INTRODUCING NEW CHIEF DEPUTY CLERK, CAROLINE ZAMORA

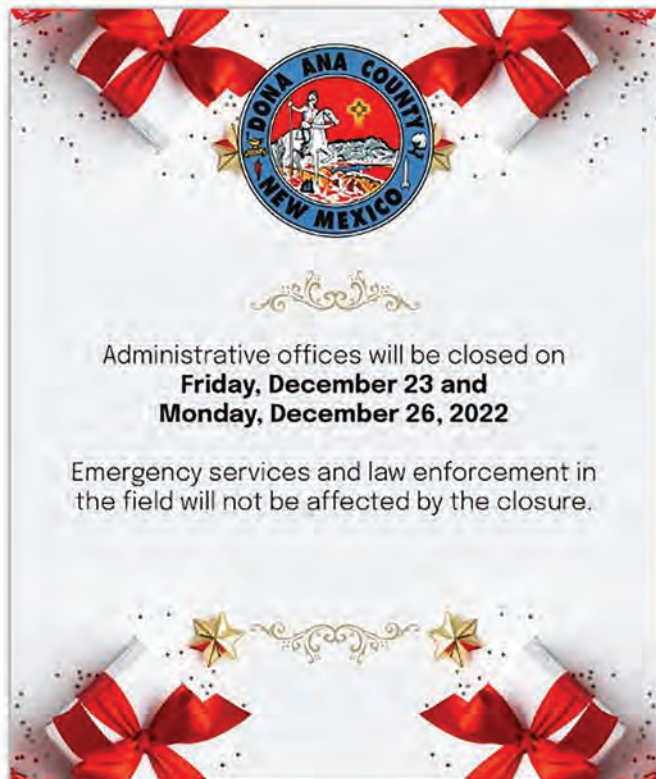

The Doña Ana County Clerk's office has announced the appointment of Caroline Zamora as the new Chief Deputy Clerk.

Caroline has over a decade of experience in marketing and public relations in the early childhood and healthcare sector. She is also a licensed real estate broker. Caroline has degrees in psychology and communication from New Mexico State University and is also an active board member of the Doña Ana County Humane Society and the Greater Las Cruces Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors.

"I am thrilled that Caroline accepted the appointment as Chief Deputy Clerk. Her entire career and volunteer work has been focused on making our community a better place for everyone. Her experience, perspective, and commitment to all will be a great asset to our office and she has already hit the ground running," said County Clerk Amanda López Askin.

"I am very excited to be a part of the Clerk's office. This office has significant responsibilities to our community, from elections to starting businesses and purchasing homes and marriages. I'm eager to work with and learn from our Clerk, Dr. Amanda López Askin, and the dedicated Clerk's office team, along with the County staff," said Caroline Zamora.

For more information about the services the Doña Ana County Clerk's Office provides, go to <https://www.donaanacounty.org/clerk>.

Administrative offices will be closed on Friday, December 23 and Monday, December 26, 2022

Emergency services and law enforcement in the field will not be affected by the closure.

FLOOD COMMISSION TO UPDATE CHAPARRAL DRAINAGE MASTER PLAN

"We are updating the 2008 Drainage Master Plan for Chaparral and it addresses that community's current and future drainage needs," said John Gwynne, Director, Flood Commission. "This plan is a roadmap for projects to complete, their scope and potential cost and timelines. It is also used to show what is needed to partner agencies, grantors and legislators, when we request funds."

At a recent public meeting, representatives from the Flood Commission and vendor Wilson & Company, Inc. Engineers and Architects discussed proposed improvements, the existing flooding limits model, project location and schedule, among other topics. They also requested comments from the public.

Residents are invited to provide feedback and questions about the Chaparral plan to Gabriel Villanueva, project engineer at Wilson & Company, Inc., Engineers & Architects at gabriel.villanueva@wilsonco.com or (505) 948-5219.

The updated plan, along with those for other communities throughout the County are available for public access online at www.donaanacounty.org, then click on the Flood Commission page.

Passenger air service returns to Las Cruces

BULLETIN REPORT

Passenger air service will return to the Las Cruces International Airport (KLRU) in January 2023, the City of Las Cruces said in a news release.

The announcement comes after the city finalized a two-year contract that allows Advanced Airlines to provide weekday flights between Las Cruces and Albuquerque.

Advanced Airlines, based in Hawthorne, California, and more commonly referred to as Advanced Air, has agreed to provide seven flights per week – two flights each on Monday and Friday with one flight each day on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday – between Las Cruces and Albuquerque.

“This is a first step toward providing more convenient travel options for Las Cruces,” said Airport Administrator Andy Hume. “We’re excited about our new relationship with Advanced Airlines. They will be providing Las Cruces with the same top-notch service as they have for other New Mexico cities.”

Advanced Air currently provides service between Silver City and Albuquerque, between Silver City and Phoenix and between Gallup and Phoenix, the city said.

Advanced Air primarily utilizes the Beechcraft Super King Air 350 for its fleet, the news release said. The twin-engine aircraft has a capacity of nine passengers.

The two-year contract includes a total budget of $3,850,000, including $1.75 million each year from the New Mexico Department of Transportation’s rural air service enhancement grant. The contract requires the city to provide $175,000 annually.

KLRU (that’s the official airport indicator) last had passenger air service in 2005 with Mesa Airlines.

Hume said the airport would like to explore the possibility of adding passenger air service to Santa Fe and interstate service to Dallas-Ft. Worth and Phoenix.

“Passenger air service has been missing from Las Cruces for nearly 20 years,” Hume said. “This new service will help business travelers and opens travel options to connecting flights out of Albuquerque.

“We’re excited about the possibilities and that this new venture will focus more attention on the airport, the growth potential we have and especially with the Las Cruces Innovation and Industrial Park.

“Plain and simple, this provides another travel option for business, health care needs, recreation and tourism,” Hume said.

LCU Finishes Pre-1965 Landfill Cleanup

By Cassie McClure

After two years and two phases, Las Cruces Utilities (LCU) has completed the cleanup of the pre-1965 landfill project off Lohman Avenue, on the land between Paseo de Ocate and Sonoma Ranch Boulevard. Originally a site for an old landfill, the City of Las Cruces (City) asked LCU to assist in removing the trash, ensuring the safety of residents, and increasing the future usability of the land. However, the area of waste that LCU needed to sort nearly doubled in the first year.

“A 2016 site investigation estimated nearly 27 thousand cubic yards to clean in two main waste areas for Phase I, however upon actual field efforts and potholing, the total jumped up to 43 thousand cubic yards,” said LCU Environmental & Technical Support project manager Fred Bourger, who led the project. Phase I of the project began in March 2020 and was completed in February 2021. But that amount was not ultimately what went to the landfill due to the use of new machines – called flip screens – which screened waste material from clean soil.

“We were able to reduce waste hauled to the Corralitos Regional Landfill by 40 percent,” said Bourger. The types of waste that LCU found were glass, plastic, tires, washer and dryers, and bricks. The final amount sent to the Corralitos Landfill was 29,281 tons.

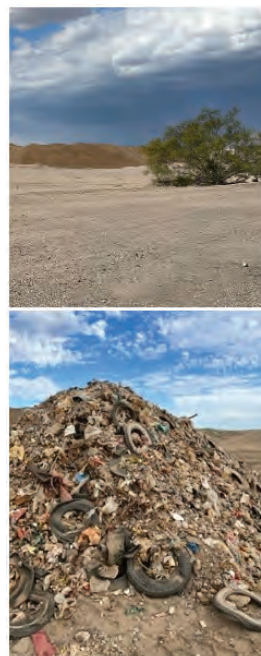

Phase II of the project began in April 2022 and was completed in November 2022. The phase sorted 53 thousand cubic yards and sent 14,780 tons to Corralitos. The use of two flip screens on this phase reduced waste by 80 percent and reduced the time by three months.

“In the next several weeks, we will be reseeding the recently excavated area that had been and are currently in the process of writing a completion report for the New Mexico Environment Department Solid Waste Bureau,” Bourger said.

Currently, the area is still off-limits to the public. He continued, “The site will go under the management of public works, which will be responsible for continuing the management of the Storm Water Pollution Prevention Plan and continuing with the master planning process which the City of Las Cruces will develop for future use.”

Bourger is appreciative of those involved in the project. “I’d like to send a shoutout of thanks to the Success is where you build it

Some of the most educational moments I've had in my 12 years working at the Las Cruces Bulletin have come in the presence of Eddie Binns.

Remember those giant satellite dishes from the 1970s, that took up half the front yard?

As we all know, they became obsolete by the mid-1980s.

But Binns found another use for them. Turn them upside down, hang them in a home's foyer, stucco them and, voila, the foyer has a beautiful rotunda.

Short in stature, Eddie's legacy stands tall. Most of his career has been in real estate, developing and building, but he's dabbled in many different things along the way. For example, I just learned he was into airplanes for a while.

COLTHARP
From the Publisher

At the Las Cruces Home Builders Association banquet Dec. 9, he told the assemblage the best way to be successful was through real estate. But I think Eddie owes his success to his non-stop thirst for learning, as well as his ability to get along with people.

At the banquet, Binns was honored for his years serving the LCHBA, of which he was a charter member. LCHBA named its event center Eddie's Event Hall, recognizing things he had done for the organization, including the creation of the Home Builders offices and the event center. (See more on Page 9)

After receiving the honor, Binns shared some history of the LCHBA's early years.

There was a time, Binns said, when none of the builders would talk to each other or work together. It was as if they were holding onto secrets. He the audience back to 1957, and conversations between six established home builders and "the kid." The kid was Binns himself, newly married and newly graduated from New Mexico State University, in the last years it was still called New Mexico A&M.

The kid wanted to soak up on the advice and knowledge he could. In Binns' mind, if all the builders could share their best ideas, everyone would be better off.

"The ability to find ways to work with others," Binns said, is another key to being successful.

Binns has also applied that to his many charitable efforts.

Another key, he said, is finding the right partner. At that point he pointed to his beloved wife, Bernice.

In his deep, crusty voice, Binns said, "It's a great life as far as I'm concerned. It starts with having a good partner. I picked a great partner, and for 65 years she's put up with my B.S. and my comings and goings."

City can't demand advocates split costs

I was 13 or 14 when I came to the realization that tennis is way cheaper than golf. So, I haven't spent much time in golf clubhouses. But I'm certainly aware that those connected to country clubs have a well-earned reputation for racism and sexism.

The Augusta National Golf Course, where the Masters is played every year, didn't admit its first Black member until 1990 and its first female member until 2012. And so, it's not surprising that when Las Cruces had a country club, it had a similar history.

Now, some in our community want to use that ugly history against the building itself. That doesn't seem right. It's a structure; it's incapable of discrimination.

The local country club closed in 2011, and soon after became an embarrassment on Main Street, greeting newcomers to our city with untended weeds and unwatered, dead trees for far too long.

Developers are finally ready to make that property productive again. That will require removal of the clubhouse, which was designed in 1929 by Trost & Trost Architects and Engineers. A permit has been requested for the demolition.

Those who understand historical architecture better than I do say the building is rare and should be preserved. Mayor Ken Miyagishima has concocted an ill-conceived plan to save the building.

He estimates the total cost to be $290,000, and said the developers were willing to pay what they had budgeted for demolition, $40,000. His plan is for the city to split the remaining $250,000 with those advocating for the building's preservation.

WALT RUBEL
The View
From Here

City officials can't ask residents to get involved in local government and then charge them for the issues they advocate for. Would we expect those calling for clean energy to chip in every time the city buys a new electric bus?

At a time when the city budget is growing faster than backyard weeds following three straight days of rain (up by nearly $16 million this fiscal year), it seems petty to be quibbling over $125,000.

The larger question is what value does the building have, and what would the total costs be to not only move it but then maintain it. Then, there are the questions of where to put it and what to do with it. Could it become part of our museum system, or would it just end up being a burden?

City officials must always be aware that any historic structure lost can never be recovered. If they decide the old clubhouse has value and can be put to use, they should pay the full costs for that to happen. If not, they should issue the demolition permit.

Violence as a public health issue

Violence is a widespread, complex public health issue that impacts all of us. Its various forms (intimate partner violence, sexual violence, child abuse and neglect, bullying, teen dating and youth violence, suicidal behavior, elder abuse or neglect and more) are interconnected with overlapping causes.

Learning about the factors that influence violence can help with prevention.

The Division of Violence Prevention of the Center for Disease Control (CDC) for about 40 years, has been doing research to identify what works, bringing together data, science, and action. Their framework uses a four-level model showing the complex interaction among individual, relationship, community, and society factors. In order to prevent violence, it's necessary to act across these multiple levels at the same time. Some of the protective factors the CDC identifies for individuals includes skill development in solving problems non-violently, assertiveness, and conflict resolution; for relationships, connections to family, a caring adult, and school are critical; at the community support level, employment with living wages, access to mental health and substance abuse services, and coordination of resources and services are essential; at the society level, policies supporting economic, gender and ethnic equity are important. For educational resources, go to www.cdc.gov/violenceprevention/index.html

At the federal level, the Violence Against Women Act, reauthorized in March 2022, provides improved prevention and response to sexual violence and expands criminal jurisdiction of Tribal courts to include non-Native perpetrators of sexual assault. People of any gender can be at risk. Another recent federal law ended forced arbitration for sexual assault and harassment, which stops companies from forcing workers to give up their right to a jury trial with such claims. According to an article in Forbes (March 4, 2022), companies generally prefer arbitration instead of courts, because arbitration is not public and has fewer costs to the business.

In Doña Ana County, we are fortunate to have resources for addressing risk (unemployment, crime, access to guns, prolonged toxic stress and distress, antisocial beliefs, authoritarian attitudes) and protective factors.

The Doña Ana County Resilience Leaders are working to limit adverse childhood experiences (ACEs, trauma and adversity) to ensure children, students, and families are safe. They released a survey for Doña Ana County in 2020, identifying levels of need and access to 10 basic family services. The survey described a number of barriers to accessing the 10 survival services (medical care, behavioral health care, food, housing, transportation, parent supports, early childhood education, community schools, youth mentors, and job training). They have provided educational events and developed a strategic planning process to guide their mission. There's additional information at www.dacrl.org/reports-publications

The League of Women Voters has positions that support many of the protective factors cited by the CDC. Violence prevention programs need to train childcare providers, teachers, administrators, and coaches; and to be in school curricula. Individuals, businesses, agencies, institutions, and governments need to take a more active roles in preventing violent behavior. There are no easy solutions for preventing violence, but we all have a right to feel and be safe in our families, work, and communities.

LCHBA honors Binns

BULLETIN REPORT

The hardest thing was keeping the surprise.

That's what Las Cruces Home Builders Association Executive Officer Nicole Black said about honoring founding member Eddie Binns, and trying to get as many of his family member to attend as possible.

Binns was a charter member of the LCHBA when discussions to begin the organization started back in 1957.

To recognize his many contributions, LCHBA announced at its Dec. 9 banquet it would rename its event center for Binns.

Hence forward, the facility at 2825 N. Main St. will be known as Eddie's Event Hall.

New Mexico flavor enchants NMDA's holiday guide

BULLETIN REPORT

The New Mexico Department of Agriculture's (NMDA) New Mexico Taste the Tradition Holiday Lookbook is a 28-page online holiday gift guide "that highlights products grown in the state, from pecans to chile," NMDA said in a news release.

The Lookbook includes companies that are members of the NEW MEXICO—Taste the Tradition and —Grown with Tradition logo program, which was created in 2000 to promote New Mexico products and identify them as grown or made in the state.

One of the companies featured in the lookbook is New Mexico Sabor, an award-winning salsa company that distributes the taste of enchantment to consumers across the United States.

"We are so thrilled to be in this lookbook," said New Mexico Sabor owner Carla Gallegos-Ortega. "This book will allow New Mexico products to be seen outside of New Mexico, giving us greater exposure. We saw a major increase in sales after our article in New Mexico True magazine, so we can only imagine what this is going to bring us!"

New Mexico products aren't the only items being showcased in the lookbook. On page seven of the book, you can find a list of New Mexico holiday traditions. For example, champurrado is "a chocolate-based warm and thick Mexican beverage prepared with either masa de maiz, masa harina or corn flour, piloncillo (unrefined sugar), water or milk and occasionally containing cinnamon, anise seed or vanilla." You can also learn about chile ristras and wreaths and luminarias and farolitos, tamales, pozole and biscochitos, tumbleweed snowmen and Las Posadas. You will find holiday recipes like ham and egg biscuit with green chile gravy, pecan crusted chicken nuggets, pumpkin bizcochito cheesecake. Southwest corn bake and New Mexico Chile Shakshouka.

DAR installs bee hotels at Farm & Ranch Museum

By MARY LEE
BAILEY SHELTON
For the Bulletin

The Farm and Ranch Heritage Museum in Las Cruces expects an upsurge in visitors due to some new hotels on their premises -- visitors of the multi-legged variety, that is.

The Doña Ana Chapter of the New Mexico Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution (NMSDAR) installed five bee hotels at the museum to fulfill their state leader's aspirations to raise awareness of the decline of pollinators. Two hotels stand in the Discovery Garden, with three poised in the proposed Native Plant Garden in front of the vineyard.

Hailed as bee hotels, these distinctive habitats are the culmination of State DAR Regent Patricia Barger's idea to help save the planet. Regent Barger, of Rio Rancho, was in Las Cruces Dec. 10 for the dedication ceremony. Other daughters from across New Mexico joined with Doña Ana DAR for the ceremony at the museum.

"We greatly appreciate the DAR's gift to the museum and we look forward to including it in the future development of the Discovery Garden," said Heather Reed, the museum's executive director.

One of the museum's goals on its strategic plan is to renovate the Discovery Garden on the northwest side of the building, Reed said.

"This garden will serve as an outside laboratory for our educators to teach school children and host adult workshops with a focus on increasing agricultural literacy," she said. "The DAR's gift of pollinator hotels contributes to the museum's focus of encouraging a greater understanding of how agriculture works and the importance of green space to our community and the state."

"Our planet is in the middle of an insect apocalypse," Barger said. "Pollinators are in crisis and dwindling in numbers due to the loss of critical feeding and nesting habitat."

Her bee hotel project provides nesting habitats for pollinators. Bees are the predominant pollinators, but the hotels should also attract beetles, flies, ants, moths and butterflies, to name just a few.

"The greatest threat to our planet is the belief that someone else will save it," Barger said. The bee hotel project shows that "people can, on a very local scale, do positive things to protect pollinators, as opposed to larger scale environmental issues."

Barger engaged NMSDAR members to build hotels for pollinators in peril. The Doña Ana chapter is the first NMSDAR chapter in the state to install the hotels.

"We are excited about the hotels," said, Doña Ana Chapter Regent Linda Bartlett. "They help make southern New Mexico a little more hospitable to the dwindling numbers of pollinators, a world-wide problem. Making the hotels successful can definitely raise awareness and 'bee' a community effort."

DAR's national Conservation Committee's mission -- to educate members about pressing environmental issues and to encourage good stewardship practices for a more sustainable future -- is important to today's daughters, Bartlett said.

"There is no special criteria for the building of the hotel," Barger said, "except that it be made of materials found in the pollinators' natural habitat and that the objects be safe and untreated."

Hotels should be securely anchored and raised off the ground a sufficient height so that if there is a heavy rain the bugs are not harmed, Barger said.

The NMSDAR Doña Ana Chapter daughters concluded that a tall hotel, the original goal, would be vulnerable because of the high winds of southern New Mexico, and opted for more small hotels rather than one large one. The hotels are situated in front of native wildflowers.

"If an entire community made small-scale changes like these, the payoff would be widely felt," Barger said. "Ask yourself, 'How can I help bees and other pollinators?'"

"We can all fight climate change by adopting sustainability behavior," she said. "Everyone can do their part by planting a diversity of plants so a diversity of pollinators is attracted. We need to be biodiverse, and we want as many insect residents as possible. We can think creatively about how we manage our own yards and the public land in our communities. The next time you see a pollinator visiting a flower, know that their species has a better chance at survival with the launch of projects like this," Barger said.

Ramos: It's a good time to be a teacher, student

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

"I think the best career in New Mexico right now is to be a teacher," Las Cruces Public Schools Superintendent Ralph Ramos said.

With increases in salaries and benefits teachers received this year, along with the school district's new balanced calendar and other changes, "people are excited to be here," said Ramos, a former teacher, coach and principal who is completing his second year as LCPS superintendent. He has been with LCPS for 28 years.

It's also a pretty good time to be an LCPS student.

Fees have been eliminated for all student activities, Ramos said, technology has "advance(d) 10 years into the future" and schools are more focused than ever on insuring success for both college-bound students and those who are looking for good-paying jobs immediately after they graduate from high school.

"What are we not offering our students?" is a question Ramos has frequently been asking, he said, as he encourages teachers, administrators and other staff to be innovative as they guide the classroom and extra-curricular activities of about 24,000 students in nearly 40 schools in Las Cruces, Doña Ana and Mesilla and on White Sands Missile Range.

Ramos said LCPS' priorities for the 2023 legislative session will include sufficient funding for transportation for after-school programs; enhanced school safety and security, including gun safety and awareness; behavioral health support; community schools; upgraded career and technical education infrastructure and facilities; and salary and benefits funding support for teachers and other staff.

"Let's keep fighting for those raises," Ramos said.

A major focus for the district is early childhood education, he said. LCPS is serving about 1,600 three- and four-year-olds, he said, but there are nearly four times that number of children who need services.

That's why Ramos said he will ask the legislature to fund early childhood education centers in Las Cruces and southwest New Mexico. Helping children to thrive before they begin school is a critical part of making sure they graduate from high school, he said.

RAMOS

"It starts with teachers making connections with kids," Ramos said.

It's also about making sure students and staff are safe in their schools and classrooms, the superintendent said.

LCPS is in the process of ensuring that every campus has a six-foot security fence and is also enhancing security by installing secure vestibules in all buildings, Ramos said.

There are school resource officers – armed police officers – at every LCPS middle and high school, Ramos said, and the New Mexico State Police and Las Cruces Police Department have "adopted" local elementaries, with offices at the schools which they regularly visit.

LCPS schools have "access to law enforcement like never before," he said.

LCPS has a no-tolerance policy for bullying, violence and drug use on school campuses, Ramos said, but the school district is moving away from suspending students in favor of in-school interventions, which are a better way to help them learn from their inappropriate behavior, he said.

Because "everybody needs to grow," Ramos said he supports professional development not only for teachers, but also for administrators, school counselors and custodians.

He would also like to see a stronger connection among all educational institutions that serve students in Doña Ana County, with LCPS, Gadsden Independent School District and Hatch Valley Public Schools, and including school board members from each school district and members of the Doña Ana Community College Advisory Board.

With the new balanced calendar that added 10 days of instruction and other innovations, LCPS has "a model system in place for others to follow," Ramos said. The school district has a grant for five electric buses, as it begins to change most of its fleet from diesel engines to EV, he said.

And, school technology is on a three-year rotation cycle, Ramos said, to make ensure regular upgrades. With high-speed connection and hot spots across the district, LCPS is committed to making sure every student has internet access.

Every LCPS school has "a media fingerprint," he said, and is using television and social media platforms to "showcase a lot of the positive things that are happening."

The school district wants to use highly successful community schools concept to broaden career and technical education for students to better prepare them for college and the workforce, Ramos said.

LCPS is getting noticed around the state, Ramos said, because "the same old, same old is not getting them there."

"I want to move New Mexico ... to the top 10" in public education, Ramos said.

Zamora new deputy clerk

BULLETIN REPORT

Caroline Zamora has been named the new chief deputy county clerk, he Doña Ana County Clerk's office said in a Dec. 7 news release.

Zamora has more than a decade of experience in marketing and public relations in the early childhood and healthcare sector, the news release said. She is also a licensed real estate broker. Zamora has degrees in psychology and communication from New Mexico State University and is an active board member of the Doña Ana County Humane Society and a member of the Greater Las Cruces Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors.

"I am thrilled that Caroline accepted the appointment as chief deputy clerk, County Clerk Amanda López Askin said. "Her entire career and volunteer work has been focused on making our community a better place for everyone. Her experience, perspective and commitment to all will be a great asset to our office and she has already hit the ground running!"

"I am very excited to be a part of the clerk's office," Zamora said. "This office has significant responsibilities to our community, from elections to starting businesses and purchasing homes and marriages. I'm eager to work with and learn from our Clerk, Dr. Amanda López Askin, and the dedicated clerk's office team, along with the county staff."

Zamora replaces Lindsey Bachman as chief deputy clerk. Bachman is now the director of legislative and executive affairs for the New Mexico Secretary of State's office.

VFW co-sponsors holiday events

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

"Letters to Santa" Christmas holiday events, sponsored by All American Baseball/Softball Academy of Las Cruces and VFW Post 6917 and hosted by Fabian Gomez of Las Cruces, began Dec. 14 and will continue through Christmas Eve.

Here are the events, all of which are 6-9 p.m.:

- Saturday, Dec. 17; Monday, Dec. 19; Wednesday, Dec. 21; Thursday, Dec. 22; and Friday, Dec. 23: visits from Santa Claus.

- The Dec. 21, 22 and 23 events will include visits from the Grinch.

- The Dec. 21 event will include performances by a children's choir.

- The Dec. 22 event will include visits from Mickey and Minnie Mouse.

- Saturday, Dec. 24: Letters to Santa giveaway, including Santa, the Grinch and Mickey and Minnie Mouse.

All events are at Gomez's home, 7496 Sierra de Oro Place.

Everyone is welcome to attend and is encouraged to bring the whole family and have photos taken with all the visitors at Santa's outdoor sleigh.

"We will have music, movies and complementary cookies and hot chocolate while visitors wait in line" for photos, Gomez said.

Gomez is accepting letters to Santa from local children through Sunday, Dec. 18, at his home and at All American Baseball Academy, 3920 W. Picocho Ave.

Each letter should include the child's name, three items he or she wants for Christmas and a phone number at which the child's parents can be reached.

On Christmas Eve, letters will be drawn at random and the children whose letters are drawn will receive gifts from Santa Claus, Gomez said.

You can also donate to Gomez to help purchase gifts.

For more information on the "Letters to Santa" events, contact Gomez at aaba_training@yahoo.com and find him on Facebook at Fabian Gomez.

SAR honors regional law enforcement officers

BULLETIN REPORT

The Gadsden Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution (GCSAR) presented its law enforcement commendation medal to two local law enforcement officers in December, GCSAR said in news releases.

The meal was presented to Las Cruces Police Department (LCPD) Officer Felipe Hernandez and Doña Ana County Sheriff's Office (DASO) Sgt. Dason Allen.

Hernandez, representing LCPD, initiated a project to address the quality of life for residents in low-income neighborhoods, GCSAR President Don Williams said.

"Hernandez noted the concerns residents (expressed), including both criminal activity and municipal code violations," Williams said. "He partnered with Mesilla Valley Public Housing Authority Chief Operations Officer and Deputy Director Lorena Rivera (and) together they addressed the many violations from several problem areas in the housing developments. This resulted in a safer, cleaner environment where residents can take pride in their neighborhood."

Hernandez recruited volunteers from several city departments for the project, Williams said.

"Their cleanup project became a model for other areas of town in which stakeholders in the community became involved in the cleanup efforts," he said. "Officer Hernandez made it a point to frequently patrol these distressed areas of town. He went door-to-door introducing himself as a community officer and built many relationships within the community. Officer Hernandez's initiative in this project clearly demonstrates that LCPD cares. This project improved the quality of life for the residents."

Allen is lead sergeant responsible for the supervision and management of DASO's Traffic Division, which includes eight deputies.

"Allen plans, coordinates and executes multiple operations every month," Williams said. "Although not always on-call, Sgt. Allen always answers his phone and assists anyone who call him. He oversees several grants at DASO and supervises the disbursement of those funds. SGT Allen always conducts himself with

State funding helps county expand mobile crisis response

BULLETIN REPORT

Outside of the Crisis Triage Center (CTC) in Las Cruces, Doña Ana County Commission Chair Manuel A. Sanchez announced earlier this month the state of New Mexico will fund the expansion of mobile crisis response services in the county.

As of Dec. 1, those services are dispatched through 988, the national suicide and crisis lifeline. State funding will support operations through 2024, after which the service will be sustained through Medicaid reimbursement, the county said in a news release.

"Today's announcement is a big movement forward for the residents of Doña Ana County," Sanchez said. "Doña Ana County is proud to be the first in New Mexico to implement all three components of the ideal crisis response system, now giving people in crisis someone to call, someone to come and somewhere to go whenever help is needed."

"This model aims to get the right help at the right time," county Health and Human Services Department Director Jamie Michael told the Bulletin. "If someone asks for help when calling 988 it is a peer and a clinician who come to you, not law enforcement or EMS. This reduces stress and stigma, so I hope people are more likely to ask for help."

"I think it is just fabulous that the first full Crisis Now Model in New Mexico is in Las Cruces," said Dr. Neal Bowen, director of the Behavioral Services Division of the New Mexico Department of Health. Bowen participated in the county's announcement via Zoom.

"You are so well prepared and so well positioned to deliver in an exemplary way and a way that is going to be a great model for everyone across the state of New Mexico," Bowen said. "The significance of the mobile crisis response system lies in the years of groundwork that has been laid by stakeholders across the state. This is the model that people have been asking for and they will make the best use of when needing crisis care. This will also lower the overall system cost of responding to behavioral health crisis."

"In the last 50 years, we have operated under a 911 system for emergencies by sending the police, fire or EMS, even when it is related to a mental health or substance abuse crisis," said Paul Galdys, deputy CEO of Recovery Innovations International (RI), the Arizona nonprofit that operates CTC under a contract with the county.

"Through 988 or the statewide Crisis and Access line, someone can speak with you and talk you through some of the situations. 90 percent of issues can be resolved over the phone through the support without the presence of law enforcement, which often can lead to booking and incarceration," Galdys said.

Creating a system that was Medicaid reimbursable was a critical component to making this system sustainable statewide, the county said.

It is important to note the mobile crisis response service does not replace 911, the county said. Instead, county residents can now call 988 and receive support during a mental health or substance use crisis.

CTC is available for walk-ins 365 days a year, 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Visit 988nm.org.

Ribbon cutting celebrates ACTion Programs for Animals

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

The ribbon cutting was delayed for two years because of the pandemic, but it finally took place Saturday afternoon, Dec. 10, as the Greater Las Cruces Chamber of Commerce and the Las Cruces Green Chamber celebrated the opening of ACTion Programs for Animals' (APA) adoption center and food bank at 537 N. Solano Drive.

Participants in the ribbon cutting included state Sen. Carrie Hamblen, who is the president and CEO of the Green Chamber, Doña Ana County Clerk Amanda Lopez Askin, who is chair of the APA board, Mayor Pro Tempore Kasandra Gandara and City Councilor Becky Corran, along with APA Executive Director Michel Meunier and other APA board members and APA and Second Chance Thrift Store staff and volunteers.

APA rescues dogs and cats, primarily from the municipal shelter, to offer for adoption. In addition to the pet food bank, it offers regular low-cost dog and cat vaccination clinics, the Prisoners and Animals Working Toward Success (P.A.W.S.) dog training program and PAWSitive Training Classes for people and their dogs.

The nonprofit APA has rescued more than 5,500 animals since May 2012.

APA is open 11 a.m.-3 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday and by appointment. The APA food bank is open 1-3 p.m. the first and third Saturday of every month.

APA is located at the corner of Solano Drive and east Court Avenue.

City hires new Quality of Life Department director

BULLETIN REPORT

The City of Las Cruces has hired Carol Brey to serve as director of the Quality of Life Department. She replaces Lynn Gallagher, who resigned, the city said.

Brey previously served 12 years as a foreign service officer for the U.S. State Department, most recently on a detail in the office of U.S. Sen. Ben Cardin, D-Maryland. Prior to that, Brey served 2018-21 as director of the Office of American Spaces (OAS) in Washington, D.C., overseeing more than 600 of public diplomacy platforms in over 145 countries, the city said in a news release.

Overseas, Brey provided direct support for American Spaces throughout South America, nine countries in all, based at the U.S. Embassies in Buenos Aires, Argentina 2015-18 and in Brasilia, Brazil 2011-13.

She also served as an OAS division chief, developing and implementing a worldwide training program.

Before joining the foreign service, Brey worked as a public library administrator for many years, most recently as director of the El Paso Public Library, and previously for Thomas Branigan Memorial Library in Las Cruces, as well as for libraries in Illinois, Oklahoma and Missouri, the city said.

Brey is past president (2004-05) of the American Library Association, the oldest and largest library association in the world.

Brey pursued Ph.D. studies at the University of Texas at Austin and holds a master's degree in library and information science from the University of Illinois and a bachelor's degree in music from Illinois State University, the city said. She is fluent in Spanish and Portuguese.

Brey recently moved back to the area with her husband, Adilson Bezerra de Sousa, and their two dogs.

"I am excited and happy to be returning to the City of Las Cruces to work as the Quality of Life director," Brey said. "Las Cruces is a progressive and diverse city, and I look forward to working once again with city staff and partners to further enhance our community."

Crash kills student

LCPD NEWS RELEASE

Las Cruces police arrested an 18-year-old driver believed to be responsible for Friday afternoon's vehicle vs. pedestrian crash on Bataan Memorial East that claimed the life of a 16-year-old boy, a student at Organ Mountain High School, Dec. 9.

The 18-year-old was arrested Friday evening and is charged with one felony count of involuntary manslaughter.

Investigators believe excessive speed may have been a contributing factor in the crash. Alcohol does not appear to have been involved.

Donations aid Jardin de los Niños

BULLETIN REPORT

Two separate efforts are benefiting Jardin de los Niños.

In one effort, Doña Ana Community College's Education Club is currently accepting donations for local children during this holiday season, DACC said in a news release.

In a separate effort, Western Sky Community Care announced earlier this month it has donated $3,000 to the Jardin de los Niños Anti-Hunger and Wellness Program to provide more than 7,000 meals for children who are not in school during the winter breaks.

Donations to the DACC Education Club will help children and their families through the Jardin de los Niños Adopt-a-Family campaign, DACC said. Money raised by the campaign will help buy toys for children and food, hygiene products, winter clothing and basic necessities for their whole families.

Jardin is a Las Cruces nonprofit that provides childcare, education and other services to children and families struggling with homelessness.

"It is very important to us to support this fundraiser every year; as a club that is made up of education instructors and future educators, we strive to do our best for the children of our county," said DACC Early Childhood Education associate professor Kathryn Million.

"Every child and their family deserve a great and fulfilling holiday season."

To donate to the cause, visit <https://give.jardinlc.org/fundraiser/4269988>.

Research shows school meals are often the only food many children receive during the day and might not get to eat at all when schools close during the holidays.

"Jardin de los Niños provides vital preventative services to homeless and near-homeless children and their families. Our Anti-Hunger and Wellness Program prevents food insecurity to lessen the negative impacts that homelessness has on children's ability to thrive and succeed," said Dr. Michelle S. Adames, CEO of Jardin de los Niños. "We are extremely thankful for the funding from Western Sky Community Care."

Health enrollments open

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

Enrollment is open through Jan. 15, 2023, in beWellnm, "a marketplace where New Mexicans can learn about health insurance, compare plans and enroll," according to the beWellnm website.

Health plans may be available through beWellnm to New Mexicans not covered by an affordable health plan through their employment and are not covered by Medicare or Medicaid.

Depending on income, some may be eligible for low-cost or no-cost health insurance through beWellnm.

The exchange also has a program to help small businesses and nonprofits provide coverage to employees.

The exchange was created by state law in 2013 and is governed by a 13-member board.

Visit www.bewellnm.com to compare health plans, schedule an appointment and get more information.

You can contact broker Pedro Llana in Las Cruces at 575-5569810 and pedro.llana@fbfs.com. He can discuss individual, family and small business health options.

You can also call 1-833-862-3935.

NOTICE is hereby given that on October 24, 2022,

Randy McMillan, on behalf of Cruces Equity Partners LP, Mesilla Vineyards, LLC, and Amigos Del Sol 17th Street, LLC, 1155 S. Telshor Blvd. Ste. B, Las Cruces, NM 88011, filed with the STATE ENGINEER Application No. LRG-4-PODI 7 for Permit to Change Point of Diversion of Groundwater, associated with Water Right File Nos. LRG-4-3, LRG-4-3G, and LRG-4-3H within the Lower Rio Grande Underground Water Basin of the State of New Mexico. Dona Ana is the County affected by the diversion and in which the water has been or will be put to beneficial use. This notice is ordered to be published in the Las Cruces Bulletin. Request to discontinue use of well LRG-4 located within the NE¼NE¼SE¼ of Section 28, Township 23 South, Range 1 East, NMPM, on a utility easement managed by the developer, and instead drill and use proposed well LRG-4-PODI 7, to be located within NE¼NE¼SE¼ of said Section 28, more specifically described at X= 1,459,035 and Y= 465,326 feet (N.M.S.P., Central Zone, NAD83) on the same utility easement, for the continued diversion of the amount of water subject to all conditions and provisions contained in the August 22, 2011 Final Judgment and Settlement Agreement in Stream System Issue No. 101, SS-97-101, combined with surface water from the Elephant Butte Irrigation District for the irrigation of 19.22 acres of land, within the La Mancha Estates Subdivision, on land owned by the applicants, located within parts of the NE¼ and SE¼ of said Section 28 and part of the NW¼ and SW¼ of Section 27, Township 23 South, Range 1 East, NMPM. The proposed well can be found at the SW corner of 950 Sandy Beach Road, Las Cruces, NM, approximately 525 feet northwest of the intersection of Sandy Beach Road and Briareus Drive. The applicants have requested Emergency Authorization to Drill and Use well LRG-4-PODI7 under NMSA, 1978, Section 72-12-22. Well LRG-4 will be properly plugged. To view the application and supporting documentation contact the State Engineer District Office to arrange a date and time for an appointment located at 1680 Hickory Loop, Suite J, Las Cruces, NM 88005. Any person, firm or corporation or other entity asserting standing to file objections or protests shall do so in writing (objection must be legible, signed, and include the writer's complete name, phone number, email address, and mailing address). If the protest does not include the complete name, phone number, email address, and mailing address, it may be deemed invalid and not accepted for filing unless Protestant provides with the protest an affidavit stating that it does not have one of the above-listed elements/requirements (phone number, mailing address, email address, etc.). The objection to the approval of the application must be based on: (1) Impairment; if impairment, you must specifically identify your water rights; and/or (2) Public Welfare/Conservation of Water; if public welfare or conservation of water within the state of New Mexico, you must show how you will be substantially and specifically affected. The written protest must be filed, in triplicate, with the State Engineer, 1680 Hickory Loop, Suite J, Las Cruces, NM 88005 on or before January 27, 2023. Facsimiles (faxes) will be accepted as a valid protest if the hard copy is hand-delivered or mailed and postmarked within 24-hours of the facsimile. Mailing postmark will be used to validate the 24-hour period. Protests can be faxed to the Office of the State Engineer, (575) 524-6160. If no valid protest or objection is filed, the State Engineer will evaluate the application in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 72 NMSA 1978.

What's Available NOW On

“Positive Energy: Season 1”
(Available now)
In this upbeat and informative new documentary series from National Geographic, hosts Dallas Campbell and Kari Byron crisscross the globe to meet and interview innovators who are developing new ways to meet the constantly rising demand for energy with an even more critical need to respect the planet’s environmental issues.

“The Flagmakers” (Available now)
The question of who the American flag is for is at the heart of this documentary from National Geographic and filmmakers Cynthia Wade and Sharon Liese, which follows employees at Eder Flag in Oak Creek, Wis., as these immigrants, refugees and locals wrestle with identity and belonging while stitching together five million flags a year.

Ashley Williams

11 a.m. on FREEFRM
Movie: Home Alone

Hollywood should have left "Alone" alone after this hit 1990 comedy, to which the sequels don't hold a holiday candle. Macaulay Culkin stars as a youngster who is mistakenly left home alone when his family leaves for Paris at Christmastime. When two burglars break in, he foils their attempts to rob the house by constructing elaborate traps. Joe Pesci, Daniel Stern, John Heard, Roberts Blossom, Catherine O'Hara and John Candy also star.

6 p.m. on HALL
Movie: 'Twas the Night Before Christmas

Madison Rush (Torrey DeVitto) is a former actress trying to break into directing and decides to test her skills with a town's annual Christmas Eve courtroom production in which the true authorship of the famous poem "A Visit from St. Nick" is debated in this 2022 TV movie. Zane Holtz, Amanda Barker, Tanisha Thammavongsa, Sophie Bastelle and Shawn Ahmed also star.

6 p.m. on LIFE
Movie: The Holiday Dating Guide

Dating coach and aspiring author Abigale (Maria Menounos) is close to making her lifelong dream come true of becoming a published author. She has completed her first book — a how-to guide for dating in today's modern world. However, after reading the book, her publisher Jack (Steve Vinovich) wants to know that her advice works. So Abigale proposes to use the rules herself and make a man fall for her by Christmas Eve in 12 days in this 2022 romance.

6 p.m. on LIFEMOV
Movie: The Podcast Murders

A reclusive true crime podcast tries to keep a low profile despite achieving massive success for her investigation of the serial killing case she calls the "Barbie Murders." But soon it becomes clear that with this bizarre case, her anonymity isn't the only thing being threatened. This 2022 thriller stars Lanie McAuley, Natalie Sharp, Clayton James and Shanell Connell.

6 p.m. on TCM
Movie: The Greatest Story Ever Told

Veteran director George Stevens ("Shane") traces the life of Christ in this mammoth 1965 drama, which casts Max von Sydow in the central role. The all-star event boasts a parade of familiar faces from Charlton Heston (as John the Baptist) and John Wayne to Sidney Poitier and Angela Lansbury. In fact, Stevens' undertaking became so massive, David Lean ("Doctor Zhivago") helped out by directing some sequences.

7 p.m. on KVIA2
iHeartRadio Jingle Ball 2022

If there's a nip in the air it must be time for that beloved annual tradition: a 90-minute holiday music event that celebrates the season with performances by the year's biggest recording artists. This star-studded concert event will feature performances from many of today's hottest musical stars including Dua Lipa, Lizzo, Jack Harlow, Pitfall, Black Eyed Peas, Backstreet Boys, Sam Smith, Khalid, Lewis Capaldi, Charlie Puth and more.

11:01 p.m. on HMM
Movie: Five More Minutes: Moments Like These

The second holiday story inspired by Scotty McCreery's hit song "Five More Minutes," a young widow's (Ashley Williams) Christmas wish for her son is answered in unexpected ways when she returns to their old home for the holidays. This 2022 romance also stars Lucas Bryant, Fred Henderson, Carey Feehan and Francesca Bianchi.

FIFA World Cup 2022

After 42 matches, the 32 teams that began the 2022 FIFA World Cup last month have been winnowed down to two and they'll go at it for the title in today's final match at Lusail Stadium in Lusail, Qatar. When this tournament was last held four years ago in Russia, France came away as champions after defeating Croatia 4-2 in the title contest.

6 p.m. on DSC
Dirty Jobs
It's a far from a "purrfect" job as all-around good sport Mike Rowe helps cat ladies of northern Texas fix a clowder of feral cats at a spray and neuter facility. Shockingly, none of the cats are thrilled. Then, Mike and his crew feel the burn as he processes peppers with the mad scientist inventor of the Carolina Reaper in the new episode "Feral Cat Fixer; Reaper Keeper."

6 p.m. on FOOD
Christmas Cookie Challenge
Five cookie makers are asked to combine cookies and comics into an edible comic strip by hosts Ree Drummond and Eddie Jackson in the new episode "Wacky Christmas." Then they must create larger-than-life ornaments made entirely out of cookies, while incorporating extra-small ingredients like sesame seeds, pine nuts, pumpkin seeds and sunflower seeds into their displays. A $10,000 prize and the title of Christmas Cookie Champion is at stake. The season finale episode "Christmas Behind the Scenes," immediately follows.

6 p.m. on HALL
Movie: Hanukkah on Rye
The holidays make everyone hungry — for love. A talented matchmaker connects Molly (Yael Grobglas) and Jacob (Jeremy Jordan), but their new romance is put to the test when they realize that they are competing deli owners. Will a Hanukkah miracle keep them together or will they name sandwiches after each other and hope for a better New Year? This 2022 romance also stars Lisa Loeb.

6 p.m. on LIFE
Movie: Wrapped Up in Love
Ashley (Brittany Bristow) has always been the preeminent "Christmas Queen" in town. From making hand-crafted decorations for the office to hosting the town's annual Christmas sweater competition, she loves everything about the holiday — until she meets her match in Ben (Olivier Renaud), the handsome new guy in town who loves Christmas just as much as she does. But as Ashley begins to feel like Ben is taking Christmas away from her, she is reminded of the true spirit of the holiday in this 2021 holiday romance.

7 p.m. on KDBC
Movie: When Christmas Was Young
A headstrong music manager (Tyler Hilton) in desperate need of a hit song for his last remaining client finds himself falling for a gifted singer-songwriter (Karen David) with abandoned dreams of making it big — as he attempts to get the rights to a Christmas song she wrote years ago. This 2022 romance features original music by Sheryl Crow, who is also an executive producer. Meghan Hefern, Hayley Sales, Jordana Largy and Jake Foy also star.

7 p.m. on CNN
This Is Life With Lisa Ling
Lisa Ling explores America's epidemic of alcoholism, and how its upsurge through the pandemic is having a shocking impact on the health of approximately 15 million people. She interviews experts who offer explanations on this health epidemic in the new episode "We Have a Drinking Problem." Immediately following in the season finale episode "Interracial Love," Ling meets three different interracial couples that took the leap and explores the story of their lives — and loves — in a divided country.

7:09 p.m. on PAR
The Dutton family origin story that began with "1883" continues into the early 20th century in this drama series from "Yellowstone" creator Taylor Sheridan, which introduces a new generation of Duttons headed by Jacob and Cara (Harrison Ford, Helen Mirren) in a time of pandemics, historic drought, the end of Prohibition and the Great Depression in the mountain west.

Mariah Carey

5:30 p.m. on DISN
Prep & Landing: Naughty vs. Nice

The yuletide adventures of Christmas elves Lanny and Wayne continue with this animated special. With the Big 2-5 fast approaching, Wayne and Lanny must race to recover classified North Pole technology that has fallen into the hands of a Naughty Kid. Desperate to prevent Christmas from descending into chaos, Wayne seeks out the foremost Naughty Kid expert to aid in the mission, a bombastic member of the Coal Elf Brigade who's also his estranged brother, Noel.

7 p.m. on KDBC
Mariah Carey: Merry Christmas to All!

If all you want for Christmas is two hours of Mariah Carey singing her heart out, CBS has you covered.

This new primetime concert special from a queen of Christmas features Carey performing a selection of her festive holiday hits, including the chart-topping massive perennial favorite "All I Want for Christmas Is You" at the world-renowned Madison Square Garden arena. Carey is the best-selling female artist of all time with more than 200 million albums sold and 19 Billboard Hot 100 No. 1 singles (18 of which were self-penned).

7 p.m. on KVIA
Santa Claus Is Comin' to Town

Santa's origins are explored in this animated 1970 special, which side-steps the St. Nicholas part. In this version, the future jolly old elf is a founding adopted by the Kringles, a family of toymakers. He grows up with toys in his blood, so to speak, and feels called to give them away to the local youngsters — but mean old Burgermeister Meisterburger will have none of that.

7 p.m. on KTSM
Movie: Dr. Seuss' The Grinch

The 1966 animated adaptation of Dr. Seuss' beloved yuletide tale narrated by Boris Karloff is incomparable in its simplicity, but this 2018 CGI-animated retelling has its own rewards, chief among them Benedict Cumberbatch's sly — and completely un-Karloffian — voice work as the title character.

8 p.m. on KVIA
Disney Prep & Landing
 Santa's elves suffer job burnout, too. In this charming animated special, Dave Foley gives voice to Wayne, a member of the elite elf team that prepares for and over- sees Santa's arrival at children's houses. He was hoping for a promotion; instead, he has to stay where he is and train an annoyingly overzealous new assistant (voice of Derek Richardson). Of course, no Christmas special would be complete without a crisis and a lesson to be learned.

Movie: Christmas in Connecticut

A successful lifestyle journalist (Barbara Stanwyck) is lauded by her readers as the sweetest, most efficient homemaker in the countryside. Problem is, Elizabeth (Stanwyck) is a chain-smoking urbanite in a city apartment.

When her boss suggests she host a soldier on leave for the holidays, she needs to come up with a home, child and cooking skills fast! Dennis Morgan and S.Z. Sakall co-star in the 1945 romantic comedy.

6 p.m. on TRAV

Jack Osbourne's Haunted Homecoming

Jack Osbourne returns to the U.K. to revisit his childhood home and past haunts in the county of Buckinghamshire — a notorious paranormal hotspot — seeking the dark truth behind terrifying, unexplained mysteries and experiences he had there as a young boy. On his journey, Osbourne makes stops at the family home where he spent his formative years, a local theater and ancient pub, and Missenden Abbey, a notoriously haunted locale that was the scene of regular childhood school trips in the new episode “Welders House.” Paranormal investigator and blogger Kate Cherrell also appears.

8 p.m. on KDBC
Homeward Bound: A Grammy
Salute to the Songs of Paul
Simon

This new special tribute concert honors 16-time Grammy winner Paul Simon. In addition to an appearance by the man himself, the tribute features a star-studded performer lineup of Grammy-winning artists, past nominees and iconic voices including Garth Brooks and Trisha Yearwood, Eric Church, Susanna Hoffs, Jonas Brothers, Little Big Town, Dave Matthews, Brad Paisley, Billy Porter, Sting, Shaggy and Jimmy Cliff, Trombone Shorty and Stevie Wonder, who will all pay homage to Simon's legendary career. Presenters include Herbie Hancock, Woody Harrelson, Dustin Hoffman, Folake Olowofeyeku and Oprah Winfrey.

10 p.m. on FREEFRM
Movie: Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer

This 1948 animated short film gives fans a glimpse at the original version of our favorite reindeer. Based on the 1939 poem by Robert L. May, it follows closely to the poem's version, rather than the 1949 song by Gene Autry. Here, Rudolph is teased by other reindeer children for his red nose. Saddened, he returns home, hangs his stocking and dreams of Santa, only to have Santa arrive at Rudolph's house during a storm and suggest Rudolph help light the way.

“Movie: Your Christmas Or Mine?”

From Great Britain comes this film comedy that follows young couple James (Asa Butterfield, “Sex Education”) and Hayley (Cora Kirk, “Prey for the Devil”) who wind up spending Christmas with each other’s families when a well-intentioned surprise turns into a big mistake. Alex Jennings, Harriet Walters and Daniel Mays also star. (ORIGINAL)

“Movie: Hawa”

This joint France/Bangladesh film drama tells the story of Hawa, a Parisian girl who lives alone with her very ill grandmother and fears being placed in another home by social services. When she learns former first lady Michelle Obama is to visit the city, she gets the outrageous idea to adopt the iconic woman. Sania Halifa, Oumou Sangare, Yseult and Thomas Pesquet star. (ORIGINAL)

“Movie: La La Land”

Damien Chazelle earned an Academy Award as best director for his bittersweet 2016 musical valentine to the classic Hollywood musical. Ryan Gosling and Emma Stone star as jazz pianist Sebastian Wilder and aspiring actress Mia Dolan, who discover their romance is at odds with their artistic destinies. In addition to several other accolades, Stone won an Oscar as best actress. John Legend also stars.

“Tom Clancy's Jack Ryan”

The third season of this action thriller finds Ryan (John Krasinski) working as a CIA case officer in Rome, when he learns that the Sokol Project, a secret plan to restore the Soviet Empire, is being resurrected more than 50 years after it was thought to have been shuttered. Wendell Pierce and Michael Kelly also return; new cast members include Nina Hoss and Betty Gabriel. (ORIGINAL)

Paddy Considine

"HOUSE OF THE DRAGON: THE COMPLETE FIRST SEASON"

HBO's prequel to "Game of Thrones" proved so hugely and expectedly popular, its freshman-season finale ended up being leaked early online. The saga features Paddy Considine as a level-headed king and Matt Smith as his considerably more impulsive brother, both involved in a civil war known as the Dance of the Dragons. The big production jumps back and forth between a couple of time periods (across several centuries) that may determine the fate of the so-called Seven Kingdoms. Also included in the large cast are Emma D'Arcy, Rhys Ifans, Steve Toussaint, Eve Best, Olivia Cooke, Graham McTavish and Matthew Needham. The second season of the series is expected to begin filming early in the new year. ★★★ (Not rated: AS, N, V) (Also on Blu-ray and 4K Ultra HD)

"THE BANSHEES OF INISHERIN"

The friendship of two men, played by Colin Farrell and Brendan Gleason, comes to a sudden end as decreed by one of them during the Irish Civil War in this drama from writer-director Martin McDonagh ("Three Billboards Outside Ebbing, Missouri"). The rejected man doesn't take it well, trying to re-establish communication ... prompting the person who broke off contact to threaten a particularly vicious form of self-harm, which he proves he's fully prepared to follow through on. Kerry Condon and Barry

Keoghan also star, though the picture clearly belongs to the two central stars as the play out the intense conflict that fuels the story. DVD extras: "making-of" documentary; deleted scenes. ★★★ (R: AS, N, P, V) (Also on Blu-ray, Digital and On Demand)

"SECRET HEADQUARTERS"

Luke Wilson played an unlikely superhero on television's "DC's Stargirl," and his brother Owen is in a similar situation in this comedy-adventure. Owen's character's son (Walker Scobell) doesn't suspect his dad's alter ego, The Guard, and the related superpowers until he and some friends find the father's hidden base of operations ... leading to an eventual showdown with powerful villain Argon (Michael Pena). Though the movie was meant for a theatrical run, it received its major distribution via Paramount+; Keith L. Williams, Jesse Williams ("Grey's Anatomy") and Charles Melton also are featured. ★★★ (PG: AS, P, V) (Also on Blu-ray)

"PARADISE CITY"

Two screen icons, John Travolta and Bruce Willis, share the same movie again (as they did with "Pulp Fiction") with this action tale from genre specialist Chuck Russell ("Eraser"). Willis plays a bounty hunter thought to have been killed in Maui, drawing his son (Blake Jenner) and an associate of the latter (Stephen Dorff) to the location. There, a powerful and dangerous opponent (Travolta, in another of the villainous roles he clearly relishes) tries to ensure that they don't get the answers they're seeking. Praya Lundberg and Branscombe Richmond also appear. DVD extras: two "making-of" documentaries; audio commentary by Jenner and Russell. ★★★ (R: AS, P, V) (Also on Blu-ray, Digital and On Demand)

As a bonus for the holidays, here's a look at a couple of perennial favorites of the season.

"IT'S A WONDERFUL LIFE"

Upon its release, this Frank Capra-directed 1946 classic had a lukewarm box-office performance that gave no indication it would become as popular as it long as it has been ... its plentiful television exposure being a huge factor. James Stewart makes the perfect George Bailey, the hapless Bedford Falls citizen whose experience of seeing how life would be without him has been echoed by countless television-series episodes. Donna Reed, Lionel Barrymore and – as wing-earning angel Clarence – Henry Travers lend great support. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; "making-of" documentary. ★★★★★

celebrity scoop

BY JAY BOBBIN

(Writer's note: Though Ralphie isn't a real person, he well could be, as played by Peter Billingsley in the 1983 movie "A Christmas Story" – which will have its annual marathon Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 24 and 25, on both TBS and TNT. Here's an imagined chat with Ralphie today, as if he actually did exist ... with, be forewarned, some "Story" spoilers.)

At Christmas, many people look forward to that one special gift – but arguably no person ever wanted a particular present more than Ralphie Parker did.

From the moment his eyes met a Red Ryder air rifle that was positioned prominently in a store window for the holidays, it was just about the only thing on his mind. He daydreamed about it ... he dropped ample hints about it ... he even hid an ad for it inside one of his mother's magazines. His wish would come true, but Ralphie remembers both the ups and downs of the relentless crusade he waged back then.

"I can still hear it now: 'You'll shoot your eye out!,' " he recalls. "How could so many adults know exactly the same words to say to destroy a kid's hopes? To be honest, I thought I'd be going without what I really wanted that Christmas, until my father mentioned the one last package hidden behind the tree. When I saw it, it was so tall and long, I just knew what had to be inside the wrapping.

"And who knew it would be my father who came through in the end?" adds Ralphie. "He who cherished a leg lamp, and took strange pleasure in fighting with a furnace and a neighbor's dogs? Part of my delight that Christmas was in seeing the boy that was still inside that man, and it's a feeling I've tried to keep for myself, especially in raising my own children."

Birthdate: Circa 1935; the actual date is debatable
Birthplace: Hohman, Ind.

Current residence: Chicago ("I wanted to be someplace bigger than Hohman, but still with that midwestern feel.")

Marital status: Married with two sons ("Just like the family I was born into.")

On his memories of the Higbee's department store window display at the holidays: "Oh, you could just tell from the looks on all of our faces – pressed right up against the glass in some cases – what a big event for kids it was to see that display in its full glory. In this era of malls and big-box stores, there's just no way it could be the same ... but what a very, very special thing that was."

Farm life inspires Farm & Ranch Museum artist

BULLETIN REPORT

Growing up on a farm, Carlitta Harvey's inspiration and foundation as an artist were cultivated at an early age.

Her show, "Rural Life in New Mexico: Paintings by Carlitta Harvey," opens in the New Mexico Farm and Ranch Heritage Museum's arts corridor with a reception 1:30-3:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 17.

Admission to the reception is free, but regular admission applies to the rest of the museum, 4100 Dripping Springs Road.

Harvey began painting farm scenes when she was old enough to buy her own watercolors, the museum said in a news release.

Coming from four generations of farmers, and marrying a cattle rancher, her love of the rural life is apparent in her paintings.

As a young person, the Las Cruces artist lived on a farm and helped grow cotton, onions and other crops. She became a landscape architect, studying horticulture and healing gardens.

This knowledge allowed her to capture the character of the crops she paints and to acknowledge the benefits of green and growing plants for the health of body and soul.

Her realistic style attempts to document the beauty and abundance of the agricultural and cultural landscape of New Mexico from planting to harvest. She frequently creates her work "plein air," outdoors on site.

There are 23 paintings in the show, which will be on display through April 2, 2023.

Farm & Ranch Museum hosts Farm-La-La family event Dec. 20

The New Mexico Farm & Ranch Heritage Museum will take on a festive holiday atmosphere Tuesday, Dec. 20, for Farm-La-La, including trolley rides, marshmallow snowmen and more.

BULLETIN REPORT

Experience a fun, festive winter evening at the New Mexico Farm and Ranch Heritage Museum's (NMFRHM) Farm-La-La, 4-7 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 20, at the museum, 4100 Dripping Springs Road.

During the event, families can take trolley rides across the museum's historic bridge and around the lighted, 47-acre campus, take part in a variety of fun activities, watch children ride ponies, tour the exhibits and galleries and enjoy hot chocolate, s'mores and even ice cream, NMFRHM said in a news release.

Making marshmallow snowmen and Christmas tree ornaments will also be part of the Farm-La-La event.

Admission is $5 per family.

Pony rides for children are $5 per ride. The trolley rides and other activities are free with admission.

This celebration is part of a series of New Mexico Traditions holiday events within the New Mexico Department of Cultural Affairs' museums and historic sites.

Science Cafe deals with rocks, fluids

BULLETIN REPORT

The City of Las Cruces Museum of Nature and Science (MONAS) and Sigma Xi will present “Science Café – Nano-Petrophysical Studies for Energy and Resources Geosciences,” at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 20, via Zoom, the City of Las Cruces said in a news release.

The presenter will be (Max) QinHong Hu, Ph.D., who will join his Las Cruces audience live from the University of Texas at Arlington (UTA). For a link to the program, email education@las-cruces.org, call 575-522-3120 or go to zoom.us with webinar ID 813 5775 9108.

The research on nanopetrophysics, the study of rock properties and their interactions with fluids (gas, liquid hydrocarbons and aqueous solutions), in nanopores of tight rock formations, has been receiving much attention in emerging energy and resources geosciences, the city said. Hu’s presentation will discuss the geological and engineering applications these interactions aid, including the remediation of contaminated sites, geological repository for high-level nuclear waste, shale petroleum development, enhanced geothermal systems and underground carbon and hydrogen storage.

Hu has a bachelor’s of science degree from Zhejiang (Agricultural) University, a master’s of science from the Chinese Academy of Sciences and a Ph.D. from the University of Arizona.

Before taking his current position at UTA in 2008, Hu worked as a postdoctoral fellow, geological scientist and staff scientist at the Lawrence Berkeley and Livermore National Laboratories for 12 years.

MONAS, 411 N. Main St. downtown, is accessible from RoadRUNNER Transit Route 1 Stop 1.

Border Jazz Orchestra holiday concert Dec. 16

BULLETIN REPORT

The Border Jazz Orchestra will perform a holiday concert, "Swinin' in the Holidays," beginning at 7 p.m. Friday, Dec. 16, at Rio Grande Theatre, 211 N. Main St. downtown.

Tickets are $15. Children under age 10 will be admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

The concert will include performances of "Jingle Bells," "Yo Tannanbaum," "All I Want for Christmas is My Bass Trombone" and other holiday favorites. There will also be a special appearance by the BIG SC, the ELF.

The concert is sponsored by the Mesilla Valley Jazz and Blues Society (MVJBS). Concert proceeds will go toward the MVJBS Scholarship Fund, said MVJBS President Frank "Pancho" Romero. This past summer the society awarded seven scholarships to NMSU Jazz students to help with tuition and other educational expenses.

"There is nothing like the sound of an 18-piece big band playing Holiday music," Romero said. "This will be a memorable concert, reminiscent of the Swing Era spectaculars of the '50's and '60s.

For more information, contact Romero at mvjbस्पres@gmail.com. Visit www.mvjazzblues.net.

Holiday concert set

BULLETIN REPORT

The Young at Heart Chorus will present a free concert of Christmas and holiday songs at 2 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 22, in the Good Samaritan auditorium, 3011 Buena Vida Circle. Songs will include "Deck the Halls," "Jingle Bell Rock," "It's Beginning to Look a Lot Like Christmas," "Do You Hear What I Hear" and many more.

Young at Heart entertains residents of assisted living and nursing homes in the Las Cruces area. The group has been in continuous operation since 1972, with the name of the group, the director, piano accompanist and venues changing through the years. Currently there are about 25 members, who practice two or three times and sing at four facilities each month. Music changes monthly, selected from a large collection of old songs, generally favorites of the audience and the chorus. Programs are enhanced by varying the themes and by highlighting the talents of individual members with vocal solos or duets, group harmony and instrumental accompaniment.

Do you know how to identify a natural gas leak? You might smell sulfur or rotten eggs, you may notice dirt or debris shooting up out of a hole in the ground, dead or dying vegetation in an otherwise green area, and a loud hissing or roaring sound near pipeline markers. These and many more are all tell tale signs of a natural gas or pipeline leak. Use all your senses, even common sense and report any possible leaks to Zia Natural Gas Company. When in doubt call us out!

As always, Zia personnel are available 24/7 for all natural gas emergencies. Call (575) 526-4GAS (4427) if you have a natural gas emergency.

Welcome to Ms. Robinson's neighborhood

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

Karen Robinson has not only been making holiday joy, she has been sharing it with her Las Alturas neighbors since coming to Las Cruces in 2014.

The largest outdoor wooden Christmas ornament Robinson has made spells "JOY." Each letter is the size of a sheet of plywood, and the "O" is a nativity.

She also has done Santa's Workshop, complete with elves building toys, wrapping them and taking them to Santa's sleigh, complete with reindeer – and one elf who is playing instead of working.

She also has made wooden ornaments showing Santa and Mrs. Claus on the Santa Cycle and Santa on horseback, a snowmen and women nativity scene, a cowboy snowman and cactus Christmas tree, a Christmas train, gift-wrapped presents, a traditional nativity scene, angels, gingerbread people, giant ornaments, trees and more.

This year, she is adding a menorah and a life-size nativity.

"My brother showed me how to jigsaw, and I took off," said Robinson, a former Eddy County assessor. "I purchased patterns from Winfield Collections and made stuff."

For each item, Robinson said she cuts the pattern and assembles the pieces, primes, traces on the pattern, paints and adds a protective plastic coat.

"It takes time – weeks -- but I'm totally rewarded," she said.

"Our house was the only house on the block with lights. We kept decorating each year and adding more," Robinson said. "I had to spread the cheer. I told my husband (Billy Baker) the only way to get more decorations is to give everyone a cutout."

Robinson called together the seven women she regularly walks the neighborhood with and gave each one a cutout.

"This neighborhood, not just the walkers, but most all of the folks, meet at Christmas for dinner, this year at our house, it is wonderful. When we first arrived, it was a progressive dinner, cocktails at one house, dinner at another, desserts at yet another. We did it on Christmas Eve, most walking from house to house. Of course Covid changed us, but last year we all got our vaccines... and had (just) the dinner at our house – as it was the Christmas house after all! We are doing it again (this year).

"We are blessed to have moved here, we all know it and continue to support each other and have potlucks all during the year. People move and here we go again.

"I love this season," she said. "Christmas brings out the smiles in people, it's JOYful.

Robinson's neighbor and friend, Cynthia de Lorenzi, called the decorations "incredible," and said she has "gifted them to many of our homes as well."

You can see the decorations at homes on Angel Fire Place, Angel Fire Circle and Spirit Hunter in the Las Alturas neighborhood.

Christmas, holiday traditions have sources worldwide

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

Both history and folklore surround our many holiday traditions. Here are some of the facts and fancies.

• Santa Claus comes from Holland. Father Christmas is based on a real person, St. Nicholas, a Christian leader from Myra in modern-day Turkey in the fourth century AD. He wanted to give money to poor people without them knowing it was from him, so, one day, he climbed on the roof of a house and dropped a purse full of money down the chimney. (Another legend says one such purse landed in a sock hung by the fireplace to dry, and so was born the Christmas stocking.) Cartoonist Thomas Nast drew Santa Claus for Harper's Weekly in 1862 as a small elf-like figure who supported the Union in the Civil War. Nast continued to draw Santa for 30 years, putting him first in a tan coat and then changing it to red. Starting in 1931, Coca Cola magazine ads illustrated by Michigan native Haddon Sundblom showed Santa as a kind, jolly figure in a red suit – the Santa we still see today. Sundblom was inspired by Clement Moore's 1822 poem "A Visit from St. Nicholas," according to www.coca-colacompany.com.

• Christmas cards come from England, where the tradition started in 1840 with the first "penny post" public postal deliveries. The first known Christmas card was sent by Michael Maier to James I of England and his son, Henry Frederick, Prince of Wales, in 1611. The first commercially available Christmas card showed three generations of a family rising in a toast and was designed in London in 1843. Christmas cards began being mass produced about 1860.

• Christmas trees were first documented in Riga, Latvia in 1510. The tree is the one symbol that unites almost all northern European winter solstice traditions. Live evergreen trees were brought into homes during harsh winters to remind inhabitants that soon their crops would grow again. Christmas trees were not popular in America because they were viewed as pagan. Then, in 1846, Queen Victoria, Prince Albert and their children were sketched in the Illustrated London News standing around a Christmas tree. That made them fashionable in England and America. Christmas ornaments began arriving in the U.S. from Germany in the 1890s.

• Yule logs and mistletoe come from northern Europe where pagans celebrated the winter solstice with yule ("wheel," the pagan symbol for the sun) or yuletide festivals honoring the birth of the pagan sun god Mithras on the shortest day of the year. It was customary to light a candle to encourage Mithras and the sun to reappear each year, and huge yule logs were burned in their honor. Mistletoe was considered a sacred plant and the custom of kissing under the mistletoe began as a fertility ritual.

• Wreaths date back to the Persian Empire where they were first used as symbols of importance and victory. The evergreen circle symbolized the recurring seasons and candles represented the coming light of spring. Holly berries were thought by ancient pagans to be a food of the gods.

• Candy canes come from Germany, where in 1670 the choirmaster of the Cologne Cathedral gave his young singers sugar sticks to keep them quiet during long ceremonies. He had the sticks bent in the shape of shepherds' crooks to celebrate the Christmas season. White candy canes have been produced in the U.S. since 1847. Bob McCormack started McCormack's Candy Co. in Albany, Georgia in 1919. His Starlight Mints are still produced today. McCormack's brother-in-law, Father Gregory Harding Keller, invented machines in the 1950s to twist candy dough into spirals, cut it and shape into it a cane.

• Luminarias date back hundreds or perhaps even thousands of years and may have originated in New Mexico, which was then a part of the Republic of Mexico. They began as bonfires built to guide the faithful to Christmas mass. U.S. settlers brought Chinese lanterns from overseas in the early 19th century to hang from their doorways instead of lighting bonfires, and then began making their own small lanterns using paper bags, sand and candles. The correct term for these little lanterns is farolito.

• Reindeer come from northern Europe, but it took a poem ("A Visit from St. Nicholas") written by Clement Clarke Moore in New York in 1923 to give Santa's original eight reindeer their names. Robert L. May invented Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer as part of a Montgomery Ward promotion in 1939. His brother-in-law, Johnny Marks, wrote the song, which was first recorded by Gene Autry in 1949. It is Columbia Record's highest-selling record of all time and second only in sales to Bing Crosby's 1942 recording of Irving Berlin's "White Christmas."

• Elves were called Álfar or huldúfölk, ("hidden folk") in Norse mythology and may have first appeared in print in Louisa May Alcott's 1850 unpublished manuscript "Christmas Elves." They likely showed up for the first time in Santa's workshop on the cover of Godey's Magazine and Lady's Book 1873 Christmas edition. The monthly women's magazine was published in Philadelphia 1830-78.

• Holiday gift giving began with the Roman celebration of Saturnalia when people exchanged lucky fruit gifts as part of a winter feast. When the Christmas tree became popular, small toys were tied to its branches.

• Snowmen date to the Middle Ages if not earlier. One legend says the first American snowman was built by Vernon Paul and his 9-year-old daughter, Yetty (no apparent connection to the abominable snowman), in Eau Claire, Wisconsin Jan. 7, 1809. There are apparently illustrations of snowmen in books dating from the late 14th century. "Frosty the Snowman" is a Christmas song written by Walter "Jack" Rollins and Steve Nelson. It was first recorded by Gene Autry and the Cass County Boys in 1950.

• Poinsettias are native to Central America. The name comes from Joel Roberts Poinsett (1779-1851), an amateur botanist who is credited with introducing the plant to the U.S. while he was serving as the first U.S. minister to Mexico, 1825-29. The plant is called Flor de Nochebuena (Christmas Eve flower), or Catarina, in Mexico.

Region's tallest menorah to be lit Dec. 18 Downtown

BULLETIN REPORT

Chabad of Las Cruces' 13th annual Mega Chanukah Celebration begins at 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 18, at Plaza de Las Cruces, 100 S. Main St. Downtown. The high point, both literally and figuratively, will be the lighting of an 18-foot menorah by U.S. Congressman-elect Gabriel Vasquez of Las Cruces.

The menorah, the tallest one in the Southwest, depicts the Organ Mountains.

The event, which is free and open to the public, will include a live performance by Mariachi Jalisciense, live train rides throughout the plaza, extreme rides and inflatable for all ages, crafts, face painting, games and a balloon artist for children. Every child will receive a free Chanukah T-shirt. Odd-Lab fire jugglers will also be part of the event.

There will be other giveaways and a Chanukah pop-up shop with candles, menorahs and gifts for the holiday. There also will be four flavors of gourmet latkes with toppings (including corned beef, pastrami and other toppings), sufganiot (traditional fried donuts) and other goodies.

This year's chocolate gelt drop, featuring glow-in-the-dark parachutes, will be done from the top of the Las Cruces Fire Department's mega ladder.

Mega Chanukah is a project of Chabad Jewish Center of Las Cruces, funded with a grant from Jewish El Paso.

Call 575-524-1330. Visit www.chabadlc.org.

Children from the Chabad of Las Cruces participate in a menorah-making workshop held Dec. 4 at Home Depot.

Arrowhead receives $1.2 million grant

BULLETIN REPORT

New Mexico State University's Arrowhead Center has been awarded a $1.2 million grant from the Economic Development Administration (EDA) of the U.S. Department of Commerce, NMSU said in a news release.

The grant is awarded annually as part of the EDA's Build to Scale program. The 2022 program was comprised of two competitions: the Venture Challenge and the Capital Challenge. Arrowhead Center competed under the Venture Challenge, which focuses on accelerating technology innovation and entrepreneurship growth by increasing inclusive access to entrepreneurial support and start-up capital.

As one of 32 recipients of the Venture Challenge award, Arrowhead Center proposed Scale Up New Mexico, a new project that will expand on its proven early-stage entrepreneurial services and initiatives, and involve collaboration with Sandia National Laboratories and the New Mexico Start Up Factory, the news release said.

With the grant, Scale Up New Mexico will be a three-year long project aiming to serve the entire state, NMSU said. This project will provide accessible, customized support to New Mexico startups, focused on the specific needs of each sub-region identified by the New Mexico Economic Development Department.

Fourtwenty Collections Dispensary has Dec. 17 grand opening

BULLETIN REPORT

A grand opening for Fourtwenty Collections Dispensary will be held noon-4 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 17, at 2215 S. Main St., suite A.

A ribbon cutting will be held at noon. DJ Tommy Black will be the event emcee, with a live performance by Kurupt, 2-3 p.m.

Fourtwenty Collections is an Arizona-based cannabis company consisting of CBD skincare, THC and CBD-infused edibles and a fashion line for men and women, the company said in a news release.

It recently secured a manufacturing, cultivation and retail license in the New Mexico.

Founded by Marvinna Thomas, Fourtwenty Collections is a, black female- and minority-owned cannabis company, making it one of less than 20 percent of all women-owned cannabis businesses in the United States and one of less than two percent owned by black entrepreneurs, the news release said.

The dispensary will be the first in Las Cruces owned and managed by a team of BIPOC (black, indigenous and people of color) women in Las Cruces, the company said.

Fourtwenty Collections' president is Parisa Rad, who was named one of the most influential women in the industry by Women & Weed Magazine. Rad is a New Mexico native and New Mexico State University graduate. Rad and Thomas lead a team of 15 employees, all of whom are minority and/or women.

"Our goal is to provide opportunities to people in underrepresented communities," Rad said. "Whether that is employing them at Fourtwenty Collections, or providing a safe haven for them at Start Living, our purpose and mission is much larger than just producing cannabis."

The new Fourtwenty Collections boutique is in a new 6,000-square-foot multi-use facility in Las Cruces. It will be open 9 a.m.-10 p.m. seven days a week.

The company began in 2016 after Thomas launched Fourtwenty Skincare with handmade CBD-infused soap.

Home prices still hold strong in the fall season

By STEVE MONTANEZ
For the Las Cruces Bulletin

In the Real Estate world, the fall and holiday months tend to slow down.

This year, Las Cruces saw this trend even more than previous years. Prices are beginning to stabilize in anticipation of the soon to come spring season.

Our economic outlook is also encouraging more buyers to move forward with their homebuying aspirations.

Interest rates are seeing a drop, giving much relief to homebuyers.

And more homes are coming on the market, providing more competitive prices and more buyer options.

November stats showed optimism to both buyers and sellers.

While we saw a month-over-month drop in sold prices; the median price is still performing very well, giving sellers top dollar for their homes.

Expect longer days on market this holiday season, as well as one or more price drops and more favorable negotiations for buyers.

Southern New Mexico is still performing well and it's still a great time to be a homeowner.

It's truly been an honor bringing this monthly report to you in 2022. Happy Holidays to all of you in the Mesilla Valley.

New firm coming to ST

BULLETIN REPORT

Pedraza Customhouse Brokers, a customs brokerage firm based in El Paso with more 30 years of experience worldwide, will occupy 8,000 square feet of existing space along the high-demand industrial corridor on Airport Road, adjacent to the Doña Ana County International Jetport in Santa Teresa, New Mexico Partnership (NMP) said in a November news release.

Pedraza's new Santa Teresa location "will be the company's first location outside of their home state and the firm's reputation for helping some of the largest importers in the U.S. navigate NAFTA means they will play a pivotal role in advancing hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of global commerce," NMP said.

In addition to the El Paso location, Pedraza also has offices in Laredo, Texas.

The firm was founded in 1989 and is "a full-service national customs brokerage focused on ports of trade between the U.S. and Mexico/Latin America," the news release said.

"We are very excited to be opening a warehouse in Santa Teresa," Pedraza CHB Vice President Mary Frances Allen said. "We foresee maintained growth at the Santa Teresa Port of Entry and with it a stronger need for our customs brokerage and warehousing capabilities."

staff members across four offices across three states: Las Cruces, Albuquerque, Tucson and El Paso.

In the firm's efforts to support students who wish to pursue a career in accounting, Beasley, Mitchell & Co. continues to support the accounting programs at New Mexico State University and the University of Texas-El Paso. In addition to the endowed scholarship at New Mexico State, the firm annually hires 18 interns from both colleges. The internship program has a pathway to join the firm as a long-term employee.

Don and Paul's vision, legacy, and passion continues to live within the firm today. According to the release, the Beasley, Mitchell & Co. team continues to provide quality client services in assurance, taxation, business valuations, IT consulting, and business accounting in a variety of industries including construction, transportation, dealerships, agriculture, real estate, government, non-profit, and many more.

In the release, the firm expressed recognition to all of its employees who have put forth the effort to make the firm what it is today.

"Thanks to your dedication and passion, we continue to serve our clients," the release said. "We truly appreciate our clients who trust and believe in our services and our mission. Beasley, Mitchell & Co. is grateful for all the support our community has provided."

Your trash and recycling containers likely feel the increase in waste during the holidays. From food waste on Thanksgiving to a sea of wrapping paper and cardboard boxes that swallowed your living room after the presents are open, more trash is generated during December than at other time of year. If you want to continue your recycling habits during even the most hectic weeks, consider some tips from South Central Solid Waste Authority.

Don't take a Holiday from Recycling Right

While the amount of waste created increases during the holiday season, so does the amount of non-recyclable items in the recycling stream. This contamination can be avoided by keeping the holiday recycling misfits out of the bin: strings of lights; metallic, glossy, and glittery wrapping paper;

Ways to Create Less Waste During the Holidays

Submitted by South Central Solid Waste Authority

For this holiday season and for the future:

Make Memories not Trash!

ribbons, bows, and twine; packing peanuts and Styrofoam; tissue paper; and plastic bags.

Material that can be recycled – like cardboard and dense plastics – must be clean, empty, dry, and loose. Do not bag items before placing them in the bin.

Reduce Food Waste

Going from regular meal planning to planning to cook for parties can be daunting and hard to measure precisely. However, food waste that heads to landfills can create methane that damages the environment. Consider asking guests to bring glass containers to take home food or do a food exchange with neighbors.

Reuse Bags and Boxes

Keep old gift bags and boxes from last year and exchange them with friends and family. Their extended community won't recognize your bags, and your in-laws won't get the same bag back to them. Scavenge for packaging around your home, like cereal boxes, to wrap items that are hard to wrap, like clothes.

South Central Solid Waste Authority manages recyclables and solid waste for residents and businesses throughout Doña Ana County. Contact SCSWA at (575) 528-3800 or visit www.SCSWA.net.

Who's Who group selects Mary Garza

BULLETIN REPORT

Mary A. Garza was recently included in Marquis Who's Who. As in all Marquis Who's Who biographical volumes, individuals profiled are selected on the basis of current reference value. Factors such as position, noteworthy accomplishments, visibility and prominence in a field are all taken into account during the selection process.

With more than 40 years' experience supplying maintenance and construction services for overhead and underground electrical utility distribution systems and industrial electrical construction and maintenance, Mary Garza found success as the leader of her company. She served as chief executive officer for Solar Electric Company, Inc. since 1970. She has focused her efforts on overseeing the staff, ensuring the business is running smoothly and are supplying the best possible service to their clients.

Outside of her primary career efforts, Garza served as a member of the Small Business Association, the Las Cruces Hispanic Chamber of Commerce, the National Contract Management Association and the Small Business Administration Advisory Council. She is a charter member of her local Better Business Bureau and served on the Board of Trustees of Memorial Medical Center. As a member of the LCHCC, she also served as first vice president and formerly served as president of the Santa Fe Democratic Women's Club.

In recognition of her excellent work, she was honored with the U.S. Hispanic Business Woman of the Year Award in 1993 and was named Supplier of the Year by Rio Grande Minority Purchasing in 1994. She was listed in the list of New Mexico's Top 25 Women-Owned Businesses in 1995 and was named Employee of the Year. She also received the U.S. Small Business Administration Award of Excellence three times and Business of the Year from the U.S. Hispanic Chamber of Commerce. Additionally, she was recognized with the Public Service Company of NM Entrepreneurial Leadership Award in 2001 and the Public Service Company of New Mexico Entrepreneurial Leadership Award in 2002.

Within the coming years, Garza intends to continue her work and helping her employees support their families. She owes much of her success to her employees and colleagues, recognizing they work collaboratively to care for each other. She strives to provide them with all the resources they need to do their jobs effectively, including insurance, uniforms and bonuses for their dedicated work.

Las Cruces getting Salata restaurant

BULLETIN REPORT

Las Cruces will soon have a new restaurant.

Houston-based Salata Salad Kitchen plans to open a Las Cruces restaurant in the near future. All Points Public Relations Associate Lillian Broad said in an email to the Bulletin.

Salata, which has more than 80 locations nationwide, features built-to-order salads and wraps, Broad said.

The restaurant's main goal "isn't to help customers lose weight or achieve a health goal, but to make healthy eating more accessible by providing familiar fresh ingredients, delicious homemade dressings and a welcoming environment," she said.

The Salata concept was started by two immigrant brothers-in-law in the downtown Houston tunnels before growing strategically with franchise partners in Texas, Georgia, Southern California, Louisiana and North Carolina. The restaurant's food is "designed to be for everyone, Broad said, with no complex or intimidating ingredients among its 50-plus toppings."

ECG employees community-minded

BULLETIN REPORT

Earlier this year, Electronic Caregiver (ECG) started a volunteer program at ECG in which the company provides employees with opportunities each month to volunteer with various organizations in the community.

ECG gives employees 40 hours of paid volunteer time each year, allowing them to take time off during the work week to devote to a good cause, ECG said.

In November and December, for example, ECG employees spent a day helping to construct a home on Aurora Star Court for Mesilla Valley Habitat for Humanity (MVHH) and assisted Toys for Tots of Las Cruces in sorting donations that will be Christmas presents for children in need.

"Volunteers from Electronic Caregiver brought cheer to the Toys for Tots warehouse (Dec. 5), said Toys for Tots coordinator Patty Groth. "They distributed toys to many schools in our county and got a taste of shopping for large quantities of toys! We look forward to having them volunteer again!"

"These mission-minded volunteers who selflessly and willingly chose to collaborate with us are vital to our production on-site and our ability to further our impact here in our community," said MVHH Executive Director April Estrada. "Community collaboration is key for all our non-profits to be of service to our community members. We are truly thankful for every volunteer."

ECG is a digital health technology and services company with offices in the Electronic Caregiver Tower, 506 S. Main St.

ASCMV set to open Dec. 27

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

The new Animal Services Center of the Mesilla Valley (ASCMV) should reach substantial completion and open its doors to the public Tuesday, Dec. 27, ASCMV Executive Director Clint Thacker said.

City of Las Cruces voters overwhelmingly approved a general obligation bond question in 2018 that allocated $11 million to build the new center, along with two one-acre dog parks, one next to ASCMV on Bataan Memorial West and the other at Burn Lake.

Thacker said the existing ASCMV building will be used as an animal medical facility, while the new center will handle intakes and adoptions. Of the 18,000 square feet in the new building, Thacker said 13,000 is devoted to animals and animal care.

In October, Thacker said more than 800 animals were brought ASCMV. He said 56 percent were brought by City of Las Cruces and Doña Ana County animal control and the other 44 percent by members of the public, including owner surrenders and stray cats and dogs.

BERNIE

Pawliday Sleepover

ASCMV's pet foster program, Pawliday Sleepover, began in November and continues Dec. 22-26 (Christmas Pawliday Sleepover) and Dec. 29-Jan. 2, 2023 (New Year Pawliday Sleepover), as the center seeks families and individuals to provide a safe environment for a homeless pet while they await their forever home.

To sign up, visit <https://> ascmv.org/adoptable-animals/ to see adoptable animals. A hard copy of the list is available at the ASCMV front desk. Complete a foster sleepover application at ASCMV or online at <https://form.jotform.com/223196093285158>, which also must be signed by ASCMV Foster Coordinator Vanessa Chastain. Make an appointment with Chastain to pick up your foster for the sleepover period. There is no charge to foster an ASCMV animal, and the animal's food is provided for the foster period.

Contact Chastain at vchastain@las-cruces.org for more information.

Donations

To find out ASCMV's greatest needs and donate, visit <https://ascmv.org/ascmv-donations/> and click on one or more of the center's five amazon.com wish lists. You can also make a cash donation on that page.

ASCMV grant writer Elaine Stachera Simon said the center needs heating pads for puppies and kittens, Miracle Nipple for newborns, dog treats and dog leashes.

"There are so many ways to help animals," Thacker said.

The mailing address is ASCMV 3551 Bataan Memorial West, Las Cruces, N.M. 88012.

Hours and contact information

ASCMV, 3551 Bataan Memorial West, is open 8 a.m.-6 p.m. Monday-Friday and 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

The center is open for adoptions noon-6 p.m. Monday-Friday and noon-5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Lost and found tours are noon-5 p.m. every day.

Call ASCMV at 575-382-0018. Visit <https://ascmv.org/> and www.facebook.com/ASCMV and find them on Instagram at Animal Services Center of the Mesilla Valley.

New dog park opens

BULLETIN REPORT

Las Cruces' newest dog park is open, the City of Las Cruces said in a news release.

Burn Lake Dog Park, 1855 W. Amador Ave., opened in November. The 36,775 square-foot dog park cost $399,492 and was paid for through general obligation (GO) bonds approved in August 2018 by Las Cruces voters. Burn Lake Dog Park amenities include separate large and small dog play areas, shade structures, water fountains with doggie bowls, benches, receptacles, doggie bag boxes, play elements and trees and landscaping.

The city's Rinconada Dog Park is expected to open in December, the city said. It will be adjacent to the new Animal Services Center of the Mesilla Valley.

When the Rinconada Dog Park opens, Las Cruces will have three public parks whose amenities are focused on dogs, the city said. Las Cruces Dog Park, 430 N. Hermosa St., the city's first dog park, opened in May 2009.

ACTion Programs for Animals has half-off adoptions

ACTion Programs for Animals' (APA) Home 4 the Holidays adoption special began in November and continues through Jan. 1, 2023, APA said in a news release.

During the special all adoptions except for those of small dogs, are 50 percent off, APA said.

"We ask community members to come visit us when they are ready to add a new furry member to their families," said APA Executive Director Michel Meunier. "We always have kittens, cats and adult dogs ready for a home. Most of our dogs are trained at our P.A.W.S. (Prisoners and Animals Working Toward Success) program. Adopting from us helps us save more lives. When you adopt from APA, you open up a spot for us to rescue the next animal from the Animal Services Center of the Mesilla Valley, and we focus on pulling the longest-term animals from the shelter." Visit the APA adoption center, 537 N. Solano Drive, 11 a.m.-3 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, or call 575-571-4654 to schedule an appointment. (APA will be closed Thanksgiving Day.)

Adoptable animals may also be viewed at apalascruces.org.

APA is a progressive animal welfare organization seeking to improve the quality of life for companion animals in Doña Ana County and greatly reduce the number of unwanted animals impounded and euthanized at the municipal shelter as well as keep people and their pets together. Since May 2012, APA has rescued more than 5,500 animals. The majority of these have been dogs and cats/kittens pulled from the municipal shelter. Seven New Mexico State University Aggies, including cornerback Syrus Dumas, above, were named to the College Football Network's All-Independent Team. The other first-team Aggies were quarterback Diego Pavia, linebacker Chris Ojoh and special teamer Jayvhion Gipson. Aggies named to the second team were wide receiver Kordell David, center Canaan Yarro, and safety Bryce Jackson. The Aggies will play Bowling Green in the Quick Lane Bowl in Detroit Dec. 26.

Aggie bowl game tickets still available

BULLETIN REPORT

Buying Quick Lane Bowl game tickets through the NM State ticket office directly benefits NM State Athletics by offsetting expenses associated with the bowl game. While tickets may be available through other websites or other buying avenues, buying through the NM State box office supports the athletic department and allows ticketholders to sit and enjoy the game with other Aggie fans in designated sections.

Tickets are priced at $89, and there is no limit to the number of tickets fans may order.

To purchase tickets for the 2022 Quick Lane Bowl, visit the NM State box office located on the north end of the Pan American Center Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. or call 575-646-1420.

Fans looking to purchase official NM State Quick Lane Bowl gear can visit Sports Accessories at 250 N. Solano Drive.

Apply your other life successes to your golf game

It is very often difficult for highly successful business and professional people to apply to golf the same basic emotional and thinking skills that made them successful to begin with.

High-powered folks sometimes get impatient and expect things will come automatically for them. Then it's frustrating when it doesn't happen. At times ego gets in the way. I've noticed there's a tendency for ego-driven individuals to think golf should be easy and that it should be fair.

Neither of those beliefs are true or realistic.

I suggest we erase the "should" from our minds, and understand golf takes the same amount of patience, practice and devotion as did medical school or the rise to the top of the corporation. To be sure, the golf swing and the game itself are particularly difficult things to learn and accomplish with any measure of real mastery.

All successful people have set specific goals with high standards for themselves. They set themselves on a path they believe will take them where they want to go. In order to experience a quantum leap in improvement of your golf game (or even to simply learn the game, for that matter), it means doing essentially the same thing: create measurable goals and a game plan. High achievers overcome one challenge at a time, with uncommon focus and commitment. That same discipline and dedication to excellence will carry you a long way as a golfer.

Before I retired several years ago I was a licensed clinical psychologist and a certified executive coach.

CHARLIE BLANCHARD
Golf Doctor

My coaching clients included CEOs, managers, professionals and key managers, who desired to perform better and advance higher as leaders and managers.

Usually where I started the conversation was asking "what do you want to happen?" This prevented getting stuck in the complaints about wanting other people to change. These complaints often took this form: "Well I work for a jerk and he just needs to respect my work and my effort more." (This theme is also common in marriage counseling.)

You can't change the other person.

Nor can you change the golf course.

Note that two of the three original rules of golf, settled on by the Scots hundreds of years ago, were: Play the course as you find it; and play the ball as it lies. Incidentally, the third rule was "do what's fair."

That's an interesting business premise, isn't it?

Now, since you can't change your boss or your peers, I guess you must change yourself in one way or another for things to improve. Which is what personal coaching helps you do. How do you get better? Don't look at the golf course. Don't count on your opponents to collapse. Don't think a new driver is the answer.

Improve yourself. Get coaching. Take lessons. Read. Practice. Raise the bar. Isn't this how you've made it in business or your profession?

To some, this may be a minor thing, but how we dress says a lot about our character. If you're a physician or an attorney or a salesperson or a banker, you probably dress appropriately, according to your professional role.

When we set foot on the golf course we should wear golf attire: neat, appropriate apparel that is befitting a round of golf. I like what PGA tour veteran Tom Lehman says about how he dresses: "I dress nice. When I dress nice, I feel good. When I feel good I play good. When I play good I make lots of money." It's "dress for success" applied to golf.

Finally, let's talk about behavior on the golf course. For some reason, grown men think the standards of civility go out the window once they get out of the office and out playing golf. Oh, contraire. Golf is a sport for gentleman and ladies. Our actions should reflect how conscientiously we play, how we treat others, how we care for the golfing grounds, and how we approach the game. These behaviors should reflect a deep appreciation of the traditions of the game.

How we act reflects who we are. Remember, politeness is the easiest way to make friends.

Victory eludes NM State in rematch

BULLETIN REPORT

The New Mexico State University Aggie women's basketball team is 3-7 on the season after a difficult 57-52 loss against the University of Texas-El Paso Miner basketball team Dec. 13 in the Pan American Center.

It was their second straight narrow defeat against a rival school. The Aggies fell Dec. 11 to the University of New Mexico 65-64 in Albuquerque.

And while NMSU has lost six of its last seven games, every game in that stretch has been decided by single digits.

NMSU led the Miners at halftime 31-27 before UTEP's shooting got hot in the second half and the Aggies went cold.

Molly Kaiser of NMSU led all scorers with 18 points, while the team's second-leading scorer on the season, Sylena Peterson, was out with an illness.

NMSU will be on the road to play Portland State Saturday, Dec. 17.

The Aggie women's next home game will be at noon Tuesday, Dec. 20, when they host Northern New Mexico in the Pan Am.

Saturday, Dec. 31, the Pan Am will host a rare men's and women's WAC doubleheader for New Year's Eve.

The women top off against WAC foe Southern Utah in 1 p.m. game, followed at 4 p.m. with the Aggie men's game against Sam Houston.

Zia soccer dresses for success

SPECIAL TO THE BULLETIN

The idea started out as a humble gesture to get 14 eighth-grade soccer players to feel a little more confident about themselves. Two days later, the boys' soccer team at Zia Middle School all dressed out in shirts and ties before playing Lynn Middle School.

"I wanted them to know they're not only representing Zia Middle School, but they're also representing the best version of themselves," said Zia athletic director and assistant principal Emanuel Hernandez. "Wearing a shirt and tie is a life skill they can carry with them – for job interviews, special occasions, or just when they want to look their best. Some of these boys are the men in their house, so we wanted to help teach them that."

Hernandez, along with head coach Joseph Lincecum and assistant coach Robert Torres, made a request on social media to get shirts and ties donated to the team, instead of burdening parents with one more thing to buy. The post explained that Hernandez, Lincecum and Torres, all wearing shirts and ties themselves, wanted to ask athletes to dress up on game days to demonstrate professionalism and pride in their team.

"I'm asking if anyone would like to donate button shirts and neck ties," the post read. "Sizes range from adult small to adult extra-large."

The donations poured in. Within 24 hours, the team had all but three shirts. A few hours later, the shirt request was also fulfilled.

"I feel good," said 13-year-old E.J., who plays defense for the team. "Before this, I had never won a tie, but I feel good."

"We try to build community here at Zia, and this is part of it," said Lincecum, standing in front his well-dressed team. He was showing E.J. how to make a perfect knot in his tie. "We want to build space for each other, be a team, and know that we can depend on each other."

"We respect it," said Phoenix, 13, the goalie for the team.

Hernandez says he hopes to take his best-dressed team a step further.

"It would be nice to get slacks," he laughed.

Aggie men host Northern Sunday

New Mexico State University's men's basketball team headed into a Dec. 14 game against St. Mary's with a 5-3 record. That game ended after the Bulletin press time, but the Aggies' last home game before Christmas will be 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 18, against Northern New Mexico.
