

THE LAS CRUCES
Bulletin

Gregory Ewing, Ed.D.
Superintendent

DEAR STUDENTS,

Summer break is here, and what a wonderful school year it has been! Now, it's time to relax. Be sure your summer includes reading, writing and staying active. Set a goal for yourself on how many books you'll read before the summer is over. Or, instead of playing video games, get outside and participate in fun activities such as swimming, basketball, skateboarding, and bicycling.

I hope everyone has a happy and safe summer break. I look forward to seeing all of you in August.

Books for Kids to Enjoy this Summer

Statepoint - Whether you are heading out of town on vacation or sticking around the neighborhood pool, kids need diversions in summer. Take some time to restock kids' bookshelves with great reads.

"All kids love books, even if they're too little to read. For babies and toddlers, choose kid-sized books full of bright photos that they will love looking at again and again. There's so much research showing how important reading is for a child's development. You can build on it by making the experience fun for parents and their children," says Rachel Barry, vice president of marketing and publicity at DK, a publisher of adult and children's books.

For preschoolers, consider these new titles.

Fun at the Farm

Cushioned, bumpy and shiny pages encourage sensory development, language skills, and early reading skills. As part of DK's Touch and Feel Series, "Really Feely: Farm" also introduces babies and toddlers to a favorite pre-school subject: farm animals, including fluffy ducklings, woolly sheep and a bristly pig.

Learning Adventure

Help build your baby's identification and language skills. In "100 First Words," photography and labels introduce primary concepts like shapes, colors and animals, and encourage pointing, naming, and talking.

Favorite Animals

A classic board book, "Baby Touch & Feel: Animals," helps children develop their knowledge of animals while increasing the use of their senses. Babies will meet puppies, kittens, penguins and other animals throughout the pages of this book that features photographs and touch-and-feel textures.

Pop-Up Surprises

For children who love farm animals, consider an interactive book featuring flaps, touch-and-feel textures and incredible pop-out surprises. Promoting memory, imagination and parent-and-child interaction, "Pop-Up Peekaboo: Farm" enhances the reading experience.

Feel the Love

Celebrate love and promote sensory development and early language skills with this USA Today Bestseller, "Baby Touch & Feel: I Love You," which features soft bunnies, fuzzy teddy bears, sparkly hearts and more.

More kids' books that can make the summer season fun can be found at PenguinRandomHouse.com.

Create a love of learning and literature during the preschool years by providing kids with great reading material all year long.

Summer School

May 31 - June 29, 2017

Held at Rio Grande Preparatory Institute (RGPI) in Mesilla

Whether you'd like to get ahead or catch up on major core credits, summer school gives high school students the opportunity to earn up to two (2) full credits. Courses are taught in two parts, part A and part B. Students can enroll in just one part to earn a half (.5) credit or enroll in both parts to earn one (1) whole credit. Fees for summer school are $50 per credit, and a free lunch will be provided for summer school students.

Any high school senior who needs to complete one or more credits to graduate will have the opportunity to still graduate with their class at a summer graduation ceremony on June 29 at Centennial High School. All LCPS high schools will be represented at the summer graduation ceremony, which is attended by high school principals and dignitaries.

For more information, contact: RGPI Principal Kathie Davis at (575) 527-6058

Keeping Cool During Summer Activities!

Parents, if you have children who ride the bus this summer or children who spend quite a bit of time outside, here are some tips to help keep them safe:

- Encourage children to drink water frequently at home and at school. Send a water bottle to school with your child, and/or a portable hand-held fan.
- Dress students in light-weight, loose-fitting, cotton clothing.
- Talk to your child about the dangers of getting overheated. Inform your child to report to an adult immediately if they experience: heavy sweating, dizziness, nausea, vomiting, weakness or fatigue, cramping in arms, legs or abdomen.
