Grandparenting summit coming in October, November

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

Karen Bailey and her husband, Brad, were so impressed with the Legacy Grandparenting Summit they attended simulcast they attended in Las Cruces last year, they have not only made plans to attend again this year, they also are volunteering to help with the event.

The Baileys have 29 grandchildren who live in Arizona, Texas, Colorado, North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia and Washington, D.C.

“We have to be intentional if we want a relationship with our grandchildren,” said Karen Bailey, who retired in 2021 after a long career with U.S. Bank. She also started and was the coordinator of Coats for Kids of Las Cruces for 26 years.

Bailey said the faith-based summit and its “great mix of speakers” gave her and Brad a lot of really good ideas on how to connect and stay connected with their grandchildren.

“What do we want our grandchildren to remember,” Bailey said. “What do we want to pass on to them?”

The summit coordinator is Tim Steele of Las Cruces, who, along with his wife, Sheila, are FamilyLife Ministry nonprofit representatives for New Mexico. FamilyLife is collaborating with Legacy Coalition and Crosstown Ministries of Las Cruces to bring the summit to Las Cruces, Steele said.

“This is a faith-based couple of days,” Steele said, but the summit is not “preachy or churchy,” and attendees do not have to belong to any organized religion to participate.

“You just have to want to be a more attuned grandparent,” Steele said.

People who are not grandparents but interested in what the summit will offer are also welcome, he said.

“This is for any grandparent,” Steele said, including single grandparents and couples, grandparents who connect remotely with their grandchildren and those who are estranged from them “due to circumstances or choices,” he said.

Steele said the simulcast will be presented at 110 locations across the country and will include 20-25 speakers. The Las Cruces simulcasts will include recordings of 10 of those speakers and eight sessions, he said.

The Steeles have seven grandchildren, Steele said, including three in Las Cruces. That is why Tim and Sheila decided to move here three years ago from Family Life Ministries headquarters in Orlando, Florida.

Last year’s summit “was right in our wheelhouse as grandparents,” Steele said.

The summit simulcast will be held at two locations in Las Cruces:

- Thursday-Friday, Oct. 20-21, 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m. each day: Doña Ana Community College East Mesa auditorium, 2800 Sonoma Ranch Blvd. The cost is $49. Register at <https://brushfire.com/legacycoalition/simulcast/535665>.

Tim Steele, left, and his wife Sheila, will present the Legacy Grandparenting Summit in October and November.

- Friday-Saturday, Nov. 4-5, 6-9 p.m. on Friday and 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m. on Saturday: First Baptist Church, 4201 Sonoma Ranch Blvd. The cost is $59. Tents to Rents passes $100,000 funds raised

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

Mesilla Valley Community of Hope (MVCH) has surpassed its $100,000 goal for the 2022 Tents to Rents campaign to help people struggling with homelessness move into their own apartments.

“What an amazing community! Providing a safe outdoor space like Camp Hope is an honor. Thank you for supporting us and those we serve,” said MVCH Executive Director Nicole Martinez.

The campaign began Aug. 15 and officially ended Sept. 23, but MVCH continued to receive donations for the campaign and surpassed $102,000 by the end of September.

Partners included Good Samaritan Village’s Housing Helpers, who raised more than $24,500 for this year’s Tents to Rents. Of the Same Ilk wine club raised almost $5,000. St. Andrews Episcopal Church raised almost $3,000. Hearts for Hope raised more than $2,600. MVCH itself collected more than $42,000 in donations.

“Supporting the Tents to Rents fundraising campaign is so crucial, especially now when so many folks are experiencing homelessness as a result of the pandemic,” said Carrie Hamblen, president and CEO of the Las Cruces Chamber of Commerce. “Camp Hope serves as transitional housing but cannot be funded by federal grants. As a participant in this year’s Tents to Rents, we have seen the incredible generosity of people in our community once again coming forward.”

There are currently 45 residents of MVCH’s Camp Hope tent city. It costs about $7,800 to move people out on their own. Contact Martinez at 575-523-2219, extension 114, and hope@zianet.com. Visit www.mvcommunityofhope.org and www.tentstorents.org.

Chamber recognizes award winners at banquet

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

Long-time Las Cruces business owner and community activist Wanda Bowman was named Las Cruces 2022 citizen of the year at the Greater Las Cruces Chamber of Commerce annual awards banquet, held Sept. 29 at Las Cruces International Airport (LCIA).

Here are the 2022 award

winners and nominees:

• Citizen of the year: Wanda Bowman (winner), Ammu Devasthali, Karl Ngoye;

• Nonprofit of the year: Community Foundation of Southern New Mexico (winner) Downtown Las Cruces Partnership, USO;

• Emerging business of the year: Acosta Medical Clinic (winner), Lucky Dog Billiards, Mesilla Valley Pharmacy;

• Small business of the year: Getz Funeral Home (winner), Hub International Insurance, Mary Iadicicco Allstate Agency;

• Large business of the year: Electronic Caregiver (winner), French Brothers, Mountain View Regional Medical Center.

Also recognized were Caroline Zamora, who received the chamber President's Award; Joe Bullington, who received the chamber Chairman's Award, and Cyndi Armijo was also honored for 10 years of service with the chamber. Moore also announced that Taylor Isaacs will join the chamber staff Oct. 17 as director of development. She said NMSU senior Madison Honeycutt also work part-time for the chamber.

The event was held in an LCIA hangar, with the dark desert sky as a backdrop to the awards.

"This airport is going places," said Chamber CEO and President Debbi Moore.

"There is nothing more important for a community than creating and maintaining jobs," said 2021 Chamber Board of Directors President Jed Fanning. He and Moore were joined during the awards presentation by current Board President Craig Buchanan.

Tailoring opportunity for Las Cruces

I read with interest three articles in this week's Bulletin. Taken together, they combine to give a glimpse into a possible economic future of Las Cruces.

Next week there are a pair of powerful conferences in Las Cruces.

Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 12-13, it's the Future of Work Summit at the New Mexico Farm & Ranch Heritage Museum. Deloitte Consulting is coming to town to host the summit with the Greater Las Cruces Chamber of Commerce and the Bridge of Southern New Mexico. The combination of Deloitte expertise with knowledge from local businesspeople will lend fruitful discussion regarding the next generation of work and the workforce, tailored to the strengths and possibilities of Las Cruces. See Page 32 for more information on this.

RICHARD COLTHARP
From the Publisher

Then on Friday, Oct. 14, at the Rio Grande Theatre, it's the 10x25 Conference. It's presented by Doña Ana Community College, whose film and digital media professor Lamaia Vaughn called it a "celebration of creativity and innovation as drivers of economic and social growth in the arts, education, health and entertainment industries." There's also a strong entrepreneurial aspect to this conference. (See Page 32)

Earlier this week, in Taos, was the New Mexico Outdoor Economics Conference, attended by several Las Cruces, and co-sponsored by the non-profit Outdoor New Mexico, based in Las Cruces. (Page 31)

The outdoors, the future and the creative fields are all assets of our community. Very few communities have the combination of those we have.

Mountainscapes, camping, bicycling and hiking. Space, science and military. Film, animation and fine arts. All of these things we have. All of these things are growing in region. All of these things bring economic opportunities, visitors and jobs.

I'm glad we're taking a look at all of these things in the context of business for Las Cruces. Our whole state needs to capitalize on the strengths we have, and develop and diversify our other opportunities.

New Mexico certainly has its struggles and its faults, but there's no denying we are indeed the Land of Enchantment. The care and feeding of that strength is something we should always be building.

Filibuster must die to save Supreme Court

During the next few weeks, voters will get their first chance to weigh in on the recent rulings by our new Supreme Court, with its 6-3 conservative majority.

The unelected and unaccountable justices are not likely to notice or care. They will be too busy reshaping our nation's laws to fit their religious and political preferences.

After ending 50 years of women's reproductive rights, neutering the Environmental Protection Agency, overturning local gun laws and forcing states to fund religious schools in last year's session, justices have a new slate of cases lined up for this year.

This term, the court will end the use of race in college admissions, give state legislatures authority over the courts in certifying elections, allow more businesses to refuse service to LGBTQ customers and strip protections from the Clean Water Act.

Given the court's 6-3 majority, there's no question which way it will rule on any of these issues. The only question is how will Chief Justice John Roberts vote, and how will he continue to defend the court as being neutral arbiters above the political fray when we all know that is a lie.

All of which leads to one sad conclusion, the end of the filibuster in the U.S. Senate.

I've written three columns on the issue previously, all defending the filibuster. A career of covering government in both red and blue states has given me sympathy for the minority party, regardless of which one it is, and a strong belief that government works best when both sides have a chance to actively participate.

But political maneuvering in the Senate has created a Supreme Court that is far more politically conservative than the nation as a whole, and is completely unrestrained in its efforts to turn back social advances.

Democratic political leaders are hoping to use these decisions to motivate a discouraged base to get out and vote in the midterms, and I second that motion. But Supreme Court Justice Samuel Alito isn't up for re-election, and never will be.

We have a super-majority of conservative justices who, for the most part, are young and healthy and have decades of conservative rulings to come. Nothing we do at the polls will change that.

The only way to change it will be through legislation reforming the Supreme Court, and that can't happen without removal of the filibuster.

The goal should be to depoliticize the court as much as possible and select justices through a merit-based system where political leanings take a back seat to knowledge and experience. And we need term limits. No government appointment should be for life. That notion should have been rejected when we decided on a democracy over a monarchy.

Toss no Mas event Oct. 8

BULLETIN REPORT

Individual volunteers, groups and civic organizations are invited to register for this year's City of Las Cruces "Toss No Mas" cleanup event, which will be held 8 a.m.-noon Saturday, Oct. 8.

Keep Las Cruces Beautiful, the city Parks and Recreation Department and New Mexico Clean and Beautiful will host "Toss No Mas," which began in the 1990s.

Keep Las Cruces Beautiful will have a centralized location, Young Park, 1905 Nevada Ave., for information, identified locations and supplies the morning of the event, the city said. Volunteers can pick up supplies 8 a.m.-noon and 1-5 p.m. Friday, Oct. 7, in the south parking lot of Frank O'Brien Papen Community Center, 304 W. Bell Ave.

Hundreds of volunteers participate each year to collect litter at parks, schools, streets and business properties during the cleanup campaign. As part of the event, solid waste containers will be available for residents 8 a.m.-noon Oct. 8 for trash disposal.

Toss No Mas Cleanup roll-off locations:

- The corner of Thurmond Road and Sonoma Ranch Boulevard.
- Apodaca Park, 801 E. Madrid Ave.
- Young Park, 1905 E. Nevada Ave.
- Tony Gomez Park, 2250 S. Espina St.

Volunteers can register at las-cruces.org/formcenter/parks-rec-forms-14/toss-no-mas-registration-94, or call 575-528-4506, or email KLCB@las-cruces.org for information to sign up.

Barbara 'Mother' Hubbard to be honored Oct. 19

BULLETIN REPORT

Actor, comedian, ventriloquist Jeff Dunham will host "95 and Very Much Alive," New Mexico State University's tribute to Barbara "Mother" Hubbard, at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 19, at the Pan American Center.

"Dunham was the winner of an American Collegiate Talent Showcase (ACTS) organized by Hubbard and continues to show his appreciation for her and the program," NMSU said in a news release. In 2016, Dunham brought Hubbard on stage during his performance at the Pan Am Center and presented her a $25,000 check to support her ACTS Scholarship Fund.

"I am the luckiest woman on this planet that people like Jeff continue to remember what the ACTS Scholarship Fund is all about," Hubbard said. "It makes everything I have tried to do completely worthwhile."

Brennin Hunt, one of the stars of Fox's "RENT Live" and the Broadway production of "Pretty Woman," will also perform at the Oct. 19 event, NMSU said. Hunt, like so many others, attributes his success to Hubbard.

The event will begin with a cocktail reception and silent auction. Dinner and a special tribute to Hubbard will follow. Tickets are $100 or a table of 10 for $1,000. Sponsorships are also available.

Hubbard, who turned 95 in July, was director of special events at NMSU 1968-96 and is credited with bringing the first-ever concert to the Pan American Center.

She is remembered and revered for attracting some of the biggest names in entertainment to Las Cruces, including Garth Brooks and Trisha Yearwood, George Strait, Tina Turner, Charley Pride, U2, the Eagles, Pearl Jam, Earth Wind & Fire, Whitney Houston, Foreigner, Carrie Underwood, Brad Paisley, Trans-Siberian Orchestra, Elton John, Billy Joel, Van Halen, Prince and Metallica – and Jeff Dunham – Visit Las Cruces (VLC) said when it honored Hubbard and other Las Cruces women pioneers earlier this year. Professional boxing cards, wrestling matches, circuses and other traveling extravaganzas attracted thousands more visitors to Las Cruces during Hubbard's illustrious career, VLC said.

In fact, Brooks' World Tour sold out five shows and attracted more than 60,000 fans to Las Cruces over a three-day period in April 2017. Concertgoers from 47 states purchased tickets to the shows, and Hubbard's legacy was cemented – if it was not already – as a pioneer in promotions and local tourism, VLC said.

Hubbard "is southern New Mexico's icon," Mayor Ken Miyagishima said when he presented Hubbard with the mayor's distinguished service award, "in recognition of your commitment and dedication in helping to make Las Cruces a better community," in May. "She put the Pan American Center on the nation's map in addition to bringing a lot of great music to Las Cruces and the borderland."

Among the honorary chairpeople of the event for Hubbard are Reba McEntire and Louis Mesina, one of the top concert promoters in the U.S.

"Mother" Hubbard, a nickname given to her by Bob Hope because of her dedication to her students - her "kids" - is still a force to be reckoned with. Even as she starts her 95th year, she remains active in promoting concerts, mentoring, and providing student scholarship funds. She has generated over $750,000 in scholarship funds for NMSU students alone, where she continues teaching a Venue Management class. Additionally, she has provided scholarship funds for students in several other colleges and universities.

Her home is a museum. Every available wall space is filled with photos of Barbara and the legends of the entertainment business.

Former governor offers advice to candidate

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

“Focus on the personal side of being the governor of the state of New Mexico. That would bring us together more than we are right now.”

That is the advice former New Mexico governor and NMSU Chancellor Garrey Carruthers has for Mark Ronchetti if the Albuquerque Republican is elected governor in November.

Carruthers, also a Republican, said he frequently walked on the floor of the New Mexico state Senate and House of Representatives during legislative sessions while he was governor, 1987-90, talking to legislators and leaders from both parties.

He created windows in his schedule for any legislator, Republican or Democrat, who requested a meeting during the session or at any other time.

Carruthers also kept one Saturday morning a month open for 15-minute appointments at the governor's mansion in Santa Fe for anyone who wanted to come and see him to talk about any issue.

“People here expect to go see the governor,” he said. “They want to be heard.”

Carruthers also regularly held what his administration called “government days” in towns and cities across the state, taking cabinet secretaries and other officials with him to meet with residents and visit their communities.

Whenever he met with a constituent, Carruthers said he made sure a staff member was present so there could be immediate follow up on any issue raised during the meeting.

And, Carruthers said he was always honest about any requests or demands people made when they met with him.

“If I couldn't do it, I'd tell them I couldn't do it,” he said.

Carruthers said he would also advise Ronchetti to reorganize state government and reduce governor's cabinet positions to “a reasonable number.”

There are today nearly twice as many New Mexico state cabinet secretaries as when he was governor, Carruthers said.

For the secretaries of the most important departments, the former governor said he would advise Ronchetti to “look for the best professional people you can find and don't worry about party affiliation.”

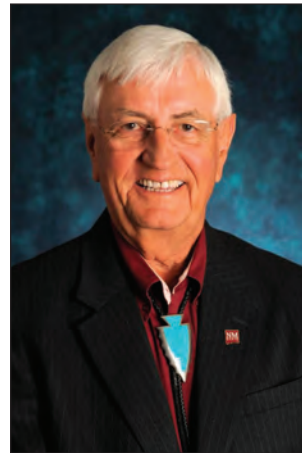

Carruthers said he appointed several Democrats to his cabinet, and retained some from the administration of the previous governor, Democrat Toney Anaya.

When he interviewed Lane Cotter, who would become his Corrections Department secretary, “I didn't ask his party affiliation,” Carruthers said.

If he becomes the new governor, Ronchetti also needs to take advantage of the record state budget surplus expected for the 2023 legislative session, Carruthers said.

“Now is the time to restructure the state's tax system,” he said, to make it “equitable and fair and not so complex.”

Carruthers said he served on a tax reform task force for former Gov. Bill Richardson and would be willing to do so again.

On the national level, “to pull back together,” Carruthers said, what the country needs “is a 50-year-old Ronald Reagan who can advocate a Republican agenda” of law and order and fiscal restraint.

The GOP has always stood for a balanced budget, freedom of speech, a strong military and free enterprise, he said, and those initiatives are “very sound and still relevant to America.”

Now, however, “We're not hearing those voices,” Carruthers said, even among moderate and conservative Republicans. “We need to go back to those principles; go back to Lincoln,” he said. “It's a good map of where the party ought to be.”

Carruthers voted for Trump in 2016 because he thought “the change might be what we needed,” he said.

But Trump was “incredibly disappointing to me as president,” Carruthers said. Trump “did not represent the people. The one thing he represented was himself. We've never had people call their political opponents the names he called them.”

“I'm not a Trumper at all,” said Carruthers, who voted for Joe Biden in 2020.

Even so, Carruthers remains a staunch Republican. He was state Republican Party chair 1977-79.

“I would never leave the party,” he said.

There are still “all kinds of principles Republican candidates can run on,” both in New Mexico and across the nation, Carruthers said.

But political campaigns have become so adversarial and mean-spirited, he said, “I'm glad I'm 83 years old and don't have to go through that.”

From 1981-84, Carruthers served in two administrative positions at the U.S. Department of the Interior. After serving as dean of the College of Business, he was NMSU president and chancellor 2013-17.

PROPOSED STATE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

The New Mexico Legislature referred three constitutional amendments to the ballot:

1. Allocate 1.25 percent of the five-year average of year-end market values of the money in the state Land Grant Permanent Fund to early childhood education services and the public school permanent fund
2. Provide that a judge appointed to fill a vacancy be up for election at the first general election one year after the appointment
3. Require state funds for infrastructure that provide household services to be approved by a majority vote in each chamber of the legislature.

STATEWIDE GENERAL OBLIGATION BONDS

The legislature approved three bond issues totaling $259.7 million. The bond questions ask if voters statewide will approve funds for 1. senior citizen facility improvements, 2. public education and 3. public libraries.

GO BOND QUESTIONS City of Las Cruces general obligation bond questions

Know the signs

Do you know how to identify a natural gas leak? You might smell sulfur or rotten eggs, you may notice dirt or debris shooting up out of a hole in the ground, dead or dying vegetation in an otherwise green area, and a loud hissing or roaring sound near pipeline markers. These and many more are all tell tale signs of a natural gas or pipeline leak. Use all your senses, even common sense and report any possible leaks to Zia Natural Gas Company. When in doubt call us out!

As always, Zia personnel are available 24/7 for all natural gas emergencies. Call (575) 526-4GAS (4427) if you have a natural gas emergency.

Green to lead Black Programs

By AMANDA BRADFORD
NMSU News Team

New Mexico State University has named Doña Ana County NAACP President Bobbie Green as interim director of the university's Black Programs.

Vice President for Equity, Inclusion and Diversity Teresa Maria Linda Scholz announced the appointment Sept. 27.

"I am absolutely delighted that Dr. Green has agreed to take on this interim role," Scholz said in the announcement. "She is a compassionate, forward-thinking and steady leader who understands the needs and challenges faced by our Black students. We are very fortunate to have her on board."

Green, has been a professor of information systems, a social activist, an expert lecturer, a writer, a choir director and a public speaker. She has created hundreds of videos and has taught thousands of students as a college professor in a career that spans more than 20 years. At NMSU, she served as a college associate professor in the College of Business for more than 13 years – a portion of that time as director of the college's Master of Business Administration program.

GREEN

"Because of those who came before me and demanded equity, I've had the opportunity to teach at a university that once denied the first African American student the right to sit in the classroom while she attended classes here," Green said. "It was the compassion of well-meaning faculty who demanded that Clara Belle Williams be allowed to sit in a segregated classroom, undoubtedly risking their own livelihoods in the process. My mother was a cook at NMSU. But I didn't have to work in the kitchen at NMSU. Instead, I was allowed to work in the classroom. Therefore, I have an obligation to pay it forward."

Progress Club tourney raises $36,000

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

One hundred and eight golfers participated in The Progress Club of Las Cruces' fundraising golf tournament held Saturday, Sept. 24, at Picacho Hills Country Club.

"Excellent course condition, a good time was had by all," said Ron Cavill of Cavill and Company Investment Managers, the tournament's chief sponsor.

Cavill said the tournament grossed more than $36,000, nearly double the total from last year's tournament.

4 Paws and a Wake Up (FPWU) and Honor Flights of Southern New Mexico (HFSNM), are among local organizations that will benefit from the proceeds of the tournament.

FPWU, founded in New Mexico and North Carolina in 2019, is "dedicated to empowering people with disabilities to achieve greater independence, and enhanced quality of life, through the services of specially trained dogs," according to www.k94paws.org.

"HFSNM was established in 2008 by business and community leaders who were devoted to honoring our veterans," according to www.honorflightnm.org. HFSNM also serves El Paso.

Progress Club members logged more than 40,000 in volunteer hours in 2021 and donated nearly $40,000 to programs benefiting local veterans, domestic violence programs, children and students and women and families in need.

The club celebrated its 100th anniversary in 2015 but got its start when the Women's Improvement Association was formed in 1894 by five Las Cruces women who wanted to help provide services to the community the city was not providing, according to club records.

Their first goal was to buy a horse for the community.

Progress Club dues are $40 a year. Membership is open to all women.

To become a club member and/or donate to the club, contact Belen Valenzuela at 575-496-4292 and belen8@yahoo.com.

'Hunger Strike' nears $80,000

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

Casa de Peregrinos (CdP) 2022 Hunger Strike fundraiser has collected more than $70,000 "and the number is still climbing," CdP Executive Director Lorenzo Alba said.

Alba said the campaign had surpassed $76,000 by Sept. 29. That surpasses the group's goal for this year's campaign by more than $15,000. Since it began in 2019, Hunger Strike has collected more than $225,000 to benefit the countywide emergency food program, Alba said.

To raise the money, nearly 60 participants began a fast Sept. 22, after a breakfast from CdP partners Luchador food truck.

They created social media messages asking friends, family and co-workers to support them by donating. Most of the fasts lasted 24 hours, until a Sept. 23 breakfast at The Shed, during which owner Gabe Mendoza donated $2,000.

"We are humbled by the overwhelming support and generosity of this community and the courage and drive of the participants," Alba said.

Hunger Strike not only raised money for CdP, it gave participants and the community an opportunity "to have a day of solidarity with our neighbors that struggle with hunger (food insecurity) in their everyday lives," Alba said.

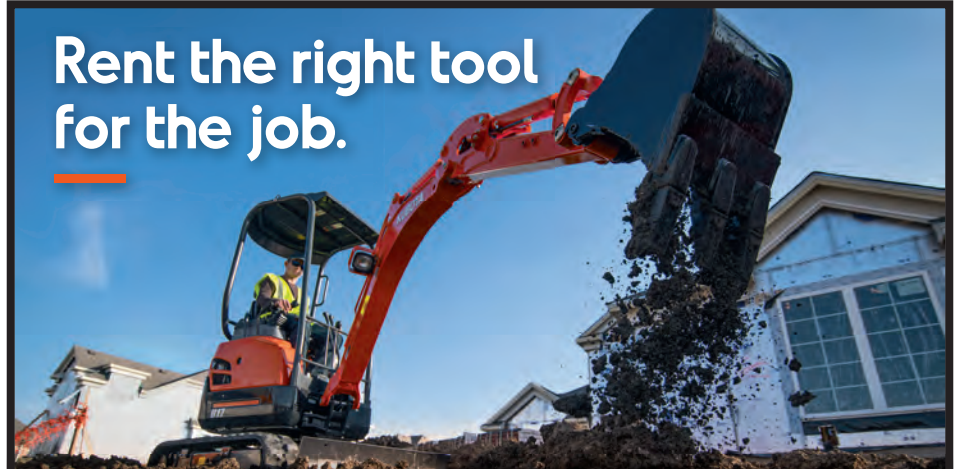

To donate, visit casadeperegrinos.org. Contact Alba at 575-654-4170.

Village of Doña Ana receives $36,500 beautification grant

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

T-Mobile officials were in the Village of Doña Ana Saturday, Sept. 24, to award a grant of more than $36,500 to help beautify the historic Doña Ana plaza, T-Mobile said in a news release.

Attendees at the presentation included former state Sen. Mary Jane Garcia, who lives in the village, and current state Sen. Jeff Steinborn and state Rep. Nathan Small, both D-Doña Ana.

“Over 12 years ago I was able to secure capital outlay funds from the New Mexico State Legislature to build sidewalks, a gazebo and add lighting to the historic Doña Ana Plaza,” Garcia said. “The T-Mobile Hometown grant will finally complete the Doña Ana Plaza project by allowing the Doña Ana Village Historic Preservation Committee to purchase benches and trash receptacles for the historic plaza.”

“Congratulations to the Doña Ana Village Historic Preservation Committee for working to secure this important funding and infrastructure for the Village of Doña Ana, and many thanks to T-Mobile for providing this grant,” Steinborn said in a T-Mobile news release. “This funding will provide needed resources to the Village to further the quality of life for area residents, and visitation to this historic community.”

Clues help ‘discover’ public art

BULLETIN REPORT

The City of Las Cruces Public Art Program introduces “Discover Las Cruces Public Art,” a public art audio stories pilot program, with a scavenger hunt that continues throughout the month of October, the city said in a news release.

Scavenger hunt clues can be answered with information heard at each of nine locations included in the hunt. Match the clue description with the correct art piece and submit the completed form to be eligible for prizes.

Weekly winners will be announced and entered in a drawing to win a grand prize at the end of the month.

The city public art pieces featured in the hunt were chosen by the City Art Board, the city said.

The hunt provides additional information about the artwork in a short audio recording accessible on any mobile device with scanning capability. Signs with a unique QR code, placed at each location, will access a website where participants can listen to the story recording and find a button to a map of other audio locations.

The scavenger hunt “is a fun way to explore the city and learn more about the nine City of Las Cruces art installations,” the news release said.

Scavenger hunt information, clues and the answer form can be found at www.las-cruces.org/PublicArt. The audio recordings were produced by Nan Rubin, founder, and Zane Chaffee, general manager, of Las Cruces Community Radio KTAL-LP.

For information, contact Art Program Coordinator Ceci Vasconcellos at 575-541-2780 and cvasconcellos@las-cruces.org.

VEEDAUN ROMERO, 89

Monroe, Utah – Our beloved mother, grandmother, great-grandmother, great-great grandmother, sister, aunt, cousin and friend, Vee Daun Wilkinson Romero, passed away Sept. 25, 2022, just one week after her 89th birthday.

VeeDaun was born in Koosharem, Utah, Sept. 18, 1933, to Brose L. and Vee Nielson Wilkinson, one of nine children. She attended school in Richfield, graduating from Richfield High School with the class of 1951, and later attended Snow College. In 1950 she moved to New Mexico where she met and married Tommy G. Romero and raised her family. He passed away on May 26, 1996. After spending 18 months as a missionary in the London South Mission, she returned to Sevier County and lived in Monroe until her passing.

VeeDaun was an incredibly talented person with many interests. She was very active and loved being outside and the local area that she called home. She enjoyed birdwatching, going on nature rides, and working as a tour guide in Sevier County. She was an avid fair participant in New Mexico as well as Sevier County and she passed this on to her children and grandchildren. Her divinity candy earned awards for many years, and she continued to participate in the local fair until as recently as last year. She was a top-notch homemaker and enjoyed sharing her talents in the form of sewing, knitting, baking, canning, candy and costume making. She loved music and enjoyed singing and playing steel guitar. She liked to play cards and dominoes, watch game shows (especially Jeopardy), and caring for and grooming dogs. Her greatest love was for her family and her dear friends. She took every opportunity to attend games and concerts and spend time with the people she cared about.

VeeDaun was a devout member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints and served in many callings in the Relief Society, as a primary teacher, a Manti Temple worker, a secretary in the stake primary presidency, and as a missionary. She had a loving heart and was always serving and helping others in whatever capacity she could, including working as a school volunteer, a bus driver for school activities, and compassionate service, delivering hundreds of meals and plates of baked goods for those in need. Her testimony, faith, and love of God was central in her life and will continue to impact her family and serve as an anchor to them until they can be with her again.

grandchildren; one great-great-grandchild.

She is preceded in death by her parents, husband, brothers: Leland E. Wilkinson, Milton J. Wilkinson, and Steve B. Wilkinson; her sons: Jaime Don Romero and Robert Rasmussen.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 1, 2022, in the Monroe 1st LDS Ward Chapel, 49 E. 200 North in Monroe, where friends may call for viewing from 9-10:30 a.m. prior to the services.

Burial will be in the Richfield Cemetery under the care of the Springer Turner Funeral Homes of Richfield and Salina, Utah.

“Dog the Bounty Hunter”

Duane Chapman is the “Dog” of this unscripted series that follows him and his wife Beth, his family and associates as they pursue and capture fugitives in Hawaii and his home state of Colorado. The series aired for nine seasons on A&E Network, the first of which streams here.

“Movie: The Rest of Us”

Two mother/daughter duos must deal with their grief and their complicated feelings for each other when the person who ties them together dies in this 2019 drama from Aisling Chin-Yee in her feature film directorial debut. Heather Graham, Sophie Nélisse, Abigail Pniowsky and Jodi Balfour head the cast.

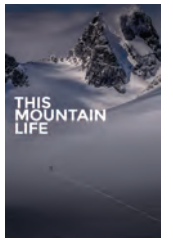

“Gene Simmons Family Jewels”

This unscripted series that followed the home life of Kiss bassist Gene Simmons with his wife, actress Shannon Tweed, and their two children, Nick and Sophie, drew solid ratings for A&E Network during its 2006-13 run, but took some criticism for showing events that did not actually occur. The first two rounds stream here.

“Movie: This Mountain Life”

From Canada and co-writer/director Grant Baldwin comes this 2018 documentary that chronicles the lives of various residents of British Columbia and their relationships with the province’s mountain landscape, including mother/daughter hikers, a pair of avalanche survivors, a couple living off the grid and nuns at an isolated mountain nunnery.

tonight's picks

Japanese Breakfast

6 p.m. on HALL
Movie: Pumpkin Everything

Amy (Taylor Cole) is an up-and-coming novelist who returns to her hometown to look after her stubborn grandfather Tom (Michael Ironside) and his pumpkin-themed store after he is injured. While helping to get grandpa back on his feet, she crosses paths with her childhood best friend and first love Kit Parker (Corey Sevier), the reason she left town to begin with. This 2022 romance is based on the novel by Beth Labonte.

6 p.m. on LIFE
Movie: The Disappearance of Cari Farver

Dave Kroupa (Zach Gilford) is shocked when his new girlfriend, Cari Farver (Rebecca Amzallag), starts sending him demanding texts. When Dave ends the relationship, he receives an onslaught of twisted messages from Cari, who has abruptly disappeared. Dave's ex-girlfriend, Liz (Alicia Witt), also begins receiving harassing texts from Cari. Meanwhile, Cari's mother Nancy (Lea Thompson) continues to search for her, keeping the pressure on the police who eventually uncover a shocking discovery in this 2022 docudrama that is based on a true story.

6 p.m. on BET
Movie: Stalked Within

Get a home security system, they said. It'll make you feel safe, they said. Gary (Wes Brown) is a delusional home security operator who uses his company's residential interior cameras to spy on single mom Sarah (Meagan Tandy) as his infatuation turns into a deadly obsession in this 2022 thriller. Brely Evans, Elizabeth Becka and Geovanni Gopradi also star.

7 p.m. on SYFY
Movie: Bring It On: Cheer or Die

We got the spirit! (And a surprisingly high death rate.) A cheer squad's plan to have a secret practice at a nearby abandoned school with their devil mascot on Halloween takes a terrifying turn when their teammates begin disappearing one by one in this 2022 thriller. Cheering has never been deadlier. Stars include Alexandra Beaton, Missi Pyle, Kerri Medders, Tiera Skovbye, Marlowe Zimmerman and Sam Robert Muik.

8 p.m. on EPIX
NFL Icons

The NFL's all-time leading tackler shares stories of turning his personal pain into the fuel for a Hall of Fame career in the new episode "Ray Lewis." From his iconic college career at Miami to his role in establishing the identity of the Baltimore Ravens through two Super Bowl wins over his 17 year career, Lewis is widely considered to be the greatest middle linebacker in NFL history.

9 p.m. on KRWG
Austin City Limits

Two celebrated artists — Japanese Breakfast and Arlo Parks — take the ACL stage for a double-whammy of critical and commercial successes as both artists landed two 2022 Grammy nominations for best new Artist and best alternative album. Pop-alternative band Japanese Breakfast found themselves on a number of "best of" lists for 2021. Meanwhile, Parks won the 2021 BRIT Award for best new artist, received the Mercury Prize for album of the year for her debut album "Collapsed in Sunbeams," and won the BBC Introducing Artist of the Year Award.

11:30 p.m. on SHOW
Movie: X

Set in 1979, adult movie actors and a small film crew arrive at a farmhouse occupied by an elderly couple in the desolate Texas countryside to make a porn film. But as the day shifts to night, the visitors slowly realize that they are not safe, and are being targeted by a nearby enemy in this 2022 horror flick. Mia Goth, Jenna Ortega, Brittany Snow, Martin Henderson and Owen Campbell also star.

It's the holiday break so Spencer (Daniel Ezra) decides to throw an epic Christmas party with the help of JJ (Hunter Clowdus) and Asher (Cody Christian) as an excuse to bring him and Olivia (Samantha Logan) closer in the Season 5 premiere episode "Ludacrismas." Jordan (Michael Evans Behling) gets news about his hand, but he isn't sure what to do. After weeks of research, Olivia and Billy (Taye Diggs) think they may have a breakthrough on their investigation.

8 p.m. on KVIA2
All American:
Homecoming

After the holiday break, Simone (Geffri Maya) returns to Bringston ready to focus solely on tennis and learns what it's really like to be top six. Damon (Peyton Alex Smith) is faced with a decision he's been putting off. Then, frustrated with how Cam (Mitchell Edwards) is treating her, Keisha (Netta Walker) reverts to her old ways and throws a last-minute New Year's Eve party in the Season 2 premiere episode "We Need a Resolution."

Drake Rodger and Meg Donnelly

7 p.m. on KVIA2
The Winchesters

Before Sam and Dean of "Supernatural," there were their parents, John (Drake Rodger) and Mary (Meg Donnelly). Told from the perspective of narrator Dean Winchester (Jensen Ackles), this new series follows the story of how they met and their quest to save the world. When John returns home from fighting in Vietnam, a mysterious encounter sparks a new mission to trace his father's past. He then meets 19-year-old demon hunter Mary, who is also searching for answers after the disappearance of her own father.

8 p.m. on KVIA2
Professionals

Top-tier security operative Vincent Corbo (Tom Welling) is paid to protect the interests of rich and powerful clients by any means necessary. But after a next-gen medical-data satellite explodes on launch, Corbo is hired by the rocket's designer, billionaire futurist Peter Swann (Brendan Fraser) who suspects sabotage. Complicating Corbo's job is his former girlfriend and now Swann's fiancée, medical visionary Dr. Graciela Davila (Elena Anaya), who is racing to help stave off a global catastrophe in the series premiere episode "Snipe Hunt."

8:02 p.m. on KFOX
Monarch

Happy holidays! (Sort of.) The Romans move forward with their annual Family Christmas special. But Clive (guest star Adam Croasdell) blackmails Nicky (Anna Friel), and Nicky's publicist pushes her to go public with her romance with Wade (guest star Callum Kerr). Meanwhile, Ace (Inigo Pascual) and Ana (Emma Milani) kick things up a notch, Gigi (Beth Ditto) rebels and Albie (Trace Adkins) is shocked to learn what Dottie (Susan Sarandon) did in the new episode "Death and Christmas." Faith Prince guest stars.

10 p.m. on HBO
Movie: 38 at the Garden

Jeremy Lin, an undrafted point guard and Harvard grad, shocked fans, stunned his teammates and galvanized Asians around the globe with a string of performances that brought on "Linsanity."

Celebrating Barbara Hubbard

By CRAIG BUCHANAN
GLCCC Board Chair

There will be a benefit celebration later this month for Barbara Hubbard's 95th birthday. What a great way to celebrate someone who has done so much for the Las Cruces community.

Craig Buchanan

I have been fortunate to get to know Barbara Hubbard during my years here in Las Cruces. Barbara is well known and respected throughout the entertainment industry nationwide – just take a look at the entertainers involved in putting on her birthday benefit. Probably less well-known is the passion that she has for the work that she does for the ACTS program through NMSU. Barbara is extremely passionate about her students and teaching them how to succeed in the industry that she knows so well. Her focus for the work that she does is to leave a legacy of training the next generation of leaders in her industry. From the profits of her shows, she has funded scholarships and endowments to benefit students. Additionally, she maintains direct involvement in the training process by continuing to teach courses in entertainment management. Barbara's focus is certainly to create entertainment for our community. But the bigger purpose is to use the platform of her work to create the lasting impact of educating students for the ability to have a meaningful career in a viable industry.

Thousands of people in our region have benefited from the work that she has done to bring quality entertainment to our area. The shows that Barbara has promoted have not only provided high quality entertainment for our region, but they are a significant benefit to the local economy. Significant numbers of attendees at the concerts and events come to Las Cruces to enjoy these shows and spend money in our community because of Barbara's work. The shows are great, businesses are supported and our students are being educated. Thank you Barbara for all that you have done for Las Cruces and Southern New Mexico.

RELIEF FROM JOINT PAIN STARTS HERE.

If joint pain or stiffness is keeping you from doing the things you love, we can help you get back to your active life. MountainView Regional Medical Center is the only hospital in Las Cruces to offer a full range of services for joint pain relief, including advanced robotic-assisted knee and hip replacements. To find out more about treatment options that may be right for you, attend one of our free joint pain seminars.

Learn more about joint pain treatment options at MyMountainViewOrtho.com.

Before you decide on surgery, discuss treatment options with your doctor. Understanding the risks and benefits of each treatment can help you make the best decision for your individual situation. Patient results may vary. Consult with a physician about the benefits and risks of any surgical procedure or treatment.

“Derry Girls”

The British comedy returns for its third and final season with hope in the Northern Ireland air that the Troubles will soon be in everyone’s past. Unfortunately, the same can’t be said of the Derry girls as the high school hardships of Erin and her friends show no signs of letting up. Saoirse-Monica Jackson, Louisa Harland and Jamie-Lee O’Donnell star. (ORIGINAL)

“Movie: Old People”

From Germany comes this horror flick about a young woman who goes back to her isolated hometown for a wedding and finds herself fighting to survive when bloodthirsty retirement home residents escape and go on a killing spree during a violent thunderstorm. Melika Foroutan, Stephan Luca and Anna Unterberger star. (ORIGINAL)

“Easy-Bake Battle: The Home Cooking Competition”

Inspired by Hasbro’s iconic Easy Bake Oven, this eight episode, half hour culinary competition series features skilled home cooks facing off and using their most ingenious kitchen hacks to prove who can make the easiest, fastest and most delicious food. Antoni Porowski is the host. (ORIGINAL)

“Movie: The Curse of Bridge Hollow”

Jeff Wadlow (“Truth or Dare,” “Fantasy Island”) directed this fantasy comedy that stars Marlon Wayans and Priah Ferguson as a man and his teenage daughter who are forced to save their town when an ancient spirit causes Halloween decorations to come to life and wreak havoc. Kelly Rowland, Lauren Lapkus and Dave Sheridan also star. (ORIGINAL)

tonight's picks

7 p.m. on BET
Tyler Perry's Sistas

Andi (KJ Smith) confronts Gary (Chido Nwokocha) about his intention to lawyer up against her in the Season 5 premiere episode "Pain and Suffering." Meanwhile, Karen's (Ebony Obsidian) health is at risk as she comes to terms with her depth of love for Zac (DeVale Ellis).

8 p.m. on KRWG
NOVA

Police departments and courts across the country are using artificial intelligence to help decide who is policed, who gets bail, how offenders should be sentenced and who gets parole. But is it actually making our law enforcement and court systems fairer and more just? This new episode "Computers v. Crime" digs into the hidden biases, privacy risks and design flaws of this controversial technology.

8 p.m. on FXX
Archer

It's a baker's dozen of puns no matter how you slice it. Archer (H. Jon Benjamin) and the gang "knead" proof in order to temper expectations and ice the mission in the Season 13 finale "Dough, Ray, and Me." But will they rise to the occasion or fall flat like an undercover soufflé? Judy Greer, Amber Nash, Chris Parnell, Aisha Tyler and Lucky Yates are also heard.

11 p.m. on FX
Welcome to Wrexham

In a back-to-back-to-back Season 1 finale, we get a heapin' helpin' of Wrexham. First up in "Hello Wembley," Hollywood stars and Wrexham residents descend on London for the Red Dragons' big match at the legendary titled stadium. Then in "Wromance," we see how the dynamics of Ryan Reynolds and Rob McElhenny's football friendship began. And finally, for the first time in 14 years, Wrexham has a chance to be promoted out of the National League in the "Do or Die" finale. Will there be a Hollywood ending or will they be a box office flop?

Rob McElhenny

6 p.m. on TCM High Noon on the Waterfront

As part of the channel's examination of the 75th

"Let the Right One In" on Showtime

Table listing names and corresponding puzzle clues: Mark (Kane), Eleanor (Kane), Naomi (Cole), Claire (Logan), Matthew, (Demián) Bichir, (Madison Taylor) Baez, (Anika Noni) Rose, (Grace) Gummer, (Nick) Stahl, Twelve, Family, Vampire, Lonely, Searching.

Anniversary of the Hollywood Blacklist, this new special is an inventive remembrance of the impact of the Blacklist on two American classics, "High Noon" (1952) and "On the Waterfront" (1954), rendered as a visually mesmerizing dialogue between Carl Foreman (voiced by Edward Norton) and Elia Kazan (voiced by John Turturro). "High Noon" and "On the Waterfront" immediately follow.

7 p.m. on KDBC Young Sheldon

Sheldon (Iain Armitage) is in a pickle and must choose sides in an ethical dilemma in the new episode "Passion's Harvest and a Sheldocracy." Elsewhere, Mary (Zoe Perry) decides to try her hand at the fine art of writing and Mandy (Emily Osment) needs a new place to live. Lance Barber, Annie Potts, Montana Jordan and Raegan Revord also star.

7 p.m. on HGTV Renovation Impossible

Home is where the heartbreak is. After a previous contractor botched their kitchen remodel and left them with a broken heart of the home, a couple calls on Russell Holmes to help with renovations in the new episode "Sunken Living." He'll have to manage their rapidly shrinking budget and overcome design disagreements to deliver on a dream home they'll both love. Can he right the ship without breaking the bank?

7 p.m. on BRAVO Winter House

Because questionable behavior is not limited to Southern California, the Season 2 premiere brings the crazy back to Stowe, Vt., where snow bunnies and snow dudes make bad decisions on an hourly basis. Returning to the house are Amanda Batula, Jason Cameron, Craig Conover, Kyle Cooke, Paige DeSorbo, Luke Gulbranson, Austen Kroll and Ciara Miller. New cast members include Rachel Clark, Kory Keefer and Jessica Stocker. Expect your goggles to fog up.

8:30 p.m. on KFOX Call Me Kat

Kat (Mayim Bialik) ends up spending the day with Max (Cheyenne Jackson) and his nephew, and realizes she enjoys being around a baby. Meanwhile, Carter (Julian Gant) confesses that he has lied to Randi (Kyla Pratt) about liking scary movies and his decision to watch them is haunting him in the new episode "Call Me Thor."

Swoosie Kurtz, Leslie Jordan and Julian Gant also star.

9 p.m. on KDBC CSI: Vegas

Catherine (Marg Helgenberger), Maxine (Paula Patton) and the rest of the team are called to investigate when a group of teens discover an abandoned car crash with a dead woman at the wheel in a Nevada ghost town. It's classic CSI as the team works to uncover how the seemingly nonfatal crash ended with the woman's death in the new episode "Story of a Gun."

9:01 p.m. on KVIA Alaska Daily

When Roz (Grace Dove) and Eileen (Hilary Swank) find a lead in Gloria's (Lex Anastasia) case, Eileen calls in a favor to help them track down the person of interest. Meanwhile, Claire (Meredith Holzman) investigates why a beloved local restaurant is selling out to a big corporation. Then, after landing her first front page story, Yuna (Ami Park) learns that success in journalism sometimes comes at a cost in the new episode "A Place We Came Together."

What's Available NOW On prime video

“Luxe Listings Sydney”

Elite agents Gavin Rubinstein, D’Leanne Lewis, Simon Cohen and Monika Tu return for the third season of this unscripted series that finds a tight Sydney real estate market getting even tighter with highly competitive auctions leaving the agents dueling for some of the most coveted properties in the world. (ORIGINAL)

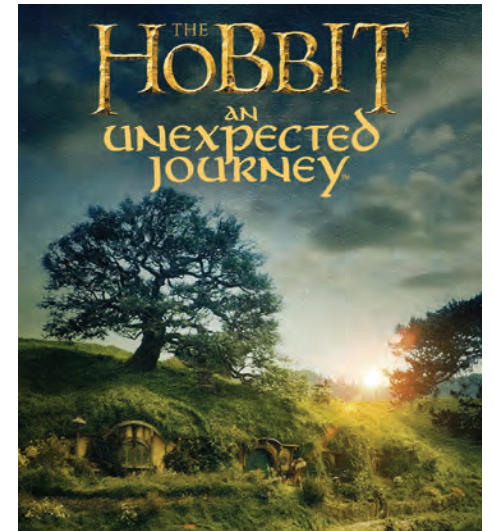

“Movie: He Got Game”

Spike Lee wrote, produced and directed this 1998 sports drama that stars Denzel Washington as a convicted murder who is released on parole for a week to convince his basketball phenom son (NBA star Ray Allen) to play for the governor’s alma mater in exchange for a reduced prison sentence. Milla Jovovich, John Turturro and Rosario Dawson also star.

“A Private Affair”

From Spain comes this crime thriller series about an upper-class girl with a detective’s soul who sets out to catch the serial killer who has been terrorizing her town with the help of her butler. Aura Garrido, Jean Reno, Angela Molina and Alex Garcia head the cast. (ORIGINAL)

“Movie: The Hobbit: An Unexpected Journey”

Peter Jackson directed this epic-sized 2012 start to a three-film prequel. Martin Freeman plays Bilbo Baggins, swept into a quest by dwarves to help reclaim their turf. The tale also marks Bilbo’s first meeting with Gollum, played again by Andy Serkis. Other “Lord of the Rings” returnees include Elijah Wood, Cate Blanchett, Hugo Weaving and Ian Holm.

Gregory Peck in "To Kill a Mockingbird"

"TO KILL A MOCKINGBIRD"

A genuinely classic drama marks its 60th anniversary by debuting in the 4K Ultra HD format. In director Robert Mulligan's version of the novel by Harper Lee – who adapted it for the screen – Gregory Peck earned an Oscar as Atticus Finch, a noble Southern attorney raising his children (Mary Badham, Phillip Alford) during the Depression while courting controversy by representing the defendant (Brock Peters) in a racially charged case of rape. Robert Duvall makes an impact as mysterious neighbor Boo Radley in a superb cast that also includes John Megna, Rosemary Murphy, Ruth White, William Windom and Alice Ghostley. The score by Elmer Bernstein is enormously affecting; the story has had added success in recent years as a stage play with a script by Aaron Sorkin.

★★★★ (Not rated: AS, V)

"THE GODFATHER"

After the entire trilogy was issued on 4K Ultra HD earlier this year to mark the first film's 50th anniversary, the original, Oscar-winning drama – widely deemed one of the greatest movies ever made – gets a separate release in the format. Novelist Mario Puzo wrote the script with director Francis Ford Coppola, tracing the reign of the Corleone crime family led by patriarch Vito (Marlon Brando). His sons Michael, Sonny and Fredo (Al Pacino, James Caan, John Cazale) are of very different temperaments that become even more pronounced as a war between underworld gangs looms. Robert Duvall, Diane Keaton, Talia Shire (Coppola's sister), Richard Conte, John Marley, Abe Vigoda, Richard Castellano, Sterling Hayden, Al Lettieri and Al Martino also are in the first-rate cast. ★★★★★ (R: AS, P, V)

"HALLELUJAH: LEONARD COHEN, A JOURNEY, A SONG"

One of the most moving – and most performed – of contemporary songs provides the framework for this portrait of its influential composer, who saw it go from something that initially didn't grab many record executives' interest to a widely celebrated music staple. Versions by John Cale and Jeff Buckley increased the tune's impact and fame ... and here, Bob Dylan, Judy Collins, Brandi Carlile, Eric Church and Rufus Wainwright are among others involved in the tracing of its history and Cohen's career overall. Rare material from the Cohen archives, visual as well as musical, is integrated throughout the narrative. ★★★★★ (PG-13: AS, P) (Also on Blu-ray, Digital and On Demand)

"UNIVERSAL CLASSIC MONSTERS: ICONS OF HORROR COLLECTION, VOL. 2"

Following an earlier 4K Ultra HD set that included such genre milestones as "Dracula" and "Frankenstein" (which, incidentally, now are becoming available as separate discs), this second edition in the series combines four more terror titles from the Universal Pictures vaults. Showcased this time: "The Bride of Frankenstein," with Boris Karloff and Colin Clive back in their roles from the original "Frankenstein"; "Creature From the Black Lagoon," featuring Julie Adams as the prime target of the title monster; "The Mummy," another Karloff-starring classic; and "Phantom of the Opera," casting Claude Rains as the disfigured musician who haunts the Paris Opera House. Various special features such as documentaries, audio commentaries and theatrical trailers are included. ★★★★★ (Not rated: AS, V)

"ED SULLIVAN'S ROCK & ROLL CLASSICS COLLECTOR'S SET"

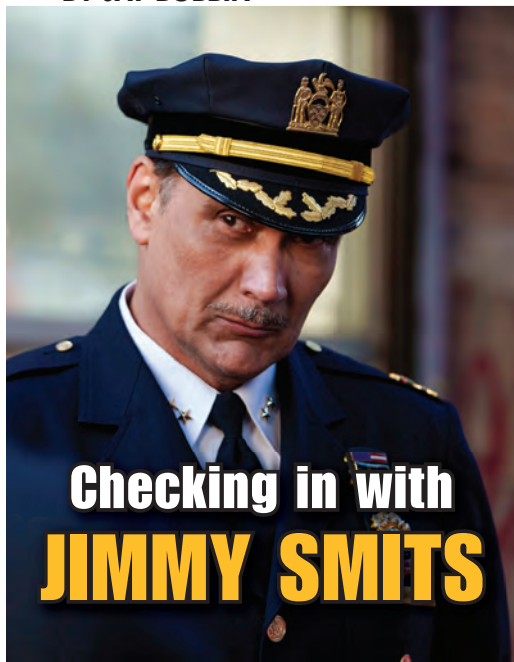

Many musical segments from one of television's most classic variety series are compiled in this set. For many years, the CBS program was a Sunday-night showcase for acts that were just starting to make their marks, and included here are two of them that arguably did as much for "The Ed Sullivan Show" as it did for them in their early days ... Elvis Presley and The Beatles. Among others featured are Stevie Wonder, Neil Diamond, The Rolling Stones, The Supremes, The Beach Boys, Bee Gees, Janis Joplin, Marvin Gaye, Buddy Holly, Jerry Lee Lewis, The Jackson 5, Smokey Robinson & the Miracles, The Byrds, The Mamas & the Papas, Gladys Knight & the Pips, The Ike and Tina Turner Revue, Sly and the Family Stone, The Animals, Herman's Hermits, Tom Jones, Dusty Springfield, The Band and Creedence Clearwater Revival. ★★★★★ (Not rated)

"A MRS. MIRACLE CHRISTMAS"

Doris Roberts was the first actress to play the Debbie Macomber-created title character in a couple of cable movies, and Caroline Rhea inherits it in this Hallmark Channel feature first shown last year. Actually named Gloria Merkel, the woman proves to have something of a magic touch as she advises a couple (Kaitlin Doubleday, Steve Lund) having difficulties over their desire for a child, and also bonds with the wife's recently widowed mother (Paula Shaw). "Days of Our Lives" veteran Roark Critchlow and Jill Teed also appear in the holiday-themed tale. ★★★★★ (Not rated: AS) celebrity scoop

BY JAY BOBBIN

Checking in with JIMMY SMITS

Jimmy Smits is seeing, and living, another side of police work in his latest series role.

The "L.A. Law" Emmy winner who spent several seasons on "NYPD Blue" is now playing a department superior in "East New York," CBS' new Sunday drama. His Chief John Suarez oversees officers including Regina Haywood (Amanda Warren), just appointed the captain of a precinct where others doubt her ability to be a leader.

"What is the role of law enforcement in the time that we're in now?," reflects Brooklyn native Smits. "How can you be representative of the community when at the same time, if there's a problem, you call the cops? Those questions come into play, and this is a guy who's been around for a while. He knows the ins and outs of city politics, and he has to maneuver those."

Smits finds it particularly interesting to be playing Suarez at a time when New York has a relatively new mayor and administration. The actor notes, "When Mayor (Eric) Adams was with the police department, he lived in the building where my mother lived when I was going to college. It always made my mom feel secure that he was downstairs."

Developing Suarez as he goes, Smits has used what he's gleaned from early "East New York" scripts to develop a back story for the character, which he believes includes a military background.

"There's attitude there," Smits says, "but there also are parameters that we've set. This guy has worked his way up the ladder to where he is, so I think about somebody like Gen. Colin Powell, how such a person is and how he moves."

Birthdate: July 9, 1955

Birthplace: Brooklyn, N.Y.

Current residence: Los Angeles

Marital status: His longtime partner is actress Wanda DeJesus; he has two children from an earlier marriage

v. ESTATE OF DOMINGO MARTINEZ, DECEASED, NEW MEXICO DEPARTMENT OF WORKFORCE SOLUTIONS Defendants.

NOTICE OF SALE NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the undersigned Special Master will on November 8, 2022 at 10:00 AM outside the Third Judicial District Court, City of Las Cruces, County of Dona Ana, State of New Mexico, sell and convey to the highest bidder for cash all the right, title, and interest of the above-named defendants in and to the following described real estate located in said County and State: Lot 65, Metro Park Village, Phase 1A, in the City of Las Cruces, Dona Ana County, New Mexico, as shown and designated on the plat thereof, filed in the office of the County Clerk of said County on March 18, 2016, in Book 24 Page(s) 61-64 of Plat Records. The address of the real property is 4864 Califa Ave, Las Cruces, NM 88012. Plaintiff does not represent or warrant that the stated street address is the street address of the described property; if the street address does not match the legal description, then the property being sold herein is the property more particularly described above, not the property located at the street address; any prospective purchaser at the sale is given notice that it should verify the location and address of the property being sold. Said sale will be made pursuant to the judgment entered on July 8, 2022 in the above entitled and numbered cause, which was a suit to foreclose a mortgage held by the above Plaintiff and wherein Plaintiff was adjudged to have a lien against the above-described real estate in the sum of $168,496.96 plus interest from November 30, 2020 to the date of sale at the rate of 3.7500% per annum, the costs of sale, including the Special Master's fee, publication costs, and Plaintiff's costs expended for taxes, insurance, and keeping the property in good repair. Plaintiff has the right to bid at such sale and submit its bid verbally or in writing. The Plaintiff may apply all or any part of its judgment to the purchase price in lieu of cash. At the date and time stated above, the Special Master may postpone the sale to such later date and time as the Special Master may specify. NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that this sale may be subject to a bankruptcy filing, a pay off, a reinstatement or any other condition that would cause the cancellation of this sale. Further, if any of these conditions exist, at the time of sale, this sale will be null and void, the successful bidder's funds shall be returned, and the Special Master and the mortgagee giving this notice shall not be liable to the successful bidder for any damages. NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the real property and improvements concerned with herein will be sold subject to any and all patent reservations, easements, all recorded and unrecorded liens not foreclosed herein, and all recorded and unrecorded special assessments and taxes that may be due. Plaintiff and its attorneys disclaim all responsibility for, and the purchaser at the sale takes the property subject to, the valuation of the property by the County Assessor as real or personal property, affixture of any mobile or manufactured home to the land, deactivation of title to a mobile or manufactured home on the property, if any, environmental contamination on the property, if any, and zoning violations concerning the property, if any. NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the purchaser at such sale shall take title to the above-described real property subject to rights of redemption. Dated: October 3, 2022.

There will be more than 1,000 bowls for sale at the 30th annual Empty Bowls, which will be held 11 a.m.-2 p.m. Friday, Oct. 14, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, 225 W. Griggs Ave.

Tickets are $20 and can be purchased at Be Sew Creative, 1601 E. Lohman Ave.; Boudreau Jewelers and Gallery, 2001 E. Lohman Ave.; The Potteries, 2260 Calle de Santiago in Mesilla; Color Your World, 540 N. Telshor Blvd.; New Digs Clothing, 1021 E. Amador Ave.; Save Mart, 495 N. Valley Drive; and New Mexico Spanish

Kitchen, 2960 N. Main St.

The ticket includes the bowl and a soup lunch donated by more than 40 local restaurants.

A silent auction will include a dozen items donated from a local collection, said Jan Archey, who has participated in Empty Bowls since it started in 1992.

"We anticipate some bidding excitement," Archey said.

The silent auction items are pieces from widely acclaimed artists and potters, including John Gill, Tom Coleman, Steven Hill, Lisa Orr; whiskey/wine cups by Chris Gustin and Doug Casebeer, vintage pieces by Janice Cook and Rich Hepp, and bowls by Lisa Marshall and San Lorenzo artist Kate Brown, Archey said.

Proceeds from the fundraiser go to El Caldito Soup Kitchen.

The soup bowls are handmade by members of the Potter's Guild of Las Cruces, which sponsors Empty Bowls.

For more information, call El Caldito at 575-525-3831 and 575-636-0423. Visit www.pottersguildlc.org and www.elcalditolc.org.

Las Cruces Bulletin

Baseball Hall of Famer Willie Mays once described his profession as, “They throw the ball, I hit it. They hit the ball, I catch it.”

Las Cruces artist Virginia Maria Romero has a similarly on-point explanation for what she does: “You start with a blank canvas. You create something. Somebody connects with that.”

Art lovers throughout New Mexico, across the country and around the world have connected with Romero’s uniquely beautiful paintings, retablos and public art, adding them to collections in homes, galleries, museums and nonprofits.

“It’s just exciting,” Romero said of the international reputation she has gained as an artist. “$100 or $10,000, any time I sell a piece of artwork, somehow, somebody gravitated to something I did and they want it,” she said. “That never gets old.”

Much of Romero’s art reflects her personal connection to nature and wildlife. She has a particular affinity for coyotes, who frequently show up in her artwork. Having looked one in the eye, Romero said she recognizes their right to co-exist.

Romero also paints bobcats, ravens, owls and other wild creatures.

“When I paint then, I try to paint not what I remember, their features,” she said, “but how they affected me. I’m painting the primal connection we share with everything on the planet. Animals are reflecting that color essence of the universe.”

You may also find turtles, Romero’s power animal, in some of her paintings.

If you see a drum in her artwork or a photograph she has taken, it likely represents for her the rhythm, the heartbeat, that connects humans to all creatures.

“They’re the same,” Romero said. “They have a heart too.”

The images that come to her in “dreams, visions and imagination” reflect “how I would like the things to be vs. how they are around some of the social issues like the environment and wildlife,” she said.

Romero has donated the use of some of her artwork to wildlife groups, including Project Coyote and the Northern Jaguar Coalition.

“I view my work helping make social change,” she said.

Romero shares her Las Cruces home with husband, Alfonso, and four cats.

The whole house is her studio, Romero said.

“I paint everywhere,” she said, “as long as I don’t disturb the cats.”

“I don’t live my art, my art lives me,” Romero said. It’s an expression ... a reflection of my life.”

Romero’s art has been exhibited in a number of local venues and it part of the collection at Bill Hester Fine Art 613 gallery on Canyon Road in Santa Fe. She is at work on the 12-17 pieces of her art that will be part of an exhibition at Galleri Artsight In Stockholm, Sweden next May.

Romero is a native of Sheffield Lake, Ohio. She read about Santa Fe in National Geographic and lived there for 10 years before moving to Las Cruces with her husband more than 30 years ago. One of Romero’s hobbies is beadwork, making belts, hatbands, vests and fetish pouches as she did before taking up painting. It helps her to unwind, Romero said, and to meditate.

“Painting does the same thing for me,” she said. “I have no idea what my technique is. I start with color or a thought and it evolves into something. I just paint what I feel.”

Virginia Maria Romero’s paintings often have a mystical quality reaching across generations and species. “In their eyes is a voice that speaks of secrets,” she said. “If you look and listen closely you will hear them too.”

MVFG hosts Bush, Peacock

BULLETIN REPORT

The Mesilla Valley Fine Arts Gallery (MVFG), 2470-A Calle de Guadalupe, features work by local artists Barbara Bush -- no, not THAT Barbara Bush -- and Jane Peacock in October.

Bush has had a long journey to being a full-time artist. She studied in college, but her 30-year career in business and family consumed most of her time. In 1997, she quit working and resumed art classes, discovering plein air (outdoor) painting in 2005.

“There is no greater

Jane Peacock's Morning Prayer Over the Organs

pleasure than exploring the beautiful Texas and New Mexico landscapes and to explore that unique moment in a painting,” Bush said.

Peacock studied art at UTEP and is a lifelong painter of people of the borderland and landscapes of New Mexico. While serving migrants in public health, she painted the lives of the people working in the fields. Her chile-field paintings focus on farming in southern New Mexico.

Barbara Bush's Hondo Valley at La Capilla

MVFG is open 10 a.m.-5 p.m. every day. Call 575-522-2933 or visit www.mesilla-valleyfinearts.com.

Events, exhibits fill arts council in October

BULLETIN REPORT

The Doña Ana Arts Council (DAAC) has a special event Saturday evening, Oct. 8, and will feature two local artists through October.

In observance of Indigenous People's Day, DAAC will present musician and storyteller Randy Granger in an evening of Native American flute music and storytelling starting at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 8, at 250 W. Amador Ave., suite B. Tickets are $10, or $15 for two, and are available at the door, at daarts.org or by calling 575-523-6403.

“DAAC embraces this observance and works to ensure that the broad spectrum of people in our community engages with a wide range of the arts,” DAAC Executive Director Greg Smith said. “Granger is an award-winning recording artist, performer, educator and master of ceremonies at Native American music festivals around the country.”

A retrospective exhibit of the work of local artist Maria Dolores will be featured in DAAC's Staszewski Gallery during October.

A New York City native, Dolores has been a resident of Las Cruces for nearly four decades. She has studied with some of the most prominent art teachers in the Mesilla Valley and has exhibited multiple times at Thomas Branigan Memorial Library and at the former Cutter Gallery. Also on display in October are recent works by artist Rosemary McLoughlin in an exhibit titled “The Gift of Loss.”

The exhibit is a visualization of McLoughlin's journey to rediscover her creativity and her art.

Work by Rosemary McLoughlin

In 2018, McLoughlin's glaucoma, diagnosed in 1976, caused some permanent vision loss, limiting her painting, DAAC said. Further vision loss in 2019 temporarily halted her work until recently, when she picked up her paint brushes again.

“I am now on a new journey and am hopeful that in this new way of seeing, it will be a journey of discovery and of painting whatever life may inspire,” McLoughlin said.

Mural celebrates founding of Las Cruces, El Camino Real

By MEL STONE
For the Bulletin

A mural is taking shape on the corner of Las Cruces Avenue and Mesquite Street.

This is the first of what could turn into 30 (maybe even 60 or more) murals on Mesquite Street, all the way to the village of Doña Ana. Mesquite Street is part of El Camino Real.

The driving force behind this is Carlos Melendrez, the great-great grandson of Pablo Melendrez.

Pablo, from the Village of Doña Ana, hired an Army guy, Lt. Delos Bennett Sackett (1822-85), to plat Las Cruces in 1849.

Carlos would like to establish a founders day celebrating some of the early inhabitants and the very old trail those people used (El Camino Real and earlier incarnations). These murals are the first step on this journey.

The painter is Lorenzo Braulio Zepeda, a native of Los Angeles, Texas, and has lived in Las Cruces for 20 years. He has a fine arts degree from New Mexico State University with a painting/drawing emphasis. He began painting murals in 2014 while teaching on a project with the city Juvenile Citation Program and Parks and Recreation Department.

Zepeda began work on the murals in mid-September. His first two subjects are famous Indian warriors.

The old man went by the name Nana (grandma or lullaby). He married Geronimo's sister and rode with Geronimo. He had the longest fighting career of any Apache warrior.

"Carlos Melendrez reached out to me in early August this year," Zepeda said. "He shared his vision. I then shared my own mission to highlight the stories of people from this land, specifically, the magnitude of the Camino Real in the Mesilla Valley, beyond its connection to the Conquest and 'La Entrada.'"

The young female is Lozen, sister of Victorio, an Apache chief, and was, herself, a well-known warrior. (Victorio will have his own mural.) She was known for her bravery and military prowess. After Victorio died, she joined Geronimo. Lozen was known as the "Apache Joan of Arc."

On the east side of this building will be portraits of Geronimo and Victorio.

Carlos already has 15 property owners interested in having murals and would like to sign-up at least a few dozen more.

At 11 a.m., Monday, Oct. 10, there will be a dedication event on the corner of Mesquite and Las Cruces – or it may be moved to Klein Park if too big a crowd shows up.

Let's talk Recycling Contamination!

Submitted by South Central Solid Waste Authority

When we recycle, we want what goes into our blue recycling bin to be recycled. However, sometimes a whole recycling load can be lost due to contamination. This contamination happens when dirty or unaccepted items end up in the bin. Sometimes recycling can be sorted out, but food waste often attracts rodents, cords and plastic bags tangle the machines, and too much trash cannot be separated out.

"Recycling contamination is an issue because it inhibits our move to a more circular economy - where items we use can be reused or repurposed – and results in more items ending up in the landfill that don't need to be there," said South Central Solid Waste Recycle Education Coordinator Brandi Misquez.

Here are some of the most common recycling contaminants seen at the Amador Transfer Station:

1. Set it free so it can be recycled easily: Bagged recycling cannot be sorted and often goes to waste. Plastic bags and other soft plastic wrapping

South Central Solid Waste Authority manages recyclables and solid waste for residents and businesses throughout Doña Ana County. Contact SCSWA at (575) 528-3800 or visit www.SCSWA.net.

This is what recycling should look like: Clean, dry, and the right items.

cause problems by wrapping around machinery at the recycling facility. Think: plastic grocery bags, zip lock bags, produce bags, bubble wrap, and any flexible wrap that food items may come in.

2. Paper towels, napkins, paper plates, paper cups, and tissues: These items can be composted but not recycled.

3. Tanglers: Water hoses, wires, chains, and electronic cords. Like plastic bags, these items jam recycling machinery and create hazards for sorters.

4. Styrofoam packaging: Think to-go containers and packing peanuts commonly used in moving boxes. Since Styrofoam cannot be recycled and is not biodegradable, it is best to avoid using this whenever possible.

5. Food and liquids: Recycling must be rinsed, cleaned, and dry.

6. Pizza boxes: It's surprising because while the hard cardboard might seem perfect, the grease contaminates it making it non-recyclable.

"It's time that we all take an active role and do everything we can to reduce the impact on our planet," said Misquez. "Recycling correctly is as important as doing it in the first place."

Review: Brilliant return of 'Steel Magnolias'

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

Director Greg Thompson said it himself when he welcomed playgoers to the opening-night performance of "Steel Magnolias": Las Cruces is producing outstanding live theatre.

Las Cruces Community Theatre's (LCCT) production of this timeless classic – the beloved 1989 movie is based on Robert Harling's 1987 play – is set in Truvy's in-home beauty parlor in the Louisiana parish of Chinquapin, but it is a tale of life and death, joy and suffering, triumph and tragedy, the trivial and the life-changing that could take place in Las Cruces, New Mexico, or anywhere.

How wonderful it is to welcome the return of Truvy (Courtney Curtis), Annelle (Sarah Neely), Clairee (Shari C. Reinhart), Shelby (Chloe Curtis), M'Lynn and Ouiser (Judy Parker Dougherty) back to the LCCT stage, which produced "Steel Magnolias" for the first time during its 2012-13 season.

Even before the lights go up, you notice Thompson's attention to every detail of the beauty shop, converted by Truvy's husband from their garage, from all the hair-care products and posters down to the framed business license. The entire play is set here, so it must welcome the audience as it welcomes the characters. I have spent very little time in beauty parlors in my life, but even I felt at home at Truvy's.

The costumes, by Janet Beatty-Payne, who was in LCCT's first "Steel Magnolias" cast, are another carefully crafted element of the show, including such small but important details as Christmas sweaters and wedding rings.

I sat in the front row and marveled as Courtney and Sarah really did style the other women's hair throughout their conversations. Each either has training as a beautician or devoted much rehearsal time to it, because it is another flawless feature that adds immeasurably.

The set, the costumes, the lights, the sound (including Scott Brocato as the KPPD Radio DJ) are all in support of an outstanding cast who bring these characters to life.

COURTESY PHOTO

Las Cruces Community Theatre's production of "Steel Magnolias" continues through Oct. 16.

You forget you are watching a play as you become absorbed in the ordinary and extraordinary details of the lives of these women, their husbands, their children and the world around them.

The evolution of Annelle is a tribute to all of that – the hair, the costume and especially the talent of the actor. Courtney and her portrayal of Truvy is the rock that holds them all together from start to finish. Sheri's and Judy's Clairee and Ouiser are fixtures in the beauty parlor and the appeal and timing of these two actors is priceless. Nora played Shelby in LCCT's original production of "Steel Magnolias," and is adding another outstanding performance to her theatre resume as Shelby's mother, M'Lynn, this time around. And Chloe was brilliant – strong as steel, delicate as a magnolia blossom – in her performance as Shelby.

This cast and its equally outstanding crew, led ably by Thompson, have produced great theatre. Bravo.

Remaining performances of "Steel Magnolias" are 7:30 p.m. Friday-Saturday, Oct. 7-8 and 14-15, and 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 9 and 16, at LCCT, 313 N. Main St. downtown.

Tickets are $17 for adults, $14 for seniors, students and military and $10 for children and are available at www.lcctnm.org and at the box office before each performance. Call 575-523-1200.

Take a giant leap with NMSU Theatre's 'Big Frog'

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

"I was thrilled by the production and so impressed by the brilliant work the students were doing," playwright Dylan Guerra told me about New Mexico State University's production of his new play, "Big Frog."

I too was impressed by this outstanding cast of young actors and the space that director Nichole Hamilton gave them to create their characters individually and as a group of high school students who gather on a Miami golf course to smoke pot, drink and deal with their traumas.

They find a blue frog that becomes something of a mascot, but things change dramatically when a dare is accepted and everyone licks the frog. One of the five disappears and the other four gather 10 years later to discuss what to say in an upcoming podcast on that unsolved mystery. The frog remains and grows dramatically in importance to the story.

"Time is fluid in this play," Guerra said. "Sometimes we will skip 10 years, sometimes minutes. This play is not about understanding. Lean in to the ridiculous."

"The play's structure is intriguing, the plot mysterious, and the style, well... quite the wild ride," Hamilton said. "I found themes of cultural and generational trauma, addiction, sexual identity, isolation, and youth searching for an understanding of their past, present, future and how they tie together."

Does licking the frog release a hallucinogenic, or is this colorful amphibian some sort of four-legged, croaking, deadly mystic?

The play has no intermission, and the simple, powerful set and costumes never change. The focus is on the actors and the story, which hops like a frog from present to past to future.

Gold stars to every cast member, all of whom are NMSU theatre students. They come to the edge of the stage fearless and, in one case, almost naked, inviting you to step into the universe they have created.

Like their characters, each actor is vital. It is an ensemble cast with impressive energy and chemistry.

The actors got to meet the playwright – a rare gift for any actor – during his visit to NMSU and discuss the play, in this, its first staged production.

Bravos and gold stars to Jonathan Cordova, Isaac Goldstein, Alycia Herrera, Yocelin Torres and Elia

Vasquez. They bring an impressive list of theater credentials, as you can tell from the depth they find in their characters and the intriguing tale they tell.

I wish I could say more about the frog, but that would reveal the spectacular ending. The crew, including props and costume designer Chloe Cappuccilli and scenic designer Tobias Harding, deserve big credit. And, I think, Elia Vasquez deserves an extra special acting credit.

Kudos also to stage manager Luis Alfonso Castro, lighting designer Alia Belinte and sound designer Jim Wilkinson.

Be aware the show contains adult themes and language.

Remaining performances of "Big Frog" are 7:30 p.m. Friday-Saturday, Oct. 7-8; and 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 9, at the ASNMSU Center for the Arts, 1000 E. University Ave.

Tickets are $20 general admission, $18 for students, $16 for military and senior citizens and $10 for under age 18. Buy tickets at theatre.nmsu.edu or at the box office or call 575-646-4515.

"Big Cats" highlight the Oct. 13 NMFRHM Culture Series.

Curious much?

BULLETIN REPORT

Mountain lion research in New Mexico is the subject of the next Culture Series at the New Mexico Farm and Ranch Heritage Museum, 4100 Dripping Springs Road.

The "Big Cats of New Mexico" presentation at 7 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 13, is organized and hosted by the Friends of the Museum. Admission is free.

Travis Perry, a biology professor at Furman University in Greenville, South Carolina, will talk about his New Mexico mountain lion research, outdoor education and creating a field station in the Gila National Forest.

In 2021, Perry founded National Curiosity, a non-profit based in Hillsboro, New Mexico, that created the station for hands-on education, back-country skills and conservation research in the Gila.

Perry, who has a bachelor's of science degree from Furman University and a Ph.D. from the University of New Mexico, has introduced students to the wilderness of New Mexico, the South African bush, the tropical forests of Costa Rica and the natural environments of South Carolina. 18-year-old writer/director screens feature film

Las Cruces Filmmaker Xzavier Estrada premiered his first feature-length film, "Abnormality," to more than 175 people during a Sept. 25 screening at Rio Grande Theatre.

The nonprofit Film Las Cruces "was a proud sponsor of the event," said Las Cruces and Doña Ana County Film Liaison Jon Sepp.

Estrada began writing and producing the film as a senior at Centennial

High School, Sepp said. Estrada's "interest in filmmaking goes back to his time at Sierra Middle School," he said, as Las Cruces Public Schools provided access to cameras and digital media.

"It is so exciting to see a community come together to support a talented filmmaker and their dreams," Sepp said. "The next generation of filmmakers are bringing a level of talent and dedication that is inspiring to see. Putting digital media technology in the hands of our youth allows creatives like Xzavier to find success at an early age."

"Abnormality," stars Devin G. Macias "in an intense psychological thriller about a deranged and murderous family man that toys with a detective, played by Nickolas S. Lowe, who seeks vengeance for the murder of his sister and nieces," Sepp said. The movie was filmed entirely in Las Cruces.

"Everyone involved in this project was either friends or family," said Estrada. "The actors, crew, companies, they were all friends and family."

After the screening, Las Cruces Police Department Deputy Chief Kiri Daines presented the young filmmakers with a token given to Las Cruces citizens who "shine a positive light on the community," Sepp said.

When asked about their future career plans, many of the cast and crew mentioned law enforcement, he said. Estrada said nothing will get in the way of his future as a feature film director.

Even though many of the film's actors do not plan film careers, they did well portraying Estrada's characters, Sepp said.

"Lowe explored a wide variety of emotions on-screen and you'd think he had been doing this as a career for years," he said.

"The hardest challenge I faced was getting into character," Lowe said. "My favorite location to film at was my detective office."

Estrada plans to work again with cinematographer Austin Smith on another feature film that will again star Macias and is slated for production in summer 2023.

Project Cougars gets middle schoolers outside

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

Thanks to a $10,000 grant from the New Mexico Economic Development Department's (EDD) Outdoor Recreation Division, the Desert Community Wellness (DCW) nonprofit of Las Cruces is creating a program called Project Cougars Outside that will connect Lynn Community Middle School students "to New Mexico histories and wellness experiences outdoors."

Project Cougars Outside will take place during the school day, "breaking down barriers of cost, time and transportation all while supporting the learning taking place in the classroom," EDD said in a news release. (Lynn Community School's nickname is the Cougars.)

"This project will give Lynn students hands-on, enriched experiences to foster a love of learning, connections to New Mexico histories and wellness experiences in our beautiful outdoors," said DCW President Kasey Peña, who will lead the project.

"Cougars Outside will create access to students by taking place during the school day, breaking down barriers of cost, time and transportation while enriching the learning taking place in the classroom," Peña said. "This school year provides a unique opportunity with enrichment days built in (Las Cruces Public Schools converted to year-round schooling beginning with the 2022-23 school year, which started in July), so students won't miss instruction. As a community school, this project is a great additional learning support offered to students and families," she said.

DCW, housed at Downtown Desert Yoga, 303 S. Alameda Blvd., was created to help all segments of the community understand the importance of wellness and have access to it, Boyd said.

Project Cougars Outside is a perfect fit with DCW's mission to create sustainable partnerships "to share accessible wellness practices" in the community by helping people – including middle school students – to understand what personal wellness means. DCW's definition has five pillars: physical, social-emotional, creative, financial and environmental, which interweave to support "living with passion and purpose" in harmony with the environment, community, career, belief systems, physical activities, selfcare, eating, self-esteem, creative activities and more.

A state grant allows middle schoolers to get up close and personal with the flora and fauna of our desert.

Project Cougars Outdoors connects Lynn Middle School students with history, wellness and the outdoors.

grants in August to 48 organizations across the state, including DCW and four others in Doña Ana County. EDD said the fund was created to provide New Mexican youth with

"outdoor experiences that foster stewardship and respect for New Mexico's land, water and cultural heritage."

"The awarded groups will bring 12,391 young

New Mexicans hiking, biking, camping, hunting and more, from now through 2023," EDD said.

State outdoor conference wraps

BULLETIN REPORT

The 2022 New Mexico Outdoor Economics Conference wraps up Friday, Oct. 7, in Taos.

The three-day conference was sponsored by the nonprofit Outdoor New Mexico, based in Las Cruces, and the New Mexico Economic Development Department's Outdoor Recreation Division.

The conference "will once again highlight a lot of important issues to us in Las Cruces and Doña Ana County," said state Sen. Jeff Steinborn, D-Doña Ana, the executive director of Outdoor New Mexico and the conference director. "Those issues include destination marketing, sustainability and outdoor equity.

"We also have a local company (Freeze Dried Products from Las Cruces, makers of free-dried products for outdoor recreationists) competing for funding in the Adventure Pitch competition" during the conference, he said.

Panel topics included Infrastructure as Economic and Community Development, Protecting the Outdoors, Outdoor Access and Inclusivity, Outdoor Education in Schools, Building a Successful Outdoor Business, Managing Challenges of the Outdoor Economy and New Mexico Outdoor Company Lessons in Success.

Deloitte joins Future of Work Summit Oct. 12-13

BULLETIN REPORT

What is the future of work in the Mesilla Valley?

What information and emerging best practices do Doña Ana County's critical industries and employers need to have to succeed in the future?

To answer those questions and more, the Greater Las Cruces Chamber of Commerce and The Bridge of Southern New Mexico are teaming up with Deloitte Consulting to host the Greater Mesilla Valley Future of Work Summit on Wednesday-Thursday, Oct. 12-13, at New Mexico Farm and Ranch Museum, 4100

Dripping Springs Road, the chamber said in a news release.

The Oct. 12 session is 2-5:45 p.m. with an evening reception to follow. The Oct. 13 session is 8:30-11:30 a.m., followed by an "In the Know" luncheon with Jennifer Rocks, consulting managing director of Deloitte's Denver office, with expertise in organizational change management, business process redesign and talent, recruitment and HR strategies primarily with state and local governments and higher ed institutions.

"Deloitte is making a considerable investment in the county and the region by bringing their expertise, resources and thought leadership to help equip local employers with the latest information and best practices to be a part of creating their own unique Future of Work," Chamber President and CEO Debbi Moore said. "With global perspectives on the new nature of work, workforce, and workplace, Deloitte is uniquely equipped to share what they are seeing and learning from their clients and other communities, as well as what they've learned from interviewing some of the key employers in our region."

The chamber said the event will feature presentations from Deloitte experts on subjects like:

- Strategies for meeting future workforce opportunities and becoming an employer of choice;
- Workforce experience/people-first infrastructure design; and
- Accelerating innovation while ensuring equity and inclusion.

It will also include an expert-led, interactive discussion on the implications of these changes on employers in the Greater Mesilla Valley and opportunities for the future, the news release said.

"This meeting is an opportunity for our employers to take the lead in addressing the workforce challenges we face in the region and state," said The Bridge of Southern New Mexico President and CEO Tracey Bryan. "Doña Ana County has really led the way in comprehensive workforce development, but like all communities, the pandemic has stifled our progress. We hope this Summit gives employers the answers they have been looking for, as well as new approaches for building the strong, diverse workforce we need in the region."

The Bridge is a business-led collaborative that unites leaders of the three school districts in Doña Ana County, New Mexico State University and Doña Ana Community College with business, economic development and governments to "bridge the skills and knowledge gaps between education and career readiness for students."

Registration for the full event is $95 and includes the Oct. 13 lunch, or $45 for the lunch only. Registration is required and can be found at <http://cca.lascruces.org/EvtListing.aspx?dbid2=NMLC&evtid=158856&class=E>.

10x25 to highlight economic opportunities in creative fields

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

Doña Ana Community College's second annual 10 X 25 Conference will be held 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Friday, Oct. 14, at Rio Grande Theatre, 313 N. Main St. downtown. There is no charge to attend the conference, which is open to the public.

The conference is a "celebration of creativity and innovation as drivers of economic and social growth in the arts, education, health and entertainment industries," said DACC film and digital media professor Lamaia Vaughn. "Inspiring presenters share their adventures in entrepreneurship, education, film, music, and dance."

"It's going to be a really great event," said DACC Arts Department Chair Matt Byrnes.

"People will be able to make a lot of really great connections. Attendees will be surprised at the amount of the talent we have in our area. Our presenters are people who embody the entrepreneurial spirit."

10 x 25 is also "a regional networking opportunity geared to innovators, creators, educators and entrepreneurs; designed for those who want to learn how to thrive in their respective, creative fields," Vaughn said.

Las Cruces native, filmmaker, performer and educator Julian Alexander, a New Mexico State University graduate and instructor, returns as conference master of ceremonies.

Other participants will include

Parisa Rad, who will discuss entrepreneurship in the cannabis industry; Greater Las Cruces Chamber of Commerce President and CEO Debbi Moore, giving an overview of the role of entrepreneurship in the local economy; local musician A. Billi Free will discuss how she has supported young musicians in Poland; and Josh Peugh will tell the story of bringing dance to the community.

Local filmmakers from 828 Studios, Film Las Cruces, NMSU's Creative Media Institute and DACC will share inside information about their current projects.

You can see details and schedules at 10x25.com. Register at www.eventbrite.com/e/10x25-creativity-innovation-education-entrepreneurship-tickets-421595301897. For more information contact Lamaia Vaughn at 575-639-3636.

An afterparty, 7-8:30 p.m., is also at the theater.

Hall of Fame nominees sought

BULLETIN REPORT

New Mexico State University's Arrowhead Center and the Office of the Vice President for Research and Graduate Studies are accepting nominations for the 2022 NMSU Entrepreneur Hall of Fame, which recognizes outstanding achievement in entrepreneurship among alumni.

Nominations close Monday, Oct. 31. To nominate candidates, visit arrowheadcenter.org/entrepreneur-hall-of-fame/.

The Hall of Fame honors NMSU graduates who have demonstrated success in business creation and growth, brought entrepreneurial concepts and practices into their workplaces, and/or contributed to their regions' entrepreneurial climates.

The 2021 Hall of Fame inductee, Richard Leza, was selected for achievement in finance, consulting, manufacturing, engineering, medical devices and application software. Leza, a first-generation college graduate, also co-founded a non-profit dedicated to creating a network of successful Hispanic entrepreneurs and to providing opportunities for Hispanics in high-tech environments.

Past hall of fame honorees include Dino Cervantes and Frank Seidel.

For more information, contact Kristin Morehead at 505-433-1827 or kmorehea@nmsu.edu.

The Aggie women's soccer team, currently in first place in the Western Athletic Conference, hosts Southern Utah at the NM State Soccer Complex 7 p.m. Friday, Oct. 7.

Aggie Athletics notes

Women's Soccer: The Aggie soccer team, on Sept. 29, shut out Tarleton State 4-0, then on Oct. 2 defeated Abilene Christian 1-0, to move into first place in the Western Athletic Conference. Megan Ormson, a junior forward from Folsom, California, scored goals in both matches. They were the fifth and sixth shutouts for goalie Makenna Gottschalk, who also recorded her 48th save. The two victories improved NMSU's record to 6-3-3 overall and 3-1-2 in conference play. The Aggies host Southern Utah at 7 p.m. Friday, Oct. 7, at the NM State Soccer complex, then hit the road for a Sunday, Oct. 9, match in St. George, Utah, against Utah Tech.

Southern Utah, Utah Tech and Utah Valley are tied for second place in the WAC, so this weekend should have a big impact on the standings.

Volleyball: The Aggies split a pair of matches versus teams from Utah in the Pan Am last week. NMSU defeated Southern Utah 3-1 Sept. 29 and fell to Utah Tech 3-1 Oct. 1. The Aggies are now 9-6 overall and 2-2 in the WAC. NMSU heads to Texas for a pair of conference games this weekend. They'll play Sam Houston Oct. 8, and to Edinburg Monday, Oct. 10, to face Texas-Rio Grande Valley in an effort to avenge a loss Sept. 22 in Las Cruces.

NMSU PHOTOS

After falling to Florida International Oct. 1, the Aggies have a week off before hosting rival University of New Mexico Oct. 15 at Aggie Memorial Stadium.

Knowledge is power: Know yourself, your emotions

Probably the most apparent aspect of knowledge for golfers is how much we actually know about our golf swing.

"Golf is such an individual game, and no two golfers swing alike," says professional golf's all-time winner (with 88 wins) and New Mexico's own Kathy Whitworth.

Most of us have never seen our swing on camera, so we think we know what we're doing, but we can't know for certain. If you know and understand your swing, you can grasp certain tendencies and limitations. Some golfers hit a natural fade and some draw the ball. Go with what you can predict. Two famous golfers did pretty well managing a power fade – Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino.

Along the same lines as knowing your swing is knowing your game. Are you a risk-taker, a deliberate analyst, a fairways-and-greens kind of player, or perhaps a golfer to whom winning the bet is everything?

Although every person has a unique personality, I have found that golfers fall into categories or stereotypes, and usually they are not too hard to figure out. The point is, if you know your game, and play it, chances are you'll do well. For example, if you are not a great scrambler, and struggle with your short game, you better realize that fact and avoid taking unnecessary chances. As Shakespeare wrote in Hamlet, "To thy own self be true, and ... thou canst not then be false to any man." Or any golf course.

One of Malcolm Gladwell's many best-seller books was "Outliers: The Story of Success," in which he makes the point that one does not need to be consummately brilliant nor an intellectual genius in order to be successful in life. You just need to be smart enough to solve the important problems you face. So it is with knowledge, and specifically knowledge in golf.

You don't have to know everything about everything, even though some fellows would want you to think they do; you just need to know what's important. And just about the top priority of what to know is knowing yourself. Useful self-knowledge and self-understanding go well beyond things like your swing and your strengths and your talent. Look first at emotions. Performance experts are nearly all in agreement that emotional intelligence is a huge part of the package which leads to success in sports. In competitive sports, whether it's golf, tennis or football, emotions rule. At crunch time, emotions override thinking, reaction, memory, attitude and everything else. Exactly how does the primacy of emotions affect performance? The answer is everything, but it's mostly about nerves, concentration, clear thinking, tension, reactions, muscle movement and senses.

Many golfers don't realize how crucial control of emotions really is. Have you known someone who has made a bonehead dumb mistake barking "Oh, I just wasn't thinking!" No, the problem wasn't thinking. It was because he didn't know his own basic emotions, much less how to get them under control. Folks who don't know their emotions, and don't know their fragile insecurities, have few resources to control them. They often sabotage themselves. And there is a more subtle dimension to emotions here. Making good decisions, good risk-reward choices along with intelligent plays are certainly keys to playing well. At certain critical moments in competition, you can over-think; worse yet, you can over-emote.

It's time to ask: is your failure to get in touch with your emotions holding you back from playing your best golf? Do you know exactly how stressors on the golf course lead to certain responses on your part? When the pressure is on, are you conscious of how you make decisions? Are you in touch with your tendencies under pressure?

Often emotions, like an iceberg, have their biggest effect below the surface - below one's threshold of awareness. In "Golf And The Spirit" M. Scott Peck writes, "If you are a very good golfer, it is probable that you are emotionally mature – at least on the golf course." Golf is a powerful teacher of emotional maturity, he adds.
