwest took advantage of the excellent field position at EMCC’s 31-yard line. Four plays later at the 5:38 mark, Hiers hit Sheffield again in the left side of the end zone for a 9-yard touchdown toss that cut it to a one-score game (27-21) and gave the Rangers their third straight unanswered touchdown.

The visitors immediately responded on their next possession when Jones hit Kevin Barnett around midfield for a 55-yard catch and run to the 18-yard line. The big play set up Rodgers’ 34-yard field goal that stretched it back to a two-score contest with 2:53 remaining in the game.

EMCC’s defense, which entered the contest ranked second within the NJCAA ranks in scoring defense (6.0 ppg), then essentially sealed the deal with less than two minutes left on the game clock with Lofton’s strip sack of Hiers around midfield that was recovered by Elijah Davis.

Statistically for East Mississippi, Perryman rushed for a career-high 129 yards on 18 carries, including runs of 47, 26 and 19 yards. He also had two catches for 37 yards, highlighted by his 19-yard touchdown reception to begin the game’s scoring.

EMCC’s Jones completed 19-of-33 passes for 328 yards and two touchdowns, while picking up 30 rushing yards and a score on nine attempts.

Jones once again evenly spread around his 19 completions to 10 different receivers. Josh Aka and Henderson led the way with three catches apiece for 50 and 41 yards, respectively.

Coach Buddy Stephens’ 5-0 EMCC Lions, 3-0 in MACCC North Division play, return to the Scooba campus for two consecutive home division games. After playing host to the Northeast Mississippi Tigers on Saturday (Oct. 9), the Lions will stay at home to welcome the Coahoma Tigers the following Thursday (Oct. 14). EMCC’s upcoming Homecoming contest against Northeast will kick off at 2 p.m. at Sullivan-Windham Field.

Thank You

To the people of DeKalb, Kemper County, and the surrounding areas:

Thank you for your love, your giving hearts, and most of all your prayers. I am doing ok and, on my way, back to "maybe" normal if at all possible. The food, clothing, and many gifts but most of all your prayers have seen me through this most trying time and I am hopefully on my way back to normal. I lost everything except my night gown, even my little 5 cats and 4 dogs, which actually saved my life by waking me up to find my home in flames. I have always been known as a collector and a keeper. Family things given to me, the gifts that my students gave me over the years, things that people were tired of- I collected, they all carried special memories. These were my treasures. Even all my wedding gifts- I had kept everyone. Such beautiful memories they gave me, also all the special gifts from my students. Thank all of you again for making this most trying time more bearable for me.

Sincerely and with love,

Officials shortage leads MHSAA to alter football schedules

By Laurence Hilliard
Kemper County Messenger

The Mississippi High School Activities Association has moved final regular season football games up one day. For 2A, 3A and 4A teams, including Kemper County, the final game will be Thursday October 28. For 1A, 5A and 6A teams it will be Thursday November 4.

The changes were made because of a shortage of officials available. Games for 1A, 5A and 6A scheduled for Friday October 29 will not change and opening round playoff games for 2A, 3A and 4A will remain on Friday November 5. For each week, about half the games will be played on Thursday and half on Friday. Games that will be changed include Kemper County at Nanih Waiya from October 29 to October 28. It's a Region 5-2A game that could affect region standings and seedings for the playoffs. In a You Tube video on the MHSAA website, executive director Rickey Neaves said "This is a change we feel like we have to make. I think it's a good plan and it's even a plan we might consider next year or for every year to ensure that we get the best officials possible for our year-ending games and for all of our playoff games." The changes will give teams one fewer day to prepare for the final regular season game, but one additional day for playoff teams to prepare for opening round games. Kemper County coach Ray Westerfield said having one fewer day to prepare for a region opponent is significant. "One less day of watching film. One less day of rehabbing injuries. One less day of practice. But the good thing is that we will all have an even playing field.

You have to play the hand that has been dealt and put your best foot forward. The game will be played on Thursday whether we are prepared or not." Conversely, he said the extra day to prepare for a playoff opponent is a plus. "One more day to watch film. One more day to rehab. One more day to meet with your coaches and get a game plan when it's win or go home."

THE GREAT LAKES

The Great Lakes are five large lakes located in the northeastern part of the United States. They create a large lake system that makes up the largest body of freshwater on Earth. They are named Lake Michigan, Lake Huron, Lake Superior, Lake Erie, and Lake Ontario. Lake Michigan is completely within the borders of the United States, while the others are located between the U.S. and Canada. Lake Superior's name reflects its size; it is the largest and deepest of the five lakes, being the largest lake in the World. Only the Caspian Sea is larger. Lake Ontario is the smallest. Lake Erie has the shallowest waters, while Lake Huron has one of the longest shorelines. The States that touch the Great Lakes are Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and New York. Michigan has the most shoreline of lakes in the United States. The five lakes are connected to the Atlantic Ocean via the Saint Lawrence Seaway. The Seaway is a system that is attached to the Saint Lawrence River. It allows large ships to transport important items to many states in the US and Canada. The lakes are so large that they affect the area's weather. The Lakes keep the shorelines cooler in the Summer and warmer in the Winter. Lake-effect winds can create strong storms; many rival the turbulent storms out in the Oceans. Ships must proceed with caution. Today the area is industrialized with the coal and iron industries, but it was once a rich fur-trading region. Some of the largest U.S. cities, such as Detroit and Buffalo, were established due to the lakes. Sports and recreational areas are found around the lakes where people spend their summer vacations. A variety of plants and animals live in and around the Great Lakes. Scientists believe that the lakes were formed tens of thousands of years ago by glaciers moving during the Ice Age. Today, they are an important part of the economy and ecosystem in America.
