Doña Ana Community College continues to evolve

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

“It’s a pretty exciting moment in higher education,” Doña Ana Community College President Monica Torres said in an interview.

While colleges and universities across the country have seen enrollments decline the last five years, especially since the onset of the pandemic, Torres said DACC is broadening its reach into and connection with the community it serves and is focused more than ever on the quality of each student’s college and life experience.

“We can’t think of higher education the way we’ve done historically,” said Torres, who has been

DACC president since May 2019 after spending the previous five years as DACC’s vice president for academic affairs. “It’s more than what you offer and where you’re located.”

Because Covid-19 has intensified socio-economic disparities, displaced families and reduced opportunities for people of color and women, DACC has changed how it connects with students and potential students, she said.

Through direct assistance like DACC’s emergency aid fund and community partnerships, staff are connecting students who may be “one step from dropping out” with wrap-around services that include food, housing, transportation, childcare and other necessities, Torres said.

DACC’s Avanza (“Advance”) program, funded by a grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation, is also helping low-income students with mentoring, career exploration and employment readiness.

DACC also has filled one of its recruiting positions with a community organizer, Torres said. That person will continue to visit high schools and job fairs, but also will reach out to “families not historically welcomed” into a community college setting, she said.

And, because private industry is also changing, DACC is more focused than ever on workforce development training.

That has meant “a different kind of community engagement for DACC,” Torres said, changing its question to businesses throughout Doña Ana County from “What can you do to help us?” to “How can we help you?”

DACC has also broadened its outreach into the community, talking more with nonprofits, churches and individual businesses and potential employers, Torres said.

The DACC dental clinic on the NMSU campus in Las Cruces is one example. The clinic provides a wide range of dental services to the community at a reduced cost as it prepares students for careers as dental hygienists and for other jobs in the health care industry. The program also trains students as billing specialists.

DACC also plays an important role in film production in Doña Ana County. Its cutting-edge Creative Media Technology (CMT) program is training students for high-paying jobs on movie and television crews and in computer

Cannabis industry up and running in Las Cruces as of April 1

BULLETIN REPORT

The Las Cruces City Council was updated at its March 28 work session on the start of the adult-use cannabis industry, which began April 1 in Las Cruces and statewide.

New Mexico is the 17th state to legally allow recreational marijuana to be produced, sold and used by adults 21 years old and older.

Council members were told by city staff that 72 applications for cannabis licenses have been initiated by the city with the state Cannabis Control Division of the New Mexico Regulation and Licensing Department.

"The state has been doing rule making for the past year," Timothy Pitts, Ph.D., deputy director of city building development, told councilors at the work session. That has included a lot of rewriting, he said.

In dealing with evolving

state regulations of recreational cannabis sales, city staff has "done an excellent job," City Councilor Yvonne Flores told Pitts.

"We have one of the most progressive ordinances across the state," Mayor Pro Tempore Kasandra Gandara said.

In Las Cruces, current registrations include 13 producers, four microbusinesses, one manufacturer, one courier, three for medical sales and 18 for recreational sales.

City staff also said there has not been any concentration of cannabis business registration applications for any area of the city.

Zoning conditions for adult-use cannabis will include that sales and use will not be allowed within 300 feet of any school or daycare center, consumption will be restricted to indoor use only, a cannabis retailer or microbusiness must operate at least 300 feet from any single-family residential zone and can be no closer than 300 feet from each other and cannabis microbusinesses in the city's Equestrian Estate (EE) and

Single-Family Residential Estate Mobile (REM) zoning districts will be required to apply for special use permits to operate.

Further, microbusinesses in the EE and REM districts are limited to 200 or fewer mature cannabis plants, must grow them on-site where permitted, and all plants must be in a fully enclosed accessory building that is at least 100 feet from any residences.

Any business applications that deviate from these distance regulations will require a special use permit or variance depending upon the type of deviation.

Las Cruces police emphasized that motorists driving under the influence of cannabis will continue to be illegal; smoking cannabis in public will be punishable by a $50 fine; and any possession on school property or at a daycare will be a misdemeanor, regardless of the age of the offender. Public possession of two to eight ounces of cannabis will be a misdemeanor, and possession of more

Academy for Learning in Retirement

APRIL 2022

THE 500-YEAR ANNIVERSARY OF THE EUROPEAN CONQUEST OF MEXICO
PRESENTED BY DR. RANI ALEXANDER

DR. RANI ALEXANDER

The Academy for Learning in Retirement's April 2022 series will discuss the conquest of Tenochtitlan, the capital city of the Aztec Empire, by Spaniards and their Native allies. It will discuss the pandemic that spread during and after that conquest. The series will help us to understand the transformations that connect these events to the modern world.

Our presenter, Dr. Rani Alexander, earned her Ph.D. in Anthropology in 1993 at the University of New Mexico. She is a Professor and Department Head of the Department of Anthropology at NMSU.

This will be a one week Tuesday-Thursday series. You may register at dacc.nmsu.edu/ALR. If you register for the Full-Semester Tuition option for Spring 2022, you will also receive recorded broadcasts for our January, February and March presentations. We will e-mail a Zoom link to registrants the evening before each presentation. While programs begin at 10:30 a.m., audience members may log in after 10:00 a.m.

■ Tuesday, April 12
Conquest or Invasion: How did a Ragged Band of Foreigners Topple the Most Powerful Empire in Ancient Mexico? This presentation will discuss seven myths about the Spanish conquest as well as the impact of the European invasion on the cultural development of Indigenous societies in the Americas.

■ Thursday, April 14
The First Global Pandemic. This presentation will discuss the impact of the smallpox epidemic touched off by the Spanish invasion, and will assess whether the pandemic or other causes led to a massive decline in the Indigenous population of Mesoamerica.

Programs begin at 10:30 a.m., audience members may log in after 10:00 a.m.

Please go to dacc.nmsu.edu/ALR to register for sessions. Your e-mail address will go into our database and we will e-mail you the Zoom link the evening before each presentation you purchased.

Why move to Las Cruces? Why not?

It happens every year. We think spring has arrived, then we get a snap of cold weather, forcing us to dig out our coats again. Last week, the bitter cold and wind coincided with the New Mexico State University baseball team's annual home game against rival UNM. That's about the fifth time in the last dozen years the Aggie-Lobo baseball game has been mired by miserable weather.

April Fool's Day, however, did not tease us this year, and the warmer, sunnier weather seems here to stay.

April 2 was a perfect day for the Downtown Las Cruces Farmers & Crafts Market, as well as anything else you wanted to do outside.

I was at the market Saturday when presented with an interesting challenge.

I stopped at the booth of TCMB Designs, run by my friend and former colleague Theresa Basaldua, who makes uniquely beautiful jewelry from laser-cut wood designs. Theresa was visiting with a couple who had a baby. The couple was relocating from Maine and considering a move to Las Cruces.

RICHARD COLTHARP
From the Publisher

"Richard," Theresa nearly shouted. "Can you tell these lovely people why they should move to Las Cruces?"

If you read this column regularly, you know I love Las Cruces, and this felt almost like a challenge, a pop quiz of sorts.

"First of all," I told the couple, "if you like this weather, it's this nice about two-thirds of the year. The traffic is a breeze, and there's an international airport 45 minutes away."

Those were the easy ones you can rattle off without thinking.

"The university," I continued, "brings a lot of things to Las Cruces you wouldn't normally find in a city this size. See that building right over there? That's COAS Books and it's one of the best bookstores in America. I've traveled all over the country, and I love bookstores, so I can say that with confidence."

Then I related a scene I had just seen in COAS.

"They have a Saturday morning story time," I said. "And this week it was something special. Instead of someone reading from a book, the storyteller was Florence Hamilton, a 100-year-old African-American woman, telling stories from memory about her life and adventures. (The story I heard was about Nozee the dog.)"

We Las Cruces also love to brag about our Organ Mountains.

"You see those beautiful mountains? They amaze in many ways. The other day, I was on the East Mesa before sunrise. The sun had started to emerge, but well hidden by the Organs. However, the light behind turned the mountains into a stunning silhouette, with stars dotting the sky."

It felt like I was getting a little too artistic, so I brought it down to earth a bit.

"We have some of the best and most flavorful food in America," I said, my stomach still smiling from the huevos compuestas I had a half hour earlier, when my daughter and I ate at La Nueva Casita Café, just a couple of blocks from the market. But I couldn't shut up about the mountains. "They're more than just something pretty to see, you can do things in them too. My daughter and I just hiked up in Soledad Canyon."

In my zeal to come up with the perfect laundry list for these potential new residents, I forgot

Local businesses don't get equal chance from state

The top priority for our state's leaders, not just this year but for the next several years, must be to diversify our economy and break free from our complete dependence on oil and gas revenue.

It was with that goal in mind that Gov. Michelle Lujan Grisham called legislators back into a special session last year after the regular session had failed to produce legislation legalizing the sale and production of marijuana.

WALT RUBEL
The View
From Here

The state's nascent cannabis industry took its first steps Friday, April 1, as doors opened to customers for the first time.

"This is an historic day for New Mexico — the beginning of a new economic opportunity for entrepreneurs and communities across the state," the governor said in a prepared statement. "...We have crafted a well-regulated industry that is creating jobs, spurring economic activity and generating revenue for state and local governments."

Unfortunately, as is so often the case, those opportunities will not be equally available to entrepreneurs in all parts of the state. Santa Fe and Albuquerque will, once again, have an unfair advantage.

That's because the state began its foray into this new industry with just two state-approved laboratories in place to perform the tests needed before the product can be sold to the public. One is in Albuquerque, the other is in Santa Fe.

For growers in rural parts of the state, the lack of a nearby lab creates an additional burden and expense. But for those who live in Las Cruces and other communities south of the U.S. Border Patrol checkpoints, the risks can be far greater.

Under existing federal law, Border Patrol agents can confiscate both the product and the profits of entrepreneurs, according to a recent story by New Mexico Political Report.

We can, and should, rail against the federal government for drug laws that reflect the best collective knowledge of the

Junior spending bill has important place, but needs transparency

By DOREEN GALLEGOS

New Mexico State Representative

Much has been written lately about the supplemental appropriation bill (SB48) that's referred to as "House Bill 2 Jr." in the Legislature. This bill is often the only opportunity for legislators to fund programs, small projects or small purchases in our respective districts. We can fund larger capital projects in separate legislation but "House Bill 2 Jr." is the opportunity to provide other resources to our constituents. This is important for our rural areas and colonias in Doña Ana County.

I reject the notion that these appropriations are not well vetted. I work closely with locally elected officials who are in the best position to advise me on the critical needs in their communities. They give me details on the needs and often help with specific language in the appropriation requests so that no errors are made. It is this direct dialogue and input that ensures the projects are vetted and needed. Additionally, the professional staff of the Legislative Finance Committee provides their expertise on many of the appropriation requests throughout the process. All the appropriation requests are combined into a bill that is printed, published and available to anyone who wishes to read it. Afterward, those funded programs or projects are monitored by various agencies in state government.

One aspect that is lacking in this process is transparency. There is not an accompanying spreadsheet of sponsor funded requests to the "House Bill 2 Jr." bill as there is for capital outlay bill and those projects. This should change. I support that change and so do my colleagues in the House. I believe the House will act to correct this problem when we meet in Special Session on April 5. In the spirit of transparency, however, I funded the following projects in "House Bill 2 Jr."

$80,000 to the Anthony Police Department for equipment.

$50,000 to the Anthony Library.

$50,000 to Doña Ana County for backup generators for wastewater systems in Anthony/Vado/Berino.

$50,000 to expand to Las Cruces the Domestic Violence Coordinate Community Response staff at CYFD.

$80,000 for a senior women's athletics coordinator at NMSU.

$50,000 warrant enforcement staff support at the 3rd Judicial District Court.

My capital outlay projects (SB212), along with all other legislators' allocations, can be found on the legislative website at this link: SFC SUB SB212 Projects with Sponsor by County WGA, 2022.pdf (nmlegis.gov).

Make no mistake, the current capital outlay and "House Bill 2 Jr." process might not be perfect, but it guarantees that rural New Mexico and Doña

Ana County receive some amount of funding that we deserve as taxpayers. I am proud of the dollars I have brought home to Doña Ana County and House District 52. These dollars generate spending, create jobs and improve the quality of life to New Mexicans.

Doreen Gallegos, a Democrat, was elected to represent New Mexico House of Representatives District 52 in 2012 and re-elected in 2014, 2016, 2018 and 2020. She is a candidate for re-election in 2022. She is majority whip in the New Mexico House of Representatives.

EQUAL

1950s.

It is beyond ridiculous that marijuana, a Schedule 1 drug, is considered more dangerous than Schedule 2 drugs like cocaine, fentanyl and oxycodone.

We can, and should, expect Border Patrol agents to respect the will of the communities where they serve, although there is no indication that they intend to do so.

But this isn't on the feds. State leaders knew what the federal laws were, and should have ensured that needed services were in place for southern New Mexico businesses.

You can bet they would have if it were businesses in Albuquerque or Santa Fe being jeopardized.

This isn't the first time state economic development plans have left out most of the state. During the Richardson administration, we began giving generous tax credits to lure film production to New Mexico. And, a new industry started to grow — almost exclusively in Albuquerque and Santa Fe.

Las Cruces was late to the party, but has recently started to take advantage of the credits. Taxpayers everywhere else in the state continue to pay into a fund to prop up an industry that will never benefit them. That focus needs to change if we expect this new industry to benefit the entire state.

We can't have a well-regulated cannabis industry without adequate testing capacity. It's up to state leaders to find a solution that allows entrepreneurs throughout the state to take advantage of this new industry.

“Thousands of people have done this work,” Casa de Peregrinos (CdP) Executive Director Lorenzo Alba said March 31 as the emergency food program broke ground on its new building at 991 W. Amador Ave.

“This is the most generous community you could ever live in,” said Alba, who is in his 11th year leading CdP. The work the nonprofit has done since it was begun by four people from Holy Cross Catholic Church in 1979 is about “people taking care of people,” Alba said.

“The work CdP has done and will continue to do is vital to our communities,” said state Rep.

Longtime county employee Ruben Reyes running for assessor

BULLETIN REPORT

Ruben Reyes, retired Doña Ana County geographic information system (GIS) analyst supervisor and independent contractor, is a candidate for Doña Ana County assessor in the June 7 Democratic primary, Reyes announced in a news release.

Reyes and his wife, Marcella, are long-time residents of Doña Ana County. They have two children and three grandchildren, the news release said.

With more than 27 years of experience, working in every section of the county assessor's office, Reyes said he "brings extensive knowledge in departmental procedures, county ordinances, state statutes and assessment-based appraisals as a certified appraiser" as a candidate for assessor.

While under his supervision, the county GIS mapping department was used as the model for other counties across the state, Reyes said.

He was also a member of the New Mexico Association of Counties GIS affiliate during his eight years as the county GIS analyst supervisor, Reyes said.

After retiring from the county in 2019, Reyes completed a bachelor of applied science degree with a minor in GIS in December 2021 from New Mexico State University, he said, and started a GIS consulting business, Triple R Consulting.

"If elected to the office of county assessor, I pledge to run the office with an emphasis towards the people of the county through excellent customer service, timely and accurate data, along with a strong, cooperative staff," Reyes said, adding that he also pledges to establish consistent and fair property valuations.

"A healthy relationship with other county offices, cities, villages and private businesses is the next step towards an improved and successful office," Reyes said.

Current County Assessor Leticia Duarte-Benavidez, a Democrat, was elected in 2018. She is not seeking a second four-year term as assessor.

Gina Montoya Ortega, who has previously run for county treasurer and for mayor, also filed to run in the Democratic primary for county assessor.

There is no Republican candidate in the assessor race.

in existing and emerging industries.

DACC is in the design phase of a $5.4 million digital media facility that will "enhance and support research and economic development," Torres said. The project is part of a "creative campus" partnership with NMSU, the City of Las Cruces, Las Cruces Public Schools, Burrell College of Osteopathic Medicine and others that could include in a multi-million-dollar film studio in Las Cruces.

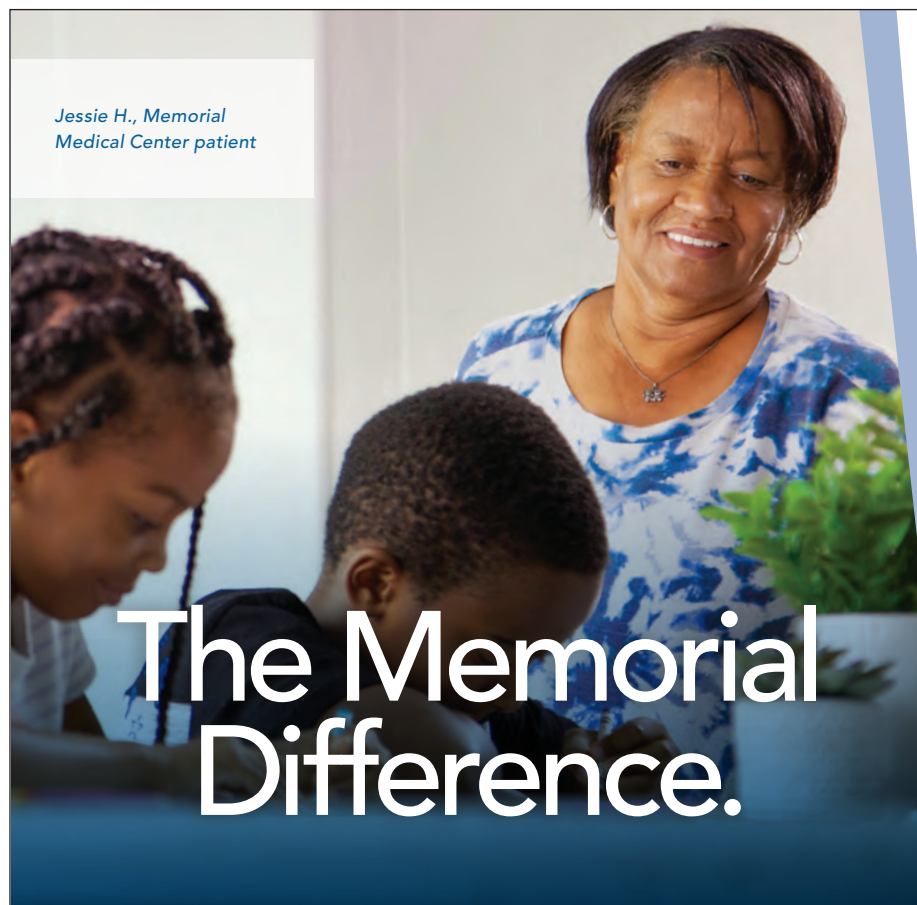

DACC's community engagement "is the best I've ever seen," Torres said.

With six locations stretching from Sunland Park to Hatch, "We are part of the community," she said.

As DACC continues to evolve to meet the changing needs of students and employers, there is one constant, Torres said: the focus on student success.

"Quality in the classroom is critical," Torres said.

Patricia S. 'Susie' Kimble announces run for county commission

BULLETIN REPORT

Patricia S. "Susie" Kimble is running for Doña Ana County Commission District 3, Kimble announced in a news release. She will be a candidate in the June 7 Republican primary.

Kimble said she has lived in Doña Ana County since 1986 and has worked in health care for the past 23 years with a primary focus on behavioral health, including substance abuse. Kimble said her work has centered on relationship building, business development and "working to find solutions for those in need of services."

Kimble is chair of the New Mexico Behavioral Health Planning Council, an advisory body to the governor that is tasked with overseeing a mental-health block grant and advising the governor on behavioral health issues, Kimble said. She was appointed to the council by Gov. Bill Richardson and reappointed by Gov. Susana Martinez and Gov. Michelle Lujan Grisham.

As a council member, Kimble said she is an advocate for increased funding and access to behavioral health services across the state.

Kimble said she has been a member of LC3

PATRICIA S. "SUSIE" KIMBLE

behavioral health collaborative since its inception in 2005. Kimble said LC3 works to bring behavioral health peers, providers, advocates, family members and others together to build a strong behavioral health system in the county.

Kimble is the owner of Judy Enterprises, a strategic information group that provides health care support, research and guidance to providers, employers and governmental clients, she said. Judy Enterprises' work has included insurer analysis and reimbursement trends for commercial and government payers, regulatory compliance, coding/billing, audit support and market analysis. The group's clients have included behavioral-health companies and physician groups, including primary care, physical therapy, urgent care and free-standing emergency clinics, Kimble said. Research has involved regulatory and policy analysis regarding Medicare and Medicaid and reimbursement trends involving commercial insurers and government payers, Kimble said.

Kimble said she has attended the National Association of Medicaid Directors Conference for several years, strengthening her knowledge of federally funded health care programs.

Kimble has served on the governing council of New America School Las Cruces, a public charter school, since the school's planning year of 2011 and is the current president of the council, which oversees operations, finances and growth of the school, she said.

Kimble said New America School "serves students who are looking for support and assistance that helps them overcome obstacles in their lives; many students are English-language learners. Many have had an interruption in their education, and all students qualify for free lunch and breakfast due to their socio-economic status."

Kimble is a founding member and past president of the Junior League of Las Cruces, a charitable volunteer organization that promotes volunteerism, development of the potential of women and improving communities through the effective action and leadership of trained volunteers.

She is married and has two adult children and one grandchild.

"I believe my experience in behavioral health, education and management will be an asset to the board of commissioners of Doña Ana County, and thereby the citizens of the county," Kimble said.

Kimble described commission District 3 as encompassing a large portion of the East Mesa south of U.S. Highway 70 as well as the region between Interstate 25 and Telshor Boulevard, then south to Tortugas and extending to the southern part of the county.

Las Cruces Utilities has a new deputy director of water who has worked his way through different stages of utility work and is now eager to continue his service to Las Cruces and its residents.

Ronald N. Borunda has been with LCU for three years but has over 18 years of experience in both water and wastewater. Previously in Alamogordo working as the utility maintenance manager, Borunda moved to Las Cruces to join LCU as a waterline maintenance supervisor.

“I’ve worked in the trenches, responding to on-call requests to fix main breaks in the middle of the night, so I know the dedication it takes to be a part of a utility,” said Borunda.

Borunda will now oversee the Water Operations and Maintenance line of business which has four programs: Water Administration; Water Line Maintenance; Water Production; and Meters, Valves and Hydrants (MVH).

“I was ambitious to grow and thrive within the industry, specifically within LCU, which has the reputation as one of the best-run utilities in the state,” said Borunda.

Borunda is a certified water level 4 operator with the State of New Mexico, a years-long process that enables him to know not only the pumps and pipes but how the distribution systems of wells and underground water make up the stability of the water system for Las Cruces.

LCU produces over 6 billion gallons of clean, safe drinking water annually. The City of Las Cruces (City) water system pumps from two deep aquifers, the Mesilla Bolson and the Jornada Bolson. LCU maintains more than 700 miles of underground water lines, 40 wells, 20 storage tanks, 17 booster stations, and 41 regulating valves.

“LCU proactively works to meet the needs of our customers, day and night,” he said. “Our crews are proud of being a part of their city having clean, safe, and reliable water flowing from the tap at any time. We work around the clock and all year long to ensure our citizens have water at the turn of their faucets and can rest easy knowing their water is safe to drink.”

Borunda is also a certified level 3 wastewater operator and has an associate degree in General Engineering but aims to complete a bachelor’s degree in Civil Engineering, with a focus on Water Resources, as time allows in the next few years.

“Water is crucial to our lives in the desert,” said Borunda, “and while there might be changes in how we use our water, it’s our job at LCU to make sure that residents can always depend on water being safe and available in Las Cruces.”

Ag college to host open house for community

BULLETIN REPORT

After a two-year hiatus, New Mexico State University's College of Agriculture, Consumer and Environmental Sciences (ACES) will open its doors to the public for its third ACES Open House.

The free, fun, family friendly event will take place 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, April 9, at several of the college's buildings, labs and auxiliary units on the NMSU Las Cruces campus.

"This year's open house will give the opportunity to all the residents of Las Cruces and New Mexico to visit ACES facilities, look at our advancements and learn about the research and activities that are being conducted to benefit all New Mexicans," ACES Dean Rolando A. Flores Galarza said.

Visitors should start at the welcome tent outside Gerald Thomas Hall, 900 E. College Drive, where they can pick up a complimentary reusable shopping bag and an exploration map listing all areas that can be visited along with a spot to collect stamps for the places visited. When visitors are done exploring the college, they can return to the welcome tent to collect a small promotional

Learning academy explores European conquest of Mexico

BULLETIN REPORT

The Academy for Learning in Retirement's (ALR) April 2022 series, via Zoom, will discuss the European conquest of Mexico and the smallpox pandemic that spread in the wake of that conquest, ALR said in a news release.

The presenter, Rani Alexander, Ph.D., is a professor and department head in the Department of Anthropology at New Mexico State University.

There will be two presentations in this series:

- Tuesday, April 12:

RANI ALEXANDER

Conquest or Invasion: How did a Ragged Band of Foreigners Topple the Most Powerful Empire in Ancient Mexico?

- Thursday, April 14: The First Global Pandemic.

Alexander will discuss seven myths about the Spanish conquest of Mexico and the impact of the European invasion on further cultural developments of indigenous societies in the Americas.

Alexander will also discuss the smallpox pandemic and other diseases that followed the conquest. Did the epidemics lead to a 90 percent decline in the indigenous populations of Mesoamerica? Were there other causes that contributed to this demographic disaster?

Register for the presentations at <https://dacc.nmsu.edu/alr/>. ALR will e-mail a Zoom link to registrants the evening before each presentation.

Programs begin at 10:30 a.m.; audience members may log in after 10 a.m.

Members who enroll for the full-semester tuition option will receive recorded broadcasts of ALR's January, February and March presentations. Registration for the two April sessions alone is $10.

ALR is a nonprofit started in 1992 by former NMSU President Gerald Thomas, along with retired deans Thomas Gale, Virginia Higbie, Flavia McCormick and others, including former professor and teacher Clarence Fielder.

It is a volunteer-run organization whose purpose is to provide meaningful presentations on diverse topics of interest to members of the community. ALR is affiliated with, but not funded by NMSU through Doña Ana Community College.

Local volunteers honored by Make-A-Wish New Mexico

BULLETIN REPORT

The Southern New Mexico Make-A-Wish Ambassadors (SNMMAWA) were recently honored as the 2021 volunteer of the year by Make-A-Wish New Mexico in Albuquerque, SNMMAWA said in a news release.

The nine ambassadors are Chris Woods, Jan Morehead, Andrea Tawney, Roseanne Bensley, Pam Doyle, Christy Buchanan, Judy Ward, Jenifer Lichtenfels and Dan Howard.

Other Las Cruces honorees at the dinner were The Hood owner Richard Parra and Frankie Torres, owner of Chala's Wood Fire Grill, for their support of fundraising efforts on behalf of Make-A-Wish NM.

"In a year in which Covid forced the cancellation of many events and volunteer activities, SN-MAWA not only hosted a very successful fundraising event, they continued to interview wish children and to help grant wishes," Make-A-Wish NM CEO Sara Lister said in the news release. "Their passion inspires us all."

"We are grateful for the recognition, but much more than that, thankful to be in a position to help some of the most vulnerable children and families in our community," ambassador Christy Buchanan said.

The fundraising efforts of the ambassadors continue this year with Love at First Wish 2022. This fourth annual event, a dinner at The Hood New Mexico catered by Chala's Wood Fire Grill, will be held Saturday, April 23.

MOVE

the most important thing: the people.

Except for the mountains and the weather, everything good about Las Cruces was created by its people.

Our people represent a wide variety of cultures.

They are creative. They are hard-working. They are caring and generous.

Perhaps most of all, Las Cruces are friendly.

Since I don't have TV, a couple of times during March Madness, I've gone to the Game 2 to watch some basketball games. Each time, I made new friends. It's easy to do here.

Will this couple actually move to Las Cruces? Who knows.

If they're like so many other people who have moved here from somewhere else, they'll consider the low cost of living, the dry climate and other things.

But if they do move here, it's certain one of the clinchers will be, "We really like the people in Las Cruces."

Pro trainer to conduct rattlesnake aversion clinic for dogs

BY MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

Professional dog trainer Terry Chandler of Las Cruces will conduct a rattlesnake aversion clinic for dogs and dog owners beginning at 8 a.m. Saturday, April 16, at Talavera Fire Station, 8500 Achenbach Canyon Road in Las Cruces.

The cost is $85 for registrations completed by April 9 and $100 for registrations accepted after April 9 and up through the day of the clinic, which will be open as long as there are spaces available.

Chandler said he has been training dogs professionally across the country for more than 40 years and has conducted rattlesnake aversion clinics for more than 30 years.

Through trial and error, Chandler said he discovered the only way to train a dog to avoid rattlers is to use a live rattlesnake out in the open.

"I had to learn how to render the rattlesnake to where it was harmless to man or beast," Chandler said.

That means milking and defanging the snake, "which is a very intricate procedure," he said, because it involves removing not only the fangs in use, but also up to four sets of "backup" fangs.

"In our clinic, we put the snake out in the desert. We have the owner put the dog on a leash and walk right up the snake," Chandler said. About 90 percent of the time, he said, the dog is curious and "will walk right up and put its nose on the snake."

For the training, the dog is wearing a shock collar, Chandler said. When the dog comes in contact with the snake, Chandler activates the collar, delivering a shock to the dog.

"The dog is convinced that the snake hurt it," he said. And, after that single shock, the dog will avoid any future contact with rattlesnakes.

"What we do at the clinic is we remove the curiosity and replace it with abject terror," Chandler said. "After my clinic, they are no longer curious about rattlesnakes; they don't want to get near them."

It also helps protect humans from snakebite, Chandler said.

Because dogs have more sensitive vision, hearing and especially smell than humans, they can detect the presence of a snake before a person does, he said. And, after the aversion training, their behavior will alert humans that a snake is nearby.

In one example, Chandler said, a Las Cruces man who had taken the aversion training with his German shepherd was cutting weeds in his yard when the dog, also in the yard, started barking and ran back to the house. The man discovered a four-foot diamondback rattler nearby "that would have nailed me in a few more seconds," Chandler quoted him as saying.

A Rio Rancho man whose dog had received the training has been saved from three snake bites by his dog, Chandler said. In one case, the man was reaching for a bale of hay in his barn when the dog started barking. The man moved the bale with a rake and discovered a five-foot diamondback rattler.

"I have hundreds of stories like that," Chandler said.

Chandler said the training takes only a few minutes per dog. The shock collar provides "a mild stimulation" that is painful to the dog, but doesn't cause permanent damage, he said.

And no matter what species of rattlesnake is used in the training, it will make dogs afraid of all rattlers, he said. Some dogs will become frightened of all snakes as a result of the training, Chandler said, along with garden hoses and "anything that resembles a snake."

Chandler said only a handful of dogs have been bitten by rattlers after the aversion training, and in each case it was because the dog was running or for some other reason didn't know the snake was there.

"As long as they know it's there, they're not going to get near it," he said.

Chandler said the training is beneficial for dogs of any breed and any age.

"It lasts forever," he said. Dogs that have received the training have come back for retests 10 years later and "the dog still would not get near that rattlesnake," Chandler said.

After the training, Chandler said the rattlesnake that has been used is turned loose. He said its fangs will grow back "in a week or so."

To register, call Kim Ramsey at 575-640-8526. For questions about the aversion training, call Janet Chandler (Terry's wife) at 575-496-4575.

ACTion Programs for Animals offers half-off adoptions in April; vaccination clinic is slated for April 23

BULLETIN REPORT

ACTion Programs for Animals (APA) is offering its "Spring-a-Pet" adoption special the entire month of April. Adoptions are offered at a 50 percent discount, excluding small-breed dogs.

The APA adoption center is located at 537 N. Solano Drive. Hours of operation are 11 a.m.-3 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday or by appointment.

APA Executive Director Michel Meunier said the nonprofit animal rescue's adoption specials help incentivize finding homes for some great animals.

"Adoptions have been slow lately, especially for our large dogs and adult cats," said Meunier. "When you spring a pet from us, it opens up a spot for APA to pull the next at-risk shelter animal. It's a win-win for all of us, including the animals."

Meunier said many of the adoptable dogs are trained at APA's Prisoners and Animals Working Toward Success (P.A.W.S.) training program. APA has been administering the P.A.W.S. program since 2016 and does so in partnership with the Southern New Mexico Correctional Facility. APA has sent hundreds of dogs to this program for rehabilitation and training. Inmates train shelter dogs in basic obedience and potty training to ready them for their forever homes.

Vaccination clinic

APA will provide free Distemper, Adenovirus, Parainfluenza and Parvo (DAPP) vaccinations and free Feline Viral Rhinotracheitis, Calicivirus and Panleukopenia (FVRCP) vaccinations for Doña Ana County-area pets 9-11 a.m. Saturday, April 23 at the APA adoption center. The free vaccines are made possible through Petco Love's national vaccination initiative.

Pre-registration is not required. The free vaccines will be offered on a first-come, first-served basis.

“Movie: Hell Hath No Fury”

Jesse V. Johnson (“The Mercenary,” “The Last Sentinel”) directed this 2021 war drama about Marie (Nina Bergman, “Seize the Night”), a World War II-era French national branded a traitor by her own countrymen, who must lead American soldiers to a cache of gold hunted by the Nazis in return for her survival. Daniel Bernhardt, Louis Mandylor and Timothy Murphy also star.

“Movie: Mark, Mary & Some Other People”

An experiment in what they call “ethical non-monogamy” has repercussions foreseen and otherwise for newlyweds wanting to spice up their relationship in this 2021 comedy from writer/director Hannah Marks (“After Everything”). Ben Rosenfield (“Boardwalk Empire”) and Hayley Law (“Riverdale”) play the titular Mark and Mary, in a cast with Matt Shively, Kelli Berglund and Joe Lo Truglio.

“Movie: My Little Pony: The Movie”

An all-star cast including Emily Blunt, Uzo Aduba, Kristen Chenoweth, Liev Schreiber and Michael Pena provide the voices for the characters in this 2017 animated adventure that follows Twilight Sparkle, Applejack, Rainbow and the rest of the Mane 6 ponies as they embark on an epic journey to save Ponyville from a dark force.

“The Kardashians”

After 20 seasons of their E! series “Keeping Up With the Kardashians,” Kris, Kourtney, Kim, Khloé, Kendall and Kylie return with this new offering that brings the cameras back into their lives to reveal the truth behind the headlines and show the pressures and joys of life as a Kardashian. ### 6 p.m. on LIFEMOV Movie: Nightmare Neighborhood Moms

New homeowner Charlotte has barely moved in when she meets Bonnie, a neighbor who strikes her as highly competitive. After Charlotte discovers another woman who lived in their neighborhood recently was murdered, her daughter Jordan suggests they form a neighborhood watch, including Bonnie. Unfortunately, they don't know Bonnie killed that recent victim, who was having an affair with Bonnie's husband. And now — uh oh! — Bonnie suspects her hubby is a little too interested in Charlotte. Gina Simms, April

Hale and Summer Madison star in this 2022 thriller.

7 p.m. on KTSM The Blacklist

Tensions within the group escalate when Cooper's (Harry Lennix) determined search to find out who is blackmailing him overlaps with the Task Force's latest Blacklist case in a new episode called “Andrew Kennison.” James Spader, Diego Klattenhoff, Hisham Tawfiq and Amir Arison also star.

7 p.m. on KVIA2 Charmed

Series star Rupert Evans, who plays Harry, directed the new episode “The Sisterhood of the Traveling Sandwich,” in which a conspiracy-theorist hobgoblin threatens the lives of everyone at the Blue Camellia. When Maggie and Kaela (Sarah Jeffery, Lucy Barrett) step in to save the day, however, they wind up getting stuck in the past. Meanwhile, Mel (Melonie Diaz) still struggles to regain control of her powers.

7 p.m. on HISTORY The UnXplained

A new episode called “What Lies Below?” looks at the real “final frontier” of our planet: the underwater world of Earth's oceans, 80 percent of which remains unexplored. Now, however, breakthroughs in new technology allow researchers to explore the world's seas and deep lakes more thoroughly than ever before.

8 p.m. on KRWG Great Performances

Host Scott Yoo travels the United States to explore the musical influences of three prominent American composers — Amy Beach, Florence Price and Aaron Copland among them. In “Now Hear This: Amy Beach Rise to Prominence,” Yoo and his wife, flutist Alice Dade, perform works by this Romantic Era composer at Festival Mosaic and delve into her musical influences, as well as visiting places from which Beach drew inspiration.

12 a.m. on HBO A Black Lady Sketch Show

Series stars Robin Thede, Gabrielle Dennis, Ashley Nicole Black and Skye Townsend are back as this Emmy-winning sketch comedy show returns for Season 3. These new episodes also will feature more than 40 guest stars, including filmmaker Ava DuVernay, Michaela Jaé Rodriguez, Raven-Symone, Wanda Sykes, David Alan Grier, Kyla Pratt, Holly Robinson Peete, Vanessa Williams, Michael Ealy, Wayne Brady and Bob the Drag Queen, among others.

What's Available NOW On

“Better Nate Than Ever” (Available now)

From director Tim Federle (“High School Musical: The Musical: The Series”) comes this comedic adventure about Nate (newcomer Rueby Wood), a 13-year-old Midwesterner who embarks on a journey to Broadway to follow his dreams despite the fact he can't even land a part in the school play. Aria Brooks (“All That”), Joshua Bassett (“High School Musical: The Musical: The Series”) and Lisa Kudrow co-star. (ORIGINAL)

“30 for 30: I Hate Christian Laettner” (Available now)

This 2015 offering from director Rory Karpf (“Tim Richmond: To the Limit”) that explores the universal disdain for former Duke basketball hero Christian Laettner is one of a number of films from ESPN's acclaimed “30 for 30” series of sports documentaries that is available to stream on Disney+.

“Diary of a Wimpy Kid: Dog Days” (Available now)

The 2012 third installment of the “Diary of a Wimpy Kid” film series picks up months after the events of “Rodrick Rules” and finds Greg (Zachary Gordon) faking summer employment when his plans for a fun summer of playing videogames are threatened by his dad's (Steve Zahn) desire for some father/son bonding time. Robert Capron and Devon Bostick co-star.

“Daredevil” (Available now)

Based on the character from Marvel Comics, this action series stars Charlie Cox as Matt Murdock/Daredevil, a blind lawyer by day who fights crime as a masked vigilante by night. Deborah Ann Woll, Elden Henson, Rosario Dawson, Vincent D'Onofrio and Geoffrey Cantor are also in the solid cast.

Aasif Mandvi

5:30 p.m. on NIK
Nickelodeon's Kids' Choice Awards 2022

Miranda Cosgrove ("iCarly") and NFL superstar Rob Gronkowski co-host this annual awards show for juvenile viewers from Barker Hanger in Santa Monica, Calif. The producers of this year's event promise no fewer than 1,000 epic slimmings of attendees, as well as dozens of pranks celebrating stars from the world of film, TV, music, sports and more. First-time nominees include Olivia Rodrigo, Elizabeth Olsen, Saweetie, Awkwafina, the Kid LaROI and Doja Cat. Leading the nomination pack with four nods each are Taylor Swift and Adele.

7:30 p.m. on KVIA2
Would I Lie to You?

Aasif Mandvi ("Evil") hosts this North American adaptation of a hit British series that elevates the art of lying. In each episode, Matt Walsh ("Veep") and Sabrina Jalees ("Canada's Got Talent") lead opposing pairs of celebrity guests who try to determine who is lying and who is giving actual facts, by asking questions and observing the body language of the person being interrogated. The season's celebrity guests include Laura Benanti ("Gossip Girl"), Adam Pally ("Happy Endings") and Michael Ian Black ("Wet Hot American Summer"), among many others.

8 p.m. on KVIA2
Masters of Illusion

Now you see him ...: Host Dean Cain returns as this dazzling series opens Season 8, with more performances from cutting-edge illusionists, escape artists and other diverse magic acts in front of a live studio audience. In the season premiere,

"Matters of the Head," the featured magicians include Ed Alonzo, Rob Lake, Shoot Ogawa, Clairvoyants, Stuart MacDonald and Eric Buss.

8 p.m. on TRAV
Portals to Hell

Paranormal investigators Jack Osbourne and Katrina Weidman try to discover why there's hell to pay as they travel to haunted locales populated by sinister spirits that seem to hold a vendetta against anyone who ventures into their presence as this spooky series opens Season 3. In the opener, "Hill View Manor," Osbourne and Weidman travel to a shuttered nursing home in New Castle, Pa., where former patients are said to be lingering beyond death. Among the entities they meet is the Creeper, a malevolent shadow creature.

8:03 p.m. on LIFE
Movie: She Went Missing

After Maya Taylor, an investigative reporter, learns her childhood best friend has vanished without a trace, she gets assigned to cover the case herself. Returning to her hometown, she immediately confronts some old memories and rekindles past relationships.

Paul Giamatti

6 p.m. on BBCA
Killing Eve

Adapted from a series of novels by Luke Jennings, this critically acclaimed spy thriller and psychological drama has taken its viewers on a wild roller coaster ride, following the profoundly complicated cat-and-mouse relationship between a brilliant British intelligence investigator (Sandra Oh) and a psychopathic assassin (Jodie Comer) who becomes obsessed with her. After winning a Peabody Award and multiple acting accolades for both leading ladies, the series concludes its run tonight with a finale its stars and creative team promise has been designed to leave their loyal fans satisfied.

7 p.m. on KDBC
The Equalizer

McCall (Queen Latifah) responds to a desperate plea for help from a former CIA trainee who is now a full-fledged agent in the new episode "Pulse." Unfortunately, that leads her into a confrontation with Mason Quinn (guest star Chris Vance), the most dangerous enemy she made during her years in intelligence. Needing some information about the agent's latest assignment, McCall forms a tentative alliance with Carter Griffin (guest star Brett Dalton), a by-the-books CIA handler. Adam Goldberg and Liza Lapira also star.

7:01 p.m. on HGTV
Building Roots

Married designers Ben and Cristi Dozier of Pagosa Springs, Colo., draw from stunning natural surroundings for the beautiful and innovative home renovations they come up with in their hometown in this new home makeover series. Each episode finds the couple building, designing and remodeling properties, producing one-of-a-kind, highly personal results that always match and often exceed the expectations of even their most demanding clients.

8:02 p.m. on AMC
61st Street

Police and prosecutors investigate a deadly drug bust that threatens to unravel the police department's notorious "blue wall" in this taut legal thriller starring two-time Emmy winner Courtney B. Vance ("American Crime Story"), which includes actor Michael B. Jordan among its executive producers. Set against the backdrop of Chicago's scandal-prone criminal justice system, the series opens as promising high school track star Moses Johnson (Tosin Cole) turns to public defender Franklin Roberts (Vance) for help when he's unjustly accused of a crime. Aunjanue Ellis and Mark O'Brien also star.

S.W.A.T.

This action-packed crime drama hits its 100-episode milestone with "The Fugitive," in which Hondo (Shemar Moore) is forced to go on the run after being framed for the murder of two fellow officers via a deep-fake video. The SWAT team members rally to clear their leader's name as Hondo races to find those responsible and reclaim his life. Alex Russell, Lina Esco, Kenny

Johnson and Jay Harrington also star.

10 p.m. on HMM
Movie: Curious Caterer:
Dying for Chocolate

Single mom Goldy (Nikki DeLoach) decides to try some sleuthing to get to the bottom of a friend's suspicious death. Her rookie investigation leads to an encounter with Detective Tom Schultz (Andrew Walker), who finds Goldy's extensive knowledge of local people and their relationships very helpful to his own official probe. Just as their relationship holds the promise of something more, however, the list of suspects expands. Jaycie Dotin, Jason Tremblay, Erin Boyes and Antonio Cayonne also star in this 2022 mystery.

10 p.m. on SHOW
Billions

After discovering the truth about Prince's (Corey Stoll) plans, Chuck (Paul Giamatti) feels compelled to undertake what is probably the biggest and most dangerous gambit in his career in the Season 6 finale, "Cold Storage." The stakes are almost inconceivably high, because it's an all-in gamble that probably will lead to either his rival or Chuck himself being sent to prison. Showtime has renewed this financial drama for a seventh season.

tonight's picks

Kelsea Ballerini

7 p.m. on KDBC
2022 CMT Music Awards

Kelsea Ballerini and Anthony Mackie co-host this live three-hour telecast of country music's only entirely fan-voted awards show, which airs from the historic Municipal Auditorium in Nashville, Tenn., as well as various locations around the city. Music superstar Kane Brown leads this year's voting pool with four nominations, while Ballerini, Mickey Guyton, BRELAND and Cody Johnson follow with three nods each. While past telecasts of this event aired on CMT, this 56th edition will be carried for the first time exclusively on CBS.

8:02 p.m. on HISTORY
I Was There

In the new episode "Challenger Disaster," host Theo E.J. Wilson takes a virtual trip back in time to Jan. 28, 1986, when a huge television audience — including an estimated 2.5 million schoolchildren — watch in horror as the Challenger space shuttle exploded into a fireball just moments after liftoff. That devastating tragedy claimed the lives of seven astronauts, including one teacher, Christa McAuliffe. Wilson revisits the days immediately before the launch, when multiple red flags were raised, and asks why the doomed space shuttle even was allowed to take off.

tonight's picks

Renee Zellweger

FBI

When a young couple who just returned from Cancun is found murdered in a New York City park, the team sets out to find a suspect who has ties to the local drug trade in the new episode "One Night Stand." Meanwhile, on a more personal note, Scola (John Boyd) resolves to turn over a new leaf when it comes to his relationships. Missy Peregrin, Zeeko Zaki, Jeremy Sisto and Alana De La Garza also star.

7 p.m. on KFOX
The Resident

An already tense situation takes a dangerous turn when Conrad (Matt Czuchy) confronts a pharmacy owner about some fraudulent prescriptions filed under Conrad's name in the new episode "Ride or Die." Later, the ER is thrown into chaos when a street-racing accident leads to multiple severe injuries. Meanwhile, the Raptor (Malcolm-Jamal Warner) faces a personal crisis as his mother's condition worsens. Summer Selby guest stars; Bruce Greenwood and Jane Leeves also star.

7:30 p.m. on TBS
MLB Baseball

A clash of NL West rivals goes down tonight in the City by the Bay, as Brandon Crawford and the San Francisco Giants open a three-game series against Manny Machado and the San Diego Padres. The Giants, who won the West in 2021 with a 107-55 record, let Kris Bryant and Kevin Gausman leave via free agency but brought in high-upside lefty Carlos Rodon for the rotation. The Pods, a disappointing 79-83 a year ago, will be without the services of their resident superstar shortstop Fernando Tatis Jr. because of injury.

8 p.m. on KRWG
Rise of the Nazis: Dictators at War

This absorbing docuseries launches its second season by revisiting the defining conflict of World War II as Adolf Hitler confronts an equally ruthless dictator in Russia's Joseph Stalin. Hitler, at the peak of his power, tries to trick Stalin with a plan for Germany to invade Britain, but Der Fuhrer actually is plotting an attack on the Soviet Union. Stalin, however, has a spy in Hitler's headquarters, and counters with an offensive that has Germany facing defeat on the Eastern Front of the war.

8:03 p.m. on HISTORY
Lost Gold of the Aztecs

The hunt for Montezuma's treasure starts to heat up as the Nevada miners use a smoke gun to help them find another entrance to their dangerous tunnel system they are exploring in the new episode "Spanish Death Trap." Meanwhile, in New Mexico, the Villegas family resorts to using some crossbow ingenuity to find their way into a mine that looks pretty risky. Elsewhere, in Utah, the Dillman clan breaks out an excavator to dig up a mysterious marsh, which previously may have revealed an ancient artifact.

9 p.m. on KVIA
To Tell the Truth

In a new episode, host Anthony Anderson welcomes celebrity panelists Amanda Seales, Kevin Nealon and Jaleel White, who take their turn at trying to separate the real McCoy guests from the imposters. They include an Irish step dancer, an exorcist, a record-holding birdwatcher, someone who has thrown out the first pitch at 24 stadiums and a famous children's book author.

9:01 p.m. on KTSM
The Thing About Pam

This unconventional true-crime thriller — which plays a lot like an episode of "Dateline" written and directed by Joel and Ethan Coen of " Fargo " — wraps up Season 1 with "She's a Killer," which finds Pam Hupp (Renee Zellweger) resorting to shocking and farcically absurd extremes to extricate herself from the mind-boggling web of lies she has spun. Despite her best efforts, though, some measure of justice, redemption and hope finally is granted. Judy Greer, Josh Duhamel and Glenn Fleshler also star.

“Hard Cell”

From the U.K. and writer/creator Catherine Tate (“The Catherine Tate Show,” “The Office”) comes this mockumentary-style comedy that follows inmates and staff at the female prison HMP Woldsley. Tate also steps in front of the camera to play multiple characters in a cast with Christian Brassington, Niky Wardley, Lorna Brown, Caroline Harding and Cheryl Ferguson. (ORIGINAL)

“Our Great National Parks”

From the creative forces behind “Blue Planet II” comes this five-part documentary series that invites viewers to celebrate and discover the power and majesty of the planet’s greatest national parks and wide open spaces. Former President Barack Obama serves as executive producer and narrator. (ORIGINAL)

“Anatomy of a Scandal”

David E. Kelley and Melissa James Gibson are the creative forces behind this six-episode psychological thriller series that’s based on the book by Sarah Vaughan, about a scandal that rocks the family of a British minister of Parliament. Sienna Miller (“The Loudest Voice”), Michelle Dockery (“Downton Abbey”), Rupert Friend (“Homeland”) and Naomi Scott (“Charlie’s Angels”) head the cast. (ORIGINAL)

“Movie: Choose or Die”

Two friends suddenly find themselves fighting for their lives after rebooting an obscure 1980s survival videogame in the hopes of winning $100,000 in unclaimed prize money in this horror yarn from first-time feature filmmaker Toby Meakins. Iola Evans, Asa Butterfield and Eddie Marsan head the cast; Robert Englund (“A Nightmare on Elm Street”) also appears.

In Focus

“Gaslit” (Starz — series premiere, April 24)

Inspired by a popular podcast, this suspenseful new docudrama chronicles previously untold stories, often involving forgotten characters, in the Watergate political scandal, from some of the bumbling subordinates to President Richard Nixon to the lunatic zealots aiding and abetting the crimes that eventually ended Nixon’s presidency in 1974. The main players in the powerhouse ensemble include Sean Penn and Julia Roberts as Attorney Gen. John Mitchell and his whistle-blowing wife, Martha, and Betty Gilpin (“GLOW”) and Dan Stevens (“Downton Abbey”) as Mo and John Dean.

movie review

BY JAY BOBBIN

It's 'Ford v Ferrari' in a contest for racetrack triumphs

A movie called “Ford v Ferrari” had better be built for speed, and happily, it is – despite the fact that it’s around 2-1/2 hours long.

What’s interesting is that the title characters aren’t really the main ones in the film (which FX shows Sunday, April 10), though their rivalry hangs over it. Henry Ford II, played by actor and playwright Tracy Letts, isn’t happy when sportscar tycoon Enzo Ferrari pulls out of a deal to help build a hyper-modern car for its time ... but Ford proceeds on his own, determined to compete against and beat Ferrari on the professional racing circuit.

To that end, Ford hires driver turned designer Carroll Shelby (played by Matt Damon) and British racer Ken Miles (Christian Bale) to develop the vehicle and make it a high-powered reality. The two hires don’t always see eye-to-eye, but with the special skills each brings to their shared task, they ultimately make quite a team. That’s also true of the two actors, who are major fun to watch playing off each other.

Any racing movie worth its gearshift has to include exciting footage in the track, and with director James Mangold calling the shots, “Ford v Ferrari” delivers on that count. The bigger the screen you see this on, the likelier several key moments will put your heart in your mouth. Other examples of the genre have accomplished that, a highly notable one being “Grand Prix” (which was formatted for the immersive Cinerama process in the mid-1960s), so this one had its work cut out for it.

7 p.m. on HISTORY
Swamp People

Confronted with a potentially devastating cold snap, Daniel pins his hopes on a hot-springs honey hole in the new episode "Crawfish Monster." Meanwhile, Joey and Zak chase a huge specimen into the crawfish ponds, and Troy teaches Pickle the tricks to fishing with a treble hook. Elsewhere, Porkchop and Leron try a radically new strategy, while Don tries to dust off his old skills as a sniper.

7:31 p.m. on KDBC
United States of AI

Riley and Vanessa (Parker Young, Kelli Goss) jointly decide that in order to move on, they need to officially end their marriage in the new episode "Divorce/Talaq." As happens to many couples at this stage in their relationship, however, going through the process inevitably stirs up memories and long-dormant feelings. Meanwhile, Al (Adhir Kalyan) dates both Cindy (Jayma Mays, reprising her guest role) and Ariana (guest star Azita Ghanizada) as he tries to figure out which of them would be a better emotional fit for him.

8:31 p.m. on KFOX
Welcome to Flatch

Kelly (Holmes) inspires Dylan (Kyle Selig) to rediscover his dormant passion for performing magic during a visit to Smokus Pocus, Flatch's new magic and vape shop, in the new episode "That Old Flatch Magic." Meanwhile, Shrub (Sam Straley) finally takes Beth (Erin Bowles) on a real date. Seann William Scott, Aya Cash and Taylor Ortega also star; Murray Hill guest stars.

“Movie: The Sisters Brothers”

From French filmmaker Jacques Audiard (“Rust and Bone,” “Paris, 13th District”) comes this 2018 drama about two gunslinging brothers (John C. Reilly, Joaquin Phoenix) who chase a gold prospector and his unsuspecting ally in 1850s Oregon. Jake Gyllenhaal, Riz Ahmed, Allison Tolman and Rebecca Root are also in the talented cast.

“Movie: EMMA.”

Autumn de Wilde made her feature film directorial debut with this 2020 adaptation of Jane Austen’s 1815 novel that stars Anya Taylor-Joy (“The Queen’s Gambit”) in the title role of Emma Woodhouse, a headstrong young woman in Regency-era England who can’t stop meddling in the lives of those around her. Bill Nighy, Johnny Flynn and Miranda Hart co-star.

“Movie: Jackie”

Natalie Portman received her second best actress Oscar nod for her affecting portrayal of First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy in the days before and after the assassination of her husband. Originally conceived as an HBO miniseries, this 2016 release also stars Peter Sarsgaard, Greta Gerwig, Billy Crudup and John Hurt, in his final film released before his death in early 2017.

“Movie: A Simple Favor”

Anna Kendrick and Blake Lively head the beguiling cast of director Paul Feig’s well-received 2018 black comedy about a widowed single mom and vlogger (Kendrick) from a small town who gets drawn into a mystery after her wealthy and enigmatic best friend (Lively) seems to vanish without a trace. Henry Golding, Linda Cardellini, Andrew Rannells and Jean Smart co-star.

NOTICE is hereby given that on March 18, 2022, Linda W. and Thomas J. Treat, P.O. Box 3557, Anthony, New Mexico 88021 filed with the STATE ENGINEER Application No. LRG-18339-PODI for Permit to Drill and Use Replacement well within the Lower Rio Grande Underground Water Basin of the State of New Mexico by discontinuing the use of well LRG-14748-PODI, located within the SE $\frac{1}{4}$  SE $\frac{1}{4}$  NE $\frac{1}{4}$  of Section 17, Township 26 South, Range 03 East (NMPM), and more specifically located where Latitude and Longitude intersect at 32° 2' 51.53" N and 106° 39' 5.43" W (WGS84), on land owned by Isidoro Sanchez; and by drilling the new well LRG-18339-PODI with a eight inch diameter casing to a depth of approximately 250 feet and will be located within the SW $\frac{1}{4}$  NE $\frac{1}{4}$  SE $\frac{1}{4}$  of Section 17, Township 26 South, Range 03 East (NMPM), and more specifically located where Latitude and Longitude intersect at 32° 2' 36.562" N and 106° 39' 10.233" W (WGS84), on land owned by the applicant for the continued diversion of the amount of water subject to all conditions and provisions contained in the August 22, 2011 Final Judgment and Settlement Agreement in Stream System Issue No. 101, SS-97-101, combined with surface water from the Elephant Butte Irrigation District for the irrigation of 1.23 acres of land, owned by the applicant, located within the SE $\frac{1}{4}$  of Section 17, Township 26 South, Range 3 East (NMPM as described by Subfile No. LRS-28-013-0159, Right A of the Lower Rio Grande Hydrographic Survey. The proposed replacement well will be located approximately 720 feet west of the intersection of Barrio Road and Three Saints Road. The applicant has requested emergency authorization to drill the proposed well under NMSA, 1978, Section 72-12-23. Dona Ana is the County affected by the diversion and in which the water has been or will be put to beneficial use. This notice is ordered to be published in the Las Cruces Bulletin. To view the application and supporting documentation contact the State Engineer District Office to arrange a date and time for an appointment located at 1680 Hickory Loop, Suite J, Las Cruces, NM 88005. Any person, firm or corporation or other entity having standing to file objections or protests shall do so in writing (objection must be legible, signed, and include the writer's complete name, phone number, email address, and mailing address). The objection to the approval of the application must be based on: (1) Impairment; if impairment, you must specifically identify your water rights; and/or (2) Public Welfare/Conservation of Water; if public welfare or conservation of water within the state of New Mexico, you must show how you will be substantially and specifically affected. The written protest must be filed, in triplicate, with the State Engineer, 1680 Hickory Loop, Suite J, Las Cruces, NM 88005 on or before June 3, 2022. Facsimiles (faxes) will be accepted as a valid protest if the hard copy is hand-delivered or mailed and postmarked within 24-hours of the facsimile. Mailing postmark will be used to validate the 24-hour period. Protests can be faxed to the Office of the State Engineer, at 575-524-6160. If no valid protest or objection is filed, the State Engineer will evaluate the application in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 72 NMSA 1978.

Mixed media 'Border Becky' show at CAV Gallery

BULLETIN REPORT

CAV Gallery of Las Cruces presents a solo exhibition by Bella Maria Varela called "@Border Becky," which will have an opening reception 6-9 p.m. Saturday, April 8, at CAV Gallery, 128 S. Main St. Downtown.

"@border_becky is a mixed media installation that combines photography and video with fleece blanket assemblages to explore the intersection of immigration and gender identity through the lens of contemporary pop culture and mass media," according to the artist's statement about the exhibit. "I cut and reconfigure iconic material to skewer mainstream anti-immigration rhetoric, subvert the appropriation of Latinx culture and queer mythologies of American-ness," Varela said.

The exhibit continues at CAV Gallery through Saturday, April 30.

The gallery is open noon to 6 p.m. Thursday and Friday and 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday.

The installation includes two videos, "@border_becky" and "Triathlon," the artist said.

Space Festival celebrates New Mexico in space this week

BULLETIN REPORT

The Las Cruces Space Festival is an annual celebration of space-related activity and interest in southern New Mexico and beyond. The mission is “Making Space for Everyone.” The festival is free to participate in and open to all, with the cost of activities, presentations, displays, and exhibits all covered by sponsors.

The festival works with many partner organizations across the community—ranging from the public schools, local universities and colleges, space industry, arts and cultural groups, and many others—to provide an event for people of all ages and interests. The aim is to raise awareness and celebrate space-related activity and achievements in the region—past, present, and future—and for people to have fun, learn about new possibilities and get inspired and excited by the various elements of the festival and associated activities in the region.

The 2022 Las Cruces Space Festival runs April 7-10 in locations across the city and at Spaceport America.

The festival features a pop-up art exhibit called “Across Space” at the Mesilla Valley Mall, which features original artwork by local artists. Also displayed are the finalists from the 2022 K-12 Poster Contest that was won by Alice D., a second grader from Sonoma Elementary School. Alice’s drawing is featured on the official 2022 Las Cruces Space Festival poster.

On Friday, April 8, the Broken Spoke Taphouse is hosting the Big Space Quiz trivia night starting 5.30 p.m. The top trivia team will have the chance to win a Celestron telescope. A raffle will also run throughout the festival with the grand prize being a StarSense Explorer DX 130AZ telescope, valued at $479.95.

On Saturday, April 9, STEAM activities will be held from 9 a.m. to noon on Plaza de Las Cruces which are aimed at engaging all ages and interests in space science. The Challenger Learning Center of Las Cruces will be running two missions to Mars at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. In the evening of Saturday, April 9, astronomy will be celebrated with a moonazing event led by the Astronomical Society of Las Cruces and sponsored by Celestron from 7-9 p.m. on the Plaza de Las Cruces.

Free sci-fi movies will be running at the Rio Grande Theater every night at 7 p.m. sponsored by Moon Cheese.

Moviegoers will all receive a free sample of Moon Cheese. The lineup includes “Gravity” on April 7, “Interstellar” on April 8, “Space Camp” as the matinee movie at noon on April 9, and “2001: A Space Odyssey” as the evening movie at 7 p.m. on April 9.

The Mesilla Valley Swing Band, under the direction of Dr. Jim Helder, will give a show at the Downtown Las Cruces stage at 11 a.m. Saturday, April 9. The performance is specifically dedicated to NASA.

Space history is explored in the Ranches to Rockets exhibit at the Farm and Ranch Museum running throughout the festival.

'Rocky Horror Picture Show' on tap with shadow cast

BULLETIN REPORT

Blank Conversations Theatre Company of Las Cruces is presenting a shadow cast comprised of local performers that will perform live with the showing of the cult classic "Rocky Horror Picture Show" at 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday, April 15-16, at Rio Grande Theatre, 211 N. Main St., the City of Las Cruces said.

Tickets are $15 and are available online at Rio-

GrandeTheatre.org or at the door the nights of the show.

A ticket includes a prop bag filled with interactive goodies. There will be a super-secret pre-show performance beginning at 8:30 p.m. Doors will open each night at 8 p.m.

In the movie (and as portrayed by the live shadow cast): "On a wild and rain-swept late November evening, somewhere on an empty stretch of road outside Denton, Ohio, boringly innocent young pair Brad Majors, portrayed in the film by Barry Bostwick, and his fiancé, Janet Weiss, played by Susan Sarandon, find themselves stranded on their way to visit an ex-tutor. The couple, in need of a telephone, inadvertently unearth the cross-dressing Dr. Frank-N-Furter, played by Tim Curry's, (and his) out-of-this-world lair, just in time to partake in the mad scientist's proud unveiling of his latest creation: the flax-haired Rocky Horror, played by Peter Hinwood.

"But, little by little, as the effervescent transgressive force gobbles up whole the unsuspecting visitors of the night, Brad and Janet slowly begin to give themselves over to absolute pleasure, while an idolized Rocky roams free in the mansion. What diabolic plan does Frank-N-Furter and his collection of misfits have in store for the young couple?"

"The video '@border_becky' follows a social media controversy in which two students, Becky and Kyle, are caught in the middle of a protest while engaging in site-based research at the U.S.-Mexico border. In the midst of this chaos, the couple navigates the drama of their evolving romantic relationship. As they confront their own queer and class identities, Becky and Kyle must rethink their understanding of the gender binary parallel within the context of the temporal binaries of the border. The video layers performative digital activism with the trauma that haunts those whose identity is not an optional performance," Varela said.

"The video 'Triathlon' invites the audience to explore the personal story behind the Becky persona," the artist said. Inspired by the artist's own family's competitive sporting spirit, it tracks the rhythms and terrains of American immigration and confronts the absurd constructs of U.S. patriotism and exceptionalism, Varela said.

"The reconstructed blanket installation creates an environment similar to walking a through commercial shopping district at border towns, where icons of American idealism clash with the harsh realities of border crossing," Varela said. "The gaps in the assemblages create a space where hybrid identities exist within the downfalls of neoliberal capitalism. Becky the Explorer is an ode to the resourceful immigrant hustlers, a prayer to asylum seekers and an offering of much needed comedic relief in a time of high anxiety."

NMSU group to host film screening, discussion on climate change

By LUIS RIOS
NMSU News Team

A potent photo or film can move hearts and minds, and award-winning photographer and filmmaker Michael O. Snyder counts on that truth in the fight against climate change. Snyder hopes his filmmaking skills create narratives on environmental and cultural change.

The New Mexico State University Climate Change Education Seminar Series, or NMSUCCESS, will host a question-and-answer session with Snyder after a screening of his documentary film, "Into the Dark." The free screening will start at 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 12, at The Fountain

COURTESY PHOTO

Theatre, 2469 Calle de Guadalupe, on the historic plaza in Mesilla. Register for the event at www.eventleaf.com/e/nmsuccessapril12. Seating will be limited to 100 attendees.

Directed by Snyder, the documentary focuses on a team of scientists venturing into the darkest reaches of the Arctic to understand how trace amounts of light may be radically changing the mysterious world of the polar night. Snyder will discuss his efforts to marshal his environmental science background with his skills in visual media to spark change in the public policy arena.

NMSUCCESS is an interdisciplinary series that brings a range of experts like Snyder to NMSU and venues in Las Cruces to discuss the causes and consequences of climate change.

NMSU Creative Media Associate Professor and member of NMSUCCESS, filmmaker Ilana Lapid, will moderate the session. She explained how she initially reached out to Snyder after watching his film at the online version of the DC Environmental Film Festival, where she previously screened her own film, "Yochi." She called his documentary "powerful and compelling" upon her first viewing. She said Snyder would be an interesting speaker for NMSUCCESS since they usually bring individuals that focus on the sciences of climate change.

"This time, speaker series organizers are excited to extend the reach and scope to bring in a visual storyteller to talk about the power of storytelling to change behaviors, minds and raise awareness about climate issues," Lapid said.

A Portrait of Humanity

Award Winner and a Climate Journalism Fellow at the Bertha Foundation, Snyder's photography is featured in outlets such as National Geographic, The Washington Post, CNN and PBS News Hour. He utilizes his prowess in both photojournalism and visual media as tools for social impact.

Snyder wrote an artist statement, on his official website, on his love for the planet and a sense of responsibility to protect it through his art.

"I studied to be an environmental scientist, but today I work as a visual storyteller because I believe in the power of narratives to shift what it means to live well on this planet without destroying it," Snyder said.

Why Can't We Recycle Styrofoam?

Submitted by South Central Solid Waste Authority

The Styrofoam is right there in the perfect cardboard box. You know the cardboard goes into your blue recycling bin, but, you think, does the Styrofoam go in there too?

No, in Las Cruces, you can't recycle Styrofoam. Why?

Styrofoam, a trademarked product of The Dow Chemical Company, is the brand name for expanded polystyrene (EPS). It's a synthetic hydrocarbon polymer that is lightweight, durable, and inexpensive - and everywhere.

From packing peanuts to a mold that holds a new microwave in the box, from disposable takeout boxes to heavyweight polystyrene single-use forks, EPS comes in many shapes and sizes. However, EPS doesn't biodegrade. Worse, and something you've probably experienced when unpacking Styrofoam from a box and getting small particles all over your carpet, the pieces just get smaller and smaller, all the while getting more toxic the more it breaks down.

It's true that EPS can be recycled, but the cost of recycling outweighs the ability, and financial resources, of many processors, including in Las Cruces.

The cardboard box is fine to recycle, but the Styrofoam goes in the trash.

"The problem with Styrofoam recycling is since it is lightweight - 95 percent of it is air - you need expensive machines to compact it before it gets shipped to be recycled," explained Patrick Peck, director of South Central Solid Waste Authority (SCSWA), which manages recycling in Las Cruces. "We are too far away from processors that would do that cost-effectively. Recycling must be balanced by how much it would take to transport and process. We want to have recyclables that make sense to process in-house, such as cardboard and metal cans."

And since it's so often used for food, Styrofoam is usually contaminated, making it difficult to clean and disinfect because it's so porous. Rather than finding ways to allow it into recycling bins, we are better off minimizing or avoiding it.

"The short-term cost of Styrofoam is low, but the long-term cost is a burden to our community," said Peck. "Styrofoam fills up our landfills, degrades in our desert, and often only serves one use."

South Central Solid Waste Authority manages recyclables and solid waste for residents and businesses throughout Doña Ana County. Contact SCSWA at (575) 528-3800 or visit www.SCSWA.net.

Emporium volunteer writes book on design of rings

By MIKE COOK

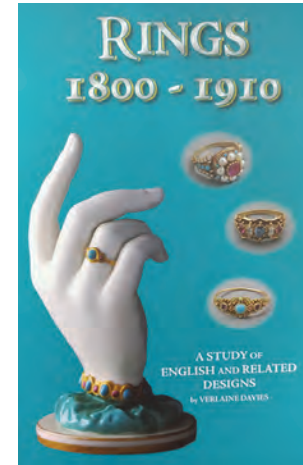

Las Cruces Bulletin

Verlaine Davies' book "Rings: 1800-1910, A Study of English and Related Designs," has photos of and information about finger rings that were popular with both men and women in England in the 19th and early 20th century.

It's a unique subject that Davies knows well. She is a native of Great Britain and a long-time New Mexican. She has been one of the volunteers staffing The Emporium gift shop in Downtown Las Cruces for the past 3 1/2 years.

Davies also has been collecting and researching rings for decades.

Her collection — and her book — includes betrothal, wedding and keeper rings; commemorative and historical rings; and mourning rings; along with a section entitled "Care, Cautions and Repairs"; and an extensive glossary that defines everything from "acrostic" (gemstone rings fashionable 1810-75) to "zircon" (a natural gemstone that comes in a variety of colors). The glossary defines many ring styles and gemstones and even gives a brief biography of Queen Victoria (reign: 1837-1901), who "had a great love of jewellery."

"A finger ring was the most cherished item in the entire sphere of jewellery, and no other piece of jewellery has been used to convey such a variety of sentiments," Verlaine said in the introduction to her book. "Men, as well as women, wore finger rings — signet, wedding, mourning, decorative and other types — but it is in ladies' rings that the greater variety of style and fashion is evident."

You can contact Verlaine at The Emporium, 106 S. Water St. Call 575-523-8078.

Courthouse mural project seeks donations

BULLETIN REPORT

An art installation project at the old Doña Ana County Courthouse is underway and artists are invited to participate, according to a news release about the project.

Artists are asked to contribute two-dimensional artwork that will be permanently installed on the walls of the courthouse, 201 W. Picacho Ave. Content should be suitable for this setting. Each artist may submit up to three works of art for consideration. The artwork should be at least 16 inches by 20 inches, not including the frame, and should include the artist's name and contact information attached to the artwork.

"In New Mexico, we have an amazing Capitol in which many of the arts in our state are celebrated, and I believe we have very good efforts going in both the Las Cruces City Hall and the Doña Ana County Government Building to continue that tradition," said Doña Ana Arts Council (DAAC) Executive Director Greg Smith. "So, I was very pleased when Judge Mary Rosner contacted me about this project. What will be happening in the Third District Court building will also be about the arts of our community being celebrated in a public facility. It will be good for our creative economy and for our sense of ourselves here."

If selected, participating artists' donated art will be hung and a brass plaque identifying the artist and/or donor will be installed.

Artwork may be dropped off for jurying at DAAC, 250 W. Amador Ave., through Friday, April 15.

Looking back on history to better understand the war in Ukraine

Orthodox Christianity, rooted in the church of the Apostles, moved out from Jerusalem, and took root in Kyiv (Ukraine) in the 10th century. Moscow (Russia) was established 200 years later but did not dominate Slavic Christianity until the 1500s, and then largely because the historic center of Orthodoxy, Constantinople, had fallen under the Ottoman Empire.

In the 20th Century, the Soviet regime forced a union with surrounding countries: Poland, Bulgaria, Romania, Ukraine and others. In these countries, Orthodox Christianity is the dominant religion. The Soviets enforced atheism. Churches

GABRIEL ROCHELLE
Tales from the Cassock

and monasteries were shuttered; many priests, bishops, monastics and lay-people lost their lives. Stalin engineered a famine in Ukraine in the 1930s by taking all the wheat and produce at gunpoint. The death toll may have been 7 million. The U.S. recognizes and commemorates this tragedy, known as the Holodomor, on Nov. 19.

Orthodox Christianity is tied to ethnicity in those countries. This is hard for us to grasp, partly because we Americans legitimized the separation of church and state and partly because we have always had multiple religions.

Orthodoxy in America is unusual, because only here are there multiple jurisdictions. In America, the Greek Church is but one of several Orthodox jurisdictions. Multi-ethnicity was not originally planned when Orthodoxy landed in 1794, but historic circumstances brought it about. There should be one united Orthodox Church in America. Unfortunately, the situation is complicated because some jurisdictions have ties to their national churches of origin. Our local parish, in the Ukrainian jurisdiction, is one example of many where most members are converts and not ethnically tied to the jurisdiction.

Internationally, we are seeing ruptures in the Orthodox world brought about because of the war in Ukraine. It is important to recognize that Orthodoxy is one in faith, practice and worship; the differences among churches are along lines of ethnic and cultural tradition. This new circumstance is difficult, comparable to the tragic splits in American churches at the time of our Civil War.

The patriarch of Moscow has not condemned Putin's military war in Ukraine. He has publicly criticized "the West" for reputed moral failures that he claims could "justify war," a lame rationale for which he has taken heat from the rest of the Orthodox world. The patriarch dreams of ruling Orthodoxy under what he calls Russky Mir, the peace of Russia, and Putin would reconstitute the "glory days" of the Soviet or perhaps Czarist Empire. Putin and the patriarch are close; Putin denies Ukrainian sovereignty and meanwhile the patriarch remains silent. The establishment of an Orthodox Church of Ukraine in 2018, by merger, separated Moscow psychologically from the heart of Slavic Orthodoxy, Kyiv. Kyiv is important symbolically, which is why admitting it is Ukrainian is a blow to the patriarch and to Russia.

Unlike the monarchical role of the pope in the Roman Catholic Church, Orthodoxy has functioned by a conciliar model: all churches had equal say and responsibilities. We are seeing this model shattered as never before. This may force realignments only dreamed of in the past; it may be impetus toward a united Orthodox Church in America, but it may also split us definitively from some fellow Orthodox.

We American Orthodox know that many Americans have been horrified by what's happening in Ukraine. Thank you for the aid flowing through many channels to assist people who suffer from this egregious act of hostility. Thank you for prayers and hopeful thoughts in this sad time. I can only hope this column helps readers to see the intimate connection between religion and politics in that part of the world.

Memorial Medical's pastoral care program continues with new leadership

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

"We are blessed to be a blessing," said Lonnie Briseño, the new director of Memorial Medical Center's (MMC) Pastoral Care Department (PCD).

Pastoral care is part of MMC's effort "to take care of all four aspects of what it means to be a human," Briseño said, including the heart, mind, body and soul. The program "brings God's love and compassion daily to all our patients here," he said.

In the Memorial Medical Center chapel are Minister Ray Reta, Deacon Lonnie Briseño, Rev. Brian Harvey and Pastor Emeritus John Powell.

"At Memorial Medical Center, our primary goal is to provide our patients with quality care, to the very best of our abilities," said MMC CEO John Harris. "As such, pastoral care has always played a vital role in patient care. Whether helping patients on their path to recovery or counseling families and friends going through the grieving process for a lost loved one, pastoral care provides a calm and reassuring presence to all who enter our facilities. Meeting the spiritual needs of our patients is fundamental to the healing process and we are grateful for Lonnie Briseño at MMC."

Briseño became PCD director last August after the retirement of Rev. Dr. Margaret Short, who started the program at MMC 26 years ago. Pastoral care is available for all MMC patients, regardless of faith. The MMC chapel is open to patients, families and hospital staff. Except for Briseño, all PCD participants are volunteers.

"It's what we do," said volunteer chaplain Brian Harvey, pastor of Bethel Second Baptist Church in Las Cruces.

Harvey recently joined PCD and makes weekly visits to MMC patients, family members and staff who are "in need of compassion (and) support," he said. "You're doing what the Lord requires." Harvey has lived in Las Cruces for eight years and in New Mexico for 34 years. He is the former chaplain of the Albuquerque Police Department.

During each hospital visit, "I've picked up a gem," Harvey said, "people I've really connected with."

Pastor Emeritus John Powell of the First Evangelical Free Church has been an MMC volunteer chaplain for 42 years and helped start PCD.

The program has been “significant for the hospital and the community,” Powell said. And the transition in leadership from Short to Briseño “has been gratifying as well,” he said.

“Unique gifts from God” helped to build the department, Powell said, and Briseño and volunteer pastors and others are now rebuilding it after Covid-19 stopped hospital visits.

“I’m glad to see that it’s continuing,” Powell said, adding that hospital staff “has been positively affected all these years” by the program, as well as patients and family members who are dealing with traumatic experiences and in need of palliative care.

Because he, Briseño and others in the program are Spanish speakers, Powell said, volunteer chaplains have been able to minister to patients and families in their first language.

“Patients appreciate someone with a badge who is accepted by the hospital to come and speak to them privately,” he said.

Briseño came to the pastoral care program “by the grace of God,” he said. After losing two family close members, dealing with the sick and dying was something he wanted to avoid.

“God has a sense of humor,” Briseño said.

“Here’s where I went.”

PCD has five active volunteer chaplains and 40 total volunteers, Briseño said. He wants to add 10 more chaplains and more lay visitors.

Volunteer chaplains would be on call twice a month and available to come to the hospital as requested, Briseño said.

Anyone interested in being a lay visitor should work through his or her church to apply, he said. He or she is subject to a background check and must complete an online orientation program and hospital visit and be available to visit patients one day a week.

To volunteer and for more information, contact Briseño at 575-521-5579.

Books, reading prove essential to a vibrant democracy

War endangers children, literacy and by extension democracy everywhere. The fragility of access to books and information is apparent today in places far and near.

Las Cruces Ron Cooke shares a message from Maria Deskur of Fundacja Powszechnego Czytania Universal Reading Foundation in Poland, appealing to the global publishing community for financial support to purchase books from Ukrainian publishers for distribution to Poland's 90,000 Ukrainian refugee children.

Deskur explains: "Psychological stability for children in a war-torn country is fundamental ... how crucial it is for kids to have a moment of peaceful book sharing with their moms ... how fundamental (this is) for the future of Ukraine's democracy ... Not many people understand how fundamental for the future of Ukraine's democracy is the survival of the Ukrainian book industry. ... During World War II, the destruction of Polish books and libraries was widespread and the country's publishing industry was decimated. After the war, publishing had to begin again from scratch. That rebuilding had effects on the country's literacy rates that are still felt today."

RORIE MEASURE

Reading Solution

To read her appeal in its entirety go to <https://www.publishersweekly.com/pw/by-topic/childrens/childrens-industry-news/article/88700-polish-literacy-foundation-leads-relief-efforts-for-ukrainian-kids.html>.

You can reach Deskur at maria.deskur@fpc.org.pl.

With eyes on Eastern Europe, Americans can see the bloody casualties of war and we may not think too much about access to books in Ukraine and a freeze on information in Russia. But censorship doesn't need a war to do its worst. Sometimes, a war on words is quieter and moves slowly.

Obliterating a free press and maintaining low rates of literacy are two ways to suppress democracy. The U.S. boasts a robust press, literate citizens (88 percent in 2021) and what seems to be a vibrant library system, so it might not be immediately obvious when constitutional rights are subverted by our own community leaders.

I have been following the dismantling of one of my favorite libraries where programs are being gutted, hours decreased, longtime professional staff exiting; a library that I have visited and enjoyed many times called ImagineIF, the Flathead County library in Kalispell, Montana. Attacks on individual books are now escalating into systemic destruction by the very people entrusted to care for it.

The award-winning Flathead County ImagineIF library has been widely recognized for its innovations and excellence. This year, it has been stripped of its accreditation, key professional staff and a large chunk of state funding thanks to the determination of some recently appointed members of the Library Board of Trustees.

According to news from NBC Montana, the Flathead Beacon newspaper and public records, controversy over three books in a collection of 100,000 is just the first salvo in an attack on a crucial tenet of democracy. Unelected public servants are now rewriting policy and attacking the standards of the American Library Association Bill of Rights Freedom to Read and the Montana State Library Trustee Manual guidelines for collection management and handling of complaints.

The ALA reports a dramatic uptick in book challenges and outright removal of books from libraries across the country. A November 2021 statement reads, "In recent months, a few organizations have advanced the proposition that the voices of the marginalized have no place on library shelves. To this end, they have launched campaigns demanding the censorship of books and resources that mirror the lives of those who are gay, queer, or transgender or that tell the stories of persons who are Black, indigenous, or persons of color. Falsely claiming that these works are subversive, immoral or worse, these groups induce elected and non-elected officials to abandon constitutional principles, ignore the rule of law, and disregard individual rights to promote government censorship of library collections."

We can't wait for a bloody war to capture our attention. Democracy requires constant vigilance even in strong democracies.

Emporium makes changes, still benefits Mesilla Valley Hospice

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

The Emporium, 106 S. Water St. Downtown, has changed its telephone number and has added Tuesdays to the days it's open to the public, selling a wide range of unique antiques.

The new telephone number is 575-523-8078, said volunteer Heather Pollard. The change to a new number, with a new phone system that includes an answering machine, will allow all The Emporium volunteers to hear the phone no matter where they are in the store, Pollard said.

Pollard was involved from day one in the capital campaign that led to the creation of the Mesilla Valley Hospice in 1982.

More than 30 years later, Pollard became part of a group looking for a way to support Hospice financially without creating competition for other nonprofits. She had seen a high-end, second-hand store supporting hospice in Phoenix, and suggested the same for Las Cruces.

The Emporium opened its doors June 30, 2015 at 106 S. Water St. in a building owned by former Las Cruces Mayor Ruben Smith, who provides generous support. It welcomes donations of antiques, collectibles and mint-condition furniture.

Yoga studio offers teacher training

BULLETIN REPORT

Downtown Desert Yoga (DDY), 303 S. Alameda Blvd. in Las Cruces, will offer Explore the Possibilities, Yoga-teacher training classes, beginning in May, said DDY owner Colleen Boyd.

"Our emphasis is on exploring the eight limbs of yoga, embracing yoga's roots and sharing yoga asana classes through Optimal Movement," Boyd said. The training will include the history and philosophy of yoga, yamas and niyamas (yoga's ethical guides), energetics, meditation and a variety of different styles of yoga.

Boyd said DDY's training is unique because it will allow the participant to choose the path that he or she would like to focus on.

The training includes evening and weekend classes over a period of approximately 40 weeks, Boyd said. It offers 200 CYT Yoga Alliance certification.

March 2022 real estate statistics

By STEVE MONTANEZ

Interest rates are on the rise. In-mid March, following a federal increase in interest rates, home-buyers saw an average increase from 3.9 percent to 4.4 percent on conventional mortgages. As the market saw lower inventory as a result of lower interest rates during the pandemic era, buyers can expect to see more homes available as the spring buyer season begins. Days on market, however, are still going to stay around the three- to five-day mark as qualified buyers will increase with the increase in homes available. With active inventory still at record lows, sellers are still holding on to their asking prices. The market's reaction to these higher interest rates should give us a forecast for the upcoming summer months. With sellers still getting 99.3 percent of their asking price, it's still a great time to be a homeowner.

Meet the new boss: Heiar says not much will change

New Mexico State University's new men's basketball coach Greg Heiar says you can expect a few things from his team.

They will work and compete hard. They will emphasize defense and rebounding and they will work to improve every single day.

"Our culture will be based on, we will work till the work gets done, both academically and athletically," Heiar said March 28 during his introductory news conference.

"The culture is real simple: It is about hard work," said the Dubuque, Iowa native, who watched his parents put in long hours every day at the restaurant they own and run.

"It is all I know; it is how I was raised and we will continue to do that," Heiar said.

Heiar was hired March 27 to succeed Chris Jans who left after five years to take the head coaching job at Mississippi State. During Jans' tenure at NM State, the Aggies won four regular-season Western Athletic Conference championships, earned three NCAA tournament bids and won their first NCAA tournament game in 29 years.

NMSU Athletics Director Mario Moccia called Heiar the perfect coach to step into the void to lead the Aggie program.

"What sold me the most about Greg is the fit for our program, his relationships with student-athletes and his incredible passion and focus to win on a consistent basis at the highest level," Moccia said.

Heiar has 22 years of coaching experience at the junior college and NCAA Division I and III levels.

Most recently, he guided Northwest Florida State College to a 31-5 record and the national junior college championship in his one year there.

He has also served as head coach for five years at Chipola College in Florida and as an assistant coach at Division I programs Southern Mississippi, Wichita State and Louisiana State.

While at Wichita State, he served on a coaching staff, along with Jans, that helped guide the Shockers to an unlikely run to the Final Four in 2013.

Heiar has known Jans, another Iowa native, for nearly 30 years. Heiar played for Jans, coached with him and coached under him. He also succeeded Jans as head coach at Chipola.

When coaching on the same staff, they were so competitive and intense, sometimes they would even get into fistfights over schemes and strategy, Heiar said.

"Not much will change," Heiar said. "My personality is different (than Jans) but we have a similar background, similar roots."

Player development, working on fundamentals and a focus on defense and rebounding will continue, Heiar said.

"Chris is a role model to me and always has been," Heiar said. "We will compete hard. We will compete smart. We will compete together and we will have a lot of fun. Winning championships is fun."

Kill: Not worrying about past, just wants improvement every day

By DAVE BURGE
Las Cruces Bulletin

New Mexico State University football coach Jerry Kill isn't buying it — that he's at one of college football's most difficult places to win.

"I haven't been here, so I don't know if it is a hard place to win football games yet," he said after leading his team through spring practice drills at Aggie Memorial Stadium.

"I just come here to coach, teach and see what ever happens and try to give the community ... It's the community's team," he continued. "I just try to be who I am. I don't worry about what's happened in the past."

Kill has a well-deserved reputation for turning around struggling programs — most notably at the University of Minnesota in the Big Ten.

Kill and his staff are wrapping up their first spring practice with their new team and he likes what he sees so far.

He sees improvement every day and loves the effort from his players. "One step at a time," he said. "One day at a time. That is the way you do everything in life. If you look too far ahead, you forget what you are looking at. We aren't guaranteed tomorrow. We are guaranteed today. Whatever we can do today to get better, that is what we control."

One of the big things the Aggies have been working on is what Kill calls "alignment and as-

NMSU hires ex-Wichita State coach

BULLETIN REPORT

Former Wichita State and Murray State coach and one-time national champion Jody Adams-Birch is the new women's basketball coach at New Mexico State University.

Adams-Birch was hired March 31 and introduced to the community the next day.

Adams-Birch led Wichita State for nine years from 2008-17, compiling a 161-115 record that included four straight 20-win seasons and six straight postseason appearances.

She remains the Shockers' all-time winningest coach.

Adams-Birch also coached Murray State to a 24-8 record in 2007-08 in her only year at the Kentucky school.

In all, she has 185 career wins at the Division I level.

Most recently, she has served as an assistant coach and then associate head coach at Southern Illinois from 2018-22.

A native of Cleveland, Tennessee, Adams-Birch played four seasons for the University of Tennessee under legendary head coach Pat Summitt from 1990-93. She was the starting point guard for three Southeastern Conference championship teams and a national championship team in 1991.

Digging: Your Rights and Responsibilities

Know what's below. Call before you dig.

New Mexico excavation law places certain responsibilities with the excavator (a person using a mechanical digging device) for preventing damage to underground facilities. The law provides for a one-call system that the excavator can use free of charge to arrange to have underground facilities located and marked before an excavation occurs.

State Law Requires Excavators to:

- 1) Plan your excavation.
- 2) Mark the excavation area in white.
- 3) Call before you dig.
- 4) Determine the location of any underground facilities.
- 5) Call the one call center if any facility is not marked to determine if it is "clear."
- 6) Preserve line location markings or provide offsets.
- 7) Expose any conflicts and maintain at least 18 inches of clearance from the horizontal mark and the edge of the mechanical digging device.
- 8) Support underground facilities during excavation as necessary.
- 9) Backfill in a careful manner.
- 10) Notify facility owners and 811 of any damage immediately.
- 11) Standard locate tickets are valid for 15 working days.

What Happens When You Call:

Once you provide the necessary information, the one call operator will confirm all pertinent details. It is your responsibility to ensure the information was properly recorded on the request. ## Escarbar: Sus Derechos y Responsabilidades Entérese de lo que hay abajo. Llame antes de escarbar.

La ley de excavación de Nuevo México impone ciertas responsabilidades al excavador (Es una persona que utilice un artefacto mecánico para escarbar) para prevenir daños en las instalaciones bajo tierra. La ley provee un sistema de "una llamada" que el excavador puede utilizar sin costo para hacer arreglos para que le localicen las instalaciones bajo tierra y que estas sean marcadas antes de que la excavación ocurra.

La ley requiere que los excavadores hagan lo siguiente:

- 1) Planeé su excavación.
- 2) Llame antes de escarbar.
- 3) Marcar el área de excavación en color blanco.
- 4) Determine la ubicación de cualquiera de las instalaciones existentes bajo tierra.
- 5) Llame al centro de "una llamada" si alguna de las instalaciones no está marcada para determinar si es "seguro proseguir."
- 6) Conserve la ubicación de las líneas marcadas o proporcione la distancia/desvío.
- 7) Avise de cualquier conflicto y manténgase al menos 18 pulgadas al margen y de la orilla de algún artefacto mecánico para escarbar.
- 8) Apoye/preserve las instalaciones bajo tierra según sea necesario cuando este excavando.
- 9) Reliene con cuidado.
- 10) Avise a los dueños de las instalaciones y marque el 811 inmediatamente para reportar cualquier daño.
- 11) Las peticiones estándar (ticket) son válidas 15 días hábiles solamente.

Qué pasa cuando usted llama:

Una vez que usted proporcione la información necesaria, la operadora de "una llamada" le confirmará acerca de los detalles pertinentes. Es su responsabilidad asegurarse de que la información sea registrada adecuadamente en el documento de la petición. A sí mismo, mande por fax o por Internet su petición, se le mandará una confirmación, y es su responsabilidad corroborar de inmediato que la información es correcta.

Looking at some of the most dreaded mental failures in golf

Of the hundreds of mental errors all golfers, both skilled and unskilled, tend to make, let me focus on just five of the errors I have found most common and most penalizing.

The first is failing to play within your capabilities. It's really important to understand your own game. Many times folks will be matched or paired with someone they don't know, and then try to outdo him, not being aware that they are even attempting to compete or impress the other golfer. The conscious task at hand is to become self-absorbed in what you are doing, to the exclusion of everything around you.

CHARLIE BLANCHARD
Golf Doctor

Playing within your capabilities means knowing exactly how far you hit each club, comprehending your tendencies under pressure and using flawless course management.

Secondly, I have noticed golfers frequently succumbing to fear and anxiety. As you might expect, anxiety — call it nervous tension if you will — is associated with a mental state in which you worry more about the outcome and the consequences of your play (or match), and less about the real actions that you are about to perform. Your mind is cluttered with the apprehension and impatience of what is about to happen, causing tension, agitation and restlessness; and keeping you from performing as you normally would in other situations. The antidote for anxiety is to stick to an uncomplicated, repeating pre-shot routine, leaving you in a state of tranquility.

It has been my observation that high-handicappers spend or waste too many strokes around the green. Most of the strokes in the game of golf happen somewhere near or around the green. Think about it: you drive the ball and then hit an approach shot which will end up somewhere near the green. Then a pitch or a chip or two, or a sand bunker shot or two, and then two or three putts, and presto more strokes than you wanted — around the green. Why do I call this a mental mistake? Because almost no weekend golfers appreciate the need for short game learning and practice. The secret is to triple your short game practice and preparation.

Nearly all golfers suffer from inattention to fundamentals from time to time. No matter how good you are — in any sport — success demands continual attention to fundamentals. It's blocking and tackling in football; passing and rebounding in hoops; bunting and base running in baseball. In golf, we need frequent reminders on grip, posture, stance, ball position and tempo. It generally takes an instructor to point out lapses in fundamentals. Yet most beginners are reluctant to take lessons. Why? "Too expensive," I hear all too often. But the truth is that golf, played as a grossly clumsy and inept fool, is probably an expensive waste of time.

Lastly, the one most disastrous, deadly mental mistake is giving in to negative thinking and degrading self-talk. Here's an example: "Now don't hit it left into the pond, you idiot!" A significant element of this mistake is failing to choose confidence, while hoping for some magical good fortune or luck to happen, instead of making it happen.

It also includes indecision, poor judgment, self-defeating behavior and concentration lapses. What we need to do as golfers is to visualize the target and our swing, take dead aim and let it go. When we concentrate all our attention on the real-time task at hand — namely making a good swing — our desired outcome is far more certain. And, my friends, acquiring the discipline to focus only on the task that immediately matters makes the emotional reactions to doubt and fear disappear.

signment," lining up in the right spot and knowing what you need to do.

"If you can't get lined up and don't know your assignment, it is pretty difficult to play," he said. "I don't care how good you are."

Offensive coordinator Tim Beck said he has seen "huge improvement from day 1."

The NCAA allows football programs 15 days of spring practice, which is critical especially for a new coaching staff coming in.

Beck echoes some of Kill's philosophy. What he wants to see is improvement each and every day.

"Don't worry about where we are at," Beck said. "Just try to get better than the last day."

The Aggies have two final practices scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday, April 9, and Tuesday, April 12. The public is welcome to attend.

The spring game is set for 7 p.m. Thursday, April 14 at Aggie Memorial. There is no cost to watch practice or attend the spring game.

"The spring game is not as important for us (coaches)," Beck said. "We have gotten most of our work done. It is for the players, for the players to have fun, have some excitement, get the crowd involved and have them be enthusiastic about the fall."
