Oh, deer!

Larry Felhauer of Spirit Horse Designs captured this buck grazing on his roses and drinking from a decorative fountain behind his house in Picacho Hills. "Because we don't fence our yard off from the desert, we regularly get visitors," he wrote. "In fact, our yard has been designated an official wildlife habitat by the National Wildlife Federation. While we've had deer on our patio before, this 10-point mule deer is the biggest we've seen." More of Felhauer's work can be viewed at www.facebook.com/SpiritHrse.

Commission approves application to CARES Act Relief Fund to help small businesses

The Board of County Commissioners voted to approve Doña Ana County's application to the CARES Act Relief Fund in a special meeting held on August 4, 2020. Click here to see the application.

The CARES Act Relief Fund makes funding available to local governments to provide grants to small businesses impacted by COVID-19. The Cities of Anthony and Sunland Park, the Town of Mesilla and the Village of Hatch are all partnering with Doña Ana representation from each municipality of the county and of the Greater Las Cruces Chamber of Commerce will facilitate the process.

"We are requesting $7 million from the 2020 CARES Act Relief Fund to support an estimated 1,600 small businesses within the county municipalities and outside the City of Las Cruces," said Fernando Macias, Doña Ana County Manager. "These businesses are a vital contributor to the economic stability of Doña Ana County."

The awards allotted to qualifying small businesses will be based on their ability to demonstrate need. Grants are capped at $10,000, unless the business provides supportive documentation of greater need.

"More information about the grants will be available, in the very near future," said Debbi Moore, CEO of the Greater Las Cruces Chamber of Commerce.

County on this effort.

Doña Ana County invested in an economic assessment, which was created by the Community Economics Laboratory CELab, an Albuquerque based economic think tank, in partnership with the Mesilla Valley Economic Development Alliance. The assessment estimated that Doña Ana County is expected to lose more than 28,000 jobs over the next five years, largely due to the pandemic.

Doña Ana County will administer the CARES Act Relief Fund in partnership with the Greater Las Cruces Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber will be responsible for the application process. A committee, made up of

Mano y Mano program back to full strength

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

With participants wearing facemasks and maintaining social distance, the City of Las Cruces Mano y Mano day-labor program has returned to full strength, as Las Cruces who are struggling with homelessness and near homelessness assist the city Parks and Recreation Department with local cleanup and beautification.

The program began in March 2018 and had expanded to two crews of 10 people each, but then cut back to five-member crews after the onset of COVID-19, said city Parks

Director Franco Granillo and Mesilla Valley Community of Hope (MVCH) Executive Director Nicole Martinez. The program has returned to full strength with safety measures in place, Granillo and Martinez said.

"The Mano y Mano program means a lot to me," said Carl Mead, who was a participant in the program before being hired by the city as a Mano y Mano supervisor. "Four times I would not have been able to pay my electricity bill. And at least twice I would not have been able to pay my rent. And it is because of this program that I now have full-time employment as a Mano y Mano supervisor."

"In a time of economic uncertainty, Mano y Mano has provided an opportunity to those who are familiar with hard work to make ends meet," Martinez said. "We are grateful that Mano y Mano provides consistent work, beautifies our community and connects people with services to help prevent and end homelessness." MVCH includes Camp Hope tent city.

Plan a future trip to Silver City

Just about 100 minutes west of Las Cruces lies a getaway with way more than 100 things to see and do. Plan your trip today! Silver City, Grant County and surroundings offer wide varieties of fun, adventure and relaxation. Here's just one example:

Fort Bayard National Landmark

Driving through the Fort Bayard National Landmark is like stepping into history. Stately buildings, soldier's barracks and the ruins of a hospital are but a few of the discoveries to be found here. There are historic plaques on the road explaining the buildings, parade grounds and other interests along the way. And right next door is the sobering Fort Bayard National Cemetery where the first service member, Sgt. David Boyd, was buried Oct. 10, 1866, and where veterans continue to be buried to this day.

State's early education system ranked in top 25

BULLETIN REPORT

New Mexico's early education system is ranked 21st among all states and the District of Columbia in a survey by the personal finance website WalletHub.

For the study, WalletHub compared the 50 states and D.C. using 12 key metrics, including share of school districts (New Mexico has 89) that offer a state pre-K program, number of pre-K quality benchmarks met and total reported spending per child enrolled in pre-K.

With a total overall score of 53.55 out of a possible 100, New Mexico was ninth in accessibility, 38th in quality and 25th in resources and economic support.

D.C. was ranked first with a score of 75.41, followed by Nebraska, Maryland, West Virginia and Arkansas. The bottom five were Massachusetts, Arizona, North Dakota, Missouri and Indiana, which had a last-place score of 24.2.

"A study by the National Institute for Early Education Research showed that students enrolled in full-day pre-K programs do better on math and literacy tests than their peers who attend only partial-day pre-school," WalletHub said. "In addition, those who attend pre-K programs have been shown to have less risk of future crime than those who do not. Plus, early education programs may generate billions of dollars for the economy over a few decades, due to lessening the need for social services and creating more productive citizens."

American Public Gas Association Shares COVID Tips with Virtual Tour

By Cassie McClure

Las Cruces Utilities (LCU) hosted a Virtual Stop of the American Public Gas Association (APGA) on August 13th. During the meeting, the organization was able to share new best practices in the gas industry that have been helpful to its members throughout the county during the pandemic.

APGA is a not-for-profit nationwide association for public and community-owned natural gas utilities and has over 700 members in 37 states. Due to concerns related to COVID-19, the membership tour with senior staff transitioned to a virtual tour that will include over 25 regional/state visits with APGA members nationwide.

Juan Molina, LCU gas technician, works with mask and gloves to go out and check for leaks with a spray bottle of detergent that will show any leaks through bubbles.

Meetings lasted for approximately 90 minutes with topic-based presentations and an open-ended discussion roundtable for municipal natural gas employees to learn and engage with APGA staff about the operational, regulatory, and legislative issues at the federal level important to municipal natural gas utilities.

"Plenty of professional development conferences have been canceled or gone online during the pandemic," said Lucio Garcia, LCU deputy director Gas. "But collaboration and learning from other gas workers is still helpful, such as hearing what others are doing to continue to provide gas services while keeping workers and customers safe from COVID."

"Many of our members are getting creative with how they can help keep their employees and customers safe," said Erin Kurilla, APGA vice president for Operations and Pipeline Safety. She explained that staggered shifts – like what LCU has been doing – can minimize foot traffic within the office. There was also a shift in splitting up larger crews so that if self-quarantining was needed, less of the active crew would be affected.

"LCU has implemented the truck-to-truck system for its crew, where the supervisor meets associates at their trucks every morning to assign their work for that day," said Garcia. "We can show that these methods and procedures, that we started very early in the pandemic, still allowed us to serve our customers while keeping everyone safe as much as possible."

What's your favorite? Cast your vote in Bulletin's Best

Where is the best place in Las Cruces to buy a recliner? What about your favorite place to get your hair cut? Who is the king of red enchiladas?

Next week, we will begin seeking the answers to these questions and roughly 300 more, as the Las Cruces Bulletin launches the nomination phase of our inaugural Bulletin's Best competition. Beginning Sept. 1, readers can go to the Bulletin's Best section of our website (www.lascrucesbulletin.com/bulletins-best/) and make nominations for one or more of the many categories in the 12 divisions.

Look through Arts & Entertainment, Auto & Transportation, Business & Finance, Community, Eating & Drinking, Education, Health & Well Being, Home, Professionals, Shopping, Sports & Recreation, and our category designed specifically for the Mesilla Valley: Life is Good in Las Cruces.

Each of those divisions has multiple categories for you to nominate your favorites.

After a month of collecting nominations, we'll be ready for the voting period, which will start Oct. 1 and last through the last day of the month, Halloween Night. Then in November, we'll tally the votes and determine the winners.

You, as our readers, will be the voters and you might even suggest some categories we haven't thought of.

RICHARD COLTHARP

From the Publisher

Check out the website before Sept. 1 to get familiar with the categories and once the nominating begins, visit again to make sure your favorite picks get on the ballot. Once you make a nomination, it will go through our vetting process to make sure it's indeed an actual business and in the Mesilla Valley.

The process coincides more or less with our local, state and national campaign and elections. The Bulletin's Best gives you the opportunity to vote on many more things than those elections, and you'll probably have more fun doing it. Also, unlike the national elections, you can vote more than once on Bulletin's Best. In fact, you can vote once a day on up to four devices during October. That's a potential of 124 votes if you have four devices. That could be your home computer, a tablet, your phone and your laptop.

Knowing the passion Las Cruces have about, well, everything, it will be exciting to see how all of you vote on everything from chicken tacos to high school football to getting new tires.

I personally am excited about Bulletin's Best. Because you'll be voting online, it's a truly COVID-safe event. It's a chance for everyone in the Mesilla Valley to voice their opinion on almost anything you can imagine. But it also means we'll be doing something together, and engaging with the whole community. We may not get to assemble

We underestimate their power. "You shouldn't let that kid beat ya." "Maybe you should lose some weight, Hon." "You should've tried harder." "Not again, they've heard those stories before." "You do that everytime!"

There are people whose opinions we truly value. There are people whose praise we'd die for. They are often two different things. Sometimes we genuinely would like to improve ourselves.

Sometimes we just need encouragement. "You did the best you could." "You looked like you won from where I sat." "It sure runs better after you worked on it."

City leaders, staff need to get on same page

This is why we can't have nice things.

That was essentially the claim made by local developer Randy McMillan after plans fell through for a special tax district to fund an upscale project on the old Las Cruces Country Club property off Main Street.

McMillan, who was working with Nebraska developer Zachary Weigert on the project, said it was city staff who first came to them with the idea of using a Tax Increment Development District (TIDD) to help finance the project.

Then, 18 months into planning, city leaders began making insulting accusations, causing Weigert to reconsider plans to develop here, McMillan said.

"There are communities that are business friendly and embrace people like Zach, and that's where he will go," McMillan said during a recent radio interview. "And frankly, it's that attitude that is why this state is 49th or 50th in every good category and first or second in every bad category."

TIDDs are a way to spark growth in designated areas by allowing tax money generated in that area to remain there. A TIDD for downtown Las Cruces was used to help fund construction of Plaza de Las Cruces and the conversion of Church and Water streets.

Those were public projects. This proposal was to use money generated by the TIDD to benefit a private development.

WALT RUBEL
The View
From Here

I'm not sure that's what the TIDD was intended for, and I think it's probably a good thing that this one was stopped. But, it's not a good thing if city staff are pitching proposals that city leaders don't support or understand.

Mayor Ken Miya-gishima said he only recently learned that the TIDD would include bonds. Council members Kansandra Gandara and Gill Sorg also said that issue was never made clear to them. Weigert said bonds were always part of the proposal.

Weigert said he's not sure what to do now. He said the plans aren't economically feasible without the TIDD, which seems odd if it's true that the city came to them with the idea first. Certainly, plans must have been feasible without the TIDD at one time.

The problem, Weigert said, is that rents are too low in Las Cruces for the kind of upscale project he envisions.

For most of us, low rent is a good thing. If that is a prohibitive problem for your project, then your project was probably never right for us in the first place.

Weigert said one of his options now is to just sit on the land.

It's been nearly nine years since the last duffer cursed a sliced tee shot at the old country club. What was a large, lush greenspace in the heart of town became overtaken by weeds during the ensuing years when the property was neglected.

When the country club shut down, several residents wanted the city to buy the land and convert it into a park. We were told that wasn't economically feasible.

Then a developer from Nebraska comes along and wants to build upscale apartments that are more expensive than most of us can afford. That, apparently, isn't going to be eco-

Trump's sabotage

To the editor:

The blatantly obvious attempt by Trump to sabotage the postal service, and thus tilt the 2020 election in his favor, calls for new thinking. With mail already piling up, ballots will simply arrive too late to be counted, or they could even mysteriously disappear. In order to get around this, our election officials should provide drop-off locations for completed ballots and encourage their use. In addition, they should continue to promote early voting to avoid crowds. Further, they should establish drive-through voting on Election Day. Americans could drive up, obtain their ballots, complete them in the privacy of their own vehicle and turn them in at the same location. If our citizenry is disenfranchised by Trump's illegal actions, we will see in the USA what is now happening in Belarus.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

COVID leadership

To the editor:

We continue to be in uncertain times at both the state and national levels concerning COVID-19. The difference that we see between Las Cruces (and all of New Mexico for that matter) and Washington, D.C is that we have leaders here who take a steady and responsible, yet proactive, approach to dealing with a global pandemic and unpredictable economy.

Our local Rep. Joanne Ferrary is vice-chair of the House Health & Human Services Committee, and we are lucky to have her. Since the pandemic hit New Mexico in March, she and her team have been handing out masks to the public, including to State Police and local medical care units. They have informed the public of coronavirus resources, including phone numbers for mental health and what to do if you show symptoms, and they have worked with local health officials to make sure they have the resources they need to weather this storm.

As important as any of the health measures, she voted in favor of the Small Business Recovery Act in the recent special session. The act provides low-interest loans to small businesses, helps keep them afloat and presents a stimulus to these businesses that was lacking from the federal relief package. This bill passed with bipartisan support — something we just don't see in Washington these days.

We commend Rep. Ferrary and others for taking the responsible steps to keep us safe and open the economy safely.

Election shenanigans

To the editor:

Based on recent polling, Trump and his handlers know he's in big trouble. So, the malignant narcissist in the White House and his enablers in Congress will pull every despicable stunt imaginable to give him a leg up. Just like in 2016, this administration and Republican election officials in key swing states will increase their voter-suppression tactics.

Thanks in large part to the purging of hundreds of thousands of legally registered Americans from the voter roles in 2016, the Donald flipped Michigan, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania, winning by only 107,000 votes out of 120 million cast. (To learn more about the mass purges in 2016, search online for reporter Greg Palast.) As nefarious as those acts were, Trump has undertaken an even more insidious scheme to hamper vote-by-mail operations.

In March, he personally killed a bipartisan provision in COVID-19 relief legislation that would have guaranteed uninterrupted delivery of the mail, which is essential to ensure successful and safe mail-in balloting. In May, Trump appointed one of his mega-donors to head the postal service. He has slashed worker hours, removed sorting machines in some locations and taken other steps to undermine the postal service. The president blatantly stated on a Fox News channel recently that he is trying to sabotage the election by preventing Congress from approving a second stimulus package that included additional funding for the beleaguered postal service and money to help states run their elections more efficiently.

"They need that money in order to have the Post Office work so it can take all of these millions and millions of ballots," he whined.

Trump knows that the more people who vote, the less chance he has of winning. What this corrupt president wants to do is rig an election he won't be able to win in a fair fight.

Grant continues juvenile diversion, development program

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

Earlier this month, the Las Cruces City Council approved a grant of almost $309,000 from the New Mexico Children, Youth & Families Department (CYFD) to the city Parks and Recreation Department ment to continue the city's Juvenile Citation program (JCP). The city's matching funds for the program exceed $123,500.

The diversion and development program for at-risk youth ages 11-17 began in Las Cruces in 2003, said City Youth Services Administrator Robert Nuñez, who works in the city's Parks and Recreation Department.

Program staff work with school districts, law enforcement and other agencies in Las Cruces and throughout Doña Ana County, including expanding the program in Hatch, Nuñez said, to assist young people who have "hit a speed bump" and need guidance and direction in their lives.

JCP's six full-time and two part-time staff work with youth at three levels, he said. Dealing with truant and runaways, minors who have been cited for allowing themselves to be served alcohol and similar issues comprise the program's first level of service, Nuñez said. Staff and volunteers work with youth on the choices they make and help them learn about "making those right decisions," he said.

JCP's level-two and level-three programming is gender-specific, Nuñez said, as staff and volunteers work with youth on personal issues like pride and respect, having a positive body image, communicating well with others, avoiding self-harm and developing healthy relationships. Again, he said, the underlying goal is to help youth "make better choices as they move forward."

Other issues addressed in the program include adolescent mental health, alcohol/drug use, abuse and prevention, bullying, civic responsibility, conflict resolution, leadership, self-esteem and teen dating violence, according to the JCP website.

The public health pandemic "did slow us down a little bit," Nuñez said, but the program was still able to serve 175 youth last fiscal year, he said. In a normal year, it serves more than 250. Staff continue to provide virtual classes and other services to the youth they serve and their families.

"Staff has done a tremendous job in coming up with alternatives to families and youth that need our assistance," Nuñez said.

Volunteer to speak

Public outreach is an important part of JCP, he said, because guest speakers from various businesses, agencies, organizations and nonprofits are invited to present to youth in the program. These professionals talk about the challenges they faced growing up, and they help youth "create something positive for themselves and their families," Nuñez said. They also help them create a "positive impact for our community here in Las Cruces and countywide and make those right choices for the future," he said.

Guest speakers also talk about job opportunities, education, hobbies and personal interests and other ways to help youth "get on track," Nuñez said.

To volunteer as a JCP presenter, call 575-541-2349 or visit www.las-cruces.org/1455/Juvenile-Citation-Program.

Your Partner In Pipeline Safety

Su Socio En La Seguridad De Las Tuberías

Pipelines In Your Community The City of Las Cruces is committed to the safe operation of its pipelines in your community. From our Control Centers we use state of the art technology to continuously monitor the operation of our pipelines 24 hours each day, seven days a week. Our pipelines are designed, installed, tested, operated and maintained in accordance with all applicable Federal and State requirements. The City of Las Cruces maintains our safe, compliant and efficient pipelines by routine inspections, corrosion protection, maintenance and testing programs, employee training, and public education. Public education includes educational meetings with excavating contractors, emergency response officials and other appropriate public officials and distribution of these informational flyers.

Tuberías en su Comunidad La Ciudad de Las Cruces está comprometida en la operación segura de sus tuberías en su comunidad. Desde nuestros Centros de Control usamos tecnología de punta para monitorear continuamente la operación de nuestras tuberías, las 24 horas del día, los siete días de la semana. Nuestras tuberías están diseñadas, instaladas, probadas, operadas y mantenidas de acuerdo con todos los requisitos Federales y Estatales aplicables. La Ciudad de Las Cruces mantiene nuestras tuberías seguras, listas y eficientes por medio de inspecciones de rutina, protección contra la corrosión, programas de mantenimiento y de prueba, capacitación de empleados y educación pública. La educación pública incluye reuniones educativas con contratistas en excavaciones, oficiales de respuesta de emergencia y otros oficiales públicos apropiados, y la distribución de estos volantes informativos.

How To Work Around Our Pipeline

We need your help in preventing pipeline emergencies. The number one cause of pipeline leaks is damage from earth-moving and construction equipment and tools owned by parties other than the pipeline company. If you plan to dig or do any type of excavation or construction work, call New Mexico One Call (NMOC) toll free at 811. A City of Las Cruces representative will locate and mark the underground gas lines at no cost to you. Call at least 48 hours (excluding weekends and holidays) before you dig. Even if you haven't provided advance notification, please contact us immediately if you dig and hit or touch a pipeline – even if you should cause what seems to be only minor damage to the pipeline – contact us immediately. A gouge, dent, crease, or scrape may cause a future safety problem.

Cómo Trabajar Alrededor De Nuestra Tubería

Necesitamos de su ayuda para evitar emergencias en las tuberías. La causa número uno de las fugas en las tuberías es el daño provocado por el movimiento de la tierra y el equipo y herramientas de construcción propiedad de otras partes diferentes a la compañía de la tubería. Si usted tiene planes para cavar o hacer cualquier tipo de excavación o trabajo de construcción, llame al Centro de Una Llamada de Nuevo Mexico gratuitamente al 811. Un representante de la Ciudad de Las Cruces localizará y marcará las líneas de gas subterráneas sin costo para usted. Llame por lo menos 48 horas (excluir los fines de semana y los días de descanso) antes de excavar. Aunque no haya enviado una notificación por adelantado, por favor comuníquese con nosotros inmediatamente si excava y golpea o toca una tubería – aunque cause lo que parezca un daño menor a la tubería – comuníquese con nosotros inmediatamente. Una abolladura, pliegue o rayadura puede causar un futuro problema de seguridad.

Your Partner In Pipeline Safety

The City of Las Cruces cares about your safety. We design, install, test, operate, and maintain our pipelines to meet or exceed regulatory standards. Our employees are thoroughly trained to operate and maintain the system safely. We want you to be aware of our pipeline. We ask for your help in preventing accidental damage to it.

Su Socio En La Seguridad De Las Tuberías

La Ciudad de Las Cruces se preocupa por su seguridad. Nosotros diseñamos, instalamos, probamos, operamos y mantenemos nuestras tuberías para cumplir o exceder las normas reguladoras. Nuestros empleados están totalmente capacitados para operar y mantener el sistema en forma segura. Deseamos que esté usted consciente de nuestra tubería. Le solicitamos su ayuda para prevenir un daño accidental.

How To Identify Where The Pipeline Is Located

Since pipelines are buried underground, line markers are sometimes used to indicate the approximate – not exact – location of the pipeline. Line markers can be found where the pipeline intersects a street, highway, or railroad. However, they cannot be relied upon to indicate the exact position of the pipeline. The pipeline may not follow a straight course between markers, which provide no information on the depth or number of pipelines in the vicinity. Don't try to guess the pipeline's location or route by the marker's placement. Call New Mexico One Call (NMOC) at 811.

Cómo Identificar Dónde Está Ubicada La Línea De Tubería

Ya que las líneas de tubería se encuentran bajo tierra, a veces se usan marcas para indicar de manera aproximada –no exacta- la localización de la línea. Los marcadores de las líneas pueden ser encontrados en donde la línea de la tubería intersecta a una calle, carretera o vía del ferrocarril. Sin embargo, no son confiables para indicar la posición exacta de la línea de la tubería. La tubería puede no seguir un curso derecho entre dos marcas, lo cual no proporciona información de la profundidad o el número de líneas en la vecindad. No trate de adivinar la localización de la línea o ruta por la ubicación del marcador de las líneas de la tubería, llame al Centro de Una Llamada de Nuevo Mexico 811.

If you are a public safety official...

...you know to take whatever steps you deem necessary to safeguard the public in the event of a pipeline emergency.

The following suggestions are offered as a guide:

- Secure the area around the leak to a safe distance. This could include the evacuation of people from homes, businesses, schools, and other locations, as well as the erection of barricades to control access to the emergency site and similar precautions.
- If the pipeline leak is not burning, take steps to prevent ignition. This includes prohibiting smoking, rerouting traffic, and shutting off the electricity.
- If the pipeline leak is burning, try to prevent the spread of fire but do not attempt to extinguish it. Burning petroleum products will not explode. If the fire is extinguished, gas or vapor will collect and could explode when reignited by secondary fires.
- Contact the pipeline company as quickly as possible. Pipeline marker signs show the pipeline company's name, emergency telephone number, and pipeline contents.

Si Usted Es Un Oficial De Seguridad Publica...

...sabe que debe tomar las medidas necesarias para proteger al público en caso de una emergencia relacionada a una tubería.

Le ofrecemos las siguiente sugerencias como guía.

- Asegure el área alrededor del escape hasta una distancia segura. Esto podría incluir la evacuación de la gente de los hogares, los negocios, las escuelas, y otros lugares, también la instalación de barreras para controlar el acceso a la zona de emergencia y otras precauciones similares.
- Si el escape de la tubería no esta ardiendo, tome las medidas necesarias para evitar la combustión. Esto incluye prohibir fumar, desviar el tránsito y cortar las fuentes de electricidad.
- Si el escape de la tubería esta ardiendo, trate de prevenir la propagación del fuego pero no trate de extinguirlo. Los productos del petróleo en combustión no explotan. Si se extingue el fuego, puede haber una acumulación de gas o vapor y estos pueden explotar si un fuego secundario causara su combustión.
- Comuníquese con la compañía operadora de la tubería lo antes posible. Los marcadores de las tuberías muestran el nombre de la compañía, el teléfono de emergencia, y el contenido de la tubería.

tonight's picks

"Earthflight"

6 p.m. on BBCA
Earthflight

Elegant demoiselle cranes deftly navigate a treacherous pass through the Himalayas en route to India in the new episode "Asia and Australia," which gives viewers a bird's-eye view of both those continents. Among other highlights, vultures circle above a streak of tigers on the hunt, hoping eventually the big cats will leave behind a nice meal for them. Pigeons serve as unlikely but unerring guides to the greatest gatherings of camels on Earth, while in the Australian outback, white cockatoos swirl by the thousands. David Tennant narrates.

6 p.m. on OWN
Love & Marriage: Huntsville

In the new episode "Mama Gonna Cuss You Out," a busy Melody juggles her passion projects, leaving Martell to juggle the kids and all that responsibility entails. Elsewhere, some fractured friendships have an opportunity to mend, but Wanda does what she can to keep those wounds fresh and wide open. Meanwhile, LaTisha's love podcast brings nearly everyone together for a panel discussion.

7 p.m. on KDBC
Love Island: More to Love

If you missed some of this premiere week's first episodes of "Love Island," take heart, because tonight's two-hour recap special with host Arielle Vandenberg will provide late-comers with highlights from this week's action, as well as exclusive interviews with this season's participants and other previously unaired footage. Frankly we're hoping that the latter includes insights into how this season of a show that's all about romance and passion can pull that off while being filmed under pandemic-mandated health guidelines.

7 p.m. on TRAV
Believers

Among the deeply unsettling stories in the new episode "Blind Spot," a man is tormented by bouts of unexplained sightlessness and horrific visions. In other segments, the life of a priest is forever changed after he encounters an authentic case of demonic possession, and a rookie police officer is shocked to find evidence of a haunting while monitoring closed-circuit TV images.

7 p.m. on OWN
Family or Fiancé

The new episode "Ashley and William: 99 Problems and Social Media Is One" spotlights an aspiring influencer who is engaged to a man with no social media presence whatsoever. Worse, he makes it no secret that he disapproves of her new career aspirations. As for the prospective in-laws, her family worries that he clearly has some major control issues, while her body-positive social media posts have some of his relatives convinced that her morals are a bit too relaxed for comfort.

tonight's picks

Keke Palmer

6 p.m. on HGTV
Renovation Inc

Fan favorite home renovation experts Bryan and Sarah Baerumler return in this new reality series, which takes viewers inside the story of how the couple built their booming home renovation business in Canada. Bryan, a successful licensed contractor, is working from his home base of Ontario when Sarah joins the family-owned construction company as its project manager. It soon becomes apparent that their personal tastes and design visions are different enough that they'll need to hone their innate sense of humor and fondness for banter to work together smoothly.

6 p.m. on PAR BET CMTV
MTV MTV2 NIK POP TVLAND
VH1; 9 p.m. on COMEDY LOGO
2020 MTV Video Music Awards

Keke Palmer is host for this year's ceremonies, which will trade the crowded blowout originally planned for the Barclays Center in Brooklyn, N.Y., in favor of musical performances by featured artists from various iconic New York locations across all five boroughs of the city. It's a move necessitated by the coronavirus pandemic, but it also is intended as an homage to the spirit and resilience of the Big Apple in the face of this health crisis. Lady Gaga and Ariana Grande lead the field of nominees with nine each.

6 p.m. on STARZ
P-Valley

Uncle Clifford (Nicco Annan) goes to war, figuratively speaking, determined to win the hearts and minds of Chucalissa in a new episode called "Last Call for Alcohol." Meanwhile, back at the club, the members of the Pynk family come together to prepare for their biggest night yet. Brandee Evans, Shannon Thornton, Elarica Johnson, Skyler Joy, J. Alphonse Nicholson and Parker Sawyers also star.

7 p.m. on HISTORY
Apocalypse Earth

Experts and scientists discover present-day evidence from the distant time of the Earth's ancient deep freeze, shedding new light on the impact that ice had on civilization across the human timeline in the new episode "Frozen Fury." In another segment, avalanche survivors share chillingly graphic accounts of cheating death as a seven-story wall of ice completely envelops them.

7:01 p.m. on HGTV
Mexico Life

After scrimping and saving for years, a Texas couple finally is ready and able to realize their dream of purchasing a home in Tulum in a new episode called "Love Nest in Tulum." She's focused on finding a place large enough for their three energetic teenagers, but her husband is thinking ahead and envisioning a low-maintenance love nest for just the two of them after the kids have flown the nest. Another new episode follows.

10 p.m. on HBO
Lovecraft Country

Leti (Jurnee Smollett) transforms a ramshackle Victorian on Chicago's North Side into a boarding house in a gesture she hopes will help mend fences with her sister Ruby (guest star Wunmi Mosaku) in the new episode "Holy Ghost." Unfortunately, the project only stokes racism in the neighborhood and awakens trapped spirits that have lain dormant in the house. Meanwhile, George's wife, Hippolyta (guest star Aunjanue Ellis) pressures Atticus (Jonathan Majors) for details about what happened in Ardhm.

10 p.m. on SHOW
Love Fraud

This new four-part true-crime docuseries from filmmakers Heidi Ewing and Rachel Grady chronicles the disreputable exploits of con man Richard Scott Smith, a charmer who wrecked the lives of several women who fell under the spell of this cad. Ultimately Smith is forced to go on the run, while his diverse victims find a common bond in their burning need to put this scoundrel behind bars. The premiere, "You Just Gotta Trust Me," centers on Tracy, whose daughters were leery of "Mickey" (Smith's alias) almost from the beginning.

Planet Earth: A Celebration
Also airing simultaneously on BBC America, IFC and Sundance TV, this uplifting new special presents unforgettable moments from past episodes of the Emmy-winning "Planet Earth II" and "Blue Planet II," featuring new musical compositions from Hans Zimmer and his associates. Sir David Attenborough narrates the nature footage, which includes such highlights as a dance of Andean flamingos in Chile, surfing bottlenose dolphins on the East Cape of South Africa, and bird-eating fish in the Indian Ocean that launch themselves out of the water to catch sea-birds in mid-flight.

7 p.m. on KVIA2
Whose Line Is It Anyway?

Comic Brad Sherwood makes his fourth guest appearance on this comedy series, joining regular players Ryan Stiles, Wayne Brady and Colin Mochrie as they run through a series of games and improvised sketches inspired largely by spontaneous suggestions from the studio audience. While the proceedings unfold in the spirit and style of a reality competition show, there aren't any winners or losers, although host Aisha Tyler capriciously awards points after each round based purely on her mood at the moment.

8 p.m. on TBS
American Dad

Stan (voice of Seth MacFarlane) very rarely scores any points for being sensitive to his wife's feelings, but the new episode "Dammam, Stan!" finds him going to great lengths to find just the right couple's activity for him and Francine (voice of Wendy Schaal). Meanwhile, Hayley and Steve (Rachael MacFarlane, Scott Grimes) look into some mysterious markings they find on the doorframe. Dee Bradley Baker co-stars in the voice cast.

"Farmhouse Style" is the theme of this new episode, in which host Brett Waterman explores the enduring popularity of that design genre. To underscore his points for viewers, he revisits a 1900 Victorian farmhouse owned by a couple about to be married and, later, a 1910 Arts and Crafts farmhouse where the architectural style has been covered up over the decades by subsequent renovation work.

Ghosted: Love Gone Missing

Co-hosts Rachel Lindsay and Travis Mills return for another season — this one fully self-shot, due to the pandemic — of helping hapless souls who were left hanging emotionally when someone in their life suddenly severed their connection without explanation. Among this season's featured couples are Shannon, a Milwaukee club promoter, and Jay, a comic, who started as friends but became lovers over the next several months until he ghosted her on one of their scheduled date nights and never spoke to her again.

8 p.m. on BET
Assisted Living

The wildly prolific writer-director-producer Tyler Perry is the creator of this new sitcom, which opens as family man Jeremy (Na'im Lynn) loses his job. Reeling from this painful development, Jeremy decides to move his family back to his Georgia hometown to help his grandfather (J. Anthony Brown), who has just bought a dilapidated home for the elderly. Things look grim until Leroy and Cora Brown (David and Tamela Mann, reprising their "Meet the Browns" characters) step in to help run things. Another new episode immediately follows.

8:03 p.m. on LIFE
Marrying Millions

Giving in to Desiry's insistence, Rodney finally introduces her to his parents in the new episode "Birthdays, Babies, and Blowups." It doesn't take long, however, for Desiry to learn that some secrets are better left unrevealed. Meanwhile, Kattie and Kevin reach a stalemate in their relationship after he firmly refuses to help pay her rent, a move that leaves her doubting whether he even loves her. Elsewhere, back in Miami, Erica has a sexy surprise planned for Rick's 69th birthday.

Parks Department is glyphosate free

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

A year after the Las Cruces City Council voted to ban the use of the herbicide glyphosate for pest control on city property, city Parks and Recreation Department staff are finding other ways to control weeds.

Glyphosate, the principal ingredient in Roundup, has been linked to cancer and other health issues in a number of studies.

“We went cold turkey on it,” said City Parks Director Franco Granillo. “Prevention is the best method.”

“We’re still using our pre-emergent to really control the weed growth,” Granillo said. “Our main goal is prevention, then spot spraying with an herbicide.”

Sometimes, he said, using staff and day-labor participants to physically pull weeds also helps.

Since the glyphosate ban, “Franco’s team has done a really good job of looking at what other types of chemicals to use,” said Parks and Recreation Department Director Sonya Delgado.

She said Parks and Rec staff are working with weed management specialists in New Mexico State University’s College of Agricultural, Consumer and Environmental Sciences to develop the most effective weed-control strategies for the city.

“They have done a great job of trying to find other alternatives,” Delgado said.

Parks and Rec staff are also working with the city’s Integrated Pest Management (IPM) ad hoc committee to develop an IPM policy for the city.

For more information, call the Parks and Recreation Department at 575-541-2550. Visit www.las-cruces.org/1376/Integrated-Pest-Management.

Retired NMSU journalism prof publishes 'the ultimate vampire story'

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

Retired New Mexico State University professor Frank Thayer has published a new novel, "The Vampire of San Vicente," which is available at amazon.com and Kindle. Soon, it will also be available at COAS bookstores, he said.

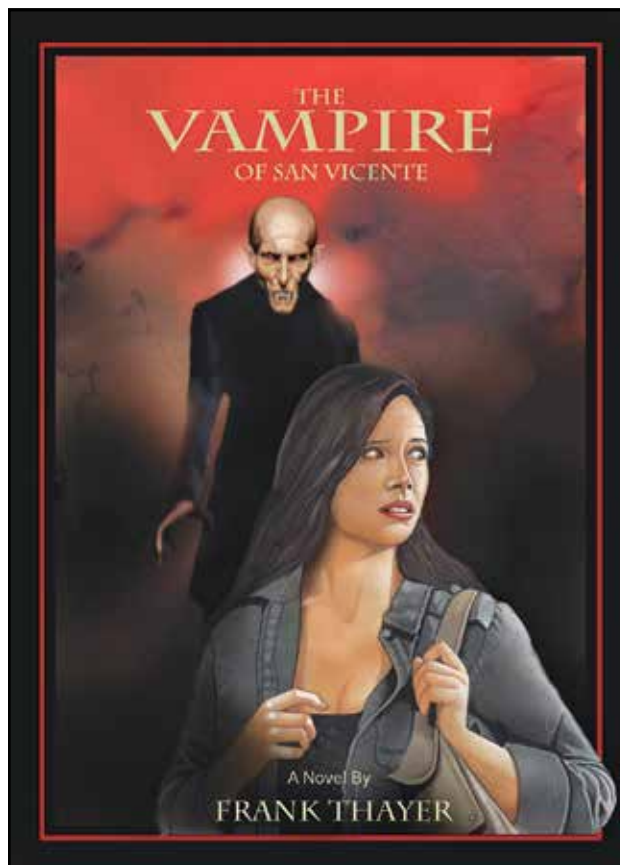

Here is a synopsis of "The Vampire of San Vicente," in Thayer's own words:

"It is rumored in 1994 that a long series of attacks and unexplained deaths in the southern New Mexico town of San Vicente may be associated with an old man who has been there almost since the town was founded. It was almost by accident that water utilities engineer Ferris Taylor began to assemble the evidence after his unrequited high school love dies without reason.

"Taylor finds himself in hot water when he leaves his wife and ends up in an affair with a sultry college student. The inevitable collision of Taylor with his own failings and what may be a true vampire leads to an underground horror. He is supported by lifelong friends who share in his discovery and the final conflict with the undead."

"It seems I have an appetite for writing beyond that of my 30-year career as a journalism professor at NMSU," Thayer said. "I am dedicated to defending the incredible reality of the flying saucer that crashed and was recovered outside of Aztec, New Mexico in March 1948. My fiction writing follows the classic supernatural horror themes as explored by Edgar Allan Poe and H.P. Lovecraft. 'The Vampire of San Vicente' is my longest work to date, and its social dynamic is strangely affected, not only by Lovecraft, but by master novelist John LeCarré, whose flawed characters come to life through his verisimilitude."

Thayer's other books are "The Whispering Darkness," a 2018 novel; "Terror Tales of the Southwest," a 2017 short-story anthology; "The Aztec UFO Incident," co-authored with Scott and Suzanne Ramsey, published in 2015 by New Page Books, it is the non-fiction story of a flying saucer crash and recovery; "Cobston Trilogy: The Ontario Horror," a novel of undead evil in a Canadian town across three generations published by Sun Cross Books in 2015; "Magic in the Desert," co-written with Mike Waldner for their departed NMSU roommate and credited to Dan Perry, it tells the story of the Aggies' 1960 undefeated football team; and "The Aztec Incident: Recovery at Hart Canyon," co-written with Scott and Suzanne Ramsey and Frank Warren, Aztec.48 Productions, 2011, it is "the first book exposing the reality of the Aztec flying saucer," Thayer said.

Thayer said he has loved horror stories since his childhood in Grant County, New Mexico, just south of Mogollon. Thayer spent years exploring Mogollon, Silver City, Hillsboro and nearby Chino Mines and other places that would feature in his novels and short stories.

"Almost every story has a hook from real experience," Thayer said, and many of his characters are based at least in part on real people.

Thayer's teaching career included 11 years in Canada, which ended in 1977 when he began missing the desert and returned to New Mexico. Thayer worked for Silver Consolidated Schools in Silver City for four years before coming to Las Cruces to teach and complete his master's and doctoral degrees at NMSU. He retired in 2012 but remains on the university's teaching faculty as a journalism professor emeritus.

One of his abiding principals as a writer of both fiction and nonfiction, Thayer said, is that "mysteries are not made to be solved. They're made to be experienced."

San Vicente, from Frank Thayer's novel, "The Vampire of San Vicente"

National writing grant winner has first book published

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

Las Cruces author Sandra Marshall has completed her first novel, "Death in the Time of Pancho Villa," which was released Aug. 25 by Best Level Books. She received the nonprofit Malice Domestic's 2018 William F. Deeck-Malice Domestic Grant for Unpublished Writers because of the high quality of the manuscript that became the book.

The book, Marshall said, is "a historical mystery combining suspense and humor."

Marshall was raised in Texas. She holds degrees in anthropology and public history and had an extended career as an archaeologist and architectural historian, primarily in the American Southwest. Now a writer and photographer, she has settled in southern New Mexico with her husband, historian George Matthews, and tabby cat, Fog. She is a proud member of Sisters in Crime, Guppy and Croak and Dagger Chapters.

"I've always written,

Marshall

even as a kid," Marshall said. She is a native New Yorker who came to Las Cruces nearly a decade ago. She worked for the New Mexico Department of Transportation in Santa Fe for 12 years before moving to Las Cruces to return to school and earn her masters' degree in public history with an emphasis in architectural history at NMSU. Marshall co-authored "Historic Architectural Styles, Las Cruces, N.M.: Celebrating 150 Years," with John R. Versluis, which was published in 2000.

Marshall had also done technical writing as part of her career as an archeologist, but said she never imagined writing fiction. She began thinking about writing a mystery while on a research project for the National Park Service in California.

The book's title was suggested by Beth O'Leary, with whom Marshall serves on the City of Las Cruces Historic Preservation Commission. Marshall was voted chair of the commission by its members earlier this month. She also got writing guidance from award-winning author Denise Chávez of Las Cruces.

Marshall's favorite mystery writer is Dorothy L. Sayers (1893-1957). She also likes the works of historian and biographer Sir Simon Schama (1945-).

Here is an excerpt from "Death in the Time of Pancho Villa":

"The in-laws were aghast when Rose Westmoreland boarded the train alone, bound for the far edge of the country, to find her missing husband. Unthinkable in 1911. Now she's in El Paso, a city holding its breath, anticipating a spectacle. A decisive battle of the Mexican Revolution is about to erupt right across the Rio Grande. Husband Leonard, sent there by his employer Stoneman Petroleum, apparently first went native, then disappeared, leaving behind a fiery rebel mistress and rumors he was sent to offer the rebels money in exchange for favorable drilling rights.

"Alone in this liminal place, Rose is befriended by two women, a retired thespian and a young Mexican expatriate, who suggest coping methods that would throw the folks back in Shaker Heights into a tizzy. A reporter recruits Rose, who is a talented amateur photographer, to immortalize the Mexican leaders: a sardonic, strawberry soda-sipping Pancho Villa and visionary Francisco Madero, who communes with the shades of Napoleon and Benito Juárez.

"Rose is caught up in the intrigues of the Revolution, the unfamiliar culture of the borderlands, and the deadly competition between international oil companies. When the only person to offer real information is killed by what is, perhaps, a stray bullet, she finds her own life in danger. While victory is celebrated across the river, Rose learns the truth about Leonard. But where one door closes, another opens, and on the border, there are many doors."

Mesilla Valley Fine Arts Gallery features Tugel, Postelle

From THE SEPTEMBER 2020
MESILLA VALLEY FINE ARTS
GALLERY NEWSLETTER

The Mesilla Valley Fine Arts Gallery, 2470-A Calle de Guadalupe, across from the Fountain Theatre on the historic plaza in Mesilla, will feature two artists for the month of September: Arlene Tugel and Yvonne Postelle.

Tugel, a watercolorist and “watercolor collagist” has lived in Las Cruces for more than 15 years. Prior to living in New Mexico,
she resided in California,
Oregon and Washington.
Tugel has taken numerous workshops from artists in the Southwest.

“The master artist of the natural world around us” is her greatest influence, Tugel said, adding that she “is happiest at her easel, painting plein air in the wide open spaces of the West.”

A native of Texas, Postelle said she has been dabbling in art most of her life. After retiring from the business world and raising a family, she has concentrated on her love of oil painting.
Postelle is a member of local art associations,
holding various offices.
She has taken private art lessons from local and international teachers in addition to attending workshops. Her interests are mainly the tree formation in landscapes.

Mesilla Valley Fine Arts
Gallery’s newest member is Marty Alberson, who grew up in the Mesilla Valley. Alberson creates his art with glass that is melted at approximately 1,400 degrees F. He has had a varied career as an accountant, building contractor, high school teacher, oil and gas landman and home inspector.

Alberson said he became fascinated with fused glass when a stained-glass project he was creating needed a fused-glass element. That element in the project captured his imagination and he has been melting glass for the last 11 years.

Facebook and Instagram @LCMuseums.

The portal also displays the LCMS objects on exhibit at each museum and an online exhibit.

LCMS will be developing further online exhibits as part of its Luce Foundation-funded grant project that explores artists of the Borderlands, the news release said, as "part of our ongoing efforts to expand access and provide as much informa-

Las Cruces artist Mary Beagle is the Doña Ana Arts Council's (DAAC) featured artist for the month of September, and her paintings and sculptures will be the first series displayed at DAAC's new home, 250 W. Amador Ave., at the corner of Amador and Alameda Boulevard.

Before moving to New Mexico eight years ago, Beagle and her husband, David, took part in numerous outdoor juried art shows in New England.

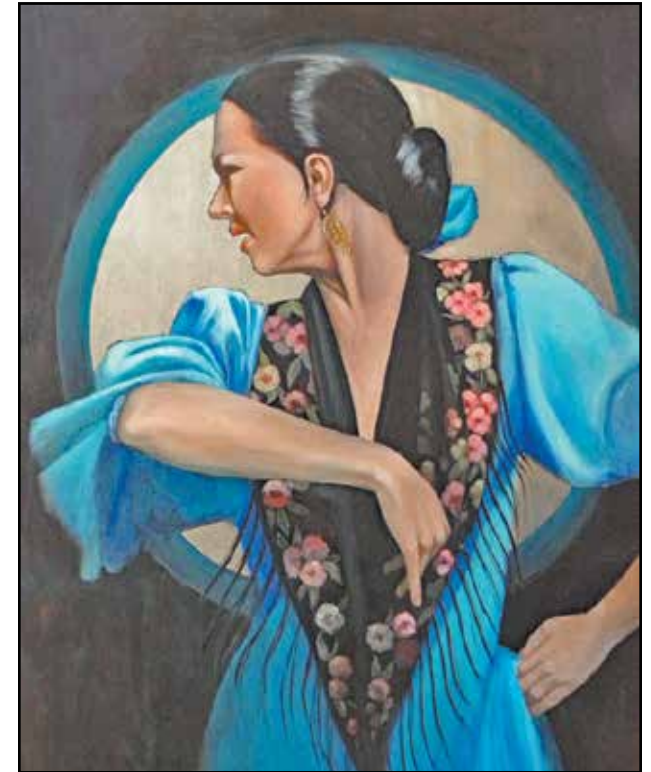

Mary said she paints with oils and David does all the custom framing. Her Native American-themed art has been a change from the usual landscapes and seascapes seen in New England,

Beagle said, "so there was a special niche for her art with collectors of the western genre."

As research for her work, Mary and David said they have travelled to Native American gatherings throughout New England and the Southwest. Many of her Latino-themed paintings are done from photographs taken around Mesilla and Santa Fe.

In 2005 and 2008, Mary Beagle said she attended the Southwest Stone Carving Workshop in Jemez Springs, New Mexico, where she found a new medium of expression in limestone, alabaster, calcite and marble, while working with sculptors Rollie Grandbois, Cliff Fragua, Jon DeCelles, Tim Nicola, T. Barney and others.

Beagle's art has been shown in galleries in Connecticut, Santa Fe and Las Cruces. Her work also has been featured in Southwest Art, Art of the West and Cowboys and Indians magazines.

Downtown businesses open, keeping customers safe

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

Downtown Las Cruces is open for business.

That's the message from Jennifer Garcia Kozlowski, executive director of Downtown Las Cruces Partnership (DLCP), who said downtown businesses are working together to find ways of "hanging in there" during the pandemic and to thrive once the health emergency is over.

"We have a sense of community," she said of the nearly 250 businesses that comprise downtown, including those directly east and west of Main Street.

DLCP is collaborating with the City of Las Cruces, including its Arts and Cultural District, the Downtown Tax Increment Development District and MainStreet Las Cruces to develop collaborations designed to benefit all of downtown.

An example from earlier this month is a $12,000 grant DLCP received from the American Association of Retired People (AARP) to provide safe bicycle storage and shade structures in the city's Arts and Cultural District.

"Downtown Las Cruces wants to be a hub of community activity," Kozlowski said about the grant.

Kozlowski said downtown merchants "take the health crisis seriously," and are enforcing social distancing and mask wearing to create a truly safe environment rather than "a fake safe."

Because of COVID-19 restrictions, she said, downtown businesses "have really opened up their eyes and their minds to re-establishment of their business plans."

"I'm proud of these businesses," Kozlowski said. Their tenacity is "keeping their doors open and keeping people employed."

In addition to more than 20 restaurants, downtown Las Cruces includes anchors like COAS Bookstore and Organ Mountain Outfitters, yoga studios (continuing to operate with online classes), art galleries, theatres, professional services and one of the nation's most popular farmers and crafts markets. Downtown's restaurants are maximizing every opportunity for safe outdoor dining, curbside service and delivery, she said.

Plans are in the works to revive downtown events as COVID-19 restrictions are eased, and to feature the unique works of downtown artists.

Joining Kozlowski at the DLCP offices at 138 S. Water St. is staff member Susan Greenwald. The DLCP board is comprised of Kevin Tegmeyer, Craig Buchanan, Robert Cruise, Kristin Morehead, David Chavez, Bob Pofahl, Linda M. Lee, Orlando T. Padilla and Yvonne Silva.

For more information on DLCP, call DLCP at 575-525-1955 or visit www.downtownlascruces.org/.

Valley Homes: putting Las Cruces in affordable homes

By JESS WILLIAMS

Las Cruces Bulletin

Affordable housing has long been a goal for people establishing their careers and settling down.

In Las Cruces, Valley Homes is dedicated to helping people put down roots with a home.

Owned by Craig Bullock and his wife, Elizabeth Driggers, Valley Homes employs five people, and its mission statement is simple: "To help members of our community find affordable housing in quality homes."

Valley Homes opened in November

Valley Homes at 350 S. Valley Drive

2019 at 350 S. Valley

Drive, between Hadley

COURTESY PHOTO

Operating hours are Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., but COVID-19 has forced Bullock to adopt an appointment-only approach to doing business.

"Because our business is lean," he said, "we adapted quickly and immediately went to appointment-only operations. As we started having a better understanding of safe operations, we slowly began reopening and we fully sanitize the office, houses and all touched surfaces after a customer has left. We want our customers to feel safe and we want to keep our staff healthy."

Bullock said first-time homebuyers often have a lot of questions, and he and his staff try to go the extra mile to help them through the process.

"We understand the home-buying process can be overwhelming and difficult to navigate," Bullock said, "which is why we help throughout every step of the process. We have an in-house service department so that you never have to call a 1-800 number for warranty or service problems."

Important before, Internet access is now critical

COVID-19 has driven change in connectivity and community in the strangest ways.

Grocery shopping and eating out have become less mobile physically while being more technologically mobile through apps and online ordering.

For many, Facebook is now the place we go to church or learn the latest updates on our state's response to COVID-19.

Our public governmental meetings now bring elected officials together to deliberate public policy decisions via Zoom.

And, of course, education and (for many) work can now be done from home, thanks to Zoom and a host of other online platforms.

TRACEY BRYAN

The Bridge of Southern New Mexico

This digital cultural shift has been uncomfortable at best. At worst, the digital divide is cutting off access to these things for a sizable portion of families in our community. Digital access is key to interviewing for jobs, attending virtual job fairs and, yes, going back to school.

No one would dispute that this is the strangest start to a school year ever, and it will impact everyone in our collective set of educational institutions.

Just how big is the digital divide in Doña Ana County? Thanks to the great work of the Center for Community Analysis (CCA) at New Mexico State University, we have a pretty good idea.

The CCA mapped access

(or lack thereof) to both broadband and devices for each of our county's three school districts. The website (www.cca.nmsu.edu/interactive-data-dashboards/access-to-technology-within-nm/) breaks down according to:

- Devices (computer and mobile)
- Internet subscriptions
- Cellular plans

Like the rest of the state, families in our rural districts (Hatch and Gadsden) have larger access gaps than Las Cruces.

Families with no internet subscription:

- 25 percent in Las Cruces
- 41 percent in Gadsden
- 54 percent in Hatch

The data also shows households earning less than $20,000 are the most likely to not have Internet access in all three districts.

Households with computing devices varied by district, as well:

- 87 percent in Las Cruces
- 78 percent in Hatch
- 66 percent in Gadsden

This shows the Herculean task our educators have faced head-on and worked all summer to overcome to ensure the students of our community can keep learning and growing in their education.

The Las Cruces district alone provided thousands of computers and devices, as well as purchasing hundreds of hot spots for those who lacked the ability to access the Internet through other means.

Doña Ana Community College has provided several hundred devices for students who met financial aid thresholds. New Mexico State University, as the state's land grant institution, has put its facilities statewide to work on this issue, creating hot spots at county extension offices and offering wi-fi that extends into the parking lots of its facilities.

They really are all to be applauded for both listening to the needs of students and families and mobilizing resources, so this year could start as smoothly as possible in a fully virtual environment.

Thanks to their efforts, our community will see a bonus benefit: helping our families recover economically, too, by increasing their ability to technology and access it for reemployment and reskilling.

As of August 10, 10,675 people in our county are unemployed because of COVID-19. Re-employment and reskilling for new and different types of jobs are highly dependent upon digital access to online college and career courses, virtual job fairs, virtual job interviews, job searches, and remote work for those whose jobs have transitioned to a digital environment.

Equal access (to computers, pads, mobile technology and the internet) helps everyone in our community access equal opportunities to learn and work. Thanks to the combined efforts of our education leaders, we are well positioned to take advantage of every opportunity to advance our community's academic progress and economic recovery, hopefully re-emerging from COVID-19 stronger than before.

MountainView receives award for stroke care, protocols

BULLETIN REPORT

MountainView Regional Medical Center (MVRMC) has received the American Heart Association/American Stroke Association's Get With The Guidelines Stroke Gold Plus Quality Achievement Award.

The award recognizes the hospital's commitment to ensuring stroke patients receive the most appropriate treatment according to nationally recognized, research-based guidelines based on the latest scientific evidence. MVRMC CEO Derrick

Cuenca said the hospital earned the award by meeting specific quality achievement measures for the diagnosis and treatment of stroke patients at a set level for a designated period. These measures include evaluation of the proper use of medications and other stroke treatments aligned with the most up-to-date, evidence-based guidelines with the goal of speeding recovery and reducing death and disability for stroke patients.

Before discharge, patients should also receive education on managing their health, get a follow-up visit scheduled, as well as other care transition interventions, he said.

"MVRMC is dedicated to improving the quality of care for our stroke patients by implementing the American Heart Association's Get With The Guidelines-Stroke initiative," Cuenca said. "The tools and resources provided help us track and measure our success in meeting evidenced-based clinical guidelines developed to improve patient outcomes."

"We are pleased to recognize MVRMC for their commitment to stroke care," said Lee H. Schwamm, M.D., national chairperson of the Quality Oversight Committee and executive vice chair of Neurology, Director of Acute Stroke Services, Massachusetts General Hospital of Boston. "Research has shown that hospitals adhering to clinical measures through the Get With The Guidelines quality improvement initiative can often see fewer readmissions and lower mortality rates."

According to the American Heart Association/American Stroke Association, stroke is the fifth-leading cause of death and a leading cause of adult disability in the United States. On average, someone in the U.S. suffers a stroke every 40 seconds and nearly 795,000 people suffer a new or recurrent stroke each year.

MIGRATÓN 2020 accepting donations for sister city

By DENISE CHÁVEZ

For The Bulletin

Cd. Juárez, our Mexican sister city, has been running a campaign during the month of August called "Migratón 2020" to raise awareness and support for Refugee and Migrant families. The National Institute of Migration (INM) is collecting clothing, shoes, toys, books and magazines to support families staying in shelters in Cd. Juárez.

Donations may be brought to offices of the INM or Grupo Beta in Cd. Juárez from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. any day of the week throughout August.

Note: Due to COVID-19,

all clothing, shoes and toys MUST be new.

Can you donate locally to help? Yes! Casa Camino Real Bookstore, in partnership with Border Servant Corps (BSC), will be collecting items through August, which will be distributed directly to the organizers of "Migratón 2020."

Casa Camino Real has been working together with BSC since the summer of 2018 in a program called Libros Para El Viaje/Books for the Journey, which has provided thousands of books to asylum-seeking families. The American Booksellers Association, The Children's Reading Foundation and hundreds of booksellers and bookstores across the U.S., Latin America and Europe have donated books for families. Additionally, many nonprofit organizations, donors, and readers of all ages (from age five on up!) have made significant contributions.

Throughout the years, we have also received donations of books, notebooks, journals, school supplies and items for hospitality bags from generous donors. Last winter, we had an extraordinarily successful pajama and thermal-clothing drive called Pajama-Rama. Thank you, donors!

Libros Para El Viaje is ongoing. While we are not all able to travel as freely as we did before the pandemic, members of BSC's team do so on a regular basis. You can be assured that your donations will make it to our families.

Last Monday, we sent hundreds of books to a Juárez shelter and are committed to continue doing so on an ongoing, weekly basis...and we need your help!

Casa Camino Real continues to collect new and gently used Spanish-language books for babies (board books), children ages 3-6, 7-11, 12-16 and adults. We are requesting life-affirming and empowering books that nurture hope and dignity.

We believe in the power of a book to heal lives.

We believe a book can transcend borders — real and imagined — between people of all ages and backgrounds. We believe that books uplift, support and empower. We are committed to sharing quality literature with those who might not otherwise have the present resources in their lives to obtain books. We are all one universal family. We do not discriminate, and work with many faith-based organizations, nonprofit organizations, public entities, governmental agencies and private citizens.

Libros Para El Viaje has a commitment for the good. We believe that the journey has been given to us — to each of us in our own personal way — and that through that journey we encounter the good and strong and resilient in each other.

Our mottos are "We are All Travelers on the Great Road," and "Leer Es Vivir/ To Read is to Live."

We need and want your donations. We will meet you masked and gloved at our bookstore and with a grateful heart. Thank you!

Exercise For Seniors Part 4

We've been talking about starting an exercise program, particularly for our older adults. Last week we focused on writing goals and making a plan. I hope that you've started into your exercise program, and that you're already seeing some benefit. Today and next week, I'm going to write about exercise in the presence of some chronic conditions. Almost anyone, at any age, can do some type of physical activity. You can still exercise even if you have a health condition like heart disease, arthritis, chronic pain, high blood pressure, or diabetes. In fact, physical activity may help. You should be sure to talk with your doctor about how your health condition might affect your ability to exercise.

Staying Physically Active: Alzheimer's Disease and Related Dementias

Researchers are assessing the benefit of exercise to delay mild cognitive impairment (MCI) in older adults and to improve brain function in older adults who may be at risk for developing Alzheimer's disease. Older adults with MCI may be able to safely do more vigorous forms of exercise, similar to older adults without MCI, provided there are no other underlying health concerns. Being active and getting exercise may help people with Alzheimer's or another dementia feel better and can help them maintain a healthy weight and have regular toilet and sleep habits.

Tips for helping a person with dementia stay active

- Take a walk together each day. Exercise is good for caregivers, too!
- Use exercise videos.
- Dance to music.
- Pay attention to the time: several short "mini-workouts" may be best.
- Make sure he or she wears comfortable clothes and shoes that fit well.
- Make sure he or she drinks water or juice after exercise.

• Even if the person has trouble walking, they may be able to:

- Do simple tasks around the home, such as sweeping and dusting.
- Use a stationary bike.
- Use soft rubber exercise balls or balloons for stretching or throwing back and forth.
- Use stretching bands.
- Lift weights or household items such as soup cans.

Exercising with Arthritis

For people with arthritis, exercise can reduce joint pain and stiffness. It can also help with losing weight, which reduces stress on the joints.

- Flexibility exercises such as upper- and lower-body stretching and tai chi can help keep joints moving, relieve stiffness, and give you more freedom of movement for everyday activities.
- Strengthening exercises, such as overhead arm raises, will help you maintain or add to your muscle strength to support and protect your joints.
- Endurance exercises make the heart and arteries healthier and may lessen swelling in some joints. Try activities that don't require a lot of weight on your joints, such as swimming and biking.

If you have arthritis, you may need to avoid some types of activity when joints are swollen or inflamed. If you have pain in a specific joint area, for example, you may need to focus on another area for a day or two.

Next week, I'll write about other chronic conditions, including COPD, Type 2 Diabetes, chronic pain, and osteoporosis.

Choosing the right golf ball can help your game

The turn of the last century — the start of the 1900s — saw the growing use of the early wound golf ball, called the “Haskell” ball. Oct. 11, 2000, saw the introduction of the Titleist Pro V1 ball, which changed everything. The new ball featured a solid core, thin (but durable) elastomer cover and higher ball speed to pros and recreational golfers.

Billy Andrade won the Invensys Classic to be the first PGA pro to win with the new Titleist Pro V1. The following March, the Pro V1 became the best-selling ball in the marketplace. It continues to be today. The Pro V1 has been the winning ball in 39 professional majors, as well as countless other championship tournaments. But nowadays golfers have lots of options.

CHARLIE BLANCHARD
Golf Doctor

There are more than 100 USGA-conforming golf balls to choose from, including different models from a couple of dozen manufacturers. TV ads don't help the consumer make the right choice.

The three main variables that determine how a golf ball performs are “power” (meaning distance), “feel” (meaning touch around the greens) and “spin” (meaning the difference between a hard and soft ball).

Balls can be up to five pieces in construction, depending on how many layers are involved. The outer covers are either inexpensive Surlyn or higher-priced urethane. Premium balls with urethane covers often fly longer and spin more but become unplayable faster and cost more.

An extremely important aspect of choosing the right ball is to know your swing characteristics, your skill level and the parts of your game. For example, if you're a fairly high handicapper, with a low clubhead speed (say 80 mph and below), you're not going to gain anything with an expensive, soft over, premium golf ball, except maybe a show of prestige among your golfing friends.

If, however, you are a long hitter, even with an average handicap, who generates a clubhead speed of 95 to 115, and has reasonable control of your ball flight, you will need a ball that spins less off the driver and spins more on approach shots and around the greens. Thus, the faster you swing the club, and the more expert your game is, the more you can benefit from a high-premium, high-compression golf ball.

Let's return to spin. If you strike the ball squarely in the center of the clubface while swinging right down the target line, you may be able to impart almost all backspin with very little sidespin. However, most higher-handicap recreational golfers are slicers; they swipe the ball off the clubface. For right-handed folks, that means the ball often peels off to the right, high and short. Playing with a soft-cover ball is going to exaggerate your slice, since it's the sidespin that determines the result of your shot.

Golfers are often puzzled about balls that they may pull out of a pond. They're not good if they are discolored in any way. And bear in mind that balls become unsuitable after eight days underwater. And be careful of recycled balls, which are just re-glossed. It's a good idea to clean your ball at every opportunity, take a cut or damaged ball out of play and change balls every nine holes.

If you prize finding decent golf balls on the golf course, just remember this ageless advice from Mark Twain: “It's good sportsmanship not to pick up lost balls while they are still rolling.”

USIBWC announces 2020-21 bird hunting areas

The United States Section of the International Boundary and Water Commission (USIBWC) has released information regarding migratory and game bird hunting areas on USIBWC lands along the Rio Grande in Doña Ana and Sierra counties for the 2020-21 bird hunting season, starting with dove season Sept. 1.

Hunting must be conducted in compliance with all local, county and state hunting rules and regulations. Hunting regulations and the USIBWC prohibit hunting where people could be endangered, such as near homes, businesses, bridges, ports of entry and areas where people are recreating.

In New Mexico, the USIBWC authorizes bird hunting in three different areas, totaling approximately 18 miles along the Rio Grande. The hunting areas remain the same as last year.

In New Mexico, the USIBWC levee gates in the authorized hunting areas will remain closed during bird-hunting season. Vehicle access is prohibited on the levee in areas where there are levee gates. Vehicles should not block levee gates. In Doña Ana County, the Sheriff's Department will enforce towing of any abandoned or unauthorized vehicles.

Hunters are responsible for identifying legal access points to reach hunting areas and must respect private property as well as all municipal, state and federal properties of agencies other than the USIBWC. Do not damage vegetation in the floodplain. Remove your trash, including any shell casings, to avoid future hunting restrictions. No alcoholic beverages.

Do not discharge firearms within 600 feet of homes or businesses or toward other people. Hunters on USIBWC lands hunt at their own risk. In areas where no vehicles are allowed, hunters must access hunting areas in non-motorized transport.

Hunters must have any applicable hunting license, follow state hunting laws and use appropriate firearms. New Mexico game wardens will enforce state hunting laws on USIBWC lands. Only migratory and bird hunting is allowed. No other hunting or target practice is permitted.

Hunters must abide by all COVID-19 safety procedures and government property rules, to include proper social distancing and mask-wearing,

Further information about bird hunting is available from the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish.

Greetings from the Library

You can find books that have LOADS of activities in them! Be sure to use our library catalog at <http://encore.las-cruces.org> to find the library materials that will let your creative genius shine!

You can also call the Reference Desk at 575-528-4005 for help in ordering. Remember the library is ready to serve you curbside!

1. Color and decorate your finger puppets. Do you have scraps of cloth? Wrapping paper? Markers? Buttons? Glue? Bits of colored paper? How can you make your characters unique?
2. Cut them out. Wrap the base around your finger till the ends meet. Secure with tape or glue.
3. Now create a story. Where are your characters located? Can you make a backdrop for your characters? Are they in the jungle? At a park? In outer space? Use blankets, cardboard, puzzle boxes, etc. to create the setting.
4. Think about how your characters talk. Do they sound like a person you've met before? A celebrity? Do they have an accent like Harry Potter?
5. Now you're ready to create the script. What will your characters say to one another? You can write this out on a sheet of paper, or you can just play pretend.
6. If you get stuck on a story idea, think of a family story and retell it using the puppets in place of real people. See if you can tell the story accurately and with lots of detail.
7. Another idea is to use a story you have heard before, but this time change the ending. What could your characters do differently than the story?
