COUNTY TO EXPAND MOBILE CRISIS RESPONSE SERVICE

County Commissioner Manuel A. Sanchez announced that the State of New Mexico is funding the expansion of mobile crisis response services in Doña Ana County. Beginning Dec. 1, those services will be dispatched through 988, the national suicide and crisis lifeline. The funding will support operations through 2024, after which the service will be sustained through Medicaid reimbursement.

This system will provide critical care and fill a void in how mental health services have been historically provided while also preserving law enforcement resources for public safety and medical emergencies.

It is important to note that the mobile crisis response service does not replace 911. Instead, residents in Doña Ana County may now call 988 and receive support during a mental health or substance use crisis.

To learn more about 988, visit https://988nm.org.

COUNTY IDENTIFIES VETERANS UNCLAIMED REMAINS

One of the services provided by the Health & Human Services Department is coordinating proper burials for unclaimed remains of county residents.

Earlier this year, Stephanie Barrera (pictured front, center) identified six veteran decedents. The decedents may be eligible to receive the burial benefit provided by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs. The 2023 Forgotten Heros Funeral in Santa Fe will include three of the decedents. Three more are pending verification status.

The Doña Ana Board of County Commissioners, County Management, and Stephanie's supervisors presented her with a letter of commendation last week for her commitment to serving the residents and Veterans of Doña Ana County.

Council, residents discuss fate of historic building

By ELVA K. ÖSTERREICH

Las Cruces Bulletin

As the Monday, Dec. 5, Las Cruces City Council meeting kicked off, Mayor Ken Miyagishima addressed some community concerns before opening the public participation section of the meeting.

He was responding to the many letters and comments received from the community regarding the potential demolition of a historic landmark building in the city.

The Las Cruces Country Club clubhouse is a unique and irreplaceable part of the city's cultural heritage and worthy of preservation and redevelopment, city's then Historic Preservation Specialist Troy Ainsworth said last spring. Designed by revered El Paso architect Henry Trost and built in 1929, the building is structurally sound and ready for restoration and adaptive reuse, he said at the time.

The building is part of a property now in the hands of developers who are contemplating the removal of the clubhouse. This has raised concerns by many in the community who are horrified by the potential destruction of the building.

Monday, suggested the concerned community members form an organization to raise half the money it would take to move the building in order to preserve it.

If that can be done, he said he would do his

Miyagishima, on

he said, he would do his best to find funding for the other half of the cost, which very loosely could be around $290,000.

"The owner said he will help whatever he can," Miyagishima said. "He is actually willing to give the building away. The owner will put the amount for demolition, around $40,000, toward the moving of the building. But please know that he is on a strict timeline."

The mayor added the owner is also willing to provide a piece of property to put the building on until it can be decided what to do with it.

One of the public speakers was Jo Ruprecht, one of the most vocal defenders of the building. She shared concerns that the city was not following procedures in granting a demolition approval.

She also pointed out that two weeks, especially during the holiday season, is not adequate time to reach a resolution to the problem.

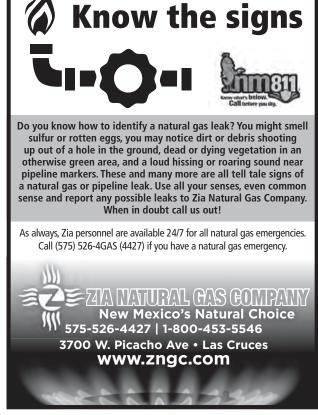

County Manager Ifo Pili spoke to the audience and council to address some of the things brought up by community members. He said the city has no legal standing to prevent the approval of the demolition permit because the property is not owned by the city but by the developer.

The issues regarding the building will be discussed during a Las Cruces Historic Preservation Commission meeting held at 5:30 p.m., Wednesday, Dec. 14, in the City Council chambers.

Mega Chanukah celebration set for Dec. 18

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

Chabad of Las Cruces' 13th annual Mega Chanukah Celebration begins at 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 18, at Plaza de Las Cruces, 100 S. Main St. downtown.

The celebration will include U.S. Congressmanelect Gabriel Vasquez lighting the tallest menorah in the region, an 18-foot menorah depicting the Organ Mountains, said Chabad of Las Cruces Co-Director Chenchie Schmukler.

The menorah is lit to celebrate the first day of Chanukah, Dec. 18-26, 2022.

The event is free and open to the public.

There's a performance by Mariachi Jalisciense, "a phenomenal 10 person mariachi band who will mix the traditional mariachi music with Jewish music," Schmukler said.

The celebration will include live train rides around the plaza, extreme rides and inflatables for all ages, Schumukler said.

There will be crafts, face painting, games and a balloon artist for children. Every child will receive a free Chanukah tee shirt.

There will be other giveaways and a Chanukah pop-up shop with candles, menorahs and holiday gifts. There also will be gourmet latkes with toppings (corned beef, pastrami and others), sufganiot (traditional fried donuts) and other goodies.

"This year's chocolate gelt will be dropped from the top of the (Las Cruces Fire Department) fire truck ladder with new glow-in-the-dark dreidel (spinning top) and menorah parachutes," Schmukler said. "And the incredible Odd-Lab will warm us all with their three best fire jugglers for an epic fire show! And 3-D glasses will turn all the lights on the plaza into dreidels."

Mega Chanukah is a project of Chabad Jewish Center of Las Cruces, funded by a grant from Jewish El Paso.

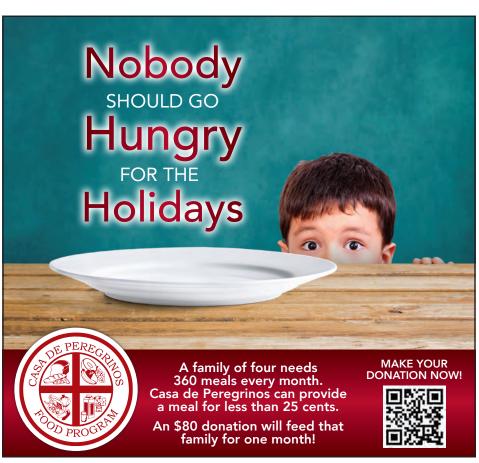

"Chanukah is the Jewish eight-day, wintertime 'festival of lights,' celebrated with a nightly menorah lighting, special prayers and fried foods," Alevy Chabad said on its website. "The Hebrew word Chanukah means 'dedication.' and is thus named because it celebrates the rededication of the Holy Temple. Also spelled Hanukkah (or variations of that spelling), the Hebrew word is actually pronounced with a guttural, "kh" sound, khanu-kah, not tcha-new-kah."

"In the second century BCE, the Holy Land was ruled by the Seleucids (Syrian-Greeks)," the website said. "Against all odds, a small band of faithful but poorly armed Jews, led by Judah the Maccabee, defeated one of the mightiest armies on earth, drove the Greeks from the land, reclaimed the Holy Temple in Jerusalem and rededicated it to the service of God. When they sought to light the Temple's Menorah (the seven-branched candelabrum), they found only a single cruse of olive oil that had escaped contamination by the Greeks. Miraculously, they lit the menorah and the one-day supply of oil lasted for eight days, until new oil could be prepared under conditions of ritual purity. To commemorate and publicize these miracles, the sages instituted the festival of Chanukah."

A bowl by any other name would smell as sweet

College bowl games used to have simple names.

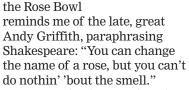

In the old days, you had the Rose Bowl, Orange Bowl, Fiesta Bowl, Cotton Bowl, Gator Bowl and the Sun Bowl.

Now you have the Capital One Orange Bowl, the Vrbo Fiesta Bowl, the Goodyear Cotton Bowl, the TaxSlayer Gator Bowl and the Tony the Tiger Sun Bowl. And those are the easy ones (although I'm not sure what a TaxSlayer is).

Some of the more complicated, mysterious, funny and downright bizarre names include the Duke's Mayo Bowl, the Cheez-It Bowl, the Bad Boy Mowers Pinstripe Bowl, the Duluth Trading Cure Bowl, the Cricket Celebration Bowl, the Union Home Mortgage Gasparilla Bowl, the Wasabi Fenway Bowl, the SRS Distribution Las Vegas Bowl, the

New Mexico State University football fans could not give one hoot the Aggies landed in a bowl called the Quick Lane Bowl.

They're just amazed, excited and proud the Aggies are in a bowl at all, seeing it's only the Aggies' second since 1960.

For the record, the Quick

The bowls also regularly change names. When NMSU went to its last bowl, conveniently located in Tucson, it was the Nova Home Loans Arizona Bowl. That game is now the Barstool Sports Arizona Bowl.

This year's bowl being in Motown means half of Las Cruces won't be able to make an easy four-hour drive to the game as we did in 2017.

But the Dec. 26 Quick Lane Bowl being nationally televised on ESPN, when most of us have the day after Christmas off, should make for some great local parties.

I found it hilarious late-night talk show host Jimmy Kimmel has his own bowl, which he jokes about on his show. The bowl's presenting partner is a wealth management firm, Stifel, which seems an odd combo.

For a minute, I thought the Cure Bowl might be named for the English agoth rock band from the 1980s; I mean, if Kimmel can have one, why not?

Turns out the Cure Bowl, at Camping World Stadium in Orlando, Florida, donates proceeds to the Breast Cancer Research Foundation. Very cool. Our Tough Enough to Wear Pink Aggies would fit nicely there.

Again, though, we could care less about a bowl's name or location.

We'd still be thrilled if it was called the Metamucil Colonoscopy Bowl, and if it was played in Flushing Meadows, New York.

Reform should bring new expertise to PRC

Attorneys seeking to overturn the will of voters who approved a constitutional amendment in 2020 reforming the state Public Regulation Commission had to make two conflicting arguments.

The first was that voters weren't bright enough to read the amendment and understand that it would result in PRC members being appointed and not elected. The second was that voters are the only ones bright enough to be entrusted with the task of selecting utility regulators.

The New Mexico Supreme Court disagreed, and dismissed a lawsuit last week that had been filed by three groups representing Native American and environmental interests. Later in the week, a nominating panel selected nine finalists for the governor to choose from in appointing the new three-member commission.

I'm a big fan of elections except when it comes to three positions: judges, directors of elections and utility regulators. The first two are both worthy of columns for another day.

Utility regulators are charged with balancing the interests of ratepayers, who also happen to be voters, and the corporate monopolies that provide critical services. The goal is to keep rates as low as possible, while still allowing the companies to maintain financial stability and make needed investments in new technology.

Voters don't need to balance any of that. They just want lower rates. The 2020 election was the second time voters approved a constitutional amendment reforming the PRC. In 2012 they passed an amendment requiring commissioners to have at least minimal education or experience in the fields they regulate.

WALT RUBEL

Before then, the PRC had been a political springboard for those who were skilled at politics, and had their eyes on higher offices, but knew little about the intricacies and complexities of the job. Ben Ray Lujan, one of our two U.S. senators, is the most obvious example of that.

Prior to winning election to his seat on the PRC, Lujan had earned his bachelor's degree in business administration and served as the director of administrative services and chief financial adviser for the state Cultural Affairs Department. His primary qualification at that time was being the son of then-Speaker of the House Ben Lujan.

Ben Ray Lujan made the most of his opportunity, serving with distinction while on the PRC. The same cannot be said of numerous other commissioners over the years. There is a reason voters have been so open to change.

All nine nominees submitted to the governor have experience and knowledge in the field. It will be up to her to select a three-person board that can represent the diverse interests of all residents, including tribal governments.

More opportunities for you to give holiday help

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

There are many nonprofits and charitable organizations in Doña Ana County that provide care and support for those in need every day of the year.

As we approach the holidays, "it is more than usually desirable that we should make some slight provision for the Poor and Destitute, who suffer greatly at the present time," as Charles Dickens said in his classic 1843 novella, "A Christmas Carol."

As this Bulletin series concludes, we provide information on food banks and how you can help.

· Casa de Peregrinos emergency food program helps food-insecure families in Doña Ana County. Donate to "Hope for the Holidays" online at www. casadeperegrinos.org or mail/take donations to Casa de Peregrinos, 999 W. Amador Ave. Suite F. Las Cruces, NM 88005. (Thanksgiving food drive continues until Wednesday, Nov. 9). Call 575-523-5542, email cdplascruces@ gmail.com. Donations: 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday-Friday; food assistance: 9-11 a.m./1-3 p.m. Monday, Wednesday, Friday. Bring ID and recent proof of address for food assistance. Volunteers are needed. $50 provides 300 meals, $100 feeds an average family for a month. Since 2019 CdP has provided 11.4 million meals to more than 30,000 annual clients. Casa de Peregrinos provides food at 28 county locations, including Las Cruces pantry, 13 mobile food pantries; provided 4.22 million meals (2020: 3.934 million, 2019: 2 million), 41,479 food baskets (2020: 52.079, 2019: 39,710). CdP's 2022 Hunger Strike fundraiser raised $75,000 (2021: $51,000, 2020: $31,000). CdP was founded in 1979 by La Mesa residents, and Holy Cross Catholic Church parishioners.

• Aggie Cupboard is a free service that distributes food to NMSU/Doña Ana Community College students, staff, faculty in Las Cruces; present current NMSU ID to qualify. Food distribution: 11

Food donations: Take to 906 Gregg St., NMSU, 9:30 a.m.-11 a.m. Tuesday, 1-3 p.m. Thursday, or e-mail for appointment. Needed are canned chicken and tuna, peanut butter, soup, canned fruit and vegetables, cereal, evaporated milk, cooking oil, toiletries. Call 575-646-7636, email aggiecupboard@ nmsu.edu. Donate online at mas.nmsu.edu/project/6947, Aggie Cupboard at NMSU on Facebook. Aggie Cupboard began in 2012. It distributed 10,180 pounds of food in spring 2021, 2,280 in summer 2021. Pete's Pantry mobile food pantry distributed 26,000 pounds of food, February-July 2021.

· Roadrunner Food Bank, New Mexico's largest hunger-relief organization, provides food to hundreds of partners in 16 counties around the state, including food distribution sites in Doña Ana County. In New Mexico, one in five children and one in eight people overall is at risk of experiencing hunger. One of the best ways to help is through financial contributions. Donations of funds help Roadrunner source, acquire and distribute food. In December, gifts are doubled thanks to, AmeriHealth Caritas, the Abram and Ray Kaplan Foundation and Smith's Food and Drug Stores, with matches up to $135,000. To donate, call 505-349-8909 or give online at www.rrfb. org/match. Volunteers are also needed for outreach in southern New Mexico. To learn more about these opportunities, email volunteer@rrfb.org. For food assistance, call 575-523-4390 or visit www.rrfb.org/findfood. We can also help people in need apply for SNAP (food stamps) and other public benefits. Call 844-684-6268 or email snap@ rrfb.org. Roadrunner provides essential food to tens of thousands of children, adults and seniors every week through a statewide network of hunger-relief partners. Luminaria event Dec. 9

BULLETIN REPORT

Nuestra Tierra Conservation Project (NTCP) and more than a half-dozen local partners are sponsoring "Iluminando las Montañas," 4:30-7:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 9, at Dripping Springs Natural Area, 15000 Dripping Springs Road, 10 miles east of Las Cruces.

NTCP is hosting the free event with New Mexico Wildlife Federation, Ngage New Mexico, Friends of the Organ Mountains-Desert Peaks, La Semilla Food Center, Frontera Land Alliance, NM CAFé and the U.S. Bureau of Land Management, NTCP said in a news release.

The event will include luminaria making for the whole family, with materials provided, NTCP said. There will also be a blessing and land acknowledgment led by Diego Medina of the Piro-Manso-Tiwa Tribe, as well as conservation-themed lotería games and prizes. Juniper trees at the Dripping Springs Visitor Center will be lit up "to ring in the holidays," and "there will be plenty of food and drinks to keep us warm."

Christmas for a Cause at Plaza

BULLETIN REPORT

Las Cruces Farmers Insurance agent Patrick Gavin will host the inaugural Christmas for a Cause 5-9 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 10, at Plaza de Las Cruces, 100 S. Main St. Downtown, according to a Farmers Insurance news release.

The Salvation Army, which is partnering with Gavin on the event, will be accepting coats, Christmas gifts and non-perishable food items as donations during the event.

The fundraiser "aims to help those in need in the Las Cruces community this holiday season," the news release said.

The event will also feature music, food trucks, local vendors and a visit from Santa Claus for family photos. DJ Rob-E will be mixing live, and performers will include Folklorico dancers, Mesilla and Sonoma elementary school cheerleaders and the Centennial High School drumline.

"My goal is to bring the Las Cruces community together for a greater cause," Gavin said.

"This holiday season, it seems especially important to help out; it's been a rough few years for everyone."

Contact Gavin at 575-222-7714. Visit https://agents.farmers.com/nm/lascruces/patrick-gavin.

Workers Comp to hire local judge

BULLETIN REPORT

The New Mexico Workers' Compensation Administration (WCA) has created a new administrative law judge position in the agency's Las Cruces field office, WCA said in a news release.

The exempt position will be the WCA's sixth administrative law judge and will handle a workers' compensation case load from in southern New Mexico, the news release said.

WCA claims data show Doña Ana County and the surrounding counties of Grant, Hidalgo, Luna, Otero and Sierra represent approximately 16 percent of indemnity claims filed statewide, WCA said. The addition of a sixth judge will allow a reduction in the assigned caseload for the current chief judge, allowing more time for management of the operational an d administrative load of the WCA's courts. Additionally, the new judge position should reduce the need for WCA to hire contract judges for the regular workers' compensation caseload.

The WCA is currently accepting applications to fill the new Las Cruces judge position, along with another judge vacancy position primarily located in WCA headquarters in Albuquerque.

Applicants for both positions must be attorneys licensed by and in good standing with the New Mexico Supreme Court to practice in New Mexico with a minimum of five years' experience as a practicing attorney. For information, visit workerscomp.nm.gov/

City council appoints new municipal court judge

BULLETIN REPORT

At its Nov. 21 regular meeting, the Las Cruces City Council unanimously adopted a resolution approving the appointment of Jessica Streeter to serve as municipal judge II.

Jessica Streeter will begin service Jan. 1, 2023, joining Presiding Municipal Judge Joy Goldbaum on the city bench. Streeter's term continues until the November 2023 city election, during which she could be a candidate for a full four-year term.

Streeter is currently a Third Judicial District judge. She was appointed Mexico State University, to the judgeship in March by Gov. Michelle Lujan Grisham

STREETER and will continue in the position until Dec. 31. Streeter ran for a full four-year term as district judge but lost in the June Democratic primary to Robert Lara. Lara won the Nov. 8 general election with no opponent and will become the new Division 5 district judge in January.

Streeter attended New earning a bachelor of arts degree in philosophy. After graduating from the University of New Mexico School of Law with a juris doctor, Streeter practiced law in Albuquerque and Roswell before returning to Las Cruces to raise her family in her hometown. Streeter and her husband, Jacob Streeter, have three children.

Streeter opened Streeter Law Firm in Las Cruces in 2020. It recently won Bulletin's Best Awards for "Best Estate Planning Attorneys" and "Runner up for Best Lawyer/Law Firm."

Schools make progress on construction projects

BULLETIN REPORT

Las Cruces Public Schools staff presented an update on voter-approved school-construction bond projects at the LCPS Board of Education's Nov. 15 regular meeting.

• A new multipurpose room and kitchen renovation at Desert Hills Elementary is in the design phase and goes to bid in January.

• The LCPS operations facility, which will be located off Tashiro Road, is currently under design, as well as the Mayfield High School facilities masterplan, which is 40 percent complete. A separate presentation to the board detailed a complete renovation at Mayfield, which opened in 1965.

• A new HVAC (heating, ventilation, air conditioning) upgrade at Organ Mountain High School (OMHS) is 20 percent complete.

• Design for a career and technical education building at Mesa Middle School is 95 percent complete.

• Design to renovate a classroom for career and technical education at OMHS is 95 percent complete.

• Nurse suite renovations at Tombaugh, Booker T. Washington, Mesilla Park, Mesilla and Conlee elementary schools, along with Sierra Middle School, are in the design phase.

• An update on the new construction of Columbia Elementary School, which was demolished earlier this year following a mold infestation, was also provided. The schematic design was approved following several public- and student-input meetings and has now been submitted to the state Public Schools Finance Authority and approved. Columbia Elementary students are currently attending classes at Centennial High School.

• Framing of a new nurse's office is progressing at MacArthur Elementary School, along with foundation and structural steel work.

• New construction at Hillrise Elementary is nearing the completion of phase 1, which includes new restroom facilities, reroofing of renovated classrooms and HVAC upgrades. When completed, the school will have a new

State issues health order as viruses surge

BULLETIN REPORT

The New Mexico
Department of Health
(NMDOH) issued a public health emergency order
Dec. 1 "in response to a surge of pediatric cases and hospitalizations of respiratory viruses, including respiratory syncytial virus, commonly known as RSV," NMDOH said in a news release.

The order requires all New Mexico hospitals to work cooperatively to reactivate and participate in a 'hub and spoke' model of resource management to ensure patients are transferred to appropriate levels of care," the news release said.

The order "is necessary now as hospitals and emergency rooms are operating above their licensed capacity due to a surge in respiratory viruses and are now experiencing an unsustainable strain on healthcare providers," NMDOH said.

"According to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the United States is experiencing an early, elevated onset of respiratory disease incidence, as the result of RSV, influenza, Covid-19 and other respiratory viruses," NMDOH said. "Respiratory disease caused by RSV and other viruses is placing severe strain on pediatric hospital capacity in New Mexico, and evaluations show that the state is nearing a level of capacity strain that would necessitate activating crisis standards of care.

"We expand our social networks during the holidays, which is an important part of nurturing ourselves as human beings living in a complex world. However, at the same time we create more opportunities for respiratory viruses to spread," said NMDOH acting Sec. David Scrase, M.D. "It's important to take steps to reduce the risk for respiratory viruses by practicing the good health and hygiene habits we've learned over the past few years as New Mexico nurses, doctors and hospital staff are facing another surge.

"New Mexico saw a significant increase in RSV cases (in) October and November 2022, in addition to an increase in cases associated with Covid-19, influenza and other respiratory illnesses," NMDOH said. "According to the CDC weekly Influenza Surveillance Report, New Mexico, Texas and Tennessee are seeing the highest rates of in Influenza in the country."

Visit www. nmhealth.org/news/ alert/2022/12/?view=1913 to read the entire news release.

Covid-19 update

As of Dec. 1, there have been 8,187,437 Covid-19 tests performed in New Mexico, 647,334 cases reported and 8,702 deaths recorded as a result of the virus, NMDOH said.

NMDOH said more than 750,000 New Mexicans are using the NM Notify app to report positive Covid-19 home tests.

City begins zero-fare trial period for bus riders

BULLETIN REPORT

RoadRUNNER Transit began a zero-fare trial period Nov. 28, the City of Las Cruces said in a news release. As a result, no rider will have to pay a fare to use the city's transit services.

Zero fare will remain in place indefinitely to allow time to assess the feasibility of making zero fare a permanent feature of the transit service, the city said. All fixed routes for RoadRUNNER Transit buses and Dial-A-Ride services will be zero fare. The eligibility for Dial-A-Ride and the ride scheduling process will remain unchanged.

"Since being elected to serve the people of Las Cruces, I have made projects that lift our hardworking families out of poverty, like zero fare, a top priority," City Councilor Johana Bencomo said. "I'm proud to say that other members of the city council, city administration and the community are standing together to remove another barrier to economic equity.

"This change is about so much more than just affordability," Bencomo said. "It is also about accessibility and sustainability. This is an investment in the overall health of our community."

Access to transportation is essential for everyone to achieve a good quality of life, the news release said. Zero fare will help make it easier for people to access jobs, medical services, education, shopping, and social activities regardless of their financial status.

By federal law, if fixed-route service is zero fare, ADA demand-response service, such as Dial-A-Ride, also must be zero fare, the city said. Non-ADA senior citizen trips on Dial-A-Ride will also be zero fare for this trial period, although that is not federally mandated.

RoadRUNNER Transit

anticipates having sufficient capacity to meet increased ridership on fixed-route bus services. Rider demands for service on Dial-A-Ride will be monitored closely during the zero-fare period.

In association with zero fare service, RoadRUN-NER Transit will issue a written passenger code of conduct spelling out what is expected of those using RoadRUNNER Transit. The goal, the city said, is to help make the transit service inviting, efficient and safe for all who use it.

Information about RoadRUNNER routes, including the Passenger Code of Conduct, can be found at www.lascruces. gov/Roadrunner or by calling 575-541-2500. Information about Dial-A-Ride is available by calling 575-541-2777.

"Movie: Fruitvale Station"

It didn't make a ton of money at the box-office, but writerdirector Ryan Coogler's gripping 2013 recreation of a real-life tragedy reaped critical raves and a slew of awards. Michael B. Jordan stars as Oscar Grant, a young man killed by a transit police officer during an altercation on an Oakland, Calif., train platform. Octavia Spencer, Kevin Durand and Chad Michael Murray also star.

"Kindred"

Octavia E. Butler's novel served as the basis for this drama series about a young Black woman who embarks on her future in Los Angeles only to find herself pulled back and forth in time, emerging at a 19th century plantation to which her family is linked. Mallori Johnson stars as the central character, Dana James; Micah Stock, Ryan Kwanten and Gayle Rankin also star. (ORIGINAL)

"Movie: Johnny English Strikes Again" Bumbling ex-spy Johnny English (Rowan Atkinson) is summoned out of retirement when MI-7 confronts a desperate shortage in field agents after a massive cyber attack launched from the south of France exposes the identities of all personnel currently working for the agency, in this 2018 sequel to Atkinson's two earlier Johnny English films. Supporting players include Ben Miller, Emma Thompson and Jake

"Beauty and the Beast: A 30th Celebration" (Dec. 16)

Performed in front of a live audience at Disney Studios in Los Angeles, this special presentation features never-before-seen musical performances as it tells the iconic musical tale of a young woman whose love can transform a beastly creature back into his former self, a prince. H.E.R, Josh Groban, Shania Twain, David Alan Grier and Martin Short head a formidable cast. (ORIGINAL)

"If These Walls Could Sing" (Dec. 16)

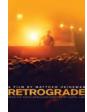

This film from first-time documentarian Mary McCartney takes viewers inside perhaps the world most famous studio, Abbey Road Studios, to tell the stories of some of the studio's most iconic recordings and the people who made them happen, including her father

Paul's band, the Beatles. (ORIGINAL)

"Retrograde" (Available now)

From director Matthew Heineman ("City of Ghosts") and National Geographic comes this documentary that captures the 20-year war in Afghanistan from multiple perspectives — one of the last

U.S. special operations forces units deployed there, a young Afghan general and his corps fighting to defend their homeland and the civilians desperately attempting to flee as the country collapses and the Taliban take over.

tonight's picks

Aimee Teegarden

6 p.m. on ESPN Heisman Trophy Ceremony

Perhaps the greatest single trophy in all of sports is awarded for the 88th time to the most outstanding college football player. Once again, quarterbacks are the favorites this year with Ohio State's C.J. Stroud, Tennessee's Hendon Hooker, North Carolina's Drake Maye and USC's Caleb Williams topping the list. Last year's winner, Bryce Young of Alabama, is also in the hunt. A repeat for Young would make him only the second player to win two Heismans, a feat reached only by Ohio State's Archie Griffin in 1974 and 1975.

6 p.m. on HALL Movie: Christmas Class Reunion

High school classmates, who once dubbed themselves the "cursed class," reconnect at Christmas for their 15-year reunion. Over the course of their visit, the classmates challenge each other to remember who they were, who they are, and who they want to be in this 2022 holiday movie. Stars include Aimee Teegarden, Tanner Novlan, Pete Graham and Maya Ford.

6 p.m. on LIFEMOV Movie: House of Chains

Tye (Grayson Holt) and Laura (Mena Suvari) and their six children look like a normal suburban family. But because of their strict religious beliefs, the children are isolated from the rest of the world. However, as the older children begin to grow up, they start to ask questions, which leads to child abuse. That includes neglect and imprisonment. Now, the older children feel the need to protect their younger siblings and find a way to escape and save them in this 2022 thriller, based on true events.

6 p.m. on TCM Movie: Dominick and Eugene

As part of the channel's tribute to Ray Liotta, this 1988 drama follows twins Dominick (Tom Hulce) and Eugene (Liotta). They live together, with Dominick working as a garbage man to put Eugene through medical school. But their relationship becomes strained when Eugene must decide between his devotion to his brother, and his need to go away to complete his training. Things aren't helped by Dominick's co-worker, or Eugene's budding romance. Jamie Lee Curtis also stars.

7 p.m. on OWN Movie: A Christmas Fumble

The "queen of crisis management," Nicole Barnes (Eva Marcille) is asked to handle a breaking scandal for former pro footballer-turned-TV-commentator Jordan Davies (Devale Ellis), whose network contract isn't being renewed because of an issue from his college days. However, Nicole fails to disclose that she and Jordan were once a couple — a conflict that could damage her career. To make matters worse, Nicole's efforts to rehabilitate Jordan's image are constantly undermined by Jordan's entertainment reporter fiancée in this 2022 movie.

9 p.m. on FX Movie: The Grinch

The 1966 animated adaptation of Dr. Seuss' beloved yuletide tale narrated by Boris Karloff is incomparable in its simplicity, but this 2018 CGI-animated retelling has its own rewards, chief among them Benedict Cumberbatch's sly — and completely un-Karloffian — voice work as the title character. Other voices include Rashida Jones, Kenan Thompson and Angela Lansbury.

11:01 p.m. on HMM Movie: The Gift of Peace

Artist Traci (Nikki DeLoach) is a once-devout Christian who has had her faith in God upended after her husband tragically died despite her constant prayers. As her second Christmas without him approaches, she tries going to a support group for inspiration and comfort in this 2022 holiday movie. Brennan Elliott, Princess Davis, Pete Graham and Brittany Mitchell also star.

tonight's picks

"National Christmas Tree Lighting: Celebrating 100 Years"

6 p.m. on HALL Movie: The Holiday Sitter

Sam (Jonathan Bennett) is a workaholic bachelor who ends up babysitting his niece and nephew before the holidays when his sister and her husband have to go out of town unexpectedly. Completely out of his element, he recruits help from their handsome neighbor Jason (George Krissa) and finds himself in an unexpected holiday romance in this 2022 TV movie.

6 p.m. on LIFE Movie: Single and Ready to Jingle

Emma (Natasha Wilson) lives Christmas year-round as the SVP of a successful toy company. She spends all year focusing on Christmas, leaving no time for dating — so she asks her assistant and friend Lucy (Merry Lou Proudfoot) to find a tropical singles resort somewhere she can find a guy and not think of Christmas. But due to a booking mix-up, Emma ends up in her worst nightmare — a town devoted to everything Christmas in this 2022 romance.

7 p.m. on KDBC National Christmas Tree Lighting: Celebrating 100 Years

Wrap yourself in tinsel and put an angel on your head, it's time to light up the holidays with this beloved American tradition, now in its 100th year, and presented by the National Park Service and National Park Foundation. Tune in to celebrate the official tree lighting on the Ellipse in President's Park in Washington, D.C., and experience an all-star lineup of musical performances with the whole family from the comfort of your home.

7 p.m. on FOOD Holiday Wars

And you thought things were busy enough up there this time of year. Santa is throwing a talent show, and the final two teams will showcase the secret talents of the town's brave residents, making things tasty as they go. Jeff Mauro, Shinmin Li and Aarti Sequeira make their toughest decision yet as they crown the "Holiday Wars" champion in the Season 4 finale episode "North Pole Talent Show."

8 p.m. on KDBC Movie: Must Love Christmas

Renowned romance novelist Natalie (Liza Lapira), famous for her Christmasthemed books, finds herself snowbound in the charming small town of Cranberry Falls. There, she unexpectedly becomes involved in a love triangle with her childhood crush Caleb (Nathan Witte) as well as Nick (Neal Bledsoe), a reporter determined to interview her to save his dying magazine in this 2022 TV movie premiere.

10 p.m. on HBO The White Lotus

The long, slow burn taking place this time around has been a fabulous contrast to the rapid fire of last season. But in the Season 2 finale episode "Byg," we can expect an operatic conclusion, befitting its Italian setting. But it will take a shocking turn as the guests remain wonderfully insufferable in the face of pure darkness. Expect the unexpected. Stars include Jennifer Coolidge, F. Murray Abraham, Aubrey Plaza, Michael Imperioli and Haley Lou Richardson.

12:30 a.m. on FREEFRM Movie: Last Christmas

Emma Thompson co-wrote and has a featured role in Paul Feig's 2019 holiday romantic comedy, which is based on the Wham! song of the same title and inspired by the music of George Michael. Emilia Clarke ("Game of Thrones") stars as Kate, an aspiring singer who works in a yearround Christmas shop and has a history of making poor personal decisions. Things start to change when she meets Tom Webster (Henry Golding), an eccentric young man who seems almost too good to be true.

6 p.m. on DSC Bering Sea Gold

Two monster dredges duke it out on the Bering Sea as a war brews between Shawn Pomrenke and Kris Kelly. Then Vernon Adkison's diver bleeds on his ascent, sending everyone into a panic. And Emily Riedel deals with mechanical difficulties, costing her time and money. Meanwhile, a notorious nomad returns to team with Zeke Tenhoff in the new episode "This Means War."

6 p.m. on ESPN 30 for 30

At her peak, Jeanette Lee, the billiards player nicknamed "The Black Widow," became one of the most recognizable figures in sports. She was like nothing else her sport had seen. A vision of confidence, even swagger, as she stalked the billiards table dressed in her signature color, with a twofingered glove on her bridge hand and a stony, icy glaze that never seemed to change. Soon, women's billiards was a mainstay on the fledgling ESPN2 network, and Lee's unapologetic approach to self-promotion made her a television star.

7 p.m. on KRWG O Holy Night: Christmas With the Tabernacle Choir

Tony-nominated performer Megan Hilty and narrator Neal McDonough join The Tabernacle Choir to deliver a deeply personal program that weaves together well-known holiday tunes and classic Christmas carols. This new special features traditional Irish musical numbers and storytelling about the role of family and celebrations at this time of year. With the music and musings intertwined, the result is an uplifting holiday and musical feast that inspires hope, stirs reflection, and invites the peace of the season.

8 p.m. on KTSM The Voice

It's become one of the most anticipated nights on television. And the Season 22 finale will not disappoint as judges John Legend, Blake Shelton, Gwen Stefani and newcomer Camila Cabello battle it out to see which one gets bragging rights to guiding this season's champion.

As next season is set to be Shelton's last, you can expect the competition to show no mercy.

What's Available NOW On NETFLIX

"Last Chance U: Basketball"

The sophomore round of this documentary series returns to East Los Angeles College in the wake of the COVID epidemic that cut short the team's 2020 championship run and finds head coach John Mosley going into the season with an almost entirely new roster, including talented but troubled Division 1-level athletes looking for a last chance. (ORIGINAL)

"Tom Papa: What a Day!"

The comedian and former "Marriage Ref" host discusses the ups and downs of parenting, his reliance on modern technology, rescuing his pet pug and how his marriage has evolved over time in this stand-up performance filmed this past fall at the Wilbur Theater in Boston. (ORIGINAL)

"The Recruit"

From "The Rookie" and "Castle" creator Alexi Hawley comes this espionage thriller about a fledgling lawyer at the CIA who becomes enmeshed in dangerous international power politics when a former asset threatens to expose the nature of her long-term relationship with the agency unless they exonerate her of a serious crime. Noah Centineo and Laura Haddock star. (ORIGINAL)

"Cook at All Costs"

The question of whether expensive ingredients translate to better meals is addressed in this competition series in which contestants are given money that they will have to budget while bidding on ingredients that they will then use in their dishes. The cook who best impresses the celebrity guest chef will win all the money left in their bank. Chef and restaurateur Jordan Andino hosts. (ORIGINAL)

7 p.m. on KRWG The Earthshot Prize 2022

The global environmental prize founded by Prince William and

The Royal Foundation in 2020 spotlights, supports and scales groundbreaking solutions to our world's most pressing environmental challenges.

F. Kennedy's Moonshot, The Earthshot Prize is centered on repairing our planet through five Earthshots: Protect and Restore Nature, Clean Our Air, Revive Our Oceans, Build A Waste-Free World, and Fix Our Climate. International celebrities will present the awards, the prestigious ceremony and will celebrate a cohort of 15 incredible global finalists and award five winners.

8 p.m. on KRWG NOVA

Inspired by President John

The new episode "Rebuilding Notre Dame" takes viewers behind the scenes of the historic restoration process of Paris's iconic Notre Dame Cathedral, as architects, engineers, masons, and timber workers race to rehabilitate the Gothic landmark following the 2019 fire that almost destroyed the building. The program traces the dramatic challenges of the project's first three years, with a behindthe-scenes look at carpenters shaping lumber for the new roof and spire, stone masons repairing gaping holes in the vault, and artisans using traditional techniques to restore stained glass windows.

the short straw and is forced to travel to a small town just before Christmas to investigate its plans to break multiple holiday world records. As she falls for the town's doctor, Devan Bancroft (Andrew Bushell), she discovers that the whole town is in cahoots, and she just may be the person who can help them reach their true Christmas goal in this 2022 romance.

7 p.m. on KDBC Ghosts

When Jay's (Utkarsh Ambudkar) sister Bela (Punam Patel) returns to Woodstone Mansion for a holiday visit and brings a platonic male friend, Samantha (Rose McIver) — inspired by the holiday romcoms she adores — makes it her mission to spark a holiday romance between them. Meanwhile, the ghosts have conjured up a very different conjured up and also involving Bela in this new holiday episode.

7 p.m. on KVIA Beauty and the Beast: A 30th Celebration

Be our guest! It's been 30 years since Belle and the Beast made their animated way into moviegoer's hearts, and this animation and live action-blended new special brings together a talented cast to recreate the family favorite story. H.E.R. stars as Belle, Josh Groban as the Beast, Martin Short as Lumiere, David Alan Grier as Cogsworth, Shania Twain as Mrs. Potts and Rita Moreno narrates.

7 p.m. on KVIA2 Christmas Around the USA

We know that the holidays are celebrated differently from country to country across the globe. But did you know there's even variation within the United States? This new holiday special showcases how Christmas is celebrated around the country, highlighting different holiday traditions and festive seasonal displays from all corners of America. Dean Cain and Laura McKenzie host.

7 p.m. on TLC Dr. Pimple Popper

Eggnog will never look the same. Christmas is in full swing at Dr. Pimple Popper headquarters with patients galore, but this year, Dr. Lee and her staff are partaking in a merry task to recreate classic Christmas movie scenes with pimple-y twists for holiday cards for their patients. From "Elf" to "A Christmas Story," you're going to need a prescription for that in the new episode "With Every Cystmas Card I Write."

9 p.m. on KVIA The Parent Test

From helicopter to child-led parents, 12 families are put under the microscope in the ultimate parenting stress test and share learnings that compare the multiple styles of parenting in the series premiere episode "Which Way Is the Right Way?" The families are put through various situations to foster conversations about how each unit operates. Host Ali Wentworth and parenting expert Dr. Adolph Brown moderate these impassioned conversations amongst parents who may have conflicting opinions on how to raise their families

9 p.m. on BBCA Top Gear

It looks like a very Merry Christmas indeed for our lovable gear heads in the new episode "Driving Home for Christmas." Freddie Flintoff, Chris Harris and Paddy McGuinness play "car secret Santa" for a festive road trip across Britain, transporting a giant Christmas tree as they head to the "Top Gear" winter wonderland.

"Movie: Warm Bodies"

One couple — a zombie and a human, played by Nicholas Hoult and Teresa Palmer — could be the key to saving the world from a rampage of the undead in this satire of a genre. The fellow is the zombie who saves the young woman, one of the few humans left, from others of his kind; their ensuing relationship could have an impact on many others.

"Dr. Seuss Baking Challenge"

Actress, author and foodie Tamera Mowry-Housley is the host of this competition series in which teams of two bakers will be challenged to use their imaginations to craft jaw-dropping creations inspired by beloved Dr. Seuss characters. Judges Clarice Lam and Joshua John Russell determine the winner, who will receive a $50,000 grand prize. (ORIGINAL)

"Movie: Nanny"

This psychological horror film stars Anna Diop ("Titans") as Aisha, a Senegalese immigrant who goes to work as a nanny for an affluent New York couple so she can afford to bring the son she left behind to the U.S. But she's haunted by a violent presence that invades her dreams and reality. Morgan Spector and Michelle Monaghan also star. (ORIGINAL)

"The Bad Guy"

From Italy comes this dark comedy about a Sicilian prosecutor who spent his life fighting organized crime only to be accused of being one of the people he was targeting — a mobster — which sets him on a course of revenge. Luigi Lo Cascio, Claudia Pandolfi, Vincenzo Pirrotta and Selene Caramazza head the cast. (ORIGINAL)

Dancing in Nutcracker blends tradition, reinvention

BULLETIN REPORT

Borderlands Ballet Company (BBC), in conjunction with the Las Cruces School of Dance and Music (LCSDM) and Dark Circles Contemporary Dance, presents "The Nutcracker," Friday-Sunday, Dec. 16-18, at the ASNMSU Center for the Arts, 1000 E. University Ave.

The production's four performances are 7 p.m. Friday, Dec. 16; 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 17; and 2 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 18. Tickets are $25.

"Our Nutcracker this year is going to be very special," BBC Artistic Director Monique Foster said in a news release. She has designed and produced tangerine, lavender, coral and gold petals of new Waltz of the Flower tutus she designed. "These amazing waltz costumes are just a small part of many changes we've made to this year's show."

But, she said, traditionalists who love the holiday classic shouldn't be worried.

"We've kept a lot of our favorite choreography from previous years," Foster said. "There will be no shortage of fan favorites. But the Nutcracker is a flexible story that can be endlessly reinvented. I think the highlight of the show for many people is going to be our new Grand Pas with Daniel (Lindsay) and Janelle (Hernandez). The classical version is beautiful, but with these two dancing the leads we decided to try something more challenging that highlights their strengths."

"This version is completely different, but it retains the emotion and musicality of the original," Hernandez said. "The new choreography is unique and physically challenging. The lifts and partnering transitions are very difficult to master."

BBC is partnering with Dark Circles, a professional company recently relocated to Las Cruces. Dark Circles dancers are artists in residence at LCSDM.

Even though the Nutcracker is a classical ballet and Dark Circles is a contemporary dance company, the collaboration was a natural fit, BBC said. Joshua L. Peugh, who provided original choreography for Drosselmeyer (Chadi El-Khoury) and Marie (Skye Todaro) for the production, wanted to use his own choreographic voice to accentuate the differences between these two characters and the ordinariness of everyday life, the news release said.

"My goal was to anchor them in the original text and highlight Drosselmeyer as the representative of fantasy and imagination who leads Marie away from the banality of domestic life and toward creativity and beauty," Peugh said. "The Nutcracker has become an iconic thing that has transcended and grown away from its source material (E.T.A. Hoffman's "Nutcracker and Mouse King" fairy tale), embedding itself in popular culture. But what if it was a show artists could truly sink themselves into, getting lost in the messy humanity of the story?"

"I am excited to share a fully realized Drosselmeyer in dancer form," El-Khoury said. "Joshua's choreography incorporates classical ballet vocabulary from Petipa and Ivanov's original Nutcracker with explosive and visceral contemporary movement. The blend of techniques takes the power of storytelling to new heights and gives a unique glimpse into the real Drosselmeyer."

Amid all this new work, the dancers haven't lost sight of the finer points. Rachel Breck, Snow Queen with frequent partner Joshua Godman as Snow King, "We've been working hard on some of the more subtle aspects of the piece. With the help of Monique and Joshua (Peugh), we've been working on creating moments that feel like a push and pull to create interesting interactions between us. I hope that people will be able to see not just the technical effort, but the artistic details as well."

Other BBC dancers performing in the Nutcracker include Maitlyn Warner (Dew Drop Fairy), John Pohl and Saddie Hilburn (Peacocks), Allene Barton and Maximino Robles (Chocolate), Olivia Leon and BBC apprentice Juliana Garcia (Green Tea Crickets), Ryleigh Wellborn (Ballerina Doll), and BBC apprentices Cienna Parker (Cossack Doll), Brooke Gonzales (Harlequin Doll), and Tara Gandy (Lead Marzipan). Cole Novello will be playing the role of Fritz.

The BBC is a nonprofit dance company housed in LCSDM.

NMSU graduate exhibits border artwork

BULLETIN REPORT

Powerful paintings and photographs of life on the U.S.-Mexico border, including many of her father, who was detained on the Mexican side for 19 years, fill the exhibit "Immigrant Father," a collection of works by New Mexico State University graduate Analinda Gonzalez.

The exhibit is on display at Cruces Creatives, 205 E. Lohman Ave., through Dec. 30.

Gonzalez graduated from NMSU in 2021 with a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree.

Twice as a student she was one of 40 national college finalists for the AXA Art Prize, which took her work to be shown in New York City.

According to her exhibit flyer, the Mexican-American Gonzalez "creates work that depicts the personal impact of the American immigration system. Her goal is to spark dialogue among her audience and shed light on her family's difficult situation ..."

Tombaugh Gallery features seven NM artists

COURTESY PHOTO

In December, Tombaugh Gallery features seven New Mexico artists, many working with gourds, including these gourd holiday ornaments above. The exhibit continues through Jan. 8, 2023. An artist reception will be 11 a.m. Sunday, Dec. 11, at the gallery in the Unitarian Universalist Church, 2000 S. Solano Drive.

BULLETIN REPORT

In December, Tombaugh Gallery will feature the work of seven New Mexico artists, each using their own unique style to create one-of-a-kind pieces, the gallery said in a news release.

An exhibition of their work begins Sunday, Dec. 4, and continues through Jan. 8, 2023.

An artist reception will be 11 a.m. Sunday, Dec. 11, at the gallery.

Carol Blaschka creates handmade greeting cards, many special for the holiday season.

Cindy Dexter's primary medium is fused glass, both functional pieces for dining room tables and art pieces to hang in a window or place in a garden.

Jeannie Hunter is a textile artist and will feature a variety of fabric ornaments.

Mary Kay Shannon designs wind chimes, often from vintage bottles, cholla, beads and found objects.

Steph Ross creates whimsical characters from gourds and clay. Sylvia Hendrickson styles maidens and masks from gourds using jewelry and found objects, feathers, carving, woodburning, painting and so much more.

Teri McCatherin incorporates many Southwest designs into her gourd ornaments and paintings on slate.

Tombaugh Gallery, located at Unitarian Universalist Church, 2000 S. Solano Drive, is open 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday and 11 a.m.-2 p.m. Sunday.

Send cheer to veterans

BULLETIN REPORT

The New Mexico Department of Veterans Services (NMDVS) and the New Mexico Department of Health are kicking off Operation Holiday Cheer 2022, NMDVS said in a news release.

Launched three years ago, Operation Holiday Cheer urges New Mexicans to send Christmas holiday season cards to bring holiday greetings and cheer to residents and staff of the state veterans homes in Truth or Consequences and Fort Bayard.

"Many of the resident veterans have little or no contact with family, not only during the holiday season, but throughout the year," the news release said.

Cards need only be addressed with "Dear Veteran" or "Dear Hero," and contain an appreciation for their military service.

Cards should be mailed to New Mexico State Veterans Home, 992 S. Broadway St., Truth or Consequences, NM 87901, ATTN: Operation Holiday Cheer; and Fort Bayard State Veterans Home, 41 Fort Bayard Road, Santa Clara, NM 88026. For information, contact Ray Seva at 505-362-6089 and ray.seva@ dvs.nm.gov.

Munchies Festival set for Plaza

By ELVA K. ÖSTERREICH

Las Cruces Bulletin

The Munchies Festival, born in Albuquerque, is headed to Las Cruces Dec. 17.

Tell ABQ has taken the festival on the road, with a holiday flair, to southern New Mexico. The event is set 4-9 p.m. for Plaza de Las Cruces, Saturday, Dec. 17.

Organizer Tierna Unruh Enos went to school in Las Cruces and feels like this is the perfect place and time for this festival.

"It seems like it's a really good market for something like this," she said. "[The cannabis industry] been a hugely burgeoning market; we've had a lot of interest in Las Cruces."

The Munchies Festival features food, music, artists and cannabis vendors from Las Cruces and around the state. The event is free to attend and will be on the plaza from noon-6 p.m. The festival complies with all state and local regulations, and no THC consumption will be permitted on site, Enos said.

"Las Cruces is a burgeoning market for food and cannabis," said Jordan Al Roussan, co-owner of Tell ABQ. "We felt like having the Munchies Festival downtown during the holiday season was a great fit, especially with the lights all set up on the plaza and the great weather in December in

Las Cruces."

For more information and if food, artists and cannabis vendors are interested in participating, email Enos at tierna@tellabq.com.

The Las Cruces Symphony Orchestra (LCSO) will perform Classics 2 concert at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 10, and 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 11, in Atkinson Recital Hall, New Mexico State University Music Building, 1075 N. Horseshoe St.

Christopher James Ray will guest conduct, as LCSO performs "River Rouge Transfiguration" by Missy Mazzoli, "Orchestral Suite from Susannah" by Carlisle Floyd and "Symphony No. 9 in E Minor" from "From the New Word," Opus 95, by Antonin Dvorak.

"I am so grateful to (LCSO Director) Ming

Luke and the Las Cruces

Symphony for the opportunity to program and conduct the second concert of the season," Ray told the Bulletin. "My husband grew up in Las Cruces, so it is a rare pleasure to conduct in a community where I have so many friends and family! I'm also bringing a piece that is very dear to me as it was written by my mentor, Carlisle Floyd, who passed away just a year ago. The Orchestral Suite from Susannah features some of the most wellknown and beloved tunes from one of the most performed American operas in the repertoire."

Ray has held positions with the Bayreuth Festival in Bayreuth, Germany, and with Opera San José, where he spent three seasons as resident conductor. Ray is a native of Mississippi and made his professional debut conducting the Mississippi Opera.

Tickets to the Dec. 10 and 11 performances are $42.62-$52.92 at https:// lascrucessymphony. com/.

"As a long-standing supporter of KRWG (Public Media) I send my thanks for your programming which I never take for granted.

Specifically, I want to say that Marty Racine's Cross City Blues is an extraordinary program. Marty provides an experienced and studied exploration of blues artists. In my opinion, Cross City Blues is at the very least on par with American Routes."

Review: 'Miss Bennet' charms

Bv MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

So many people love "Pride and Prejudice," and everyone loves good theatre. That makes Black Box Theatre's (BBT) current production of "Miss Bennet Christmas at Pemberly" a must-see the next two weekends. Playwrights Lauren Gunderson and Margot Melcon bring Jane Austen's novel back to life two years after "Pride and Prejudice" takes place in England during the reign of George III.

A giant gold star goes to director Nikka Gornitzka Ziemer letting this strong cast find the heart and soul of each of these classic characters. Another gold star goes to costume designer Autumn Gieb, whose hand-made costumes add so much. I would shower a box of gold stars on the cast. They were, individually and collectively, outstanding.

I have enjoyed Erin Wendorf in many productions over the years at BBT and Las Cruces Community Theatre (LCCT); I have never seen her give a stronger performance than as Mary Bennet, of whose Christmas at Pemberly we become a part.

Erin Wendorf and Brad Christian Martinez

Brad Christian Martinez gave a great performance as Arthur De Bourgh, who discovers he is engaged to someone else, but follows his heart as he pursues Mary. You could feel the sparks.

Likewise A.J. Tumminaro and Debbie Jo Felix as Mr. and Mrs. Darcy. Debbie Jo is a theatre veteran who continues a long string of terrific performances with this show. "Christmas at Pemberly" is the first time I've ever seen A.J. perform on stage. I thought he truly captured the essence of the reserved but compassionate Mr. Darcy.

McKenzie Cabot and Joseluis Solorzano were equally charming as Mr. and Mrs. Bingley.

Cassandra Galban adds another jewel to her crown with her performance as the beguiling if misguided Lydia Wickham. Gina DeMondo was the perfect Anne De Bourgh. The entire energy of the play changes when Gina, another talented Las Cruces theater veteran, steps on stage. She is the potent and powerful Grinch of Pemberly.

Kudos also to assistant director Eric Hadley, assist costume designer Karen Buerdsell, light and sound board operator Bekah Taulbee and Peter Herman, Buerdsell, Martinez and Joshua Taulbee for the construction of the marvelous set.

BBT is at 430 N. Main St. downtown. Remaining performances of "Miss Bennet Christmas at Pemberly" are 8 p.m. Friday-Saturday, Dec. 9-10, and 16-17; 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 11 and 18; and 7 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 15. Tickets are $15 regular admission, $12 for students and seniors over age 65. All seats for the Thursday, Dec. 15, show only are $10. Purchase tickets online at www.no-strings.org. Review: 'Elf' a holiday treat

Bv MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

There are so many things I loved about "Elf the Musical," which runs for two more weekends at Las Cruces Community Theatre (LCCT), 313 N. Main St.

It starts with Brandon Brown, whose performance as Buddy (not really an elf, but more magic than reality) is another classic. His star continues to ascend to the tip-top of the cadre of outstanding local actors.

Sage Drake is perfection as Jovie. I loved everything she did on stage, especially her performance of "Never Fall in Love (With an Elf)."

One of my favorite moments is the duet between Waylon Yerxa (Michael Hobbs) and Shari DuMond (Emily Hobbs, Michael's mother) in "I Believe in You." Shari's bit reading the Etch-a-Sketch with Buddy's goodbye note is still making me laugh. It's hard to believe Waylon is only an eighth grader. He has charm, grace and stage presence. The same is true for Piper Gandy and Emma Roberts. They are both young, gifted performers and delightful as elves. Eric DuMond is the perfect Scrooge as Walter Hobbs, trying to find a best-selling Christmas story even as he discovers he's living it.

Teddy Aspen Sanchez is such a great Santa Claus. Joshua Taulbee is a wonderful foil to the real thing, as he plays the fake (and drunken) Santa to perfection.

I wish I had space to give the praise remaining cast members deserve for their performances in a wide range of roles. They are Eleanor Cain, Peggy Flores, Braden Gonzalez, Elijah Guerra, Astrid Johnson, Kaitlyn Nelson, Muriel Alyse Cain and Astoria Carson.

Kudos also to musical director Maryel Arias-

Anderson, stage manager Debbie Kocab, assistant stage manager Crystal Milvo, lighting and sound designer Dan Robillard, properties manager Lennie Brown and board operator Hyde Brown.The final star at the top of Elf's tree goes to director Janet Beatty-Payne. The dancing scenes are highlights of this production, and that's thanks to her choreography. She also designed the costumes and set. Remaining performances are 7:30 p.m. Friday-Saturday, Dec. 9-10 and 16-17, and 2 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 11 and 18. Tickets are $17 for adults, $14 for seniors, students and military and $10 for children. For tickets and information, visit lcctnm. org. Call 575-523-1200.

Classic noir film comes to Fountain

BULLETIN REPORT

The Mesilla Valley Film Society (MVFS) will host a one-night-only special presentation of the classic 1946 film noir "The Killers," beginning at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 11, at the Fountain Theatre, 2469 Calle de Guadalupe on the historic Mesilla Plaza.

Tickets are $7.

The screening is preceded by a presentation highlighting the context, production, symbolism and impact of the film by MVFS member and noir enthusiast Kevin Church, MVFS said in a news release.

"It's just great entertainment with Robert Siodmak (who directed the film) guiding a terrific cast of stars and character actors through murky waters," Church said. "I can't think of a better place to see the movie than at the Fountain Theatre, a place that recalls the neighborhood movie houses of the 1940s."

"The Killers" is a crime thriller following the investigation of the murder of a man known as "the Swede," played by Burt Lancaster in his debut screen appearance, MVFS said. The screenplay was based on a 1927 short story in Scribner's Magazine written by Ernest Hemingway, who admired the film adaptation of his work despite famously despising most other movies based on his works, MVFS said.

The film was nominated for four Oscars at the 1947 Academy Awards: best director, film editing, music and adapted screenplay.

In addition to Lancaster, the cast includes Ava Gardner and Edmond O'Brien.

The screening is part of an ongoing series of classic films noir on the second Sunday of the month. Regular screenings continue with new releases of independent, foreign and documentary films, the film society said.

"The noir series is a great complement to our first run films," MVFS President Carol McCall said. "Patrons get some insight as to where contemporary film comes from."

The nonprofit MVFS has presented off-beat films at the Fountain Theatre since 1989. MVFS runs the arthouse cinema with help from community volunteers and local sponsors.

For more information about screenings, volunteering and sponsorships email McCall at info@mesillavalleyfilm.org.

Las Cruces Utilities (LCU) has been awarded the 2022 Safety Management Excellence Award this past July at the 2022 American Public Gas Association (APGA) Annual Conference. This nationally recognized award was awarded to LCU for operating at the highest safety levels and excelling in the field of safety management.

"It is important to note the significance of this award because there are over 700+ members of the AGPA, and LCU was the only one awarded the 2022 Safety Management Excellence Award," stated LCU Utilities Deputy Director Natural Gas and Energy Lucio M. Garcia, P.E., CEM.

The Safety Management Excellence Award focuses on public gas system members who go above and beyond in their safety training measures. With this award's main focus being employee safety, LCU leadership continues to raise the budget for employee training. "The standard of training we provide would not be possible without the support we have with LCU leadership," stated LCU Gas Services Inspection Supervisor Ramiro Pereyra.

LCU has developed a system focused on knowledge, skills, and ability (KSA). Knowledge is training and testing, only passible with a 100%. Skills are the hands-on proficiency to prove what was learned. Ability shows if the individual has the proper physical means to perform the tasks at hand.

One training that stands out is the first aid and cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) training that is required by LCU Natural Gas & Energy staff. "You never know what could happen on the job, especially out in the New Mexico heat," Garcia stated.

"If every person on a job site is trained in basic CPR and first aid, this could greatly de-escalate a situation and help the person in need way before emergency services arrives on the scene," Garcia concluded.

LCU was also one of 31 winners that were awarded the 2022 Safety Contest Award. LCU qualified in Group E, where they had over 70,001-man hours worked with the least amount of safety injuries. The winner of each group were calculated based on total man-hours worked and the number of recordable injury or illness cases from January 1, to December 31, 2021, according to the APGA Awards rules and regulations.

"Winning safety awards such as these solidifies how important it is to everyone to operate an efficient and safe system, which is key when trying to keep accidents and workplace injuries to a minimum," stated LCU Locating & Mapping Supervisor Joe Atencio. High safety standards is not something that is new for LCU because they have had many of these same practices for years. "It is important to be recognized in this kind of way because we are proving to the industry that LCU is a place with high standards that job seekers will want to work," stated Pereyra.

LCU has now furthered their position as an industry leader in workplace safety, while keeping their community safe. As a representative of the LCU, Garcia spoke at the 2022 APGA Operations Conference this past October.

through Friday. LCU provides clean, safe, and reliable services to Las Cruces residents and businesses.

Guadalupe Fiesta open to the public this weekend

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

The annual "Feast Days for our Lady of Guadalupe" at Tortugas Pueblo south of Las Cruces will be held Saturday-Monday, Dec. 10-12, said Tortugas Pueblo President Bill Acosta.

"This year our fiesta will be open to the public again, as it had been in previous years prior to the Covid pandemic," Acosta said. "We do invite the public to join and participate with us."

There is no charge to attend.

"This is a very sacred event for us in Tortugas Pueblo, so as always, we request that people are respectful of that and act accordingly," he said.

The fiesta begins at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 10, "when we will bring our image of Our Lady of Guadalupe out from her Capilla and take her in procession to our Casa de Pueblo where we will have our rosary/ velorio, with our Danzantes dance group dancing as well," Acosta said.

That event will continue until Sunday morning, Dec. 11, he said.

Also on Sunday, there will be a procession "to the top of Tortugas Mountain via Tortugas Trail," he said. "There will be a mass given on top, presided by Bishop of the Diocese of Las Cruces, the Most Rev. Peter Baldacchino. At sunset we will process back down to Tortugas Pueblo lead by our Capitanes.

"On the last day of our event, (Monday) Dec. 12, we will celebrate mass in the morning and have our traditional native dancing throughout the day."

For more information, contact Acosta at 575-805-6055.

BUSINESS

The Bridge reaches educational, economic goals

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

The high school graduation rate in Doña County increased more than 50 percent during a 15-year span, climbing from 55 percent in 2007 to 83 percent - among the highest in the state - in 2021, The Bridge of Southern New Mexico President and CEO Tracey Bryan said in November.

While progress was slowed by Covid, the conversation that started 15 years ago "to build the awareness and the importance of high school graduation" and better connect it with workforce development and economic prosperity is continuing, Bryan said.

The Future of Work summit, which The Bridge

Chamber of Commerce (GLCCC) jointly sponsored in Las Cruces in October, "was somewhat of a report card on the work ... we have all been doing together," said Bryan, who became The Bridge CEO in 2010.

The summit showed "We are strengthening Doña Ana County and we are seeing its impact in the data over time," said Bryan, who plans to step down when The Bridge selects a new president, likely in 2023.

In 2007, GLCCC's Education Committee brought business and education and the Greater Las Cruces leaders and other partners together to address the dropout rate in the county's three school districts. Its research revealed the need for a "shared vision of success" among Las Cruces Public Schools, Gadsden Independent School District and Hatch Valley Public Schools, New Mexico State University and Doña Ana Community College, the business community and the community as a whole, according to thebridgeofsnm.org.

The chamber committee evolved into the Regional Education Initiative and, in 2009, became The Bridge. A defining moment came 2010, when LCPS opened the state's first early college high school on the NMSU campus, creating a unique partnership with the university and DACC.

Opening Arrowhead

Park Early College High School (APECHS) was one of many firsts for Las Cruces and helped in "creating a platform and consistent dialogue where change could take form and build coalitions," Bryan said.

"The Bridge was the place where that conversation was sparked," she said. "It's a great story. It's our community story."

With APECHS leading the way, "We did what we set out to do - increase the high school graduation rate," Bryan said. "More students graduating from high school means more college and university students earning associates and bachelor's degrees. That drives economic development."

Increasing the graduation rate "brought up everything," Bryan said.

"Focus on increasing high school completion is a long-term strategy for economic wellbeing.'

As schools reengage students post-pandemic, The Bridge, GLCCC, LCPS and other partners continue to target career connectedness, Bryan said.

"I really applaud Ralph Ramos," she said. The LCPS superintendent is focused on "the relevance of education - Why do I need to learn this?"

"Career relevance" is "the number one thing" to keep students in school, she said.

Workforce development has been part of The Bridge-led conversations since 2016, Bryan said. Implementation began in 2017 and has resulted in more than $50 million in funding to support local student success and economic development.

"There's a great story about the power of working together as a county, as a community ... when we harness our collective resources and point it at what we want to see changed," Bryan said.

Many people deserve credit for the success of The Bridge, beginning with the late Patsy Duran, chair of the GLCCC Education Committee in 2007, Bryan, and continuing through current Bridge Board of Directors President Debbi Moore, who is also president and CEO OF GLCC.

"It's important to credit the wisdom of The Bridge's founders to create a space (for) the conversation and the commitment that continues," she said.

NMSU to host small business innovation summit

By STEPHANIE GARCIA

The New Mexico Federal and State Technology Partnership program, at New Mexico State University's Arrowhead Center, will host its sixth annual New Mexico Small Business Innovation Research and Small Business Technology Transfer Innovation Summit virtually Wednesday, Dec. 14, uniting small businesses, federal program managers, defense representatives, experts and support organizations vested in driving innovation through SBIR/STTR programs.

The summit will be valuable to businesses nationally, as topics will cover federal-level information.

NM FAST serves the entire state of New Mexico with SBIR/ STTR proposal development programming and assistance, working to increase participation in SBIR/ STTR programs from underserved, innovative and technologydriven small businesses. NM FAST contributes to the state's growing technology and innovation ecosystem by offering micro-grants, mentoring and statewide workshops and events like the Innovation

The Innovation Summit will feature intriguing sessions with panels led by industry experts and federal officers. Participants will have the unique opportunity to meet one-on-one with experts and key decisionmakers about their innovative ideas.

Attendees will hear from experts during panels that will break down the SBIR/STTR process for first-time applicants, discuss innovation as a business practice, and illustrate the importance of teaming and partnering. Federal agency program managers and representatives will offer rapid-fire pitches about some of the biggest differences among SBIR/

STTR agencies and what types of innovations they are funding. Attendees will also learn about the differences between grants and contracts and what they mean for businesses. Representatives from the U.S. Navy, Air Force and Army SBIR/STTR programs will also present upcoming topics and solicitation cvcles.

John Williams, director of Innovation and Technology for the Office of Investment and Innovation within the SBA, will deliver the keynote address at this year's summit.

This year's event will be free to all attendees.

Santa Teresa draws Aries Logistics

BULLETIN REPORT

Aries Worldwide Logistics, a Houston-based leader in global supply chain solutions and logistics, has chosen Santa Teresa for the site of its latest expansion, New Mexico Partnership (NMP) said in a news release.

"This project is part of the company's strategy to better accommodate its robust list of customers who are already part of the high-growth New Mexico Borderplex and further establish itself in a major trade lane with confirmed increases in commercial traffic," NMP said.

"It was a no-brainer to expand Aries Worldwide Logistics' newest branch into Santa Teresa, New Mexico," District Director Jose A. Guzman said. "Statistics have shown that the Santa Teresa Port of Entry's land port volume (in USD) has quickly risen from 17th to sixth place in national rankings."

"Aries Worldwide Logistics is another world-class logistics company that has chosen to have a presence in Santa Teresa," said Jerry Pacheco, president of the Border Industrial Association. "They have global clients they serve, and who themselves will have a presence in Santa Teresa via Aries. This is a huge win for the Santa Teresa industrial base."

The Santa Teresa project was set to open its doors in November, with an estimated initial capital expenditure of $1.5 million, NMP said. "20 new jobs will be created for New Mexicans from the onset, with potential for further hiring in the

Tickets available for Aggies' Dec. 26 bowl game

BULLETIN REPORT

For New Mexico State University football fans, Christmas got extended by another day.

On Dec. 4, a day after NMSU clobbered Valparaiso 65-3 in the Aggies' final home game, the college football bowl field was announced. That's when Aggie Nation learned NMSU would play Bowling Green in the Quick Lane Bowl, in Detroit, the day after Christmas.

Game time is Monday, Dec. 26, 12:30 p.m. Las Cruces time, and will be broadcast nationally on ESPN.

The victory over Valparaiso gave the Aggies a 6-6 record for the season.

"Getting that sixth game means a lot to our seniors," said Aggie head coach Jerry Kill, in his first year leading NMSU.

Tickets for the Quick Lane Bowl are available Aggie fans interested in attending the game in person. Buying Quick Lane Bowl game tickets through the NM State ticket office directly benefits NM State Athletics and allows you to sit and enjoy the game with other Aggie fans in designated sec-

Tickets are priced at $89, and there is no limit to the number of tickets fans may order.

To purchase tickets for the 2022 Quick Lane Bowl, visit the NM State box office located on the north end of the Pan American Center Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. or call 575-646-1420.

Seating will be allocated in the following order:

- · Aggie Athletic Club members (ranked by current contribution level)
- · Football season ticket holders (ranked by years of season ticket purchase)
- · General public (ranked by order date)

For ticket inquiries and questions, call the NM State box office at (575) 646-1420. For all other questions, call the Aggie Athletic Club office at (575) 646-2569 or email Chet Savage, Deputy Director of Athletics at savagec@nmsu.edu.

A rousing 65-3 victory over Valparaiso Dec. 3 at Aggie Memorial Stadium sends NM State off to its Dec. 26 Quick Lane Bowl game on a high note.

Holidays: that special time for giving thanks

We are truly in the middle of the "holiday season." It is indeed a joyous time of the year for people of all faiths. A time not only to give thanks but also to reflect on how we may extend our good fortune and abundance to those in great need.

Yes, Thanksgiving has come and gone, but there is still time for me to share my giving of thanks for many of the blessings we have. Since Veterans Day was only a few weeks ago, I will first give thanks for active duty members of our armed services as well as all military veterans (I am one), who ensure we live with a measure of freedom found nowhere else in the world. The United States of America is certainly the "land of the free and the home of the brave."

As for golf, we all can be thankful for our four beautiful golf courses here in our quaint little town, as well as several others within an hour's drive. Here in Las Cruces we have New Mexico State University Golf Course, Sonoma Ranch Golf Course, Red Hawk Golf Club and Picacho Hills Country Club (pri-

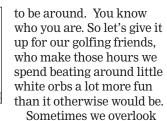

We owe a debt of thanks to the club managers and staffs at our four championship courses who bend over backwards to maintain the grounds, stock the pro shops, service the carts, serve the food and beverages, and keep everything the way it should be. One of the reasons we have such a strong golfing community (including the birds") is because we can golf year-round here in the desert, with temperate weather that is

Scottsdale in the summer and warmer than Albuquerque in the winter. Each year at this time I renew my hope the golf course at White Sands Missile Range will come to life again and be open for play.

I am particularly thankful I play with a group of golfers at my home course who are respectful of the rules and the golf course, play serious golf, honor the game of golf at all times (including attire), are fun loving and good the younger people who work at our golf courses in the capacity of trainees and interns. As students, they are part of the Professional Golf Management Program housed in the Business School at New Mexico State University. Certified by the PGA of America, our PGM Program was one of four original PGM programs when it was begun in 1986 by former Aggie men's golf coach Herb Wimberly. Today there are some 20 U.S. programs. Thanks, Herb.

I'm sure I speak for everyone when I express a profound thanks to our "first responders" who are there for emergencies and to protect our safety; these include police, firefighters, EMTs, ambulance personnel, doctors, nurses and all hospital workers.

Thank goodness the pandemic is mostly behind us, but we're not out of the woods yet, as it were. There has been a nice surge in golf rounds since 2020. I hope that is sustain-

We should all be grateful for the local businessmen and women who support dozens of golf fundraisers throughout the year with donations, gifts and effort. These events enable schools, teams, community groups, foundations, agencies and other worthy causes to thrive. We should all be proud that the citizens of the USA are the most giving and charitable people in the world. I am thankful to be an American. God Bless America.

I'm also deeply thankful for the Las Cruces Bulletin, and in particular publisher Richard Coltharp, for providing a truly fine, information filled weekly newspaper. In January I will begin my 18th year as the Bulletin's golf writer, and I am ever so grateful for all of our loyal readers. For me, writing my column is genuinely a "labor of love."

Busy December to prepare Aggies for WAC hoops

BULLETIN REPORT

Both the New Mexico State University men's and women's basketball teams have a flurry of activity in December before the end of the month, when they begin their last season of play in the Western Athletic Conference.

The women, now 3-5 on the season, just finished the San Diego Classic and have four games to play, two of them at home, before they begin WAC play Dec. 29. In San Diego, NMSU beat San Diego 57-52 Dec. 3 and lost to Idaho 68-62 Dec. 4.

The Aggie men, now 5-2, on the season have five games to play before conference, include one home game and two in El Paso at the Don Haskins Sun Bowl Invitational. NMSU defeated Simon Fraser, a college from Canada, 77-35, Dec. 5 in the Pan Am.

A Dec. 7 game in California against Santa Clara finished after the Bulletin's press time.

The next game in the Pan American Center will be 6 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 13, when the Aggie women try to do what the men's team did: avenge an earlier road loss to rival UTEP. After that, the Aggie men will host Northern New Mexico 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 18, in the Pan Am.

Wednesday, Nov. 30, NMSU's men defeated UTEP 95-70. That was a reversal of the game played in El Paso Nov. 12, when the Miners beat the Aggies 67-64.

That same Nov. 30, the Aggie women were in El Paso, and lost 65-61. Before the NMSU women host UTEP Dec. 13, however, they will face another rival on the road, playing UNM in Albuquerque Sunday, Dec. 11. The first Aggie-Lobo matchup of the women resulted in a 73-64 NMSU overtime victory at the Pan Am Nov. 15.

The Aggie men could wind up playing UTEP a third time if both teams win (or lose) their Dec. 21 games at the Sun Bowl Invitational in El Paso. The Aggies play Kent State at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 21, at the Don Haskins Center on the UTEP campus. Following that game, UTEP will host North Carolina A&T.

The losers of those two games will meet in the consolation game at 5:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 22, in the Haskins Center, while the two Wednesday winners will meet in the championship game at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Haskins Center.

The Aggie men kick off WAC play with a Wednesday, Dec. 28, home game against Southern Utah, while the women travel to Edinburg, Texas, to open their WAC play against UT-Rio Grande Valley.

Saturday, Dec. 31, the Pan Am will host a rare men's and women's WAC doubleheader for New Year's Eve.

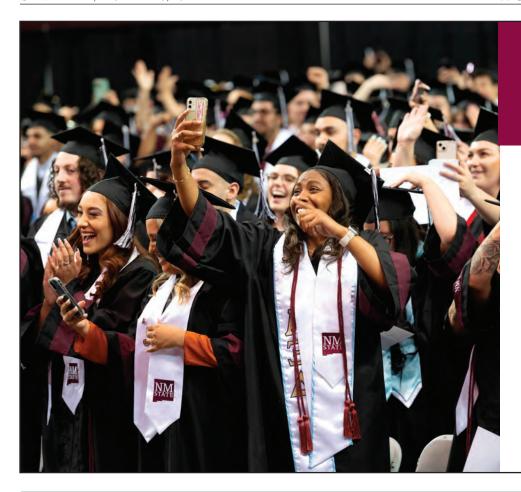

The women top off against WAC foe Southern Utah in 1 p.m. game, followed at 4 p.m. with the Aggie men's game against Sam Houston.

Anthony Roy led the Aggies with 23 points in their 95-70 victory over UTEP Nov. 30, avenging a Nov. 12 loss against the Miners in El Paso. The rivals could possibly meet a third time Dec. 22 in the Sun Bowl Invitational in El Paso.

CONGRATULATIONS, GRADUATES!

To the class of 2022, we recognize and celebrate your achievement as well as your desire to better yourself and the community you wish to serve. We are proud of your commitment and your accomplishments.

Today we revel in the hard work and effort you have put into earning your degree, and tomorrow we look forward to all you aim to achieve in your field and community.

Go Aggies!
