BIA meets with governor

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

“Our Border Economic Development Day in Santa Fe went really well,” Border Industrial Association (BIA) President Jerry Pacheco of Santa Teresa told the Bulletin.

Pacheco, Doña Ana County Manager Fernando Macias, Luna County Manager Chris Brice and others met with Gov. Michelle Lujan Grisham Jan. 20 at the governor’s office in Santa Fe.

“Our legislative reception (Jan. 19) was well attended by legislators from both sides of the aisle,” Pacheco said. This event gives us face-to-face time with these policymakers to let them know what is going on at the border.

“(Jan. 20), we went to the capitol to meet with the governor,” he said. “We talked to her about our developments and stressed the need for ongoing infrastructure funds ... She expressed her continued support for what we are doing.

“Also on Friday, we had a luncheon with the State Land Commissioner (Stephanie Garcia Richard) as our featured speaker. The Land Office owns land in Santa Teresa, particularly the land on which the Santa Teresa Jetport’s cross-runway will be built,” Pacheco said.

“We had about 60 BIA members accompany us ... It was a successful event for the border.”

You might smell sulfur or rotten eggs, you may notice dirt or debris shooting up out of a hole in the ground, dead or dying vegetation in an otherwise green area, and a loud hissing or roaring sound near pipeline markers. These and many more are all tell tale signs of a natural gas or pipeline leak. Use all your senses, even common sense and report any possible leaks to Zia Natural Gas Company. BULLETIN REPORT

The New Mexico Department of Transportation began a roadway rehabilitation project on U.S. Highway 70 Jan. 23, the City of Las Cruces said in a news release. The $7.2 million project will stretch from U.S. 70 milepost 143, the Interstate 10 and U.S. 70 interchange, to milepost 161 at Organ. County offers Valentine weddings

BULLETIN REPORT

“Romance at the Rotunda” is the event’s title, as the Doña Ana County Clerk’s Office and county Probate Judge’s Office partner to perform marriages Tuesday, Feb. 14 (Valentine’s Day), at the Doña Ana County Government Center, 845 N. Motel Blvd., the clerk’s office said in a news release.

“Both offices take pride in conducting the public service of performing marriages and recording marriage licenses,” the county said. For couples getting married on Valentine’s Day, here are the steps:

- Complete the online marriage application form at donaana.nm.publicsearch.us/. You will receive a transaction number, which you should keep. Marriage licenses are issued by appointment only. Appointments for Feb. 14 are filling up quickly, the clerk’s office said, so applicants should complete the form soon. Couples who want to get married Feb. 14 but do not want to participate in the Romance at the Rotunda event must also make an appointment to acquire a marriage license prior to their ceremony.

- Call the clerk’s office at 575-647-7421 to schedule an appointment to complete the application process. For Romance in the Rotunda, you will need to schedule a ceremony time slot in addition to scheduling the marriage application appointment. Give the clerk the transaction number from Step 1 above. Both applicants must attend the appointment in person at the clerk’s office to finalize the marriage application.

- On Feb. 14, arrive outside of room 113 a half hour minutes before the scheduled ceremony time to check-in.

- Bring your marriage license with you. Other items you may wish to bring include floral bouquet(s), a veil, ring(s), vows and a camera.

- After the ceremony, return the signed marriage license to the check-in table for recording and filing by the clerk’s office.

Couples who miss the opportunity to sign up for a Feb. 14 ceremony time slot or are late can participate in a collective wedding ceremony with multiple couples at 4 p.m. Feb. 14 at the county government center. Couples must complete the marriage application and receive their blank marriage license prior to 3:30 p.m. Feb. 14 or participate.

The cost of a marriage license is $25. There is no charge for the Romance at the Rotunda ceremony.

For more information, contact the clerk’s office at 575-647-7421. Visit donaana-county.org/departments/elected-officials/clerk.

Celebrating NMSU's underdogs

At its best, sports can provide lessons to help us in life.

At the New Mexico State University football celebration Jan. 21 Downtown at Plaza de Las Cruces, Aggie Coach Jerry Kill called his team a great example for any person or group who is down, but not yet out.

In a collaborative event between NMSU and the City of Las Cruces, hundreds of fans showed up to celebrate the team's December Quick Lane Bowl championship. Fans heard from Las Cruces Mayor Ken Miyagishima, NMSU

Chancellor Dan Arvizu, Aggie Athletic Director Mario Moccia and others before Kill took the microphone.

RICHARD COLTHARP
From the Publisher

“This team started off the season zero and four,” Kill said. “A lot of us in our lives have been zero and four. You’ve been there. I’ve been there. But this team didn’t stay there.”

Indeed, they didn’t. The Aggies’ fourth game of the season was a 66-7 blowout defeat in a road game at the University of Wisconsin. They returned home a week later for their first victory, beating Hawaii 45-26. But then they lost again, falling 21-7 in a close home game Oct. 1 against Florida International to drop to 1-5.

What better way to right the ship, though, than defeating an arch-rival at home, which is what the Aggies did Oct. 15, beating the University of New Mexico Lobos, 21-9. From there, NMSU went 5-1, culminating the season with a 24-19 win over Bowling Green in Detroit at the Quick Lane Bowl, and finishing 7-6 on the year.

“This group of young men came from all different backgrounds,” Kill told the Plaza crowd. “They came from all different races. All different beliefs. But they came together to accomplish this mission. I wish our damn country could learn that lesson.”

From where I was standing, that line drew the biggest applause from a crowd that was loudly cheering from the start of the event to the finish. I thought it was a great line, too, and demonstrates Kill’s straightforward, focus-on-what-really-matters approach.

Another big crowd-pleaser was the team singing the Aggie fight song.

For much of the event, the Local lawmakers claim greater power

Three years ago, none of the committees in the New Mexico House of Representatives were chaired by a member from Las Cruces. This year, our representatives lead three committees, including the one that writes the budget.

Nathan Small was elevated from vice-chair to chairman of the House Appropriations and Finance Committee, which is charged with writing the first draft of the state budget each year. Other changes included local Reps. Doreen Gallegos taking over as chair of the Commerce and Economic Development Committee and Joanne Ferrary taking over the Consumer and Public Affairs Committee. Gallegos had earlier been moved out of her position as majority whip.

On the Senate side of the Roundhouse there are two more Las Cruces. Joseph Cervantes returns as chairman of Judiciary, and Bill Soules as chairman of the Education Committee.

The committees are where the work gets done in the New Mexico Legislature. Some bills are weeded out immediately. Others are amended or rolled into companion bills. The vast majority of bills introduced each year never make it out of committee, and almost nothing makes it through without changes.

The two most important committees are Finance and Judiciary. Every bill dealing with money goes through Finance; every bill dealing with law goes through Judiciary. The fact Las Cruces now has chairmen heading those committees in both the House and the Senate is a big deal.

That’s especially true given the lack of representation Las Cruces specifically, and southern New Mexico in general, has had throughout the remainder of state government. Gov. Michelle Lujan Grisham has consistently shown a bias toward her Albuquerque home, and her new home of Santa Fe, when selecting for positions that do not have specific geographic requirements.

WALT RUBEL
The View From Here

Las Cruces Karen Trujillo, as education secretary for six months, and Bill McCamley, as workforce secretary for two years, each had stints in the governor’s cabinet during her first term. Las Cruces Jeff Witte remains on the cabinet as agriculture secretary, but that position is constitutionally mandated to be based at New Mexico State University. Lt. Gov. Howie Morales is from Silver City, but he was elected by the voters, not appointed by the governor.

No judges or attorneys from Las Cruces have been appointed by Lujan Grisham to the Appeals Courts or the Supreme Court.

The new members of the now-appointed Public Regulations Commission include one from Albuquerque, one who was raised in southern New Mexico but has been living in Washington, D.C., and one who came to the Legislature from Clayton but has been working in Santa Fe.

The fact we are four hours from the state capital means we will always be at a geographic disadvantage.

Governors typically only come down here for disasters and photo ops. And so, we need to look to the Legislature to make sure our interests are not being ignored.

Walter Rubel is a freelance journalist based in Las Cruces. His 40-plus-year career includes work in Colorado, Wyoming, Kansas and—since 2002—in New Mexico, covering Las Cruces and the state Legislature. His opinions are his own and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Las Cruces Bulletin. Rubel can be reached at waltrubel@gmail.com.

football players sat in chairs on the Plaza just below the stage. But at the end of his remarks, Kill brought one of the team captains forward, and he queued the Aggies, now all standing, to sing ... “Aggies, oh Aggies, the hills send back the cry ...” The players knew all the words and enjoyed singing the song more than many longtime Aggie supporters.

This Aggie team reflects its coach in a number of ways.

Kill’s always been a bit of an underdog. He’s a little, unassuming guy with a hint of country in his accent, left over from growing up in Kansas. His health struggles with epilepsy are well documented, but he keeps coming back, and he keeps winning.

He’s also very unpretentious. He’s just who he is.

After the Aggies beat the Lobos, a fan gave Kill a big, Southwestern style poncho, not unlike the one Clint Eastwood wore in “The Good, the Bad, and the Ugly.” Kinda cool, but also kinda gaudy.

Kill has worn it proudly since, particularly to fight the chill in Detroit during the Quick Lane Bowl visit.

Kill, his coaches and his players have learned it doesn’t matter how you look or what people think of you.

If you work hard and give it your best effort, you’re not guaranteed victory.

But you’ll almost always be in the game.

Learn to Compost with NMSUCCESS

Submitted by South Central Solid Waste Authority

Every mountain of trash has a huge portion of food waste. While the South Central Solid Waste Authority’s (SCSWA) mission is the safe disposal of trash, it must also work to mitigate the effects of decaying food waste, which usually means the production of methane that comes from landfills. Landfills produce the third largest methane emissions in the United States, according to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). Methane’s presence in the atmosphere affects Earth’s temperature and climate, and per the EPA, food is the single largest category of material placed in municipal landfills.

SCSWA diverts methane produced at the Corralitos Landfill through pipes running throughout the landfill and processes it into energy to power the diversion system.

“We encourage residents to reduce their food waste before it hits our landfills,” said Patrick Peck, SCSWA executive director. “Sometimes taking steps toward reduction include education, something New Mexico State University [NMSU] is providing free to the public.” NMSU’s Climate Change Education Seminar Series, called NMSUCCESS, will host an online webinar titled “Saving Water, Improving Soil Health, Sequestering Carbon” on Wednesday, Feb 1, 2023, at 7 PM.

The guest speaker is Robert Reed, spokesman for Recology, an employee-owned resource recovery company based in San Francisco. Recology’s business model is recycling, and Reed is part of a team that implemented San Francisco’s pioneering curbside composting program in 1996, inspiring residents and businesses to compost all food scraps.

“Reed was featured in the film ‘Kiss the Ground,’ which we watched in an NMSU Honors College climate class that I, along with a group of faculty, collaboratively teach. Students in the class recommended that we invite Reed for the NMSUCCESS series,” said Dr.

The City of Las Cruces compost piles at the Foothills Landfill Composting Facility, available free to the public.

Eric Magrane, NMSU Department of Geography and Environmental Studies assistant professor.

“We are excited that he will be speaking on daily practices of living, including what we do with food and waste and how we can contribute to building a more healthy and sustainable climate future,” said Magrane. “Maybe the curbside collection programs for compost that Reed will speak about can help inspire programs like this for Las Cruces or NMSU.”

Registration for the Zoom webinar can be done here: www.tinyurl.com/nmsuccess-compost

Las Cruces earns high marks for filmmaking environment

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

“I have been in awe of the rapid growth of the film industry in Las Cruces in recent years,” said Albuquerque filmmaker Keagan Karnes, who grew up in Las Cruces, and was responding to the recent announcement Las Cruces has been named one of the “best places to live and work as a moviemaker.”

MovieMaker magazine placed Las Cruces at No. 7 on its list of the best small cities and towns for movie-makers.

“Just wait ... No. 1 on that list soon,” said Doña Ana Community College Arts Department (which includes the Creative Media Technology program) Head Matt Byrnes.

“Because of the incredible efforts of Film Las Cruces with Jonathan Sepp at the helm, Las Cruces is finally being recognized as one of the premiere production locations in the world,” Karnes said. “I for one can’t wait to shoot another feature film in my hometown this fall.”

“A lot of amazing people are part of our region’s continued rise in the film and media industries,”

Byrnes said. “Congrats to Las Cruces for encouraging this economic development, to Film Las Cruces (FLC) for their dedicated promotion and stellar production support, to DACC and NMSU for building the workforce, and to all our local film professionals who could work anywhere ... but choose Las Cruces!”

“Having grown up in Las Cruces and soon to be entering my seventh year with Film Las Cruces, it is incredibly exciting to watch the industry come alive here and really start to take shape,” said Sepp, film liaison for the nonprofit FLC, which contracts with the City of Las Cruces and Doña Ana County to bring film and TV production to the area. Sepp is an alumnus of both CMI (the Creative Media Institute at New Mexico State University) and CMT (DACC’s Creative Media Technology program).

Said CMI Department Head Amy Lanasa: “(Jon Sepp) has believed in and contributed to this vision since before his amygdala was fully developed. This ranking certainly wouldn’t have been possible without the work that he and his staff (which includes Andrew Jara, another CMI alumnus) have done.

“It’s a joy to be part of an academic program that gets to teach and train folks like Jon and Andrew, who graduate and stay here for work, and continue to grow and learn in their field,” Lanasa said. “To see them use all of what we taught them and what they learned on their own working professionally to make their home a better place and our local economy stronger, is exactly the kind of reward that keeps me teaching.

“I think this confirms that Las Cruces is a great place to live and work,” said Mayor Ken Miyagishima. “As a film site, Las Cruces can change from being a Southwestern city into a modern metropolis, a mountainous terrain, a dry desert or a farming community all within 20 minutes of one another.”

“Las Cruces is one of the most supportive, generous cities I have ever lived,” said Creative Media Institute film professor and award-winning filmmaker Ross Marks. “Each day I am in Las Cruces, I feel inspired and motivated as both a teacher and filmmaker.”

“I appreciate the efforts of so many people who are dedicated to bringing film work to Las Cruces,” said Las Cruces actor David Edwards, who had a speaking part in “The Informer,” and filmed a scene for the movie with Mel Gibson in Las Cruces last July. “And while this enhances our profile, it also shows that we have some ground to make up in our own state. But I am encouraged and believe this will happen.”

“Being named No. 7 for best place for moviemakers is quite a compliment,” said Las Cruces-based makeup artist Pepper Gallegos, who has worked on the sets of major motion pictures filmed in Las Cruces and elsewhere. “I already knew that Las Cruces was a great place to make movies and live. We are just beginning to show the world what we are made of and watch out, now everyone is aware of all the talent in Las Cruces and all that we offer.”

“Our great locations and crew, top notch film incentives, and full service film office makes Las Cruces and Doña Ana County an excellent filming destination,” said state Sen. Jeff Steinborn, president of FLC.

“Over 12 years ago I got Jeff Steinborn to sit down for coffee with myself, Mark Wark and Phil Lewis to teach him about what the film industry could do for Las Cruces and economic development here in our area,” said actor and acting teacher Mark Vasconcellos. “After that three-hour coffee, we created the start of what is now known as Film Las Cruces. Years of presenting, politicking, meetings, organizing and promoting is paying off and now Las Cruces is on the filmmaking map worldwide! I am really happy to see larger films with star power coming to our area to set up production and shoot in our beautiful area. Film carries a huge economic impact with it and so many individuals and businesses will benefit from the larger film industry working in our area.”

“A huge congratulations to Atlanta and Santa Fe, two outstanding film hubs that offer very different but equally thrilling opportunities,” said MovieMaker editor Tim Molloy. “We’re also excited to welcome growing film centers like Missoula, Salt Lake City, Kamloops, Las Cruces and Palm Springs to the list.”

MovieMaker compiles its annual list based on surveys, production spending, tax incentives, additional research, and personal visits, whenever possible.

Here is MovieMaker’s list of the best small cities and towns to live and work as a moviemaker: 10 (tie): The Hudson Valley, New York, towns of Poughkeepsie, Kingston and Newburgh; 9: Ashland, Oregon; 8: Kamloops, British Columbia, Canada; 7: Las Cruces; 6: Knoxville, Tennessee; 5: Palm Springs, California; 4: Fort Lauderdale, Florida; 3: Savannah, Georgia; 2: Wilmington, North Carolina; and 1: Santa Fe.

Here is the top 5 list of MovieMaker’s best cities to live and work as a moviemaker: 5: Albuquerque; 4: Toronto; 3: New Orleans; 2: Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada; and 1: Atlanta.

Regional, national issues affect local gas

BULLETIN REPORT

Issues affecting natural gas hundreds of miles from Las Cruces are causing an increase in costs for consumers in Doña Ana County.

Maintenance issues on pipelines from the Permian Basin to the east are forcing Las Cruces Utilities (LCU) to obtain natural gas from the northwest in the San Juan Basin, where lower-than-normal storage levels caused prices to jump as much as 89 percent in December.

LCU obtains natural gas from two separate areas: the Permian Basin and the San Juan Basin, according to a news release from the city of Las Cruces.

“Unfortunately, the El Paso Natural Gas line that provides LCU natural gas from the Permian Basin can currently only provide a limited supply of natural gas because of line maintenance issues,” the release stated. “This means LCU must obtain additional natural gas from the San Juan Basin, which is much more expensive at this time. This affects the price LCU must pay for natural gas, which in turn, impacts customers’ bills.”

Lower storage levels are a nationwide issue, according to the U.S. Energy Information Administration EIA, which noted there was record consumption of natural gas in the electric power sector in 2022.

In its daily snapshot of regional energy prices on Jan. 24, the EIA reflected natural gas price increases in nine of its 10 measured regions, ranging from 2.8 percent to 18.1 percent. The 18.1 percent increase was in its Southwest region.

The Las Cruces cost increase will be reflected in the January utility bill customers will receive, LCU said, adding the cost of natural gas is directly passed on to LCU customers.

To ease the potential effect, LCU is offering customers additional payment plans related to the price increases. LCU customers who have any questions can call 575-541-2111 to work out a payment.

LCU has also provided an insert in January utility bills related to the cost of natural gas. The insert encourages LCU customers to be mindful of their energy use to manage their bills.

LCU orders its baseload of natural gas to get utility customers through each month. The utility then keeps an eye on the city’s demand compared to the baseload, and then adjusts the requested supply accordingly.

Some measures LCU recommends to keep homes warm include keeping windows and doors – especially garage doors – closed. Upgrading thermostats to smart, energy efficient models is recommended, as well as simply setting the thermostat lower.

Winter Gas Prices: Continue to be cautious of your natural gas usage

By C.T. Barnes

Heating your house, showering, cooking and even doing laundry are a few of the many ways you may be using natural gas in your home.

As your natural gas usage rises during the winter months, the price you have been paying has also been rising. As Las Cruces Utilities (LCU) highlighted in the October 28, 2022, Las Cruces Bulletin article, natural gas prices are on the rise globally, and it's important to make sure your budget is prepared for these out of norm increases.

LCU has been working hard to ensure they are watching natural gas price forecasts and purchasing at the best rates possible. "Prices have gone higher in the past. The difference now is that the price increase is not just lasting a day or two, but it is staying high for longer periods of time," LCU Gas Business Analyst Mario Puentes stated.

The Southwest and West Coast are feeling the brunt of these increased prices a little more than the rest of the nation. One reason for the increased costs is the colder than normal weather in high populated western regions. When major winter storms hit, such as the one that hit the nation this past December, it affects the pricing, transportation, and extraction of natural gas. Other reasons include the increased use of natural gas to generate electricity, the export of liquefied natural gas (LNG) overseas, and geopolitical events such as the war in Ukraine.

LCU purchases a portion of winter gas supply in layers or batches to create a portfolio of gas supply with the objective of achieving a manageable average price. But it must buy more gas when the weather gets colder and daily prices currently are dynamic, e.g., "From one day to the next, prices jumped from $7.75 to $19.66 per dekatherm and continue to rise in areas like the California border where the price increased to $22.00 per dekatherm," Puentes pointed out. "In November, prices were between $7.00 and $13.00 per dekatherm, but in December prices were between $24.00 and $44.00 per dekatherm," Puentes stated.

If possible, LCU advises replacing your older appliances to energy efficient models and making sure your home insulation is up to date. LCU also recommends keeping all windows, doors, and especially your garage door closed to help keep the heat inside your home. Upgrading your thermostat to a smart, energy efficient thermostat is also something you can do easily to assist in keeping your energy bills within your budget.

It is important for you to know that LCU does not like the current price environment. It is a priority for LCU to alert you of any major changes in the market, so you are prepared for your monthly bill. "In my 30 plus years in this industry, I had not experienced market dynamics like we see today, but LCU will continue to ensure it provides a reliable natural gas supply to our customers," Puentes concluded.

“Movie: Love, Gilda”

The story of Gilda Radner’s life and career is told through the words of the late comic and charter “Saturday Night Live” cast member in this 2018 documentary from director Lisa D’Apolito (“Shari and Lamb Chop”) that also features audiotapes, interviews with friends, rare home movies and diaries read by modern day comedienne such as Amy Poehler. (ORIGINAL)

“How I Caught My Killer”

From the creative forces behind “The Girl Scout Murders” and “This Came Out of Me” comes this nine episode true-crime documentary series that presents stories of murders that were solved by clues left behind by the victims, be they a diary entry, a text message, a fraught letter to a friend or a social media post. (ORIGINAL)

“Koala Man”

From downunder comes this animated comedy about a family man whose only superpowers are following the rules and snuffing out petty crime in his suburban Australia community. But when cosmic and man-made evils rear their ugly heads, he’s ready to swat them down. Hugh Jackman, Michael Cusack (the series’ creator), Sarah Snook, Jemaine Clement and Demi Lardner head the voice cast. (ORIGINAL)

“Movie: Zack and Miri Make a Porno”

The title pretty much spells out the plot of writer-director Kevin Smith’s comedy, which follows the trend of combining raunchiness and sweetness. Seth Rogen and Elizabeth Banks have the title roles as roommates who try to solve their financial desperation by starring in and marketing an amateur porn film. The process ultimately prompts them to reveal surprising feelings for each other.

tonight's picks

Jaime King

6 p.m. on HALL
Movie: Love in Glacier National: A National Park Romance

The earth moves when Hannah (Ashley Newbrough), an expert in avalanche forecasting, brings her new technology to Glacier National Park and faces pushback from the director of Mountain Rescue (Stephen Huszar), who relies more on intuition and common sense. Their dual approach brings more than forecasting to the forefront of their hearts in this 2023 romantic comedy.

6 p.m. on LIFE
Movie: Hoax: The Kidnapping of Sherri Papini

Sherri Papini (Jaime King), a young wife and mother, disappears while jogging near her home, leading to national headlines as concerned citizens search for her whereabouts. Reappearing three weeks later, Sherri claimed she was abducted and repeatedly abused. But four years later, evidence revealed her kidnapping was all a hoax so she could spend time with an ex-boyfriend. She was arrested and sentenced to 18 months in prison for lying to federal agents in this 2022 docudrama. Matt Hamilton and Josh Collins also star.

6 p.m. on BBCA
Planet Earth: Frozen Planet II

The highly-anticipated sequel to "Frozen Planet," this new series returns to the Arctic and Antarctic to observe the amazing species that thrive there. But, going further than the first season, it also explores life beyond the Poles — witnessing the wildlife dramas that play out in all the world's coldest regions: our high mountains, frozen deserts, snowbound forests, and ice-cold oceans in the series premiere episode "Frozen Worlds." These are the last true wildernesses on earth. Sir David Attenborough narrates.

8 p.m. on FX
Movie: Black Panther

More than a movie, this true phenomenon stars Chadwick Boseman as the Marvel title character, the prince of a kingdom called Wakanda that needs defenders from outside invaders. One enemy tellingly is named Killmonger, played by Michael B. Jordan in a fine reunion with "Creed" director Ryan Coogler. Though this 2018 film has the requisite special effects and frantic battles, it also has much more in terms of depicting family relationships and the essence of an entire culture. The first-rate cast also includes Letitia Wright, Martin Freeman, Angela Bassett, Forest Whitaker, Andy Serkis, Lupita Nyong'o and Daniel Kaluuya.

8 p.m. on TNT
Movie: Star Wars: The Rise of Skywalker

With the First Order continuing to ravage the galaxy, Rey (Daisy Ridley) finalizes her training as a Jedi. But evil Emperor Palpatine (Ian McDiarmid) mysteriously returns from the dead. While working with Finn (John Boyega) and Poe Dameron (Oscar Isaac) on a new mission, Rey will not only face Kylo Ren (Adam Driver) once more, but she will also discover the truth about her parents as well as a secret that could determine her future and the fate in this 2019 fantasy.

9 p.m. on KRWG
Austin City Limits

This Philadelphia-based band led by singer/guitarist Adam Granduciel blends gritty heartland rock with motorik-influence rhythms and sparkling analogue synthesizers on a series of beloved albums, culminating in 2017's Grammy-winning "A Deeper Understanding" and last year's highly acclaimed "I Don't Live Here Anymore." Their second visit to the ACL stage sees the band draw heavily from those two albums in the new episode "The War on Drugs."

When the check arrives, one baker is sent home in the new episode "Biz Kids: Power Lunch Imposters."

movies than you can shake a candy cane at, but Punxsutawney Phil's day in the sun — or lack thereof — has inspired just one. Bill Murray stars in this 1993 romantic comedy as an obnoxious TV weatherman forced to relive Feb. 2 until he gets it right ... mending his abrasive ways and winning the lovely Rita (Andie MacDowell). Chris Elliott and Brian Doyle-Murray also star.

Movie: The Ring

Pete Ganusa (Gerald Mohr) is a young American of Mexican descent in East Los Angeles, Calif., using the boxing ring to make a better life for himself and his family. And he learns as much about being a Latino in a white society as he does about boxing in this 1952 drama. Celebrating the channel's "Star of the Month," Rita Moreno, the film also stars Robert Arthur, Lalo Rios and Robert Osterloh.

7:31 p.m. on KDBC
Ghosts

It's like a metal detector, only for ghosts. Sam (Rose McIver) and Jay's (Utkarsh Ambudkar) assistant, Freddie (Mike Lane), purchases ghost-hunting equipment when suspicious activity leads him to suspect the B&B might be haunted. And Sasappis (Román Zaragoza) risks losing his relationship with Jessica (Nichole Sakura) — and his ride — when Freddie sells his car, on the new episode "Ghost Hunter." Brandon Scott Jones, Richie Moriarty, Danielle Pinnock and Asher Grodman also star. The series has been picked up for a third season.

8 p.m. on FX
Movie: The Martian

Matt Damon earned an Oscar nomination as best actor for his engaging performance in director Ridley Scott's well-paced 2015 drama based on Andy Weir's story of an astronaut mistakenly thought dead by the rest of his crew and left behind on Mars. As he uses his ingenuity to survive on the "red planet," others try to figure out how to bring him home once they realize he's still alive. The top-flight cast also includes Jessica Chastain, Jeff Daniels, Kate Mara, Michael Pena, Kristen Wiig, Sean Bean and Chiwetel Ejiofor.

Kold x Windy

The truth shall set you free — sometimes. Shelley (Kaja Brielle) reveals a secret that changes everything. But Renee (Nijah Brenea) continues to struggle with her past and how it could come back to haunt her. Then, Malika (Sh'Kia) and Renee scramble to hide their tracks after a deadly ambush before Kold and Windy get their big break in the new episode "Respect is Everything." Brely Evans, Eian O'Brien, Kruz Valero and Chidozie Adindu also star.

9 p.m. on STARZ
Movie: Killers Anonymous

Tensions mount at Killers Anonymous, a support group for killers, as the members of the group try to unravel the mystery behind which one of them is responsible for the assassination attempt on a U.S. senator that has the police authorities in the city on high alert. But things are not what they seem, and when new truths surface, alliances and betrayals emerge as the session explodes into violence and chaos in this 2019 thriller. The cast includes Gary Oldman, Jessica Alba, Suki Waterhouse and Tommy Flanagan.

What's Available NOW On prime video

“Movie: Mission: Impossible”

Tom Cruise stars in this updated movie version of the classic '60s TV series. Faulty plotting makes the twists and turns of this spy mission difficult to follow, but great stunts accompanied by the revved-up theme music make up for weak points in the story. Vanessa Redgrave excels in her bit role. Ving Rhames, Jean Reno and Kristin Scott Thomas also star.

“Movie: The Devil Wears Prada”

You thought your boss was difficult? A recent college graduate (Anne Hathaway) gets a crash course in landing arguably the most demanding boss on Earth (Meryl Streep) at a fashion magazine in this enjoyable 2006 comedy, adapted from Lauren Weisberger's bestseller. The dismayed newcomer's job is made even tougher by a competitive fellow assistant (Emily Blunt). Stanley Tucci and Simon Baker also star.

“Nate Bargatze: Hello World”

The Tennessee-born and -bred comic gives his take on such topics as growing up in the '80s and '90s, the hardest part of marriage and saying dumb things in a stand-up performance recorded this past September before a live audience at the Celebrity Theatre in Phoenix. (ORIGINAL)

“Harlem”

The sophomore round of this comedy series from Tracy Oliver (“Girls Trip”) finds Camille (Meagan Good) trying to pick up the pieces after blowing up her career and love life, Tye (Jerrie Johnson) looking to the future, Quinn (Grace Byers) on a journey of self-discovery and Angie's (Shoniqua Shandai) career taking a promising turn. Taylor Russell

"BONES AND ALL"

Two people, played by Timothee Chalamet (also a producer of the picture) and Taylor Russell, lean on each other to make their ways in the world – with a definite twist, since both are prone to cannibalism – in director Luca Guadagnino's version of Camille DeAngelis' novel that fared well on the film-festival circuit. Their 1980s road trip hardly is typical, given what their mutual cravings are ... and as they encounter others with danger always lurking, the situation poses the question of whether the couple even is safe in each other's company. Rest assured that even though the tale is a love story at heart, there's enough violence to land it firmly in the horror category as well. Mark

Rylance, Michael Stuhlbarg, Chloe Sevigny and Jessica Harper also appear. ★★★ (R: AS, P, GV) (Also on Blu-ray and On Demand)

"DAWN OF THE DEAD"

This 2004 remake of George A. Romero's horror classic gets 4K Ultra HD treatment in a new "Collector's Edition." As with the story that spun off this one, "Night of the Living Dead," the plot finds survivors of a virus battling for survival against zombies generated by the illness. Cast members include Ving Rhames, Sarah Polley, Jake

Weber, Mekhi Phifer, Ty Burrell ("Modern Family") and Lindy Booth. The package also includes a Blu-ray disc encompassing both theatrical and unrated cuts of the film – with the latter fulfilling its promise of being quite graphic. An audio commentary features director Zack Snyder ("Justice League," "Watchmen"). ★★★ (R and unrated versions: AS, P, GV)

"SESAME STREET – ELMO & TANGO: FURRY FRIENDS FOREVER"

The title makes it reasonably easy to know what to expect from this all-family release culled from one of the most classic of all children's series. Pets are the main theme of the segments included here, with Elmo's adopted puppy Tango sparking much of the fun. He has a number of canine friends who also display great spirit, the intended result being to teach young viewers – and maybe some older ones, too – how to care properly for animals. Kacey Musgraves, Keke Palmer and Jon Batiste are among the guests in the collection, which also features a related episode of "Elmo's World." ★★★ (Not rated) (Also on Digital)

"ANGRY NEIGHBORS"

The status of the main characters is described accurately by the name of this comedy, with stage and screen veteran Frank Langella as a retired writer who's far from happy to find his Hamptons residence suddenly bordered by an extremely showy mansion. That site's owner (Bobby Cannavale) becomes the target of the novelist's wrath, which eventually turns physical – to the effect of a sledgehammer being used. Stockard Channing, Cheech Marin and Ashley Benson ("Pretty Little Liars") also appear in the film, based on Roger Rosenblatt's book "Lapham Rising." ★★★ (R: AS, P, V)

"NEXT EXIT"

An experiment to follow people into the afterlife fuels this sci-fi tale, with Karen Gillan of the Marvel Cinematic Universe as the researcher behind the project. The media attention given to it draws two subjects played by Katie Parker and Rahul Kohli, each with a secret that is destined to be exposed by their participation; the result could prove lethal, given all that isn't known about what could happen. Another notable cast member is Rose McIver, who's enjoying a big series success with CBS' "Ghosts" (and who worked with Kohli earlier on "iZombie"). ★★★ (Not rated: AS, P, V)

"PETER FALK 4-FILM COMEDY COLLECTION"

His best-known role arguably was that of television sleuth Columbo, but veteran actor Falk also made his share of movies, four of which are compiled in this Blu-ray collection. "Big Trouble" is a murder-scheme comedy that reunites Falk with Alan Arkin, also his co-star in the original version of "The In-Laws"; "The Cheap Detective" is a Neil Simon-written spoof along the lines of his "Murder by Death," in which Falk also appeared; "Happy New Year" remakes the French heist comedy "La Bonne Annee"; and "Luv" adapts a play in which an unfaithful spouse (Falk) wants a troubled friend (Jack Lemmon) to take his wife (Elaine May) away. ★★★ (PG, R and unrated, varying by title: AS, P, V)

Checking in with
MEAGAN GOOD

An actress since childhood, Meagan Good's roles have ranged from films such as "Eve's Bayou," "D.E.B.S." and the "Think Like a Man" comedies to roles in the TV series "Californication," "Deception" and her current gig as New York singleton Camille in "Harlem."

The 41-year-old Los Angeles native also has a handful of directing credits and in Season 2 of the Prime Video comedy, premiering Friday, Feb. 3, she got to work with co-stars Jerrie Johnson, Grace Byers and Shoniqua Shandai from the other side of the camera directing the second episode titled "If You Can't Say Anything Nice ..."

"I know these women so well," Good explains. "They are truly my friends in life and will always be. And so to kind of like poke and prod and get these things out of them that I know that are there and I know that they can relate to and being able to express certain things to them in a scene where I'm giving them a note and be like, 'Jerrie, it's kind of like this, like when we did this or you told me about that. Or how would you feel about this?' And so it was fun to have this insight to who they already are and then to who these characters are and to bring that to how I was directing it."

The new season picks up Friday, Feb. 3, where it left off in the Season 1 finale, where a drunken Camille and her ex Ian (Tyler Lopley) admitted their love for each other and shared a passionate kiss on the eve of his wedding to Mira (Rana Roy), who listened in from a hotel balcony above. So is there a future here?

"It's a lot more complicated than that ...," Good says. "But what I can say is that it's definitely very interesting and slightly shocking and I think people will be really surprised with what happens next."

Agave Gallery adds new artist

BULLETIN REPORT

Local artist Linda Gendall is the newest member of Agave Artist Gallery, 2250 Calle de San Albino on the historic plaza in Mesilla.

“Linda Gendall’s childhood memories from rural Montana of plants, animals, light, texture and colors are an integral part of her,” the gallery said in a news release. “After moving to the Mesilla Valley in 2002, she discovered the unique culture of the border area and observed the rich hues of the Southwest. Years after, her passion for oil painting on canvas blossomed, she turned to COR-TEN steel (corrosion resistance/tensile strength, i.e., “weathered” steel) where her fascination with the play of light, color and shadows continued,” the gallery said.

“Many of us go to our graves with our music still inside us,” is a favorite of Gendall’s, by Oliver Wendell Homes, the gallery said. Her response is, “I celebrate my music every day.”

“Linda’s life in the border region is a continual inspiration for her work,” Agave Gallery said. Agave Gallery is open 11 a.m.-5 p.m. Friday-Monday. Visit agaveartists.com/.

Camerata Del Sol concerts set

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

Las Cruces-based chamber music ensemble Camerata Del Sol is welcoming the new year and celebrating Black History Month with performances in late January and February, the group said in a news release.

Here are the scheduled performances:

- 3 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 29: “A Taste of Florence,” Atkinson Recital Hall, New Mexico State University Music Building, 1075 N. Horseshoe St. on the NMSU. The concert will feature “String Quartet in A Minor” by African-American composer Florence Price and “Souvenir de Florence” sextet by Pyotr Tchaikovsky.

“We are so excited to present these epic works,” said Camerata Del Sol Executive Director Amalia Zeitlin. “The pairing of these two pieces honors our commitment to program underperformed composers such as Florence Price, alongside some of the most famous composers in history.”

Admission is free with a suggested donation of $10, Zeitlin said.

- 7 p.m. Friday, Feb. 3, Unitarian Universalist Church, 2000 S. Solano Drive in Las Cruces, and 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 5, UTEP Fox Fine Arts Recital Hall, 500 W. University Ave. M301 in El Paso, honor Black History Month, Zeitlin said.

The Las Cruces concert will include a reading by African-American poets during the intermission and after the concert. Seating is limited.

“‘Through the Refining Fire’ is a musical setting of works from the 1920s by three African-American poets, including Claude McKay, Countee Cullen, and El Paso poet Bernice Love Wiggins,” Zeitlin said.

The concerts will feature violinist and NMSU associate professor of music Daniel Vega-Albela, tenor and UTEP professor Brian Downen, El Paso Symphony Orchestra (EPSO) assistant principal second violinist Roberto Jurado, EPSO principal cellist James Carney, Zeitlin (EPSO principal second violinist), Las Cruces Symphony Orchestra (LCSO) Concertmaster and EPSO

Associate Concertmaster Brigid McCarthy, cellist and El Paso Community College assistant professor of music Alina Vázquez, EPSO violinist Mara Arredondo, EPSO principal bass Ian Narlock and LCSO violinists Julio Campos and Elisabeth Greene.

Since its founding in 2017, Camerata Del Sol has presented more than 150 concerts in the borderlands region, Zeitlin said.

“Camerata has a mission to make classical music accessible, affordable and enjoyable, and values programming rarely heard works and the music of underperformed composers.”

Camerata Del Sol was recently awarded second place in the “Best Fine Artist” category of the 2023 “Bulletin’s Best of the Mesilla Valley” awards.

Rush Allen

Creating film fest poster

By ELVA K. ÖSTERREICH
Las Cruces Bulletin

Rush Allen has been “doing art” his whole life. The young artist, 29, has been chosen to create the artwork for the Las Cruces International Film Festival this year and is busy creating color layers, and building chroma on the upcoming work which will culminate with a poster release party Feb. 11.

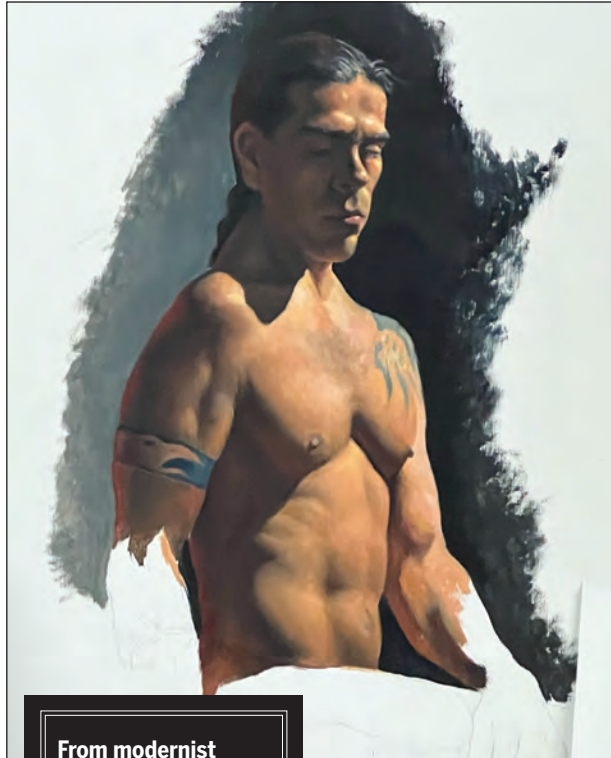

Growing up in Las Cruces, Allen took all the art classes he could through school and even bought himself a silk screen press. He started creating his own brand and realized he needed to know more about all the programs.

“So, when I went to college, I went into graphic design,” he said.

After earning his associate’s degree in digital graphics at Doña Ana Community College, he followed up at New Mexico State University with a bachelor’s in fine arts.

Interspersing graphic design freelance work with his art studies and creations, Allen has built a substantial collection of experience and completed a wide variety of work. His love and specialty, though, is painting oil portraits with classical realism.

“It’s nice to have a balance,” he said. “My bachelor’s was more contemporary and modern – then I did a school semester in Italy, that was in Florence, and that’s when I started getting into traditional mediums and looking more into art history.”

With Italy in his mind, he wanted to return to Europe. That led to spending sessions at Studio Escalier (a traditional studio learning environment atelier) in France working from live models and continuing his art education.

“In Paris, I was doing figure drawings in the morning and then I would go the Louvre and draw there,” he said.

Then he came home and the following week, Covid shut down the world.

Allen’s classical realism portraits are full of light and character, the detail keeps going the deeper you look into the pieces. They are painted from live models in stages.

“The models end up becoming my friends,” he said. “The whole thing is you are trying to communicate and express the experience that you have with the model. That’s why you work from life, because you are not copying, you are trying to represent a moment in time.

“You want to capture the light effect and the character of who they are. Everyone is in a different state of mind and that’s what you are trying to capture with working from life.”

Allen considers realism one of the biggest challenges for an artist. But that just makes him like it more. It’s about thinking and analyzing things deeply and understanding nature and how everything is interconnected.

“Every person is a puzzle with unique features,” he said. “Every painting is just a new puzzle you have to figure out – the hue, value, chroma, structure, composition, light effect.”

Today, Allen spends half his time in Santa Fe, working at a sister studio to the one in Paris.

He sells his work through people he knows and supports his income with graphic design work. His paintings can be found in Crossland Gallery in El Paso; Laguna Beach, California; Kansas City, Missouri; and more.

For the film festival poster, Allen said he is pulling together a different references, combining everything together to reflect the roots of film in New Mexico.

“The reason [the film industry] came here was for the light and the landscape,” he said. “And then what brought everyone to know New Mexico is films like the westerns, so I wanted to pull a little bit of narrative into that.”

Since he went to NMSU, the poster will also symbolize a message for the students.

“I wanted to represent the journey of life,” Allen said. “Since I grew up here, I have always seen the Organs, the contour, as basically a metaphor for life. They change and they grow and so it feels like the different paths of life. There’s always peaks and valleys.”

Film festival organizer Ross Marks said local artists have designed the official poster for eight years in a row.

“We give the artist total freedom,” Marks said. “You create what you want, tap into whatever inspires you and moves you. It’s one of my favorite parts of the film festival to see what the artists create.”

Marks said the hints he has seen previewing the 2023 poster makes him believe it could be one of the best.

The Poster Reveal Party is 6-8 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 11 at The Farm & Ranch Heritage Museum, 4100 Dripping Springs Road, Las Cruces. Allen will be on hand to sign limited edition prints of the poster. The original artwork will be auctioned off at the event.

Admission is $25 and includes a signed collectible poster, food, drinks (beer & wine), and music.

LICIFF will be selling 2023 VIP passes at a special rate of $100 which is $50 off the regular price ($150). You can only get this rate at the poster party.

This year’s festival features “Outstanding Achievement in Entertainment” award winner Giancarlo Esposito. The festival dates are April 12-16. Tickets are available at www.lascrucesfilmfest.com.

LCSO gala has speakeasy theme

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

To quote Las Cruces Symphony Orchestra (LCSO) Music Director and Conductor Ming Luke, "What an exciting event! This is a wonderful opportunity to support the symphony and classical music in the community, but it'll also be a rollicking good time for everybody! Hope to see you there!"

Luke is talking about "The Roaring 1920s Speakeasy" gala that will benefit LCSO, 6-10 p.m. Friday, Feb. 10, at New Mexico Farm and Ranch Heritage Museum, 4100 Dripping Springs Road.

Participants are encouraged to wear flapper dresses and stilettos, gangster garb and wing tip shoes, said LCSO Board President Barb Ross.

Eventgoers will dance to the music of the Capones jazz band under the direction of LCSO principal trumpet player Pancho Romero. There also will be a card game with a 50/50 split cash prize.

A signature-cocktail competition has been set up with the following bars: Zeffiros, Amador Patio Bar Grill, Hacienda de Mesilla, Double Eagle, Pecan Grill & Brewery and Hotel. The winning drink will be the featured "signature cocktail" sold at the gala's bar.

Participants can bid on a large selection of silent-auction and live-auction items, including conducting LCSO and dinner with Luke, a wine tour with Lescombes Winery, a flight lesson and playing a bass drum representing a cannon during an LCSO rehearsal in May of Tchaikovsky's "1812 Overture."

"Not only is the gala an opportunity to raise funds to support our fabulous Las Cruces Symphony Orchestra and our outstanding musicians, but it will be a really fun and entertaining evening with a chance to dress up in the spirit of the 1920s, play a card game to win a cash prize, dance to live jazz music and bid on some great live and silent auction items," Ross said.

Tickets are $55, which includes dinner. Visit las-crucessymphony.com or call LCSO at 575-646-3709.

The Mesilla Valley Fine Arts Gallery (MVFG), 2470-A Calle de Guadalupe on the historic plaza in Mesilla, will feature the works of local artists Bonnie MacQuarrie and Arlene Tugel in February.

MacQuarrie specializes in art tile, MVFG said in a news release. She learned her craft under the direction of Susan Gamble, owner of Santa Teresa Tile Works in Tucson, Arizona.

Originally from San Francisco, MacQuarrie is a graduate of San Francisco State University. She moved to Las Cruces in June 2013.

MacQuarrie's work is influenced by Marc Chagall and Henri Matisse and is displayed in Tucson and Tubac, Arizona.

Tugel likes the pure, glowing color that can be achieved with watercolor, her preferred medium, MVFG said.

“I do most of my painting ‘en plein air’ (outdoors) where I can immerse myself, both physically and emotionally in the glorious landscapes of the West,” Tugel said.

Tugel's work has shown in juried shows in Las Cruces, Albuquerque, Socorro, Deming and Pinos Altos, New Mexico, where she earned numerous awards including a best of show in 2015, the gallery said.

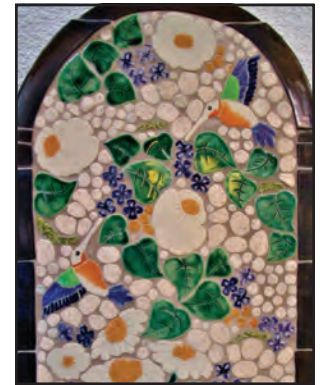

MVFG's 30 featured artists offer original art in various media, including oil, acrylics, pastels, watercolor, jewelry, woodturnings, stained glass, photography, ceramics, mixed media, decorated gourds, textile weavings, art tile, fiber art, jewelry, fused glass, colored pencil, charcoal, pen and ink drawings, prints, cards and miniature paintings.

First American Bank, 1553 Avenida de Mesilla, features the work of many of the gallery's artists.

MVAG is open 10 a.m.-5 p.m. every day.

Call 575-522-2933. Visit www.mesillavalley-finearts.com.

Funds available for repairs

BULLETIN REPORT

At its Jan. 17 regular meeting, the Las Cruces City Council adopted a resolution establishing the City of Las Cruces Small Business Store Front Repair Program.

Through the program, eligible small businesses and nonprofits can apply for grants of up to $2,500 to help repair storefront property damage that occurred on or after Jan. 1, 2021, the city said in a news release.

Funds can be used to pay for current or past property damage.

Grant applications begin Feb. 1, 2023. The city Economic Development Department (EDD) will continue to accept applications until all funding is spent.

The city allocated up to $400,000 in federal American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) funding for the program.

Eligible property damage includes broken windows, doors and locks; graffiti, etching on windows; and damage to landscaping, the city said. Grant funds will not cover stolen goods or preventive measures such as guards, cameras or window or door coverings, the city said.

To be eligible for funding, a business or nonprofit must have a current business license or nonprofit registration, operate within the city and be currently open to the public, have 40 or fewer full-time employees as of March 15, 2020; be a locally owned, noncorporate franchise or chain business; must have experienced direct economic disruption due Covid-19, must provide a copy of the police report showing damages due to vandalism and proof of repairs to doors, windows and locks.

Gotta plane to catch

"It was a great flight between Las Cruces and Albuquerque on Monday, Jan. 16," Las Cruces businessman and entrepreneur Orlando Padilla said. Padilla was on board the first Advanced Air flight from Las Cruces to Albuquerque, as Las Cruces began intrastate air service for the first time since 2005. The City of Las Cruces has a two-year contract for Las Cruces-Albuquerque air service with California-based Advanced Airlines. It includes $1.75 million each year from the New Mexico Department of Transportation's rural air service enhancement grant. Valuable lessons from favorite golf quotes

As we start the new year 2023, “hope springs eternal” for nearly all golfers, looking forward to better golf, better scoring, better weather and a happier time on the golf course. With that in mind, I share a few of my favorite golfing quotations with some personal comments.

My first quote is from Ben Crenshaw, a 19-time winner on the PGA Tour, including two Masters, with the emotional second win in 1995, a week after his coach and mentor, Harvey Penick, passed away. “Golf is the hardest game in the world,” Crenshaw said. “There is no way you can ever get it. Just when you think you do, the game jumps up and puts you in your place.” You don’t need to remind both Jordan Spieth and Colin Morikowa about that. Morikowa had as much a nine-shot lead with 17 holes to go in the final round of the Sentry Tournament of Champions in early January, until he had a meltdown, and lost to John Rahm, who shot 61. Spieth shared the first-round lead at 6-under in the Sony Open Jan. 12; then he shot 5-over in the second round and missed the cut by one. We all have meltdowns occasionally, but not for millions of dollars, thankfully.

My next quote is from the late, great Arnold Palmer, who passed in 2016: “Golf is deceptively simple and endlessly complicated. It satisfies the soul and frustrates the intellect. It is at the same time rewarding and maddening – it is without a doubt the greatest game mankind has ever invented.”

I suppose that is exactly why so many of us are addicted to golf. One day, after a sadly inept round we wonder why we even go out and play; and then the next round we play brilliantly and score a personal best, giving us our answer why we play.

The legendary golfer Bobby Jones is highly quotable but this is my favorite: “Golf is so much more fun when it is played well. I’ve always thought that if the game was worth playing at all, it was worth making some effort to play it correctly.” I endorse Jones’ attitude entirely. That was the idea when Herb Wimberly and I started Performance Golf Schools in 1999, with the thought that we desired to help golfers of all abilities to play their best. It is why I devote so much space in these writings to helpful tips so that readers can find ways to improve.

Here’s a thoughtful quote from my all-time favorite golfer, Jack Nicklaus, who won 18 major championships, which, I believe, will never be equaled. “Let’s look at the expression ‘self-management.’ What does that mean? I guess it means managing your assets to get the best out of them. Your health is an asset, so you owe it to yourself to learn how to take care of it. Your skill is an asset, so you must keep it honed. Your brain is an asset, so you must keep it exercised, challenged and sharp. Your attitude is also an asset – but only if you keep it positive. Physical fitness is an asset, so you make sure you remain physically fit. Your family is an asset, so you love and cherish your family. Life is an asset – so make the most of it and the best of it.” From Jack’s book, Golf and Life, 2002.

Ben Hogan was one of the most thorough students of the game from every aspect. His practice demonstrated a strong work ethic, so that his confidence in competition was rock solid. He sized golf up this way: “You can hit your shots great and still shoot 80 every day because of poor management. The shots are 30 percent of the game. Judgment is 70 percent.” And, of course, “judgment” referred to every golfing decision, awareness, estimation, astuteness, clear thinking and steady nerves.

Finally, here’s some advice from former Notre Dame football coach Lou Holtz, which we all should strive to internalize: “Work hard, have a good attitude and practice in preparation for any opportunities.” Amen.
