HOLIDAY SAFETY TIPS!

Did you know? Thanksgiving is the leading day of the year for home fires involving cooking equipment! Be smart about how you cook this holiday season by following these helpful tips:

- · Stand by your pan. If you leave your kitchen, turn the burner off.
- Keep an eye on what you fry! Most cooking fires start when frying food.
- Supervise children and pets. Make sure they stay away from the stove.
- Watch what you're cooking! If you see any smoke, or grease starts to boil, turn the burner off.
- If there's an oven fire, keep the door closed. Turn off the oven and keep the door closed until it's cool.
- Move things that can burn away from the stove. This includes dish towels, bags, boxes, paper and curtains.
- Turn pot handles toward the back of the stove. This is so no one can bump them or pull them over.
- Only use a turkey fryer outdoors. Make sure that it the fryer is on a sturdy surface, away from things that can burn.
- Check smoke alarms. Make sure to have working smoke alarms close to where anyone may be sleeping.

With new district lines, politicians finally tie knot

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

You might say New Mexico state Sen. Bill Soules and Las Cruces Mayor Pro Tempore Kasandra Gandara were drawn together.

Soules and Gandara have been engaged for almost six years, but were waiting for the New Mexico Legislature to redrawn state Senate districts so they would be living in the same district and could get married without either one having to move house.

It finally happened when state House and Senate district lines were redrawn last year following the 2020 census.

Soules jokingly calls it "gerrymandering for love."

"I'm now her senator," said Soules, who was elected to the state Senate in 2012 and re-elected in 2016 and 2020.

"It makes sense where we moved the lines," he said.

Before the 2020 redistricting, "He missed being my senator by three or four houses," said Gandara, who was elected to the Las Cruces City Council in 2015 and re-elected in 2019. She has been mayor pro tempore since 2021.

Soules and Gandara will be married Nov. 25 – the day after Thanksgiving – at Hacienda de Las Cruces. With good weather, it will be an outdoor service, Soules said.

Gandara said the two met when Soules was a member of the Las Cruces Public Schools Board of Education and she was president of the parent teacher organization at Booker T. Washington Elementary, where her children were attending school.

Their first date was attending a Labor Day wine festival together more than 11 years ago, Soules said. They became engaged six years ago, Dec. 6, 2016, while on a cruise ship near Roatán, an island off the northern coast of Honduras, when Soules asked Gandara if they should take the cruise again on their honeymoon.

"He popped the question," Gandara said. "I was shocked. He had planned it; he had talked to my children, to my whole family. Obviously, I

America's Thanksgiving tradition goes back 400 years

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

This Thanksgiving, Thursday, Nov. 24, is the 401st anniversary of the first Thanksgiving gathering, held in November 1621 in Plymouth Colony, Massachusetts, when the newly arrived Pilgrims sat with the Wampanoag (waam·puh·now·ag) for a three-day feast that included wild deer, fowl and the Pilgrims' first corn crop, according to many sources.

The Wampanoag were a confederation of tribes of Native Americans living in Massachusetts and Rhode Island, including the Chappaquiddick, Nantucket, Mashpee, Pokanoket and Herring Pond. Today, the Wampanoag include five officially recognized tribes. The name means "People of the Dawn."

The Pilgrims were the English settlers who came to America in 1620 aboard the Mayflower and settled Plymouth Colony. "Pilgrim" was likely applied to the Mayflower passengers for the first time in William Bradford's "Of Plymouth Plantation" in July 1620, when he quoted an Old Testament passage about "strangers and pilgrims." The word comes from the Latin peregrinus, "one who has come from afar."

The Pilgrims were Brownists, who were separatists from the Church of England. They went into exile in Holland in 1607-08 because of their religious beliefs, leaving there and sailing to America Sept. 16, 1620, arriving Nov. 9.

A child, Oceanus Hopkins, was born aboard ship during the journey, but died in childhood. Another boy, Peregrine White, was born on the ship as it lay at anchor after arriving in America.

The Mayflower returned to England May 9, 1621. It was likely sold for scrap about three years later.

Those in attendance at that very first Thanksgiving included Bradford, a weaver and judge, who served nearly 20 years as governor of Plymouth Colony in five nonconsecutive terms beginning in May 1621. The colony's first governor, John Carver, died in April 1621 after less than a year in office. The Wampanoag were led by their sachem (leader), Massasoit.

Happy Thanksgiving!

Forgoing the pigskin on Turkey Day

Yeah, I used to be in your shoes.

From 1971 through 1988, I watched every single Dallas Cowboys Thanksgiving Day game. And there were some beauties in there. Most memorable were the 1974 Washington Redskin game where substitute quarterback Clint Longley connected with my hero Drew Pearson for touchdowns in a come-from-behind win, and a decade later, the Cowboys beating New England on a late field goal.

Growing up, my equally Cowboys-obsessed family (except for my inexplicably Don Shula-loving grandmother in Fort Worth) would schedule all of the Thanksgiving activities to be done by kickoff.

All of that was before my Feb. 25, 1989, divorce from America's Team. Or, more accurately, when the evil Jerry Jones came and iilted Tom Landry and millions of faithful followers.

For many years, during the days of the old Big 8 Conference, and for a few years into the Big 12, another group of Cowboys, from my alma mater Oklahoma

State University, played their arch-rival, the evil University of Oklahoma Sooners, on the Saturday after Thanksgiving for the annual Bedlam game. Back when I loved both sets of Cowboys, Thanksgiving always had the hopes-raising potential for being the best football weekend of the year. Alas, there was weekend, hopes perennially dashed.

Of course, these days, I ignore Dallas (and the entire NFL). But last year, Bedlam returned to the Saturday after Thanksgiving, and my gratitude was rewarded with a rare Oklahoma State victory, putting me in mind of the back-to-back Cowboy victories of 2001-2. It was a great two-fer, as that televised night game was preceded by a New Mexico State University afternoon game live in Aggie Memorial Stadium, as NMSU finished its season with a victory. It was the first time in 33 years I'd watched two football games in one day, and my love was justified.

This year, Bedlam was the weekend before Thanksgiving, and OSU returned to form, los-never a year they both won that ing to OU, which they've done about 90 percent of the time the last 113 years.

So this year for me will be another Thanksgiving weekend without a football game to care about. And I'm more than fine with that. As I've come to love cooking, I'm just as happy in the kitchen, or outside tending the grill, as I would be collapsed on the floor watching grown multimillionaires play a boys' game and hearing, several times, "The ruling on the field stands."

Plus, it means an extra four hours minimum to spend time with friends and family, or to go outside and go for a hike or a bike ride.

A game sounds good but, not televised NFL football. For me, a rousing round of Scrabble or cards with friends and family sounds a much better way to go.

Clear path ahead for Lujan Grisham

In a year of national political turmoil and upheaval, it proved to be a status quo election in New

The only real changes came as a result of redistricting, most notably in the Second U.S. Congressional District. The victory by Gabe Vasquez flips a seat that has been predominantly Republican ever since a third district was added following the 1980 census.

Vasquez won by a little more than 1,000 votes. If Democrats can hold the seat, and much of that may depend on a challenge to the new district maps now pending in the state Supreme Court, that would be a significant change.

But, it would be the only significant change to come from this election.

Gov. Michelle Lujan Grisham won re-election without having to promise any changes to her governing approach.

RICHARD

COLTHARP

All of the other statewide officeholders who will govern alongside Lujan Grisham will also be Democrats. They will serve with her on the state's most important boards and commissions. And, while there may be disagreements on specific issues like bail reform, all will share the same basic philosophy, and appeal to the same voters.

Republicans picked up one seat in the State House, but that won't change much. One of the seats they gained was in Luna County, where the Democratic representative has traditionally been one of the most conservative members of the caucus.

Democrats will have new leadership, with Javier Martinez taking over for Speaker Brian Egolf, who did not seek re-election. But that doesn't likely mean a change in direction. Rather, it will mean reaching that same destination more quickly.

Add to that a state budget that just keeps growing, and it looks to be clear sailing for Lujan Grisham as she heads into her second term.

The most recent consensus revenue estimate for the state shows recurring revenue for fiscal year 2022 of more than $9.2 billion, an increase of $1.1 billion from the previous fiscal year. Severance taxes from oil and gas production are higher than expected, resulting in more money for education. And, voters just approved a constitutional amendment to pump even more money into our schools and preschools.

Lujan Grisham has yet to announce her agenda for the upcoming session, but there are several obvious issues that must be addressed.

A recent study by the Vela Law office in Texas using FBI crime data showed New Mexico is second only to Alaska in violent crime, with 778 crimes per 100,000 residents. We are third, behind only Mississippi and Louisiana, in the percentage of residents living in poverty. And, we ranked last in education in the most recent Kids Count national survey.

The challenges are great, but there would appear to be few

To expand broadband, we need to fix utility pole rules

By REP. ANGELICA RUBIO

Broadband connectivity and all the opportunities that come with it have become essential in our society. So for those without access - like the 23 percent of Doña Ana households that don't have internet — it's unimaginably difficult to keep up.

This became especially apparent at the height of the pandemic, but it's still true today, as everything from job applications to driver's license renewals are moving online.

I am grateful New Mexico's U.S. Senators Martin Heinrich and Ben Ray Luján recognized this and acted. Their votes last year to pass the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law secured $65 billion to expand connectivity. By doing so, our senators have given us a historic opportunity to level the playing field and get everyone online.

However, in order to achieve true universal connectivity, federal lawmakers need to ensure this new funding is used to its fullest potential by expediting access to utility poles. Yes, utility poles.

Utility poles serve as the backbone of our country's communications infrastructure, so they will and must play a pivotal role in expanding broadband access in New Mexico. To bring connectivity to the areas that lack it, like parts of rural Doña Ana County, internet providers will need access to poles to attach the necessary equipment. Unfortunately, the overly complex permitting process often stands in the way.

Because internet providers do not usually own utility poles, they must be granted access by pole owners, who are typically co-ops, local utilities, or electric companies. Lengthy disputes can arise during this process when providers and pole owners struggle to agree on pole replacement and maintenance costs.

While these disputes go on with no end in sight, the unserved residents of New Mexico continue to miss out the connectivity they need to access things like online learning and telehealth.

We can't let such a fixable problem get in the way of connecting all Americans, especially when we are so close to closing the divide thanks to the current federal funding so that broadband can be expanded as quickly as possible.

The Connect New Mexico Council and the Office of Broadband Access and Expansion are working hard to invest in New Mexico and build the needed infrastructure to bridge the digital divide. But, as OBAE's recent annual report makes clear, pole access is going to be critical.

Our federal leaders can make sure we speed up access to poles and there's a transparent timeline for resolving disagreements.

When it comes to expanding internet access, there is not a second to spare. The continued lack of access due to needless delays is having a clear and negative impact on our students' educational attainment, and on working moms' employment opportunities.

Sen. Heinrich and Sen. Luján have helped lead on this issue before. Now, I urge them to build upon that work and fix the outdated pole access system so the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law can achieve its objective of universal access.

(CARNM) meeting in Albuquerque in November. The deal was completed by Randy McMillan, Jacob Slavec and Jake Redfearn.

NAI 1st Valley won the award with the $100-$150 million sale of 42 office buildings in Las Cruces and 18 other New Mexico cities, said NAI President Randy McMillian.

It's the third time in the last five years (2018, 2020 and 2022) the Las Cruces real estate company has won that top honor, Redfearn said, and "really the second time a row," he said, as CARNM did not hold an annual conference or make the award in 2021 because of COVID.

NAI 1st Valley was also the runner up for this year's mega deal award with a major real estate transaction in Santa Fe, Redfern said.

All those wins by a company "in little Las Cruces (has) the big boys in Albuquerque scratching their heads," said McMillan.

McMillan said NAI 1st Valley competed against real estate agents "coast to coast" to get the listing. He said NAI "got a seat at late Walter Skowronski of Las Cruces, with whom McMillan worked for 25 years. Skowronski, he said, sold much of the land on which the office buildings in this portfolio were constructed.

"He gave us the listing proposal along with all the others," Redfearn said.

"The way we won the listing assignment was, everyone else that put in a proposal ... listed the buildings as a whole," he said. "We actually went to every single building before the presentation in 19 different cities in New Mexico, walking the properties," Slavec said, and putting together a spread sheet that listed each property's age, condition, lease, expenses and pricing.

"We worked for two months putting together our leasing presentation," he said.

tonight's picks

"The Wonderful World of Disney: Magical Holiday Celebration"

6 a.m. on TNT Movie: National Lampoon's Christmas Vacation

Written by Home Alone filmmaker John Hughes, the third installment in the movie-comedy series was a major hit of the 1989 holiday season. Chevy Chase returns as Griswold family patriarch Clark, who tries to ensure a traditional Yuletide for his clan — despite the considerable odds against it. Co-stars Beverly D'Angelo and Randy Quaid also are back. Juliette Lewis plays one of the younger Griswolds.

6 p.m. on HALL Movie: A Holiday Spectacular

In 1958, Maggie (Ginna Claire Mason) is an heiress from Philadelphia who puts her high-society wedding plans on hold in order to sneak up to New York City and make her secret dream come true: dancing live on stage in the Christmas Spectacular at Radio City Music Hall in this holiday premiere. Derek Klena, Eve Plumb, Ann-Margret also star alongside the Radio City Rockettes.

6 p.m. on HGTV Home Town

Nothing says the holidays like a quality home renovation. And few people embody the Christmas spirit like Ben and Erin Napier. In this special yuletide episode, the remodeling duo will prepare their favorite Southern holiday dishes and look back at their most memorable home renovations. You can bet there'll be some pound cake to go with those original hardwood floors.

6 p.m. on LIFE Movie: A Christmas Spark

Recently widowed Molly (Jane Seymour) has lost her zest for life and given up on ever finding love again. But when she decides to visit her daughter for Christmas, the former drama teacher reluctantly takes on the job of directing the town's Christmas pageant.

6 p.m. on TCM Movie: Super Size Me

Filmmaker Morgan Spurlock donates his body to science in this 2004 documentary, experimenting on himself with a 30-day diet of fast food. It's fun at first, but the novelty soon grows thin, while he grows in the other direction and develops other health problems. Despite a few scenes that aren't for the squeamish, Spurlock effectively tackles some heavy issues — body image, obesity, personal responsibility with a light touch. The eyeopening doc airs as part of the channel's "Reframed: Films That Shaped Our Culture" programming event.

7 p.m. on KVIA The Wonderful World of Disney: Magical Holiday Celebration

What do you get when you mix the happiest place on earth with the most wonderful time of the year? You get the Magic Kingdom's perfect interpretation of the season. The ABC holiday season staple returns for its seventh year with a dazzling array of all-new musical performances from top musicians providing their renditions of Christmas carols and holiday favorites.

8 p.m. on KVIA2 Coroner

Sometimes you need to recognize when you are bringing work home with you. In the new episode "LJND," the second half of a two-part story, suspicious deaths lead to uncomfortable truths as Jenny (Serinda Swan), Donovan (Roger Cross) and Malik (Andy McQueen) come face to face with a monster in their midst. Kiley May also stars.

8 p.m. on CNN This Is Life With Lisa Ling

During one of the loneliest times in human history, technology provided new ways to connect. Now virtual reality and artificial intelligence have become the answer for many people trying to assuage their loneliness and meet their needs. The Season 9 premiere episode "Sex, Love, and Technology," poses the question: Is this a beautiful solution or a dangerous trend?

6 p.m. on MAGN The Story of Home

Jersey Ice Cream Co. founders Tara Mangini and Percy Bright are interior designers with a passion for old homes. After years of designing for others, they bought an old house in Upstate New York and are finally creating a dream home of their own. As seen in this new series, living in a house they're renovating has its challenges, but the results are

7 p.m. on KDBC Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer

The beloved "Animagic" tale of the most famous reindeer of all offers a thoughtful lesson about discrimination. Young Rudolph is teased by the other reindeer and excluded from their games because his nose is different. His taunters sing a different tune, though, when Rudolph uses the trait to keep Christmas from being canceled. Burl Ives is the voice of Sam the Snowman, who narrates the story and renders the title tune (of course) plus "A Holly Jolly Christmas."

8:01 p.m. on KDBC Reindeer in Here

This new animated special from author Adam Reed tells the story of how Blizzard (Blizz), a young reindeer at the North Pole, has a unique trait — one antler is significantly smaller than the other. Despite this, he and his group of friends band together to save the future of Christmas and unknowingly create a magical holiday tradition. Blizz just wants to show Santa that his original inventions can make Christmas even better — you just have to believe in yourself.

9 p.m. on KTSM Michael Bublé's Christmas in the City

Canadian singer-songwriter Michael Bublé's festive album "Christmas" spent five weeks in the No. 1 spot of the Billboard 200 list. The endearing crooner celebrates its 10th anniversary in this holiday special, which delivers a blend of comedy, music and solid-gold Christmas spirit, dispensed from Rockefeller Center's storied Studio 8H in New York. Joining Bublé onstage are Emmy-winning "Ted Lasso" actress Hannah Waddingham, Leon Bridges, Camila Cabello, Jimmy Fallon and Kermit the Frog.

"DON'T WORRY DARLING"

Discussed as much (and arguably more) for its behind-the-scenes drama as for what it put on the screen recently, director Olivia Wilde's unusual drama casts Florence Pugh as one of many wives living in a seemingly idyllic, 1950s-themed California town while their husbands work on a mysterious project. Initially willing to go with the flow, the woman becomes increasingly curious about the real reason everyone is there ... setting the stage for potential danger as she digs deeper to learn the truth, with an alternate world eventually coming into play. Music superstar Harry Styles, Chris Pine, Gemma Chan and Nick Kroll also are featured. *** (R: AS, P, V) (Also on Blu-ray, 4K Ultra HD, Digital and On Demand)

"GHOSTS: SEASON ONE"

One of broadcast television's most successful comedy series in years puts forth its initial set of episodes on home video. Inspired by a BBC series, it casts former "iZombie" star Rose McIver and Utkarsh Ambudkar as heirs to a mansion in New York's Hudson Valley, where the spirits of previous residents still inhabit the place. Samantha (McIver) can see them but others can't, complicating the couple's efforts to turn the site into a bed and breakfast ... and their daily lives in general. Among those playing the diverse array of ghosts – representing different eras and lifestyles, from a Viking to a hippie – are Sheila Carrasco, Asher Grodman, Brandon Scott Jones, Devan Chandler Long, Richie Moriarty, Danielle Pinnock, Rebecca Wisocky and Roman Zaragoza. An unqualified hit for CBS, the show now is in its second year. *** (Not rated: AS, P) (Also on Blu-ray and Digital)

"THE OFFER"

The story of how "The Godfather" was turned from a best-selling book into a movie is a saga in and over itself, and this Paramount+ limited series dramatizes it well. Miles Teller ("Top Gun: Maverick") plays Albert S. Ruddy, the producer who had to maneuver delicately through various factions - including the actual underworld - to get the film made and satisfy all concerned parties, with then-Paramount Pictures chief Robert Evans (portrayed by Matthew Goode) and Charles Bluhdorn (Burn Gorman), head of then-Paramount owner Gulf + Western, also among them. Dan Fogler appears as Francis Ford Coppola, the moviemaker who had his own concerns about the project that almost saw him leave it more than once. Such "Godfather" stars as Marlon Brando, Al Pacino, James Caan, Robert Duvall, Diane Keaton and John Cazale are represented by other actors. Colin Hanks and Giovanni Ribisi also have major roles here. *** (Not rated: AS, P, V) (Also on Blu-ray)

"WESTWORLD: SEASON FOUR - THE CHOICE"

The acclaimed HBO expansion of the 1973 sci-fi movie continued with what turned out to be this final round, which spans nearly a 25-year period once the androids have assumed power over not only the resort Delos, but the entire world. Charlotte (Tessa Thompson) has overseen that initiative by replacing global leaders with duplicates – a mild "borrow" from the spy-spoof movie "In Like Flint" – but Christina (Evan Rachel Wood) poses a threat to that scheme when she probes the nature of her own existence. Thandiwe Newton, Jeffrey Wright, Aaron Paul, Ed Harris, James Marsden and Luke Hemsworth also star, with Oscar winner Ariana DeBose ("West Side Story") playing a supporting role during the season. ***

(Not rated: AS, P, V) (Also on Blu-ray and 4K Ultra HD)

"THE FLIGHT ATTENDANT: THE COMPLETE SEASONS 1 & 2"

After her long and hugely successful tenure on "The Big Bang Theory," Kaley Cuoco's career took flight again with this adaptation of the Chris Bohialian bestseller, for which she has served as both the star and an executive producer. The limited-run HBO Max drama-with-humor casts her as Cassie Bowden, a stewardess with no memory of what happened when she wakes up in a hotel room with a dead man near her. She hesitates to alert the police, then tries to solve the mystery herself by piecing together memories that come to her intermittently ... if she can trust that they're real, given her penchant for drinking. Rosie Perez, Michiel Huisman ("Game of Thrones"), Zosia Mamet ("Girls") and "Grey's Anatomy" alum T.R. Knight are among additional stars; the prolific Greg Berlanti also is an executive producer on the project. *** (Not rated:

celebrity scoop

Essie Davis is not one wanting for work these days.

Indeed, the actress known for her performances in the films "The Babadook" and the TV series "Miss Fisher's Murder Mysteries" just finished shooting the Netflix dramedy "One Day," plays the title character in the New Zealand drama "The Justice of Bunny King" (which was recently released in the U.S.) and she adds that she has "three or four" films she's developing.

She also has a starring role in an episode of the currently streaming Netflix anthology series "Guillermo Del Toro's Cabinet of Curiosities." In "The Murmuring," Davis plays Nancy Bradley, a 1950s ornithologist who with her husband Edgar (Andrew Lincoln, "The Walking Dead") sequester to an isolated island mansion in Canada to study murmurations – the behaviors and movements of flocks of birds.

The role was an intense one for the Australian actress as her character was fraught with repressed grief years after she and Edgar suffered a profound loss. The isolation and overall spooky atmosphere of their island retreat, where she sees things she can't explain, only added to her inner turmoil.

Yet on the surface she appears to be fine, at least at first, which Davis explains is something of a survival mechanism for a woman of the 1950s.

"Because she's a female scientist," Davis says, "it feels like almost a requirement to put a lid on her feelings in order to not lose her place in amongst the science world and not show the feelings expected from a woman in that world. But you know, both of them have this terrible grief. They've come to parenthood quite late in their relationship and they have this trauma they have to live beyond, through."

"I just knew I had to keep a lid on her until I get to experience being part of a murmuration," she adds.

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

If you think of Buddy, the central character in the movie "Elf" and Broadway's "Elf the Musical," it is hard to imagine a more perfect part for one of Las Cruces' bestloved actors, Brandon Brown.

Fortunately for all us play and musical lovers, Las Cruces Community Theatre (LCCT) Board of Directors President Janet Beatty-Payne thinks the same way.

She cast Brown as "Buddy" in "Elf the Musical," which Beaty-Payne is directing for LCCT.

It opens Friday, Dec. 2, for a three-weekend run with a cast of 17 and a crew of 10 that includes two more members of the Brown family: Lennie and Hyde, the light and soundboard operator. If you want to see the show, recommendations are strongly recommended; one of the 10 performances is already sold out.

"I've been working on 'Elf the Musical" since the summer, so I've been singing Christmas songs and been in the Christmas spirit for several months already," Beatty-Payne said. "I'm excited to see this lovely holiday story come to life on our LCCT stage, so we can share the joy of Buddy the Elf with Las Cruces.

"It took a while for the rights to be available and for directing big-cast musicals to feel safe again after Covid, but here we are finally putting up 'Elf, the Musical,' she said.

> "Rehearsals are coming right along! I couldn't be happier to have such a great cast and crew working together to make 'Elf' a wonderful holiday experience for our amazing Las Cruces community!"

In addition to Brown as Buddy, the cast includes Sage Drake as Jovie, Eric DuMond as Walter Hobbs, Shari DuMond as Emily Hobbs, Waylon Yerxa

as Michael Hobbs, Teddy Aspen Sanchez as Santa Claus and the manager of Macy's Department Store, Joshua Taulbee as Fake Santa, Mr. Greenway and David Lambert, Eleanor Cain as Deb/ and a member of the ensemble, Peggy Flores as Mrs. Claus, a salesperson, Peggy and en ensemble member, Piper Gandy as Charlie the Elf and a member of the youth ensemble, Braden Gonzalez

T.S. Eliot exhibit opens

BULLETIN REPORT

In honor of the 100th anniversary of the publication of T.S. Eliot's "The Waste Land," Las Cruces artist Michael Poncé has created a series of paintings inspired by Eliot's 1922 poem.

The project is the result of a collaboration with New Mexico State University Philosophy professor and Department Head Timothy Cleveland, who called "The Waste Land" "one of the masterpieces of modernist literature."

Cleveland had asked Poncé to create cover art for Cleveland's latest book, "Beyond Words: Philosophy, Fiction, and the Unsayable," "a crucial section of which is devoted to 'The Waste Land,'" Cleveland said.

In the process, Poncé created "The Waste Land" series of paintings "that are not only abstract representations and impressions of 'The Waste Land' but also Poncé's own distinctive and original reflections on the legacy of modernism 100 years later," Cleveland said.

"The Waste Land" exhibit will open with a reception, 5-8 p.m. Saturday Dec. 3, at Poncé Mandrake Fine Art & Botanica studio, 501 E. Hadley Ave.

"The Waste Land," which is 434 lines long, first appeared in the United Kingdom in the October 1922 issue of "The Criterion," and in the United States in the November issue of "The Dial." It was published in book form that December.

Eliot was born Sept. 26, 1888, in St. Louis, Missouri. He became a British citizen in 1927 and died in London Jan. 4, 1965, at the age of 76.

'Miss Bennet Christmas at Pemberly' opens

BULLETIN REPORT

In Black Box Theatre's (BBT) upcoming production of "Miss Bennet Christmas at Pemberly," by Lauren Gunderson and Margot Melcon, we find Elizabeth and Fitzwilliam Darcy "tucked away in a homey and mysterious corner of England" two years following the events of "Pride and Prejudice" by Jane Austen, BBT said in a news release.

The production is directed for BBT by Nikka Zimmer and Eric Hadley. The cast is comprised of Erin Wendorf, Gina de Mondo, Casi Galban, Mckensi Cabot, AJ Tumminaro, Brad Martinez, Joseluis Solorzano and Debbie Jo Felix.

In the play, "Jane and Charles Bingley, Mary Bennet, Kitty Bennet, Lydia Wickham and their mother and father are all on their way to spend Christmas at the Pemberley estate, but all is not well in paradise," the release said. "Everyone's favorite character, Lady Catherine de Bourgh, has recently passed, leaving her fortune to her daughter, Anne de Bourgh, who, despite being a quiet, awkward girl, now acts conspicuously like her mother. The estate is left to the closest male heir, a distant cousin of Darcy named Arthur de Bourgh.'

"Arthur is an Oxford man, a student of natural science, the great wide world and snails." BBT said.

"He's not the smoothest operator, but when he meets Mary Bennet. also not the smoothest operator, sparks begin to fly. It becomes increasingly clear how wonderful a match they would be, but can they navigate the world of the social climate and decorum and find each other? If only they had some kind of map."

Performances are at 8 p.m. Friday-Saturday, Dec. 2-3, 9-10 and 16-17; 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 11 and 18; and 7 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 15.

A look at the Christian social construct of reality

RELIGION

Thomas Luckman and Peter Berger published a pathbreaking book in 1968 called "The Social Construction of Reality." Their thesis: Our reality is an experience we organize into a coherent picture, using the tools of interpretation we invent.

Let's look at how this works with some concrete examples.

Communism failed, eventually, because it organized our human experience of individuality and community in ways that don't play out "in reality." The system forced upon Russia and its satellite nations was kept in place through repression, intimidation, imprisonment and killing. The number of people executed in the grim 1930s and '40s is beyond comprehension, running into the tens of millions. Coercion proves the inherent failure of any system. If you must kill people to create and enforce a particular social construction of reality, it is wrong and must eventually fall of its own internal contradictions.

In the 19th Century, a reform movement within the Church of England referred to "the consensus of the first five centuries." The point was that it took 500 years for Christianity to mature and develop rather completely its social construction of reality. More recently, Fr. Alexander Men, arguably the last martyr of the old Soviet system, was asked about issues that plagued Christianity and he replied, "True, but we have only been working on it for two thousand years.'

GABRIEL ROCHELLE

Tales from the Cassock

It's always a question whether a particular social construction of reality matches our experience of the world, of people, and of nature. It may take a long time to figure it out. Or it may take only 75 years, how long Soviet Communism lasted before it

Wise words, not a wisecrack.

Christianity from its early fruition was a social construction of reality. Early in our history, the Greek philosopher Justin studied and explored all the known philosophies of his age and concluded that Christianity was "a flame in the mind" that burned up all the others. He became a Christian and was martyred at Rome in 165.

Saint Paul's Letter to the Galatians is a masterpiece second only to his major work, The Letter to the Romans. He writes, "God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world. For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision counts for anything, nor uncircumcision, but a new creature." The word "world" here means the total order of the universe which humans experience. In the Greek perspective, order and beauty are related. The Greek word for world is kosmos and originally it meant to adorn something, just like cosmetics (a related word) do yet today. Order can be beautiful if it expresses the truth of that which is ordered. And there's the ruh

The Cross was an implement of death by which the Romans subdued their enslaved peoples. They crucified political dissidents, while cynically bringing the "Roman peace" to the unenlightened. For Paul, the cross puts the lie to any social construction of the world that denies the freedom, the human community, and the depth of relationships that Jesus of Nazareth tried to teach and bring to his followers.

The end of the passage ties in. Paul's "new creation" is the Christian person. "New" here is not a time reference but refers to a quality of being. You are recreated into a new kind of person who is free for community, for relationships, and for God.

This is the goal and culmination of the Christian social construction of reality, and it is good and beautiful.

APGA Conference 2022

₩ City of Las Cruces

By C.T. Barnes

Las Cruces Utilities (LCU) took part in the 2022 American Public Gas Association (APGA) Annual Conference this past July. The APGA conference is the largest gathering of publiclyowned and communityowned natural gas professionals across the nation, which LCU attends each year to be sure they are bringing the best practices, equipment, and technology to the Las Cruces community.

This year LCU was able to send five of their top natural gas utility leaders to represent the City of Las Cruces. During the 4-day conference there were vendors, presentations, and time set aside for networking with natural gas utility professionals from all areas of the United States.

"This is a great opportunity for LCU to keep up to date with what is happening in the industry, how other states are handling electrification efforts to reduce carbon footprints. and to be informed about need to know changes coming to the industry," stated LCU Technical Gas Service Supervisor and Interim Gas System Operations Supervisor Pete Duran.

LCU spoke with many vendors to ensure their tools and equipment stay up to date. LCU connected with a vendor who was showing a new leak detection product that can detect how much methane is being released if there is a small gas leak due to hardware. "This is coming down the regulatory side of measuring the release of methane," stated Duran. Always staying ahead of the curve, LCU is looking to get ahead of new federal regulations that require natural gas utility companies to measure the look into now, so when the new methane monitoring regulation hits the State of New Mexico, LCU will already be in compliance and well into practice of measuring our methane emissions," stated LCU Utilities Deputy Director Natural Gas and Energy Lucio Garcia.

LCU was also able to network with many natural gas utility companies and swap ideas and best practices on the challenges they are facing with transitioning to renewable energy. As the goal of all utility providers are to become carbon neutral, natural gas is still important for the transition.

"Natural gas is not only a good bridge to renewable energy and lowering carbon emissions, but it is also a fundamental energy source in the future," stated Duran.

LCU walked away with more than just knowledge of upcoming technology and new networking connections in the industry. LCU was awarded the 2022 Safety Management Excellence Award. A nationally recognized award was awarded to LCU for operating at the highest safety levels and excelling in the field of safety management.

"We are honored to receive such an award for our continuous service and safety practices we bring to the Las Cruces community," Garcia stated. "I look forward to presenting at the 2022 APGA Operations Conference this Fall," Garcia concluded.

Golfer's psychopathology

As someone trained and licensed in the mental health field, your intrepid Doctor of Golf is quite familiar with the "Diagnostic and Statistical Manual" (DSM V-TR), a rather comprehensive compendium of mental and related disorders, as published by the American Psychiatric Association. It's the shrink's "bible," as it were.

There should be a similar tome for golf, which would be definitive for afflictions of the brain and behavior as they apply specifically to golfers. In fact, for some time I have been working on that very project, and here are some of my current analyses – summarized, of course. (Please understand the intent here is strictly humor and parody, with no intention of disrespecting persons from serious emotional and behavioral conditions.) I offer here only some of the psycho-diagnoses found in everyday golfers, but no real cure not that there is any.

Lesson-avoidant Personality Disorder. A pervasive pattern of feelings of golfing inadequacy and hypersensitivity to negative evaluation as indicated by the following typical behaviors: fearing criticism by golf teachers; preoccupation with feelings of rejection when suggestions are made; ignoring golfing failures in favor of avoiding learning situations; fear of taking risks in golf learning situations because of feeling inept or inadequate; a tendency to take advice and quasi-information from inappropriate sources like other inept golfers or random unqualified sources like betting friends.

Greenside Tourette's. This syndrome can involve motor or vocal tics

CHARLIE BLANCHARD Golf Doctor

(or both) which are sudden, rapid non-rhythmic movements or noises that usually occur by a discourteous player, mostly while an opponent is putting or preparing to putt. Examples include talking loudly, rattling pocket change, coughing, dropping clubs, stepping so as to move one's shadow and other more creative and loathsome distractions. The disturbance may not be due to the direct effects of alcohol or drugs, and the onset is often after the offending player has played a considerable amount of golf and lost money over the years. Persons with the affliction may be heard yelling profanities to themselves even while playing alone.

Golfer Transvestite Syndrome (non-sexual), also called "golf-attire dysmorphic disorder." More prevalent in the South and West this disorder is characterized by recurrent cross-dressing behavior, whereby the individual habitually dresses for a round of golf with unusual and inappropriate appearance of a farm field hand, a roofer, a cowboy or a day laborer, and is stereotyped by denim jeans, tennis shoes and a T-shirt – as opposed to approriate golfing attire. Satisfaction derived from cross garb is not sexual, but rather a sense of rural casual-ism, even a vague statement of lifestyle or a counter-culture leaning. Similar examples of tasteless behavior are found when men wear sleeveless "wife-beater" shirts to restaurants and wear hats during dinner. In some ways counselors see the behavior as "arrested development."

Three-footer Panic Attack. The classic symptoms of panic disorder include heart-pounding, sweating, trembling or shaking, feeling lightheaded or dizzy, shortage of breath and the sensation of choking. A golfer's attack can occur at any time, but seems to be most prevalent on the putting green when an otherwise competent and undercontrolled golfer (even a professional) steps up to a three-foot putt that means a lot. The intense, nervous discomfort is rooted in fear; knowing that missing the putt is certain to lead to petrified disappointment, followed by embarrassing consequences like losing face. Those fun terms like "sweating over" a putt, having a "knee-knocker" and a putt in the "throwup zone," all derive from past experience. The trigger may well be someone wisecracking "there's still a little chicken left on that bone."
