Chancellor: NMSU will fill gaps in services to Black students

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

“I am here to listen,” New Mexico State University Chancellor Dan Arvizu said Friday, Jan. 28, as he participated in a community town hall sponsored by NMSU Black Programs and the NMSU Black Student Association (BSA).

The event was held in person at Corbett Center on the NMSU campus and via Zoom to discuss “the progress and ongoing opportunities” arising from a September 2019 town hall during which a number of Black student demands were presented to the NMSU administration. The Jan. 28 meeting also included discussions of the Black Education Act that became the law in New Mexico in 2021 and “strategies for sustainable equity” at NMSU.

Arvizu said he wanted to learn more about gaps in service to Black Programs and BSA and create “a strategic plan to meet those gaps and fill those needs.”

“If it takes resources, so be it,” Arvizu said. “We’ll apply those resources.”

“It is so important that we are talking Black education,” New Mexico Public Education Department (NMPED) Deputy Secretary of Identity, Equity and Transformation Vickie C. Bannerman said at the town hall.

Only about 3 percent of New Mexico’s population is African American, Bannerman said, but it is important that Black people be honorably represented.

“When I woke up this morning, I was a Black woman in New Mexico, so you cannot tell me that Black people are not living and working in New Mexico,” she said. “We are here and we are not going anywhere. Let’s support the movement; let’s support the work. Let’s stop the conditions where we have to have the same conversations we were having 70, 60, 50 years ago. The time is now for action. Don’t just tell me what you want. Let’s talk about how to get there.”

Black students made up 3 percent of NMSU’s undergraduate students and 3.5 percent of its main-campus graduate students last fall according to an NMSU report. Blacks comprised 1.4 percent of the NMSU faculty 2018-20.

“We’ve been working very hard with minimal resources,” said BSA President Ignacio Alvarado. “We don’t have the resources or support to be successful as a team. We feel like we’re falling behind.”

The demands made at the 2019 town hall were “student needs which were listed as immediate needs prior to fall of 2019,” Alvarado said. “We are now in 2022.”

Black Programs, he said, needs additional funding for adequate staff and a complete renovation of its office.

“A commitment has been made for us to relocate,” Alvarado said. “The deadlines have come and gone and we are no closer to moving into our new space in Corbett than we were before. We have received a lot of promises.”

Alvarado also called on NMSU to make Black Studies Interim Director Kimberly York the program’s permanent director.

“We would like to know the long-term plan for African studies,” York said.

“I am thrilled to hear that there is some work in progress,” said NAACP Doña Ana County Chapter President Bobbie Green, Ph.D., a former NMSU faculty member. “These students need to see people that look like them ... in front of the classroom as professors. I want to make sure that we keep that momentum going. It is beneficial not only to the students but to the whole university that we make progress.”

“What we need is systemic and structural change,” said NMSU Vice President for Equity, Inclusion and Diversity Linda Scholz, Ph.D.

Teachers rally in Santa Fe for pay raise, other improvements

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

Members of The National Education Association-New Mexico (NEA-NM) from Las Cruces and around the state, along with the state and national NEA presidents, rallied outside the state capitol in Santa Fe Sunday afternoon, Jan. 23, "to seek relief from effects of statewide staffing crisis," NEA-NM said in a news release.

The New Mexico Legislature is in session through Feb. 17 and is considering teacher raises and other education-related legislation during the 30-day budget session.

"Spending time with educators from all over the state allows us to see that our challenges and issues are common to all of us," said Centennial High School teacher and NEA-LC member Gail Wheeler, who attended the Santa Fe rally. "We need more support staff, we need to be compensated fairly and we need to have time to plan high-quality lessons. We aren't asking for anything unreasonable, but all school employees need to be treated with more respect."

"This moment is a crossroads for our states' decision makers," said NEA-NM President Mary Parr-Sanchez, a Las Cruces teacher. "We have the potential to harness the unprecedented resources available to our state and invest them in our future — in our students. We need a paradigm shift in the way our schools operate. Too many children are slipping through the cracks in our system. The overreliance on standardized tests and unfunded mandates drives educators out and deprive children from the education they deserve. We must invest in proven strategies for improving our schools, such as the community school model and early childhood education," Parr-Sanchez said.

NEA-NM said educators "focused on six priorities to address the current education crisis: better wages, affordable health insurance, smaller class sizes, improved staffing, more access to prep time, childcare and affordable housing.

"There are more than 1,000 vacant licensed positions and over 800 vacant education support professional positions across our state, and teacher vacancies are only the tip of the iceberg," NEA-NM said. "These 1,000 vacancies alone represent over 20,000 of New Mexico's students without a high-quality, well-trained, permanent classroom teacher."

"This is a challenging time for our nation," national NEA President Becky Pringle of Philadelphia said at the rally. "We are faced with multiple crises. And yet, here in the Land of Enchantment, I see hope — hope that New Mexico can come together behind a vision that recognizes the potential of our children to be the light that will lead us forward through these dark and challenging times."

Black history events continue through month

FROM AN NMSU NEWS RELEASE

New Mexico State University continues the celebration of Black History Month with events hosted by the Black Student Association (BSA) and Black Programs in collaboration with the NMSU and Doña Ana Community College libraries.

This year's theme is "Black to Black: Building Leadership, Advocacy, Community and Knowledge."

"The idea behind Black History Month this year was collaboration and community building. All of our events to some extent are some form of collaboration," said BSA President Ignacio Alvarado, a senior majoring in animal science.

"It was very important for us to help build a community that's more robust, inclusive, diverse and welcoming to all," Alvarado added.

Here are upcoming Black History Month events:

- DACC East Mesa campus library, 2800 Sonoma Ranch Blvd., continues screening documentaries focused on Black life in the Academic Resources Building, second floor. Upcoming are "Black Feminist," at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 16; and "Tulsa: The Fire and the Forgotten," 1 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 23.

- New episodes of "Worthy Wisdom Elder's Podcast" will be released every Thursday of the spring semester.

The podcast, produced by Alvarado and other BSA members, recognizes Black community leaders from Las Cruces. Visit blackprograms.nmsu.edu/index.html for links.

"In our community, and in most cultures, our elders are the legacy holders of knowledge and information," said Black Programs Interim Director Kimberly York. "Blacks here in Las Cruces have a very unique legacy and have made some very significant contributions."

- The Black Health Matters Fair is noon-2:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 17 via Zoom (ID: 93816131413).

Burrell College of Osteopathic Medicine, Aggie Cupboard, Casa de Peregrinos emergency food program, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of New Mexico and others will share health-related information and resources and there will be a 30-minute interactive exercise.

- Drummer Fred Simpson will headline an African drum and dance performance, "Creative Expression: An African Drum/Dance Experience," beginning at 6 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 17, featuring dancers from the NMSU Dance Program.

A limited number of guests can watch the performance in person at Rentfrow Hall, 3161 Williams Ave. To watch in person or remotely, email blackpro@nmsu.edu.

- A 1970s-themed, disco-skating party celebrating Black culture with food, fashion and music will be 5:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 25, at Spot Family Entertainment Center, 170 W. Picacho Ave.

All events are free and open to the public.

For more information about Black History Month, contact blackpro@nmsu.edu.

Looking at health care, education post-Covid

We've heard about Long Covid, the condition where people may face symptoms for a much longer time, possibly all their lives.

Our society may also feel long-term negative effects of the pandemic on two critical fields: health care and education.

The future of two of our most revered professions — teachers and nurses — is at risk.

Overwork, burnout, frustration, as well as their own battles with the disease, has led many teachers and nurses to leave the profession.

In a recent poll, more than half of the teachers who responded are considering leaving their jobs earlier than planned.

Teachers have always had to be many things to their students. The pandemic has forced them to be technology experts and deal with many student issues unrelated to actually teaching them.

When teachers get sick, there are fewer people available as substitutes. That's why, here in New Mexico, National Guard members have been activated to serve in that capacity.

With overloaded emergency rooms, nurses and health care workers have been slammed for two years.

When they get sick, there are even fewer qualified substitutes for teachers.

Overtime pay helps, but working 60-80 hours a week for two years is difficult even in the best conditions. When working daily among the sick and dying, along with all the other activities associated with the emergency room, the stress can be unbearable.

Of course, these aren't the only industries dealing with staffing and hiring issues. Almost every industry has been affected in some way.

However, if you have to wait a little longer for your order at Arby's, and they still messed up your order, I'm sorry, but that's simply not as important as a child waiting four hours with a broken arm.

Not only are we at risk of losing the current generation of educators and health care workers, millions of people who had considered these professions are now thinking twice. That could reduce our future pool of teachers and nurses.

The fear is many young people in high school or college will simply say, "It's not worth it."

The hope is, however, many young people will see the crisis as a call, and answer it. "There is a great need, and who can help solve it, if not me?"

That flame of hope might be fanned by some glimmers of positivity during the crisis.

Telemedicine, already advancing pre-pandemic, has shown excellent progress, and saved time and money for both patients and doctors. Of course, you'll never be able to eliminate emergency rooms; I mean, you can't fix that child's broken arm via telemedicine, but it does provide an option for many other purposes.

As medical technology continues to improve, doctors are more able to help people remotely, thanks to monitoring devices that are simple for patients to use and easy to transmit to medical professionals.

Online education also made strides pre-pandemic. Many people have gotten complete degrees through online education.

However, in my book, there's nothing like face-to-face teaching, especially for primary students. Our children, I believe, need that live, in-person warmth and care from a concerned, engaged teacher.

You could have seen this tax loophole from space

From the day in 2005 when the agreement between Bill Richardson and Richard Branson for what would later become Spaceport America was first announced, the business model for southern New Mexico has always been to separate wealthy tourists from their not-so-hard-earned vacation money.

"... First flights of a suborbital spaceliner (are) now planned in late 2008, early 2009," Virgin Galactic announced in a 2005 press release, the first of what would be many overly optimistic projections.

WALT RUBEL
The View

As the opinion page editor for the Sun-News at that time, I supported the spaceport, even though I understood it was a glorified playground for the super-rich. That support continued through the lean years after the fatal test flight in 2014, not because of my love for the super-rich. But I did, and still do, see the economic potential in bringing a whole bunch of them to town on vacation.

All of which makes the decision by the New Mexico Legislature not to tax the millionaires and billionaires who, I hope, will someday be launching from Spaceport America so perplexing ... and so insulting to the residents of Doña Ana and Sierra counties who continue to pay an increase in our gross receipts taxes for construction of a facility that was finished years ago.

A 2019 change to state tax rules reclassified space tourists as "payload," which is exempt from the gross receipts tax under a bill designed specifically for the spaceport, and not passengers, which are not exempt.

And so, while New Mexico residents pay gross receipts taxes on all the basic necessities, out-of-state billionaires blasting into space don't pay the tax. It must be the most regressive policy in the state's entire tax code.

A bill that would have closed the loophole was tabled in the

POST-COVID

Our state, and others, have made efforts to improve teacher pay, but conditions need to improve as well.

I like the idea of National Guard members serving as substitute teachers.

Why not expand that? Maybe do substitute teaching like jury duty. I think it would be healthy and enlightening for people from all professions and fields to spend a day or two each year in front of students in a classroom.

We need to be aware of these issues, then act. Otherwise, we could one day soon face a bigger, longer-term issue than we're already having with health care and education.

House Commerce and Economic Development Committee last week, based on arguments that the state had made a promise to Virgin Galactic right from the start, and now must keep that commitment.

Virgin Galactic executive Sirisha Bandla told House committee members that the loophole passed in 2019 had been anticipated 14 years earlier when the original deal was made.

If that's true, why wasn't it clearly spelled out in the original contract? Between Virgin Galactic and the state of New Mexico, it's hard to imagine how many attorneys and how many billable hours went into its drafting. Did they all just forget? Why the need for legal sleight of hand now, pretending that people are no different than scientific experiments tucked into the nose cone?

Opponents of the bill also argued that taxing the rich would stifle an industry that is still in its infancy.

This would be a good time to note that the price for a ticket has gone up from $200,000 in 2005 to $450,000 now. This, despite the fact the Virgin Galactic has yet to prove that it can deliver on its promise of safe, routine launches.

The notion that charging gross receipts tax will somehow deter those willing and able to pay $450,000 a ticket, or sour what will be a once-in-a-lifetime experience, is preposterous.

New Mexico taxpayers spent some $225 million to build the spaceport, and continue to spend $4 million a year for maintenance and operations, according to the bill's sponsor, Rep. Jason Harper. It's time that we started to see a return on that investment.

DANA 'LIZ' ELIZABETH YORK, 72

Liz was so eager to see Jesus face to face.

Liz was born in San Diego, Calif., on Feb. 24, 1949 to William Daniel and

DANA "LIZ" ELIZABETH YORK

Gertrude Elizabeth (Fields) York who both preceded her to heaven, as well as her sister Sandra Kathleen Conley. Liz is survived by her sister Barbara Ann Elliott, nieces, nephews and many friends.

Liz recognized that her purpose was to serve God. As a child she survived polio, but regained her ability to walk, though her eyesight was weakened. Liz attended Grossmont Junior College and made lifelong friends. She worked in retail, banking and helped run a motel with her sister, Sandra. She loved living throughout California and in Las Cruces. Liz moved to Las Cruces with her elderly parents and helped care for them.

Liz most of all loved her Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ and used her many talents to reflect her love for Him. She wrote, directed, acted and did make up for many productions in her communities and local Christian churches. Liz loved reading, traveling and supporting local productions. Her community service included serving as a judge for competitions, directing the talent event for Doña Ana County Senior Olympics and serving with Las Cruces Senior Citizens Corporation. Liz had a lovely voice and joined with friends to sing in various Las Cruces senior homes to help bring joy to those living there.

In 2014 Liz had a stroke that left her sightless, though many never realized she could not see those with whom she met. This meant that she was no longer able to read veraciously. Yet, she discovered a Christian television station that read the Bible and she listened intently. Liz became a prayer warrior and anyone could count of her to pray for them. Liz was a true friend to so many. Those who have committed their lives to Jesus will one day reunite with her in heaven and celebrate our Saviour.

The Celebration of Life is set for Saturday, Feb. 19, at 10 a.m. in Sierra Vista Community Church, 514 N. Telshor Blvd., Las Cruces, NM (behind the T-Mobile store).

JOSEPH WARREN POLLARD III, 88

Joseph Warren Pollard III passed away Sunday, Jan. 30, 2022, after a brief illness, surrounded by his family. Warren was born in Newbern, Alabama, Jan. 20, 1934, to Joseph Warren Pollard II and Helen Ayres Pollard.

He was delivered by his grandfather, Dr. Ayres, and grew up in a small community, attending a one-room schoolhouse taught by Miss Ida Mae Muntz. Although those were hard years before World War II, he regarded his childhood as idyllic and until his death recounted wonderful stories about the South.

JOSEPH WARREN POLLARD III

The first in his family to attend university, Warren enrolled at Alabama Polytechnical Institute (now Auburn University) where he graduated with a degree in electrical engineering. He joined U.S. Army as a Signal Corps officer and was soon sent to France for a NATO assignment where he met and married his wife, Heather, in Fontainebleau.

His many assignments included two tours in Vietnam, obtaining a master's degree in electrical engineering at the University of Arizona, a second NATO tour in then-occupied West Berlin and five years in the Pentagon where he was instrumental in guiding the TacFire program and working on the Patriot missile. He was then sent to White Sands Missile Range where he was promoted to full colonel and served as director of Missiles and Electronic Warfare.

His 28 years in the armed services included an Army Commendation Medal and a Bronze Star. But as a Signal Corps Officer, he was most proud of the combat infantry badge he earned during his second tour in Vietnam.

He retired from Army service in 1982 and taught electrical engineering at New Mexico State University for 14 years. Students said if you wanted to be an electrical engineer you had to pass Pollard's class.

After retirement from NMSU, he played golf at the NMSU Golf Course with his good golf buddies, and he also was very active with Habitat for Humanity, where he helped build many homes in this area. Despite being a Southern boy, he loved New Mexico, performing his duties all over the massive missile range, enjoying his home in the historic Alameda District and his regular consumption of green chile burgers.

He led a life of service to his country and was treasured by his family and friends. He is survived by his wife of 58 years, Heather, his two children Rebecca (Scott) and Howard (Jenifer), and four grandchildren, Lynden, Catherine, Graham and London. His daughter Elizabeth pre-deceased him.

There will be no immediate services due to Covid but a celebration of his life will be held in the spring for friends and family. He had the utmost respect for Habitat for Humanity International and the family asks that contributions be sent to the Las Cruces Habitat for Humanity, 720 N. Santa Fe Street, Las Cruces, NM, 88001.

Animal group hosts low-cost vaccine, microchip clinic Feb. 12

BULLETIN REPORT

ACTion Programs for Animals (APA) is hosting a low-cost microchip and vaccination clinic 9 to 11 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 12, at the APA adoption center, located at 537 N. Solano Drive.

APA will provide free Distemper, Adenovirus, Parainfluenza and Parvo (DAPP) vaccinations and free Feline Viral Rhinotracheitis, Calicivirus and Panleukopenia (FVRCP) vaccinations for Doña Ana County-area pets.

The free vaccines are made possible through Petco Love's national vaccination initiative, which is providing 1 million free pet vaccines to its existing animal welfare partners, including APA, for family pets in need, APA said in a news release.

Pre-registration is not required. The vaccines will be offered on a first-come, first-served basis. Any remaining vaccines will be distributed at subsequent clinics. Rabies vaccines, Bordetella vaccines and microchips will be offered at $15 each. APA is the only local low-cost clinic that offers three-year rabies doses when appropriate, APA said.

"We are grateful we're able to offer the free dog and cat yearly boosters to ward off common diseases, thanks to Petco Love," said APA Executive Director Michel Meunier. "We encourage pet owners in our community to take advantage of this special offer."

APA is only able to serve well-behaved dogs on leashes and cats in carriers. Anyone in need of a drive-up clinic should call the Mesquite Animal Vaccination Clinic at 575-650-2000.

APA also offers a pet food bank 1 to 3 p.m. the first and third Saturday of each month, also at its adoption center. Veterinary-care records and proof of low income are required.

Masks are required for anyone entering the APA building.

For questions about the vaccination clinic or pet food bank, leave a message at 575-571-4654, text 575-644-0505, email mail@apalascruces.org or visit apalascruces.org.

What is 811?

What is 811? It's a FREE phone call and service used when you want to put a hole in the ground and not a utility line. The majority of damage done to underground utility lines, such as gas or water, can easily be avoided by knowing where those lines are located. By calling 811 BEFORE you dig you avoid needless interruptions to you and your neighbor's services. Just remember to call 811 at least 2 days before doing any digging to ensure we can make it out to your location to locate our lines for FREE. It's FAST, it's FREE and it's the law!

As always, Zia personnel are available 24/7 for all natural gas emergencies. Call (575) 526-4GAS (427) if you have a natural gas emergency.

Emergency food, shelter agencies can apply for rescue grant funding

BULLETIN REPORT

Doña Ana County has been awarded $103,330 to supplement emergency food and shelter programs and $319,370 from the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA), the United Way of Southern New Mexico (UNWSNM) said.

A local board made up of the Salvation Army, the Catholic Diocese, UWSNM, Protestant Council of Churches and the private sector will determine how the funds are to be distributed among the emergency food and shelter programs run by local service agencies.

Under the terms of the award, local agencies chosen to receive funds must: 1) be private, voluntary nonprofits or units of government, 2) be eligible to receive federal funds, 3) have an accounting system, 4) practice nondiscrimination, 5) have demonstrated the capability to deliver emergency food and/or shelter programs and 6) if they are private voluntary organizations, have a voluntary board.

Public or private voluntary agencies interested in applying for funds can find qualifications and applications at www.uwswnm.org/efsp.

The deadline is Wednesday, Feb. 23. Applications and required attachments must be emailed to impact@uwswnm.org. Info: email Amanda Morales at impact@uwswnm.org.

What's Available NOW On

“Sneakerella”

(Feb. 18)

This modern twist on the classic tale is set in the avant-garde street-sneaker subculture of New York City and follows El (Chosen Jacobs, “Castle Rock”), an aspiring sneaker designer from Queens who must hide his talent from his overburdened stepfather and mean stepbrothers before finding salvation in Kira King (Lexi Underwood), the daughter of a basketball star. (ORIGINAL)

“Never Been Kissed”

(Available now) A plain-Jane newspaper editor (Drew Barrymore) of 25 gets to relive the indignities of her teens when she’s assigned to go under cover as a high school student. She finds it much more pleasant the second time around but it’s just too bad she can’t tell the teacher (Michael Vartan) she likes that she’s not really underage. David Arquette and Molly Shannon co-star in the 1999 comedy.

“Torn”

(Available now) From National Geographic and filmmaker Max Lowe comes this 2021 documentary about the deaths of his father Alex Lowe and his fellow climber David Bridges in a 1999 avalanche on the Tibetan peak Shishapangma and the complex relationships that resulted in Lowe’s family in the wake of the tragedy.

“Snow Dogs”

(Available now) Baby, it’s cold outside! Cuba Gooding Jr. stars as Ted Brooks, a dentist who inherits a team of sled dogs. But he’s from Miami, and the pooches like it chilly. The good dentist has to learn how to drive the team so he can win an important race; otherwise, he loses his canine colleagues to a rival. James Coburn co-stars in this 2002 family flick.

tonight's picks

LeToya Luckett

6 p.m. on LIFE
Movie: Line Sisters

This new thriller is set on the Outer Banks of North Carolina, where four sorority sisters — Valerie, Cassandra, Simona and Dominique — have reunited for a Black Greek Weekend celebration. The quartet had met years earlier when they pledged Alpha Beta Omega sorority together, but that's not the only bond they share: They're also somehow linked to the tragic death of a pledge 15 years ago. Soon after they arrive for this gathering, strange, sinister events begin to unfold. LeToya Luckett, Kierra Sheard-Kelly, Ta'Rhonda Jones and Drew Sidora star.

6 p.m. on BBCA
Attenborough's Global Adventure

When Sir David Attenborough was in his mid-eighties, many thought he had retired. Instead, he was embarking on a seven-year journey, revisiting some of the most astonishing landscapes and creatures on the planet, while making use of advanced technologies developed since his earlier exploration of each destination. What emerges in this new series of documentaries is Attenborough's new perspective on the natural world, shaped by decades of travel and study.

6 p.m. on EPIX
Movie: Wrath of Man

Director and co-writer Guy Ritchie teamed with action dude Jason Statham for the fourth time in this entertaining 2021 heist thriller, which casts Statham as a new cash truck driver with a shady past who reveals a suspiciously keen precision with guns when he foils an attempted robbery. As it turns out, he does, in fact, have a hidden motive involving a revenge scheme. Holt McCallany, Jeffrey Donovan,

Josh Hartnett, Laz Alonso and Scott Eastwood co-star in the film, which unfolds in four overlapping parts.

8 p.m. on TRAV
Kindred Spirits

A new episode called "Death Alley" takes Amy Bruni and Adam Berry, with their psychic medium colleague Chip Coffey, to small-town Morrilton, Ark., to investigate reports of eerie activity in the century-old Rialto Theater. Nervous members of the staff in that venue tell the visiting trio that a menacing shadow figure haunts the premises, but what makes them even more uneasy is their suspicion that the haunting is connected with a nearby alley, which is said to have been the site of multiple murders over the years.

9 p.m. on HBO
Movie: Cry Macho

Adapted from a novel by N. Richard Nash ("The Rainmaker"), Clint Eastwood's 2021 "neo-Western" casts the iconic 91-year-old actor as Mike Milo, an erstwhile rodeo star and washed-up horse breeder. Sideline by a serious back injury, Mike takes a job from his ex-boss (Dwight Yoakam) to go to Mexico and bring the man's son, Rafo (Eduardo Minnett), back home to Texas.

tonight's picks

Kamila Valiyeva

6 p.m. on KTSM
2022 Winter Olympics

Tonight in Beijing, women's figure skating gets underway with the short program, in which Russian teens Kamila Valiyeva and Alexandra Trusova are favored to dominate the podium. Team USA's best hopes lie with 16-year-old Alysa Liu, the two-time U.S. national champion and an up-and-coming star. Also here are the third and final runs of the two-man bobsled, the men's slalom in alpine skiing and the men's team pursuit in speed skating.

7 p.m. on KFOX
The Resident

During a gender reveal party, a tragic accident puts Jessica's (Jessica Miesel) brother-in-law in critical condition in the new episode "Viral." Meanwhile, Conrad, Irving and Trevor (Matt Czuchry, guest stars Tasso Feldman and Miles Fowler) work to help a social media influencer whose life is endangered following a risky cosmetic surgery. Elsewhere, Bell (Bruce Greenwood) is cleared to perform his first surgery since his return, and Billie (Jessica Lucas) must confront her past head-on.

8 p.m. on KRWG
American Experience

The new episode "The American Diplomat" chronicles the lives and legacies of three African-American ambassadors — Edward R. Dudley, Terence Todman and Carl Rowan — who rose above historical and institutional racial barriers to earn high-ranking appointments in the Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy presidential administrations. At the height of the U.S. civil rights movement, all three of these men were asked to personify the best in American ideals abroad even as they were confronted by discrimination back home, where the U.S. State Department was "pale, male and Yale."

8:30 p.m. on KVIA
black-ish

Dre (Anthony Anderson) is sent spinning into a gloom spiral after he finds out that a white co-worker (guest star Reid Scott) has a more formidable sneaker collection than he does in the new episode "Sneakers by the Dozen." Meanwhile, against the advice of Pops (Laurence Fishburne), Bow (Tracee Ellis Ross) lets Diane (Marsai Martin) skip school for the day. Marcus Scribner and Miles Brown also star.

9 p.m. on KRWG
Frontline

Civil rights scholars are very familiar with the sad fates of Emmett Till, James Chaney, Medgar Evers and four little girls in Birmingham, Ala., all of whom were slain in acts of racially motivated violence. The new episode "American Reckoning" takes an engrossing look at the U.S. civil rights era using rare archival footage and the story of a local NAACP leader's murder in Natchez, Miss.

9 p.m. on KVIA
Queens

In the Season 1 finale, "2022," the Queens are painfully aware of the void left by the absent Brianna (Eve) as they get ready for their induction into the Hip Hop Hall of Fame. Elsewhere, Naomi (Brandy) is waylaid by an old boyfriend who asks some pointed questions about JoJo's paternity, and Valeria (Nadine Velazquez) wrestles with self-doubt as she prepares to embark on her solo tour. Natori Naughton also stars.

9 p.m. on FX
Movie: Bloodshot

Based on a Valiant Comics character, this 2020 superhero action movie stars Vin Diesel as Ray Garrison, a Marine who is killed in action, then brought back to life with new superpowers by an organization that plans to use him as a weapon. Sam Heughan ("Outlander"), Eiza González, Toby Kebbell, Guy Pearce and Lamorne Morris also star in the film, which launched a projected cinematic universe with Diesel expected to reprise his role in sequels.

February is for Love and Perspective

By CAROLINE ZAMORA

February is one of my favorite months. I'm admittedly a huge romantic comedy movie genre fan. Seriously! Bring on the sub-par movie plots and unrealistic love stories because I will happily watch them. Also, the colors of February, red and pink, look great with my hair color and skin tone. While these reasons for enjoying the month of February may be laughable, the more important reason for enjoying this month is it reminds me to show appreciation for the people and things that I love.

This year I think we need a new or another reminder to take a break and remember why we do what we do. Professionally, maybe this is about why we go to work. Do I make an impact on a life today? Large or small impact on a life today, do I? Personally, have I spent the time I have with the people who bring my joy or doing the things that bring me joy?

 Ambassadors

Sometimes putting things in perspective can help me cope with stress or what others call 'feeling overwhelmed.' I think being overwhelmed can be a choice. When I'm taking time to think about what is important to me, professionally or personally, I know what to prioritize and commit my time to.

I think perspective is also important for our mental health. If you ask a human resource professional or read about what employees ask their employers for, it's mental health and behavioral health benefits. SHRM or the Society for Human Resource Management released an article in January titled "What Employees Want." Three concerns were expressed across all demographics.

They are physical health, mental health, and work/life balance. I think perspective for the people and things that you love can benefit all of these areas.

My perspective on physical health means a few things to me. My workout family, if you've ever spent time an hour of your day with people, you know they become part of your day, they become your friends, and maybe even your family. My friends and family who I share meals with me because fueling my body is important to physical health. The common denominator here is the people I chose to spend my time with.

2022 Board of Directors planning session

The Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors met on January 28 to begin our annual strategic planning for the year. A major part of the session was discussion of developing consensus around a few major focus areas for this year and into the future. The intention of the discussion was to develop areas where the Chamber can advocate to help move forward work that will benefit our community.

We had a great discussion that included topics such as supporting work to address the increasing level of homelessness in our community, working to help address the increase of crime in our community and continuing efforts to make our business community more vibrant for our existing businesses and more attractive to those seeking to start new businesses in our region.

These are all complex issues with no single, simple answer. The goal of the Chamber Board of Directors is to work alongside our community partners to work through the myriad issues and develop meaningful strategies toward acceptable outcomes. We will lend our support to work that will decrease the burden

FEBRUARY from | 1

My perspective on mental health is I'm pretty lucky to work for Aprendamos. At Aprendamos taking care of yourself is valued. From health care insurance plans with behavioral/mental health benefits and an employee assistance program, I know that taking a mental health day is valued and not chastised. That is so important when you need to talk to someone. My advice for any-of cost on our businesses that result from property crime and vandalism. We want to focus on creating and maintaining an environment where customers feel safe to patronize businesses and employees feel safe in and around their workplace. We applaud community efforts to provide educational opportunity to develop a well-trained and capable workforce. We will continue to advocate for policies that will help our businesses grow, thrive and generate new jobs for our growing community. We are constantly in competition with other communities as businesses decide where to invest their capital for growth potential. We endeavor to be a meaningful contributor toward making our region an attractive option for business to establish and thrive.

We will be continuing strategic conversations as a board over the next few weeks, focusing on specific areas over a series of meetings. We would invite you to connect with our board to discuss concerns or suggestions for the Chamber to consider. As always, we encourage participation through Chamber membership as we work together for our community.

one nervous about talking to a mental health provider is to give it a try. What I also know is if we don't take care of ourselves, we can't possibly be expected to take care of those we love.

My perspective on work-life balance is it should probably be called work-life harmony. Balance implies that work and life are equals. Harmony is a better word for what I'm describing. Some days work is 70-percent of my day, and life is 30-percent, and some days it's the opposite. So, finding that harmony for the work life and personal life that I love is really important to me.

So I hope that February helps remind you to find time and perspective for the things and people you love. And if you happen to wear more pink and red this month or watch a romantic comedy with loved ones, then so be it.

Leadership Las Cruces Criminal Justice Day

The 29th Leadership Las Cruces Class held its Criminal Justice Day Jan. 21. There were several speakers and events throughout the day. The morning started at Home Instead with our first speaker, Mr. Raymond Romero, from Carrillo Law Firm who spoke to the class about his current career as an attorney, as well as about his former career as a judge and prosecutor. Following Mr. Romero, we had Deputy Chief Kiri Daines from Las Cruces Police Department come and speak to the class about her career, the police department itself, and the LCPD Cares Program. We then had Ms. Christy Williams from the local Juvenile Probation and Parole Office who highlighted what her role was and she also provided the class with general knowledge of the program and how it works.

We then departed Home Instead and went to the local Border Patrol Office off Hwy 70 where we met with Mr. Victor Alvidrez and his team.

LEADERSHIP LAS CRUCES from | 3

The class received a tour of the facility, shooting demonstrations, and a very interesting briefing and demo of the K-9 unit. Lunch followed Border Patrol at The Game 2. Towards the end of lunch, we had Ms. Brandie White from Mesilla Valley CASA come speak to the class about the CASA program and how it worked.

After lunch we headed to the LCPD East Mesa Complex where we were greeted by Sgt. Erik Hechler and his team. They gave us a tour of the complex to include the Academy as well as provided the class with information on LCPD Swat Team followed by a Drone demonstration. The class was also able to look in the SWAT vehicle and take pictures. Following LCPD East Mesa Complex, the class headed to the Southern NM State Fairgrounds to meet with the Dona Ana County Sheriff's Office. Captain Jon Day and Sheriff Kim Stewart welcomed the class and gave us a real life Sheriff SWAT Team demonstration. Following the live demo, we toured their firearm range as well as had a live demonstration from DACSO Bomb Squad.

Although the day was full of activities and speakers, it went by fast and the class learned a lot about local law enforcement as well as the criminal justice aspect of Las Cruces and Dona Ana County. The day was very interesting and everyone learned a lot. Thank you Leo Lovett (U.S. Bank), Debra Clark (U.S. Army White Sands Missile Range/A TEC), Erin O'Donnell (Aprendamos Intervention Team, P.A.), and their facilitator Steven Jones for planning such a fabulous day!

“Movie: Big Bug”

Set in 2045 in a world where artificial dominates everyday life, this film comedy from France and director Jean-Pierre Jeunet (“Amelie,” “Micmacs”) follows four bickering suburbanites who find themselves stuck together when their androids take them captive in their home. Dominique Pinon, Elsa Zylberstein, Isabelle Nanty and André Dussollier head the cast. (ORIGINAL)

“Young Wallander: Killer's Shadow”

The second season of “Young Wallander” catches up with the Swedish inspector as he's tasked with investigating a seemingly straightforward hit-and-run that turns into something more when the victim is found to be connected to an infamous murder case eight years earlier. Adam Palsson stars as Wallander in a cast with Leanne Best, Tomiwa Edun, Ellise Chappell and Richard Dillane. (ORIGINAL)

“Movie: The Texas Chainsaw Massacre”

Nearly 50 years after his massacre, Leatherface still haunts the people of Harlow, Texas. In this sequel to the original 1974 horror flick, the only survivor of that attack, Sally Hardesty (Olwen Fouere, “The Survivalist”), is ready to take revenge on the cannibalistic killer, who it turns out is in hiding — but not for long. Alice Krige, Elsie Fisher and Nell Hudson also star. (ORIGINAL)

“Movie: Downfall: The Case Against Boeing”

Emmy Award-winning director and writer Rory Kennedy (“Ghosts of Abu Ghraib,” “Without a Net: The Digital Divide in America”) helmed this documentary that explores the root cause and human cost of the two Boeing 737 MAX crashes in 2018 and 2019 that killed 346 people. (ORIGINAL)

In Focus

“Better Things”

(FX — season premiere, Feb. 28)

Pamela Adlon begins her final run as a resourceful divorced mother raising three daughters on her own as this Peabody Award-winning dramedy series opens its fifth and final season. These last episodes focus on the road that lies ahead for her character, working actress Sam Fox, as well as the challenges of her fickle career and the increasing signs of aging her mother (Celia Imrie) has begun to exhibit — not to mention the toll the years have taken on Sam herself. Mikey Madison and Olivia Edward also star.

movie review

BY JAY BOBBIN

‘Fatal Attraction’ still warns powerfully of wrong affairs

To schedule a showing of “Fatal Attraction” on Valentine’s Day, someone must have a good — or at least macabre — sense of humor.

The famously disturbing 1987 melodrama about an ill-advised affair turns up Monday, Feb. 14, on Cinemax ... and watching it particularly on that occasion might nip some relationships in the bud. At the time, the subject matter landed stars Michael Douglas and Glenn Close on national magazine covers to illustrate detailed discussions of the movie’s theme, which the stars’ pairing remains representative of this many years later.

Director Adrian Lyne’s film casts Douglas as an attorney who meets book editor Close through work circumstances. While his wife and young daughter (Anne Archer, Ellen Hamilton Latzen) are away, one thing leads to another, and eventually to a one-night stand that Douglas’ Dan takes much more casually than Close’s Alex does.

As Alex tries to insinuate her way deeper into Dan’s life, he tries to make it clear that she doesn’t have a permanent place there, increasingly angering her. As she starts to lash out in various ways — one of them memorably involving the daughter’s pet rabbit — Dan fears he’s going to have to come clean to his trusting spouse about his infidelity.

The success of “Fatal Attraction” (which Paramount+ is turning into a series that will star Joshua Jackson and Lizzy Caplan) launched a number of movies for Douglas, also including “Basic Instinct” and “Disclosure,” about men making the wrong sexual choices. That well could have become his entire screen identity for years, had he not shown his diversity through such other roles as his Oscar-winning turn as ruthless business raider Gordon Gekko in “Wall Street.”

5 p.m. on TNT
The Game Plan

Shaquille O'Neal's prowess on the basketball court is well known, but he uses his equally formidable business acumen in this new docuseries as he guides and mentors small business owners in the Atlanta market. The series introduces six entrepreneurs who present their products, which run the gamut from streetwear to food and consumer packaged goods, to host O'Neal and such special guests as Killer Mike, Lisa Leslie, Big Boi and Quavo, who respond with business tips and advice on potential pitfalls to avoid. First up: Kultured Misfits, a streetwear brand.

8 p.m. on KFOX
Call Me Kat

Sheila (Swoosie Kurtz) has been feeling down in the dumps, so Phil (Leslie Jordan) joins her on a road trip to boost her spirits in the new episode "Call Me Cupcake." Fortunately, Oscar (Christopher Rivas) is only too happy to step up and fill in at the café, although it doesn't sit very well with Randi (Kyla Pratt). Elsewhere, Max and Carter (Cheyenne Jackson, Julian Gant) make a bet as they start a juice cleanse together.

11 p.m. on FREEFRM
grown-ish

Jazz (Chloe Bailey) is forced to grapple with cultural and personal perceptions and prejudices surrounding mental health as she resumes therapy after a series of setbacks in the new episode "OK Not to Be OK." Elsewhere, Zoey and Vivek (Yara Shahidi, Jordan Buhat) start spinning out as Aaron and Ana (Trevor Jackson, Francia Raisa) innocently reconnect over their past.

“Phat Tuesdays”

The story of how one man, Guy Torry, moved mountains to make an all-Black comedy night possible at The Comedy Store in Los Angeles in the 1990s — and how it became a breeding ground for today's top comics — is told through the accounts of Anthony Anderson, Tiffany Haddish, Steve Harvey, Regina King and others in this special. (ORIGINAL)

“The Marvelous Mrs. Maisel”

After being fired as Shy Baldwin's warm-up act at the close of Season 3, Midge Maisel (Rachel Brosnahan) decides she's done with being an opening act and tells manager Susie (Alex Borstein) to get her gigs with total creative freedom as this Emmy-winning comedy returns for its fourth round. Kevin Pollak, Marin Hinkle and Michael Zegen also return. (ORIGINAL)

“Lov3”

From Brazil and creator Felipe Braga (“Samantha!”) comes this comedy series about three siblings who are determined to experience love and relationships in a way that's far different from the conventional 30-year marriage of their parents. Elen Clarice, Bella Camero, Joao Oliveira and Drayson Menezes head the cast. (ORIGINAL)

“LOL: Last One Laughing Canada”

Jay Baruchel is host of this six-part Canadian version of the “LOL” international franchise, which like the others pits 10 funny men and women in a showdown to see who can make the others break into laughter with the last to maintain a straight face declared the winner. Caroline Rhea, Tom Green, Dave Foley and Colin Mochrie are among those competing. (ORIGINAL)

NMSU's 'Medea in LA' takes modern look at Greek tragedy

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

The New Mexico State University Theatre Department's production of "Mojada: A Medea in Los Angeles," opens Friday night, Feb. 18, for a two-weekend run at the ASNMSU Center for the Arts, 1000 E. University Ave.

The play has a preview performance at 5:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 17. Opening night is Friday, Feb. 18, at 7:30 p.m. Additional performances are at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 19, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 25-26, and 2 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 27, all at the ASNMSU Center for the Arts, 1000 E. University Ave.

Playwright Luis Alfaro "takes the Greek tragedy 'Medea' and sets it in Boyle Heights Los Angeles circa 2012-ish," said Theatre Department Associate Professor Larissa Medea sees the necessity to hold onto the culture that made her who she is. The struggle plays out over the fate of their son. "The play brings home how much what we see when we look at one another defines who we are, or who we're allowed to be in the world," Lury said. "If I look at you as a queen, treat you as a queen — you are a queen; if you see me as an 'alien,' I become one. Throughout the play, the characters name themselves and each other: 'house-keeper,' 'friend,' 'sister,' 'costurera' (seamstress), 'boss,' 'mi reina' (queen), 'her first and last,' 'just a door,' 'immigrant,' and the slur that gives the play its title. It is heinous to think of how easily we can strip one another of our identities, how we can dehumanize with the use of a word; and yet, it's also empowering to consider that changing the way we see one another can be a real act of transformation," she said.

Elia Vasquez "Medea," Bianca Castro "Josephina" and Dominique Gomez "Tita" rehearse NMSU Theatre Department's production of "Mojada: A Medea in Los Angeles."

Lury, the play's director. "In popular culture, it's the tragic end of Medea that folks tend to remember and reference; sometimes, we forget how much it is a story of a couple who have become 'foreigners,' and cannot return to their homelands." In "Mojada; a Medea in Los Angeles," Lury said, "Medea and Jason stand at opposing sides of what it will take to survive as immigrants to the U.S. Jason sees the need to assimilate into the culture he sees around him;

"Medea's family is from Michoacán, and Mexican culture, including Nahua culture, philosophy and spirituality, are central to the play," Lury said.

"The dialogue weaves Spanish and English in a way we're accustomed to in New Mexico and includes some Nahuatl as well. Working on the play has given us the gift of learning more about, celebrating and examining the heritage, cultures, languages, religions, practices, policies and world views that shape the characters in the play."

Lucia Carmona and Carlos Aceves, two of the founders of Raices Del Saber Xinachtli Community School in Las Cruces, "have generously consulted with us, helping us with the Nahua references in the play," Lury said.

The cast includes Elia Vasquez as Medea, Omar Moreno as Jason, Dominique Gomez as Tita, Bianca Castro as Josefina, Ashley Almada as Armida and Santiago Garzon

Husband, wife team will perform 'Love Letters' on Valentine's Day

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

No Strings Theatre Company (NSTC) presents "Love Letters" at 8 p.m. Monday, Feb. 14 at Black Box Theatre, 430 N. Main St. Downtown.

It will be performed by husband and wife and veteran Las Cruces actors Marissa Bond and Rafael Medina reading the roles of Melissa Gardner and Andrew Makepeace Ladd III in the play written by A.R. Gurney (1930-2017).

"It has been a number of years since NSTC last presented A.R. Gurney's enchanting reading," said BBT co-owner Ceil Herman. "The play has gained a unique reputation all over the United States and overseas owing to the celebrity casts who performed it throughout the 1990s."

Bond and Medina performed together in Las Cruces Community Theatre's "The Mousetrap" 10 years ago, and more recently in NSTC's "Nora," Herman said. In 2020, Bond (a former Las Cruces Bulletin writer and editor) directed Eugene Ionesco's "The Killing Game."

Herman called "Love Letters" "a truly unique and imaginative theater piece" which, in the words of playwright Gurney, "needs no theater, no lengthy rehearsal, no special set, no memorization of lines, and no commitment from its two actors beyond the night of performance."

The letters, as the actors read them, create an evocative, touching, frequently funny, but always

‘Little Miss Sunshine’ musical closes

The Las Cruces Community Theatre’s production of “Little Miss Sunshine, A Road Musical,” also closes this weekend after a three-weekend run.

The show has three remaining performances at Las Cruces Community Theatre, 313 N. Main St. Downtown: 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Feb. 11-12, and 2 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 13. Tickets are $17 for adults, $14 for senior citizens, students and members of the military and $10 for children. Reserve tickets at www.lcctnm.org/little-miss-sunshine.

The show is directed by Janet Beatty-Payne, with Amanda Bradford as musical director in addition to starring in the show. The cast also includes Jason Wyatt, Hyde Brown, Kayla Bradford, Amanda Bradford, James Boberg, Brandon Brown, Teddy Sanchez, Francesca Perez-Wright, Steven Trujillo, Maya Bradford, Marley Yerxa and Sofia Wyatt. Ginny May is the show’s accompanist and Kim Skaggs is the percussionist. Music and lyrics are by William Finn, with book and direction by James Lapine. The musical was adapted from the 2006 film of the same name.

'Lion King' director will visit during Las Cruces film fest

By ELVA K. ÖSTERREICH

Las Cruces Bulletin

Rob Minkoff, director of the original "Lion King" Disney film, has had a long and varied career in his field.

He began at the California Institute of the Arts in an animation program founded by Walt Disney and learned from Disney artists from the golden age of animation, Minkoff said. By the end of his second year with the program, he was invited to do an internship at Disney.

Honored to work with one of "Disney's Nine Old Men," Eric Larson, he learned the Disney approach to animation. Then, Minkoff was hired by the company and became not only an animator but also worked as a story artist, co-wrote a song and worked up to being a director.

While he left Disney in 1995, Minkoff has not slowed down completing numerous works ever since in many different capacities.

Films he has worked on include "The Great Mouse Detective,"

"The Brave Little Toaster," "Oliver & Co.," "The Little Mermaid," two Roger Rabbit shorts "Tummy Trouble" and "Roller Coaster Rabbit," "The Haunted Mansion," "The Forbidden Kingdom," "Mr. Peabody & Sherman" and both Stuart Little movies.

"I don't know what I love the most," he said. "It's been exciting to be able to do a lot of different things, work with so many different artists, exploring new avenues. I enjoy doing new things I haven't done before — climbing new mountains."

On March 4, the Las Cruces International Film Festival honors Minkoff with its "Outstanding Achievement in Directing" award. Minkoff will be on hand with his wife,

ROB MINKOFF

Crystal Minkoff, and will screen his box-office smash, the highest grossing 2D animated film of all time "The Lion King" at the Allen Theatres Cineport at 7 p.m. He also hosts a question-and-answer session with the audience following the film. Earlier, at 3:30 p.m., he will speak at the Cineport about his career.

Minkoff's newest project, "Blazing Samuri," which comes out later this year, takes some inspiration from the classic Mel Brooks film "Blazing Saddles."

"The thing about this new movie — it's very different," Minkoff said. "Our movie is a general audience comedy for everybody. It's a story about tolerance — about a dog who becomes a samurai in a world of cats."

The seventh Las Cruces International Film Festival takes place March 2-6 and will be live and in-person at the Allen Theatres Cineport. Tickets are available at www.lascrucesfilmfest.com.

Symphony backs Earth, Wind & Fire tribute band

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

With Conductor Emeritus Lonnie Klein raising the baton, the full Las Cruces Symphony Orchestra (LCSO) will perform live in its annual pops concert Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 12-13, backing the tribute band Serpentine Fire, who will perform the music of Earth, Wind & Fire.

Concerts will be at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 12, and 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 13, at Atkinson Recital Hall, inside the NMSU Music Building, 1075 N. Horsehoe St. on the NMSU campus.

Tickets are $46 to $51.

"I saw this band two years ago in (Las) Vegas," Klein said. "You play Vegas; you've got to be good. I was really knocked out with their playing and their singing."

Serpentine Fire charts for the concert will be "just like when Earth, Wind & Fire recorded these tunes in the '70s, '80s and 90s," said Klein, who is returning to conduct LCSO for the first time since his retirement last June.

Klein said Serpentine Fire will perform all of Earth, Wind & Fire's most popular hits, including "Shining Star," "That's the Way of the World," "Can't Hide Love," "September," "After the Love Has Gone" and "Star."

"I'm pretty excited about it," Klein said. "It will be a nice Valentine-package weekend: Take your date out, have a nice meal and come to the symphony and be ready to rock and roll!"

Klein said the concert lasts two hours, so people who attend on Sunday will be home in time to watch the Super Bowl.

Klein said great seats are available for both concerts.

For tickets, visit lascrucesymphony.com and click on either Feb. 12 or Feb. 13 to buy tickets, or call 1-877-466-3404.

NMSU nonprofit plans online auction

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

The American Southwest Theatre Company (ASTC), the nonprofit that benefits the students of the New Mexico State University Theatre Department, is asking for the donation of items to be included in an online fundraising auction.

Mesilla Valley Estate Sales will conduct the auction in partnership with ASTC in March.

"We are currently looking for donated auction items such as jewelry, art, pottery, furniture, restaurant or services gift certificates and other items for the auction," said ASTC Board President Denise Welsh.

If you have items to donate, contact Welsh at 575-642-2980. ASTC will make arrangements to have your items picked up.

Welsh said donations can also be services, including free or reduced-price dental exams; massage or chiropractic work; manicures, pedicures and nail-salon work; hair cutting and styling; and much more.

“The work the actors are doing is remarkable,” Lury said. “Only two weeks into the rehearsal process, I find myself on a roller-coaster ride through the humor, love, and trauma the story demands; they are honoring the story and deepening their telling of it with every rehearsal.

“I expect audiences to recognize the characters in this play as people we know, as ourselves,” she said. “There’s pain in that recognition, but there’s a lot of humor too. I hope that in seeing our reflections when looking at Alfaro’s characters, we take away new insights that might shift the way we see one another — just a little bit. Maybe that shift is the kind of transformation that allows us each to value ourselves and each other enough to recognize that we do not exist without one another.”

The show’s crew includes: set and lighting design, Jim Billings; assistant lighting design, Alia Belinte; costume and prop design, Chloe Cappuccilli; sound design, Jim Wilkin-son; assistant directors, Dominique Gomez and Edward Goldstein; and co-stage managers Mike Wise and Luis Castro.

Tickets are $20 for adults, $16 for senior citizens, $12 for students and $8 for under age 18. Tickets for the Feb. 17 preview performance only are $10 for the general public and are free for NMSU students and staff.

The play was first performed at the New York Public Library, with Gurney and Holland Taylor reading Ladd and Gardner. It opened on stage at the Long Wharf Theatre in New Haven, Connecticut in 1988 with

Well-meaning investment mutual funds won't save the planet

A fad on Wall Street is the creation of investment funds that promise to invest in companies that have desirable environmental, social and governance attributes. These sorts of funds are very popular. Principles for Responsible Investment, a United Nations-backed non-government organization, recently announced, for example, that signatories to its standards have $121 trillion of assets under management. This represents most of the world's managed money.

The appeal is obvious. People want to earn a decent return and they want to feel good about themselves as they are doing

CHRIS ERICKSON
State of the Economy

it. Want to earn 8 percent while fighting global warming, invest in a climate fund. Concerned about labor conditions, invest in a fund that promises to invest in companies paying a living wages. Any cause you can think of, there is a responsible investment fund for that.

The hope is that by funding responsibly run companies, those companies will be able to gain more market share, displacing unethically run companies. The problem is this doesn't work in a capitalist system.

The reasons are straightforward. In a capitalist system, businesses seek out profit opportunities.

Where those opportunities exist, they will be exploited regardless of moral appropriateness. People often justify their actions with the comment that if they hadn't done it, someone else would have. While this is hardly an excuse for polluting the atmosphere or hiring child labor, in fact, in a capitalist economy, it is nevertheless a correct assertion. There is always someone willing to exploit profit opportunities even when they are unethical.

Refusing to hold an asset does little good as the asset is still owned by someone and that someone continues to operate the unethical business underlying the asset. Indeed, because the asset is undervalued, the ultimate acquirer may earn outside profits to compensate for any guilt they might feel. To wit, cigarette stocks have for many years paid an above market return, the extra lucre assuaging moral qualms of the shareholders.

Suppose a philanthropist billionaire decided to buy the undesirable businesses, then close them permanently. This won't work either. Competitors will expand to serve the orphaned clientele of the closed business. The profit motive will incentivize these businesses to adopt the same questionable practices as the now defunct former competitor.

If our goal is to stop undesirable behavior by private profit seeking businesses, the answer is not responsible investment funds nor is it welling-meaning billionaires. Rather, what needs to happen is to make bad behavior unprofitable. That takes government regulation.

If we want to stop global warming, for example, the answer is to make the emission of greenhouse gases unprofitable. Once that is done, businesses will soon find ways to avoid emitting. Cap-and-trade is my preferred approach, but a carbon tax would work also. The implementation of either cap-and-trade or a carbon tax requires government regulation and enforcement. The market can't do it without government intervention.

Feel-good responsible investment funds won't work as long as there is profit in irresponsible and unethical business practices. While most businesses people are moral people who want to do what is right, where there is profit, that is to where investments will flow and there is profit in pollution, child labor and exploitation.

If you really want to save the planet, work to establish government regulation that take the profit out of irresponsible investment.

Santa Teresa company gets state job training funds

BULLETIN REPORT

Franklin Mountain Packaging, LLC (FMP), located at 401 Avenida Ascension in Santa Teresa, was approved in January to receive $776,384 in state Job Training Incentive Program (JTIP) funds to provide an average wage of $18.09 an hour to 69 company trainees, the New Mexico Economic Development Department (NMEDD) said in a news release.

provider of unique digital printing services for the corrugated box-making industry," FMP said on its website, www.fmbox.com.

"FMP will target sheet converting plants in the southwestern U.S. and the maquiladoras and Mexican domestic market."

FMP was one of 12 New Mexico companies to receive JTIP funds during the JTIP board's Jan. 14 meeting, NMEDD said, and the only company in southern New Mexico to receive funding. About $3.5 million was awarded to support 183 trainees and two interns at the companies, the news release said.

"All 12 JTIP recipients are either science/technology based or have developed innovative manufacturing," NMEDD said.

Scooter's Coffee to open in Las Cruces

BULLETIN REPORT

Scooter's Coffee, LLC, an Omaha, Nebraska-based coffee franchise, will add drive-thru coffee locations in Las Cruces, the company said in a news release.

The expansion into Las Cruces is the result of a three-unit franchise agreement signed by Jamie and Matt Yeager of Las Cruces, the news release said. The first of the Yeagers' three franchises is tentatively scheduled to open in May 2022, with the second opening nine months later, and the last nine months after that, Scooter's said.

Founded in 1998 by Don and Linda Eckles in Bellevue, Nebraska, Scooter's Coffee specializes in artisan espresso drinks, fruit smoothies, baked-from-scratch pastries and features its signature drink, the Caramelicious, Scooter's said.

The company has more than 400 stores operating across 23 states and commitments to open stores in 30 states, Scooter's said.

December 2021 Market Statistics

One month into 2022 and the state of Las Cruces real estate is strong. Despite speculation regarding a federal rate hike in the next month and record single family home prices, Las Cruces homes are selling and for top dollar. Many contributing factors include a strong builder market, steady to low inventory, low interest rates and an influx of relocation buyers from northern and midwestern states and they are bringing cash. Many of today's borrowers have shown to apply with stronger credit scores, good down payments and the ability to cover closing costs without seller assistance. Post-pandemic stats show one of the strongest sellers markets we have seen in decades.

Raring to go: County Senior Games return after two years' hiatus

By DAVE BURGE

Las Cruces Bulletin

After two years of the Covid-19 pandemic, it is time to get active again.

That's the message from organizers of the 2022 Doña Ana County Senior Games.

The games, organized by the Doña Ana County Senior Olympics organization, will run from March 12 through April 30 at different venues across Las Cruces.

This marks the return of the county games for the first time in three years.

The games were canceled after just two events in 2020 and were not held last year, organizers said.

"We've been down for two years and we are excited to get back involved," said Paul Fetterhoff, president of the Doña Ana County Senior Olympics.

Ann McPhee, the organization's vice president, said participating is an excellent way to improve your mental and physical health and socialize while doing it.

Anyone 50 years old or older can participate. There will be 19 different sports, including pickleball, table tennis, road racing, bowling, archery, track and field, race and power walking, golf and air gun shooting.

The cost is $20 to register and $5 for each sport you want to participate in. There is a $10 fee for Fun and Rec, which is a series of four events, and additional fees for bowling and golf.

You don't have to live in Doña Ana County to participate, and they get athletes from west Texas and other states, Fetterhoff said.

A kickoff and registration event will be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 12 at the Munson Senior Center, 975 Mesquite Street.

You can also register online at dacso.fusesport.com/registration/1530/. You can register in person by dropping by the Doña Ana County Senior Olympics office at 2211 N. Main, Suite 1, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays, starting Feb. 14.

"We want to get everyone back to being healthy," Fetterhoff said.

"We are raring to go and get people out here, running and having a lot of fun," he said.

All local and state Covid regulations will be followed. Most events are outdoors.

The state Senior Olympics will be held in Las Cruces June 8-11. The state games are organized by the New Mexico Senior Olympics organization.

For information on the county games, visit dacso-nm.org or call 575-288-0750.

Anxious moments: Many golfers struggle with performance anxiety

Let's talk about anxiety. Perhaps, an overused and misunderstood term in today's culture, anxiety is a mental and emotional reaction and condition that goes well beyond simple "worry," and becomes a serious issue that often impairs well-being and behavior.

There are over a dozen psychiatric disorders with anxiety as the basic element, from panic attacks to acute stress to PTSD. But here we're focused on low to moderate levels of anxiety as it affects a golfer's (and other's) performance. We can define anxiety as the apprehensive anticipation of future danger or misfortune accompanied by feeling of nervousness and/or physical symptoms of tension. For golfers and other athletes, a sense of anxiety — some call it dread — can be persistent, and ever-present, but generally it is brief and situational, like teeing off before a crowd of onlookers. Mostly, the person becomes unsettled and unable to think clearly. Even pro golfers struggle with anxiety, like PGA Tour star Bubba Watson. "I was so worried about what others believed about me that I wasn't acting like the person I wanted to be," said Bubba in Guideposts February 2022.

CHARLIE BLANCHARD

Several years ago, when I was asked to coach Heather (not her real name), a 15-year-old high-school golfer with ample talent and a burning desire to do well, her mother offered that she was the best player on her team, but there was "something holding her back." After several conversations during coaching sessions, it became painfully evident that Heather was seriously hurting herself with anxiety that went beyond random. (You may be able to relate to feelings she did disclose.)

She was quick to admit that she often felt "edgy" and inadequate when things went wrong, and she especially fretted under any kind of pressure, like having to make an important par-saving putt late in her round. I asked her to tell me what was going through her thoughts before a pressure putt. "I just think, this will be so embarrassing when I miss," she shared candidly.

Hers seemed to be a classic case of self-sabotage, the kind that causes grown adults to avoid taking good jobs because they can't stand the thought of having to give a speech. As the situational stress mounted, Heather described it this way: "I get all tight and then I can't even think." At that point, with a putter or a wedge in her hands, she has no chance to make a high quality shot. Often the problem lies under the surface, below one's threshold of awareness.

As I probed further it turns out that there were several variations on Heather's "I'm a fool" theme, but they all seemed to boil down to one recurring thought: "Everyone will see I'm a loser." Again, a common theme for young and old alike. I noted the emerging root of self-esteem, that mom didn't realize was holding her back. "What would a badly missed putt suggest to you," I gently asked. Hesitating she replied, "Then, they will know how awful I really am." "And what would that mean?" I continued. "I let Mom down. That I'm a failure, a horrible person, I guess," she poured forth, tears now streaking down her cheeks. Her unreasonable thoughts had taken hold of her. And taken hold of her performance, as well as dampened the talent she already had.

NM State men hoops move into first place

The New Mexico State men's basketball team beat visiting Seattle U 79-64 Saturday, Feb. 5 in what turned out to be a one-sided showdown for first place in the Western Athletic Conference.

The Aggies improved to 19-3 overall and 9-1 in conference play to take over the top spot in the WAC standings.

Teddy Allen had 33 points and 11 rebounds to lead the Aggies, and Johnny McCants added 12 points and 12 rebounds. Yuat Alok added 11 points.

NM State has now won four straight games and the Aggies extended their conference home winning streak to 31 games.

NM State beat visiting Cal Baptist 68-57 Thursday, Feb. 3.

Allen had 22 points in the win over Cal Baptist. Jabari Rice had 16.

The Aggies have now ended their longest WAC homestand of the season and will now hit the road for five of their next six games. NM State was scheduled to play at Dixie State in St. George, Utah, Thursday, Feb. 10. That game was past our deadline.

They will then travel to Orem, Utah, for a game with Utah Valley Saturday, Feb. 12. Tipoff is at 2 p.m. and the game is slated to be shown on ESPN+.

ANXIETY

submerging thoughts and feelings, seems to plague golfers just like sadness follows regrets. For many it's a different, more exaggerated sense of worry than we would have in everyday life. It seems that some anxiety is part of the package of life.

It's a natural byproduct of having a brain that is capable of such high-wire acts as considering the future. A little anxiety is good, even necessary, and a great motivator to get us to play well and perform ably. Yet too much anxiety can be self-defeating, and anxiety-caused panic downright disabling.

Whether it's in sport or in the office, performance anxiety is characterized by a pattern of frequent, agonizing over specific activities and events.

Fortunately for Heather she had friends, did well in school and was a normal teenager, with her anxiety flare-ups usually confined to golf.

Las Cruces Utilities Takes to the Sky

By Cassie McClure

When capturing the big picture of a project, it helps to get the 30,000-foot view. A little closer to the ground, Las Cruces Utilities (LCU) now will be able to get the aerial view of projects with two new drones. The drones will help with project management, and perhaps more in the future, and Natural Gas & Energy employees were the first to get the training.

“The training was for the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) 14 CFR Part 107. This commercial certification is required by the FAA to utilize Unmanned Aircraft (UA) in what’s considered commercial use,” said Kuker-Ranken Incorporated Reality Capture Specialist Brady Reisch. “I am confident LCU will be successful in implementing their new aircraft to document existing conditions and progress reporting.”

Reisch explained that the training covered the rules and regulations for UA within the National Airspace System (NAS). Because UA and manned aircraft share the skies, both need to be aware of airspace classifications, traffic patterns of manned aircraft, ability to read sectionals, and reading weather reports while also understanding the effects of different weather on aircraft performance.

“The drones will help our communication with contractors and will be a great use for documentation of progress on projects,” said LCU Gas Locating/Mapping Supervisor Joe Atencio. While crews will still need to go to the street to locate and mark lines, those markings can be documented for contractors to ensure that the record of the location is kept, even if the ground that is marked might be dug up during the project. LCU started with the Gas employees to help with project management, but other uses could become available with different training and upgrades.

LCU Training Safety Coordinator Jeff Griffith holds one of the two LCU drones that will enable better project management for now, could help LCU in future to provide even more efficient services for LCU customers.

“It’ll give the crews more oversight on how a project might integrate with different areas and allow us to plan for related projects,” said LCU Deputy Director Natural Gas & Energy Lucio Garcia. “But in the future, with more adaption and training, we may be able to use it for leak detection or calculate the emissions from different areas in town. However, right now, it’s a way to have projects aided with all the knowledge they need to do work more effectively.”

“We want our team to learn the newest and most efficient technologies used in the utility industry across the country,” said LCU Director Delilah Walsh. “Keeping our employees at the forefront of their skills will match our ability to provide the best and lowest cost services we can to our customers.”
