Spring (football) is in the air

BULLETIN PHOTO BY ELVA K. ÖSTERREICH

Spring is here and with it comes .... football!?!?!? The Aggies have jumped into 15 days of spring practice authorized under NCAA rules. These spring sessions are viewed as critical as college football teams prepare for their fall seasons. This year, NM State has a little different look under new coach Jerry Kill, who took over the program last November. Kill brings a reputation as a fixer of college football programs. For more on spring practice and the Aggie men's basketball team's run in the NCAA tournament, see stories on page 30.

Better checking and a brighter future.

LCPS adopts 'balanced calendar' with July start

FROM A LAS CRUCES PUBLIC SCHOOLS NEWS RELEASE

Citing an unprecedented opportunity to do what is best for students, the Las Cruces Public Schools Board of Education voted March 15 to adopt a balanced calendar for the 2022-23 school year.

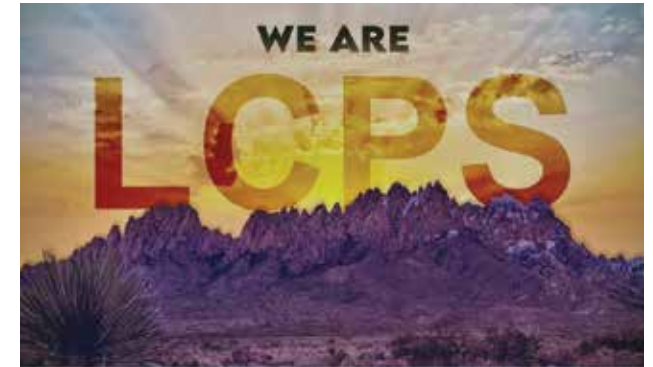

The option was one of two choices presented to the board, supporting an additional 10 days of enriched learning time for students. It includes a 3 percent pay increase for educators, which comes in addition to the 7 percent pay increase passed by the New Mexico legislators and signed into law by Gov. Michelle Lujan Grisham earlier this year.

The biggest difference between the two options the board voted on was summer breaks.

The traditional calendar included an eight-week summer break; the balanced calendar provides a six-week summer break and one- and two-week breaks scheduled throughout the school year to address burnout and pandemic-related trauma reported by educators and families.

The 2022-23 school year starts July 21, 2022. Kindergarten, sixth- and ninth-grade students will start classes July 20 to allow for a smooth transition. Transition dates for pre-kindergarten will begin Tuesday, May 10, for children and families to learn about kindergarten.

"Our board has set the course for doing something different for students that this district has never done before," LCPS Superintendent Ralph Ramos said. "The time is now, and the success of this plan happens through shared leadership and collaboration with our unions, parents and students to do what's best for kids."

"We have an opportunity to foster innovation," said LCPS Board President Ray Jaramillo. "We get hammered that we are 50th in the nation when it comes to education, yet we don't want to do anything to change it. I hope that after we finish talking (about the calendar options), we know how lucky we are to have millions of dollars available to us to make this happen."

"We have been through so much in this pandemic," board member Pamela Cort said. "Opportunities like these show our commitment to students to bring a diverse curriculum inside our classrooms. Our community will rally around education."

"These student programs truly help us grow our own future workforce," board member

Carol Cooper said. "Kids get to literally put their hands on learning. That does not always happen inside a traditional classroom."

"Like everyone else on the board, I received a tremendous amount of feedback from families about these options," board member Bob Wofford said. "Any decision we make will not be ideal for everyone, but as a board, we are committed to ensuring the success of all students. This is the first step in that direction."

"It doesn't happen that easy," board Vice President Teresa Tenorio said, "and we've experienced it as we re-engaged with students coming out of remote learning. What I see is an opportunity that will bring students to the classroom with enthusiasm."

Tenorio also expressed concern about accommodating parents who addressed the board at the March 15 meeting and in emails about prior commitments that were made when school was expected to start in August. The

Sheriff running for re-election to finish what she started in 1st term

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

Doña Ana County Sheriff Kim K. Stewart is running for re-election in 2022 “to see through some things” she implemented in her first term.

Stewart defeated incumbent sheriff Enrique “Kiki” Vigil and three others in the June 2018 Democratic primary and defeated Republican Todd Garrison, who had previously served 10 years as sheriff, in the November general election.

“I’ve changed a whole lot in three years,” Stewart said. “I believe the changes are good for the county.” Stewart said she would like to serve a second four-year term to cement those changes into the culture of the Doña Ana County Sheriff’s Office (DASO).

The 2022 election, Stewart said, “is about moving us forward or keeping us back.”

It took the first 1 1/2 years of her term to “bring us back to some type of thoughtful operation,” she said.

Stewart said she inherited “a blank canvas” when she became sheriff Jan. 1, 2019, as “no attention had been paid” to DASO’s budget or organizational structure. The office also had “a mass of computer platforms no one knew how to use,” she said.

Before she took office, Stewart said, DASO’s records management system was using only about 15 percent of its capacity. As she begins her fourth year as sheriff, Stewart said that figure is now 85 percent.

The department was short 32 deputies when she started, Stewart said, and is now at full capacity. With 20 slots kept open for newly trained cadets, DASO has 137 deputy positions, she said, 193 total employees and an annual budget of $24.8 million.

Before she became sheriff, Stewart said DASO “had been doing weekly budget transfers” to manage its budget. Now, she said, the department is doing five transfers a year, and is growing despite a flat budget. Stewart said she also has increased departmental training, started a peer support program and created an organizational chart “to reflect our adaptability and flexibility.”

Stewart said her staff just completed the first update of DASO policies and procedures in more than 20 years, covering more than 140 policies governing best practices for the department and vetted to state and national court rulings.

“The detail in it is remarkable,” Stewart said, not only in terms of each policy but also “how they relate to other policies,” she said.

Part of the motivation to do the policy update, Stewart said, was feedback from deputies, who told her, “We’re not on the same page; we’re not sure what we should be doing and what we shouldn’t be doing,” the sheriff said.

Within the next two years, Stewart said she is hopeful DASO will become one of only a handful of law enforcement agencies in the state that is certified by the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies, Inc. That accreditation will make DASO policies and procedures “a living document,” the sheriff said, by keeping it updated on the latest court rulings impacting law enforcement.

Stewart said DASO was also the first sheriff’s office in the state to adopt a pandemic protocol.

The sheriff said it took 2 1/2 years to purchase rapid-DNA-testing technology for DASO. Integrating that kind of science and technology enhances “good old-fashioned police work,” she said, so the department has “everything at our disposal to solve crime.”

DASO has also upped the number of major crime categories it reports to the FBI from 12 to more than 40, Stewart said, and has significantly reduced the number of reporting errors.

“I’ve seen how these changes had such a positive effect on our ability to provide service,” she said.

Promotions within DASO are now based on who is best for the job, Stewart said, instead of the old way of promoting because of “who you know.”

Stewart said she is proposing “a bold budget” for the coming fiscal year that would restore the DASO criminalistics unit that was eliminated a decade ago. Stewart said she expects the county give raises to county employees, including DASO.

“I am frankly sick of hearing, ‘We don’t have the money,’” Stewart said. “We have the money.”

Even though “county

For Las Cruces Utilities, Safety is a Priority

By Cassie McClure

Organizational safety requires the ability to train staff and contractors, inspect workplaces and machinery, and investigate incidents. It also requires a dedication to building the awareness and culture of safety from the ground up. Las Cruces Utilities (LCU) is investing in employee and public safety with its first centralized safety coordinator, an addition to LCU's strategic business plan for the upcoming fiscal year.

LCU Training Safety Coordinator Case Van Dyke has been with the City of Las Cruces (CLC) for nearly a decade but is returning to his safety roots. After a career in the Air Force, in which safety took up fifteen of his 23 years, Van Dyke grew more decades of safety experience with Boeing, NASA, Jacobs Engineering, and in the public sector. "After the Challenger disaster happened, NASA wanted as many safety specialists at the Kennedy Space Center as possible," said Van Dyke, who worked as a contractor for the safety of orbiter payloads.

In a search for a less humid climate, Van Dyke came to El Paso as a NASA site safety manager. After a stint in New Orleans, he looked back to the desert. "I made Las Cruces home but lasted about one year in actual retirement – then started working for the City as a safety officer," he said.

He recalled a success for city workers was as simple as watching them in action. "I had a supervisor come to me to say that his crew kept having shoulder issues," he said. "We walked through their routines and realized they were taking equipment out of the back of their truck beds, up and over the tailgate. Once we installed a sliding drawer in the truck bed, the injuries decreased."

As Van Dyke transitioned to LCU, his focus was on the certified training for natural gas employees and contractors. He is also working with contractors on-site and ensuring they have the proper certifications to work on public infrastructure.

"At every organization, it's important to create and enhance the culture and awareness of safety. This position, to consolidate all safety oversight for all areas, allows LCU to ensure that annual training is timely and tailored to the exact needs of different crews," said Van Dyke.

"Our own safety officer and safety program has been a priority since I started as the LCU Assistant Director," said LCU Director Delilah Walsh. "Case's experience will lend a deep measure of security not only for our employees, but for the services that the public relies on as well."

Van Dyke's priorities include a deep dive into all the spaces and routines throughout LCU, walking through work areas to find the common "slip and fall" hazards.

"LCU training material will not be off the shelf but specific to the needs of the crews and our customers," said Van Dyke. "It's important to work with and trust those in the job. I want to make their day-to-day safer and, if possible, more efficient."

LCPS school board takes bold action

Here's a statistic you probably don't know, and it's one in which New Mexico ranked No. 1 in the U.S., and it's actually a positive category.

In 2019-20, the state of New Mexico ranked No. 1 in the country in the increase of spending, per student, on its public education.

According to figures from the National Education Association, in 2018-19, we spent $11,315 per child in school, which made us 34th in the nation in spending. The next year, 2019-20, we spent $12,793 per child, which moved us to the top half in the country, at 24th in the nation.

That increase, a rise of 13 percent, was the No. 1 percentage increase in America.

Since my arrival in New Mexico in 1995, we have regularly been in the middle of the pack nationwide when it comes to per-student spending.

Unfortunately, we've also regularly hovered in the bottom five when it comes to student outcomes.

RICHARD COLTHARP
From the Publisher

While I applaud that big increase in 2019-20 it came, at least in part, in response to a lawsuit — Yazzie/Martinez v. State of New Mexico — that took our state to task for the poor job it was doing providing programs and resources needed to help students accomplish basic skills and aptitudes, particularly low-income, Native Americans and other challenged students.

The lawsuit cited our state's 70 percent high-school graduation rate, worst in the country, and the fact 70 percent of New Mexico students can't do reading, writing and arithmetic at their own grade levels.

I will add here that, in Las Cruces, our graduation rates are significantly higher than that, thanks in large part to a communitywide effort, more than a decade ago, to do something about it.

Throwing money often at problems often, but certainly not always, makes a difference. It all depends on how the money gets spent.

What's our problem here in New Mexico? Is it because, historically, a large number of our residents did not receive a lot of education? Is it because of our systemic poverty and myriad issues associated with that? Is it because low salaries hurt us when trying to attract good teachers? Is it because some of our teachers aren't trained as well as they could be? Is it because some students just don't care? Is it because some parents don't know how to help? Is it because our state's high rate of hunger hurts students' focus?

All of those factors and more play a role.

Enter the Las Cruces Public Schools Board of Education.

The state and, by extension, the school board are flush with funds this year, thanks primarily to the increased value of oil and gas, which generates copious tax revenues to help fund our education system.

The board made two major decisions at its most recent meeting.

First, they gave teachers a 3 percent pay increase, which is added to the 7 percent raise legislators gave all the state's teachers. That's a 10 percent increase total.

Second, they will implement a "balanced" or "year-round" school calendar starting this July.

The year-round calendar is nothing new. About 4 to 5 percent of the nation's schools do this.

The number of summer days off are reduced, and some extra days and weeks off are sprinkled throughout the year.

SEE BOLD, PAGE 7

An important first step for police reform, but more is needed

Las Cruces residents joined with Americans throughout the nation during the summer of 2020 in protests demanding police reform.

While protests in other cities turned violent and destructive, ours were peaceful and respectful. Which isn't surprising, given the generally positive relationship between police and our community.

But that respect should not be confused for a lack of purpose or determination for real reform.

WALT RUBEL
The View From Here

Some protesters were misguidedly calling for abolition of the police, but most were seeking a more thoughtful approach and a new understanding of when and how that force should be used.

The new crisis intervention units being established through the Las Cruces Fire Department are a terrific first step toward that new vision. Teams will include a firefighter who is a certified EMT and a mental-health provider. A licensed clinical social worker will serve as coordinator.

They will be authorized to respond to five different types of calls that would have previously gone to police: welfare checks, intoxication, overdoses, suicide attempts and behavioral issues. Our emergency system handles an average of about 700 calls a month dealing with those issues. Transferring those duties away from police will free officers to focus on more serious crimes and reduce incidents where a call for help results in lethal force being used.

The city had planned to only have the teams available six days a week for part of the day, but is now considering doing more.

It will be money well spent. If we're going to make real change, it can't be a part-time commitment.

Here in Las Cruces, MacArthur and Booker T. Washington elementary schools used this calendar for a number of years before switching back.

J. Paul Taylor Academy, a Las Cruces charter school whose students range from kindergarten to eighth grade, has used a balanced calendar since its inception.

A lot of parents are upset about this change.

From the people I've talked with, the anger comes not necessarily from the plan itself, but from the timing.

By starting the new schedule this year, it will interrupt some of the summer plans families have already made.

Fans of the balanced calendar say it helps prevent the "summer slide," when students spend so much time away from the classroom.

They like the more frequent breaks during the year, which fight burnout. Opponents say it takes away from tradition, and reduces time for both students and teachers to earn money at summer jobs.

Will this new plan, with a different calendar and higher teacher salaries make Las Cruces students better? Maybe. Maybe not.

But you don't get anywhere if you don't act.

But, this is only a first step. A critical piece to the puzzle is a crisis triage center that works efficiently with law enforcement to help people during a mental health emergency. And, that piece still doesn't fit.

Sheriff Kim Stewart has alleged that services at the center are unreliable, and has directed her officers to stop taking people to the facility until her department has an agreement with the private company operating it.

That needs to happen soon. While the crisis triage center can only admit those who are voluntarily seeking assistance, it is a valuable resource that needs to be included in the larger community effort to provide help and reduce harm.

The final piece of the reform puzzle is accountability. The national outrage in 2020 was sparked by cell phone videos of George Floyd's horrific death in Minnesota. Officer Derek Chauvin was found guilty of murder, and sentenced to more than 22 years in prison.

That same summer, we learned about the death of Antonio Valenzuela at the hands of Las Cruces Police Officer Christopher Smelser, who used a neck restraint hold that was allowed by LCPD then, but is not now. Smelser has been charged with second-degree murder, and is scheduled to go on trial this month.

His trial will be a first, in a system where local law enforcement officers investigate their colleagues.

Legislation passed in 2021 makes it easier to sue officers for damages in civil court. But a separate bill that would have established a uniform statewide system for criminal investigations of police-involved deaths failed, as did legislation for needed improvements to the State Law Enforcement Academy.

We are fortunate in Las Cruces to have a police force that is reflective of and respectful to our community.

But improvements can be made through structural changes that shift priorities, provide greater support from profession-

Autism Run returns April 3 at Mayfield High after 2-year absence

BULLETIN REPORT

Hearts for Autism will host the Autism Run, beginning at 7:30 a.m. Sunday, April 3, at Mayfield High School, 1955 N. Valley Drive.

The run returns after a two-year, pandemic-induced hiatus and for 2022 will include one-mile, 5k, 10k and half-marathon races.

"This is unique peer-to-peer fundraiser where participants are asked to join or create a team of their wish, then raise funds for Hearts for Autism," said Hearts for Autism member Scott Fister, who is also the founder of the SunDragons ATC, one of the teams that will participate in the run.

Hearts for Autism was created in 2008 to empower southern New Mexico families in "celebrating the unique needs of autism and educating the community to embrace us all," according to the organization's mission.

"We have made asking and collecting donations easy," Fister said, "as each (race) participant will have a unique pledge page for friends and family to donate on their behalf."

Race participants can "customize your personal pledge page, tell your story of why you are raising funds and set a donation goal," Fister said. "After customizing your page, just share it to friends and family via social media platforms for them to donate on your behalf — no money for you to track down and collect; everything is done through the registration site. We are asking for each participant to raise a minimum of $100. As a bonus, participants can earn gifts as they reach donation milestones," Fister said.

Prizes for top fundraisers will be awarded in both individual and team competitions, he said.

All proceeds from the race will support Hearts for Autism summer camp for children with autism in June 2022.

The Association business group honors 'amazing women'

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

"There are so many amazing women in this community. They showed up every day, they worked and they did it," said Las Cruces business owner, entrepreneur and The Association co-founder Marci Dickerson.

The Association, a women's professional development and networking group that Dickerson and business owner and entrepreneur Sumer Rose-Nolan started in Las Cruces in 2021, honored four of those women at a special lunch, "International Women's Day: Women Who Paved the Way," held March 8 at the New Mexico Farm and Ranch Heritage Museum.

COURTESY PHOTO

Ammu Devasthali, Julia Brown, Wanda Bowman and Barbara Hubbard were honored by The Association, a business networking group. In foreground are The Association co-founders Marci Dickerson and Sumer Rose-Nolan.

The four honored are: New Mexico State University Board of Regents President Ammu Devasthali; national American Association of University Women Board Chair and former Doña Ana County

Manager Julia Brown; Las Cruces business owner Wanda Bowman; and retired Pan American Center Venue Manager Barbara Hubbard.

"Be flexible in how you navigate through life," said Devasthali, a long-time community activist and philanthropist. "You don't know when an opportunity will come your way. Or, if not, create your own opportunity."

"I learned very early on a sense of community and how to care for my fellow man," said Brown, who grew up in a segregated neighborhood in Oklahoma.

Brown, who has served at every level of government and in corporate America, including as a soldier, a Girl Scout, auto mechanic, carpenter and gourmet cook, advised The Association audience to "learn how to think strategically" and to "think several steps ahead. Planning and preparation are everything," she said. She also advised women to "look for an opportunity to open the door to let someone else in."

Bowman said she was a housewife raising three children 52 years ago in St. Louis, Missouri, when she and her husband decided to move to Las Cruces and open a business. Today, she is the owner of Ashley Homestore in Las Cruces.

"Take the risk," Bowman said. "You can do it. It's attitude. You have to know you can step out on that limb. I have expected from life the very best. I have tried to give the very best to life."

Hubbard, 95, is a "legendary promotor and trailblazer for women in the entertainment industry," Dickerson and Rose-Nolan said.

"The biggest thing is, believe in yourself," Hubbard said. "Be yourself. Set your goals. Know your limitations. You will become the winner."

Hubbard said the ACTS Scholarship program that she founded now has 19 endowments at NMSU and in four other states.

"Celebrating women in all of their facets is the driving force behind The Association," Rose-Nolan said. "We were honored to host such a well-accomplished panel and give them a space to share their stories. They are all inspirational women, who are advocates for themselves and others. They truly have paved the way for the rest of us!"

Johnson Ortiz said she also served as chair and vice-chair of the state Democratic Party, and as president of the Downtown Association, which focused on the promotion of Downtown Las Cruces.

“With this level of experience,” Johnson Ortiz said she “will not need on-the-job training to become an effective county commis-

If elected to the county commission, Johnson Ortiz said she will focus on improving relations between the commission, county management and other elected county officials.

Johnson Ortiz said she “is committed to promoting continuing improvement in the public service offered to the community.”

Johnson Ortiz said she also “will focus on quality roads, public safety, fire and emergency services, medical and behavioral health services, flooding problems (and) creating economic development opportunities which support businesses and create new jobs and programs that will support community youth and seniors.”

Johnson Ortiz said “she believes in providing support to individual businesses through programs such as the county’s business assistance initiative and individuals who suffered during the pandemic through the county’s emergency rental and utilities assistance program.”

Johnson Ortiz is a member of the Aggie Men’s Basketball 6th Men’s Club, which provides support to the New Mexico State University basketball team.

Johnson Ortiz was born and raised in the Mesilla Valley and is married for 48 years to Gus Ortiz with children Valerie Ortiz Perrault and Jason Ortiz and granddaughter Jocelyn Grace Perrault.

Artist, weather watcher Penny Duncklee keeps spirits up after dog attack

By ELVA K. ÖSTERREICH
Las Cruces Bulletin

A beloved Las Cruces icon, Penny Duncklee, encountered two dogs in her yard last week, March 16, which attacked and mauled her before a neighbor was able to stop them, probably saving her life. Transported to University Medical Center in El Paso, she went into surgery for her injuries. She lost her right arm up to the elbow and has had repair work done for the left.

According to a GoFundMe (gofund.me/b53509f8) page set up in her name, when first asked if she knew what happened, Duncklee said, “I was attacked by dogs. I fought back and screamed and screamed. I’m one tough cookie.”

Her family says the page is set up primarily to share information about how Duncklee is doing, and any funds generated will be used for charities/causes that are important to her.

Born Easter Sunday 1937 in Hingham, Massachusetts, Duncklee has done many things. She was a sailor and boatmaker, a potter, an elected coroner and a tour guide as well as an artist. Since 2001 in Las Cruces, she has been a beloved local artist, a member of the New Mexico Watercolor Society — and twice the president of its southern chapter — a member of the Las Cruces Arts Association and founding member of the Ten O’Clock Club, another local organization for artists.

Duncklee told the Bulletin in a previous interview that she started painting on a regular basis while living in Colorado in the 1980s.

“I guess I’ve been painting ever since,” she said.

Duncklee’s son, Dave Crowell, reports daily on their GoFundMe page to let people know how she is doing. He said she is doing well and keeping her spirits up. She is “humbled” by the wealth of positive thoughts and photos folks are sharing via social media. In particular, because she loves sunsets, photos of sunsets have been flowing her way.

Duncklee sends regular sunrise, sunset and other weather-related photos to KTSM, a TV news station in El Paso, earning their 2021 Weather Watcher of the Year award. The station has shared her images on their website.

Meanwhile, her natural cheer and enthusiasm are spreading through her environment as people look forward to seeing her everyday and she was even offered a job teaching other patients how to rehab.

She told them she already had a job as a weather watcher.

Robert Lara announces candidacy for district court judge

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

Third Judicial District Court Attorney Associate Robert Lara is a candidate for district judge Division 2 in the June 7 Democratic primary, Lara said in an interview.

With five years of experience as a staff attorney, Lara said he has worked directly with Doña Ana County district judges on family and civil cases that comprise the court docket, has “experience with court operations” and is “familiar with the process.”

“I wrote that order,” Lara said. “I researched that order. I’ve talked to that plaintiff.”

Lara, who lives in Santa Teresa, said he has been an attorney since 2009, practicing in both family and civil law. He is a bar commissioner and a driving force in the reactivation of the Doña Ana County Bar Association.

“I’m choosing to run for judge because I want to continue public service,” Lara said. “We have a responsibility to help our neighbors and help the profession.” The district court bench, he said, is where his skills and passions are best suited to help people.

If elected judge, Lara said he will seek “sympathetic solutions that are supportive of the law,” for those who come before the court.

In divorce cases, Lara said a judge must consider not only both parties, but, if they are parents, must also consider the best interests of their children. Cases and rulings can include not only money and property, he said, but also issues of child support child custody, especially if one parent is relocating.

“Family law has its own unique challenges,” Lara said, including that about 80 percent of those who come before the court are self-represented, about half are in poverty and many do not speak English. Many cases, he said, involve grandparents seeking guardianship of their grandchildren.

Lara said his goal is to “streamline the system so you spend less time in my court and more time being a parent or grandparent.”

As a judge, Lara said he will approach each case with “sympathy and creativity,” recognizing that each is “unique based on the family.”

As a judge, Lara said he also will help those who come before the court to find the community resources they need.

Civil proceedings are often landlord-vs.-tenant cases, he said, or the result of injuries suffered in a traffic accident or business partners who have split. As with family court, he said, civil cases must be considered on an individual basis, and must be moved forward to settlement or trial in a timely manner so the parties are not “buried in

A look at process of picking a judge

BULLETIN REPORT

The Third Judicial District Court Judicial Nominating Commission considered three applicants (Robert Lara, Ramona J. Martinez-Salopek and Jeanne Quintero) for the court’s Division 2 judgeship vacancy that was created by the recent retirement of Judge Marci Beyer, according to a news release from the University of New Mexico School of Law.

On Jan. 19, the commission recommended to Gov. Michelle Lujan Grisham that she appoint Quintero to the judgeship. On Jan. 24, Lujan Grisham asked the commission to reconvene “to send her the names of additional people to consider” along with Quintero, the news release said. Both Lara and Martinez-Salopek have reapplied for the appointment, UNM said.

Whomever the governor appoints will fill the judgeship until a permanent judge is selected in the November 2022 general election and sworn in. The winner will serve a six-year term and be subject to a voter retention election in 2028.

“How can we make sure people in the county have real access to justice?” Lara said.

Lucy Punch, Julian Barratt, Adrian Scarborough and Aasiya Shah also return. (ORIGINAL)

"Movie: Monsters and Men"

From writer/director Reinaldo Marcus Green ("King Richard," "Joe Bell") comes this 2018 crime drama that tells the story of the police killing of a Black man from the perspectives of a bystander who filmed the act, a Black cop and a student athlete inspired to take a stand. John David Washington, Anthony Ramos, Kelvin Harrison Jr. and Chanté Adams star.

"The Girl From Plainville"

Inspired by a true story, this limited series stars Elle Fanning ("The Great," "Maleficent") as Michelle Carter, who in 2017 was convicted of involuntary manslaughter for encouraging via text message the suicide of her boyfriend Conrad Roy III. #### Great Performances

The new 90-minute episode "The Conductor" profiles Marin Alsop, who persevered in an ambitious journey to become the first female music director of a major symphony in the face of repeated rejection from the classical music establishment. Born in New York, Alsop earned degrees at the prestigious Juilliard School, but her big break came in 1989, when she won the Koussevitzky Prize as outstanding student conductor at the Tanglewood Music Center in Massachusetts. It was at Tanglewood that Alsop met her hero, Leonard Bernstein, who would become her mentor.

11 p.m. on FX

Movie: Jojo Rabbit

Producer-director-cast member Taika Waititi won an Academy Award for also adapting a novel by Christine Leunens into one of 2019's most audacious comedy-dramas, which was one of that year's best picture nominees. Roman Griffin Davis stars as the title character Johannes "Jojo" Betzler, a member of Hitler Youth who is stunned to discover his mother (Scarlett Johansson) is hiding a Jewish girl (Thomasin McKenzie) in their attic. Oh, and he also has a playful Adolf Hitler (Waititi) as an imaginary friend. Rebel Wilson, Stephen Merchant and Sam Rockwell co-star.

Alvin August and Jarod Joseph

5 p.m. on OVATION
Murdoch Mysteries

Responding to a frantic call from a guest at the Breatly Hotel claiming that someone is threatening his life, Inspector William Murdoch and Constable George Crabtree (Yannick Bisson, Jonny Harris) race to the scene in the new episode "Love or Money." On their arrival, they find a dead man in his hotel room, with George's Aunt Zinnia (guest star Debra McGrath) kneeling over the corpse. The victim turns out to be a conman who preyed on older women, and Zinnia soon looks like a prime suspect. Clare McConnell also stars.

6 p.m. on HALL
Movie: A Second Chance at Love

Launching Hallmark Channel's "Spring Into Love" programming event, this new 2022 romantic drama stars Alvin August ("Nancy Drew") and Jarod Joseph ("The 100") as Alicia and Arnold, whose marriage appears idyllic, at least to the casual observer. Privately, however, trouble is brewing, as Arnold is ready to become a father, while Alicia tacitly resists the idea. Instead of confronting the issue, she distracts herself by meddling in the dating lives of her divorced parents (Gloria Reuben, Eriq La Salle).

6 p.m. on LIFE
Movie: The Lost Girls

After narrowly escaping from a human sex-trafficking ring, a traumatized teenager tries to reconnect with her family, as well as the more innocent girl she was before her ordeal. In order to save the fellow victims she had to leave behind, however, she knows she'll have to confront her demons and lead police to the dangerous individuals running this nefarious operation. Jane Widdop, Olivia d'Abo, Randall Batinkoff, Juliette Hanover and Dylan Sprayberry star in this 2022 thriller.

7 p.m. on NGWILD
Critic Fixers: Country Vets

The Season 3 premiere, "Vet for a Day," finds the Critter Fixer docs trying to solve a medical mystery involving a pregnant goat. They also try to "deflate" a turkey whose head is full of air, and welcomes visiting kids who want to learn all about being a veterinarian. In other segments, Dr. Vernard Hodges operates on a dog with one of the biggest tumors he's ever seen, and a little leopard gecko must be treated for a big eye problem.

9 p.m. on HBO
Movie: Dune

Director and co-screenwriter Denis Villeneuve's 2021 adaptation of Frank Herbert's sci-fi epic earned mostly glowing reviews from critics and turned a big profit at the box-office for both its dazzling visuals and stellar cast. Timothée Chalamet stars as Paul Atreides, whose father, Duke Leto (Oscar Isaac), has just been appointed to rule Arrakis, a harsh desert planet that is the sole source of a precious substance known as spice.

tonight's picks

Kaylan

6 p.m. on KVIA
The Oscars

The 94th Academy Awards ceremony is scheduled to take place at the Dolby Theater in Hollywood, honoring the best in films released between March 1 and Dec. 31, 2021 (last year's Oscar race extended its eligibility period through February 2021 to compensate for the extended pandemic lockdown). Amy Schumer, Wanda Sykes and Regina Hall will share hosting duties. Samuel L. Jackson, Elaine May and Liv Ullmann will receive honorary Academy Awards for their distinguished careers. Additionally, Danny Glover will receive the Jean Hersholt Humanitarian Award.

6 p.m. on BBCA
Killing Eve

This acclaimed and very quirky series continues its final season with the new episode "Don't Get Attached," in which Eve (Sandra Oh) explores the past of her target and stumbles across some secrets from the history of The Twelve. Meanwhile, Villanelle (Jodie Comer) embraces killing once again, although she tries taking lives for altruistic reasons before ultimately deciding to kill anyone who oppressed her. Elsewhere, Carolyn (Fiona Shaw) tracks down a top member of The Twelve.

7:30 p.m. on KFOX
The Great North

Ham (voice of Paul Rust) becomes the friend of an older woman who loves a good party more than anything else in the new episode "As Goldie as It Gets." Elsewhere, Judy (voice of Jenny Slate) decides to take up pottery and discovers that she actually is ... not great at it, to say the least. Guest voices include Julio Torres ("Los Espookys") and Sarah Baker ("The Kominsky Method"); Nick Offerman, Dulcé Sloan, Will Forte and Megan Mullally also are heard in their regular voice roles.

7:30 p.m. on METVN
Collector's Call

Lisa Whelchel ("The Facts of Life") returns as host for Season 3 of this delightful reality series, in which she and a professional appraiser visit the homes of collectors, who open their treasure troves devoted to pop culture fandom and memorabilia. The season premiere puts a spotlight on Patrick Brickley, whose floor-to-ceiling collection reflects his lifelong passion for films and TV shows. Movie props expert Mark Short joins Whelchel to examine Brickley's assortment of props and costumes from "Seinfeld," "Good Will Hunting" and "Fast Times at Ridgemont High," among others.

8 p.m. on KVIA2
March

After a long, challenging season, the band finally gets to kick back and enjoy some shared fun as a group in "We're All We Need," the Season 1 finale of this docuseries. It's also graduation day for Kaylan, who is struggling through a tough transition into "adulthood." The drum majors make their case as to who should be up next as the band looks to the future.

8:01 p.m. on STARZ
Shining Vale

As Pat (Courteney Cox) tries to figure out how to get rid of the spectral Rosemary (Mira Sorvino) once and for all, she discovers that Terry (Greg Kinnear) has been keeping a horrifying secret from her in the new episode "Chapter Five: The Squirrel Knew." Meanwhile, daughter Gaynor (Gus Birney) finds out something about Pat that is likely to change how she views her mother forever. Dylan Gage also stars.

10 p.m. on NGC
Wicked Tuna

In a post-pandemic season where everyone is focused intensely on making up for lost time and money, some captains elect to cut their expenses to the bone by fishing close to home, while others roll the dice and make the long steam down to Chatham, banking that a big payday is more likely there, in the new episode "Whale of a Tuna." Last year's reigning champion, Capt. Paul Hebert, is among those opting to go south, since he hasn't caught a fish so far.

8:03 p.m. on HISTORY
Lost Gold of the Aztecs

Half a millennium ago, Spanish conquistadors raided the land of the ancient Aztecs for the gold that reputedly filled their region. According to legends, however, Montezuma, the Aztec emperor, already had divided his immense treasure into smaller caches and hidden them in several different locations of what is now the American Southwest. Oh, and he also placed a deadly curse on it. This docuseries follows three families as they search for the treasure in three different states: the Dillmans in Nevada, the Hoaglands in Nevada and the Villescascas in New Mexico.

9:01 p.m. on KTSM
The Thing About Pam

This fact-based crime drama continues with Pam (Renee Zellweger) starting to unravel as Russ' (Glenn Fleshler) new trial looms in "She's a Loving Daughter." Pam also is stressing out over mounting money problems, as well as a relentless "Dateline" producer who won't leave her alone, not to mention the care her sick mother requires. Aware of all these pressure points, district attorney Leah Askey (Judy Greer) starts to realize Pam may not be the star witness she had hoped for.

10 p.m. on HBO
How to Survive a Pandemic

This new documentary from Oscar-nominated filmmaker David France ("Welcome to Chechnya") takes an in-depth look back at the unprecedented race to develop, regulate and roll out vaccines against COVID-19 in the middle of the raging pandemic that was claiming hundreds of lives daily. France and his team began filming in early 2020, as the largest public health effort in history got under way, and followed those efforts over the 18 months that followed.

Bring it on home

The title of this year's Bulletin home improvement guide is House to Home. And that's what we're all striving for, right? A house is just a building but a home, well, a home is a world you and your loved ones have created for the long haul. A place where you can be yourselves and be reminded of your best selves.

That's why you need a photo of that one special family pet, framed and hung by the door leading to the garage. That's why you need a place where friends can gather and sit under the big shade tree in the backyard. That's why you need that upgraded stove you've been talking about for years. That's why you need that recliner, that screen door, that ceiling fan and that computer system. It's why you need to finally get that landscaping done and fix that part of the sidewalk that started crumbling in 1989.

RICHARD COLTHARP

From the Publisher

Many of you have purchased a new house in the past few years – it seems half of Las Cruces has done that. That might mean you have even more work to do regarding turning it into a home.

This guide is designed to get your creative juices flowing, and working on new ideas.

The pandemic meant a lot of us spent more time in our homes than we previously did. We found a lot of things we wanted to change, but we also found new ways we can use our homes.

So, whether your task is to furnish a complete house, or simply to replace that old, beat-up barbecue grill in the backyard, make a plan, stick to your budget and live your best life in the place you want to call home.

Updating your floors? Lots of local options

By BULLETIN STAFF

One of the most dramatic upgrades you can make to your home is to change the flooring.

The options are nearly endless: change your carpet for hardwood floors; change your hardwood floors for tile; change your tile to treated concrete; change your treated concrete to carpeting.

Some homes may have combinations of all of these.

Las Cruces has a number of longstanding, customer-proven flooring companies, including Malooly's Flooring Company, Casey Carpet of Las Cruces, Inc., Stout Hardwood Floor Co., Inc., and Hacienda Carpet and Tile.

Stout Hardwood Floor, which Harry L. Stout started in the 1930s, and features hardwood and vinyl flooring. Barry A. Stout, Harry's grandson, is now the company president.

Durability is a benefit of hard flooring for all types of residential applications and said Stout Flooring also can completely restore floors in historic homes and properties – its clients include the Amador Hotel. The company has crews skilled in residential and commercial installation, and offers a wide range of styles to create a customers' dream flooring.

Customers are invited to visit the Stout showroom to see "a huge variety of samples" and "pick out what your love."

Malooly's Flooring Co. celebrated its 40th anniversary in Las Cruces in 2020, but the business has existed much longer than that. With his brothers Albert, Edward, Richard and Raymond, George Malooly opened a carpet and furniture store in El Paso in the late 1950s, continuing a tradition begun by their grandfather, Esau Malooly, who brought his family to El Paso from Lebanon in the early 1900s, and opened a furniture store in 1907. George's daughter and namesake, Georgette Malooly, took over the Las Cruces business, joined by her sister, Barbara, in 1987. Georgette and the late Norman Todd's oldest son, Chris, took over everyday management in 2018.

They all agreed that the store's success is based on customer service. "We take the time to listen to the customer, help find the product that will work best and make sure the customer is 100 percent satisfied," Georgette said.

The Maloolys' crew has more than 200 years' experience in the flooring industry, and its showroom includes a wide range of carpet and hard-surface flooring, including tile. Now is "an excellent time to re-do flooring," including for home improvement projects, said Casey Carpet owner Hank Schweinebraten, who has operated the family business in Las Cruces since 1989. Casey Carpet includes teams of trained installers, which is important, Schweinebraten said,

Bring a frame of reference to your home

By BULLETIN STAFF

At one time, every wall in every house was blank.

Few things personalize a house and make it feel like a home more than framed art and photos on the wall.

Favorite family portraits and vacation photos don't have to live forever on your phone or in a 3x5 glossy print. Sometimes blowing them up can have a dramatic effect and, framed properly, can change the whole aura of a room. Even a child's drawing, with the right color and framing, can graduate from the refrigerator door to a lovely wall-mounted memento.

It's easy enough to find nice wall art at department stores, but living in the Land of Enchantment, almost all of us personally know a good artist or photographer. Why not purchase something from your friend or family member, something that has more meaning? Even a photo you took yourself. That art, framed well and hung in the right spot, will transform an area and bring a more personal smile each time you see it.

Brenda Nevue, co-owner of Frame & Art Center (1100 S. Main St., #108) in Las Cruces recommends getting it done right.

"Quality framing is an asset to home décor, because just like any other piece of furniture, you want it to last," Nevue said. "When you use real wood built by an experienced woodworker, you have a product that is going to last. Quality framing has a large range of prices."

Framing can be one of those areas where, if you do it on the cheap, it looks it.

Another quality framing shop in Las Cruces is Picture Frame Factory Outlet (382 S. Walnut St.), which saw an unexpected wave of new customers during the Coronavirus pandemic.

"You know what's bringing people in?" asked Greg Groves of Picture Frame Factory Outlet. "Zoom meetings. Everyone's on these Zoom meetings and some of them are self-conscious about what's on their backgrounds."

Certainly, some nice art can dress up any background, as well as say something about who you are as a person and where you are in your life.

"Some of these people in their late 20s and early 30s are looking around and saying, 'Maybe it's time to take the concert posters off the wall," Groves said.

Not that a concert poster is a bad thing and, in some cases, dressed up with the right frame or presentation, they can actually be quite beautiful.

Local art is also available in the Picture Frame Factory Outlet studio, including the dramatic photos of Groves' father, Mike Groves.

Mike Groves has been capturing the power of the Organ Mountains and the other iconic landscapes of southern New Mexico for years. Adding one of these images to your wall will certainly signify a sense of place.

Also, bear in mind, a framed piece of art doesn't necessarily have to live all the time in the same place on the same wall. Changing and refreshing your framed art and photos can bring a new look and feel to the entire home.

"When it comes to home décor, it's important to remember that everyone has their own style," Nevue said. "When I work out a design with a customer, I always try to get a feel for their style preferences. If you know your style, I find it best to stick to that base when making choices on what to add to the room. Picking an inspiration to work from when designing a room's décor can help you make sure everything fits together. However, when it comes to framing, you want to make sure the design goes with the art, rather than trying to frame it for the room's décor. Therefore, it is a good idea to keep that in mind when choosing art for a room."

But what if you want to go wild, and fill a whole wall, from floor to ceiling with framed art and photos?

"Do it!" Nevue said. "Do it in another room! If you run out of room, build another wall! Just kidding. If you want to devote a wall to art, the first thing to take into consideration is how your style will work with it. Are you someone who prefers to have things matching? If so, you will want to pick a neutral frame that can work with any art you choose to add to the wall. Are you more eclectic with your style? If so, your choices for framing can be subject specifically to what best enhances the artwork."

Precious captured memories and personally inspiring works of art turn a house not just into a home, but into your home.

because "a professional should do your flooring"

Schweinebraten, Stout Hardwood Floors Residential Project Manager Marek Rogers and Malooly's Flooring Company Manager Chris Todd also said hard-surface flooring has overtaken carpets in popularity, although Casey and Malooly's also continue to offer many carpet choices as well.

"Our showroom at one point was 15 percent hard surface," Schweinebraten said last year. "Now it's probably 50 percent." Hard surface is more durable than carpet, he said. For a living room, dining room or family room, "you're more apt to go hard surface right now because it's something you won't change for a long time."

Casey Carpet's stock includes "floating floors," Schweinebraten said, which "people can do themselves" because they simply click together and aren't attached to the floor. They're easy to care for, he said, and can be moved from one room to another.

Indoors or outdoors, get cooking with some upgrades

By BULLETIN STAFF

It's an old real estate maxim that, to increase the value of your home, the most important room to update is the kitchen, with bathrooms a runner-up.

And while it may not be a maxim, everyone in Las Cruces knows our nearly year-round nice weather is ideal for cooking outside. And more and more locals are putting together outdoor kitchens.

Whether you're considering an indoor or an outdoor kitchen update – or both! – there are many ways to do it, and a wide range of financial investment.

AN INDOOR PLAN

Some people don't have entirely realistic plans when it comes to refurbishing their indoor kitchens, said Sandino, who owns Cabinet Specialties in Las Cruces.

"The answer, I think, is to do a lot of planning in advance," Sandino said. "For example, I meet with a customer and see what they have in mind."

Sandino suggested a careful look at what you like and what you don't like about your kitchen. Then realistic guidelines can be established as to what is a comfortable expense for the project.

"Basically," he said. "What you are doing when you improve a home is increase value of the home immediately. If you get a good improvement, it is good in the long run and you enjoy it while you use it."

AN OUTDOOR START

Outdoor cooking has upped its game since your grandfather poured charcoal into his flimsy metal grill years ago to char up a few hot dogs for your birthday.

Sure, the barbecue grill is still around, but now you can pay thousands of dollars for one, and/or have a permanent set-up on your patio.

Here are three sure-fire ways to add some sizzle to your backyard without breaking the bank.

• A fire pit. While this isn't necessarily the answer to your gourmet cooking questions, a fire pit can add new options to your outdoor living.

Yes, you can cook grandpa's hot dogs here, or grandma's s'mores, but a fire pit is even better suited for conversations with friends when the fall weather gets crisp. Or maybe sharing a good sipping tequila with your dad around the Christmas holidays.

• A Traeger grill. One of the most popular additions to a backyard is a Traeger pellet-burning grill, said a project manager at Western Stoves and Fireplaces in Las Cruces last year.

Traeger grills range from $899 to $1,499 and work like a convection oven.

“They have a blower that circulates the heat around your food, so you get a real even cook. It uses smoke to add flavor. You can bake in it, grill in it, cook in it and even do a little bit of a boil in it.”

• A pizza oven. Who doesn't love pizza? Western Stoves and Fireplaces carries both indoor and outdoor versions of these ovens, which start at more than $2,000. An outdoor oven can transform your backyard to the most popular place on the block when you host pizza night. It's also a great way to have a quick, homecooked summer meal without heating up your indoor kitchen.

GETTING IT RIGHT

Upgrading and renovating your indoor kitchen can be an expensive proposition but, Sandino said, any additional money spent to get it done right will always pay off.

“Your best investment is to buy quality materials that will stay together and look good in the future,” Sandino said. “I do a kitchen in a week or two, where, if you hire the wrong (unlicensed) people they may never finish.”

Hiring a professional not only means the job will be done well and in a timely manner but also can benefit the homeowner with professional connections. For example, Sandino said he has connections in the financing industry he can recommend. He also only starts with 10 percent and then draws expenses as needed. He suggested customers beware of companies that require 100 percent of the cost of a job up front. He also has professional sub-contractors and suppliers he is familiar with and trusts.

QUICK & EASY

(truly do it yourself)

- Replace knobs and handles on kitchen cabinets
- Put in new sink faucets
- Add a programmable thermostat
- Replace outdoor light fixtures
- Put in a new shower head

DON'T TRY THIS AT HOME

(ask the professionals)

- Don't attempt to repair a foundation
- Don't mount an antenna on the roof of your two-story home on a windy day
- Don't install solar panels
- Don't re-wire your electricity
- Don't stack your dryer on your washer by yourself

Something bugging you?

By BULLETIN STAFF

You finally got that hot tub you've wanted for years installed in your backyard. And for the first six months, you loved it!

But in the seventh month, lights and other electrical operations on the tub quit working properly.

Before you start cursing the spa dealer, or the installers, consider something none of us ever wants to consider.

Rats.

Yes, friends, there are rats in the desert, and they love to crawl into tight spaces where water's around, and they love to chew on wires, specifically the plastic coating of the wires, which in some cases are made with tasty (to rats) soy.

Your home may be your castle, but it's also a high-rise apartment for bugs, a vacation cabin for vermin, a luxury hotel for arachnids and an international airport for winged pests.

As unnerving as rats are, they are just one of the menagerie of desert-dwelling critters that can make their way into our homes. At one point or another, you'll have to deal with ants (the insect

Maintaining the roof over your head

By BULLETIN STAFF

Man may have invented the wheel thousands of years ago but, so far, no one has invented the leakproof roof.

So, no matter what type of roof you have – asphalt shingles, clay tile or a flat coated roof – time and the elements will take their toll.

Here in the Chihuahuan Desert of Southern New Mexico, we may not have as much roof-damaging rains as other parts of the country, but we have a relentless sun beating down on the tops of our houses all year round.

Whether your roof needs a check-up, some spot fixes, or a complete replacement, there are plenty of experts in Las Cruces available to help you out.

A list of some of those roofers below.

Almost all of these businesses have favorable online reviews. One of them, Anthony Sosa Roofing & Construction, was voted by Las Cruces Bulletin readers as the Best Roofing Company, both for 2021 and 2022, in the Bulletin's Best of the Mesilla Valley contest.

Mark Anthony Sosa, who founded his company in 2011, has more than 30 years of roofing experience.

"I started at a young age roofing with my family's business in hopes of one day starting my own company, which I did," Sosa said. "We focus on making every customer happy and we do what we say we're going to do."

Gas meter safety tips:

- Keep the area around your meter free from debris and clutter.

- Secure pets away from your meter and NEVER tie a pet to a gas meter.

- Avoid planting trees and shrubs within three feet of your gas meter. as the bush or tree grows, the roots can damage the piping.

- Don't stack anything on or attach anything to a gas meter.

- If you think there is a problem with the gas meter at your property, never try to fix it yourself.

movie review

BY JAY BOBBIN

‘St. Elmo’s Fire’ stays lit

Almost 40 years later, its stars largely remain identified as members of the so-called “Brat Pack.”

Such was the impact “St. Elmo’s Fire” initially had ... and continues to have, with Hulu currently streaming the 1985 comedy-drama. Directed by the late Joel Schumacher, the film was seen at the time as a younger take on “The Big Chill,” which had been released two years earlier ... and it’s no small thing that every major star of the picture has had an enduring career.

The central characters are friends from college who remain a tight-knit group, frequenting a Georgetown bar and leaning on one another while dealing with their respective steps into adulthood. Billy (Rob Lowe) is a big reckless musician who’s pretty much a washout as a young husband and father, but his sincere social-worker pal Wendy (Mare Winningham) loves him unconditionally. The emotionally shaky Jules (Demi Moore) worries her buddies through her personal involvement with her boss.

Political worker Alex (Judd Nelson) is unfaithful to longtime girlfriend Leslie (Ally Sheedy), eventually complicating the close relationships both have with aspiring writer Kevin (Andrew McCarthy). And entrepreneur-in-training Kirby (Emilio Estevez) develops a massive crush on an older doctor (Andie MacDowell) that drives him to make some questionable moves.

Rob Lowe in “St. Elmo’s Fire”

Much of what makes “St. Elmo’s Fire” works is how generally agreeable the cast is, keeping the proceedings interesting no matter what combination the actors are in ... whether it’s only two of them or virtually all of them together. By definition, that also keeps the dynamic changing; you get something much different, for instance, from Sheedy with Nelson than you do from Sheedy with McCarthy.

How We Roll

Based on the life of professional bowler Tom Smallwood, this new comedy series stars the amiable Pete Holmes as Tom, a Midwestern husband and father, who finds himself at a crossroads when he is laid off from his assembly-line job at an auto plant. Instead of wallowing in depression, Tom impulsively decides to pursue his old dream of professional bowling. He's got the support of his loved ones as he chases his joy. Katie Lowes ("Scandal"), Chi McBride, Julie White and Mason Wells co-star.

9 p.m. on FXX
Dicktown

This animated comedy series wraps up its sophomore season with two more back-to-back episodes, starting with "The Mystery of Lance's Lesson," wherein John's (voice of John Hodgman) new partner manages to knock some sense into him at last. Then, in "The Mystery of the Decades-Old Mystery," a reunited John and David (voice of David Rees) journey into John's mind as they look for answers in a mystery that stretches all the way back to their childhood. Season 3 has not yet been greenlit.

CMI professor: Animation changes how you see the world

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

Animation is something Alex Santiago does as a modeler and filmmaker and teaches as an adjunct professor at New Mexico State University's Creative Media Institute. It's also changed how he sees the world.

"Animation is a unique way to tell a story," said Santiago, 32, who was born in Tucson, Arizona, and grew up in Alamogordo.

And since "everything is story driven," he said, animators have "more creative freedom" in a wide array of careers that stretch far beyond Walt Disney cartoons to include gaming, filmmaking, health care and many other industries.

Santiago took more than a year's leave from CMI in 2020-21 to attend the prestigious Vancouver Film School (VFS), where he studied 3D animation and visual effects and graduated with honors. He was one of six "exceptionally promising animators" from the United States, Canada and Brazil selected from among more than 500 applicants worldwide by Pixar animator and director Michal Makarewicz to attend VFS on a full scholarship, according to the VFS website.

Santiago is an NMSU Crimson Scholar with a bachelor's degree in creative media. He was an adjunct professor at Doña Ana Community College for a year before joining the CMI faculty in 2017.

"Alex is amazing. We are really lucky to have him teach for us," said CMI Department Head Amy Lanasa.

The rigorous VFS curriculum is similar to what Santiago learned and is teaching at CMI, he said, but more geared toward animation for film and entertainment where CMI offers a more general study of animation.

Santiago said the VFS experience also connected him to professionals in the animation industry around the world and expanded his portfolio as a 3D modeler.

While he thrived in Vancouver, Santiago said he was anxious to return to CMI, whose animation program is consistently ranked as the best in the state and among the tops in the nation.

"I always have liked teaching," he said.

Santiago loves helping his students learn to "stop and really look at something."

Part of learning to be an animator, he said, is training the eye to see the specific details of an object, not only its dimensions and colors, but its textures, its play of light and shadow, its background and other qualities.

"You learn to observe your environment and the beauty in it," Santiago said.

"I love those little learning moments," he said, when he's with a student and "you can just see it. The lightbulb went on."

When his students discover "where they really want to shine and what they want to do, it's such a fulfilling moment," Santiago said. "I love helping start students off on their journey."

Santiago said his passion for animation began in the second grade when he fell in love with 3D art and going behind the scenes to understand how animated cave trolls worked.

He encourages his students to "learn the why" of what they see on a computer screen and in the real world. And he reminds them that, in animation, there are no mistakes — only "happy accidents."

"If something doesn't work, you can delete it and start over, or press 'undo' a bunch of times," he said.

"You make it to break it. It's fun. You can just create. You start to think in 3D."

'Great comeback': Arts council celebrates successful return of Arts Fair

BULLETIN REPORT

The Doña Ana Arts Council (DAAC) celebrated the return of one of its signature events March 5-6, as artists, patrons and visitors were drawn to Las Cruces Convention Center for the Las Cruces Arts Fair.

"Artists and patrons alike were consistently telling me how happy they were it was back," said DAAC Executive Director Greg Smith.

"While overall numbers were down, it was a great comeback after not being able to do the Arts Fair in 2021."

There was stiff competition for people's attention over that weekend, and concerns about the winds and Covid were still on many minds, DAAC said in a news release. Even so, participating artists, volunteers, the Convention Center, DAAC staff, the patrons and many others "helped make the event such a shining success," Smith said. "The smiles on so many faces were a huge reward!"

Seventy-four artists participated, Smith said, and volunteers from NMSU were among those helping set up for the fair, along with volunteers from the community who helped artists load up when the fair was over.

More than 1,100 tickets were sold, and many of those attending left with works of art ranging in price from $5 to $10,000, he said.

"A driving current focus for DAAC is its programming for young people, and the success of events like the Arts Fair and the Renaissance Arts-Faire help with funding for programming such as Dawn of Discovery Arts Integration, Missoula Children's Theatre, Opera Story Tellers Camp and Wolle Career Art Paths,"

University Art Museum showcases student art in juried show

BULLETIN REPORT

The 2022 Juried Student Show (JSS) at the NMSU University Art Museum (UAM) will continue through April 9.

The museum is located at Devasthali Hall, 1308 E. University Avenue, at the intersection of University and Solano Drive, and the show is on view in the Contemporary Art Gallery.

“Every year, UAM receives an impressive variety of submissions by both undergraduate and graduate students, highlighting a broad range of materials, methods and ideas,” the museum said in a news release.

“JSS is an opportunity to acknowledge NMSU’s hard-working students by recognizing their outstanding creativity. This exhibition always attracts a large audience and encourages widespread community support.”

2022 JSS, juried by Carrissa Samaniego, features 50 artworks in a wide range of mediums created by both undergraduate and graduate students from diverse disciplines and various majors across the NMSU main campus, the news release said.

“One of the most exciting components of the JSS is that students are eligible to receive monetary awards,” the museum said. “These awards benefit the students both by honoring and encouraging them during a crucial time of growth, development and training. As usual, the JSS has received significant support for the community, and the UAM is honored to be able to give out over $4,500 in awards this year.”

Black Box's 'The Gun Show' adds up to outstanding theater

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

To me, there are few things in theater more courageous than an actor performing in a one-person show. When that actor is talented, has a good script and a good director, it is combination that makes for great theater.

That is what Black Box Theatre's current production of "The Gun Show" is — jaw-dropping, gut-wrenching, outstanding theater.

Credit two people: Cassandra Galban, because her performance is brilliant, and director Joshua Taulbee, himself a talented actor who is directing for the first time, because he created a simple but evocative set and helped Galban find all the nuances — the highs, the lows, the humor, the sorrow, the truth — in playwright E.M. Lewis' powerful script that explores gun ownership and gun violence from multiple perspectives.

There are no set changes or costumes changes in this one-hour, one-act play; only one entrance and one exit, one table, one chair, one card-

Community college class shoots film, gains hands-on experience

BULLETIN REPORT

Doña Ana Community College's Film Crew Training II class shot its first short film, "Count On It," in February in Las Cruces, said Dan Williams, the movie's co-writer and DACC course instructor, who directed the film and supervised students' work on it for instruction and grading purposes.

The script was written by Austin M. Lucero, a New Mexico-based still photographer and former production assistant, Williams said.

Williams, a 16-year member of IATSE Local 480, New Mexico's IATSE Studio Mechanics Local, having served four years on the local's executive board as vice-president of grip, light and sound, has been teaching the course for DACC since 2008. A writer and producer as well as a below-the-line technician, Williams has worked on many high-budget film productions in New Mexico as a grip or a lamp operator and has produced various short films and web pilots in the past.

Former Las Cruces resident, now Los Angeles-based actor and print model Kevin Blake Chandler will play the lead in "Count On It," Williams said, and Film Crew Training students Michael Gorbitz, Alan Gomez, Jeremy Logston, Michelle Jo-hansen and Erin Wendorf will play supporting roles, along with local actors Jayce McCormick and Alcyia Jameson.

Students in the below-the-line technician training program this semester, who are getting hands-on experience in their chosen craft areas, Williams said, include Julissa Garcia, sound; Isaac Garwood, lighting and grip; Alan Gomez, talent/set construction; Michael Gorbitz, locations; Emanuel Guevara, editing/music supervisor; Allen Gutierrez, sound supervisor; Michelle Johansen, first assistant director; Aundrea Lilley, propmaster; Jeremy Logston, director of photography; Seth Lujan, camera assistant; Diaz Martinez, talent/sound; Andy Martos, production assistant; and Erin Wendorf, casting/script supervisor.

Williams said local motion-picture car provider and transportation captain Shelby Kyle LeMond (providing a police car and an ambulance) will provide support for the film, and local artist/production designer Tiffany Del Guidice will provide some pieces to be used in the movie.

The completed film will be shown in various film and short-film festivals and will ultimately be available for viewing on YouTube, said Williams, who is also president of Tecolote Films, LLC.

"Students completed the first semester of DACC's Film Crew Training course last fall, during which they learned some of the history that has led up to many of the accepted modern-day techniques of filmmaking, had hands-on experience with various pieces of equipment and participated in activities related to location scouting, set operations and lighting activities," Williams said. "During the second semester of the course, they conduct pre-production, principal shooting and post-production of at least two projects. A documentary about Las Cruces' thriving Low-rider restoration and enthusiast community is planned for later this semester," he said.

"This course is worth 15 days toward the required 30 to join IATSE Local 480," Williams said. "A degree or certificate from a film program at an accredited university or community college is good for that, but this program is the fastest way to satisfy it, conferring a certificate within one year of study."

Even small projects such as planting a tree or installing fence posts can be very dangerous if you do not know what utilities are buried around your dig site. Whether you are a professional excavator or homeowner, you can be fined AND held financially responsible for repair costs to damaged utilities when 811 is not called. How it works:

1. Use white spray paint and/or white marker flags to mark the ground where you plan to dig.
2. Call 811 two business days before beginning your project and they will alert all of the local utilities to respond to your dig site and mark where the utility lines are buried. Utility companies will have two days, once notified, to respond to your dig site.
3. Once utilities are marked, you must adhere to the "18 inch" rule, which is no mechanical digging (tractor, auger, etc.) within 18 inches of the utility markings. If you must dig within 18 inches of a utility marking, it has to be hand dug or vacuum excavated.
4. Once all of the utilities have been marked, you will have 15 days to complete your digging project. If your project is not complete in that time frame, you must call 811 again.

Fiber optics company Conterra Networks expands to Borderland

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

Conterra Networks, which has been providing fiber-optic network services for more than 25 years, is continuing to expand service in the El Paso-Las Cruces area, with local clients that include La Clinica de Familia (LCDF), Gadsden Independent School District and the City of Las Cruces, with city contracts at Las Cruces International Airport and West Mesa Industrial Park.

"The thing that really appealed to me about Conterra ... they are very community oriented," said Senior Account Executive

joined the company. "They are very committed to the customers they do business with. It really does feel like a family," said Boberg, who is the principal coordinator for the Dress the Child program that has provided new clothes and shoes each year to hundreds of children in Las Cruces Public Schools and GISD.

Conterra began in Charlotte, North Carolina, in the 1990s by providing a fiber backbone for carriers like AT&T and Verizon, along with fiber to area school districts. They also provide business Internet; ethernet and VoIP technology that link multiple business locations, government, school districts and commercial businesses; along with back-up services if a network goes down.

"We have an extensive network here in Las Cruces and it's constantly expanding," said Conterra Senior Account Executive Carlos Medina.

Conterra's 100 percent fiber-based network is why LCDF partnered with the company for its 18 locations throughout Doña Ana County, said Medina, who lives in Las Cruces.

Providing fiber for all its services rather than a mix of copper, coaxial and fiber "improves the performance of the network and the quality of the services you get," said Conterra Area Sales Manager

Kirk Jefferson, a native of El Paso.

"If you've got fiber in the ground, you can upgrade and expand the network," Boberg said. "If you have copper or coax underground, you have to rip it out and replace it to be fully fiber."

Sales Engineer Pablo Rojo of El Paso said he worked with a local car dealership that had gotten used to poor Internet service.

"Those times are over," Rojo said. "You don't have to put up with that kind of stuff. The way we approach our clients is to ask questions ... to help

Booming Santa Teresa helps spur New Mexico to record export year in 2021

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

Led by the boom in Santa Teresa, the state of New Mexico "had a record year for exports in 2021," said New Mexico International Business Accelerator (NMIBA) Executive Director Jerry Pacheco.

The state's exports to the world were 46 percent higher in December 2021 than December 2020, according to an NMIBA report citing statistics from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The state had almost $4.5 billion in exports in 2021, Pacheco said, compared to almost $3.7 billion in 2020, almost $4.7 billion in 2019, $3.9 billion in 2018 and almost $3.7 billion in 2017.

"Santa Teresa has boomed during the pandemic and never had to recover," said Pacheco, who is also president of the Border Industrial Association. "This is evidenced by the strong export performance. The recruitment of new companies that export to Mexico accounts for the lion's share of exports. These companies are primarily located in Santa Teresa," he said.

Pacheco said the Russian invasion of Ukraine that began in late February is "developing and it is too early to speculate" on its economic impact on New Mexico exports. However, Pacheco said he expects the export trend to continue.

"Virtually every new company that we recruit them fulfill their mission," he said. "We give them exactly what they need, and we have an idea for the future — what do you want to do down the line?"

Boberg said Conterra has moved into the Southwest as part of its focus on underserved markets like El Paso and Las Cruces/Doña Ana County.

Having a premium fiber network is important to Las Cruces, Boberg said, because its availability is one thing businesses look for when they relocate or expand.

"If Internet is slow or unreliable and, if you don't have access to premium band-width services, they are likely to pass your city by," Boberg said.

"Businesses in Las Cruces have demanded better Internet service, and Conterra Networks is here to deliver," said Conterra President and CEO Craig Gunderson.

Aggies end memorable season on a couple of bittersweet notes

It was a season everyone associated with the New Mexico State University men's basketball team will long remember, but there was also a twinge of the most bitter-sweet emotion of all — of what might have been.

DAVE BURGE

Beyond the pressbox

The Aggies, 27-7 overall, won their first NCAA tournament game in 29 years, upsetting the University of Connecticut 70-63 March 17 behind Teddy Allen's 37 points and came tantalizingly close to advancing to the Sweet 16, losing 53-48 to Arkansas March 19 in the second round.

Adding to the bitter-sweet end to the season, head coach Chris Jans took the head coaching job at Southeastern Conference member Mississippi State not even 24 hours after the Aggies' season ended.

That ended a stellar five-year run for Jans in Las Cruces, in which his teams won four Western Athletic Conference titles and went to the NCAA tournament three times.

Jans, during what turned out to be his final news conference as Aggies coach, got emotional when talking about this year's team.

"None of us wanted it to end," Jans said, shortly after the loss to Arkansas. "It's been special. We wanted to soak it up. I tried to get them to understand how rare these runs are and create some memories.

"We weren't shy about talking about San Francisco (where they would have gone to if they had advanced to the Sweet 16) and beyond," Jans added. "To be honest with you, I thought this team had a chance to make one of those special runs. Unfortunately, it didn't happen."

It still accomplished plenty. Besides the victory over UConn, the Aggies also won a share of the WAC regular-season title and won the conference tournament.

"We won a game in March Madness," Jans said. "That is probably what I will remember the most. I'm happy we gave that to our fan base; they have been starving for that. I'm sure they are disappointed tonight, like we all are. As the days get away and we gain some perspective, I think we will look back fondly on what we accomplished this year but (this loss to Arkansas) will sting for quite some time."

The Aggies committed 12 turnovers in the first half against Arkansas and managed to score just 17 first-half points, but found themselves down by just nine at the break.

NM State battled back to briefly take the lead in the second half but Arkansas went on a run to put the game away.

In the first game, it was Teddy Allen with the heroics. His 37 points were the most scored ever in an NCAA tournament game at KeyBank Center in Buffalo, N.Y. Jameer Nelson of St. Joseph's had held the record with 33 points in a game with Liberty in 2004.

Against Arkansas, it was Oñate High product Johnny McCants who

New NM State football coach is on a mission to get you pumped up

By DAVE BURGE

Las Cruces Bulletin

New Mexico State University football coach Jerry Kill is on a 24/7 mission to sell his program and get players, fans and the wider community pumped up about it.

Spring football practice kicked off March 15 with a little different atmosphere under the direction of the Aggies' new coach — with music blaring from the sound system at Aggie Memorial Stadium and the public invited to attend practice.

"I tell them as long as you have insurance,

Coach Jerry Kill talks to his players at the end of a spring practice session March 17 at Aggie Memorial Stadium.

I don't care where you stand on the field," Kill joked.

Kill was hired last November after a 2-10 season. New Mexico State has a reputation for being one of the hardest places to win in college football.

But that doesn't deter Kill or keep him from being optimistic. He is well-known for turning around programs, most notably at Minnesota in the Big Ten.

"I am fortunate to have turned about five programs around," Kill said. "They are all different, too. This one, we are focusing on fundamentals and technique."

Kill said the players he has on the roster have been receptive and energetic. And he's thrilled with their attitude.

"The kids have been tremendously responsive,"

Kill said. "I think they have bought into what we do. I don't think they have ever worked like this and this fast (paced)."

While conceding the program needs to attract more talent in the future, Kill is liking what he is seeing so far.

"I haven't had one player talk back to me," he said. "It's all, 'Yes, sir.' 'No, sir.' We have to get more talent and all that stuff. These are the guys right now. All I can ask them: It takes no talent to play hard. It takes no talent to give effort. It takes no talent to know what to do if you concentrate and focus."

Getting the fans and community to buy into the program is also crucial, Kill said.

"When you take over a program, it's not your program. It's not mine," he said. "It's the school's program. It is Las Cruces' program. It's the lettermen's program. It is all those people's program. Our job is to make them proud of the program."

Offensive coordinator Tim Beck said the kids are "trying extremely hard."

"We are putting a whole new system in," Beck said.

This month, let's pay tribute to history-making women golfers

In appreciation of Women's History Month during March, I thought it would be appropriate to honor some of the important women golfers of our time. Two of them were inducted into the World Golf Hall of Fame (WGHF) a couple of weeks ago, and two others from New Mexico were already there. These four are Susie Maxwells Berning, Marion Hollins, Nancy Lopez and Kathy Whitworth. There are a total of 37 women currently on the WGHF.

First, Susie Berning (WGHF 2022) is originally from Pasadena, California, and moved to Oklahoma City when she was 13. She promptly won three Oklahoma State high school championships. After playing college golf at Oklahoma City University, she joined the LPGA Tour in 1964.

During her professional LPGA career, spanning most of three decades, she had 11 LPGA wins, including three U.S. Women's Open championships,

Next is Marion Hollins (WGHF 2022, posthumously). Hollins (1892-1944) was a fine American amateur golfer. In fact, she qualified for the U.S. Women's Amateur 15 times, and was runner-up on her first attempt in 1913; she won the event in 1921. However, Hollins is best known as a golf-course architect and developer, a truly unique combination for a woman in that era. During the 1920s she played a major role in developing the Monterey Peninsula into a golf mecca, having been involved in Pebble Beach, Cypress Point and Pasatiempo at Santa Cruz. After becoming friends with Bobby Jones, she also inspired Jones to pick Alister MacKenzie to be co-designer of Augusta National. Hollins would soon become MacKenzie's "eyes and ears" — to report back her valued impressions of the course as it was being constructed.

Kathy Whitworth had 88 professional career wins (including six majors), the most victories than any other golfer on either the LPGA or PGA Tours — six more than Sam Snead and Tiger Woods. Whitworth was born in Monahans, Texas, but grew up in Jal, New Mexico, and went to Odessa College. She was LPGA Player of the Year seven times and won the Vare Trophy for best scoring average seven times, all between 1965 and 1973.

She is a member of the New Mexico Hall of Fame, Texas Sports Hall of Fame, Texas Golf Hall of Fame and the Women's Sports Hall of Fame. At the celebrated opening of Sierra Del Rio Golf Club in Truth or Consequences in 2008, which hosted a small LPGA exhibition event, Whitworth gave a brief clinic and I had a chance to chat with her on that occasion. She is friendly, forthcoming and personable; and oh by the way, she had a flawless golf swing at 69. She was inducted into the World Golf Hall of Fame in 1975.

Nancy Lopez was born in Torrance, California, but spent her childhood in Roswell, New Mexico. She had prodigious golf skills as a kid. She won the New Mexico Women's Amateur in 1969 when she was 12 years old. When she was a student at Goddard High School in Roswell, she was so good she played on the boys golf team. As a college freshman in 1976, Lopez was named All-American and Female Athlete of the Year for her play at the University of Tulsa.

She left college in her sophomore year and turned pro in 1977. During her first full season on the LPGA Tour in 1978, she won nine tournaments. Lopez is considered to be one of the greatest women golfers ever, having amassed 51 professional wins, and was named LPGA Player of the Year four times and the Vare Trophy winner three times. Lopez was inducted into the WGHF in 1987.

Allen finished with 12 points against Arkansas.

Jans said McCants cemented his legacy as an "Aggie legend for life."

McCants said he played his heart out and didn't want the season to end.

After the UConn game, McCants, Allen and Jabari Rice all said they were thrilled to be able to win a game in the NCAA tournament for Aggie fans across the state of New Mexico and the country.

"I love our fans," McCants said after the UConn game. "They are basically the heart and soul of our team. They bring energy and pick us up."

Aggie fans could say the same thing about McCants and this bunch — about the energy and joy they brought all season long, even if the ending wasn't quite what everyone wanted.

A Refresher on What NOT to Recycle

Submitted by South Central Solid Waste Authority

The strength of the Las Cruces Recycling Program relies on each person knowing what goes in their blue recycling container and what doesn't. For each bag of trash, pizza box with grease, and any stray Styrofoam, the entire truckload would be at risk of contamination when being screened.

Las Cruces: Do you know what does NOT go in your recycling container?

Do NOT Bag Recycling

While you should bag your regular trash, your recycling gets sorted through a mechanical process and by human hands. Cans are separated from cardboard, and plastic bottles go in a different recycling stream than shredded paper. When recycling is in a bag, it can't be sorted and determined if it is recycling or trash and must be removed and landfilled. The plastic trash bag also tends to get caught in the recycling machinery and damages the equipment.

Do NOT Recycle Styrofoam

Styrofoam of any kind cannot be recycled. This includes packing peanuts commonly used in moving boxes, Styrofoam coffee cups, coolers, etc. Since Styrofoam cannot be recycled and is not biodegradable, it's best to avoid using this item whenever possible and, at minimum, never let it go in the blue bin.

Do NOT Recycle Anything with Food

While your late-night pizza or Chinese takeout may come in cardboard containers, these types of boxes cannot be recycled. Any grease or food particles present is contamination and can potentially contaminate the other clean materials to be recycled. Plus, materials with grease or food particles lure rodents and insects, known as "vectors," in the industry. Vectors transfer viruses & bacteria, and diseases to humans, causing a health and safety issue at a Material Recovery Facilities.

Do NOT Recycle "Tanglers"

Old rubber garden hoses might feel like a safe bet to recycle, but, along with things like wire extension cords, these are more examples of aspirational recycling, where you might believe there is a way to recycle them: remember: "When in doubt, throw it out." When tanglers come into the recycling stream in Las Cruces, they will find no home and damage sorting machines.

Remember to Keep It Simple and Dry

Things that can be recycled are clean, dry, and typically simple items. The most valuable recycling materials are corrugated cardboard, from Amazon or USPS, or plastic bottles, like rinsed milk jugs, and aluminum, steel, or tin cans.

South Central Solid Waste Authority manages recyclables and solid waste for residents and businesses throughout Doña Ana County. Contact SCSWA at (575) 528-3800 or visit www.SCSWA.net.
