The Cities of Anthony and Sunland Park, the Town of Mesilla and the Village of Hatch partnered with Doña Ana County on this effort. The Greater Las Cruces Chamber of Commerce will accept applications from small businesses.

“The pandemic has been a terrible strain on all of our communities. We are fortunate to get these funds to help small businesses located outside the of the City of Las Cruces,” said Fernando Macias, Doña Ana County Manager.

Dress the Child 2020: Still raising money, planning shopping events

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

Even though this year's fundraising dinner won't be held because of the pandemic, the Las Cruces Dress the Child program is still soliciting donations and making plans to buy new clothes and shoes for hundreds of needy children in Doña Ana County. And event coordinators are asking for the community's help this year more than ever.

"We look forward to seeing our loyal supporters at the Dress the Child dinner on the first Sunday in October, 2021," said Dress the Child Coordinator

Doug Boberg, who took over chairmanship the program in 2009 and has served as co-chair with Las Cruces attorney Matt Holt since 2011. In the meantime, "there is still a critical need for new clothing and shoes for children in our community," Boberg said.

The 2019 Dress the Child dinner, with all the food and preparation donated by outstanding local chefs, raised about $15,000, Boberg said. That paid for new clothes and shoes for more than 150 of the nearly 540 children who received them through the program last year, he said.

Dress the Child is supported by the Rio Grande Rotary Club of Las Cruces, a host of business partners throughout the county, and individual donors throughout southern New Mexico. Participating children are selected by Las Cruces Public Schools and the Gadsden Independent School District.

Boberg said shopping events will be held this November and December at Old Navy and Kohl's in Las Cruces. He said all state public health orders will be followed during the shopping events, which will limit the number of participating volunteers. About $100 is budgeted for each participating child, but Old Navy and Kohl's always provide discounts, which results in around $150 in clothes and shoes being provided, he said.

The seven-course meal that highlights the fundraising dinner simply wasn't possible this year because of state public health orders in response to COVID-19, Boberg said, and because of the financial strain the pandemic has caused local restaurants.

"Restaurants were not in a position to help this year," said Las Cruces chef Vince Campbell, who has been organizing the Dress the Child dinner chefs since 1996. "They're having a rough time," said Campbell, who is representative for Prime Sales and Marketing food brokerage. "We may be down," he said, "but we're not out. We can work with adversity. We've got this."

To donate to Dress the Child, contact Boberg at 575-644-9469 or drboberg@gmail.com, or Julie Koenig at First New Mexico Bank at 575-556-3003. Send a check to LCRGRF Dress the Child, P.O. Box 550, Las Cruces, New Mexico 88004; or take your check to Koenig at First New Mexico Bank, corner of Lohman Avenue and Nacho Drive.

"We are in dire need of assistance with volunteer 'bell ringers' to help this year," Evans said.

on Bataan Memorial West, the drive will travel down Main Street to Lohman Avenue to Telshor Boulevard and stop at Rudy's Country Store and Bar-B-Q, 1020 N. Participate by driving your vehicle (each vehicle is asked to donate a boy- and a girl-gift valued at $10) or by stopping by Rudy's, checking out

After Las Cruces Utilities (LCU) Deputy Director Solid Waste Robin Lawrence scraped off the top layer of the compost mulch, she stuck her hand into the pungent pile. She was happy to feel warmth. Members of the New Mexico State University's (NMSU) Skeen Compost Club (Club) lined up to eagerly do the same.

Warmth meant that the compost pile was "cooking", breaking down the organic material into the beginning of high-quality mulch being made from green yard waste at the Foothills Landfill Composting Facility (FLCF), formerly known as the Old Foothills Landfill, at 555 S. Sonoma Ranch Boulevard.

It was the first tour that the Club came out to do, in order to get an idea about how a large-scale compost mulching process happens.

"We compost with the help of the NMSU campus, in particular Cafe 100 West, which is a food laboratory where students learn to cook and operate a restaurant," said Angie Swanson, Club president. In five years, approximately 2,500 pounds of food waste from student, staff, and faculty lunches have been composted and diverted from the landfill.

Swanson and other members were enthusiastic about learning more and possibly helping LCU by participating in the composting process at FLCF. Lawrence said that there might be an opportunity for internships in the future.

Residents can drop off their green waste, loose or in clear plastic bags, at the facility or place materials/bags for the Green Grapppler during scheduled pickups through LCU solid waste service. The composted mulch is available for free to residents.

"Composted mulch is very useful in dust abatement and erosion control," said Rhonda Diaz, LCU water conservation program coordinator. "It also provides great ground cover to hold moisture longer, which in turn helps to conserve water and promote healthy soil."

Above: Club member Julia Miller gathers samples for a class to test the nutrients in LCU's compost mulch. Mille, a NMSU senior in Environmental Science, hopes to use the samples throughout the semester and share results at the end with LCU.

LCU can be reached at 575-528-3500 from 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. Monday to Friday. LCU provides services to approx. 100,000 Las Cruces residents and businesses.

Dodgers, Yankees and the uncertain earth axis

Anyone who knows me quickly learns I'm a sports fan, and I make no apologies.

People who have been around me as I watch games and cheer and jeer also know I can be a bit superstitious about sports.

I love baseball, basketball and football. I used to watch boxing, and I'll still tune in if Las Crucen Austin Trout has a bout. I really enjoy watching rodeo and horse racing. I still run around on the basketball court, and I enjoy occasionally playing golf, or at least attempting to play. I love watching New Mexico State University's Aggie athletic teams, as well as those from my alma mater, Oklahoma State. I ignore hockey and auto racing, and will only watch soccer if someone I know personally is playing.

I'm very specific about the teams I root for. In baseball's National League, the Cubs are my team. In the American League, I root for the Detroit Tigers and the Texas Rangers. I tell my daughters the Cubs and Tigers are like my kids, and the Rangers are like my dog. Both sets of my grandparents lived in Fort Worth, Texas, and took me to Rangers' games when I was a boy.

Conversely, like any right-minded person, I hate the New York Yankees. During the Yankees' 1950s dynasty, the saying was "Rooting for the Yankees is like rooting for U.S. Steel." In the 1990s, rooting for the Yankees was like rooting for Microsoft.

In the National League, I have a strong dislike for the Los Angeles Dodgers, although I have a keen interest in the Brooklyn portion of their history.

As much as I never want to see a Yankees-Dodgers World Series, maybe the world needs that this year.

So many strange and unsettling things have happened in 2020, it feels somehow the earth has shifted a bit on its axis.

Perhaps we need something familiar and traditional to move things a bit toward normal.

Those two teams have met in the Fall Classic 11 times before, more than any other pair. However, they haven't met since 1981. That season, the Dodgers were led by rookie phenom pitcher Fernando Valenzuela, and the Yankees by Dave Winfield. The evil Yankees hold an 8-3 edge in their championship matchups, which started in 1941 as a classic "Subway Series."

When they last met, in 1981, it was another weird year in baseball, as a mid-season strike canceled many games, and the leagues went to an unorthodox playoff format. The same thing is happening this year.

If the Yankees and Dodgers win their pennants, it will be easy for me to root for the Dodgers, but I'll really be rooting for an earth axis correction.

Religious Reflections

I was sittin' in the back row of a beautiful little church in a mountain town in the Rockies. I was there for the wedding of a daughter of good friends.

As the service progressed, my attention was drawn to a banner that hung on the wall. It was handmade, cut from cloth and intended to be inspiring. It read, "Mount Up With Winos."

Many thoughts went through my mind as I tried to absorb the full meaning of this elaborate banner. I had come to realize over the years that many Protestant churches have become more liberal in their teachings. Acceptance of alternative lifestyles, less moral browbeating, less blatant emphasis on money, more convenient schedules and greater tolerance of lesser sins; i.e. fall football, alcohol, sex and non-Christian religions.

And there is something to be said for that religious creed. After all, Jesus himself never discriminated.

Bein' a thinker myself, I began to concoct other potential banner slogans that might be acceptable in this New Age congregation: Ride with the Risque, Sail with Sinners, Lie Down with the Licentious, Commune with the Immoral, Huddle with the Homeless, Do Lunch with the Offender.

The wedding audience was mostly ranch people, men with sunburned faces wearin' new jeans and uncomfortable in their ties. The women wore their best dresses, and the kids were glad to be anywhere off the ranch. We all squirmed quietly in our pews as the preacher read the vows, told them marriage was forever and lent dignity and tradition to what we all hoped would be a union made in Heaven. We were happy for the parents and appreciated the page turning in their life. We'd all been there or soon would be.

I'd come with my family to pay tribute to the parents. But I admit my distraction with the banner had consumed a good part of my attention during the service. I began to think that it was inappropriate.

When the soloist rose and sang the final George Strait love song while the bride and groom escaped, she was positioned right below the banner. Poor planning, I thought, or at least in poor taste.

As we were filing out I asked my daughter what she thought of the banner.

"Which one?" she asked.

BAXTER BLACK
On the Edge of Common Sense

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Reject racism

To the editor:

In my opinion, racism is at the center of this election year. Removing the taint of racism is not a political issue but a human issue. For millennia, the human race has chosen mates outside tribal boundaries. For years, our people have fought wars, then fallen in love with and married foreigners. The power of love is stronger than hate.

Cameras record racist attacks on BLM protesters, violence is threatened at political events and we are divided as a nation and within our families. Racism is fed by fear. Remember this hymn's words: "Let there be peace on Earth, and let it begin with me."

A pure race does not exist. White supremacy is a myth. If America can ever "form a more perfect union," we must give up racism. The lives lost from hundreds of years of discrimination is obscene. Imagine: that lynched black man might have become a judge or a general. The Arapaho and Cheyenne children murdered at Sand Creek in 1864 were robbed of a future. A waste.

Our history contains too many instances of racism to count; i.e., the Chinese who built the railroads, the Italians, the Germans, the Jews who fled Hitler were not welcomed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt – the list should cause deep shame.

Our country was built by human beings from all over the globe. Their bodies and their blood built great cities, farmed America's vast crops, fought in our wars, educated our children, wrote books and composed music.

Let us stop wasting our treasure and beauty. Let it begin now.

RECYCLING - WHILE ENJOYING THE OUTDOORS

By PETER R. IBARBO – Education & Outreach Coordinator

Discarded plastic water bottle at Organ Mountains-Desert Peaks National Monument - Doña Ana County, New Mexico

Did you know that most of the waste from hiking, camping, or hunting trips can be recycled?

As recreational parks and public lands begin to reopen, we want to remind everyone to please be mindful of your waste when visiting the great outdoors. Even a small amount of discarded trash can have a devastating impact on wildlife and livestock. Swallowing metal and plastic waste can cause tumors, infections, and fatal diseases on cows and native animals from New Mexico.

It takes about seventy years for a plastic jug, four hundred fifty years for a plastic 6-pack ring holder, five hundred years for an aluminum can, and one million years for a glass bottle to decompose in the desert. Even candy wrappers that only take one to three months to decompose can cause serious damage to our native species.

An important thing to know about leaving trash in the outdoors is that it is ILLEGAL. When visiting the outdoors, please remember to protect our environment, wildlife, agriculture, and tourism industry by following these simple outdoor recycling tips:

-  Pack a separate bag to place all your recyclable items in
- Separate all recyclable items from regular trash
- Empty and rinse all plastic and metal items before placing them in your bag
- Place your recycled items in your curbside recycling cart or nearby recycling bin when you get home. Do not place bagged recyclables nor plastic bags in recycle bins. All items must be emptied from your bag into the recycling bin keeping them loose.

Glass bottles can be dropped off at:

- Las Cruces Recycling Center - 2855 W. Amador Ave., or
- Old Foothills Landfill Recycling Yard - 555 S. Sonoma Ranch Blvd.

Recycle these items:

Time for the country to don a raincoat

If your neighbor doesn't have the sense to come in out of the rain, you aren't surprised if he gets sick.

When that happens, you hope he gets well soon and learns from his mistake.

Based on all the public information available as I write this Monday, President Donald Trump is getting better now after being hospitalized with symptoms caused by COVID-19. I wish him a full and complete recovery, as I wish for the thousands of others who are hospitalized and fighting for their lives.

WALT RUBEL

The View
From Here

If, in fact, the president does recover, his illness could save more lives than anything he has done since the virus first reached our shores. Or not. It could go either way.

When Brazilian President Jair Bolsonaro became infected with the coronavirus, he insisted that the only reason he felt any weakness at all was because of mold in his lungs caused by 20 days of isolation in his own home. He touts his recovery as evidence of how mild the virus really is.

The symptoms being suffered by President

Trump are far more severe. And, Trump's age and weight mean he is more at-risk.

But it's hard to know exactly how sick the president is, given that his medical team lied to the American public during its very first press conference, claiming falsely that he had not needed oxygen on Friday night. Dr. Sean Conley admitted the lie the next day, but still refused to answer critical questions about the president's condition.

Trump is not the only prominent Republican to become infected. U.S. Senators Thom Tillis, Mike Lee and Ron Johnson have caught the virus, as have White House staffers Hope Hicks, Kellyanne Conway and Nick Luna, RNC Chairwoman Ronna McDaniel, Trump Campaign Manager Bill Stepien and First Lady Melania Trump.

Former New Jersey Gov. Chris Christie has also tested positive after helping Trump with debate prep, and Notre Dame President John Jenkins was infected after attending the super-spreader event in the Rose Garden held for Supreme Court nominee Amy Coney Barrett. Three reporters covering that event were also infected.

Thus far, the wave of infections has not caused much self-reflection at the White House. Staff members are still reportedly roaming the halls without facemasks, and plans are to send Vice President Mike Pence out in Trump's place for more crowded campaign rallies.

But that could all change. His closest aides say former President Ronald Reagan was a changed man after being shot by John Hinckley. That brush with death forced him to look at things from a different perspective.

The same thing could happen with President Trump. A little time alone in a hospital bed gives a person a chance to sort things out. He could come out of this with a new perspective.

Imagine what a difference it would make if the president sincerely and whole-heartedly urged his supporters to wear facemasks and maintain social distancing.

Maybe that's too much to ask. But even if this does not cause a great awakening with our president, his illness should be a wake-up call for the rest of us.

Nobody in the country is more protected than the president. He has complete access to testing, protective gear and medical care. And yet he was still infected. His refusal to take advantage of those assets led to his illness. We should learn from that mistake, whether he does or not.

And, for those who still believe COVID-19 is a hoax, or fake news, or no worse than the flu, it's time to come in out of the rain.

Supports a public bank

To the editor:

Legislation supporting a New Mexico public bank will likely come before the state legislature next year. Why do we need a public bank? Because New Mexico state revenue and fees are deposited in a large, out-of-state bank, which uses our deposits as leverage to make loans and investments to projects of their choosing, not our choosing.

In addition, because many large public improvements are expensive, cities and counties fund those projects through bonds, which are expensive. A 20-year bond with a 12-year average life has financing costs as high as 30-40 percent of the initial project cost.

If our revenue and fees

were deposited in a public bank, those funds would be available for our own projects (infrastructure, small businesses, farmers, and more). A public bank can also help community banks and credit unions throughout the state to make participation loans for smaller, local projects that those banks and credit unions usually are not able to fund.

If our revenue and fees

were deposited in a New Mexico Public Bank, the state and local communities could avoid having to use so many expensive bonds to pay for large public projects. The State Bank could fund those projects. In addition, public bank loans would result in income for the state.

Starting with just a $50 million capitalization and appropriate revenue deposits in the state bank, up to $500 million could be allocated to projects, large and small, across the state.

A public bank will keep New Mexico revenue safe, local and working for New Mexicans through lending programs that will provide income for the state and reduce costs for government entities. In addition, a public bank will fund more local projects that will lead to greater wealth development in communities across the state. For more information, see <https://aflep.org/>.

Election interference

To the editor:

We have read stories about other countries — Russia, Eastern European and Third World countries — whose leaders interfered in their elections. Presently, this is happening in America in 2020!

The occupant of the White House is doing everything in his power to steal the election by challenging the mail-in ballot process (we've never had a problem with this previously), telling people in North Carolina to vote twice, making radical changes with the Postal Service (which affects all of the country and not just for the election), informing the intelligence community to downplay any reports about Russia interfering with our election — just a few to name.

Then Trump has the audacity to say that if he loses the election it was “rigged.” Chaos and fear, Trump's choice of governing America. Putin must love this.

And don't get me started on a few of the cases waiting to be heard by the Supreme Court — Roe vs. Wade and the Affordable Care Act — which the American public want preserved. Donald Trump is killing all the institutions which made this country great! Another four years of this man and America will not

Thanks, NMSP

To the editor:

I don't write many letters to newspapers. In fact, the last one was probably 10 years ago or more. I usually express my opinions just to my friends, maybe over a beer or two. I want to say thank you to the New Mexico State Police for helping enforce traffic laws in Las Cruces.

Friday, Sept. 25, I saw a State Police vehicle parked on Boutz Road, just west of the I-10 overpass for a couple of hours, and I assume he was enforcing the 25-m.p.h. speed limit, which most drivers seem to think means 35 is okay and 45 if they are in a hurry.

Residents of the area have complained to the city numerous times about the speeding on Boutz Road, but I have never seen a city police officer enforcing the speed limit. I walk my dog on that street a couple times a day because there are no other streets available, and in that area, there are no shoulders, so speeding cars are dangerous.

The State Police were there in the late afternoon, but I would like to see them there in the early morning also. I think just having their presence there a couple days a week will cause drivers to slow down and be safer. Thanks again and good job.

Refutes article

To the editor:

In your Sept. 25 edition, you published a letter by Dolores C. Archuleta stating unequivocally that President Trump, "is telling [relatives of war veterans killed in foreign wars] that their loved ones killed in action were 'losers and suckers.'"

Obviously, the author is repeating commentary written in The Atlantic magazine by Jeffery Goldberg, where he states that he has four "credible witnesses" who say Trump labeled our dead war heroes as losers and suckers.

The author, while stating that she has not served in the U.S. Armed Forces, borrows the valor earned by friends and relatives to justify her anger with the president.

The Goldberg article has been discredited. First, the comments were supposedly made on a trip to France in 2018. All of the President's staff who were in attendance say those words were not spoken. This includes General John Kelly and John Bolton, who are not Trump fans or supporters. Secondly, if Mr. Goldberg has four creditable witnesses, are we to believe that not even one has the fortitude to identify him or herself? Third, why did Mr. Goldberg wait nearly two years after the supposed utterance to publish his article? Because it's an election year and he is known to hate Trump? Fourth, 275 generals, admirals and officers, both active and retired, have signed a document supporting Trump. Fifth, Trump has done much to support our military, including a pay raise and veteran medical services.

Finally, I served in the USMC, son David served in the Army, son Eric (both living in Las Cruces) served in the USMC, and grandson Brian serves in the Navy. My father served in France and Germany during WWII, as did my father-in-law in the Pacific. We have more than a fiendish interest in the truth.

GOP hypocrisy

To the editor:

The hypocrisy of the former Republican Party, now a Trump Cult, never ceases to amaze me. All of the candidates for office proudly and loudly proclaim that they are Pro Life. According to Sister Joan Chittister, a member of the Benedictine Sisters of Erie, Pennsylvania, "I do not believe that just because you're opposed to abortion, that that makes you pro-life. In fact, I think in many cases, your morality is deeply lacking if all you want is a child born but not a child fed, not a child educated, not a child housed. And why would I think that you don't? Because you don't want any tax money to go there."

I would add they never talk about the issues of health, education and a living wage either.

That's not pro-life. That's pro-birth. We need a much broader conversation on what the morality of pro-life is. In New Mexico, poverty is prevalent, but not one candidate talks about what they are doing to better the lives of poor people, who are working multiple jobs to care for their families, the homeless students who go to the local schools, the homeless and near homeless families in our communities, etc. I guess those lives don't matter to the Trump Cult, but they do to me and many like me, "the leftistas."

Four-wheeler river run in the works

Environmental groups object to planned river events

By JESS WILLIAMS AND ELVA K. ÖSTERREICH
Las Cruces Bulletin

A planned Oct. 17 event that was expected to draw more than 800 people and vehicles to the bed of the Rio Grande has been cancelled, according to a Sept. 30 post on the Doña Ana County Sheriff's Department (DASO) Facebook page.

"Please be advised the 4th Annual River Run, scheduled for Oct. 17, is not permitted by the [the International Boundary and Water Commission (USIBWC)] as of today," the post said. "DASO will honor its written obligation to USIBWC to enforce trespassing and other laws associated with the river management. Also, the governor has not lifted the mass gathering clause of the [public health] order." Prior to DASO's announcement, the event was drawing fire from environmental groups who contended it should be canceled or curtailed.

According to an Oct. 1 letter sent to the USIBWC commissioner, the event was being billed on social media as "The Fourth Annual River Run," an off-road vehicle rally that was to have taken place in the bed and along the banks of the Rio Grande starting at the Mesilla Dam, going north to Shalem Colony and then returning to the point of origin.

The letter contends a "mini River Run" was scheduled Oct. 10.

Event organizer Randall Limon of Las Cruces said the event may still take place, pending a permit from the USIBWC, and if it is not allowed at that location, a new venue will be found.

"I do a lot of events with the side-by-side community," he said. "We raise money for families who need help, especially now, during the pandemic. This year we will be taking donations for two families. I will not charge for participation."

He said the event has sponsors and they will be giving away gift cards. The "mini run" Oct. 10 has been canceled in respect for the concerns people have raised, he said. The main event is more of a participation for fun sport. Many of the things, like live music and barbecues, have been canceled for Oct. 17, and people generally don't congregate. They will stay socially distanced, usually in family groups, he said.

The Oct. 1 letter — jointly signed by Kevin Bixby, executive director of the Southwest Environmental Center; Elaine Stachera Simon, president of the Mesilla Valley Audubon Society; and Carolyn Gressitt, president of the Las Cruces chapter of the Native Plant Society of New Mexico — cited the event's Facebook page showing 880 people having planned on going and 1,900 people having declared an interest in the event, as of Oct. 1.

"There will be hundreds if not thousands of vehicles of all types participating, including all-terrain vehicles, utility task vehicles, trucks and motorcycles," the letter states. "There will be vehicles traveling in two directions in the riverbed during these events, often at high rates of speed, while others are stationary because they have gotten stuck. Based on YouTube videos of previous years' events, participants particularly like to drive through whatever water remains in the river, deliberately skidding out, doing donuts and throwing up plumes of water and mud."

The signatories asserted there were significant reasons for the event to be postponed, curtailed or cancelled, including danger to the participants, spectators and passersby, damage to the riverbed, harm to wildlife, destruction of native plants and violation of state health orders designed to limit the spread of COVID-19.

"For all of these reasons, we urge you to contact the organizers of these events and explain to them that land managed by USIBWC within the Rio Grande Canalization Project is unsuitable for events such as theirs," the letter states. "We also urge you to coordinate with local law enforcement to make sure these events do not go forward without USIBWC authorization."

While addressed to USIBWC Commissioner

What's That Smell?

Do you know how to identify a natural gas leak? You might smell sulfur or rotten eggs, you may notice dirt or debris shooting up out of a hole in the ground, dead or dying vegetation in an otherwise green area, and a loud hissing or roaring sound near pipeline markers. These and many more are all telltale signs of a natural gas or pipeline leak. Use all your senses, even common sense and report any possible leaks to Zia Natural Gas Company. When in doubt call us out!

Limon said he understands the environmental concerns, and the vehicles are to stay in the riverbed, not go up the banks into environmentally fragile and sensitive areas. They are also making extra effort to see that trash is picked up and the areas involved are not damaged. "We will be going out there with t-posts and caution tape to keep everyone in the river," he said. "We plan to go from Mesilla Dam to Black Bridge and turn around to avoid the sanctuary [Mesilla Valley Bosque State Park] area."

Since COVID-19 hit, Limon said people have been looking for alternatives to social gatherings, and one popular option has been to head for the desert in a four-wheel-drive vehicle of some sort. Limon said the people need the relief, and the city could use the business.

"I see where the concern is coming from," he said. "Why can't we all work together? We are trying our hardest to comply. There is always that one bad apple, we shouldn't all be punished over it. I do this out of love for what I do."

tonight's picks

Ian Book

5:30 p.m. on KTSM
College Football

A clash of ACC rivals is on tap tonight in South Bend, Ind., where Ian Book and the Notre Dame Fighting Irish will defend home turf from James Blackman and the Florida State Seminoles. With a conference to finally call home and stars on offense and defense, the Irish are primed for another 10-win season and a shot at the ACC title game. The Seminoles, meanwhile, are coming off three-straight mediocre years and hope the redshirt junior Blackman and a few key transfers can begin a resurgence.

6 p.m. on LIFE
Movie: Cheer Camp Killer

Sophia (Mariah Robinson) is thrilled to have a chance to show off her special skills after she and her BFF Charlotte (Jacqueline Scislowski) win admission into a highly exclusive cheer camp in this 2020 thriller. Unfortunately, neither Victoria (Sydney Malakeh), the camp's queen bee, nor her iron-willed mother, Beth (Andrea Bogart), are amused at this new interloper crashing their kingdom. The pair launch a dangerous plan to remove the new rival.

7 p.m. on HALL
Movie: My Best Friend's Bouquet

Like others in her family, Josie Hughes (Chaley Rose) believes a wedding bouquet always finds its way to the right person, so when she catches the tossed flowers at her friend Emma's (Luísa d'Oliveira) nuptials, she thinks the charm is at work when she meets an eligible bachelor at the reception in this 2020 romantic comedy. Since she's convinced this new guy is her Mr. Right, she's totally unaware that her longtime friend Alex (Nathan Witte) is obviously carrying a major torch for her. Rebecca Olson co-stars.

7 p.m. on TRAV
Ghost Nation

In a new episode with the foreboding title "Prison of Doom," Jason Hawes, Steve Gonsalves, Dave Tango, and Shari DeBenedetti investigate reports of electrical anomalies, menacing shadow figures and disembodied voices at a former prison in New York. The team scrambles to find answers to the turbulence that seems to have seized control of the premises, holding its new owners hostage.

8 p.m. on AMC
Eli Roth's History of Horror

Host Eli Roth returns for Season 2 of this addictive series for horror movie fans, which explores the dark power and wicked fun of scary movies, as well as the craft that went into landmark films of the genre and the ways horror films reflect the anxieties of their time. Among this season's writers, directors, actors and technical experts scheduled to be interviewed by Roth are Stephen King, Quentin Tarantino, Jordan Peele, Piper Laurie, Roger Corman, Bill Hader, James Brolin, John Landis and Joe Dante.

9 p.m. on AMC
Cursed Films

This fascinating new documentary series examines a number of iconic horror films and explores facts, myths and lingering mysteries surrounding their production, through interviews with directors, cast members and producers who lived through the real-life events at the time. The series opens with "The Exorcist," director William Friedkin's 1973 adaptation of William Peter Blatty's terrifying bestseller. The film's early screenings are surrounded by controversy, as reports of fainting theater-goers and mysterious on-set accidents spark debate as to whether or not the film itself is somehow evil.

9 p.m. on HBO
Movie: Cats

"Les Miserables" director Tom Hooper went back to the British mega-musical well for his big-screen adaptation of Andrew Lloyd Webber's tuneful adaptation of poems by T.S.Eliot, for which Hooper also co-wrote the screenplay. Judi Dench leads the stary ensemble in the role of Old Deuteronomy; Taylor Swift, who scored a Golden Globe nod for co-writing the new song "Beautiful Ghosts," has a featured role. Jennifer Hudson, Ian McKellen, James Corden, Idris Elba, Rebel Wilson and ballet star Francesca Hayward also star.

Movie: Cheerleader Abduction

Olivia is the complete golden girl, with camera-ready beauty, a perfect grade-point average and the prestige that comes with being captain of her high school cheerleading squad. When she finds out she's pregnant, though, she knows her reputation — and her mom's gubernatorial campaign — rely on keeping a lid on this scandalous secret. She turns to an underground adoption ring for help, but after Olivia goes missing, her mother drops everything to find her before it's too late. Kristen Harris and Jerni Stewart star in this 2020 thriller.

6 p.m. on STARZ
The Spanish Princess

Adapted from novels by Philippa Gregory, the concluding part of this historical drama continues the story of Queen Catherine (Charlotte Hope) and Henry VIII (Ruairi O'Connor), who are beloved by their people as they reign over the most glamorous court in Europe in the season premiere "Camelot." Working together, they've given England the pride, strength and confidence to withstand foreign threats, but Catherine's struggle to produce an heir puts her marriage at risk. New additions to this season's cast include Andrew Buchan and Ray Stevenson.

7 p.m. on KVIA2
Pandora

After Jax, Xander, Ralen and Matta (Priscilla Quintana, Oliver Dench, Ben Radcliffe, Tegan Short) successfully track the fugitives Tierney and Eve (Tina Casciani, guest star Roxanne McKee), Jax's mother, to a remote planet shrouded in secrecy, the heroes unexpectedly find themselves in the crosshairs of a strange religious cult that will stop at nothing to protect their sinister order in the new episode "Don't Think Twice, It's All Right." Akshay Kumar, Noah Huntley, Vikash Bhai and Nicole Mavromatis also star.

7 p.m. on AMC
Fear the Walking Dead

Season 6 of this companion series to "The Walking Dead" explores the current fate of the unlikely "chosen family" who initially embarked on a mission to help those in need. As subsequent events unfolded, the group found themselves torn apart by Virginia (Colby Minifie) and her Pioneers, so the plucky band is now dispersed across her far-flung settlements. At the end of Season 5, Morgan (Lennie James) exorted the characters to "Just Live," and viewers will find out what those words mean to these characters this season.

7 p.m. on FOOD
Halloween Wars

In the season finale, entitled "Look Out!," host Jonathan Bennett challenges the remaining teams to capture the terror and fun of an ultimate "jump scare" moment from a horror movie. The team that best succeeds in that endeavor and impresses judges Shinmin Li and Todd Tucker, along with guest judge Marisol Nichols from "Riverdale," will be crowned Halloween Wars Champion and win $50,000.

8 p.m. on FOOD
Outrageous Pumpkins

In "Giant Monster Bash," the season finale, the final four pumpkin carvers create terrifying monsters-in-law and larger-than-life monster party scenes using Atlantic Giant pumpkins. The winning carver takes home the $25,000 prize and bragging rights as the Outrageous Pumpkins champion.

10 p.m. on HMM
Picture Perfect Mysteries

Real-life spouses Alexa and Carlos PenaVega return in their respective roles as photographer Allie Adams and police detective Sam Acosta in their third joint mystery outing, "Exit, Stage Death." The whodunit opens with Allie backstage on opening night of a new play by murder-mystery writer Neil Khan (Willie Aames, "Charles in Charge"). The show does not go on, however, after Allie finds the show's leading lady murdered. Sam immediately launches his investigation, with Allie as his unofficial partner, but her involvement puts her in mortal danger as well.

Carla Hall

- 7 p.m. on FOOD Halloween Baking Championship
 Host Carla Hall welcomes the six remaining bakers into the devil's den, where she challenges them to conjure up a diabolically delicious dessert that incorporates such seemingly hellish ingredients as sauerkraut, beets, tamarind paste and tomato soup, in the new episode "The Devil Made Me Do It." Judges Stephanie Boswell and Zac Young help Hall decide which baker winds up consigned to the fiery pit of elimination.

7 p.m. on TLC The Family Chantel

Chantel is about to graduate from nursing school, but the couple's plans beyond that point are complicated by the return of her big brother Royal to Atlanta, with Angenette, a bride from the Philippines. Pedro's sister Nicole in the Dominican Republic has her own drama going with a New Yorker.

8 p.m. on KDBC One Day at a Time

After Alex (Marcel Ruiz) accidentally catches his mother (Justina Machado) in a compromising position, Penelope decides it's time to sit down with her son for a talk about healthy human sexuality in "Boundaries," the first of two back-to-back episodes. finds something life-altering in the kitchen trash. Todd Grinnell and India de Beaufort also star.

9 p.m. on KRWG POV

An award winner at the Sundance Film Festival, filmmaker Sam Soko's documentary profiles political activist Boniface "Softie" Mwangi, an audacious political activist who decides to run for political office in Kenya, having spent several years fighting for justice there. Somewhat predictably, he quickly finds that running a clean campaign against wildly corrupt opponents, with only his idealism as a weapon, is challenging, to put it mildly.

11 p.m. on HBO We Are Who We Are

As Sarah and Richard's (Chloe Sevigny, Kid Cudi) power struggle intensifies, the relationship between their wives continues to grow, with Sarah fueling the flames by joining Caitlin (Jordan Seamón) on the base's virtual shooting range in the new episode "Right Here Right Now V." Later, Caitlin enlists Frasier's (Jack Dylan Grazer) help in making a bold statement. Elsewhere, diving deeper into Islam, Danny (Spence Moore II) questions Jenny (Faith Alabi) about his biological father.

The League of Women Voters of Southern New Mexico (LWVSNM) is a nonpartisan organization that provides information about political issues and candidates for public office in order to promote greater citizen responsibility and participation in government. Because the League is nonpartisan, it DOES NOT support or oppose any political party or candidate. It DOES publish and distribute factual information for citizens to use when preparing to vote.

The information in this Voters Guide was obtained by means of questionnaires sent to all the candidates. Their answers are printed exactly as received by the League. Because of space restrictions, candidates are limited to a specific number of words. Also, lists are converted to paragraphs and responses are converted to normal text.

Disclaimers: Material in the voting Information section was correct as of September 14, 2020. The League is not responsible for any changes made by the Doña Ana County Bureau of Elections between that date and the election.

VOTING BEFORE ELECTION DAY Absentee Voting

The Doña Ana County Clerk's Office is advising voters that The Center for Voter Information, a third party organization, will be mailing absentee ballot applications to some registered voters in Doña Ana County. While these applications did not originate from the Doña Ana County Clerk's Office, they will be processed in accordance with state statute if they are returned by voters interested in voting by absentee ballot in the general election.

Applicants who do not complete an application correctly will receive a letter of rejection from the Clerk's Office, and only voters with approved applications will be sent a ballot.

Once an application is approved for a voter, no additional applications are required from that voter for that election. However, those voters who requested an absentee ballot for the 2020 primary election must submit a new application for the 2020 general election in order to receive an absentee ballot.

Voters may request an absentee ballot application from the Clerk's Office by emailing elections@donaanacounty.org or printing an application and mailing it to 845 N. Motel Blvd., Las Cruces, NM 88007. Absentee ballot applications are available on the County Clerk's website.

Online tracking of absentee ballot application status is available on the Secretary of State's NMVote.org portal. The deadline to submit an absentee ballot application is October 20th, and absentee ballots began to be mailed on October 6th. For more information about the 2020 General Election, please contact the Doña Ana County Bureau of Elections at (575) 647-7428 or visit dacelections.com.

Attorney.

Voting offenses are:

- Any form of campaigning within 100 ft. of a building containing a polling place.
- Using, possessing, or carrying alcoholic beverages within 200 feet of a polling place.
- False voting, such as, voting or offering to vote although not qualified, voting in another's name, voting more than once during a single election, or assisting another person in committing a voting offense.
- Blocking the entrance to the voting location.
- Creating disorder or disruption at the polling place.

ELECTION DAY

On Tuesday, November 3, the voting convenience centers will be open from 7:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m.

To find the extensive list of Voting Convenience Centers, go to the Doña Ana County Bureau of Elections website and click Elections, Voting, Where Do I Vote, www.donaanacounty.org/elections/vcc#election.

There will be someone who speaks Spanish at each of the polling places and at the County Clerk's Office.

PROVISIONAL VOTING

If you go to vote and the election workers cannot locate your information, election workers will offer you a provisional ballot.

The provisional voting process is slightly different than normal, but if you are verified to be a qualified voter, your vote will count the same.

Instead of placing the ballot into a machine to be read you will place it into a sealed envelope. You will need to fill out your information and sign the envelope.

These sealed provisional ballots will be returned to the County Clerk's office on election night for review. Once the provisional ballots have been reviewed, they will be taken to the canvassing board to be counted or rejected depending on the qualifications of the voter.

To see more voter information and questions/answers from your responding candidates, go to Vote411.org and enter your address. You might also find responses from candidates who did not respond in time for the printed editions.

United States Senator Bob Walsh LIBERTARIAN Candidate

1. Congress should defund government departments that fail to report emissions produced and measures taken to reduce emissions. Individuals may take whatever voluntary measures they deem appropriate. Congress should not impose burdens on the private sector to mitigate uncertain effects that are decades away. Instead, Congress should let our economy grow while the technology advances.

2. Libertarians favor a free market. We should be free to determine our level of health insurance, our level of health care, our providers, our medicines and treatments, and our end-of-life choices. We should be free to purchase insurance and care across state lines.

A free market would offer many choices, including competing affordable options with only catastrophic insurance and without the latest interventions. Independent individuals and groups would rate quality.

3. The current pandemic has reminded us that central planning does not work. Private companies are happy to compete for the fastest response to a new epidemic, encouraged by the potential financial rewards. The government should get out of the way, not impede developments the way the CDC and the FDA have done during the current pandemic.

4. Although we should encourage immigration as a benefit to our economy, the more important considerations are human rights. Political freedom and escape from tyranny demand that individuals not be unreasonably constrained by government in the crossing of political boundaries. Economic freedom demands the unrestricted movement of human as well as financial capital across national borders.

5. Voting rights are protected under Amendments IV, XV, XIX, and XXIV. Congress must provide adequate funding to the Justice Department to investigate and prosecute any infringement of these rights.

6. Police department should improve their ability to detect selective law enforcement before it becomes a systemic problem. The doctrine of qualified immunity should be altered or abolished.

Most jurisdictions have too many trivial laws. All laws should have an expiration date.

United States Senator Mark V Ronchetti REPUBLICAN Candidate

1. While climate change should be addressed, I disagree with those who believe that dismantling our economy is the answer. I strongly oppose the Green New Deal that my opponent is co-sponsoring. The "Green New Deal" would destroy our economy, while the world's largest polluters - India

& China - sit idly by. The approach of proponents of the Green New Deal simply won't work. I support an innovative approach relying on natural gas, carbon capture & emerging technologies to address climate change.

2. Increasing and improving access to healthcare is possible by enacting policies that lower costs while protecting quality and choice. I oppose government-run Medicare for All. I will always protect coverage for those who have pre-existing conditions. In a state like New Mexico, wider availability of telemedicine is critical to accomplishing this goal. Every American should be able to pick the healthcare plan and doctor they want, not one the government picks for them.

3. The federal government should have a national response ready for a variety of public health emergencies. As we've seen with COVID-19, it is essential for the government to have the ability to identify, monitor, and eventually control health threats. Additionally, the federal government should maintain necessary public health resources in a national stockpile to be prepared to scale up response to any health threat, rapidly.

4. I oppose amnesty & support efforts to secure the border with physical barriers, technology & an increase in border patrol agents. Illegal drugs pouring over our border is hurting everyone & this drug trade fuels much of our crime epidemic. I oppose sanctuary city laws that allow illegal immigrants who commit crimes to remain in the country. Legal immigration made this country great and we need clear immigration laws where those seeking the American dream can do so lawfully.

5. Congress should always be monitoring election security and defending free and fair elections. It is important that every American citizen has the ability to vote so their voice can be heard and shape their government. I support early voting, absentee mail voting, and satellite voting locations. Unlike my opponent, I support voter ID laws to prevent voter fraud.

6. I support common-sense reforms and we have to weed out bad apples. I believe most police officers are good people and I strongly oppose defunding the police. I support Sen. Tim Scott's bill which would ban no-knock warrants, chokeholds, and require body cameras. Additionally, our Albuquerque police officers have already adopted many reforms to better protect the rights and safety for all citizens, and I am proud to be endorsed by the Albuquerque Police Officers Association.

United States Senator Ben R Lujan DEMOCRATIC Candidate

1. We cannot wait another generation to act on the climate crisis. In Congress, I introduced the Clean Energy Standard Act to transition electrical utilities to 100% clean energy in the 2050s and authored the IMPACT For Energy Act to expand investments in organizations working to protect our public lands and strengthen regulations to protect our air and water. By making smart investments in clean energy now, we can create good-paying jobs and secure the needed changes to protect our environment.

2. Health care is a human right and that's why I have fought to expand health care throughout my career. I am the author of the State Public Option Act, which allows people to buy into their state's Medicaid programs. In Congress,

I voted for legislation to drive down prescription drug prices and end surprise medical billing, all while fighting for resources to improve the quality and accessibility of health care for rural New Mexicans.

3. This pandemic has demonstrated that the federal government must have the ability to effectively respond to public health emergencies. A crisis like COVID-19 requires a comprehensive federal response but instead we've seen a lack of leadership from the president, which has resulted in massive losses of life. The federal government should develop and prepare to implement plans to control the spread of outbreaks in coordination with all 50 states and replenish stockpiles of medical equipment.

4. Our immigration system is fundamentally broken. Congress needs to pass comprehensive immigration reform - one that includes a pathway to citizenship - protect the DREAMers, and bring humanity back to our immigration policies. We must take immediate action to ensure that the rights of migrants and refugees are protected by ending the family separation and the Remain in Mexico policies implemented by the Trump administration.

5. Voter suppression must absolutely be addressed by Congress, which has an obligation to protect the rights of the American people. Voter suppression is a threat to our democracy. In Congress I supported the John Lewis Voting Rights Advancement Act to restore the Voting Rights Act that was struck down by the Supreme Court. I also introduced the Native

American Voting Rights Act, to create safeguards for Native American voters to eliminate obstacles to the ballot box faced by Native American voters

6. While recent events have shown a light on this, systemic racial injustice is a pervasive issue in our country. In order to address the root causes of this injustice, we must acknowledge that this racism is real and get to work. I encourage individuals to get involved and volunteer with organizations that are working tirelessly to combat racism. We must also speak out against racism, make our voices heard, and most importantly get out and vote to elect leaders who will fight to make our country

UNITED STATES REPRESENTATIVES

Candidates must be at least 25 years old, a United States citizen of seven years, and must be an inhabitant of New Mexico. The United States House of Representatives has 435 members of which New Mexico is entitled to three. Two-year term.

U.S. Representative Yvette Herrell REPUBLICAN Candidate

1. The proposals in front of Congress today, including the dangerous and out-of-touch "Green New Deal" are not acceptable solutions. New Mexico's farmers, ranchers, and extraction industries have been good stewards of the land, because the land is their livelihood. We must continue to harness and invest in the technology and innovation that has resulted in reduced emissions - not punishing or regulating our job creators to death.

2. We need to reduce the cost of healthcare by embracing free market solutions that allow providers to compete for our business. When they compete, the cost comes down, quality increases, and patients win. Transparency is another key to ensuring we reduce the actual cost of treatments and procedures. Patients and their families should see what they are being charged for and be able to negotiate cheaper prices - to hold providers accountable.

3. In the preamble of the Constitution, it is outlined that our government needs to "provide for the common defense, promote the general Welfare". I believe that preparing our nation for public health emergencies and natural disasters is a core purpose of our federal government. We should always be seeking innovative practices to keep Americans safe and providing the states ample resources to effectively carry out emergency orders.

4. Congress needs to stop kicking the can down the road and treating our immigration system as a political pawn, because there are real people being affected by the actions of the government. We need to reform the system from the top down, securing the border, providing a long term solution to DACA, and improving the guest worker visa program so American employers and producers can access the labor they need while providing jobs for immigrants that are ready, willing and able to work legally.

5. Congress has a duty to protect each legal and voting age American citizen's right to vote in free and fair elections.

6. Racial injustice, no matter the form it takes, should always be opposed and curbed by our government at every level in America. There is no place for racism in our country.

U.S. Representative Xochitl Torres Small DEMOCRATIC Candidate

1. Climate change has real consequences, many of which we're already experiencing in New Mexico. That's why I voted to re-enter the Paris Climate Agreement and introduced legislation that would improve and update our water infrastructure, and support measures that would increase methane capture. To fight climate change, we need diverse partners to build solutions for responsible energy production, energy conservation, and carbon capture.

2. Now more than ever, we must make our healthcare both affordable and accessible to New Mexicans no matter where they live. That's why I supported the CARES Act to ensure free testing for individuals and provide support to strengthen our healthcare infrastructure. Before the spread of COVID-19, I introduced the Rural MOMs Act to increase access to maternal healthcare for expectant mothers and fought to give Medicare the power to negotiate for lower drug prices.

3. I was proud to work with Republicans, Democrats, and President Trump to pass the CARES Act. It provided support to rural healthcare and relief to small businesses. Unfortunately--and despite my efforts--it didn't directly support local governments or the essential services they provide. I'll keep pushing for relief, support for local services, and investments to rebuild New Mexico.

4. Our immigration and border security systems are broken and we need strong, smart and fair solutions to fix them. That's why I voted for HR 6 to provide a pathway to citizenship for DREAMers and helped introduce the Farm Workforce Modernization Act to improve our H2A visa system. A secure border supports vibrant communities through legal trade and immigration, which is why I introduced legislation to stop drug and human trafficking at our ports of entry and voted for more asylum judges.

5. Congress must do its part to ensure that all citizens have the ability to exercise their right to vote and have their voices heard. We should work to ensure that our elections are conducted securely and safely, and that we are eliminating barriers to participation in our democratic process. I'm proud to have voted for The Voting Rights Advancement Act to help ensure that no one is excluded from our most fundamental responsibility as citizens.

6. As New Mexicans, we know our strength is in our diversity. But we also know that we must do more to address systemic racism, which is why I supported the George Floyd Justice in Policing Act. We should be working to bring people together, including law enforcement, to build strong communities where different perspectives are recognized and respected as we tackle historic and systemic injustices.

U.S. Representative Steve Jones DTS Candidate

1. Absolutely! Mitigation can be prevention of additional pollution and remediation of existing pollution. The first step is to stop politicizing the issue. Second step is to increase retail costs for all hydrocarbon products by a federal tax overlay. Third step is to apply technology to reclaim and remediate. I am not in favor of drastic prevention measures that will create poverty. Fourth step is to sanction countries creating greatest pollution damage.

2. Congress should stop selling out to the American Medical Association and create competition to lower costs. Americans should be entitled to seek health care in Canada and Mexico. Ultimately, the deteriorating health of Americans will cause a failure to any single pay system. The question should not be who is paying for health care but how to stop the runaway increases in costs of health care. Don't ruin Medicare with inclusion of everyone.

3. First, don't engage in highly partisan gridlock such as impeachment trials during a pandemic. The Dem's and Rep.'s need to take politics out of emergency response. I am sure that the Pandemic has the government's attention but what, where and when will be the next emergency. It was my understanding that a lot of time and money was being expended on emergency response, if not why not. The Voter and journalists must insist upon guidelines for public health emergencies being non-partisan.

4. It is the sole responsibility of our Federal Government and not a state, county or city. The immigration system of the US has enslaved those who enter our country for the benefit of employers wanting their CHEAP labor. The new plantation mentality. Step 1 pass a National Minimum Wage of $15 per hour for workers. Step 2 create a Union of Immigrant Labor "UIL" in which all immigrant workers must enroll. Step 3 enforce economic sanctions against employer and immigrant that violate law.

5. All aspects of voting should be improved using existing technology. There should be a national system used at all levels that register voters, track the eligibility of voters and enable voting in such a way that security will be increased and cost reduced. We should use the Pandemic to provide the motivation to innovate without disenfranchising. 6. Why take such a myopic view of a much bigger subject. Xenophobia is at the heart of much distrust, fear and hate. To create a "red meat" subject as this only contributes to the division. I have traveled the world over and Xenophobia is universal. Before "political correctness" overwhelmed science, there were sociologists who treated this as a human science. We have been genetically programmed since prehistoric time to fear those who are different from us. Angry people yelling stop.....

1. No. New Mexico is 50th in so many categories - especially regarding our children - that our focus needs to be on feeding all the children of New Mexico during this crisis. The schools should be providing basic nutrition to students during this pandemic. The Severe economic impacts of this pandemic will be with us through 2021.

2. None. Too late to mitigate those impacts. It is time to focus on adaptation to a very hostile natural environment. We can give our children the skills they will need to have a chance to survive if we choose to.

3. No. (That requires negotiations, the agreement of others and Lots of luck in the legislative jungle. And, that is just the minimum requirements for me to relevantly discuss any part of the Gerrymandering process, a.k.a, redistricting.)

4. Maintain status quo.

5. Improvement is not likely during this pandemic. We will be lucky to keep our rural health care system functioning during this pandemic. Many of those suffering and dying from Covid-19 are health care workers. New Mexico's small towns will continue to have inadequate healthcare resources - especially, Doctors, Nurses, hospital staff. We should focus on providing medical transportation from rural areas to reach healthcare at regional clinics and hospita

State Senator

Ron Griggs

1. When the words/phrases 'adequately funded', 'strong learning experiences' and 'adequate infrastructure' are used in a question it pushes the answer to be no. The Yassie lawsuit said that the State does not 'adequately' fund education but didn't say what that was. In 2019 the State increased education funding by one-half a billion dollars. The pandemic has dramatically changed how we deliver educational services and frankly we don't know yet if funding is going to the right spots.

2. When people talk climate change in New Mexico they immediately talk about stopping oil and gas production in our state. That industry delivers more than half of our revenues. The industry has increased production while reducing its carbon footprint and will continue to do so if we work together to find reasonable solutions. But as we move forward and push for more and more green energy we need to be aware that green energy does not produce the revenues or the reliable energy New Mexico needs.

3. Re-districting should be important to all of us. This is the first time I will have a role in any decision making. I don't know what role the public has now so I can't really say what should or shouldn't be changed. The members of the legislature are your elected representatives so I would stay in contact with us as the process moves forward.

4. You should have just asked what taxes I think should be raised or created. I don't support raising taxes but reforming the tax code may involve tweaking/changing. We must be aware of what changing any portion of the tax system has on our citizens and our local governments before we look at higher or newer taxes. Reducing the size of government should still be the first choice. MVD looks like a good candidate - they have been closed for months - maybe there are better ways to do that job.

5. Health care in New Mexico is and will remain a challenge due to the numbers of people who do not live in or near metropolitan areas. We need to develop more primary care practitioners who can serve the needs of our rural and outlying populations. The plan needs to come from our doctors, nurses, chiropractors, and alternative medicine providers and it needs to come soon because scope of practice issues are some of the most delicate and difficult issues the legislature faces.

1. As a school board member and firsthand witness to a failing state school system, I believe we must do better to provide technology needs, specifically in rural & remote school districts, increase access to social & mental health services, and ensure our teachers are receiving the resources needed in and out of the classroom.

2. State regulations to address climate change in New Mexico have led to greater financial costs and higher energy prices for hard working families. We must continue to diversify our energy supplies while still respecting the ability of working families to afford such sources.

3. Redrawing of legislative districts, as required by federal law following a census, allows for each district to represent equal population. It is important that the public plays an active role in assisting with the boundary process to avoid political gerrymandering and ensure that entire communities are represented without divide.

4. I support innovation from our research universities, national labs, and private sector. We should expand bioscience, advanced technologies, energy production and aerospace by cutting bureaucratic red tape to accelerate start-up companies. I support the Local Economic Development Act and Job Training Incentive Program that work to advance such industries.

5. Increasing health care program access and affordability, specifically in rural areas, needs to be a top legislative priority. We must address transportation shortages while increasing the use of e-pharmacies and telemedicine. We can address the dwindling numbers of health care providers by incentivizing the completion of medical residencies in rural areas.

State Senator
District 35
Neomi Martinez-Parra
DEMOCRATIC Candidate

1. The Martinez administration under-funded Education to the extent that it violated NM's Constitution. Legislators from both parties should do all they can to improve funding for education and, our dismal national ranking. The last two legislative sessions were a start in the right direction, but funding remains inadequate during the pandemic and beyond. I believe the Land Grant Permanent Fund, a rainy-day-only fund, should be tapped. If this pandemic is not a rainy for our state, then what is?

2. NM should not only join the movement toward clean, renewable energy in America; it should become a leader in the movement. The renewable energy mandates recently legislated are an aggressive start toward addressing climate change. The state has to look closely at ways to prepare and train our workforce to transition from jobs reliant on fossil fuels to good paying, clean energy jobs in the wind and solar industries. Climate change is real. Responsible legislative leadership is long overdue.

3. American Democracy was designed to map legislative districts fairly - on a nonpartisan basis. In recent decades, fairness and non-partisanship dissolved. To ensure that New Mexicans participate equally in the election of their representatives, more transparent redistricting process, controlled by independent commissions, may be a step in the right direction.. New technologies can be used by redistricting commissions to incorporate important social, regional concerns in redistricting decisions

4. We need to diversify revenue to include recreational marijuana and clean energy. Colorado collected over $300 million in 2019 marijuana tax revenue supporting youth and public health, mental health services and state and local governments. Unencumbered capital outlay and new tax revenues from recreational marijuana and clean energy could help balance the budget without massive universal cuts. Meanwhile, we need to attract new businesses and support tourism, including outdoor and eco- tourism..

5. I would like to see a coalition of municipal, county, state and federal partners to marshal resources and invest in rural healthcare facilities and services throughout the district. This includes ensuring that the New Mexico rural healthcare extension is fully funded and supported. Although Capital Outlay coffers may become constrained in these next few economically challenging years, I will fight to secure funding for bricks and mortar projects involving regional rural health care facilities.

1. While we have made progress to provide greater resources to help students succeed and support teachers, more needs to be done. Specifically during this pandemic we have a large digital divide denying too many students access to online schooling. Schools also need additional resources to help students, teachers, and staff stay safe while in their facility. Given the financial constraints of the state to provide these resources the federal government needs to steps up with additional assistance.

2. New Mexico has made great strides to reduce our carbon emissions and we should accelerate this work. Specifically I have introduced legislation to give cities, counties and tribes the ability to purchase energy from whomever they would like rather than the one option we are forced to buy from. This model known as local choice energy would help further reduce our carbon footprint while providing lower cost energy options for New Mexicans.

3. Its time for NM to create an independent redistricting commission to create more equitable and effective legislative districts. The current redistricting system allows the legislature to create its own district boundaries to protect political futures rather than group voters and citizens together in a way that maximizes community representation. Given that we do not have this system in place now I support efforts underway to create a citizen initiative to assist the legislature in this process.

4. New Mexico has reduced its revenue through the years by giving special treatment to the wealthy and corporate special interests. We need to level the playing field of how we treat all citizens and make sure we can provide the level of services needed to create a more prosperous state.

5. We are seeing all too clearly our collective need for dependable and portable health care. The state and federal government should work to make health coverage available to all citizens and enact strategies to lower costs. To accomplish this we need to provide a "public option" insurance choice, reduce costs paid out to insurance companies and the pharmaceutical industry, require coverage for preventative health services, and increase the provider base of medical professionals.

State Senator
District 37
David W Gallus
REPUBLICAN Candidate

1. New Mexico Public High School dropout rate of 25 to 30% and spends $10,000 to $16,000 per year per student. A local private school, Mesilla Valley Christian School, has had every student graduate High School in 40 years of operation. And the cost is only $5,000 per student. New Mexico is ranked worst in the Nation, Pre-K through 12th grade. President Trump and Secretary of Education DeVos is proposing a tax credit voucher program for School Choice. Let the parents decide, not govt. or unions.

2. Man made climate change is a hoax. The doom day promoters say we have too much CO2. That is a lie, we have too little CO2. Our plants are starving for CO2. Another lie: CO2 increases the temperature of the planet. Wrong...the rise in ocean water temperature increases the amount of CO2 in the atmosphere. The Sun cyclically changes the temperature of the planet and we are coming out of a Little Ice Age where temperatures will rise slightly. Follow the True Science.

3. Redistricting should be geographical and not political. It should follow the division of the population along straight lines and simple shapes almost perfectly. The public should be fully informed as to the divisions before it is made permanent, so there is discussion among the people.

4. New Mexico is the third richest State in the Union for Natural Resources and Minerals. Unleash the Natural Resources, including coal, oil, gas and minerals. When there is a boom in the oil and gas industry, create a rainy-day-fund to help during the lean times. Our past Legislature not only spent all of the surplus money from the boom, but raised taxes as well. When you overspend, the only way to balance the budget is to tax the people. It is not a matter of lack of money, it is mismanagement.

5. Allow the free market of competition to offer the best quality of health care for the best price. Get government out of the health care business and allow people to choose their providers.

The VA is a good example of how the government screwed up that health care system; our Veterans suffered terribly. They are our Heroes.

State Senator District 37 William P Soules DEMOCRATIC Candidate

1. No. We continue to underfund our schools as we have for years. We started to make progress on reversing that trend during the 60 day session but then the COVID 19 hit and we pulled back on that investment during the special session that was used to fix the budget hole caused by the virus. We need to protect education funding in the upcoming session and make additional investments in the State's future by funding our schools completely.

2. Climate change is real and largely caused by man. We need to rapidly move to a more sustainable energy mix of solar, wind, and geothermal. Luckily, NM has large untapped resources in these areas. The State can incentivize the transitions, and plans laws and regulations that move us to a cleaner future.

3. I believe we should have an independent redistributing Committee to make recommendations for redistributing. This should involve public hearings and transparency. The process will always be political but districts should be drawn that represent the people who live there and not the office holders or wishes of the political parties.

4. NM needs to diversify away from fossil fuels and toward sustainable energy. Healthy communities also promote stable revenue and thus investments in our people. We should increase investments in high education and entrepreneurs that wish to establish companies in the state. We should also invest in early childhood programs as long term strategies that support stability.

5. I am a supporter of the efforts to set up the NM Health Plan (I can't think of the term right now.). We have allocated money to study the plan and savings and now need to act on the results.

State Senator District 38 Carrie Hamblen DEMOCRATIC Candidate

1. No, they are not. We are seeing rural communities struggle with the lack of technological infrastructure, having access to computers, and basic education on how to navigate remote learning. Plus, teachers are working more hours than they typically do to ensure their students have the best possible learning experience while staying at home. We need to provide more funding for technology, teacher support, and classroom resources.

2. I believe we need to support more community solar projects, tax incentives for electric cars, charging stations along our major highways, more effective public transportation, creative ways to harness methane gas, job training for oil and gas workers displaced by the reduction of refineries, and support the renewable energy industry with manufacturing, and affordable solar projects for low income housing initiatives.

3. We have a potential challenge with the getting accurate numbers from the census and that will impact redistricting. However, understanding that many districts in the state have been gerrymandered, we need to involve the public in the redistricting process as it will effect elections, policy, and available resources for the next 10 years. There also needs to be a public education campaign to inform constituents about the role of redistricting and to ensure appropriate representation.

4. The Gross Receipts Tax needs to be modified. It creates an extra layer of taxation for sellers, sole proprietors, and contractors. Although it provides a stable revenue for the state, we need to develop alternative ways to supplement that revenue without punishing our local businesses. We should reconsider reform to our corporate taxes, develop a more efficiently structure tax rate, and embrace other forms of revenue generation.

5. There are a number of things we need to do, as a state, to improve our health care options. First, increase transportation from the rural parts of the county so residents can have access to medical appointments. And, as we are seeing, telehealth options have become the norm for doctors' visits and yet there are people in our community who don't have access to those resources or know how to use them. We need to provide education and training to those households that have those limitations.

State Senator District 38 Charles Richard Wendler REPUBLICAN Candidate

1. The short answer is no. The pandemic has created a different set of classroom parameters. Technology is critical to providing teacher-student communication. Not all students have the necessary access or means to interface with instruction. Students of rural schools are more adversely impacted.

Additionally, teachers may not have adequate training. Having been in the public school business for 37 years as teacher and administrator, I feel more experienced than some on this issue.

2. This issue has been controversial for quite some time. Predictions have yet to be fully realized. As with any possible calamity, due diligence needs to be observed. Yes, precautions can be taken, but so with common-sense measures.

3. The public should take an active role in the redistricting process. It is about political control, and safe-guarding the minority voices. People of various communities can unite to connect with their legislators and voice their concerns that they will continue to be fairly represented. Not all communities have the same issues. As individuals, remain engaged with what is transpiring with the redrawing of political maps. Will it be fair? Or, will your voice be diluted?

4. Timber, mining and small businesses had been available in the past to appreciable degrees -- agriculture provides 13% of revenue. But these and other sectors have been adversely impacted by government regulations mitigating their financial contributions. Government activity could, instead, focus on fostering a climate of entrepreneurship: risk takers create jobs. Government action could also encourage manufacturing, which is the foundation for a strong economy.

5. As a former biology teacher, I always felt we do not spend adequate time emphasizing health, nutrition and maintenance of our bodies, especially with our young. Education is the key. But there needs to be a strong connect to what is learned and what we practice. The human structure is amazing and given the right care it will function, for the most part, as designed, barring genetic or accidental factors. Resources are available as support: medicaid, non-profits, foundations and others.

NEW MEXICO STATE REPRESENTATIVE

State Representative District 33 Micaela Lara Cadena DEMOCRATIC Candidate

1. Schools weren't adequately funded before COVID, and disparities in educational equity have worsened over this year. Impact Aid must be returned fairly to some of our most high need students, while we increase funding overall so that more students can be successful, online or in-person. As a working mom with kids doing virtual learning, I know how important it is to improve internet access across all our communities. For students to succeed, their capacity to connect into a classroom is a must.

2. We must continue to address climate change by increasing the efficiency of energy consumption in our state. Overall, I believe in fostering responsible and responsive partnerships with the oil & gas industry, as we reduce our reliance on the general fund revenues the industry generates for our state. Distinctly, we must also keep moving towards appropriate oversight and regulations to protect the health and well-being of our environment and New Mexicans impacted by our extractive industries.

3. The 2021 redistricting process will play out within the most transparent legislative rules and procedures we've had over New Mexico's history. Legislative meetings have been webcast for several years, and are now archived as well. As always, the public will have capacity to engage through our legislative committee process which allows for public input. Everyday, New Mexicans are invited to express their ideas, concerns and questions to their legislators and members of the body overall.

4. Tax reform is a tangible way to continue building necessary and stable revenue streams for decades to come. While many make big promises about imagined revenue that is never realized, there is no band-aid industry or money stream that is going to bring in all the dollars we need. Coming out of COVID, it's more crucial than ever to be investing in small and local businesses; they've always been the backbone of job creation, economic development and GRT dollars across our communities.

5. We must fully fund NM's Medicaid program in the face of revenue shortfalls, especially as the number of Medicaid eligible New Mexicans has increased during COVID. In the long run, rising healthcare costs remain a real worry for too many of our families. This crisis has bared glaring inadequacies in our healthcare system, particularly for rural and frontier communities. We need to re-imagine these systems so that one day all New Mexicans may receive the care they need, when they need it.

State Representative
District 33
Beth E Miller
REPUBLICAN Candidate

1. COVID-19 has revealed inequities among schools and students, particularly related to technology. Students in geographically isolated areas may not have internet or do not have computers. I believe infrastructure investments at the district and state levels are necessary. Bold action is needed now! Gratitude is due to administrators and teachers who faced these logistical challenges and stepped up to meet the needs of all children. Doing this, our children will be the winners in this crisis! security. NM is one of 13 states doing this. This keeps retired people from looking at NM to call home. -gas and solar industries to power up America. A bold vision and a shared stewardship of our natural and renewable resources is important now and in the future.

2. Clean air and water in a livable environment is possible. I propose advanced technology R&D that would combine green resources with natural oil and gas production. This will create jobs, revenue, and a sustainable future for New Mexico. Our nation needs New Mexico's oil and gas as well as wind, bio-gas and solar industries to power up America. A bold vision and a shared stewardship of our natural and renewable resources is important now and in the future.

3. Citizens of NM are the key stakeholders in this process and it must be transparent. I propose the following guide lines: An Independent backup commission draws the lines in the event that the state legislature cannot approve a plan. No commission member can hold office in the legislature for four years after redistricting. This is to guard against gerrymandering, a way that governing parties try to keep themselves in power by manipulating the political map in their favor.

4. I would support fiscal responsibility, curb government overspending, overhaul the Gross Receipt Tax, and exempt taxing retiree's social security. Attracting new retirees and keeping existing ones here, creates additional revenue. Next, attract businesses from agriculture to technology, with a "path of opportunity" to locate in NM. This translates into jobs. Diversifying our economy will create stability and we must demonstrate that we have a strong, well trained workforce to support businesses.

5. Four words summarize the Hippocratic Oath, the guiding light of medicine: "The patient comes first." For doctors to accomplish this, quality health care is needed. Obstacles limit health care when people lack affordable insurance and with an outdated Medicare program. Steps to improve health care: Address physician shortages; use cost-effective Telehealth and remote patient monitoring; common-sense medical liability reforms; better NM Medicaid reimbursement.

1. No, they aren't adequately funded during non-pandemic times, much less during a pandemic. The learning experience is negatively impacted because our underpaid teachers are not able to work with their students in a face to face environment. As for infrastructure, the schools have the infrastructure in place for learning, what is lacking is infrastructure in the community at large, and for that I would not hold the schools accountable.

2. Greater investment in green energy is needed to mitigate the impact, however we must also have the oil and gas industry involved in the process as well. By including all the players in the energy business, we will have a clearer picture as to what is needed to begin to address the issue of climate change. New Mexico has an abundance of sunshine, we must also consider utilizing this natural resource as a potential revenue source by considering either selling or taxing green energy that leaves NM.

3. To my knowledge, the public does have input in redistricting. If I recall correctly, meetings are held throughout the state for that sole purpose. I would suggest that community based groups and non profits also become involved in the process so that they may reach out to the public to encourage them to participate even further.

4. We need to look at what is currently working and we need to focus on investing in that. Trade and industry are still working and manufacturing, trucking is still delivering and packages are still being delivered to our homes. However, I am proud to say that border trade and commerce is still going strong and growing despite the many setbacks. Its not about creating, its about supporting and advocating for what we already have.

5. We need to support New Mexico medical schools, offer incentives to doctors to stay in NM, and build up a more robust Telehealth network with reliable connectivity.

1. I do not believe that the funding has been adequately distributed to address racial and economic inequities. Every public school serves very different students, and requires more than just money, but recognizing that there are historical issues that we must address, to try to get our education system as close to perfect as possible. Two years ago, Yazzie/Martinez vs State of New Mexico made this argument and the New Mexico Supreme court agreed. I support that case.

2. Last year, I helped pass the DWS Work Study, which just released results, that has provided us with policy solutions that will get us closer to not only addressing climate change, but doing so in a way that other states have not done entirely right. Particularly on how we support workers in this transition, specifically native and indigenous communities, and Latinx communities who are primarily bilingual. Broadband is a big deal and we must invest in that as well to address this transition.

3. The public should very much be involved in the redistricting process in New Mexico. This should not just be something that the legislature is responsible for. I would support an independent committee, made up of a variety of people.

4. New Mexico is very heavily reliant and dependent on the oil and gas industry. I am 100% in support of diversifying away from extractive industry, not just from an economic development and revenue standpoint, but from an environmental standpoint as well. However, to do this would require a multigenerational plan--with political will from our leaders, to look beyond just a budget year, but to look further ahead.

5. I am not an expert in healthcare and access to it, but I believe in policies that provide for an improvement to this system--that is done so from an equitable and intersectional lens. The Health Security Act is a piece of policy that I have supported over the course of the last four years of my legislative career. This is one of the many that I will support my colleagues who are championing these issues.

need to go back to school. Our students are already at the the bottom of the list for education and are now falling even further behind.

Parents should have the opportunity to choose how and where they want to educate their children.

More money needs to be spent in the classroom and less money on high administrative salaries.

2. I think the state of New Mexico has plenty of work to do cleaning up our own backyard without trying to address the global climate change issue.

3. Public non-partisan input should be part of the process. All meetings should be opened to the public.

4. The most important thing to do is open all of the businesses in the state. With businesses closed in New Mexico we have a very limited revenue stream. Factories and businesses are leaving the state in droves. Making New Mexico more business friendly will improve our revenue. Supporting the oil and gas industry in New Mexico is important as well. Supporting and protecting the businesses that fund our state is vital.

5. I support lowering the ceiling for malpractice claims. Quality doctors are leaving New Mexico to practice in states where malpractice insurance is more affordable. With fewer doctors quality health care is farther out of reach for everyone in New Mexico.

1. As educators, families, and communities prepare for the return of in person classes, I strongly support funding for Personal Protective Equipment (PPE), testing, enhanced transportation and meal services along with other safety considerations. Additional support for expanded technology needs along with these safety concerns continues to stress public school budgets. Much of this funding is currently in state coffers following the federal CARES Act, but it will not last indefinitely.

2. Mitigating climate change is vital for all New Mexicans. I have led legislation ensuring we get carbon free electricity and to expand we expand electrical transmission infrastructure. I led the Healthy Soils Act for greater soil productivity and carbon capture.

I have led legislation safeguarding freshwater, and am excited to continue working to safeguard and expand our potable water supplies. We must work across all of these areas, with a strong focus on expanding economic opportunity.

3. Ensuring fair representation is fundamental to democracy. Encouraging robust public participation in the 2021 redistricting process is something I strongly support.

4. We should expand existing industries, including value added agriculture, energy, tourism, and international trade. Applying innovation in water technology and management, leading advances in energy management and hydrogen powered energy and applications, and focusing on education and infrastructure upgrades--including broadband connectivity--will support sustainable budgets and expanded economic opportunity.

5. We struggle with healthcare affordability and accessibility. We have taken some important steps to increase provider rate reimbursements, support healthcare professionals who finish their education and begin their careers in rural New Mexico, and prohibit the practice of surprise billing and denying insurance coverage to people with preexisting conditions. Maximizing New Mexico's investment of federal Medicaid funding is another way to build a stronger rural healthcare delivery system.

1. Support funding for education during the pandemic provided internet software and platforms, and computers for students and some internet capabilities, but there still is a need for more teacher support, curriculum development for online teaching and tutors for students. Many students still don't have internet capabilities or enough bandwidth to stay online for extended periods of time. Investment in providing this infrastructure throughout the state is critical.

2. I believe there should be a moratorium on fracking. There are many wells that have been abandoned or stranded unnecessarily. We have a great amount of methane pollution in the SE and NW corners of our state that could be mitigated by reducing flaring, venting and leaking of gas lines, wasting valuable resources that need to be captured. Stripper wells leak oil into our land. We need to encourage clean energy development for community solar, wind and geo-thermal. Closing coal mines has helped.

3. I endorse the idea of a non-partisan Committee with representation from both parties and without elected officials being involved, so that people are deciding who they elect, not elected deciding who they want as voters. There are already plans underway to develop a process that would be fair and just, which includes public input.

4. Repealing the Richardson Income tax cuts will help to restore the revenue once counted on. We should reform our taxing priorities, legalize marijuana and eliminate inefficient tax credits in order to stabilize and balance the income revenue needed for our state. The Legislature should reform our tax base and remove previous administration's tax cuts. Legalizing and taxing cannabis sales and capturing flared or vented natural gas would bring in substantial revenue.

5. As a member and Vice Chair of the House Health and Human Services Committee since my election in 2016, I have worked on many issues to improve health care in our State. I believe that all of these efforts have been building to support the Health Security Act that someday will provide a State Health Care system at lower costs and better care for all New Mexicans. The financial reports thus far show potential for great savings. In the next two years an implementation plan needs to be developed.

1. I have spoken with educators at Gadsden and Las Cruces Public Schools and they have informed me schools are adequately funded for now, but has come at a cost to their surplus funds and teacher pay raises. How long can we endure? is the question. The closing of public schools gave a wake-up call for parents. As many realized, they had more options available to them than they thought possible. We need solutions looking to the future such as home learning and/or school choice.

2. Climate change is a hoax. This has been perpetrated by ideology. We are told we are killing our plants by saying we have too much CO2. To address this question we need true data analysis reports from absolutely true and real scientist and climatologists.

3. I would support a fair and transparent process for redistricting. I would like to see an independent redistricting commission. The public should demand that the redistricting is fair and prevents gerrymandering.

4. Revenue streams are supported by state government. We have twice as many government employees per population as Texas instead of allowing private businesses to come in to our state. This will bring in revenue because they have to pay taxes and people pay taxes. We need free enterprise and get the government out of the way. We need to be business friendly.

5. Government must get out of the Medical Industry. New Mexicans have no choice as to who they can go to as a doctor. When you have free market competition you can get the best product for your money. The free market will improve the accessibility and quality of health care to all New Mexicans.

State Representative District 39

1. The Public Education Department received 3.4 billion dollars to provide funds for the school districts and charter schools across New Mexico. With the challenges facing our school districts, the need for teachers and students to maintain social distancing- the funding provided appears to not be sufficient to meet student and teacher needs. We also must meet the requirements of the Martinez/Yazzie lawsuit. In person classes should begin when determined safe.

2. New Mexico is one of the leading states in the country in the solar and wind energy arena. Legislation, introduced and passed in the previous sessions that requires utility companies to produce power using solar, wind or other alternative sources of at least 20 to 25% are a good start as well as legislation requiring the shutdown of coal powered power plants within the next coming years. New Mexico should be the leader in this arena.

3. I support an independent nonpartisan group to develop redistricting maps and uphold criteria of the Voting Rights Act. I also feel strongly that the public plays a role in the process through shared information and input.

4. We must invest in our educational systems to create opportunities for our youth. Having a well-educated qualified workforce will attract industries to New Mexico. Investing in value-added agricultural programs that will aid the farm and ranch industry. Prior to Covid 19 the gas and oil industry provided 44% of the general fund revenue for the state. These revenues are used to fund our educational system.

5. As a member of the House Appropriations and Finance Committee we ensure that funding is appropriated to the Human Services Department and the Department of Health. I support the growth of primary care residency programs to grow our own physician base. I also support funding for the DD Waiver to provide services for individuals with needs. These programs allow for better access to healthcare for all New Mexicans. I support the Health Security Act.

1. We need to continue to increase funding for K-12 public school education, and increase funding and demand for early childhood programs like PreK, childcare, and home visitation. I sponsored and helped to pass a nation-leading Early Childhood Fund Endowment, with an initial $300 million investment. This Fund will provide millions of dollars for early childhood programs in perpetuity. These are smart investments and create better outcomes and societal costs later in life.

2. I strongly supported the Energy Transition Act, which catapulted New Mexico into one of the country's leaders in renewable energy. We must take aggressive action to increase solar and wind energy, and the jobs they bring, to our state as we transition our economy.

3. The public should be very involved in redistricting in 2021. I hope to be a member of the interim committee that travels all over New Mexico hearing from our citizens and local government officials. It's important that the Legislature go to the rural communities of interest to see what areas should be brought together to ensure fair representation.

4. We need better paying jobs and a more diverse economy in southern New Mexico and throughout our state. We are starting on that path with renewable energy, local foods and agriculture, eco-tourism, film, and much more. Tourism is so important to our State—we must find ways to enhance the tourism experience.

5. We must increase affordability and accessibility of prescription drugs, especially for senior citizens and those with chronic diseases. Last year, I supported legislation to purchase prescription drugs in bulk from Canada. This law was a great first step. We must also recruit more primary care physicians to New Mexico because preventative medicine improves health outcomes and saves dollars. I also sponsored and passed legislation that provides more dental healthcare in rural areas.

1. Our state spends more per child than any others state adjacent to our borders and they have higher educational result, it is not the money. The whole system needs to be changed to Career Technical Education, life skills and collage prep education. Covid-19 has caused problems that our poor infrastructure and money can not fix this year. Science and the medical professionals tell us it is time to send our children back the classroom.

2. Climate has been changing since the beginning of time, we should respect it and research the changes. Science has not concluded that man is responsible and created the climate changes that are present. Renewable energies are unreliable and have their own environmental issues and must be supported by fossil fuels.

3. There should be committee meetings in the legislature when the process is going on so the public can give input. Gerrymandering has always been an issue.

4. First, create a rainy day fund to compensate for the oil and gas boom and busts cycle. Downsize bloated government and privatize many government services which would help relieve the retirement fund and give us better services. Make all business incentives and tax breaks the same for all. We should not be choosing one business over another.

5. Government healthcare does not work, just look at the care our veterans have received. First, do not limit the number of insurance companies that work in the state or across the United States. Second, let free market reign. Competition in capitalism would regulate and keep prices affordable. Third, limit doctor malpractice insurance settlements because the customers pay for them, not the doctor. Lastly, have some government oversight.

NEW MEXICO STATE JUDICIAL OFFICES

Judicial vacancies are filled through appointment by the Governor from a list of nominees submitted by a judicial nominating committee. At the next regular election the judicial position is filled in a partisan election in which the appointed judge must participate and win the most votes to retain the seat. Judges serve for terms of a set number of years, after which they must win a 57% "yes" vote in retention elections to keep their seats.

JUSTICE OF THE SUPREME COURT- PARTISAN

Serves as one of five justices on the highest court in New Mexico. It is the court of last resort and has supervisory control over all lesser courts and attorneys licensed in the state. Required to hear appeals from the Public Regulation Commission, election challenges and criminal cases when a defendant is sentenced to the death penalty or life imprisonment. Has discretionary authority to review rulings of the Court of Appeals and questions of law certified to it by the Court of Appeals or federal court. Must be 35 years old, have practiced law for 10 years, and have resided in New Mexico for the last three years. Elected statewide for eight-year term.

JUDGE OF THE COURT OF APPEALS

Serves as one of ten judges on the intermediate court between the district courts and the Supreme Court. Judges sit in panels of three. Court reviews appeals in all cases, except criminal cases involving sentences of death or life imprisonment, appeals from the Public Regulation Commission, and cases involving habeas corpus. Must be 35 years old, have practiced law for 10 years, and have resided in New Mexico for the last three years. Elected statewide for eight-year term.

2. Do you believe that all persons in New Mexico have fair and equal access to legal assistance and the legal system? If not, what reforms do you support? Please explain.

SEE JUDICIAL, PAGE 10

Supreme Court Justice (Position 1)
Ned S Fuller
REPUBLICAN Candidate

1. I am a deputy district attorney in San Juan County, NM. I have served as an administrative law judge, district court judge, as the NM Worker's Compensation Director, Acting Cabinet Secretary for the NM General Services Department and overseen the litigation involving the State. I have served in private practice handling a wide variety of civil matters. What most qualifies me to serve however is my philosophy and commitment that a judge must uphold the Constitution and follow the law.

2. Not yet. There are a number of organizations that provide access to legal help. See for example: <https://www.nmbar.org/NmbarDocs/forPublic/LegalServiceProviders.pdf>

I support efforts to streamline the adjudication process through arbitration, mediation, and summary trials. As NM Workers' Compensation Director I worked to make the system accessible to our rural communities through video conferencing, weekly lump sum settlement hearings and online mediation scheduling.

3. Regarding criminal law we can do better in balancing the rights of the accused and the safety of our community. I support pre-trial detention rules that combine dangerousness hearings and preliminary hearings and allow the same rules of evidence for both. I would make the time constraints consistent with the complexity of the case. Our system is too expensive and there are too many delays. I support alternative dispute resolutions such as arbitration, mediation and summary jury trials.

4. Yes, but I would rather have a system allowing the executive to appoint with retention votes to follow. This approach better meets the goal of an independent judiciary that is also accountable to the public it serves. Whether partisan or non-partisan, elections politicize our judiciary by requiring judges to campaign. We should study whether our justices should be selected one each from five different geographical regions of the State. Currently all five justices come from Santa Fe or ABQ.

Supreme Court Justice (Position 1)
Shannon Bacon
DEMOCRATIC Candidate

1. I have been serving New Mexico as a judge for over a decade. Prior to my appointment to the New Mexico Supreme Court, I was a district court judge. This experience, trying cases, managing a very large docket and working on the administration of justice gives me a solid foundation for the work of the Supreme Court. I have also dedicated much of my judicial career to equal access to justice. Providing legal services to New Mexican's who cannot afford a lawyer is critical to the legal system.

2. Yes. I believe that all New Mexican's should have fair and equal access to legal assistance and the legal system. I am an active member of the Access to Justice Commission and was the Co-Chair of the Second Judicial District's Pro Bono Committee. In these roles I have worked on programs providing free legal services to anyone in need and creating systems that make it easier for people to navigate the court system. I continue this work on the Supreme Court.

3. I support changes that allow cases to be timely decided. Often, by the time a case reaches the Supreme Court, years have passed. Ensuring that once the case reaches the Court it moves toward resolution requires a focus on deciding cases and writing opinions. Recently, I proposed procedural changes to our rules that will allow the Court to address cases more quickly. I also support changes that foster open government, such as the Court's recent decision to telecast our oral argument.

4. I do. The judiciary is an independent branch of government that by design is not subject to political winds. Judges are not partisan. Because of the unique role of the judiciary and judges, it would better reflect the courts if judicial elections were nonpartisan.

Supreme Court Justice (Position 2)
Kerry J. Morris
REPUBLICAN Candidate

1. Having been licensed to practice law for nearly 40 years, I've had the opportunity to represent thousands of individuals, small businesses, insurance companies, state agencies, and many others. My years of experience have provided me with a broad understanding of a wide variety of areas of legal practice. My years of experience representing people enable me to understand the needs, expectations, and concerns of parties who appear before the court.

2. Yes, I do believe that all persons in New Mexico have fair and equal access to legal assistance and legal system in New Mexico. There are a wide variety of free legal services offered to those of limited means who otherwise would be unable to afford legal representation or have access to the courts. Among the many services available to the poor, in include the public defender's office for qualified criminal defendants and many programs for non-criminal or civil cases.

3. None at the present time.

4. I do not favor nonpartisan elections for the judiciary because I believe that party affiliation is one important factor among many that may be helpful to the public in evaluating judicial candidates.

Supreme Court Justice (Position 2)
David K Thomson
DEMOCRATIC Candidate

1. My legal career and community involvement have uniquely prepared me for this position. I was vetted by a bi-partisan judicial nominating commission and extensively interviewed by the Governor, who appointed me to the position. As a sitting Justice, and former trial court judge in the 1st judicial district, my experience proved invaluable in ensuring the NM court system remained open during COVID19. I litigated for the NM Attorney General's Office and am familiar with how to run a court system.

2. In many rural parts of this state there is a legal desert and legal access gap. To close the gap, I support limited licensing of non-lawyers for simple legal matters. I support increases in technological infrastructure to allow filing by email and remote appearances. I believe if a lawyer provides free legal aid, they should receive a reduction in dues or CLE credit. Finally, we need to create a loan forgiveness program for new lawyers that will serve rural areas.

3. Many changes are required because of the pandemic that will serve our system well afterward. For example, courts broadened access to electronic filing for non represented parties. I led an effort to expand digital access. We must continue to make this process easier, especially for rural communities. During these times of social unrest, we must confront and address our role in resolving racial inequality. That is why I started a minority clerkship program to improve diversity in the judiciary.

4. Our system of choosing judges is not perfect. However, voters have the information needed to elect experienced and qualified judges. My experience is well documented. I am the only one in my race who went through a vigorous vetting process with a bipartisan nominating commission and interview process. Voters can read the opinions or articles on the law I have written. As a trial court judge, I was evaluated by the Judicial Performance Evaluation Commission. Documented verified experience counts.

JUDGE OF THE COURT OF APPEALS

Judge of the Court of Appeals (Position 1)
Barbara V Johnson
REPUBLICAN Candidate

1. I was sworn in as an attorney in October, 1988. I started working immediately in the area of Family Law, which is a very broad area involving the parties' relationships, children, finances, assets, liabilities and at times criminal and other civil matters. Although most of my cases are settled, those that are not are concluded with a trial. If the trial judge decides an issue incorrectly, the next step is to ask the Court of Appeals to change the trial judge's decision, which I have done.

2. No. Access to and justice from our legal system is best obtained with the assistance of an educated, trained, experienced professional - a lawyer. Those that cannot afford a lawyer often represent themselves. We should have more publications available about the various areas of law and more programs making it easier for lawyers to obtain their required credits for representing litigants that cannot afford a lawyer or will represent litigants for a reduced fee.

3. I understand some of the reasons appellate decisions take years to be issued is the difficulty in keeping the attorney clerks that assist the Judges, the Judiciary is not sufficiently funded to hire, train and keep those attorneys, there are insufficient funds for proper training of new Judges and continuing legal education for more experienced Judges. Those budget matters should be examined within the Court of Appeals and addressed to our legislators, so our Judiciary is an equal branch.

4. No. Judges elected by the citizens keep the judges accountable to the citizens. Committees should not be reviewing applications and making recommendations to the Governor to fill vacancies. Each step of our current process allows for input by citizens. However, our citizens are mostly unaware of any process but an election. The Judiciary is an equal branch of our government. As such, it should be created by the voters it serves - just like to legislative and executive branches.

Judge of the Court of Appeals (Position 1)
Zach Ives
DEMOCRATIC Candidate

1. My experience as a judge and a lawyer have prepared me well. Over the past year and a half serving on the Court of Appeals, I have gained a great deal of experience doing the difficult work of an appellate judge. Before Governor Lujan Grisham appointed me, I had 17 years of experience as a litigator, handing appeals in federal and state courts and a wide variety of cases in trial courts. I also served as a law clerk to Chief Justice Pamela Minzner of the New Mexico Supreme Court.

2. Unfortunately, no. For civil matters, I support the Justice For All Initiative. Its basic goals are to ensure that every person with legal needs can (1) access important components of our system with or without the help of a lawyer and (2) receive appropriate services, such as alternative dispute resolution and representation by a lawyer. For criminal matters, I believe we must adequately fund legal representation for people (defendants and victims) who cannot afford to pay private lawyers.

3. Our court is exploring how to use our limited resources more efficiently because additional funding will be scarce due to the pandemic. For example, I have worked on a pilot project involving potential changes to our calendaring system, which is what we use to determine how difficult each case is and what resources we will need to analyze the case and make a decision. Modifying this system could increase the quality of our decisions and decrease the amount of time it takes to resolve appeals.

4. Yes, I believe nonpartisan elections would benefit New Mexicans by increasing the independence of our judiciary. Ultimately, whether to make this change is a question for our Legislature. In the meantime, voters have a neutral source of information about qualifications: bi-partisan judicial nominating commissions. I participated in this rigorous vetting process, which involves a written application and interview by all commissioners. The commission recommended me as a qualified candidate.

Judge of the Court of Appeals (Position 2)
Stephen P. Curtis
LIBERTARIAN (WRITE-IN)

1. I have practiced law in NM since 1978. During this time I have represented clients in hundreds of cases, including approximately 20 appeals in many different areas of law.

2. I believe all persons in NM have access to legal assistance, although people and entities who have more wealth do have better access. I suggest that the entire legal process should be streamlined and made to be more efficient and, therefore, less costly.

3. I believe we need more Judges on the Court of Appeals so that cases are decided more expeditiously.

4. I do favor non-partisan elections for the judiciary. Party affiliation hinders the process and unnecessarily politicizes the elections. I suggest an open process where anyone who obtains the requisite signatures should be on the ballot.

Judge of the Court of Appeals (Position 2)
Shammara H Henderson
DEMOCRATIC Candidate

1. I was vetted and recommended by a bi-partisan commission and appointed by the Governor. My experience includes all sides of criminal and civil matters as a former federal and state prosecutor and defense lawyer. My work on civil rights, employment law, and personal injury has afforded me a diverse career. As an Assistant US Attorney under the Obama administration and clerk for Supreme Court Justice Charles Daniels, I understand how the important work of the courts impact all New Mexicans.

2. While NM is fortunate that the courts' staff, judges, and attorneys are more diverse than in other states, we do not have a perfect system. While we have many wonderful programs, many New Mexicans are still falling through the gaps and receiving inconsistent sentencing or punishment when not represented by trained attorneys. Equitable resources across all judicial districts and the formation of specialty courts across the state are critical.

3. Making the court more user-friendly for pro se parties is always a challenge. We have been working on technology changes so that those without attorney-representation have easier access to competently move their cases forward. The Court is also working on ensuring more oral arguments during the pandemic through virtual means. And, each judge has been committed to ending backlog and getting the court a stable caseload as compared to historical norms.

4. Integrity and confidence in the election of our judiciary is critical. While judges currently run in partisan elections, we must adhere to a very strict Code of Conduct which prohibits us from being "political" and taking stances on issues. Voters should take great confidence in electing those who went through the bi-partisan nominating process, which I did. It is a rigorous process to ensure only the most qualified judges are appointed and have been deemed qualified.

Judge of the Court of Appeals (Position 2)
Gertrude Lee
REPUBLICAN Candidate

1. For over ten years I have worked as a trial attorney and prosecutor in both State and Tribal court. I worked my way up from an entry-level attorney to a Deputy District Attorney in Gallup where I represented the State in numerous jury trials and filed several appeals. I continue my work as a prosecutor in Farmington. I am also the former Chief Prosecutor of the Navajo Nation where I brought cases before the Tribal Courts, and managed 10 prosecutor offices and several dozen staff.

2. We are living in unprecedented times. As we rely more on technology the issues with access become more apparent and difficult for those in rural communities with unstable housing, limited telephone service, and/or no access to the internet. To this end, I support reforms and projects to improve broadband infrastructure in rural communities to make electronic access more available, thus ensuring that everyone has fair and equal access to the legal system.

3. We have all heard the phrase "justice delayed is justice denied." This is true for parties who wait years for a decision from the Court of Appeals. However, the Court faces a number of challenges, including an increasing docket and limited resources. I would recommend using available data to help identify where the appellate process can be streamlined.

Streamlining the process should aim to decrease the time period it takes to calendar a case and decrease the time it takes to decide a case.

4. I favor a process of selection based upon merit to be followed by a retention election. The process of selection by merit separates the Judge from partisan politics while ensuring he or she is qualified for the position. I am in favor of retention elections so the people always have a say whether to keep a judge or not.

Judge of the Court of Appeals (Position 3)
Thomas C Montoya
REPUBLICAN Candidate

1. I have been qualified to be appointed district judge 3 times by the Judicial Nominating Commission. I have devoted my 39 year career to the field of family law, which covers a very wide variety of all the civil laws which arise in those cases. I have chaired Supreme Court Committees which promulgated statewide rules for family law and domestic violence cases. I have written, lobbied and obtained sponsors for over 30 statutory enactments in family law to address solutions to family law problems.

2. In theory, all persons are equal before the Courts and the law. In practice, many people cannot afford a lawyer, which creates a great disadvantage, even if the opponent also does not have a lawyer. For this reason, the New Mexico Supreme Court should consider mandatory, rather than voluntary, minimum legal services by lawyers to be provided to those who cannot afford a lawyer.

3. The Court of Appeals is a hard working Court, but with a very high caseload and limited resources. To address this problem will require additional personnel and additional funding.

4. I do not favor nonpartisan elections for the judiciary, because the party affiliation of a candidate is a public record in any event, and because the public has a right to know such party affiliation, as one factor in deciding for whom to vote. Nonetheless, in decision making, under the law, a judge may not permit political affiliation to influence the judge's judgment.

Judge of the Court of Appeals (Position 3) Jane P Yohalem DEMOCRATIC Candidate

1. I have been an appeals lawyer in New Mexico representing people from every corner of the State before our Court of Appeals and Supreme Court. My career began as a civil rights lawyer representing children with disabilities and have represented indigent families in termination of parental rights cases for many years. I have been counsel in over 400 appeals, resulting in more than 100 published decisions advancing the law of New Mexico. I have been found qualified by the Judicial Selection Comm.

2. We are not providing all persons in New Mexico fair and equal access to our legal system. Years ago, based on my briefs and arguments, our Supreme Court interpreted New Mexico's Children's Code to require the State to provide services to every New Mexico family whose children are taken into State custody, regardless of background. We need to better fund our hard-pressed legal services and public defender offices so they can meet the need for quality legal representation.

3. I was recently appointed by the Governor to serve on the Court of Appeals. The number one concern has been the speed of decisions in the last few years. I am pleased to report that the Court has eliminated the backlog. I would like to look at the Court's priority system to be sure it is working as intended to effectively prioritize time-sensitive appeals, including those of incarcerated individuals and appeals which affect children.

4. I believe that New Mexico has a good mix of an initial partisan election followed by a non-contested retention election. A judge must approach each case on its specific facts and apply the law fairly to those facts. At the same time, voters have a right to know whether a judge shares their values and their understanding of the role our courts play in our democracy. It is appropriate to have the initial vetting of judicial candidates be by the voters in a partisan election.

THIRD JUDICIAL DISTRICT ATTORNEY

QUESTIONS FOR THE CANDIDATES FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY

1. What changes to State laws, if any, do you recommend to protect the First Amendment rights of peaceful demonstrators?
2. What further steps would you take to prevent elder abuse in Doña Ana County?
3. Should there be a Veteran's Court established in Doña Ana County? Explain.
4. What further steps should be taken to reduce child abuse in Doña Ana County?

Third Judicial District Attorney Gerald Milton Byers DEMOCRATIC Candidate

1. I make no recommendation to change State law regarding federal First Amendment rights originating under the United States Constitution. Article II, Section 17 of the New Mexico Constitution provides “.

. . . no law shall be passed to restrain or abridge the liberty of speech . . .”. Our State Constitution has already spoken forcefully concerning the inviolable nature of the right of free speech; and providing an essential framework within which to address them.

2. Abuse of seniors is an affront to the population of any modern society. Public awareness, involvement, and comprehensive reporting of events to proper authorities lay the foundation for professional investigation(s) which may ultimately result in a civil action or a criminal prosecution. Close working with professional law enforcement investigators facilitates acquisition of admissible evidence to prove an offender's guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.

3. Yes. The Third Judicial District Court's Veteran's Treatment Court is established and operational. Dona Ana County is home to many veterans who answered when their country called.

As a U. S. Navy combat veteran, and the son of a U. S. Air Force Vietnam-era veteran; I understand and appreciate the unique challenges veterans encounter with the criminal justice system. I fully support the Veteran's Treatment Court.

4. Child abuse may exist in many different forms and in various environments; but is always abhorrent. The vital work of law enforcement investigations and forensic interviewers is essential. However public input to initiate those processes is critical, and may be life saving. We must increase awareness of the problem, but also the willingness to become involved as one who observes and reports possible child abuse.

DOÑA ANA COUNTY CLERK

QUESTIONS FOR THE CANDIDATES FOR DOÑA ANA COUNTY CLERK

(500 characters each)

1. What can the County Clerk's office do to secure and streamline the voting process and make sure that all votes are counted?
2. What do you consider the greatest challenges to the office of the Doña Ana County Clerk?
3. What qualifications do you bring to the office of Doña Ana County Clerk?

County Clerk Amanda Lopez Askin DEMOCRATIC Candidate

1. New Mexico elections are arguably in the top 5 of election administration in our country. We have paper ballots that are available for auditing, community members as election officials, air-gapped systems in which no tabulator is ever connected to the internet, machine verification, and post election audits that confirm results. Following our election code, ensuring proper staffing and training, while empowering our community with information and access, supports every vote counts in DAC.

2. Ensuring our statutory requirements are met every single day, which not only encompasses elections, but also our Recording & Filing responsibilities. This requires constant oversight and accountability, as well as sufficient staffing. Supporting a work environment in which employees feel valued, supported, and connected are vital to the challenges our office faces. We are doing more work with less staff, so advocacy for additional staff is also vital to our responsibilities.

3. I bring a 21-year career in corporate and governmental organizations. I have a BS, MS, and a PhD from NMSU. I am deeply committed to my community, obtaining my Ph.D. while working full-time and a new mother highlights my commitment to what I set out to do.

The County Clerk must be an administrator for the office – budget, personnel, policies, collaboration - and support both areas of focus we are responsible for in state law, and be able to do it well, as our community deserves it.

County Clerk Cheryl De Young REPUBLICAN Candidate

1. Train Election workers with more hands-on training and provide cross-training for office staff. Follow the Election Code and organize staff to make sure that all deadlines are met. Begin processing absentee ballots as soon as the Election Code allows. Hire back up staff for relief during excessive hours. Make sure that each step of the process is open for observation by any citizen who wished to observe the process.

2. Confirm that all documents are secure and filed properly in a timely manner to ensure easy access. Guarantee that every election is transparent and open to all. Certify that all political parties are represented in a balanced manner. Make sure that anyone who comes in to the office is treated with respect and given correct information. Confirm that the voter registration list is purged when mailers come back as not deliverable.

3. I have decades of experience working elections. Previous jobs honed my skills of ensuring proper handling and securing of documents. My leadership and organizational skills are solid. I have management and hiring experience. I relish working with people from varied backgrounds and ideologies. I grasp a strong ability to lead others to follow government policy. I have 30 years of experience in training development and application.

DOÑA ANA COUNTY TREASURER

QUESTIONS FOR THE CANDIDATES FOR DOÑA ANA COUNTY TREASURER

(500 characters each)

1. What aspect of the Treasurer's responsibilities needs improvement? Explain.

2. How much discretion should the County Treasurer have in how County money is invested? Explain.

3. How better can the County Treasurer inform the public about how tax dollars are being invested and spent?

County Treasurer Bernadette A Dorazio REPUBLICAN Candidate

1. Treasurer needs to get involved in the economic development of DAC if only in an advisory capacity. The County's Community Development "One Valley, One Vision 2040 Regional Plan," which includes (unincorporated) and incorporated municipalities of: Anthony, Hatch, LC, Mesilla & Sunland Park, to develop the infrastructure for economic business growth, such as: living spaces, public services, land use & water rights. Yes, it's slow to get "everyone's" consensus, but we must "Move Forward Together!"

2. The DAC Treasurer should use discretion with advisement. Currently, the Investment Advisory Committee, consisting of: the County Manager, the County Commissioner and three members of the public (including two Presidents of local banks and one NMSU Economics professor) meet two to three times a year, review the Treasurer's Investment Portfolio and provide feedback in the form of advice. I would also recommend that the DAC Treasurer's office should consult with the NM State Investment Council.

3. The DACT provides Monthly Financial Reports on the DACT website re: cash on hand, investments, debt schedule, property tax distribution and a comparison of taxes due and collected. The DACT also produces a Newsletter with graphics re: the 2019 investment and distribution of property taxes. A statement on that webpage says, "The primary duties of a County Treasurer are to collect, invest and disperse taxpayer dollars." Look to the DAC Financial Services Dept. for the yearly budgets. Bern4DACT!

County Treasurer Eric L Rodriguez DEMOCRATIC Candidate

1. For this particular office we can improve on process. Many of the practices that we have in place today are old manual business processes. My goal during my second term is to establish a fully automated functioning office that will increase efficiency and productivity. The end result for the taxpayer will be faster and better customer service. Since the implementation of a new tax program during my term, we have been able to make strides towards full automation within our processes.

2. A County Treasurer must have full discretion on an investment portfolio, as long as he/she is following an investment policy that is approved by a Board of Commissioners. Further it is recommended that a Treasurer have an advisory committee for the review of investment strategy. The County Treasurer is in place for checks and balances. A commission determines the budget, the manager executes that budget, and a Treasurer manages the money to ensure separation of powers.

3. Information about the office can always be found online, however most people may not understand financial statements nor even care to look at them, so in 2018 we started sending out a newsletter with the second half tax notices that includes easy to read tax distribution and investment data. In addition, our office piloted a seminar called "Taxes and You" last year, that is designed to be informative. We are working to get into local classrooms to further our educational outreach efforts.

DOÑA ANA COUNTY COMMISSIONER

QUESTIONS FOR THE CANDIDATES FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

(500 characters each)

1. What changes, if any, are needed to improve policing in Dona Ana County? Explain.

2. What do you think are the most urgent and important issues for Dona Ana County to address? Explain.

3. What more can be done to reduce homelessness and poverty in Dona Ana County?

4. What further steps, if any, should be taken to ensure that the County Triage Center will open and operate successfully?

County Commissioner District 2 Diana Murillo-Trujillo DEMOCRATIC Candidate

1. Policing in Dona Ana County should have more community policing. With all the negative situations that have occurred nationally, many constituents feel they can't have trust in law enforcement. Conducting the proper guidelines, (social distancing, wearing masks) officers should engage with anyone they see outside walking, i outside their yard and say hello and just let them know that he/she is there to assist in any way. In the future when the pandemic is over, play ball with kids.

2. At this time the most urgent and important issues in Dona Ana County are economic development and mental health issues. Many areas in Dona Ana County do not have economic development. Due to this there are no jobs and many constituents seek resources in Texas off other big municipalities. Many of them do not have transportation and do not have access to supplies, food and medicine. On

Mental Health issues, we need more professionals to come in into the County to assess individuals that need help

3. It would be of great assistance to the County to have small businesses partnering with the County to find resources to train individuals in trade skills so in the future they can become small business owners. Give a second opportunity to those that have felt they need a second chance to work

4. As a future County Commissioner my duty is to insure the County Triage Center opens. and functions properly. The County should look for resources to give the proper training to law enforcement officials when apprehending anyone with mental health issues. There needs to be a concrete collaboration between the County, law enforcement and Mental health professionals. The County should consider a neutral party in conducting an assessment for a transitional smooth opening of the Center.

1. The need for community outreach is important. People should interact with law enforcement so that they can learn how to respect one another. It is crucial for children and their parents as well as extended family to learn how to present their selves when approaching our law enforcement. This includes All Departments. If I am elected we will have neighborhood watch parties, celebrate our communities and actively participate in developing a relationship with our police in our communities.

2. We need to clean our neighborhoods from dangerous/dilapidated housing and be sure that all fire hydrants work properly. This alone will bring the property value up and keep us safe. We can then begin to build a nice safe economic environment in the county.

3. Economic Development within the County by inviting outside businesses to grow, and like New Mexico. The solution is keeping business friendly people employed. making attractive offers to businesses and hiring at will people will give opportunities to local people to allow social mobility!

1. I believe that Sheriff Stewart has done an excellent job leading the Sheriff's Department as is witnessed by the minimal number of complaints. She has done a great job of ensuring her deputies are visible and building relationships within the community. We are currently working with the Sheriff to improve the radio system and reduce dead spots for deputies in the County. I will continue to work with the Sheriff to understand what her plans are and how the Commission can help support them.

2. We need to focus on infrastructure and focus on developing our short term plan. I'm currently working with County staff so we can apply for grant funding to expand broadband services. I have also added drainage projects on the County's ICIP list to drive improvements within the colonias. We need to improve these areas for our residents and to continue to attract businesses. We also need to develop a 3-5 year plan for the County that gives us a visible direction in our decision making.

3. Through the County's Health & Human Services Department, we have been working with community partners to identify the needs of those within the various communities and colonias across the County. I believe one of the best ways we can assist is finding opportunities for education, job training, and increasing job opportunities in Doña Ana County. In 2019, we introduced bus service from the northern part of the County that includes stops at DACC and NMSU helping provide access to our residents.

4. Now that the Triage Center operator has been approved, we will request regular updates on the licensing process with the State Department of Health. Once the Triage Center becomes licensed and fully operational, the County Commission will rely on input from a community advisory board that will be formed to monitor the performance of the center. We need to continue to expand mental health services that should include mobile crisis units and training of the regional dispatch center.

NEW MEXICO THIRD JUDICIAL COURT DISTRICT JUDGE RETENTION

The New Mexico Judicial Performance Evaluation Commission was created by the Supreme Court of New Mexico to improve the performance of judges and provide useful, credible information to voters on judges standing for retention. Vote yes or no. Judges must receive 57% voter approval to remain on the bench. See <https://www.nmjpec.org/en/> for evaluations of district judges.

QUESTIONS FOR THE CANDIDATES FOR THIRD JUDICIAL DISTRICT JUDGE (RETENTION)

1. What concerns, if any, do you have about for-profit guardianships in New Mexico?

2. What are your views on whether the Court, as a whole, deals effectively with racial and gender bias?

Third District Judge Manuel L Arrieta (Division 1)

1. Since the enactment of the new Guardianship laws in 2019, the concerns of financial fraud or mismanagement involving for-profit guardianship cases have lessened due to increased reporting and supervision. While the new laws been generally effective and have largely accomplished their intent, many small guardianships have experienced a significant reporting burden. In some case, legal representation has become cost prohibitive.

2. It is a guiding principle of the judiciary to dedicate itself to the administration of equal justice under the law. However, just as times change, so does society's sense of justice. As a judiciary, we must continuously strive to critically examine what is just - not only for society, but for every person that comes before the Court. This is more than a commitment, but an ongoing effort to ensure that regardless of race or gender, all persons are treated equally under the law.

Third District Judge Marci E Beyer (Division 2)

1. There is always a concern that for-profit guardianship entities will put their own financial interests above those of the ward. In addition, when the guardian is not someone who has had a long time relationship with the ward, there is an additional concern that the guardian may not have enough information to make decisions that are in the best interest of the ward.

2. The Court does not effectively deal fairly with racial and gender bias as a whole, but the judges who care about these issues have taken advantage of the trainings that we have been provided that allow us to be more aware of these issues and our biases and ways to compensate for them. Some judges are better at handling these issues than others, but we all need to strive to be better. The biggest challenge is to be aware of our own biases so that we can deal with them.

Third District Judge Conrad F Perea (Division 3)

1. The State of New Mexico has taken many actions to address the need to promote and protect the wellbeing of incapacitated individuals. The enactment of statues and rules along with recent amendments to the statutes and rules reflect the focus of the state and its courts to more effectively provide this protection. The concern that I have regarding for-profit guardianships is that a guardianship may become more of a business proposition and there may be a loss of a personal connection.

2. It is my view that the courts in our venue do an exemplary job of effectively dealing with racial and gender bias. Racial and gender bias are of great concern today but these are concerns that have been important throughout our history. Courts must address these biases by using respectful language, to include nonverbal communication that is also respectful and effective. The judge's behavior and attitude can have a great effect on all courtroom participants.

Third District Judge Mary W Rosner (Division 4)

1. My concern regarding for-profit guardianships is that the power to make decisions concerning one's relatives, in some cases, has been transferred to a business and the family members are marginalized or excluded.

2. Gender and racial equality is something our statutes have already addressed. Everyone who comes before the court should be treated the same, regardless of color, religion or sexual preference. However with the lack of social justice and equality issues now so dramatically in front of the electorate, I attempt to be more mindful, and sensitive to all human beings who come before me.

Third District Judge Lisa C Schultz (Division 5)

1. With oversight, for-profit Guardianship services can be very helpful. The NM Judiciary has worked to address certain significant issues concerning Guardianships. This area deserves attention because the Guardianship organizations serve persons who are utterly vulnerable. Oversight is critical. To serve those who are dependent upon it, a for-profit Guardianship Corporation should be held to high standards. However, let us appreciate those Guardians who do a wonderful job for those in need.

2. The Court is not perfect. Judges must confront our own racial and gender bias. This is our duty, as human beings and individuals who strive to provide the best judicial services. We aspire to judge all persons fairly, with nothing less than the vaunted ideals of equality and justice as inseparable attributes. My Grandfather's family was killed by the Nazis. My life's work is to pursue equality and justice, confront prejudice, defend our fragile American Democracy, and protect the vulnerable.

Third District Judge James T. Martin (Division 6)

1. The vast majority of adult guardianships in New Mexico are for family members caring for elderly parents or disabled children. For some adults in our community, there are no family or friends who are willing or able to take responsibility for these vulnerable individuals. Therefore, a professional guardian must be appointed to provide support and access to services, unfortunately, our small and semi-rural community lacks the financial ability to provide many of these services.

2. The motto for the Judiciary is, "Equal Justice Under Law". While most people have seen the statue of Lady Justice with her scales and blindfold, as a judge I cannot be blind to bias. Instead, I must be mindful about bias in the courts and ensure that everyone who comes before me is treated fairly, according to the law and evidence submitted. Judges are leaders in the courtroom, therefore, we owe a duty to exercise our judgment impartially and without regard to any sympathy, bias or prejudice.

Third District Judge Douglas R Driggers (Division 7)

1. My only concerns are the for-profit guardianship entity be carefully regulated by the Courts to assure the public that only reasonable and necessary charges are made and that the for-profit guardianship entity is thoroughly qualified to perform those services.

2. In accordance with the Code of Judicial Conduct, my goal is to be fair and impartial to all litigants that appear before me regardless of race or gender. As a judge in the criminal court in a diverse county, I conscientiously work to achieve that standard in all cases.

Third District Judge Grace B Duran (Division 8)

1. I am aware of some community concerns regarding guardianships of incapacitated persons due to a disability or age. However, changes to the guardianship laws in 2018 and 2019 provide for more oversight and require annual reports which should alleviate some of these concerns. There is also a mechanism in place to file a grievance or complaint regarding a court appointed guardian.

2. There are laws in place prohibiting discrimination on the basis of race, sex, national origin and sexual orientation. Judges are required to enforce the law and set aside any personal preferences or bias. For example, under New Mexico law, the Courts are precluded in custody disputes from having a preference for one parent over another on the basis of gender. As a judge I endeavor to be as fair and impartial as possible and avoid making any decisions until I have heard a case in its entirety.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

1. Make the PRC an appointed three-member commission rather than an elected body.

2. Authorize the legislature to enact laws that may change the election dates of non-statewide officeholders to evenly distribute the number of offices appearing on ballots.

The following summaries and arguments are condensed from material provided by the NM Legislative Council Service (LSC) staff. Neither the LSC nor the League has an opinion on the amendments and makes no claim for the validity or consistency of the arguments presented.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT 1

PROPOSING TO AMEND THE CONSTITUTION OF NEW MEXICO TO PROVIDE THAT THE PUBLIC REGULATION

COMMISSION CONSIST OF THREE MEMBERS APPOINTED BY THE GOVERNOR FROM A LIST OF PROFESSIONALLY QUALIFIED NOMINEES SUBMITTED TO THE GOVERNOR BY A NOMINATING COMMITTEE AS PROVIDED BY LAW AND THAT THE COMMISSION IS REQUIRED TO REGULATE PUBLIC UTILITIES AND MAY BE REQUIRED TO REGULATE OTHER PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANIES.

Summary of Proposed Constitutional Amendment 1

Constitutional Amendment 1 would amend Article 11, Section 1 of the Constitution of New Mexico to reduce the number of Public Regulation Commission (PRC) members to three, with no more than two members from the same political party. Members would no longer be elected, but instead would be appointed for six-year terms by the governor, with the consent of the senate, from a list of nominees submitted to the governor through a newly established Public Regulation Commission Nominating Committee. Constitutional Amendment 1 would also amend Article 11, Section 2 of the Constitution of New Mexico to narrow the scope of the PRC's constitutionally granted regulatory powers to public utilities, while still allowing the legislature to assign responsibility for the regulation of other public service companies to the commission by law.

Arguments For

1. By insulating the commission from electoral politics, the commissioners may be better able to carry out their duties in an unbiased fashion. They could also focus on the interests of the ratepayers throughout the state rather than individual districts.

2. It would provide for increased vetting of commissioners and better ensure that well-qualified individuals serve on the PRC. New Mexico would join the vast majority of states that regulate utilities through governor-appointed commissions.

3. The PRC is a quasi-judicial body. Improved screening and qualification requirements would help ensure that commissioners possess the experience and training necessary to make decisions within the complex legal framework that governs public utility regulation.

Arguments Against

1. It does not change how the PRC actually functions. The amendment leaves it up to the legislature to provide for how commissioners will be evaluated and what qualifications commissioners will be required to have.

2. It removes the voters' ability to hold commissioners accountable for their actions. Electing commissioners from their respective districts allows the public more direct oversight of commissioners and their decisions.

3. The process to remove a commissioner would be more involved and take more time.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT 2

PROPOSING TO AMEND ARTICLE 20, SECTION 3 OF THE CONSTITUTION OF NEW MEXICO TO PERMIT THE ADJUSTMENT BY LAW OF TERMS OF NON-

STATEWIDE ELECTED OFFICERS AND TO STANDARDIZE THE DATE AN OFFICER BEGINS TO SERVE.

Summary of Proposed Constitutional Amendment 2

Constitutional Amendment 2 proposes to amend Article 20, Section 3 of the Constitution of New Mexico to allow the legislature to adjust the term of a state, county or district officer to align or stagger the election of officers for a particular state, county or district office throughout the state. No statewide elective office would be subject to adjustment. The proposed amendment also clarifies that officers elected to fill a vacancy in office shall take office on the first day of January following their election.

Arguments For

1. It provides the legislature with the constitutional authority to ensure uniformity of elections and balance in the number of offices on the ballot. The legislature can address election cycle concerns without requiring individual amendments for each office. It provides the legislature with the constitutional authority to ensure uniformity of constitutional amendments for each office.

2. It would protect against legislative overreach by requiring the legislature to adopt specific legislative findings supporting an adjustment. In order to make an adjustment the legislature must find that it is necessary for consistency in the timing of elections for that office or to balance the number of offices appearing on the ballot.

3. Balancing the number of contests appearing on a ballot during alternating election cycles and implementing a standardized start date for all newly elected officers may help alleviate issues created by an overloaded or long ballot and increase efficiency in the state's administration of elections and training.

Arguments Against

1. It expands the legislature's constitutional powers over election policy issues and could be legally challenged. Although it requires that a legislative finding is necessary, it may allow the legislature to amend terms for other reasons as long as the finding states that it is meant to provide for consistency or balance.

2. It may be overly broad. Not only those offices that are in need of being aligned or staggered on the presidential or gubernatorial general election ballots may be affected. It gives the legislature broad discretion to change the election cycle in which a state, county or district office is elected.

3. Some incumbent officeholders will gain an extra two years in office, while others will serve terms that expire two years early for reasons unrelated to their performance. Additionally, when election cycles are being synchronized, terms limits will not apply to the affected offices.

 This new six-episode comedy series stars Fred Armisen (“Portlandia”), Tim Heidecker (“Tim and Eric Awesome Show,” “Great Job!”) and John C. Reilly (“Walk Hard: The Dewey Cox Story”) as three subpar astronauts living at NASA’s Moon Base Simulator with high hopes of being chosen to travel to the moon. “Big Sky” (ABC — series premiere, Nov. 17)
 Producer David E. Kelly (“Big Little Lies”) is the creative force behind this drama series about private detectives Cassie Dewell (Kylie Bunbury) and Cody Hoyt (Ryan Phillippe), who join forces with Cody’s estranged wife and ex-cop, Jenny Hoyt (Katheryn Winnick), to search for two sisters who have been kidnapped. Former Bulletin editor is on air with ‘Cross City Blues’

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

Former Las Cruces Bulletin editor Marty Racine has begun a new music program called Cross City Blues.

Here’s a Q&A about Marty, his love of music and his new show, which started Sept. 26.

Bulletin: When will the show air?

MR: 9 p.m.-midnight Saturdays on NPR stations throughout southern New Mexico. The flagship station is KRWG, 90.7 FM, Las Cruces, at New Mexico State University. Their programming is also carried on 89.5 FM, Alamogordo; 93.5 FM, Deming; 91.3 FM, Silver City; 91.9 FM, Truth or Consequences; and 91.9 FM, Lordsburg.

Bulletin: Where did the name “Cross City Blues” come from?

MR: My first choice was “Key to the Highway,” named after a well-traveled blues song, but that might have invited a copyright issue. Cross City Blues relates to the City of Crosses, Las Cruces, and connotes the mythical “Crossroads” in Mississippi — actually, highways 49 and 61 — where Robert Johnson supposedly made a Faustian pact with the Devil in return for mastering the guitar.

Bulletin: Talk about your music background and your interest in the blues.

MR: I got my music DNA from my mother, who played piano and whose father was a concert pianist in Russia until the Bolshevik Revolution, when the family fled to China before emigrating to Los Angeles.

I got my radio DNA from my father, who emceed vaudeville shows from Hollywood theaters over Los Angeles radio stations.

When I was 9-10 years old, my dad owned a string of jukeboxes in northern California, and I began advising him on the hits of the day, as I was avidly following Top 40 radio. I’m just old enough to remember a time before rock ‘n’ roll, so when Sun Records of Memphis (Elvis, etc.) and the New Orleans sound (Fats Domino, etc.) came along, that music had a profound effect on me.

By the time we early Boomers were high school seniors, pop music and puppy-love songs were no longer doing it for us. Luckily, the British Invasion swept us up, and most of those bands were influenced by American blues. The music was irresistible, even if I didn’t fully understand it. But the blues really hit hard when a high school classmate, Alan Rising, who was the lead guitarist in the Paragons, a teen band in Vallejo, California, turned me on to vocalist/guitarist/harmonica player Jimmy Reed.

“Listen to this guy,” he said one day after school as he dropped the needle on a 45. It was as if we had discovered a secret cache of music, a pathway to adulthood through a sound so sensual and all-knowing that it seemed barely legal. It was surely under the radar in suburban America. I needed to hear more and not long after I found John Lee Hooker, Howlin’ Wolf and others.

At Arizona State University I majored in radio-TV and did a fair amount of writing, filling binders and notebooks with stream-of-consciousness poetry. As happened after graduation, I was able to combine my flair for phrasing with a musical ear into a durable career, beginning with concert reviews for the Bugle American, an alternative (hippie) weekly in Milwaukee, and the Milwaukee Sentinel. I also published a monthly music paper, Xpress, out of my living room — writing, layout, advertising, distribution. That led to the Houston Chronicle, where I was hired as the rock critic in 1981. I remained for 22 years.

In Houston, I was the proverbial kid in the candy store. From the East came all the Louisiana bands. From the West — Austin groups like Stevie Ray Vaughan and the Fabulous Thunderbirds. From Fort Worth/Dallas — the Juke Jumpers and Bugs Henderson. Post-modern blues bands were coming from California, Chicago, the Northeast and Georgia, and they were all playing clubs, where I could see them up-close virtually any night of the week.

Then there was Jerry Lightfoot, a great white guitarist from Houston who was helping to bring all the older local black artists to wider audiences (www.houstonpress.com/music/a-lighter-shade-of-blue-6545416). He took me across the tracks to hang out with Big Walter, Joe Hughes, Pete Mayes, Grady Gaines (who played sax with Little Richard), Pee Wee Stephens, Johnny Copeland, Texas Johnny Brown, LaVelle White and so many others. It was an education learned after dark, on the streets.

Coincidentally, everywhere I’ve worked in newspapers I’ve also had a radio gig (the papers paid a lot more): in Milwaukee I was a rock DJ at WZMF-FM; in Houston, KPFT-FM; Ruidoso, the Ruidoso News and KEDU-FM; in Las Cruces, the Bulletin and KTAL-FM (The Cosmic Troubadours, 7-9 p.m. Thursdays); and, now, KRWG-FM.

Bulletin: What else do you want people to know about the show?

MR: Right now, it’s all music cemented by background information on the artists and/or the type of music they play. The ratio of music to talk is roughly 3-1. The goal is to place these artists into historical context.

Each show will revolve around a theme — whether by artist, style of music, birthdays/death days, holidays, record label, geography, etc. So far, I’ve recorded six shows, using the audio software Audacity and converting the files to mp3s, with the following themes, in order: Alligator Records, Jump Blues, Harmonica Masters, Newport Folk Festival/Blues Revival of the early ‘60s and Slide Guitar (two shows). Under current conditions, there won’t be any guests.

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

Jan Preston Archey is one of the founding members and current president of the Potters' Guild of Las Cruces (PGLC) and a long-time Doña Ana Community pottery instructor.

Archey remembers about 30 years ago, Cally Williams returning to Las Cruces from a conference with the idea of Empty Bowls, LCPG's fundraiser for El Caldito Soup Kitchen. The first Empty Bowls took place 27 years ago.

Archey's goal for this year's Empty Bowls is to make 50 "unusual bowls," along with glazing and firing many other bowls made by area potters for the event. She has organized Empty Bowls community workdays almost every year since 1992, as throwers and potters have gathered to make 175-275 handmade bowls for the event.

"It is such a fun time, visiting and doing what we love to do: play with clay," Archey said. "The bowls are fired and often are sent to various studios for glazing. These community bowls often have at least 10 pairs of hands that touch them. During a usual year, I 'touch' about 350 bowls through the process.

"I was involved in the very beginning of the soup kitchen, before it was called El Caldito," she said. "I have always been concerned for the impoverished, and for me to share my talents to help feed others, it's the best of both worlds."

"Since my early art classes in high school, I knew from my first pottery class I would someday have a studio and be a potter," Archey said. "It was not something that just happened. It has taken years to acquire the equipment, materials and the space. I enjoy making functional pieces because I know I am part of people's celebrations and meals. One must experience the various steps of the process. Sometimes things work out, sometimes one must put the dry clay in a bucket of water and start over. Clay is forgiving and can be re-used. Working with clay is a lesson in life teaching us patience."

Archey has an electric kiln, a raku kiln and a propane-fired kiln.

"Having a gas kiln allows me to have glazes that are different from many potters," she said.

"I do my wet work in the back-studio area of our garage and my glaze studio is a utility trailer. I mix and formulate all my glazes, so they are nothing that can be bought in a jar. My space is a simple, one-person studio, and it has worked for me for 40 years.

Archey has been a DAAC community education program instructor

"for decades," she said.

"I love to teach and to encourage my students to explore and learn about this wonderful medium."

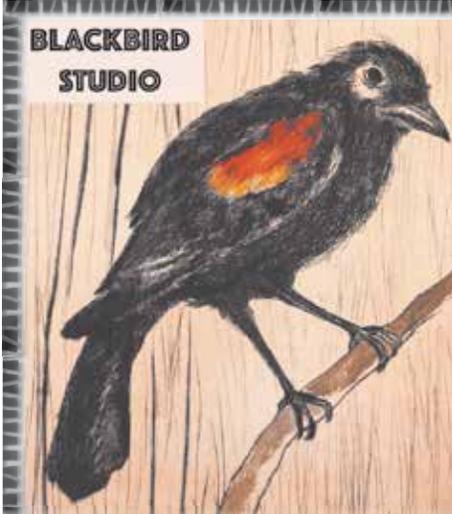

Jan and her husband, James, also volunteer in rescuing bees. They work with Dr. Chris Cramer, a professor in New Mexico State University's Department of Plant and Environmental Sciences, and his wife, Krista Michael. It takes three-four people to gently vacuum up bees into a travel box that can be placed on top of an empty hive box, Jan Archey said. "The hope is the bees will take up residence in the hive and will thrive and can be used for Dr. Cramer's onion-breeding program. The bees are necessary to pollinate the onion blooms to develop new onion varieties."

In addition to participating in the 2020 Empty Bowls event on Oct. 16, Archey invited local residents and visitors to donate to PGLC, a nonprofit.

"Clay, glazes, supplies and firing needs to happen, and donations can help immensely to keep the costs down, which benefits all," she said. "A box of clay is about $25 and will make about 15 bowls." A kiln firing is about another $25, she said.

To make a donation, and for more information, contact Archey at archeyjan@gmail.com. Visit <http://pottersguildlc.org>.

Artist on mission to spread awareness

By ELVA K. ÖSTERREICH
Las Cruces Bulletin

When human traffickers (“coyotes”) get their hands on children, they are often referred to as “pollos,” the Spanish word for chickens. When local artist Sonya Fe heard the phrase, it affected her so strongly she was motivated to investigate the situation more, and she decided to do something about it.

“I was aware of this nightmare and did small paintings of it,” she said.

As an artist, Fe said she aims to spread awareness through her art. She was offered a wall and went big with the work. She is encouraging artists across the country to take up the call of “Chickens and Children do Not Belong in Cages.”

“The kids [in detention along the border] are lost. They are going to human trafficking,” she said. “This is a horrible state for us to to be in. My mural is showing the emotional depression they are all going through.”

A friend of Fe's, artist Lalo Garcia, is working on the same theme in California.

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

Thomas Branigan Memorial Library will host a Zoom author talk by award-winning author J.A. Jance at 12:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 15.

A New York Times bestselling mystery writer, Jance published the first of her more than 240 books in 1985. She grew up in southeastern Arizona and graduated from the University of Arizona with a master's degree in library science in 1970. She taught school in Tucson and was a K-12 librarian in Sells, Arizona, on the Tohono'

Odom Indian reservation.

Jance "is a strong, determined, humorous woman whose books reflect these traits in her characters," the City of Las Cruces said in a news release about the author talk.

Jance will discuss her characters, retired Seattle Police Department Detective J. P. Beaumont, Arizona County Sheriff Joanna Brady and former Los Angeles news anchor turned mystery solver Ali Reynolds.

"As a second-grader in Mrs. Spangler's Greenway School class, I was introduced to Frank Baum's 'Wizard of Oz' series," Jance said on her website. "I read the first one and was hooked and knew, from that moment on, that I wanted to be a writer."

Jance has been nominated for and has won several writing awards. She won the American Mystery Award in 1992 and 1993. Her 2014 book, "A Last Goodbye," and 2016's "Random Acts," both made the New York Times best seller list.

Jance published a poetry collection, "After the Fire," in 1984.

To be added to the Zoom invite list for the discussion, send an email to sagelibrary@las-cruces.org, with "Jance" as the subject.

Women filmmakers showcased in Lunafest

BULLETIN REPORT

Lunafest, the fundraising film festival dedicated to championing women filmmakers and bringing women together in their communities, will be hosted by Soroptimist International of Las Cruces at 7 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 17.

To ensure the health and safety of viewers during the COVID-19 pandemic, this first-ever Las Cruces screening will be livestreamed to ticketholders via Zoom and Vimeo.

The film festival highlights women as leaders in society, illustrated through seven short films by women filmmakers.

The films range from animation to fictional drama, and cover topics such as women's health, body image, relationships, cultural diversity and breaking barriers. They are produced by Chicken & Egg Pictures, a nonprofit that supports women filmmakers whose storytelling catalyzes social change.

All proceeds from Lunafest ticket sales will benefit Soroptimist Dream Programs, which provide financial assistance that helps women complete their post secondary education.

Most awardees have faced and overcome obstacles such as domestic violence, teen pregnancy and homelessness. All awardees are their families' primary wage earners.

The Dream It, Be It program empowers high school girls through workshops on defining goals, overcoming obstacles to success, managing money and professional etiquette.

Tickets are $20. Early-bird tickets are available for $15 until Oct. 10. For more information or to purchase tickets, visit www.silcnm.org.

eventually it's going to snowball."

Fe said she and Garcia are calling on artists to submit their artwork under the umbrella of "Chickens and Children

Do Not Belong in Cages," but the work can be of any style or subject as long as it has the phrase on the image somewhere.

"The more murals we paint, the louder the voice

New Mexico Chile Taste-Off comes to Las Cruces Oct. 17

BULLETIN REPORT

The New Mexico Chile Association (NMCA) is hosting the New Mexico Chile Taste-Off in six New Mexico communities in October. It comes to the Farmers and Crafts Market of Las Cruces, at Plaza de Las Cruces, 8:30 a.m.-1 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 17, the association said in a news release from Garrity Group Public Relations.

The Chile Taste-Off, sponsored by Bueno Foods, offers residents “the chance to crown one farm the title of best green chile. The organization will give away 1,000 green chile tasting kits, in Las Cruces and at farmers' and growers' markets in Tucumcari, Los Alamos, Socorro, Albuquerque and Corrales.

“Last year’s inaugural

Great New Mexico Chile Taste-Off in Socorro was a big success, attracting several hundred chile lovers from all corners of the state and beyond, and this year, due to COVID concerns, we came up with a new way for New Mexicans to taste a variety of our famous chile,” said NMCA Executive Director Joram Robbs.

The kits, available first-come, first-served at each venue, will contain 12 samples of roasted, chopped, unseasoned green chile from around the state. Guests taste each before voting for their three favorites at nmchiletastoff.com. The deadline to vote is Wednesday, Oct. 28.

The taste-off is part of NMCA’s effort to raise awareness of its New Mexico Certified Chile program, which permits participating in-state growers to use a certification mark that verifies their chile is grown in New Mexico.

Twelve New Mexico growers are competing for the title of best green chile in 2020: Grajeda Farms, Gillis Farms, Chile Connection and Adams Produce, all in Hatch; Viramontes Farms and Speir Farms, both of Deming; Rosales Farm and 5 Star Chile, both of Lemitar; Chile River Inc. of Salem; Napi of Farmington; Genesis Gardens Homestead of Tucumcari; and Bustamante Farms of Polvadera.

NMCA is a nonprofit that supports the chile industry in New Mexico and includes growers, processors and manufacturers.

National Hispanic Heritage Month events continue at NMSU

By CARLOS ANDRES LOPEZ
NMSU Communications

New Mexico State University's Chicano Programs is inviting students from all ethnic backgrounds to commemorate National Hispanic Heritage Month by participating in virtual events that continue through Oct. 15.

"We've been working really hard to deliver programming that is inclusive of the Latinx community," said NMSU Chicano Programs Interim Director Judith Flores Carmona, who developed this year's roster of events for Hispanic Heritage Month.

The all-virtual format for this year's events is a departure from previous years, Flores Carmona said, but was necessary because of COVID-19. The lineup includes panel discussions and group activities, some of which are collaborations with other NMSU programs and universities across the country. The full list of events is available at <https://chicano.nmsu.edu>.

Revilla's talk is available at www.youtube.com/watch?v=xzTb-2r6xzY. Chicano Programs then partnered with NMSU's First-Year Initiatives program to host a Zumba class on Zoom.

Barbara Kessel, who helps small businesses and nonprofit organizations improve equity, diversity and inclusion, will present a lecture with Belinda 'Otukolo Saltiban, the chief inclusion and diversity officer at Utah Valley University. The live-streamed lecture will take place at 6 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 15, on YouTube. To watch, visit www.youtube.com/watch?v=Oi_McWwSz6s.

"We will conclude Hispanic Heritage Month with two speakers who will have a cross-racial dialogue on inclusion, equity and diversity," Flores Carmona said of the culminating event. "The presenters will demonstrate how having difficult conversations across our differences can benefit all of us."

"Given the challenges caused by COVID-19," she added, "it is critical to show how Latinx and other students of color add value to NMSU because of our cultural wealth."

Students from NMSU's Hispanic Council also are planning multiple events for the spring 2021 semester, Flores Carmona said.

"We are a Hispanic- and minority-serving institution, so I think we should celebrate Latinx/Hispanic heritage all year – not only one month," Flores Carmona said. "Serving these student populations should be infused into everything that we do academically and socially."

Flores Carmona has served as interim director of Chicano Programs since July 1. Chicano Programs is a support service that promotes student success through education, advocacy and development of cultural literacy, serving hundreds of students throughout the year.

Students may visit the Chicano Programs office in Garcia Center, Room 138, by appointment only. To make an appointment, contact Flores Carmona at 575-646-4206 or judithfc@nmsu.edu.

Contact Carlos Andres Lopez at 575-646-1955 or carlopez@nmsu.edu.

Branigan Cultural Center hosts 'Dolores Huerta: Revolution in the Fields'

BULLETIN REPORT

"Dolores Huerta: Revolution in the Fields / Revolución en los Campos" will be on display at the Branigan Cultural Center (BCC), 501 N. Main St., Oct. 17-Jan. 9, 2021, BCC said in a news release.

The exhibition shares the story of activist and leader Dolores Huerta and the farm workers' movement of the 1960s and 1970s, the news release said. It features reproductions of historic and personal photographs and graphic elements, a free, user-friendly, mobile tour smart phone app featuring interviews with Huerta and a short bilingual documentary video.

"The exhibition details

Dolores Huerta speaks

Huerta's life from her early influences, such as her mother, Alicia, and mentor, Fred Ross, who led to her groundbreaking time as the female voice in the traditionally male-dominated farm workers' movement, through the United Farm Workers' grape boycotts and landmark agreements with the grape-growing conglomerates," the news release said.

The exhibit also features many who worked with Huerta on the movement, including fellow organizers Larry Itliong and César Chávez and artistic contributors Xavier Viramontes and El Teatro Campesino.

Before the movement, California grape laborers faced open discrimination, below-poverty wages and dangerously unsafe working and living conditions, according to the news release. "Huerta and her colleagues sacrificed their own well-being to challenge the system and galvanize solidarity for a better life for them."

Yet, Huerta's name and impact are often overlooked, BCC said, "including the misattribution of her coined phrase, "Yes, we can! / ¡Si, se puede!" to other historical figures. "When most women were still expected to play primarily domestic roles, Huerta introduced new models of womanhood as an energetic picket captain, persuasive lobbyist and unyielding negotiator."

The exhibition is organized by the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service (SITES) in collaboration with the Smithsonian's National Portrait Gallery. It received federal support from the Latino Initiatives Pool, administered by the Smithsonian Latino Center.

$1.32 million will support rail hub improvements

By JESS WILLIAMS

Las Cruces Bulletin

Doña Ana County has received $1.32 million for preliminary engineering and federal environmental review for a grade-separated overpass above the Union Pacific Railroad line at the northern entrance of two industrial parks in Santa Teresa.

The intermodal Union Pacific property sits on 2,200-acres and cost $417 million when it was originally constructed.

The appropriation is part of $6.9 million in U.S. Department of Transportation (DoT) grants to the state.

Doña Ana County will use the grant to manage the expanded traffic at the Santa Teresa industrial parks, which are in close proximity to the Santa Teresa Port of Entry, which is one of the busiest ports of entry on the U.S./Mexico border.

"Investing in New Mexico's rail infrastructure is vital to our economic recovery and future growth opportunities," said Sen. Martin Heinrich, D-N.M.

"As our state continues to grow as an international trade center, Santa Teresa has tapped into the potential of our border region's unique binational economy to create jobs and tremendous new opportunities for businesses in Southern New Mexico."

"Despite challenges from COVID-19, we've seen border communities like Santa Teresa drive economic growth and recovery in southern New Mexico. This timely investment will help ensure our infrastructure at Santa Teresa Industrial Park is safe and secure, in addition to managing increased traffic," said Rep. Xochitl Torres Small, D-N.M. "Trade at our southern border continues to strengthen our state's economy, and it's a priority of mine to secure the necessary investments and resources to facilitate trade while also keeping New Mexicans safe."

In addition to the funding aimed for Doña Ana County, the DoT also allotted $5,629,610 for infrastructure and safety improvements on the route of Amtrak's Southwest Chief between Trinidad, Colorado, and Madrid, N.M., located between Lamy and Albuquerque.

Businesses can apply for state loans amid pandemic

BULLETIN REPORT

The New Mexico Finance Authority is inviting New Mexico businesses in need of financial assistance to explore a loan from the Small Business Recovery Loan Fund, Mesilla Valley Economic Development Alliance (MVEDA) President and CEO Davin Lopez said.

Created by the New Mexico Legislature during the June 2020 special session, the $400 million program "provides low-interest loans to businesses and nonprofit organizations that experienced financial hardship due to the pandemic," Lopez said. "The three-year loans may be used for a variety of expenses, do not require collateral and have no payments for the first year," he said.

Loan amounts are twice the 2019 average monthly expenses, up to $75,000. As of late September, the interest rate was 1.625 percent, payments are interest-only for the first three years and the loan may be extended for an additional three years.

Applications are open until Dec. 31. The loan process takes approximately 10 days.

For eligibility and application information, visit www.nmfinance.com.

BUSINESS QUESTIONNAIRE

By JESS WILLIAMS

Las Cruces Bulletin

The Las Cruces Bulletin is going to ramp up business coverage as the state moves to reopen its economy. We're reaching out to the business community with this questionnaire, in hopes that we can cover as many businesses as possible, and help the local

To respond to the survey, answer each question in 150 words or less, and submit the answers with a photograph of the business to jess@lascrucesbulletin.com. If your photo includes people, make sure to identify all of them from left to right, by their full names.

APPLICATIONS AVAILABLE FOR CARES ACT FUNDING

Doña Ana County was awarded $3,039,750 from the federal CARES Act Relief Fund, the county said in a news release. The fund makes monies available to local governments to provide grants to small businesses impacted by COVID-19.

The cities of Anthony and Sunland Park, the Town of Mesilla and the Village of Hatch partnered with the county on the effort. The Greater Las Cruces Chamber of Commerce (GLCCC) will accept applications from small businesses for the grants.

"The pandemic has been a terrible strain on all of our communities, said County Manager Fernando Macias. "We are fortunate to get these funds to help small businesses located outside the City of Las Cruces,"

Businesses that are eligible to apply must meet the following criteria: Have an active business registration license in good standing; be located in Doña Ana County unincorporated areas, City of Anthony, City of Sunland Park, Town of Mesilla and Village of Hatch; be headquartered in Doña Ana County; been forced to close or severely curtailed business operations as a result of closure orders from the state; have 50 or fewer full-time equivalent employees; have an annual revenue of $2 million or less prior to the impact of COVID-19; had a start date prior to March 1, 2019; or be a nonprofit organization as designated by the IRS and have a certificate of good standing with the state.

City has $5.4 million to assist small businesses impacted by COVID-19

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

The City of Las Cruces Economic Development Department (LCEDD) was awarded more than $5.4 million earlier this month from a federal CARES Act Small Business Continuity Grant Program for FY2021 to help the city provide reimbursement funding to small businesses hardest hit by the COVID-19 pandemic and public health emergency.

The New Mexico Department of Finance and Administration (DFA) must approve all eligible expenses before grant awards to business can be made under the program, LCEDD Director Griselda Martinez said. For any funding request, DFA is requiring the city to have invoices and receipts to prove the expenses incurred.

The maximum award is $10,000, with award amounts based on the number of eligible applicants demonstrating hardship from the more than 3,000 registered businesses in the city and in consideration of the $5.4 million in total funding available, Martinez said. As a result, final award amounts may be significantly less than $10,000.

Eligible expenses under the program include non-owner employee wages, vendor bills, rent, mortgage payments, marketing, outdoor-dining expenses, sanitization supplies, PPEs and utility costs.

The DFA scoring matrix for awarding grants will evaluate: the number of full-time equivalent employees on Feb. 29 and the current number; the Impact of COVID-19 on the business' 2020 revenue; if the business is owned by a socially disadvantaged group, i.e., veterans, minority, women; if the business was included in the New Mexico COVID-19 shutdown order or curtailed as a result of the order; the business' current percentage of capacity of opening; and if the business has been the recipient of federal, state or local COVID-19 related support.

Martinez said LCEDD partnerships have created other programs to assist businesses, including:

- The Las Cruces Social Media Business Program, a free program designed to help businesses build their social media accounts to increase business. The application period is open until November at <https://arrowhead-center.nmsu.edu/program/las-cruces-social-media-support/>.
- In partnership with Liftfund, technical assistance to the business community leading to access to microloans is now available. By signing up, businesses receive one-on-one counseling to learn about tools, resources, virtual workshops and educational sessions on how to be better prepared. Visit <http://LiftFund.com/events>.

Energy supported 134,000 jobs, added $16.6 billion to state's economy

From a NEWS RELEASE FROM THE NEW MEXICO OIL AND GAS ASSOCIATION

A New Mexico Oil and Gas Association report shows the state's oil and natural gas industry supported 134,000 in-state jobs and added $16.6 billion to New Mexico's economy in 2018, which was almost 16 percent of the total gross state product that year.

The industry accounted for 12 percent of statewide employment ($7.6 billion in labor income, 13.5 percent of the state total). It also generated $2.2 billion in state and local taxes in 2018, which was 25 percent of the state total.

The report was prepared by the New Mexico Tax Research Institute and was presented virtually to a meeting of the New Mexico Legislative Finance Committee.

"The oil and natural gas industry supports jobs and local economies in every corner of our state, and this report underscores the employment ripple effect inherent in this industry when it is allowed to be successful," said NMOGA Executive Director Ryan Flynn. "New Mexico's economic outlook and future generations depend on continuing policies that prioritize the development of our abundant energy resources, just as we have safely done for the past several years. The result is a stronger, more resilient New Mexico for everyone."

The report highlights the oil and gas industry's direct economic activity in New Mexico as well as the indirect and induced jobs and economic value added to the economy through its purchases, employment and payments to state and local governments.

It shows an impact of more than $425 million in Doña Ana County, along with 6,375 jobs and $1.273 billion in labor income.

The 134,000 jobs supported by the industry provided some level of employment in each of New Mexico's 33 counties. In the public sector, one of every seven government jobs also was supported by the industry, mostly in state and local government.

The report follows an analysis by NMOGA and the American Petroleum Institute warning of negative consequences for New Mexico if a ban on federal leasing and public lands were to take effect. New Mexico is projected to be among the states hardest hit, losing more than 62,000 jobs by 2022, the analysis said.

View the full report and methodology at NMOGA.org/EconomicActivityReport.

NMOGA is a coalition of more than 1,000 oil and natural gas companies and individuals operating in New Mexico and is the oldest and largest organization representing the oil and gas industry in the state. Taxes and royalties from the industry account for 39 percent of the state's annual budget, including more than $1.4 billion for public schools.

State expects lower insurance rates for coming year

BULLETIN REPORT

New Mexico Superintendent of Insurance Russell Toal has announced that health insurance premiums will decrease significantly for individuals and families purchasing their own coverage through beWellnm (New Mexico's Health Insurance Exchange).

Average plan prices, he said, dropped in the Bronze, Silver and Gold

Plan categories across the state. Silver plans, the most common plan purchased, will decrease between 8.1 and 13.5 percent on average. Small businesses will experience a 6.7 percent average premium decrease on beWellnm.

The Office of Superintendent of Insurance (OSI) reviews health insurance filings annually to determine whether rates are reasonable and fair.

"After a rigorous review of health insurance filings, our office is pleased to report that premiums are going down in 2021," Toal said. "Not only are rates decreasing, but New Mexico will have more health plans competing in the marketplace than ever before."

"These premium reductions will come as a relief to New Mexico's families and small businesses who are facing economic hardship during the global pandemic," said Gov. Michelle Lujan Grisham. "It is vital that every New Mexican have affordable quality health insurance during a public health crisis."

"BeWellnm is proud to work with the superintendent's office to make sure every New Mexican can find and enroll in health insurance," said Jeffery Bustamante, CEO of be-

Wellnm. "As we approach Nov. 1, which marks the beginning of open enrollment, I encourage anyone who needs insurance to start looking at what option is best for their budget and lifestyle. Especially right now, health insurance is more important than ever."

Despite the departure of New Mexico Health Connections, the number of insurers competing in New Mexico's individual marketplace increased from four to five, as new insurers entered the market.

New Mexico's 45-day open enrollment period for coverage runs Nov. 1 - Dec. 15. Coverage begins Jan. 1, 2021. Most people who purchase coverage on beWellnm.com qualify for financial help to reduce premiums.

For more information, call 833-862-3935 or visit www.bewellnm.com.

Advice for the age of computers: rest your weary eyes

As a pandemic reshapes our lives, the Internet becomes a big part of social and school life. Our eyes are affected. For millions of children, virtual learning is now their primary method of going to school. Guidelines for protecting young eyes come from American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP).

Sleep: Too little sleep leads to tired, sore eyes. AAP recommends against sleeping in the same room with TVs, computers and smartphones. Using devices past bedtime, especially for violent video games and TV shows, can interfere with sleep.

Play outside: Children and adults need at least one hour of physical activity each day. Playing outside gives children's eyes exposure to natural sunlight and a chance to focus on different distances.

RORIE MEASURE
Reading Solution

20/20/20 rule: When sitting at the computer, take frequent breaks. Look away from the screen every 20 minutes; focus on an object 20 feet away for at least 20 seconds. Children should walk away from the screen for at least 10 minutes every hour.

Blink: Studies show that people blink significantly less often when concentrating on a digital screen, which can leave eyes dry and irritated. Desktop and laptop computer use can be especially tough on children's eyes, because the screen is usually situated high. The child's upper eyelids open wider, speeding evaporation of the eye's tear film. Research published in The New England Journal of Medicine says staring at a computer can cut blinking rates by half. Encourage your child to try to blink extra, especially when they take breaks. Your pediatrician or eye doctor may recommend moisturizing eye drops or a room humidifier if your child continues to be bothered by dry eyes.

1/2/10 rule: Reduce eye fatigue by increasing font size, especially on small screens, to twice the size your child can comfortably read. The computer screen should be positioned slightly below eye level. Ideal distance for mobile phones is one foot; keep desktop devices and laptops at two feet; stay roughly 10 feet from TV screens depending on size of screen.

Adjust lighting: To cut down on glare and eye fatigue, a study published in the Journal of Ophthalmology & Research says the level of lighting in a room when using a computer or other screen should be roughly half what it would be for other activities such as writing on paper or working on crafts. Try to position computers so that light from uncovered windows, lamps and overhead light fixtures is not shining directly on screens. Decrease the brightness of the screen to a comfortable level for viewing.

Watch for these symptoms:

Eye fatigue. Muscles around the eye, like any others, can get tired from continued use. Focusing on a screen for extended periods can cause concentration difficulties and headaches centered around the temple and eyes. Children may also use screen devices where lighting is less than ideal, causing fatigue from squinting.

Blurry vision. Gazing at the same distance for an extended time can cause the eye's focusing system to spasm or temporarily "lock up." More time playing outside may result in healthier vision development.

AARP recommends regular vision screenings. If your child is having blurry vision or similar eye problems, he or she may not speak up. That's why regular vision screenings are important. The American Academy of Ophthalmology and the AAP recommend children have their eyes checked by a pediatrician at well-child visits beginning at birth. There may be variations in treatment that your pediatrician may recommend. If a problem is found during one of these routine eye exams, your pediatrician may refer you to a pediatric ophthalmologist.

Make Motion Your Lotion

We all know that visiting your physician for an annual physical is important for maintaining long-term health. Similarly, dental exams twice each year help ensure oral health throughout a lifetime. But, did you know that annual physical therapy check-ups provide the third critical (and often overlooked) component of long-term health and preventative care for people of all ages? As we observe National Physical Therapy Month each October, now is the time to think about how easily we move, how independent we are in our daily activities, and how physical therapy might help.

The primary focus of a physical therapist is the musculoskeletal system – the bones, joints, muscles and connective tissues that make it possible for you to not just move, but experience life on your own terms. As a physical therapist, our job is to ensure this system is working optimally so limitations like strength, balance, flexibility, and pain don't stand in the way of a person's quality of life. Based on the results of a physical therapy "check-up," a physical therapist is able to provide clients with individualized treatment plans and/or programs meant to help prevent future, movement-limiting problems. The goal of these assessments and related interventions is to ensure a high quality of life for those who wish to stay active and independent. As part of this, physical therapists are often able to identify issues that may lead to long-term health problems, such as pain, injury and disease.

We like to say that 'movement is medicine', or that 'motion is lotion', and being able to stay physically active plays a huge role in disease prevention, managing chronic conditions and, in general, taking greater control of your health. Physical therapists help people avoid pain, injury, or other issues that can lead toward becoming more sedentary.

Dennis Prickett
Physical Therapist
Co-owner of Atrium
Physical Therapy

According to the American Association of Physical Therapy (APTA), physical therapists are highly-skilled, licensed health care professionals who help patients reduce pain and improve or restore mobility. Physical therapists are movement experts, and we use a variety of techniques to restore movement, relieve pain, improve strength, and to prevent disability.

During a preventative check-up, a physical therapist will evaluate such things as movement and injury history, balance, aerobic capacity, functional strength, flexibility, and quality of movement (i.e., gait, reach, bending, etc.). In addition, a physical therapist will work with each person to address any personal limitations, weaknesses, pain or other impairments that may be holding them back from reaching lifestyle and movement goals.

We recommend that people see a physical therapist for a check-up once each year, just as with their personal physicians. Physical therapy check-ups should also be considered:

- Whenever one experiences pain, discomfort or strain when doing an activity they enjoy.
- Whenever one is considering a new fitness or training program, or starting a new sport.
- Following the completion of post-surgery rehab, when trying to resume normal activities.
- Or, after any surgery or condition that has led to bed rest.

For more information about annual physical therapy check-ups, contact our physical therapy team at Atrium Physical Therapy at 575-525-2450 with questions or to schedule an evaluation.

Patients from other states can now medicate in N.M.

Medical cannabis patients from other states are now allowed to use their cards in New Mexico, but cannabis products are not allowed to cross state lines.

The new rule has created opportunity for questionable activity and a bit of confusion.

Resident of other states with medical cannabis programs can now visit New Mexico dispensaries to purchase medicine, so long as they bring a state medical cannabis program card, along with a New Mexico driver's license or official identification card. All information must match on all documents.

In other words, you cannot live in Texas and show a California medical card. If you have a California card, you must show proof of residency in California.

Evidently, there are online sites attempting to circumvent the rules and are offering California cards to residents of other states for a fee.

New Mexico's Department of Health does not approve of these cards and is monitoring for compliance.

If a New Mexico dispensary sells medicine to someone who is not a legitimate patient, the dispensary may risk losing its license to dispense cannabis.

Illegal activities can undermine New Mexico's medical cannabis program, which has undergone many changes and improvements since 2007.

It is now possible for more legitimate New Mexico residents to acquire a card. If you need a card, obtain it legally.

If you are not sure how to go about qualifying, please call us and allow us to facilitate the process for you. You can reach New Mexico MCP Consulting at 915-204-5440 or email chavezhl@aol.com or visit www.NewMexicoMCP-Consulting.com.

DeChambeau stuns with U.S. Open win at Winged Foot

With his stunning win in the U.S. Open at Winged Foot, Bryson DeChambeau may have disrupted the golfing world more than amateur player Francis Ouimet did back in 1913. DeChambeau, whose reliance on science and unconventional thinking to championship golf has been the buzz for a couple of years, did upset the proverbial apple cart with a 6-under-par score on a course which is the most brutal venue for a U.S. Open. He was the only one in the field to finish ish under par.

CHARLIE BLANCHARD
Golf Doctor

Hale Irwin won in 1974 with 7-over par in an event they termed the “Massacre at Winged Foot.” That’s when the USGA faced an accusation that it was out to “embarrass” pro golfers.

DeChambeau emerges as one of only three golfers to win an NCAA Individual Championship, a U.S. amateur Championship and a U.S. Open Championship. The other two are Jack Nicklaus and Tiger Woods. The 2020 U.S. Open was DeChambeau’s eighth professional victory, earning $2.25 million for the win.

For readers who don’t know much about DeChambeau, here are a few oddities and peculiarities specific to him but drawing a lot of attention.

First, all his irons are the same length, and his clubs are fitted with jumbo grips, including his five-degree driver with a XXX-stiff shaft. He practically never plays a casual practice round of golf. His time is spent almost exclusively on the driving and short-game ranges.

With a defining strategy in mind of winning tournaments by bludgeoning golf courses with distance and power, DeChambeau had added 40 pounds of muscle and bulk to his six-foot, one-inch frame since last October, with three gym workouts and six protein drinks a day. He plans to add another 15 pounds prior to the Masters in November.

While DeChambeau

drives the ball long, six players averaged more yardage off the tee in this U.S. Open, according to the USGA stats. More important for DeChambeau was his power and precision from the five-inch-plus rough. He hit his pitching wedge 180 yards from rough so deep that some players lost their balls in it. He only hit 43 percent of the fairways, but he hit two-thirds of the greens. This is the “bomb and gouge” game personified.

Much like Ben Hogan did at Oakland Hills in the 1951 U.S. Open, DeChambeau brought the “monster” Winged Foot to its knees.
