LCFD mental health crisis team could get $3 million

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

An appropriation sponsored by U.S. Sen. Martin Heinrich, D-N.M., would allocate $3 million to the Las Cruces Fire Department to build and furnish a “response station” to house the Las Cruces Fire Department’s Mobile Integrated Healthcare program and its Project LIGHT (Lessen the Incidence of Grief, Harm and Trauma).

The station is one of 12 projects Heinrich included in the Senate Transportation and Housing Appropriations bill, which passed the Senate Appropriations Committee with a vote of 29-0 in late July.

Fire Chief Jason Smith said LCFD is looking at multiple locations for the response station if final funding is approved, including the former Fire Station No. 3 building on Valley Drive; Fire Station No. 8, 550 N. Sonoma Ranch Blvd.; and the yet-to-be-built Fire Station No. 9, which, like Station 8, will be located on the East Mesa.

LCFD began Mobile Integrated Health (MIH) in 2016. It launched Project LIGHT March 6 to add mental crisis intervention services to MIH. To date, Project LIGHT has received 378 calls for service, LCFD Battalion Chief Matthew Hiles told the city council at its July 24 work session.

Project LIGHT’s two response teams, which include social workers and emergency medical technicians, have had 141 patient contacts and interventions. Hiles said. Almost half were for psychological issues, about six percent were medical issues, and 40 percent involved multiple issues. In nearly half of Project LIGHT dispositions, the person involved was transported to a mental health provider, which Hiles said included FYI+, the County Triage Center and Peak Behavioral Health in Santa Teresa. About 18 percent of calls resulted in treatment and resolution on scene, 13 percent resulted in EMS transport and 20 percent were handled by law enforcement, Hiles said.

LCPD has requested Project LIGHT teams 103 times, Hiles said.

“The LIGHT teams have been a resounding success,” Acting Las Cruces Police Chief Jeremy Story said. “They have enabled the police department to focus on safety while the mental health professionals focus on providing the best care possible and plugging people into the resources they need.”

The police department “does a really good job of just kind of hanging back,” said FYI+ Senior Clinical Director Lisa Chavez, who provides clinical supervision to LCFD social workers. Police officers have also been “supportive to step in” when they are needed, Chavez said.

“We are bridging that gap from scene to proper source,” Hiles said, with those individuals Project LIGHT teams are responding to getting the treatment they need.

“This is great and deserves a standing ovation,” Councilor Becki Graham said.

A federal grant could provide a permanent home for LCFD’s Mobile Integrated Healthcare unit.

I-25 bridge to be closed indefinitely

BULLETIN REPORT

The crossover bridge from Interstate 10 East to Interstate 25 North will be closed indefinitely, New Mexico Department of Transportation spokesperson Ami Evans told the Bulletin earlier this week, until repairs estimated at nearly $1 million are complete.

NMDOT will keep the I-10 eastbound to I-25 northbound ramp closed until repairs can be made from damage that occurred July 11, when a commercial motor vehicle loaded with diesel fuel overturned on the I-10 to I-25 ramp catching fire.

The driver was able to free himself before the truck and trailer were fully engulfed, but then the vehicle burned for several hours. Due to the high heat, the bridge deck and other bridge components were severely damaged. Engineers have since determined the structural integrity of the bridge is still intact.

Evans said damaged concrete would have to be replaced.

At current, the department is working to secure emergency funds and a contractor to make the required repairs. The overall bridge structure repairs are estimated at just under $1 million and roadway repairs are estimated at $30,000.

Without a known start date for repairs, the crossover bridge has no known reopening date at this time.

Evans said citizens are strongly encouraged to obey the road closure and stay out of the area now and when the repair project begins, to avoid creating an unsafe environment.

Creative Industries Division taking shape

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

The New Mexico Economic Development Department (NMEDD) is seeking proposals from people and organizations across the state to help develop a five-year plan for its new Creative Industries Division (CID). Proposals are due by 5 p.m. Monday, Aug. 21.

In an RFP, NMEDD “seeks a contractor to work with its team and to develop a statewide plan for CID that includes viable program models, implementation partners, projected budgets, and an analysis of creative industry opportunities within the state,” the department said.

In a call for projects (CFP), NMEDD said it will provide funding for local government projects that will stimulate economic development through creative industries.

The RFP “will create a foundation/road map for New Mexico’s creative industries,” said Las Cruces artist and community activist Irene Oliver Lewis, who worked with Steinborn and others to draft the CID bill.

CID was created earlier this year in House Bill 8 (HB8), sponsored by State Sen. Jeff Steinborn, D-Doña

Ana, and state Rep. Reena Szczepanski, D-Santa Fe.

Steinborn’s bill created the new division to “support the growth of economic opportunity among the full range of creative industries outside of film,” according to a news release about the bill.

With the RFP, NMEDD said it hopes “to select a contractor that (will) assist in planning and outreach for the new CID,” according to the RFP.

The contractor selected will “work closely with NMEDD to develop a five-year roadmap/plan for CID that ... details the needs and gaps in the creative industries landscape in New Mexico.”

“This is an exciting opportunity for the creative community in Las Cruces and southern New Mexico to expand the resources and infrastructure to grow and support creative based businesses,” Steinborn said. “The new law requires that funding be distributed to rural communities along with urban centers, so all corners of New Mexico have an equal shot to build upon their artistic and cultural strengths.”

OLIVER LEWIS

“HB8 awarded $2 million to jump start CID,” Oliver Lewis said. The RFP and CFP “enable CID to bring all our research, statistics, community support and strategies to reality. This opportunity is open to an individual or a team of creatives who have experience in the creative economy/industries.

“The second part of the funding is what is most exciting for those of us in the New Mexico Creative Industries Consortium that worked for nearly two years on the legislation,” Oliver Lewis said. “Fifty percent of the funding must go to rural communities and underserved communities. This makes funding available to places like Mesilla, Hatch, Anthony, Deming, the Mesquite Historic Neighborhood with a municipality partner, Alamogordo, and La Union. The Call for Projects (CFP) offers $100,000 to 18 communities around the state to demonstrate and stimulate community economic development through the creative industries. The funding is available to counties, municipalities, other political subdivisions and recognized tribes or pueblos and will benefit creative entrepreneurs and small businesses with 10 or less employees.

“It is now extremely important for those of us in southern New Mexico to apply for these two proposals and demonstrate how substantial the creative industries workforce and small businesses are in generating economic development,” Oliver Lewis said. “We need to collectively harness our innovative and practical arts experiences to bring funding to our community. I am immensely proud of our legislators and the overwhelmingly bipartisan support we had for HB8. Funding is through June 2024, and we need to demonstrate the ‘return on investment’ the legislature funded was successful and profitable.”

County reaches 10th year of same-sex marriage

Doña Ana was first jurisdiction in New Mexico

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

Aug. 21, 2023, marks the 10th anniversary of the day Doña Ana County became the first county in the state to issue same-sex marriage licenses.

"I am among those privileged to officiate same-gender marriages that historic day, and all of us who were able stayed busy throughout the day," said Jess Williams, an ordained minister and former Doña Ana County communications director and Las Cruces Bulletin editor. "I felt an enormous sense of pride and satisfaction to be taking part in New Mexico's history. My hat is still off to then-(county) Clerk Lynn Ellins for his courage and leadership that eventually saw the state Supreme Court affirm his legal reasoning in the matter."

Ellins said the issue began for him when he was a member of the University of Colorado Board of Regents and introduced a resolution in the late 1980s to ban discrimination based on gender.

"I didn't come late to the party," Ellins said. "I was there when the party began."

The resolution "went down quickly," he said, but faculty, staff and students "made a good argument that they should not be discriminated on their sexual ways remembered against based orientation. I al- that," Ellins said.

"I volunteered and started the second day doing free ceremonies in the clerk's office conference room with county staff as witnesses," said Las Cruces artist Bob Diven, who, in August 2013 had recently become an endorsed humanist celebrant, licensed to perform mar- riages.

Char (Ullman) and I were couple No. 5 to get married that day.

We knew the night before that Lynn (Ellins) would be issuing marriage licenses. However, Char and I hadn't really decided if we would join the group on Aug. 21, 2013. In the morning, though, when I saw my social media blowing up with posts of folks going to the county building, I texted Char, who was grading class papers at a local coffee shop, and asked her if she wanted to get married. Romantic, I know. She responded "Sure! Let me come home and brush my teeth because I've been drinking coffee and then we can go."

I reached out to one of our dearest friends, Vanessa Dabovich, and asked her to be a witness. Kelly Jameson, who at the time was the public information officer (PIO) for the sheriff's department, also joined as our witness and took the photo that went around the world. Jess Williams, PIO for the county at the time, took a 15-minute break and married us officially, in his office because we were aware that a state senator from the Farmington area was going to try and stop the marriages.

The thing I remember most about that time was how our story went all over the country because it was reported through the Associated Press and dozens of papers picked up the story. It was in the Washington Post, Boston Globe, San Francisco Chronicle and even made it on the Yahoo news feed.

Char and I had always felt married but there was something different when it became legal. We were finally able to enjoy our relationship and all that it provided the both of us rather than having to worry about not having a say in each other's medical care, not having any legal standing regarding ownership of our home, our investments and any other luxury that traditional opposite sex marriages have. We were finally able to enjoy our lives together without the worry of everything we had created to be ignored because we were not legally able to marry.

Then, when we had a public ceremony in October of 2013, we were able to enjoy it all over again in front of 200 people who had been cheering us on the entirety of our relationship.

Though they have been together longer, Hamblen and Ullman are nearing the 10th legal anniversary.

they didn't have friends or family with them, so the staff would take turns standing in as witnesses," said Diven, who performed 84 marriages in two and a half days. "It felt like a celebration. I'd finish up with one wedding, and then one of the staff would poke her head into the doorway and say, 'We've got another!' and on we went. I did about 20-something weddings the first day, about 40 the next.

"I remember one couple drove all the way from Louisiana, because we were the closest state they could get married in," Diven said. "I married two men who had been together for 42 years.

"The biggest thing I remember is that no matter how long the couples had been together, and no matter how much they would say that marriage wasn't a big deal, once I pronounced them legally married, it was clear that this was a profound moment in their lives," Diven said. "And it became completely clear to me that same-sex marriage was a human rights issue, not a political or social one."

Seven other counties followed Ellins' lead, issuing same-sex marriage licenses in August and September, and in Deember, "the New Mexico Supreme Court upheld my action," Ellins said of the court's ruling that county clerks must issue marriage licenses to all qualified couples regardless of gender.

A small number of same-sex marriage licenses were issued in Sandoval County in February 2004, but the practice was halted the same day and then Attorney General Patricia Madrid ruled the licenses invalid.

DIVEN

Massachusetts became the first state (and the sixth jurisdiction in the world) to legalize same-sex marriage in May 2004. In November 2003, the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court ruled in Goodridge v. Department of Public Health that the state was required to legally recognize same-sex marriage.

The Netherlands became the first country to legalize same-sex marriage in December 2000, followed by Belgium in 2003, Canada and Spain in 2005, South Africa in 2006, Norway in 2008, Sweden in 2009, Iceland, Portugal and Argentina in 2010 and Denmark in 2012.

On June 26, 2015, the U.S. Supreme Court struck down all state bans on same-sex marriage and required states to honor out-of-state same-sex marriage licenses.

Las Cruces Utilities (LCU) continues to grow, adapt, and serve the City of Las Cruces (the City) by continually finding safe, clean, and efficient ways to bring natural gas and energy to the community. To keep the community up to date on LCU's activities, several employees gave a presentation during the Las Cruces City Council Work Session on May 22, 2023.

LCU Director Adrienne L. Widmer, P.E. kicked off the presentation, Natural Gas and Energy Line of Business. Las Cruces City Council originally asked LCU to give a presentation on how natural gas is procured, but LCU took the opportunity to also cover topics such as their natural gas and energy, procurement procedures, the transition plan, and basic financial benefits.

Widmer provided an overview of LCU and their 87 years of supplying natural gas and energy to businesses and city residents. Rio Grande Natural Gas Company provided natural gas service to customers that LCU did not, but ultimately folded. The City and the Village of Hatch then formed the Rio Grande Natural Gas Association (RGNGA), which operated from about 1969-2010 as a separate entity from LCU utilities.

The top 10 consumers of natural gas include New Mexico State University (NMSU), Saputo Cheese, Memorial Medical Center, Olam West Coast Inc., City of Las Cruces, Mountain View Regional, Alaska Industries, NASA, American Linen Supply, and Las Cruces Regional Medical. There are also a total of 12 industrial customers that LCU serves.

In addition to serving the community, LCU is a proud sponsor of the Waste-Management Education Research Consortium (WERC) contest organized by the College of Engineering at NMSU. Last year, Widmer was one of the judges on the topic of Carbon Conversion for the Energy Transition. The university that won first-place converted CO<sub>2</sub> into two commercially useful chemicals: one is used as a catalyst in pharmaceuticals and the other is used for fabric dyeing.

"It is great to see new and upcoming engineers who have the same passion we have in bringing new, clean technology to help the energy transition," Widmer stated.

Widmer introduced LCU Interim Utilities Deputy Director of Natural Gas and Energy Ramiro Pereyra Jr. who provided information about the gas lines, which are regulated by the Pipeline &

Hazardous Materials Safety Administration (PHMSA). LCU currently maintains 1,011 miles of gas lines, which have different pressures depending on where they go. The lines that provide natural gas to homes have j pounds per square inch gauge (psig) and the transmission lines fed by the El Paso Natural Gas pipeline have 837 psig.

The natural gas and energy team consists of approximately 57 employees and four contract employees. LCU's Natural Gas and Energy line of business includes administration, construction, maintenance, and corrosion, pressure and service, compliance/regulation and training, and energy management. The efforts of the team have not gone unnoticed. LCU has received several awards, including the American Public Gas Association (APGA) 2022 Safety Management Excellence Award.

Gadsden school district receives national award

BULLETIN REPORT

Gadsden Independent School District's (GISD) commitment to boosting student achievement led to an honor from an organization dedicated to elevating education across the country, the New Mexico Public Education Department (NMPED) said in a news release.

The Southern Regional Education Board (SREB) presented GISD with its District Leadership Award at the 2023 Making Schools Work Conference in Florida in July. The board "applauded Gadsden's continuous improvement processes over more than a decade that are helping to transform classroom practices and schools, including student test scores and readiness for college and careers," NMPED said.

"Gadsden embodies a continuous improvement culture and their students are winners because of that," said Dr. Gary Wrinkle, SREB director of state and district partnerships. "From the superintendent to campus principals to teachers, what sets them apart is a willingness to examine current practice, seek feedback, learn from it and make adjustments – always with the attitude that they can continue to do more to improve student outcomes."

"This district is a shining example of how consistency, perseverance and a commitment to change can transform education and school culture at all levels," said NMPED Secretary Arsenio Romero.

Representatives from SREB, which covers

GADSDEN

16 states, visited GISD, reviewed its career pathways, curriculum and instruction and provided strategic planning as the district has met its bold goals, the news release said.

"GISD is humbled to receive this national recognition and proud the spotlight of success is shining on our students, teachers, staff, administrators and parents," said Nicholas Wohlgemuth, director of Gadsden's secondary schools. "This accomplishment would not be possible without all members of the school community focused on what is best for our students. In addition, it validates the long-standing partnership we have had with SREB that has helped us to reflect on our practice, maintain high expectations and focus on student outcomes."

This work has resulted in documented gains during the time Gadsden has partnered with SREB, NMPED said. For example, when it comes to the four-year graduation rate, four Gadsden high schools are over 80 percent, and the district average outpaced state performance by six percent. In math and reading achievement, there was an increase of 10 percent or more. In addition, elective offerings at the high schools were transformed from stand-alone options and traditional vocational courses to defined career pathways. Professional learning has been infused across campuses and contents, in part encouraging educators to become school leaders who want to remain in the district.

Hatch library could benefit from state endowment

BULLETIN REPORT

Hatch and six other communities in southern New Mexico are among 55 rural libraries across the state that would benefit from an increase in a state endowment being requested by the New Mexico Rural Library Initiative (NMRLI).

NMRLI is calling for an increased statewide endowment of $55 million, $1 million for each of the eligible rural libraries, more than half of the 98 public libraries recognized by the New Mexico State Library (NMSL), NMRLI said in a news release.

The endowment was created by the New Mexico Legislature in 2019. It currently has $28 million, which could provide about $23,000 per library per year. NMRLI is requesting the legislature appropriate an additional $27 million to the endowment to “sustain these libraries in perpetuity.”

More than half of the rural libraries in the state are run by only one paid employee or volunteers, the news release said. Many need repairs, technology, employees, and more. Many library directors are paid minimum wage or slightly above.

The endowment would provide each of 55 community and pueblo libraries with about $45,000 per year depending on earnings of the fund, NMRLI said.

Grant funds will also be available for the establishment and support of new libraries in small communities that don't already have one. It will also fund specialized services to rural libraries though NMSL.

In addition to Hatch, rural communities in southern New Mexico that would benefit from the initiative include Columbus, Lordsburg, Bayard, Tularosa, Cloudcroft and Gila, Neymark said.

“New Mexico's rural libraries are state treasures,” NMRLI said. “Most were established by grassroots efforts of local citizens. They provide invaluable cultural, educational and economic development resources. Unfortunately, most have no dependable operational support. In New Mexico, libraries are traditionally funded by municipal gross receipts taxes.

Many rural towns are unincorporated. Their nonprofit public libraries have no access to municipal funds. Other towns have only a small commercial sector with insufficient tax revenue to provide local services. Consequently, rural libraries struggle to stay open.”

The endowment would also provide funds for the establishment process if other rural communities in Doña Ana County and across the state want to start a library, Neymark said.

Commissioners voted to change those four locations due to wait times, parking challenges and constituent feedback, the county clerk said.

Keep it Up: Your Recycling Matters in Las Cruces

It's time for your daily trip to the blue recycling bin. You broke down the cardboard boxes and checked for food waste. You know what recyclables fit within the guidelines from the sticker on the container. But, you'd like to know if and how you're making a difference. South Central Solid Waste Authority (SCSWA) wants you to know that you are and that you do.

"Las Cruces is leading the way in recycling, and Las Cruces can only do that with the support of our residents who are the dedicated champions on the ground every day," said SCSWA director Patrick Peck. "Recycling is a powerful tool for individuals to make a tangible difference in their community and contribute to a healthier planet. By taking simple steps to recycle, residents can actively participate in the worldwide effort to conserve resources, reduce waste, and protect the environment for future generations."

When residents

Your work to keep Las Cruces recycling matters.

recycle, they engage in a circular economy where materials are reused and recycled rather than discarded after a single use.

"For example, eight plastic water bottles can be turned into a shirt," said Brandi Misquez, SCSWA Recycle Education Coordinator. "Plenty of us go through those in a few days, and you putting it into the bin is where those bottles start their journey."

By being informed about the benefits, residents who recycle can educate others about the importance of responsible waste management. Sharing knowledge and raising awareness can lead to a greater understanding of the impact of recycling on the environment and encourage more people to participate.

"Recycling is not just about the environmental impact but also about setting an example for others in the community," said Misquez. "When individuals recycle and encourage their friends, family, and neighbors to do the same, they create a ripple effect of positive change."

In the upcoming weeks, SCSWA will highlight how Las Cruces recycling makes an impact and is asking residents to share their recycling stories. If you're interested, reach out to Brandi Misquez at bmisquez@scswa.net or 575-528-3587.

South Central Solid Waste Authority manages recyclables and solid waste for residents and businesses throughout Doña Ana County. Contact SCSWA at (575) 528-3800 or visit www.SCSWA.net.

The rankings of O Fair New Mexico

I've always viewed polls and rankings with a bit of skepticism. You have to consider who's setting up the polls, who's paying for it, how the questions were asked, what's the criteria for the rankings, and on and on.

However, we New Mexicans are used to being on the low end of the rankings regardless of how they're figured.

If it's a list of something positive, such as child well-being, you can bet we're at the bottom of it.

If it's a list of something negative, such as drunk driving deaths per capita, you can bet we're at the top of it.

Lately, though, I've been noticing New Mexico slipping through the cracks and doing better than expected.

Now, don't go betting your house on a WalletHub study, but one that came out Tuesday drew me in. The topic was 2023's States with the Best & Worst Early Education System.

I gritted my teeth, braced myself and dove in. In the initial narrative explaining the study, they listed the 10 states with the best, and the 10 states with the worst. I quickly scanned the 10 best, never expecting to see New Mexico, but always hopeful. Nope, not there.

I moved to the 10 worst, bracing more firmly. Nope, not there either.

OK. That means one of two things: one, somehow we were left off the survey or, two, we ranked between 20 and 40. Ranking between 20 and 40, for New Mexico is a small victory in and of itself.

Lo and behold, there sat New Mexico at lucky No. 13. Meaning the 13th best. Arkansas ranked No. 1, with a score of 76.1. New Mexico was No. 13, with a score of 60.93. We clearly bested No. 14, my home state of Oklahoma, which came in at 56.81.

WalletHub compared the states across 12 key metrics, including access to early education (only 11 states offer universal pre-K programs; New Mexico was counted as one likely to be there soon); share of 3- and 4-year-olds enrolled; pre-K quality benchmarks met; requirement of school safety plans and audits; change in state spending per child enrolled in preschool year over year; total state Head Start program spending; monthly child care co-payment fees as share of family income.

Bringing me back down to earth a bit was WalletHub's rankings of 2023's States with the Best & Worst School Systems. Frustratingly, New Mexico didn't even make the top 50. Thanks to the pesky inclusion of the District of Columbia, New Mexico ranked dead last at 51.

In WalletHub's list of Most and Least Educated States, we fared a little better, ranking No. 42 (Thank you, Los Alamos, which always helps us skew upward in that category).

Treading back into more positive territory, in March 2023 rankings, New Mexico ranked No. 2 behind Georgia in pecan production, a category in which we ranked No. 1 in 2020, and regularly rank in the top three.

In onions, we have recently been in the top five states and, of course, we are the No. 1 chile pepper growing state.

New Mexicans recently did well in another national category – Senior Olympics.

Of the 50 states, plus a few Canadian provinces, New Mexico finished No. 15 in the medal count. Al Berryman, an 80-year-old Las Cruces who finished second in his age bracket in both the 5K and 10K, said he was asked by other competitors how the New Mexicans were doing so well. Al told them it's because we live healthy, and can train outdoors most of the year. I asked Al, "Isn't it really the green chile?"

And here's a category we're not used to being considered at all, let alone considered favorably: college football.

Most of us are familiar with New Mexico State University's long bowl game drought. We went 57 years without even appearing in a bowl game when we won the Arizona Bowl in 2017. And we won another bowl game last year.

And heading into 2023, with our second year under coach Jerry Kill, and joining Conference-USA, the Aggies have a pre-season ranking of No. 5!

OK, that's NOT No. 5 in the country. It's No. 5 in Conference-USA.

And there are only nine football teams in the conference. But still, in the old days we would have been ranked No. 9.

And to make that No. 5 ranking a bit sweeter, guess who was ranked No. 6? Our longtime regional rival and new conference foe, UTEP.

Compensate those harmed by atomic blast

The movie "Oppenheimer" draws attention to the events at Trinity Site in New Mexico on July 16, 1945, and in the days leading up to the detonation of the world's first atomic bomb. And then the scene shifts.

But for those living downwind from the blast, the damage and devastation to their lives and health caused by exposure to radioactive fallout was just beginning, and would play out in the decades to come.

Nobody died that day in the blast, but there were deaths. Much more slow and painful deaths, most involving cancer.

Americans were told the blast took place in a remote part of the New Mexico desert where nobody lived. That may have provided comfort for those living on the coasts, but it was a lie that has proven to be costly for the thousands of people who lived within 50 miles of the blast.

Trinity Site was the first explosion of the atomic bomb, but there would be many other tests to follow in other states.

After 45 years of denial and neglect, the federal government finally acknowledged in 1990 the harm it had caused, and Congress passed the Radium Exposure Compensation Act.

By then, it was far too late to help those who suffered and died from exposure to the blasts. But at least their descendants received a belated apology and minor monetary compensation.

About $2.6 billion has been awarded to those who were living, or had descendants living near test sites in Nevada, Utah and Arizona.

Incredibly, New Mexico - the place where humans were first exposed to the devastation of atomic radiation - was not included among the states receiving compensation.

WALT RUBEL
The View From Here

Was our exclusion an attempt to maintain the lie of 1945 that insisted the only things harmed by the blast were snakes and sagebrush? Or does it simply reflect a lack of political muscle? Whatever the reason, it has been an incredible injustice to those families who were living in the Tularosa Basin at the time.

The U.S. Senate has now acted to correct that injustice. In a vote of 86-11 on July 27, it passed an expansion to RECA that would take in New Mexico, Idaho, Colorado, Missouri, Montana and areas of Nevada, Utah and Arizona that had been excluded.

That's the good news. The bad news is the bill now moves to the House, which seems much more interested in exploring the cocaine-fueled antics of Hunter Biden than doing anything to help the people they serve.

There will be other larger bills needed to keep the government operating that Congress must focus on in the weeks ahead. We need to keep the pressure on House leaders not to let this fall through the cracks.

“Only Murders in the Building: Season 3”

Season three finds Charles, Oliver and Mabel (played by Steve Martin, Martin Short and Selena Gomez) investigating a murder behind the scenes of a Broadway show. Ben Glenroy (Paul Rudd) is a Hollywood action star whose Broadway debut is cut short by his untimely death. Aided by co-star Loretta Durkin (Meryl Streep), the trio embarks on their toughest case yet, all while director Oliver desperately attempts to put his show back together.

“Movie: Bait”

Martin Ward (Edward Rowe) is a cove fisherman, without a boat. His brother Steven (Giles King) has re-purposed their father's vessel as a tourist tripper, driving a wedge between the brothers. With their childhood home now a get-away for London money, Martin is displaced to the estate above the picturesque harbor. As his struggle to restore the family to their traditional place creates increasing friction with tourists and locals alike, a tragedy at the heart of the family changes his world.

“Movie: Enys Men”

A wildlife volunteer on an uninhabited island off the British coast descends into a terrifying madness that challenges her grip on reality and pushes her into a living nightmare. Evoking the feeling of discovering a reel of never-before-seen celluloid unspooling in a haunted movie palace, this horror film from Mark Jenkin stars Mary Woodvine, Edward Rowe, John Woodvine, Flo Crowe and Joe Gray.

“Movie: Sam & Kate”

When Sam (Jake Hoffman) returns to his small town to care for his ailing father (Dustin Hoffman), he soon finds himself falling for a local woman, Kate (Schuyler Fisk). Simultaneously, his father begins finding love with Kate's mother (Sissy Spacek). But both couples must confront their past in order to make their new love work for the future.

tonight's picks

FRANK PEACOCK RETROSPECTIVE
AUGUST 4 - AUGUST 28230 S. WATER STREET
575-523-6403

Maya Rudolph and Amy Poehler from "Baking It"

Deliciously Twisted
Classics
A&E 10 a.m.

Chefs put their own unique (and extravagant) spins on familiar dishes in this weekly series, which airs two new episodes back-to-back. The first has chefs elevating classic foods with extravagant ingredients and the next episode features breakfast foods.

BIG3 Basketball
KDBC 11 a.m.

We're getting closer to season's end but it's still very much anyone's game. While the Killer 3's, Ghost Ballers, Power and Triplets all came out of the gates hot, this week's matchups from the Spectrum Center in Charlotte, North Carolina, might seal the playoffs.

The Wild Sides
BBCA 6 p.m.

A drought is making life hard for the animals of Mashatu, Botswana. Its dry riverbed is home to numerous characters, including elephants, a mother leopard and her cub, jackals, and baboons. Their story of survival is told from multiple perspectives.

Making Waves
HALL 6 p.m.

Music exec Amelia (Holland Roden) goes to a festival on the Outer Banks to check out an elusive new band and discovers that the group is led by Will (Corey Cott), who happens to be her childhood sweetheart. There might be a conflict of interest — her feelings for him.

Boy in the Walls LIFE 6 p.m.

It's time we start holding architects responsible. Alisa Jensen (Ryan Michelle bathe) hoped for a peaceful existence after moving to rural Connecticut with her husband Chris (Luke Camilleri) and his children until she begins to hear strange noises in the house.

Love & Marriage: Detroit
OWN 6 p.m.

Sometimes you need to re-connect in order to remember why you disconnected from someone to begin with. And while these couples are trying to make the most of their lives in Detroit, even the best of intentions can make you question your next move in this reality spinoff series

Baking It
KTSM 7 p.m.

Peacock's baking competition continues its summer run on NBC. Hosted by Maya Rudolph and Amy Poehler, this episode finds the bakers tasked with baking a pie that puts their best taste forward and the final four continue on to the finals.

Recipe for Disaster
KVIA2 8 p.m.

Three professional chefs and their novice cooking buddies must prepare delicious dishes under wildly adverse conditions, from attempting to sear while on a sinking ship to making risotto while bouncing in baby jumpers. Only one team will be named Masters of Disaster.

Howie Mandel from "America's Got Talent"

The Secret of Skinwalker Ranch HISTORY 7 p.m.

Windy City Rehab: Alison's Dream Home HGTV 7 p.m.

It may have taken every bit of 10 months, but Alison is laser focused on finally having a place of her own in Chicago. Unfortunately, the push to the finish line isn't easy. She needs more money and has to ride the contractors hard to wrap it up.

America's Got Talent KTSM 7 p.m.

The show must go on, and does with a new episode. Hosted by Terry Crews, this series sees judges Simon Cowell, Heidi Klum, Howie Mandel and Sofia Vergara critiquing performances from amateur performers – including singers, dancers, magicians and more.

The Ultimate Fighter ESPN 8 p.m.

Mike Tyson famously said "Everyone has a plan until they

Doubling Down with the Derricos TLC 8 p.m.

The Derricos are dealing with multiple issues as they prepare for a family Thanksgiving to remember. First, GG is stressed as she gets her final scan results to discover if the tumor is gone. Then, Darian leaves her comfort zone when she decides to take dance lessons.

Taking time renews passion

In the heat of this very hot summer, many of us find the time to escape the high temperatures by planning vacations, or ‘holiday’ as they call it in Europe, to cooler areas. The whole purpose of taking a vacation is to relax, enjoy new scenery and to get a new perspective on our work environments. In the current world in which we live, however, do we really, really get away? Like most of you, our cell phone goes everywhere with us, even on vacation. Justifying that we need to stay on top of emails, calls and office, we truly never become

DEBBI MOORE
GLCC President & CEO

‘unplugged,’ do we? I’m as guilty as the next person...just ask my family!

After thinking about the proverbial “vacation,” I began to think about those entrepreneurs, those small business owners, those one-person offices...

how do they find the time to take a vacation? Who do they leave in charge of the business? Do they close the business? How do they begin to justify the loss of sales?

These questions are just a few of many the local entrepreneur wrestles with when it comes to planning time

FROM THE AMBASSADOR CHAIR

Recognizing Ambassador ‘lifetimers’

This past month, we have been recognizing our newest “lifetimer” Ambassadors. You’re probably wondering, what is a “lifetimer?” Let me explain. In order to become a “lifetimer” you must either serve as chair of the Ambassadors or have actively participated as an Ambassador for at least 10 years. This is a huge accomplishment and requires much dedication. I would like to recognize and congratulate our newest “lifetimers:” Leslie Martinez, Mary Iadicicco, and Rick Jackson. These three have exemplified outstanding leadership in our group. All have actively participated in several committees, volunteer activities and so much more. Congratulations again, we cannot thank you enough for all of your contributions!

On Wednesday, July 26, the Greater Las Cruces Chamber of Commerce welcomed Workspace 141, 141 Roadrunner Pkwy Ste 141A, as a new member. Connor Pieratt, General Manager, holds the proclamation while Alysha Garcia, Member Coordinator, and Amy Hummer, Owner, cut the ribbon.

away from the business. Research shows that the successful entrepreneur makes and takes the time for vacation. Time away from the business can give them a new perspective, new direction and renewed passion. These “passion-driven” entrepreneurs and small business owners are among some of the hardest working people in the world. Funny how it is, when your work life and personal life is one, it can be complicated to draw a line between work and home. Taking this time away can be reinvigorating for everyone.

There are three simple things an entrepreneur can gain from taking time away:

1. Renewal of pas-

tion. The entrepreneur typically begins their business based on passion. That vision to be their own boss, manage their own schedule and make their own decisions. Adding all the pressures surrounding the art of “owning” your business, the passion oftentimes takes a backseat. Finding a different venue, new environment, will provide you opportunity to find your passion again. Passion drives vision and vision drives success.

2. Renewal of focus. While it may not drive the entrepreneur like passion, success cannot be achieved without focus. Have you ever kept looking at a piece of paper and all the letters seemed to be scrambling together to the point it can't be read? This can also happen to a business owner who has looked over their business plan so many times they can't see the end from the beginning. Stepping away can bring new ideas to the forefront and bring those jumbled letters into focus. Focusing in on the next goals, the next step and the next new product can bring that business plan back to life once again.

3. Renewal of purpose. There's not an entrepreneur I have met over the past 30 years who, not only has a purpose for their business, but also a passion for their community. Making an impact, whether it is their family, their employees or the community around them becomes a central part of the heart of their business. Visiting new communities, those quaint local shops, gives us opportunity to have a conversation with the owners, managers and employees of the impact they make in their area. New ideas are born, along with a revival of purposeful impact.

While far away trips are good, I trust you consider some “staycations” in our beautiful state! Truly nothing matches up to the wonderful beauty we experience every day in the Land of Enchantment. Full of its culture, unique shopping venues and excellent food, it is a great place to create memories. It continues to my passion, my focus and my purpose to provide the tools for our visionary entrepreneurs in our community to achieve success and be impactful. The success in “unplugging” can be challenging at best. Perhaps, though, relaxation at some level can give us new energy, new passion and renewed focus.

The Greater Las Cruces Chamber stands ready to help your business be successful. Want to get involved? Want to make a difference? Give me a call at the Chamber at 575-524-1968. WE ARE #lascrucesstrong. “YOUR business is OUR business.”

What's Available NOW On NETFLIX

“Documentary: Mark Cavendish: Never Enough”

With exclusive access to Mark, his wife Peta, his team-mates, and his coaches, the film charts the rise, fall and resurrection of a genuine sporting great and the wildest, most effective, and most exciting cyclist ever as he works to break the record for most stage wins ever in the history of the Tour de France.

“Untold: Johnny Football”

This critically acclaimed docuseries returns with Volume 3, a four-week summer event that pulls back the curtain on tales from the wide (and wild) world of sports. This installment looks at Johnny Manziel, who, in 2012, was the brightest star in all of sports as an undersized freshman quarterback at unheralded Texas A&M. Dubbed “Johnny Football,” the magnetic football player captured the nation’s attention and initially relished his alter ego, but eventually Manziel rejected his newfound fame and suddenly lost his way. With astonishing candor, Manziel and those closest to him details what happened behind the scenes.

“Painkiller”

A fictionalized retelling of events, this scripted limited series explores some of the origins and aftermath of the opioid crisis in America, highlighting the stories of the perpetrators, victims, and truth-seekers whose lives are forever altered by the invention of OxyContin. An examination of crime, accountability, and the systems that have repeatedly failed hundreds of thousands of Americans, the series is based on the book “Pain Killer” by Barry Meier and the New Yorker Magazine article “The Family That Built the Empire of Pain” by Patrick Radden Keefe. Uzo Aduba, Matthew Broderick, Taylor Kitsch, Dina Shihabi, West Duchovny and John Rothman star.

“Movie: Heart of Stone”

Secret Agent Rachel Stone (Gal Gadot) is not your average operative — Stone is a member of an elusive and mysterious group of elite spies known as the Charter. The most highly trained agents of all, with no political leanings and no national allegiances, the Charter work together to keep peace in a turbulent world. To achieve their lofty aims, those agents rely on a one-of-a-kind asset called the Heart, the world’s most advanced and powerful AI. When a hacker sets out to take control of the Heart and take over the world, it’s up to Agent Stone to stop them before it’s too late. Jamie Dornan, Alia Bhatt, Sophie Okonedo, Jing Lusi and Paul Ready also star.

"All in the Family: Complete Series"

This series, which aired from 1971-1979, follows the working-class Bunker Family in Queens, New York, as they squabble and grapple with the important issues that come up in their everyday lives. Carroll O'Connor, Jean Stapleton, Rob Reiner and Sally Struthers star.

"Movie: 80 For Brady"

Four best friends go on an unforgettable journey to see Tom Brady play in Super Bowl LI. Lily Tomlin, Jane Fonda, Rita Moreno, and Sally Field star in this hilarious true story of friendship, fun, and living life to the fullest, no matter your age.

"Movie: The Revenant"

While exploring uncharted wilderness in 1823, legendary frontiersman Hugh Glass (Leonardo DiCaprio in his Oscar-winning role) sustains injuries from a brutal bear attack. When his hunting team leaves him for dead, Glass must utilize his survival skills to find a way back home while avoiding natives on their own hunt. Grief-stricken and fueled by vengeance, Glass treks through the wintry terrain to track down John Fitzgerald (Tom Hardy), the former confidant who betrayed and abandoned him.

"Movie: Red, White & Royal Blue"

Alex Claremont-Diaz (Taylor Zakhar Perez), the son of the first woman President of the United States (Uma Thurman), and Britain's Prince Henry (Nicholas Galitzine) have a lot in common: stunning good looks, undeniable charisma, international popularity...and a total disdain for each other. When their long-running feud comes to a head in a disastrous—and very public—altercation at a royal event, their forced, staged "truce" unexpectedly begins to thaw into sparks neither of them expected.

Unique 'Bat Boy' ushers in LCCT season

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

"It just feels like they're part of my face now," said Christian Nieves, who plays the title character in Las Cruces Community Theatre's (LCCT) upcoming production of "Bat Boy" and has been wearing fake ears and teeth in rehearsals since early July.

"It feels weird not having them I feel so comfortable with the character."

"Bat Boy: The Musical," directed by Brandon Brown and Sage Drake, opens LCCT's 61st season. Performances are 7:30 p.m. Friday-Saturday, Aug. 11-12, 18-19 and 25-26; and 2 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 13, 20 and 27, at LCCT, 313 N. Main St. Tickets are $15-$20.

"The musical is an American horror rock musical based on a June 23, 1992, Weekly World News story about a half-boy, half-bat, dubbed 'Bat Boy,' who grew up living in a cave in the West Virginia Hills (who was) then brought into the sleepy town of Hope Falls, which both intrigues and shocks the inhabitants," according to the LCCT website.

In addition to Nieves, the cast includes Shari Dumond, Eric Dumond, Alyssa Gose, Bianca Castro, Peyton Womble, Eva Cullen, Katie Mayers, Jose Luis Solorzano, Peggy Flores, Melissa Muñoz Chavez, Hugo De Billie V, Kacie Bauer, John Kulpa, Tanya Camargo and Gabriella Azollini.

Nieves said the play's "subject matter interested me," so he decided to try out for a part, never thinking he would be cast in the title role. He has been doing theatre for about 15 years in Colorado and Las Cruces, Nieves said - "whatever I can do to be on stage."

"Bat Boy" is "a group effort," Nieves said. "To say I'm the lead wouldn't be fair."

Learning lines and rehearsing "doesn't feel like work," he said. "Some people do sports; I do theatre. It's good to take a break from yourself and escape from reality for two or three hours a day."

"It's fun to get back into theatre," said cast member Peyton Womble, who plays Rick Taylor. "I've never played a role like this. 'It's just really interesting."

"Bat Boy" is "not a show I imagined anyone in Las Cruces, let alone LCCT, doing," Womble said, advising audience members to "come in with an open mind."

Womble received the NMSU Theatre Department's 2023 Hershel Zohn Award as the department's outstanding senior. Womble also won awards for acting and assistant music directing for NMSU's 2023 production of "Godspell."

"We just kind of clicked," Bianca Castro said of the cast in which she plays Sheriff Reynolds. "We're very supportive of each other."

Castro played Miss Honey LCCT's 2023 production of "Matilda." She also regularly directs productions for A Children's Theatre of the Mesilla Valley.

Gose, who plays Shelley, said she was drawn to "Bat Boy" because of its challenging score and subject matter.

"There's a key change on every page," Gose said.

"Bat Boy" is a challenging show to do, said Melissa Muñoz Chavez, who plays Maggie and Clem.

"It's hard," she said. "At the end of the day, when you've got it, you're sailing."

The show also contains "a lot of heartwarming stuff," said Muñoz Chavez, who retired last year after a long career teaching theatre at Mayfield High School. "It's pretty dark, fantastic and funny. It has a cult classic feel to it. The music is fantastic."

Gose starred in "Singin' in the Rain" and "The Complete History of America (abridged)" for BCTC.

Cast members Shari and Eric

Dumond, who are husband and wife, live in El Paso and regularly make the trip to downtown Las Cruces for "Bat Boy" rehearsals. "We heard the music," Eric Dumond said. "There was something interesting about it."

"We had worked with Brandon and Sage in "Elf" and thought it would be fun to work with them again," Shari Dumond said. "It's so fun. The cast is amazing."

"It looks like a great show," said cast member Hugo De Billie V, performing in his first production for Las Cruces Com-

Variety marks theme of coming productions

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

"We at LCCT are super excited to offer a great mix of musicals and plays, some popular, well-known shows, as well as newer, lesser-known shows," said Las Cruces Community Theatre's long-time board of directors president Janet Beatty-Payne, who has also starred and directed many shows at community theatre, including her recent performance as Mama Rose in LCCT's production of "Gypsy" in June. Our 61st season is sure to have something for every theatre goer."

Here is the lineup of shows for the 2023-24 season:

- "Bat Boy: The Musical," directed by Brandon Brown and Sage Drake, Aug. 11-27. The horror rock musical was written by Brian Flemming and Keythe Farley, lyrics by Laurence O'Keefe.

"Opening our season with a unique, entertaining musical such as 'Bat Boy,' is a great way to introduce our LCCT audience to a show they probably have never seen before, or even heard of," Beatty-Payne said. "There are so many great musicals that don't have big-name titles that are so wonderful, and I'm so glad LCCT is offering this great opportunity for our patrons to enjoy something new and different. With Brandon Brown and Sage Drake at the helm of Bat Boy, I am confident our opening production will hit it out of the park munity Theatre. A graduate of the New Mexico State University Theatre Department, De Billie is executive director of Blank Conversations Theatre Company (BCTC) of Las Cruces. "It's fun to learn a new show and let it become you. "We've had a great time," said "Bat Boy" stage manager Crystal Milvo.

Gose described the show as cross between "Sweeney Todd" and "Hair."

The play was written by Scott Carter, executive producer/writer of HBO’s “Real Time with Bill Maher,” and first performed in 2014 in Los Angeles. Jefferson, Dickens and Tolstoy are the play’s only three cast members.

- “Sister Act: A Divine Musical Comedy,” directed by Vanessa Dabovich and Luis Castro, May 31-June 16. With music by Alan Menken, lyrics by Glenn Slater and book by Cheri Steinkellner and Bill Steinkellner, the musical is based on the 1992 film “Sister Act.” It premiered in 2006 in Pasadena, California, and opened on Broadway in April 2011 for 561 performances. It was nominated for best musical and other Tony awards in 2012.

The Weekly World News’ Bat Boy comes to life in the LCCT musical opening Aug. 11.

“It’s great to be able to welcome so many first-time directors to LCCT,” Beatty-Payne said. “All of these directors have a great deal of experience directing at other theatres over the years, so we know that all of our productions are in good hands and are on track to be in keeping with LCCT’s track record of excellence.”

'Siblings' bring sneak preview

BULLETIN REPORT

El Paso Pro-Musica (EPPM) will present a sneak peek of its "Summerfest '23" series at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 9, at Hotel Encanto, 705 S. Telshor Blvd. in Las Cruces.

The special "sneak peek" performance, "Sibling Rivalry," will feature violinist Helen Kim and her brother, pianist Michael Kim, and violinist Allison Bailey and her brother, Grammy-winning cellist Zuill Bailey.

The musicians are all family friends, having performed together in concerts throughout the world, said Felipa Solis, executive director of EPPM.

There is no charge to attend the concert, but EPPM is asking for donations at the door for its educational outreach and community engagement program.

"What a thrill to perform alongside my amazing sister, violinist and educator Allison Bailey, and our good friends, Helen and Michael," said Bailey, EPPM artistic director. "We will give Las Cruces a taste of dueling duos and trios and amazing musical excitement."

The Kim family grew up in Canada,

Siblings Allison and Zuill Bailey, and Helen and Michael Kim play in Las Cruces Aug. 9.

where both made their debuts with the Calgary Philharmonic, Helen at age 6 and Michael at age 11. Zuill has served as EPPM artistic director for 21 years; Allison serves as assistant concertmaster for two orchestras in Virginia.

The Kims and Baileys will perform the full "Sibling rivalry" in concert at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 11, at UTEP's Fox Fine Arts Recital Hall in El Paso. Tickets are $25 and are available at eppm.org.

Historians to discuss Trinity

BULLETIN REPORT

The Mesilla Valley Film Society (MVFS) will host two renowned local historians – Dave Kirkpatrick and Jim Eckles, to the Fountain Theatre, Saturday, Aug. 5, to "discuss the history and archeology of the Trinity National Historic Landmark and the making of the first atomic bomb," MVFS said in a news release.

There is no charge to attend the event, which is 2 p.m. Saturday at the Fountain, 2469 Calle de Guadalupe in Mesilla. Early arrival is advised as seating is limited.

The event is part of the MVFS' "Atomic Fest," a series of films and lectures exploring the legacy of the atomic bomb that continues at the Fountain Theatre through August.

Kirkpatrick is an archeologist, historian and associate director of research and public education at the Las Cruces nonprofit Human Systems Research, Inc. He has conducted extensive research on the buildings and structures at the Trinity Base Camp and the West 800 Instrumentation Shelter. He will discuss the archeology of the Trinity site, MVFS said.

Eckles is the former public affairs officer for White Sands Missile Range (WSMR) and author of "Pocket Full of Rockets" and "Trinity." His talk, "Trinity Site, Oppenheimer and the First Atomic Bomb," is on the history of Trinity Test

Site. Eckles retired from a 30-year career at WSMR in 2007 and was elected to the WSMR Hall of Fame in 2013.

A discussion and question-and-answer period will follow the presentations, MVFS said. Both authors will be available following the discussion to sign books.

July 16 was the 78th anniversary of the test of the atomic bomb at Trinity Site. Aug. 6 is the 78th anniversary of the day an atomic bomb was dropped on Hiroshima, Japan. Aug. 9 is the 78th anniversary of the day an atomic bomb was dropped on Nagasaki, Japan.

Borderland Arts presents summer chamber music

BY MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

“We believe Southern New Mexico, west Texas and Ciudad Juarez have the great potential to become a mecca for the arts because of their unique cultures, immense diversity and various perspectives,” said Las Cruces musician and arts advocate Erik Maese. “we want to open the doors for opportunities by creating those opportunities.”

Maese and Jorge Martinez-Rios, associate professor in the New Mexico State University Music Department, founded Borderland Arts Foundation (BAF) earlier this year to accomplish those goals.

In collaboration with

New Horizons Orchestra of Las Cruces, BAF is sponsoring the Summer Chamber Music Festival, which has performances at 7 p.m. Friday, Aug. 11, Rio Grande Theatre, 211 N. Main St.; and 3 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 13, at First Presbyterian Church, 200 E. Boutz Road.

Tickets to the Aug. 11 performance at RGT are $15. The Aug. 13 concert at First Presbyterian Church is free, but a donation of $15 is requested.

The 30-member string orchestra that will perform at both concerts comprises musicians from Las Cruces, El Paso, Juarez and other regional orchestras, and will be conducted by Martinez-Rios, who is conductor of the NMSU Philharmonic and principal violinist in the Las Cruces Symphony Orchestra.

The concerts will include performances of “On the Nature of Daylight,” by Max Richter (1966- ), German-born British composer and pianist; “St. Paul’s Suite,” by British composer Gustav Holst (1874-1934); “Adagio for Strings,” by American composer, pianist and conductor Samuel Barber (1910-81); and “Serenade for Strings,” by Pyotr Ilyich Tchaikovsky (1840-93).

BAF was founded to “keep talent local,” Martinez-Rios said, and to give local musicians – professionals, community members and students at NMSU and local schools – more opportunities to perform the chamber music they love. BAF will also sponsor opera and ballet, and its Savor the Music program engages local chefs to “create menus inspired by the music we program,” Maese said.

BAF was also created to address “the lack of high-caliber artistic events that represent the diversity of the area,” said Maese, BAF president and CEO.

The foundation also will provide educational opportunities, including music lessons, for K-12 music students regardless of their ability to pay, said Maese, who has been playing the violin since age 10, thanks to an inspirational elementary-school teacher and other “really strong teachers in Las Cruces Public Schools.”

“Through private donations, sponsorships, and grants we look forward to ensuring no one is turned away due to financial limitations,” he said.

“I’ve always been a huge advocate for the arts,” Maese said. “We believe in cultivating the talent here and creating the opportunities here.”

For NMSU students, BAF concerts are “an opportunity to perform with very high caliber musicians,” said Maese, a native of Las Cruces who recently returned here after 11 years in Albuquerque.

That’s because BAF is bringing nationally and internationally known performers to Las Cruces and the region. Martinez-Rios said, including operatic soprano Barbara Padilla, whose recent concert in Juarez was sold out, and Korean-born violinist Mari Lee.

“We can feel people genuinely care for the arts in this region,” is what visiting artists tell him,

Jorge Martinez-Rios co-founded the Borderlands Arts Foundation to help open musical doors in our region. The group will present chamber music events with the New Horizons Orchestra Friday, Aug. 11, and Sunday, Aug. 13, Martinez-Rios said. “They say it’s a treat to visit Las Cruces. That’s really nice to hear.”

Another goal of the foundation is to perform the music of composers from throughout the border region, including Latin American and female composers, said Martinez-Rios, who has performed with orchestras in the United States and Mexico, was a featured artist on a Latin Grammy-winning recording and was nominated for a Latin Grammy in 2022. He was named “one of the most important young artists today” by former Mexican President Felipe Calderon.

“You don’t see a lot of people who look like us who are represented in the music we play,” Maese said.

And, BAF wants to play pieces by local composers as well, and “cultivate that talent,” said Martinez-Rios, who is also a composer.

Martinez-Rios said he, Maese and others have “knocked on so many doors” in the past four years to lay the groundwork for BAF and the performances it sponsors.

“The response has been incredible,” he said.

“I wanted to give back to this community I love,” Maese said.

Romeo, Juliet get their buzz on

BULLETIN REPORT

The Blank Conversations Theatre Company (BCTC) returns to the stage with a new version of the intoxicating series of actors performing Shakespeare while drinking.

"Brews with the Bard: Romeo & Juliet Get Trashed" plays at 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Aug. 18 and 19 at the Rio Grande Theatre, 211 N. Main St.

"Brews with the Bard" is a series of productions presented by BCTC, inspired by the phenomenon of "Drunk Shakespeare" in New York and Chicago, in which a rotating group of actors attempt to perform a Shakespeare classic while growing increasingly intoxicated.

BCTC presented "Brews with the Bard: A Topsy Twelfth Night," directed by Riley Merritt, at Grounded last summer, which proved the concept to be a hit.

"Romeo & Juliet Get Trashed" is a drunken take on the tragic love story, organized by Darcy Harman and Gus David Sanchez. The cast features Mattie Ruminer and Reagan Szulc (both seen in Green Day's AMERICAN IDIOT) as the titular characters, with an ensemble featuring Yocelin Torres, Devin Lowther, Rachel Maze, Christian Tercero, Chris Quezada, Liz Garcia, Ethan Trujillo and Emilia Linley.

"Topsy Twelfth Night" proved to me that people can engage with Shakespeare when they have a reason to be, and alcohol helps that engagement" said Sanchez, returning to co-direct for BCTC.

"People think of Shakespeare as dry and boring; they forget that he was writing for the people and the people drank more beer than water," said Harman, who played Maria in last year's "A Topsy Twelfth Night."

Doors will open at the Rio Grande Theatre at 6 p.m. both nights. The theatre will offer a discount on alcohol options during the show, with a drink limit. Tickets are $10 and can be found at www.riograndetheatre.org and more information about Blank Conversations can be found at www.blankconversations.org

MVEDA surpasses economic development goals

BULLETIN REPORT

With a mission to “grow the wealth of Doña Ana County through the creation of economic-based job opportunities for its residents,” the Mesilla Valley Economic Development Alliance has met or exceeded all but one of its year-to-date targets, long-time MVEDA President and CEO Davin Lopez told MVEDA’s Aug. Business in the NMBorderplex Forum hosted by the nonprofit at Hotel Encanto.

From the MVEDA FY22-23 dashboard through June 30, 2023:

- Capital investment: The goal was $45 million. MVEDA reached more than $420 million, which is 934.7 percent of its goal;

- Jobs created: The target was 900, the actual was 931, or 103.4 percent;
- Qualified prospects: The target was 64. MVEDA reached 84, 129.2 percent;

El Indio chips featured

BULLETIN REPORT

A new initiative at Walmart is shining a spotlight on some of New Mexico’s favorite snack brands. The retailer is giving El Indio chips top placement at its stores in Las Cruces.

The local snack will be the first snack a customer sees when they enter the chip aisle, so they can easily find their local favorite.

Las Cruces shoppers can also go directly to the source, El Indio Tortilla Shop at 150 E. Madrid Ave. In addition to its chips and tortillas, El Indio also serves freshly made Mexican food for take-out.

Walmart is spotlighting more than 35 regional chip brands across the county to get increased visibility at local Walmart stores. The retailer’s goal is to strengthen communities and support local and regional brands, the company said in a news release.

With prominent placement in the aisle, Walmart will highlight local favorites for customers, the release said.

Aggies getting attention as season approaches

BULLETIN REPORT

The New Mexico State University football team surprised a lot of people in 2022 by winning six of its last seven games, culminating with a victory in the Quick Lane Bowl.

The Aggies, in their second year under coach Jerry Kill, begin their season in three weeks, and won't be able to sneak up on anyone this year.

At its recent media day, Conference-USA released the results of its media poll, with NMSU projected to finish fifth among the conference's nine football teams.

Western Kentucky earned 18 of 22 possible first-place votes to take home the preseason title with Liberty coming in second, receiving four first-place votes.

The Aggies beat Liberty last November 49-14 to secure its spot in the Quick Lane Bowl. Slotted just above NM State in the preseason poll were Middle Tennessee (third) and Louisiana Tech (fourth). The Aggies sit above UTEP, Jacksonville State, FIU, and Sam Houston in the preseason poll. The long-time NMSU-UTEP rivalry now has conference stakes. This year's matchup with the Miners will be in El Paso Wednesday, Oct. 18.

Yes, you read that right. Wednesday. A feature of C-USA is a slate of mid-week games: three on Wednesday and one on Tuesday.

Home opener Aug. 26

NM State will kick off the season, however, on the more traditional Saturday, Aug. 26, versus UMass at Aggie Memorial Stadium.

Single-game tickets for the contests against UMass, Western Illinois, FIU, Sam Houston, Middle Tennessee, and Jacksonville State went on sale Aug. 1, and will be priced as low as $12 when purchased prior to gameday. The Aggies have six home games this year.

The Pan American Center ticket office is open

Monday-Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Season tickets for the Aggie football home slate can also be purchased at the Pan American Center or by calling 575-646-1420.

The game against UMass will be broadcast on ESPN, just as the Quick Lane Bowl was, giving the Aggies back-to-back televised appearances on "the mothership."

Preseason love

Five NM State players were named to the Conference USA Preseason Watch List: Diego Pavia, Shiyazh Pete, Dion Wilson Jr., Andre Seldon and Jonathan Brady were all named as players to watch throughout the 2023 season.

In addition, Pavia, the Aggies' quarterback last season, was named to the watch list for the 87th Maxwell Award presented annually to the outstanding player in college football.

The Maxwell Football Club made the announcement July 31.

NMSU's 2023 football season begins Saturday, Aug. 26, with a 5 p.m. game against UMass at Aggie Memorial Stadium. Aggie quarterback Diego Pavia, above, was named to the Maxwell Award watch list, and he and four other Aggies were named to the preseason watch list for Conference-USA, which NMSU officially joins this season.

Pavia and Pete solidified an up-tempo offense that led NM State to the Quick Lane Bowl title in 2022. Both Pavia and Pete appeared in 2022 with each starting at least eight games.

Anchoring the left side of the offensive line, Pete helped pave the way for three consecutive 200-plus rushing yard showings to close the season and a school-record 25 rushing touchdowns.

In 2022, Pavia put together an impressive campaign. On his way to Quick Lane Bowl Most Valuable Player honors, Pavia threw for a team-high 1,450 yards and 13 touchdowns. A dual-threat quarterback, Pavia also added 508 rushing yards and a team-high six touchdowns.

Before coming to NM State, Pavia led New Mexico Military Institute to a NJCAA National Championship.

Prior to playing at NMMI, Pavia went to Volcano Vista High School in Albuquerque.

FAMU tabs Ag assistant

NM State assistant women's basketball coach Bridgette Gordon was named head coach at Florida A&M July 28.

Gordon was a two-time national champion as a player at Tennessee, and was a member of the USA 1988 gold medal winning team in Korea.

Gordon had joined the Aggie staff June 2.

Exploring origins, shots unique to 'links' courses

If you were watching any of the 151st playing of the Open Championship (aka "British Open") at Royal Liverpool golf course in England, won by Brian Harman, you were looking at a seaside links golf course, where the Dee River forms an estuary and empties into the Irish Sea.

Folks mistake "links" golf as meaning chain links, or holes linked together. But the term comes from the Old English word "hlinc" for rising ground, or ridge, and refers to sandy area along the coast.

True links courses are mostly in Scotland, Ireland and England. There are other designated golf course designs -- heathland courses, sandbelt courses and parkland courses. New Mexico State University Golf Course is a parkland course, self-contained, bordered, partly fenced with no adjoining residences.

Here we are concerned only with links courses. In mainland U.S. there are 18 links style golf courses in the officially recognized top 100 courses. These are National Links of America (NY), Sand Hills (NE), Pine Valley (NJ), Friar's Head (NY), Prairie Dunes (KS), Bandon Dunes (four courses) (OR), Maidstone (NY), Kiawah Island (SC), Ballyneal (CO), Whistling Straits (WI), Old Sandwich (MA), Kittansett (MA), Monterey Peninsula (two courses) (CA), Streamsong (two courses) (FL), The Prairie Club (NE), Sand Valley (two courses) (WI), Sebonack (NY) Chambers Bay (WA). There are more good ones, to be sure, but not in the top 100. Personally, I have only played four on that list: three at Bandon Dunes and Pine Valley. But a few years ago, to my delight five years ago I played six links courses in the Southwestern area or Ireland, one of which was Water-ville G.C. where a lot of the pros play the week before the Open.

One feature of links courses, especially in the U.K., is the frequent smattering of "pot" bunkers throughout the golf course. Royal Liverpool had over 80 of them, which were 10 to 20 feet in diameter and 5 to 10 feet high, with revetted embankments, resembling a stacked earth facing. Another feature is the presence of gorse bushes lining many holes off the fairway and rough. Gorse is a dense, leafy, prickly bush that can swallow golf balls. Links courses, like St. Andrews, Carnoustie and Royal Liverpool have fairly dry and firm fairways, tending to favor low running shots off the tee and to the green.

Playing a links type course, whether across the pond or in the States, demands adjustments to the game you would play on "regular" courses, as the pros and amateurs know quite well when they tee it up at the Open Championship. In addition to the sometimes quirky designs, features and set-ups of links in England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales, the weather in those venues can bring four seasons in one day. At the Open Championship this year, the weather was in the 60s for three days, but rained hard all day for the final round, softening fairways and greens, making very different playing conditions. Players had to rely on caddies to keep clubs, grips, gloves, everything dry; they were a busy lot.

Whether playing links courses in the U.K. or elsewhere you need to be aware of adjustments to your game and your swing. My tips on playing on links courses include hitting more irons and hybrids off the tees since the fairways are typically fast and the penalties for missing are severe. Also, instead of hitting high shots at the pin it's usually better to run the ball up with a low boring shot. The wind may influence your shot selection more than the distance of elevation. When you need to play low penetrating "punch" shots play the ball back in your stance and trap it. The green surrounds at Royal Liverpool were typical of many links courses with collection areas off and below the greens that are closely mown, leading smart Open Championship players to putt rather than chip the ball. One factor with putting on links greens is to account for some strong winds that can alter the roll of the ball. Links courses are definitely challenging but fun to play.
