Juneteenth Celebration CORBETT CENT

Christopher Brooks addresses the audience at the Juneteenth Celebration held by the New Mexico State University Black Student Association and the Associated Students of New Mexico State University on Friday, June 19. He told the crowd he was excited to see such a diverse turnout. The gathering, from 7-8:30 p.m., was in remembrance of when American slavery ended. It also honored the many contributions that African Americans have made in the United States throughout the years, and it was a call for a brighter future for all people of color. The celebration drew more than 100 people and included 10 speakers, dancing and live music.

County hosts COVID-19 Testing

Doña Ana County hosted COVID-19 testing coordinated by New Mexico's Department of Health for County employees and their families, at the Government

John E. Kutinac, health promotion program manager with New Mexico Department of Health and Amanda Bowen, coordinator with the Office of Emergency Management schedule testing with organizations and coordinate with several agencies for each testing event. The County's testing included representatives from the Army National Guard, Doña Ana County Fire and Emergency Services, Las Cruces Fire Department and several DOH staff.

"To make it easy and accessible, we offered several ways to pre-register and we also tested anyone who drove or walked up to get tested," Kutinac said. "We provided about 129 tests. Because 87 people pre-registered, the process ran very smoothly and no one waited longer than five minutes."

To schedule testing and more information, please call the Las Cruces Public Health Office Appointment Line at (575) 528-5063.

Local DARE officer says message remains relevant

By JESS WILLIAMS

Las Cruces Bulletin

International Day against Drug Abuse and Illicit Trafficking was scheduled for Friday. June 26. but the COVID-19 pandemic has put the kibosh on local plans to hold associated events.

Doña Ana County Sheriff's Department Deputy and DARE Office Jamar Cotton said there's no reason to despair, because the program's message remains alive and well.

"I've been a DARE instructor for three years," Cotton said. "D.A.R.E. stands for Drug Abuse Resistance Education. The importance of this program is to bring awareness and prevention to many of the issues within communities and households. It's a message about problem solving, social building, anti-bullying, leadership and strategies about how to be safe from drugs, alcohol, negative peer pressure, strangers, gangs and other issues that students face."

According to New Mexico Youth Advocacy Board Member Shaylie Salopek, DARE America was founded in 1983 to break the generational cycle of drug-related crimes and

Cotton said he regularly takes the DARE message and programming to area classrooms, where he said he's consistently impressed with the reception of the message by students of all ages.

"Being a DARE Officer is important, because it allows me to create the positive energy students need to be successful." he said. "It creates a bond between law enforcement. students, families, schools and communities. Also, as a DARE officer, I get to change lives within the school. I get to learn from the many students and families, as well. As a DARE officer. I have a responsibility to educate, learn and create an atmosphere that fosters positivity, healthy choices and a drug-free zone."

While other aspects of being a deputy initially called Cotton to the lawenforcement profession, he said the DARE curriculum and his interaction with students has come to be a part of the job that he most values.

He said that while there aren't any events set for the International Day to his knowledge, the overarching continuation of the program will drive the message home over the long haul.

"DARE," he said, "is a great way to empower young people while also bringing awareness."

What's the most unusual hobby you can think about bee rescuer?

Long-time Las Cruces Potters Guild member Jan Archev and her husband. James, work with Dr. Chris Cramer, a professor in New Mexico State University's Department of Plant and Environmental Sciences, and his wife. Krista Michael, to rescue

"We have been doing bee rescues since 2014." Cramer said, including a total of 65 rescue attempts. That includes working with the NMSU Grounds Department to rescue bees found on campus. All the rescues are European honeybees (Apis mellifera), he said.

"It takes three or four people to gently vacuum up the bees into a travel box that can be placed on top of an empty hive box," Archey said. "The hope is the bees will take up residence in the hive and will thrive and can be used for Dr. Cramer's onion-breeding program. The bees are necessary to pollinate the onion blooms to develop new onion varieties."

"It takes some time for the bees to adjust to their new home," Cramer said. "If they stay, the bees will build comb, produce honey and hopefully, if the queen is present, produce the next generation of bees in the hive. We keep the bees at our home or at the homes of other individuals, like the Archeys, until the bees are needed for pollination. Pollination of onion flowers occurs during May. The hives are taken to the Fabian Garcia Science Center where our onions are located. The bees remain there for a month during the pollination season."

six hives that we used for pollination," Cramer said. "As a comparison, our onion breeding program had to rent 55 additional hives from a local beekeeper for the rest of our pollination needs."

Archey said watermeter boxes and irrigation-valve boxes are two popular bee rescue sites, "because no ladders are involved."

"Sadly, bees will take up residence in the canales (decorative drains that stick out from the roof on adobe-style architecture) of homes or in a wall and are difficult to successfully rescue," she said. "Because the group rescues bees that are swarming and trying to find a new place to build a hive, very seldom will they find honey. The best thing to find is good honevcomb and brood (the eggs, larvae and pupae of honeybees). These pieces of honeycomb and brood are put into the empty hive with the hope that the bees find it familiar and they will stay in the hive."

"Often times, you remember the bee rescues that do not go well rather than those rescues that are fairly straightforward." Cramer said.

He remembers one rescue in which the Archeys participated that involved taking bees from the roof of an NMSU building. "The rescue was quite precarious as the bees were located in a wall at the outside corner of the roof," Cramer said.

Jan had one bee get into her bonnet "and her lip swelled like Marge Simpson," she said. "The others have also been stung on occasion, but most bee recoveries are calm."

Archey said she and James enjoy bee-rescue outings, "and pollination is essential to the work Dr. Cramer is doing. We would much rather try to rescue bee swarms than have people spray them."

Bees "are very helpful

Bee rescuers at work under the eaves of a house for our breeding program," he said. "Sometimes they are considered a nuisance, but they are very beneficial. Honeybees are extremely important for their pollination. Much of the food that we eat would not be possible without pollinations. Honeybees are used extensively for seed production."

Local radio host wraps up his 'Dry River' run

As a kid growing up in Deming, Trevor Hodgkins found a magic box in his grandparents' Winnebago. It was an 8-track tape player.

"I'd click it over to channel 2, and there it was: Johnny Cash, 'Ring of Fire' and 'Ghost Riders in the Sky,'" Hodgkins said. "Hearing that CLACHUNK when jumping to another track was a real audible delight for me."

On drives from Deming to Las Cruces, he subconsciously absorbed the country music playing on his parents' AM radio. But what music did he first get when old enough to buy his own?

"It was in junior high, Def Leppard. 'Pyromania,'" Hodgkins said.

A few years later, as a student at New Mexico State University, his music interests took a turn.

"I was looking at my roommate's CD collection, which had the Grateful Dead, Bob Dylan, a bunch of jazz, and immediately started making fun of it," he said.

Instead of getting defensive.

the roommate played Hodgkins a tune: "Take Five" by the Dave Brubeck Quartet.

"Oh, no," Hodgkins said. "This is cool!"

The roommate suggested taking NMSU's Introduction to Jazz class, taught by tuba player Jim Shearer, who

e." "played music I'd never heard, On drives from Deming to Las and he was so passionate about ruces, he subconsciously ab-

During college, Hodgkins worked as a server at Red Lobster and, driving home after shifts, he discovered "Burnsland," a jazz show on KRWG-FM hosted by Las Cruces musician Bob Burns.

"He was so fantastic," Hodgkins said. "When I found out he was a local guy I couldn't believe it. I figured he was a national guy from the NPR mothership. Like Shearer, he was also so passionate. It got to the point that any money I'd made waiting tables I'd immediately blow it at Hastings (the nowdefunct music and video store) buying CDs, especially John Coltrane and Charles Mingus."

Hodgkins' own growing passion led to doing a special on KRWG-FM, a show outlining the intersecting careers of Mingus and Duke Ellington. And by summer 2013, Hodgkins had his own shows, the Friday Night Blues Show and the Saturday Night Jazz Show — "incredibly creative names." A year and a half later, Hodgkins gave them names more fitting to the Mesilla Valley. "Dry River Blues" and "Dry River Jazz" were born.

Now, though, after seven years, Hodgkins has finished his dry river run. The host airs his last programs June 26 and 27.

You can catch the final Dry River Blues from 9 p.m.-midnight, Friday on KRWG-FM, 90.7, and the final Dry River Jazz 8 p.m.-midnight Saturday. A lover of all music genres, Hodgkins, as always, will sneak some jazz on blues night and some blues on jazz night.

I discovered Hodgkins' shows fairly early in his run, but didn't listen consistently until the last year, especially since the Coronavirus shut down the weekend social and sporting events.

Hodgkins regularly plays many of my favorites, including Howlin' Wolf, Tom Waits, Nina Simone, Mingus, Elmore James, Coltrane, Sarah Vaughan, Mississippi John Hurt and so many more.

He has a great knack for finding connections between artists and musical styles. On one show, he even found a way to work in a deep track from the great country musician and songwriter Roger Miller: "My Uncle Used to Love Me but She Died."

Hodgkins has one of those great radio voices — deep, clear and resonant. He also brings a great energy, enthusiasm and humor to the shows, so much

"How ya gonna cook this meat?" I asked. She explained she had four backyard BBQ grills lined up with an engi-

That evening at the armory, four BBQ grills 'bout the size of a Toyota tire were set up on the lawn at the west entrance. A gentle breeze wafted through the cottonwood trees and carried the inviting scent of hot coals and sizzling shish kabob into the packed building. Inside, the crowd was excited, loud and beginning to perspire. Folks seeing neighbors and friends, jostling at the bar and anticipating. Soon, smoke began to thicken in the hall. It was taking a long time to cook the kabobs.

The first 40 or so people were served. The lab fat drippin' on the coals forced a continual re-

Most boards, the local city council included, have established their own rules as to how and when the public is allowed to be heard. There may not be a legal imperative to provide for public input, but there is a political one.

Typically at city council meetings, time is set aside toward the start of the meeting for the public to speak on anything that is not on the agenda that day. There are then additional opportunities for public input throughout the meeting as each agenda item is discussed.

That was before COVID-19. Since the start of the pandemic, the council has been holding virtual meetings, allowing for virtual public input via email. It's important to note, however, that the decisions reached and ordinances passed won't be virtual. They'll be very real.

During a recent work session on police reform, a number of people wanted to weigh in, both in support of reform and in support of police, which was not at all surprising. Many of them submitted passionate, strongly worded emails to drive home their points.

The submissions were then read aloud by Mayor Ken Miyagishima in a flat, neutral tone.

Public input can make a difference. I've seen numerous times when a large, vocal, well-organized group was able to change the outcome of a vote. Public officials either had a legitimate change of heart or lacked the courage to vote against the crowd. Either way, the result was changed.

It's hard to imagine anybody having their mind changed by the mayor's dry recitation of other people's emails.

About the only advantage to the new system is that nobody is able to enhance their argument through the use of semiautomatic weapons slung over their shoulders.

The virtual meetings may have made sense during the early days of the coronavirus spread, when most of society was shut down and we were still learning about what precautions were the most effective.

But they don't make sense anymore. It would seem clear now that this virus will be with us for the foreseeable future. That means the most vulnerable will need to remain at home, while everyone else figures out how to return to their jobs safely.

There is plenty of room in the council chambers for all members of the council to attend while still maintaining adequate social distancing. There is also enough room to allow the public inside the chambers to speak to council

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Lead with love

To the editor:

As we walk through our lives, we experience many twists and turns in the path. All of us have experienced tragedy, losses of family and friends, loss of financial support and more. We have also rejoiced in the joys of family, careers and our beautiful earth.

But where we stand at this moment, we are dividing ourselves into me against you. There is so much more that can be accomplished if we step back and respect the lives of all humans. I am unimpressed by the actions of many who want to hurt others to prove that the injustice that has taken place should allow them to ruin the lives of many more. How can hatred breed from actions of people in opposition of hatred result in a good outcome? We cannot and should not believe that we can take and harm just because someone else did and make it sound as if it is fair.

The same people that you are up against also have families and children who are tortured by the selfishness of thinking only of yourself. Every place i career choice brings people together for a common result, and there will be a few of those who choose to make it bad for everyone else. So does an entire group become a complete enemy? Of course not.

Evil will be fought with evil, and only when love and forgiveness enter our hearts can we be successful at changing our world and the outcome. Refuse to be evil and choose to be loving and caring to every person you meet, and choose not to attack those you don't even know. A world without rules will be the end to our lives, and we cannot expect our world to be a better place if we choose to live in chaos.

₩alk Away from Back Pain & Toward a Healthier You

The man who wrote the words, "We hold these truths to be self-evident," was later quick to document what he discovered to be another unquestioning truth. "The sovereign invigorator of the body is exercise, and of all the exercises, walking is best," Thomas Jefferson wrote during the mid-1780s. "There is no habit you will value so much as that of walking far without fatigue."

More than two centuries later, during a time when social distancing has interrupted so much within our lives, walking continues to be not just great exercise, but also great medicine.

There's no one drug that can so positively affect your body as exercise, and that's why many consider walking a wonder drug. It not only makes you healthier, but also happier — each of which is so important during this COVID-19 era.

Multiple studies have shown walking is effective in everything from losing weight, strengthening the immune system, reducing blood pressure and warding off depression, to preventing diseases such as diabetes and cancer. It's also proven effective for easing and preventing back pain, which affects 8 of 10 people in the U.S.

Walking isn't just about exercise, it's also about self-care. If you're dealing with some back pain, but you don't feel comfortable leaving your home for an assessment or treatment during the pandemic, walking can be a way to cope with, and even overcome, the discomfort. One study conducted by Tel Aviv University's Stanley Steyer School of Health Professions (2013) concluded that home aerobic walking programs may, in some cases, be as effective as clinical treatments for easing lower back pain.

work in much the same way as they do when one performs exercises specifically meant to target these areas.

What makes walking all the more effective than these other exercises is that it requires no special equipment and can easily fit into a person's daily routine.

According to another study, when people walk, their abdominal and back muscles

The inherent health benefits of a regular walking program include:

- Stronger Muscles in the Feet, Legs, Hips & Torso: This increases stability of the spine, conditioning these muscles to keep the body upright and balanced.
- A Nourished Spine: Walking encourages improved circulation, which allows the body to pump nutrients into the spine's soft tissues while washing away toxins.
- Improved Flexibility & Posture: Along with regular stretching, walking does what other, more targeted exercise is designed to do: helps increase range of motion while preventing injury through better movement. Walking also works to stimulate the brain into releasing serotonin and endorphins, neurotransmitter chemicals that can make you feel better both physically and mentally. Coupled with the simple distraction inherent in a vigorous stroll, this can lead to a 10 to 50 percent reduction in lower back pain after just a single session of walking, according to a study published in The Spine Journal.

Walking is one of the easiest, most accessible ways to get exercise. It doesn't cost anything, and it's something virtually anyone can do, even during COVID-19. When beginning a walking program, start off slow and easy, then gradually build up your speed and distance. If you struggle to begin due to back pain, impairments in movement or other ailments, consult the physical therapy team at Atrium Physical Therapy for guidance.

members in person, waiting outside the chambers until it is their turn.

City council members are essential workers. Some of their job can be done from home, but not all of it. Not only do the virtual meetings short-change public input, they are also plagued by the frustrating communication gaps and lapses that are always part of electronic meetings.

Police reform is just one of several critical issues city leaders will be addressing in the coming weeks. They need to come back to City Hall and invite the public back into the process as they face the critical decisions to come in the weeks and months ahead.

As "How 'Black Lives Matter' differs...' (June 12) made clear, systemic racism has been eating away at the core of our entire social structure for so long that it can no longer be tolerated. It certainly goes well beyond out-of-control and corrupt police.

It is time to transform all systems — the real estate and property-tax basis for funding public schools, the banking and financial system, the entire criminal-justice system, and every other government and corporate policy and practice designed to reward the privileged at the expense of the working classes and the poor. At some point, even middle- and working-class white males started seeing their tenuous privileges eroding, especially if they got caught in the gears of one or two of these systems, and now are finding it harder to deny the injustices.

But to change these systems, first we need to transform Congress and our electoral system by taking out the corrupting influence of money and power bestowed on the corporate elite by the Supreme Court in Citizens United. Hardly easy, but working together — every race, every gender, young and old, privileged or not — we can create a better world for us all.

Outgoing senators

To the editor:

Thank you to Senators John Arthur Smith and Mary Kay Papen for your decades of service to New Mexico as a whole, and to the southern part, in particular. Although I did not reside in either of your districts, various concerns, most especially water and affordable housing, brought us into working relationships from which I learned much. Even when we differed on specific points, we listened to each other and always, always grace and sense carried the day.

I know it is not easy to be the grown-up in the room. How well I remember remarking that to be called "Dr. No" by a governor might be a compliment. Over and over, I watched the lady senator just put her head down and bring enough of her colleagues to necessary action. Both individuals did their best to serve the wellbeing of our state.

In the glee of "a new day," I can only hope that grace and sense yet prevail.

State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company State Farm Indemnity Company, Bloomington, IL State Farm County Mutual Insurance Company of Texas Richardson, TX jurious to the rule of law and to common decency among neighbors. Rubel uses the vague term "government officials" in a pejorative sense and sets them up as villains intransigently resisting a favored viewpoint. And that is justification for illegal and disruptive behavior in furtherance of "the cause." In this instance, the cause is the "systematic racism and brutality that has existed in police departments across the nation since its founding" — a broad and inflammaabsurd as it is demonstrably false.

Rather than "government officials," apply the more appropriate term "our elected representatives." Rascals they may sometimes be, but they are accountable to us all through a democratic process that Rubel apparently views as a nuisance when he disapproves of their enacted laws and policies. Rubel demands some unspecified "change," and on his terms. Apparently furthering his "cause" justifies whatever means he feels appropriate under the circumstances.

So blatantly disregarding the civil rights of our fellow citizens and disrupting their peaceful daily lives in furtherance of some "cause" or some equally amorphous "protest" is acceptable? Even against those with whom they might agree (but how would they know)? Blocking traffic OK? Shouting down, shutting out or intimidating opposing views OK? Attacking law enforcement or other symbols of authority OK?

I would not suggest that Rubel would condone the appalling violence, arson, vandalism and looting we have witnessed lately, but to my mind this lawlessness is only a matter of degree and equally and altogether unacceptable.

In his own words, Rubel's "intent is to force change (emphasis added) on a group that has been stubbornly and successfully resistant to that change." That group is our elected representatives and by extension you and me.

I found the fight to see which of the three Republican candidates for the second congressional district was more of a Trumper than the other two very disturbing. Not once did I hear any of them mention their commitment to the U.S. Constitution or their commitment to the people of the second district and what we want or need here.

We now know who won and is crowned the top

Trumper. I would like to remind her that when you become an elected official, and before you can take your seat, you take an oath, which reads as follows: "I, (your name), do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter, so help me God."

Only in dictatorships do officials swear allegiance to a dictator, and we are not there, yet.

New $8 million facility at spaceport

By ELVA K. ÖSTERREICH

Las Cruces Bulletin

Putting cellphone platforms into the air to provide communication coverage in rural areas and emergency situations is highly competitive. Spaceport America has a tenant that has brought that technology race to southern New Mexico and invested $8 million in an operational base station.

HAPSMobile, Inc., a subsidiary of Japan's telecommunications operator, SoftBank Corp., and its partner AeroVironment, Inc. has announced the new operations center.

AeroVironment drones supported Spaceport America SAFE Team firefighters as they contained the Mims Lake Fire. The drones collected data and mapped the area of the wildfire. Image attached is of the SAFE Team Brush truck on Sunday, June 21.

The companies are developing an unmanned solar-powered High-Altitude Platform Station (HAPS). The stratospheric telecommunications platform, a so-called cell-tower in the sky, is designed to provide better communications to underserved areas.

Spaceport America's Director of Business Development Scott McLaughlin said all the construction was done through AeroVironment, Inc.

"It wasn't a state procurement," he said. "They had to find a test area. They built a parking area, road, electrical infrastructure, hangar and a large test area. They put in office space and did a lot of paving and electrical work. The infrastructure was all sourced locally."

New Mexico-based construction firm Sandy

Jones Contractor was tasked to build the project. The New Mexico team turned the project around in less than four months, employing all local contractors — 65 in total.

"This was one of the largest projects ever built in Sierra County," Jones said. "Not only did we only use New Mexico workers, all the materials were sourced locally as well. This was a huge boost to our local economy – especially when we've been hit so hard with the COVID-19 pan-

"If successful, the testing could go on for several more years as they test the platform and get certified by the FAA, which means a long-term job presence in the area," McLaughlin said.

The New Mexico Economic Development Department (NMEDD) supported the expansion with $500,000 from the Local Economic Development Act (LEDA) fund. LEDA was created by the Legislature to assist new and expanding businesses with financial support for land, buildings and/or infrastructure.

Gas service critical to new plant

By CASSIE MCCLURE AND SUZANNE MICHAELS

When pipe manufacturer Big Tuna was looking for a new location to call home, three components were critical: a reliable supply of natural gas, the right weather and a location near major customers in New Mexico, West Texas. Wyoming and Colorado. Las Cruces filled the bill perfectly, and Las Cruces Utilities (LCU) was able to provide the natural gas Big Tuna requires.

Big Tuna's product: glass-reinforced epoxy pipe, similar to fiberglass, used in oil, gas and mining operations.

LCU Gas Associates assist a local contractor boring underneath West Amador Avenue to install a new gas main to pipe natural gas to Big Tuna, a manufacturing company producing specialized pipes for oil, gas and mining industries.

Cruces could handle Big Tuna's natural gas needs was a straightforward process, said Mike Watters, director of operations for Big Tuna USA.

"It was very easy to work with LCU," Watters said. "Early on we engaged with the State of New Mexico and the City of Las Cruces for building permits, and LCU found ways to help support us with natural gas delivery that works for our needs."

Big Tuna is located on West Amador Avenue, where Watters said he expects to see the first rounds of pipe production in Las Cruces by September, employing 20, with additional jobs coming on in the future.

LCU can be reached at 575-528-3500 from 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. LCU provides services to approximately 100,000 Las Cruces residents and businesses.

"The Chi"

Change and redemption are the overarching themes of this Showtime drama's third season, which finds Ronnie (Ntare Mwine) on a path of healing after forgiving and being forgiven, Emmett (Jacob Latimore) juggling the demands of business and family and Kevin (Alex Hibbert) trying to make a fresh start of it at his new school.

Entertainment comes this "Into the Dark" horror tale about a woman who adopts an emotional support dog to calm her anxiety only to discover the canine will kill anyone who makes her upset. Judy Greer, Steve Guttenberg, Ellen Wong and Maria Conchita Alonso head the cast for director Tyler MacIntyre. (ORIGINAL)

"Movie: Carrion"

Dark events from the past resurface when a young woman shows up on her cousin's doorstep after 10 years and a mysterious person in the woods follows their every move in this 2020 horror tale from first-time feature filmmaker Michael Zaiko Hall. Jenya Chaplin, Chloe Caro and Nathan Knight head the cast.

"Movie: The Gallows Act II"

A malevolent entity rears its head when a new student at a prestigious acting school participates in a viral challenge in this 2019 horror tale from co-directors Travis Cluff and Chris Lofing ("The Gallows"). Ema Horvath, Chris Milligan and Brittany Falardeau head the

7 p.m. on KDBC 47th Annual Daytime Emmy Awards

Like most ceremonies taking place during the COVID-19 pandemic, the 47th Daytime Emmy Awards will be a virtual affair, with winners making their acceptance speeches remotely from their homes. One bright spot? At least these awards are back on broadcast television, after languishing on streaming social platforms in recent years.

8 p.m. on KRWG Great Performances

Emmy- and Golden Globe-winning actress Christine Lahti stars as feminist pioneer Gloria Steinem in the new "Gloria: A Life" featuring an all-female cast playing both male and female roles. Playwright Emily Mann devotes Act 1 to a chronicle of Steinem's life, particularly in terms of her path to activism. Act 2, however, changes format to a "talking circle" with the audience, moderated by Steinem herself, to discuss some of the play's themes.

tonight's picks

Ewan McGregor

6 p.m. on TCM Movie: A Hard Day's Night

Picture hordes of screaming girls, and you've got this film figured out. John, Paul, George and Ringo were on top of the world in 1964 when the Beatles made their film debuts in this madcap, high-energy musical directed by Richard Lester. Victor Spinetti co-stars; the score includes "And I Love Her," "If I Fell," "Can't Buy Me Love, "I Should've Known Better," and the title cut. Airing tonight as part of "The Essentials: '60s Rock Films" themed lineup.

6 p.m. on EPIX Movie: Judy

The casting of Renée Zellweger in the lead of a Judy Garland biopic initially raised some Hollywood eyebrows, but her performance in this 2019 adaptation of a hit play silenced skeptics, as she picked up best actress trophies at the Oscars, Golden Globes, the SAG Awards and the U.K.'s BAFTA Awards.

6 p.m. on OWN Love & Marriage: Huntsville

A new couples special edition of the show finds Kimmi and Maurice Scott siting down for the first time since the reunion special to offer some inside dirt as far as what they considered the high and low points of Season 1. The pair also will reveal some exclusive details concerning their wedding day and Monster's big move, plus hint at some previews for Season 2, which premieres in July.

8 p.m. on TRAV Terror in the Woods

A family who is in the process of very happily settling into their new home suddenly have a case of buyer's remorse after they stumble upon a terrifying creature while taking a walk in the woods surrounding their residence in a new episode called "We Were Goners and

I Smelled Rotting Flesh." In another segment, a young woman encounters an eerie apparition in a Kentucky cemetery.

9 p.m. on TRAV My Paranormal Nightmare

The new episode "Cursed" offers stories about unsuspecting humans who become targeted by hellish spirits who plan to taunt and torture them relentlessly. A mother and daughter become the terrified victims of a family curse they never even have heard of, and a teen boy is attacked by an unseen force. Finally, a young girl senses an evil presence that is hiding in her closet.

9 p.m. on HBO Movie: Doctor Sleep

Mike Flanagan, who previously directed the acclaimed 2018 TV adaptation of "The Haunting of Hill House" for Netflix, followed that up by writing, directing and editing this 2019 adaptation of Stephen King's 2013 literary sequel to his chilling masterwork "The Shining." Ewan McGregor stars as the now-adult Danny Torrance, who is trying to recover from the chronic alcoholism he fell into to mute his psychic power when he starts getting telepathic messages from a young girl (Kyliegh Curran) who also has a shining.

tonight's picks

Daveed Diggs

6 p.m. on BET; 7 p.m. on KDBC The BET Awards 2020

The annual ceremonies celebrating African-Americans and other American minorities in music, acting, sports and other fields of entertainment over the past year air live in most markets from Los Angeles, with actress and comic Amanda Seales serving as host. Among this year's field of nominees, Drake leads with six nods, followed by Megan Thee Stallion and Roddy Ricci with five each. Ricci, Danileigh, Lil Nas X, Pop Smoke, Summer Walker and Ybn Cordae are up for best new music artist. The awards also air on BET.

7 p.m. on HISTORY World War II: Race to Victory

More than 156,000 British, American and Canadian soldiers are transported across the English Channel in the largest airborne invasion ever attempted as this six-hour documentary series concludes with the finale "D-Day and Beyond." Finally yielding to pleas from Stalin, Churchill agrees to open a second front in Europe. sending Allied troops to liberate Nazi-occupied France. After that, those forces will fight their way to Germany, with the Russian Red Army advancing from the East, bringing down Hitler's empire between them.

7 p.m. on TNT Snowpiercer

In a new episode called "The Universe Is Indifferent," Melanie (Jennifer Connelly) intensifies her search for Layton (Daveed Diggs) among the diverse and highly polarized passengers aboard Snowpiercer. Meanwhile, Layton is trying to find a way to use Melanie's secret against her, and when he presents the Third Class passengers with a choice, they must face a reckoning.

9 p.m. on SHOW Black Monday

This critically acclaimed comedy began Season 2 back in March, but was forced to go on hiatus after six of 10 episodes had aired due to the COVID-19 pandemic, which shut down post-production work on the final four episodes. Those final half hours resume tonight, as the story picks up with a new episode called "Who Are You Supposed to Be?."

10 p.m. on HBO Perry Mason

Much to her mother's (Lili Taylor) dismay, evangelical preacher Sister Alice (Tatiana Maslany) offers the Dodsons her church's full moral and financial support in the new episode "Chapter Two." While following up a routine domestic disturbance, Paul Drake (Chris Chalk) gets redirected to a grisly crime scene with a confounding evidence trail. After Mason gets a jaw-dropping admission out of Baggerly (Robert Patrick), he confronts Emily (Gayle Rankin) about her husband's alibi, drawing outrage from Della (Juliet Rylance).

11 p.m. on HBO I'll Be Gone in the Dark

Based on her book of the same title, this six-part documentary explores writer and blogger Michelle McNamara's investigation into a violent predator she eventually would dub the Golden State Killer. Known initially as the East Area Rapist, this serial killer terrorized California in the 1970s and '80s, when 50 home-invasion rapes and at least a dozen murders were attributed to him. In the premiere, McNamara delves into online chat rooms and crime blogs, becoming immersed in details of the crimes committed by the still-unidentified murderer and connecting with like-minded sleuths.

11 p.m. on SHOW Penny Dreadful: City of Angels

Sad news spreads quickly through the Crimson Cat as Season 1 concludes with the finale "Day of the Dead." Fly Rico (Sebastian Chacon) tries to calm the increasingly volatile crowd while Rio (Natalie Dormer) argues for the mob to seek vengeance. Elsewhere, Peter Craft, Elsa (Rory Kinnear, Dormer in another guise) and the boys are trapped in their car during a riot as Tiago (Daniel Zovatto) desperately tries to help Mateo (Johnathan Nieves). tonight's picks

Dwayne Johnson

7 p.m. on KTSM The Titan Games

In the new "West Region 3: The Circus Comes to Town," as Western division rivals continue head-to-head challenges designed by host Dwayne Johnson, Robbie Rodriguez faces off against Wayne Skivington for the men, while Lindsey Hamm takes on Jamarra Garrett for the women. Obstacles includes Nuts & Bolts, Chain Linked, Lunar Impact and Kick Out. Cari Champion and Alex Mendez provide commentary.

7 p.m. on TRAV Buried Worlds With Don Wildman

A new episode called "The Nazis' Supernatural Weapons" takes host Don Wildman to Poland and Germany, where he is given access to a mysterious Nazi diary. The book contains ominous clues that eventually lead Wildman to a cave that was used to hide treasures, as well as a crypt where Nazis once held occult rituals. As part of his investigation, Wildman takes part in a witches' ritual to see how Adolf Hitler attempted to use black magic to conquer the world.

8 p.m. on COOK Bizarre Foods: Delicious Destinations

The new episode "Nova Scotia" finds host Andrew Zimmern exploring some iconic dishes of this picturesque Canadian province, which became a major fishing hub after Europeans settled here in the 16th century. The proximity of the sea to virtually all of Nova Scotia means the region's menus are filled with cold-water lobster, seafood chowder, and haddock and chips, plus blueberry grunt and rappie pie, a savory dish made of rehydrated potatoes and salted pork.

tonight's picks

CeCe Moore

7 p.m. on TLC Outdaughtered

In the Season 7 finale, "Quints in Quarantine," the Busbys begin self-filming their experience in quarantine after the state of Texas issues a shelter-athome order for all residents due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Danielle and Adam manage to sustain a sense of stability and normalcy in their home by keeping the girls entertained with activities like gardening, constructing extravagant tent forts and taking turns dressing one another. The parents face another challenge, though, as the quints' turn 5 under quarantine, making a conventional birthday party impossible.

7 p.m. on OWN Greenleaf

In the new episode "The Second Day," Grace (Merle Dandridge) finds a welcome anchor in a world that seems to be spinning out of control when Noah (Benjamin Patterson) returns to Memphis to help her with A.J. (Jacob Gibson). Meanwhile, Lady Mae and Bishop (Lynn Whitfield, Keith David) reflect on their shared history as they visit Mavis' club, which they're considering as a potential venue for future ventures. Elsewhere, Jacob (Lamman Rucker) uncovers a shocking revelation about the Greenleaf family history.

8 p.m. on COOK Symon's Dinners Cooking Out

As summer gets into full swing, chef Michael Symon steps outside and fires up the grill to share some of his most requested outdoor-cooking recipes in this new series, which grew out of some live, self-shot cooking demos Symon has been offering during quarantine. In the opener, "Mama Mia, What a Meatball!!," Michael prepares the grill for chicken parmesan meatballs with ricotta cheese and sweet red sauce. Meanwhile, his wife, Liz, cooks soft polenta over the fire pit.

9 p.m. on KVIA The Genetic Detective

In the Season 1 finale, "The Hot Case," a St. George, Utah, detective invites investigative genetic genealogist CeCe Moore to help investigate her first case involving a crime that happened just three weeks ago: the rape of a 79-year-old woman. Moore doesn't waste any time getting started, since she knows the assailant could strike again at any moment. While working this case, she also has the satisfaction of seeing a conviction in a murder case she handled in the season finale.

10 p.m. on NGC Lost on Everest

Joined by a world-class team of veteran professional climbers, journalist and adventurer Mark Synnott and National Geographic photographer Renan Ozturk embark on a challenging quest to answer a puzzling mystery in exploration: What happened to the celebrated explorers Andrew "Sandy" Irvine and George Leigh Mallory, who disappeared during a 1924 attempt on the first summit of Mount Everest? Mallory's body was found in 1999, but Irvine's remains have not been recovered. The production team faces major hazards of their own during this mission.

and co-writer Tina Gordon's 2019 comedy fantasy, which Martin first pitched in 2014 after seeing the classic comedy "Big." Regina Hall ("Girls Trip") stars as Jordan Sanders, a ruthless tech mogul who bullies everyone around her until a child's wish turns her into a 13-year-old (Martin) to take her down a peg or two. Issa Rae, Justin Hartley, Tone Bell, Rachel Dratch and Mikey Day also star.

7 p.m. on KDBC Game On!

Irish professional wrestler Becky Lynch joins Team Gronk, while actor Joel McHale signs on with Team Venus in tonight's new episode. Among the challenges, the teams compete in Human Darts and Sumo Wrestling, as well as try to break two Guinness World Records: fastest 10-meter heel-to-toe walk and most balloons burst in one minute by sitting on them. Keegan-Michael Key is the host.

7:50 p.m. on EPIX Movie: Trauma Center

Director Matt Eskandari's efficient 2019 action thriller stars Bruce Willis as Lt. Steve Wakes, a veteran cop who is determined to find and arrest the bad guys who fatally shot his partner and a very useful informant. Madison Taylor (Nicky Whelan), who witnessed those killings, also was caught in the crossfire of the violence and is now recuperating in the hospital, with Steve assigned to provide protection. Madison doesn't realize — nor does Steve — that the murderers actually are a pair of dirty cops (Tito Ortiz, Texas Battle).

8 p.m. on COOK Food Paradise

Among the mouthwatering featured foods in the new episode "Tasty Taverns," a Frenchtrained chef has a growing base of fans who happily line up for the high-quality Mexican fare he's slinging, while at another eatery, big beer and bold burgers never fail to be a draw. The owners of a pizza parlor reveal the secret behind their success, while the kitchen in a busy New York tavern smothers its burgers and spikes its addictive shakes.

9 p.m. on KRWG Prehistoric Road Trip

As she drives closer to our present-day in the Season 1 finale "Tiny Teeth, Fearsome Beasts," host and YouTube educator Emily Graslie discovers some previously unnoticed truths written into the fossil record. Meanwhile, scientists who likewise are studying the past of planet Earth are finding clues pointing to what may lie ahead in the future for our world.

"Hip Hop Edition: Electing to Face the Music" opens Season 17 of this popular relationship series, in which Dr. Ish Major and Judge Lynn Toler try to help larger-than-life personalities who seem to have it all, except a rewarding relationship with the most important person in their life. Celebrities this season include reality TV star Phaedra Parks and actor-rapper Medina Islam, Willie Taylor and Shanda Denyce from "Love and Hip Hop Hollywood," and model Toni Monroe with rapper Kurupt, among others.

What's Available NOW On

prime video

"Movie: Child's Play"

A family is terrorized and forced to fight for its life against a high-tech doll that becomes self-aware — and, subsequently, filled with homicidal rage — in Lars Klevberg's 2019 remake of the 1988 horror classic of the same title, also standing as a reboot of the whole long-running slasher franchise. Mark Hamill voices Chucky, the bloodthirsty toy; Aubrey Plaza, Gabriel Bateman, Brian Tyree Henry and Tim Matheson also star.

"Movie: Disobedience"

Shunned by her Orthodox Jewish community for her attraction to a female childhood friend (Rachel McAdams, "Midnight in Paris"), a woman (Rachel Weisz, "The Constant Gardener") returns to find the passions still exist in this 2017 drama movie from director Sebastián Lelio ("Gloria"). Anton Lesser, Alessandro Nivola and Allan Corduner are also in the cast.

"Transparent"

All five seasons of this Emmy-winning Amazon comedy about a family of Los Angeles eccentrics whose secrets come to the surface when the patriarch (Jeffrey Tambor) admits he self-identifies as a woman return to the streaming service. Judith Light, Amy Landecker, Jay Duplass and Gaby Hoffmann are also in the stellar cast. (ORIGINAL)

"Hanna"

In Season 2 of this high-concept thriller, Hanna (Esme Creed-Miles) is now aware that she is not the only young woman with elite skill and training as the Utrax program has produced a whole contingent of highly trained teens whose development is about to reach the lethal second phase. Dermot Mulroney joins the cast as Utrax overseer John Carmichael, with Mireille Enos returning as CIA operative Marissa Wiegler. (ORIGINAL) Season Premiere

Right at Home

For 50 years, the Las Cruces Bulletin has been your hometown community newspaper.

During this current time of uncertainty, we are working diligently to keep you informed, as well as inspired and, we hope, entertained.

We will continue delivering our full, printed edition each Friday, and also check our website, www.lascrucesbulletin.com. We're updating the site frequently with the ever-changing news regarding the pandemic.

We're also providing snapshots of the news with our eBulletin, which we deliver each Tuesday to our email list, with an increased, almost daily, frequency during the pandemic. If you're not on our eBulletin mailing list, send a request to richard@lascrucesbulletin.com.

We're right at home with you.

Empty Bowls taking shape as Potters Guild plans for October event; donations welcome

Editor's note: This is the first in a series about the Potters Guild of Las Cruces and Empty Bowls 2020.

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

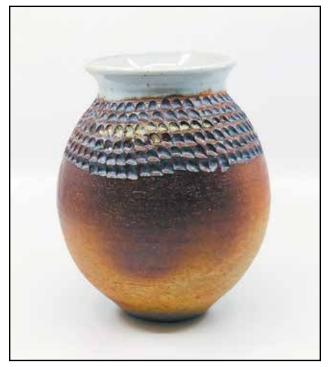

The Potters Guild of Las Cruces (PGLC) is moving ahead with plans for the 27th annual Empty Bowls fundraiser, which benefits El Caldito Soup Kitchen. Last year's event raised more than $27,000 for El Caldito, and PGLC organizers are hoping for an even bigger and more successful event this year.

This year's Empty Bowls is scheduled Friday, Oct. 16, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, 225 W. Griggs Ave.

Here's a Q&A with PGLC Empty Bowls Chair Erica Cordero about the event and her work as a potter.

Bulletin: The plan is for PGLC to go ahead with Empty Bowls on Oct. 16, 2020, correct?

Cordero: Of course. we can't see that far into the future, but we are still planning on going ahead with Empty Bowls 2020. With the uncertainty of the future, we may need to change certain aspects of the event to still raise funds for El Caldito and

keep all those attending and those volunteering

Bulletin: Do you need donations to buy the 1,000 or so pounds of clay you need to make the bowls for this year's Empty Bowls? If so, what's the best way for people to make donations?

Cordero: There is a need for donations for purchasing the needed amount of clay for Empty Bowls. The Potters' Guild is (a nonprofit) and donations may be tax exempt. Those interested in making a donation may contact me at ericanicole. cordero@gmail.com. Each bowl is about 1.5 pounds. We are fortunate enough to have New Mexico Clay in Albuquerque donate a portion of the clay needed. There are also some potters who work out of their home studios and will sometimes use their personal clay to make bowls and donate them to the Empty Bowls event. I have also received clay donations from guild members who are no longer working with clay.

Bulletin: Do you have to be a member of PGLC

to make bowls for Empty Bowls?

Cordero: No. Anyone interested in donating bowls for the event may do so by contacting me at ericanicole.cordero@ gmail.com and I would be happy to pick up handmade bowls individuals wish to donate.

Bulletin: How did you get into making pottery? Is there a particular type of bowl or other object you like to make the most?

Cordero: I first started pottery in 2008. I signed up for a ceramics class at Doña Ana Community College with Glenn Schwaiger. I was working on my requirements for the nursing program and wanted a class I wouldn't need to study for. I ended up loving ceramics. I've been working with clay for 12 years. I eventually joined PGLC and helped with Empty Bowls. The bowl shape I like to make is a half sphere shape. I like a wide-rimmed bowl. I feel this shape is the bowl I would want to eat soup or posole out of. I have most recently been working on sculpture pieces. Last year, I made and entered a large sea turtle sculpture in the PGLC show "From the Ground Up." I've really enjoyed the sculpture aspect of ceramics and have plans to create more animals in Bulletin: You work at home, so does that mean you have your own kiln?

Cordero: I have a home studio that I work in. This consists of a wheel, a kiln and a slab roller, along with other items that I use to create different products. I also painted an old refrigerator and turned it into a wet closet to keep my pieces workable instead of drying out with our hot and dry summers. I have worked at collecting the items I have in my home studio over several vears.

Bulletin: How can someone join PGLC?

Cordero: Any person who considers themselves a potter, ceramic artist,

NMSU Museum has retablo exhibition curators' talk

By MIKE COOK Las Cruces Bulletin

The NMSU Art Museum (UAM) will host a virtual curators' talk called "The Virgin Mary: From Immaculate Conception to Our Lady of Sorrows" at 1 p.m. Saturday, June 27, via Zoom. The talk will cover the museum's inaugural retablo exhibition, which is part of Labor: Art & Motherhood in 2020. The virtual curators' talk will explore the history of the UAM's Mexican Retablo collection.

Co-curators NMSU Art Department Assistant Professor Silvia Marinas-Feliner and NMSU graduate student Courtney Uldrich will discuss their methods in curating an exhibition in connection with motherhood and exploring the importance of the Virgin Mary as one of the most exemplary models of motherhood. UAM said.

This exhibition is the first time the retablos have been displayed since the 2000 exhibition El Favor de los Santos: The Retablo Collection of New Mexico State University. With a recent donation of more than 200 retablos by renown retablo specialist and conservator Gloria Giffords, UAM's Permanent Art Collection now houses 2,000 19th-century retablos, the largest such collection in the United States. Discussion will also include the history of the UAM collection and a behind-the-scenes look at the process of placing the recently acquired retablos into the collection.

Bulletin: What else? Cordero: I have left nursing behind and want to incorporate art with the health field. I now have my bachelor's in social work. I am working on my master's in social work and a master's in art therapy. Working closely with El Caldito and helping with Empty Bowls is just one way I can give back to my community while helping those in need.

History

· Empty Bowls began in 1992. PGLC sold 600

bowls and raised $3.500 for El Caldito in 1993. In 2015, more than $22,000 was raised, and the figure passed $23,000 in 2016. It reached $25,000 in 2018 and $27,000 last vear. Find them on Facebook at Empty Bowls of Las Cruces and on Instagram at @ emptybowlslc.

· The Potters Guild of Las Cruces was founded in 1981. Visit www.pottersguildlc.org.

El Caldito Soup Kitchen was founded in 1984. It began by offering a mid-day meal one day a week. It was relocated to the Mesilla Valley Community of Hope campus in 1998. In early 2002, services were expanded to offering a hot mid-day meal Monday through Friday. The program was further enhanced in December 2002 to provide a carryout sack lunch on Saturday. Then in early 2010. a hot Sunday lunch was added. El Caldito serves an average of 250 lunches each day. Visit www.elcalditolc.org.

Artist Daphne Wirthlin featured in Arts Council's July show

Grackle on a Limb

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

Las Cruces artist Daphne Wirthlin will be the featured artist in the Doña Ana Council's (DAAC) July show at the DAAC Arts and Cultural Center, 840 Calle de Mercado in Bulletin Plaza.

The show will begin Monday, July 6, and continue through Friday, July 31.

A long-time photographer and lover of the arts, Wirthlin became an artist when she found herself with a can of left-over house paint.

A native of Staffordshire, England, Wirthlin was given a Brownie camera at age 9 while living with her parents and twin brother in India. (Wirthlin's father worked for Shell Oil Company, and the family traveled around the world, also living in Venezuela and Mazatlán, Mexico, where he was consul.)

"I ran all over the place taking photographs when I was a kid," Wirthlin said.

She said she also was a diver and swimmer, participated in ballet and became a runner.

Wirthlin was also an actress in Canada working in theatre, film, radio, dubbing and television for 18 years. Before moving to New Mexico, she lived with her husband, Gene, a longshoreman, on the Columbia River in a sizeable floating home they designed together.

Wirthlin's art has been featured throughout the region, including The Main Street and Glen Cutter galleries in Las Cruces and the Hal Marcus Gallery in El Paso. She won first place in the juried Sweets show at Studio54@70 Gallery in Tularosa for her painting "Bon-Bons and Petit-Fours."

Wirthlin's work was also on display at Las Cruces City Hall for a year, and her piece titled "Songbirds and Soundbytes" was featured in the Southern New Mexico/El Paso juried exhibition at the Preston Contemporary Art Center. The University Medical Center in El Paso has nine of her pieces on permanent display. DAAC is open 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday-Friday. Call 575-523-6403 and visit www. daarts.org and daphnewirthlinart.com.

Film Las Cruces launches Film Friendly Business Directory

By FILM LAS CRUCES DIRECTOR DON GRAY

Special to The Las Cruces Bulletin

Film Las Cruces wants to list every local business in the region in its Film Friendly Business Directory.

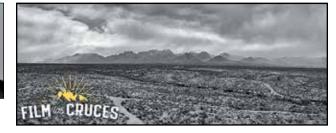

When we talk about the opportunities that exist in the film industry, we have a tendency to fixate on film crew jobs, and that's very important.

But

the part we sometimes forget is that film and TV productions are looking to spend their money locally with as many support businesses as possible when they come to town — if they can find them.

A recent study conducted by the Motion Picture Association points out that the film industry nationwide is a network of 93,000 small businesses of less than 10 employees each. It's not just the giant companies you think of that service the needs of film productions. And we need to identify those businesses locally that can support the industry. "And don't worry if your business isn't necessarily providing what you think film and TV productions need, because they need everything, from the obvious like hotel rooms and office supplies to the not-so-obvious, like real estate agents, dog walkers and local gift companies."

In an effort to list every business and support service in Las Cruces and Doña Ana County, Film Las Cruces has eliminated the requirement that businesses offer specific film industry discounts.

They still encourage discounts — it makes Las

Film Las Cruces business directory logo

Cruces and Doña Ana County that much more attractive to the industry — but it is no longer a requirement to list in the complimentary directory. Those businesses that do offer specific discounts will be identified as such in the listings.

La Tienda de Jardin has reopened

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

With the guidance of the New Mexico Department of Health and following directives from Gov. Michelle Lujan Grisham, Jardin de los Niños reopened Tuesday, June 16, at 335 La Colonia St., at the southwest corner of Alameda Boulevard and Main Street.

Hours are 10 a.m.-3 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays, said Jardin de los Niños Executive Director Michelle Adames. Donations will be accepted 10 a.m.-2 p.m. on Saturdays and by appointment, Adames said. Proceeds from La Tienda benefit Jardin, which is located within the Mesilla Valley Community of Hope complex at 999 W. Amador Ave. Jardin provides childcare, education and other services for homeless and near homeless children.

"The health and well-being of our customers, volunteers and staff is at the forefront of our plans in re-opening," Adames said. "As we re-open, we will keep our volunteers in our hearts, but will operate with only our store manager and Jardin staff. We love our volunteers and appreciate their understanding and patience. Our volunteers are part of the Jardin family.

"We will allow up to five customers into the store at a time and will follow social distancing practices," Adames said. "We ask that all patrons follow the state's order of wearing a mask or face covering when entering the store. We will also include additional cleanings and sanitization policies and procedures."

La Tienda features gently used women's clothing and accessories, along with jewelry, dishes, housewares, antiques, collectibles and knickknacks, glassware and more at a fraction of retail cost.

A $38 Million class action settlement has been reached on behalf of beneficiaries of deceased pediatric cancer patients who received treatment for Acute Lymphoblastic Leukemia (also known as "ALL") at the University of New Mexico Health Sciences Center or Hospital between January 1, 1977 and March 31, 1997 Para una notificación en Español, llamar o visitar nuestro website.

Notice of a class action settlement authorized by State of New Mexico, County of Bernalillo, Second Judicial District Court

This notice is authorized by the Court to inform you about an agreement to settle a class action lawsuit that may affect you. The lawsuit alleges that the University of New Mexico failed to administer proper treatment protocols to pediatric Acute Lymphoblastic Leukemia patients treated at the University of New Mexico Health Sciences Center or Hospital ("UNM") between January 1, 1977, and March 31, 1997. The settlement covers pediatric cancer patients who died as recently as December 1, 2019.

The Defendant UNM says that it has done nothing wrong. The Court has not decided who is right because the parties agreed to a settlement. The Court has given preliminary approval to this settlement. The Court will have a hearing to decide whether to finally approve the settlement on July 28, 2020 at 9:00 a.m.

Who is included in the settlement? You may be a Class Member if you are a family member or beneficiary of a deceased pediatric cancer patient diagnosed with ALI who was treated at UNM between January 1, 1977 and March 31, 1997 and who died on or before December 1, 2019. This lawsuit is principally about whether pediatric cancer patients who were treated for ALL at the UNM between January 1, 1977, and March 31, 1997, were given proper care.

What does the settlement provide? The University of New Mexico has agreed to create a fund of $38,050,000,00 to be divided among all Class members. The Settlement Agreement, available at the website below, describes all the details of the proposed

Your share of the fund will depend on the number of valid claims that are submitted by eligible Decedent Class Members, whether a deceased pediatric cancer patient has more than one statutory beneficiary entitled to compensation, the total amount of claims administration expenses, taxes, service awards to the named Plaintiffs in the case, and

Rabbi Larry Karol retires after nine years at Temple Beth-El

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

COVID-19 hasn't changed Temple Beth-El Rabbi Larry Karol's retirement plans, but it does mean he and his wife, Rhonda, will be staying in Las Cruces for another year. For Las Cruces' singing rabbi, it's also meant learning new skills and finding new opportunities as he has adapted weekly services and musical performances to the Internet.

Karol, 65, will retire June 30 after a 39-year rabbinate and nine years at Temple Beth-El. He will remain as rabbi emeritus at the temple until next spring, as a student rabbi from Los Angeles takes over the active leadership of the congregation.

It's been "an interesting twist to have this new challenge put before me in my last three months of my congregational rabbinate," Karol said. "I think I'm doing okay."

He said he has mastered conducting services via Zoom and Facebook and has learned how to get the best sound quality from his voice and guitar as he performs original songs about continuity, transition and connections and conducts singalongs online.

Even without people physically in the temple, Karol has continued his regular duties since the onset of the pandemic.

"We never missed a service," he said. That has included Friday night healing blessings, when a mourner's prayer is said for those who have died during the pandemic and their families and for those struggling with COVID-19.

"This is still very fulfilling and rewarding and, in some ways, a major triumph to continue the engendering of a spiritual, religious community in digital space," Karol said.

"With this situation, I see the hand of God in the response, not the cause," he said. "God gave us knowledge that we could figure out what to do to keep ourselves safe. That's the way God protects us. He is going to help you find the tools within you to deal with this time.

"Isn't that what I've been doing for 39 years anyway?" Karol asked. "It's not just about navigating a pandemic. It is sometimes about navigating doing one's duties to keep oneself competent and enthusiastic about the duties one is doing even when you're a little bit tired and spent. It's about navigating relationships, getting people to work with each other, and for you to work with them, and if one thing doesn't work, trying to find another way (and) God giving us the strength to make those things happen. It's really amazing those connections that are presented. It's about a oneness we need to preserve among ourselves, holding us all together in the human community and the universe."

After nine years at Temple Beth-El, Karol said now is a good time to retire and to begin a new chapter in his life. He plans to continue writing a course on sacred texts and downsizing his personal files and recordings. And, Karol plans to continue writing songs and his regular column in The Bulletin.

"Normally, I might describe a need to alter our course for the coming months by referring to the Yiddish saying, "Der mentsh trakht un got lakht" (Man Plans, and God Laughs)," Karol said. "I don't believe in a God who would laugh at what is happening now. I do believe in a God who would help us to be grateful for our lives, guide us to find new ways to promote healing for ourselves and others, and inspire us to sustain communal hope and to brighten our days enough so that we won't lose our sense of humor."

WELLBEING

MountainView receives prestigious accreditation

By BEN WOODS

MountainView Regional Medical Center

The American College of Cardiology (ACC) has recognized MountainView Regional Medical Center (MVRMC) for its demonstrated expertise and commitment in treating patients with chest pain. MVRMC was reaccredited with the Chest Pain Center Accreditation with Primary PCI (CPCAPPCI) in June, based on rigorous onsite evaluation of the staff's ability to evaluate. diagnose and treat patients, who may be experiencing a heart attack.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, more than 730,000 Americans suffer a heart attack each year. The most common symptom of a heart attack, for both men and women, is chest pain or discomfort.

However, women are more likely to have atypical symptoms. Other heart attack symptoms include, but are not limited to, tingling or discomfort in one or both arms, back, shoulder, neck or jaw, shortness of breath, cold sweat, unusual tiredness, heartburnlike feeling, nausea or vomiting, sudden dizziness and fainting.

Percutaneous coronary intervention (PCI) is also known as coronary angioplasty. It is a non-surgical procedure that opens narrowed or blocked coronary arteries with a balloon, to relieve symptoms of heart disease or reduce heart damage during or after a heart attack. Hospitals that have earned ACC CPCAPPCI have proven exceptional competency in treating patients with heart attack symptoms and have primary PCI available 24/7, every day of the year. As required to meet the criteria of the accreditation designation, they have streamlined their systems, from admission to evaluation to diagnosis and treatment, all the way through to appropriate post-discharge care and recommendations and assistance in patient lifestyle changes. In addition, they have formal agreements with other facilities that regularly refer heart attack patients to their facility for primary PCI.

Hospitals receiving CPCAPPCI from the ACC must take part in a multifaceted clinical process that involves completing a gap analysis, examining variances of care, developing an action plan, rigorous onsite review and monitoring for sustained success.

Improved methods and strategies of caring for patients include streamlining processes, implementing of guidelines and standards, and adopting best practices in the care of patients experiencing the signs and symptoms of a heart attack. Facilities that achieve accreditation meet or exceed an array of stringent criteria and have organized a team of doctors, nurses, clinicians and administrative staff that support the efforts leading to better patient education and improved patient outcomes.

"MVRMC is committed to making our heart care program the best it can be — and this means pursuing a path of continual improvement: ongoing evaluation of our clinical practices, and investing the latest tools, techniques and innovations," said Derrick Cuenca, CEO of MVRMC. "When the people who live and work in Las Cruces and southern New Mexico think about quality heart care, we want them to think of MountainView Regional Medical Center. Especially now, when the recent pandemic has caused some to avoid seeking care when needed, we want you to know that we are taking extraordinary steps to keep you safe. So, please do not avoid seeking the care you need and deserve."

CPCAPPCI accreditation also links MVRMC with other medical specialties and emergency services — such as EMS, emergency medicine and dispatch services in the area. These integrated relationships mean shorter response times, more seamless communication between emergency responders, and expedited treatment for cardiac patients — when minutes count.

MVRMC is one of a select number of hospitals, in the region, that carries CPCAPPCI.

MVRMC is a 168-bed facility that provides a broad range of healthcare services, including inpatient and outpatient care, diagnostic imaging and emergency, medical and surgical care.

Mesilla takes steps to prevent underage drinking

A relatively new ordinance targeting underage drinking parties took effect March 1 in Mesilla. Grown out of efforts by a county-wide network to reduce alcohol problems in Doña Ana County, the policy seeks to curb underage drinking in home settings.

Alcohol is the most widely used drug among young people. In 2018, almost 21 percent of Doña Ana County 9th graders reported drinking alcohol before age 13, according to the New Mexico Youth Risk and Resiliency Survey, and about 11 percent reported binge drinking, defined as having 4 to 5 or more drinks in a row during a two-hour period.

In Doña Ana County, 36 percent of students report someone giving them alcohol, and the majority of youth drank it in their home or in another person's home.

"Mesilla joins other concerned communities in the county to provide law enforcement with an additional tool to hold adults responsible for allowing underage drinking in the home," said Dr. Ned Rubin, chair of the Unified Prevention (UP!) Coalition of Doña Ana County.

Mesilla Mayor Nora Barraza discussed the importance of working in conjunction with its neighboring communities to keep citizens safe. "By passing laws that hold those who provide alcohol to underage individuals responsible, we join Anthony, Hatch and Sunland Park in working to challenge social norms and create an environment where underage drinking is not accepted."

Mesilla's Social Host Ordinance enables law enforcement to impose a civil fine — like a traffic ticket — on the spot if first time, the fine to the homeowner is $250, and subsequent fines in the same 12-month period go higher, and jail time can be imposed.

Ordinances like the one in Mesilla send a unified message that underage drinking parties are unsafe and unacceptable.

Dr. Rubin, alongside UP! Coalition members, congratulated the Town of Mesilla on taking a clear stand in support of the vision that every community member can live a life free of alcohol, tobacco, other drugs and adverse behaviors.

Evidence has shown that community-based strategies can help reduce underage drinking and associated harms. It is our hope that proven alcohol policies will improve our local efforts to reduce the burden youth and communities experience because of underage drinking.

Barnett Harley-Davidson reconfigures 2020 blood drive

By JESS WILLIAMS

Las Cruces Bulletin

During the COVID-19 pandemic, the need for blood donations remains high.

Traditionally, one of the largest semi-annual blood drives in the Las Cruces area is hosted by Barnett Harley-Davidson at 2600 Lakeside Dr.

More than a blood drive, the multiday event rewards donors with $10 gasoline vouchers redeemable at area Pic Quik locations. In addition, each donor is eligible to win various raffle prizes and a brand new Harley-Davidson motorcycle.

The 2020 event will be different because of the pandemic, and it will include testing for every donor to determine whether they have COVID-19 antibodies in their blood.

The antibody test — authorized by the Food and Drug Administration — will indicate if the donor's immune system has produced antibodies to the virus, regardless of whether they ever showed symptoms.

Some researchers believe the presence of antibodies may provide protection from reinfection with the virus, although there is no hard evidence indicating how long any such antibody-related immunity might last.

The 2020 blood drive will be structured so that appropriate social distancing is practiced to the greatest possible extent.

The blood drive will be held every Wednesday and Saturday through July 18, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., with the finale being held July 23-26. The drawing for the motorcycle will be held the week of July 27.

While walk-ins will be accommodated if possible, appointments are strongly recommended. To make an appointment, visit www. vitalant.org or call 877-258-4825.

Dr. Ponce has a special interest in high risk PCI, full revascularization using hydrid approach, cardiogenic shock, valvular disease, quality improvement projects and cardiovascular disease in women specially Cardio-obstetrics.

In addition to her cardiology practice, she is pursuing new opportunities to get involved in global health initiatives to provide medical care in underserved communities.

Dr. Ponce is board certified in Internal Medicine, General Cardiology, Echocardiography and Interventional Cardiology. She is board eligible for Nuclear Cardiology.

Golf etiquette is timeless, but also changing

The re-opening of golf courses necessitates

One player to a cart is generally still in place, but that will eventually be changed. Golf has long been a sport where etiquette and proper behavior are as important as the game itself. And the new demands of golfing etiquette mean that we all must abide to keep everyone safe. Of equal importance, we need to course staff who do their best to keep things running smoothly and safely.

Despite the "new normal" with golfing rules, traditional critical. Within the game of golf etiquette funda-sportsmanship and above all respect: respect for other persons, the golf course and the game itself. Good golf behavior boils down to what is expected of tour caddies: Show up, keep up and shut up. For us pedestrian golfers, that means show up early or on time, keep up the proper pace of play and play quietly.

Of course, there are many other prescribed behaviors, which are normal the several hours we are playing golf with others. Some are not so well understood by uninformed and casual golfers. For example, most everyone knows that you should not walk in the line of a playing companion's putt. But not everyone knows that you also don't walk in the "through line" of his putt. That means don't put your feet in the line of the putt within six feet on the other side of the hole, where he will have to putt if the player's ball goes past the hole.

Another example is back on the tee. Players generally know that they should stand well away from the golfer hitting his shot. But not everyone knows that you should not stand directly behind the golfer who is hitting his tee shot, since that is in his peripheral view and is a distraction.

Golf etiquette mostly means avoiding distraction or disturbance like talking loudly while others are trying to play and using phones. We need to be careful where we stand, move and avoid any noise so we do not disturb others. These are basic manners on the golf course that are expected of gentlemen and ladies.

Then there are the mundane matters of proper behavior, such as repairing fairway divots and repairing ball pitch marks on the greens. If you are playing a course that does not yet have sand bottles available, just do your best to retrieve and replace grass divots, or do your best to bump the grass over to cover the divot. We all should carry a small ball mark repair tool or use a tee to repair marks on the greens.

When you are preparing to make a practice swing or stroke, the USGA says this: "golfers should make sure that other players in the vicinity are not standing in a position to be hit by the golf club, ball or any twigs, pebbles or stones."

And from my personal experience, don't stand adjacent to the tee markers after you have hit and perform practice swings! My all-time favorite bit of etiquette advice came from Mark Twain: "It's good sportsmanship not to pick up lost golf balls while they are still rolling."

Summer Reading at the Library

Your imagination is a powerful thing! It can take you to places you've never been, let you experience moments in history, or transport you to fantastic worlds full of unbelievable things! What story will you tell?

Branigan Library is pleased to offer two ways to participate in our 2020 Summer Reading Program, online via Wandoo Reader, or with the traditional paper reading logs. Sign up today!

Our fourth week of Summer Reading asks you to complete challenges. Some of the things for this week are:

- Read for 60 minutes!
- Read something NEW to you! Try a new genre or start a new series!
- Decorate a rock we will create a Rock Garden here at the library.
- Take a walk, try to find one thing for every color of the rainbow (ROYGBIV)

You can find our Wandoo reader and information about where you can check in with in person (masks on of course!) at library.las-cruces.org. Click on "Summer Reading" for more details. And don't forget to share your reading accomplishments on social media using #LasCrucesReads!
