Vasquez works on bipartisan bill to help ranchers

BULLETIN REPORT

Earlier this month, U.S. Rep. Gabe Vasquez (D-NM-02) announced the introduction of the bipartisan and bicameral Ranching Without Red Tape Act alongside Rep. John Curtis (R-UT), Rep. John Duarte (R-CA) and Sen. John Barrasso (R-WY) that aims to make it easier for ranchers to make minor range improvements on federal lands.

“In my conversations with cattle growers and food producers, I’ve heard repeatedly about unreasonable delays in the federal permitting process to make minor improvements, such as repairing a pasture fence,” said Vasquez. “Common-sense improvements should receive expedited approval without the red tape. I’m proud to introduce the Ranching Without Red Tape Act to help put food on our tables. A simple improvement request can take years to complete, even under the best conditions, and larger improvements can take even longer. We can both protect our natural resources, while supporting small businesses with this common-sense proposal.”

The Ranching Without Red Tape Act aims to make it easier for ranchers on federally leased lands to make range improvements without negotiating their permits or waiting months for agency responses to their requests.

The bill removes bureaucratic restrictions on ranchers, allowing some of our nation’s most important producers to conduct their operations more easily while protecting our lands from major unsupervised changes.

“We appreciate Congressman Vasquez and his effort to reduce the red tape associated with ranching on federal lands,” said President Larry Reagan, New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau. “This legislation will help ranchers get much-needed improvements on the ground faster. Ranchers are integral partners to our federal land managers in actively managing our public lands and responsibly stewarding our natural resources for the benefit and enjoyment of all.”

“Ranchers work on the ground to improve range conditions and resources,” said Tom Paterson, owner of Spur Ranch in Catron County. “That includes repairing breached stock tanks, cleaning those tanks, laying in pipelines, storage tanks and drinkers for water distribution and many other projects that benefit livestock and wildlife and distribute animals across the landscape. Delays in approving improvements thwart wise stewardship. This cattle rancher endorses legislation, such as Ranching Without Red Tape, that seeks to eliminate those delays. I am grateful to the congressman for working to address this issue.”

“American ranchers are valuable stewards of our shared working lands. They work day-in and day-out to improve these vital natural resources,” said Chad Franke, Rocky Mountain Farmers Union President. “Our ranchers need the flexibility to make timely improvements within their grazing allotments to ensure they can remain nimble and build resilience in a changing climate. We thank Congressman Vasquez for his leadership in bringing forward this common-sense solution for our agricultural producers.”

The bill is supported by New Mexico Cattle Growers’ Association, New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau, Utah Farm Bureau, National Cattlemen’s Beef Association, Rocky Mountain Farmers Union, Wyoming Farm Bureau, American Farm Bureau Federation, Wyoming Stock Growers and Wyoming Association of Conservation Districts.

range improvements to existing structural improvements, including fences and fence lines, wells, water pipelines, and stock tanks, in a streamlined manner and without having to renegotiate their permits. The bill would direct the Forest Service (USFS) or Bureau of Land Management (BLM) to respond to minor range improvement requests from ranchers within 30 days or provide tacit approval to ranchers, allowing them to carry out the improvement by not responding.

The bill would also instruct USFS and BLM to expedite permittee requests for the agency to implement improvements using tools like categorical exclusions.

TAMIE A. SMITH, 93

Tamie A. Smith, age 93 of Las Cruces, a kind and passionate advocate for the environment and a loving mother, passed away peacefully July 17, 2023, at her daughter's home in Albuquerque.

Tamie (Tamara Ushakoff) was born in Bronxville, New York, Jan. 4, 1930, to Alexis and Dorothy Ushakoff. She grew up on the north shore in Beverly, Massachusetts. After graduating high school in 1948, she attended the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston and learned the craft of silversmithing.

In 1955, Tamie moved to Las Cruces with her husband Bradford and two daughters Laurie and Karen. There, she discovered her love for astronomy, as the NMSU observatory was constructed in her backyard. She forged many friendships with the astronomers who worked overnight and enjoyed her late night hospitality with coffee and conversation.

With the arrival of two more children, Hillary and Randall, Tamie became a full-time homemaker, mother, and wife, cooking delicious meals and sewing beautiful dresses for her daughters.

In 1990, Tamie received a

plaque for her contributions on the very first Earth Day in 1970, the day the modern environmental movement was born, by creating a 100-foot banner that was flown from a hot air balloon.

Tamie became heavily involved in politics with the urban development of downtown Las Cruces that often came through seizure and demolition, where she fought fiercely against the destruction of trees being replaced by concrete. This also prompted her to return to school and earn her bachelor's degree from NMSU with an emphasis on city planning. Tamie became a familiar face at city council meetings and in Las Cruces public schools as a substitute teacher. Tamie was devoted to the 12-plus-hour shifts during elections as a poll worker. She considered this her civic duty.

Tamie was preceded in death by her brother, Alex Ushakoff; her oldest daughter, Laurie; granddaughter Annie Orozco; and ex-husband, Bradford. She is survived by her children Karen Rasmason; Hillary Tolmen (Mark), and Randall Smith (Patricia); her sister-in-law Doreen Ushakoff; grandson-in-law Daniel Orozco; her grandchildren Jeremy (Jane) Tolmen, Cody (Tiffany) Tolmen, Matthew Smith and Nathan Smith; nephew Alex Ushakoff III (Heidi); nieces Meriden Huggins (Pat), Valerie Rubino (Bill), Nicole Jurczyk (Ralf); 6 great-grandchildren; as well as her caring neighbor, Dot Dougherty, who watched over her as a guardian angel for many years.

A true "greenie," as the local environmentalists called themselves, Tamie was laid to rest in a green burial, leaving a minimal carbon footprint at La Puerta Natural Burial Grounds near Belen, New Mexico. Her legacy and impact on the Las Cruces community will be felt for generations to come. She will be deeply missed by all who knew her for her kindness, intelligence, and unwavering dedication to making the world a better place.

NM Supreme Court upholds District 2 map

BULLETIN REPORT

Tuesday, Nov. 27, a day after the New Mexico Supreme Court upheld an Oct. 6 ruling on the Congressional District 2 map, officials at the Republican Party of New Mexico “are contemplating our next course of action.”

After the 2020 census, the New Mexico State Legislature redrew the state’s three congressional districts. The RPNM filed suit over the lines in District 2, saying the map “deeply fractures” the state’s southeast region by splitting it among all three congressional districts.

The District has long been a Republican stronghold, with Republicans holding the U.S. Representative seat 40 of the 54 years since it was established in 1969. The current representative is Democrat Gabe Vasquez, who defeated Republican incumbent Yvette Herrell in the 2022 election.

For most of its time, the district covered, essentially, the bottom half of New Mexico. The redistricted map moved a chunk of real estate in the southeast corner of the state into districts 1 and 3, moving majority-Republican communities such as Roswell and Ruidoso out of District 2.

In the Oct. 6 ruling, New Mexico Fifth Judicial District Court Judge Fred T. Van Soelen of Clovis ruled Oct. 6 that while Democrats succeeded in “substantially diluting their opponents votes” in the state’s Second Congressional District, the congressional redistricting map adopted by the state legislature in 2021 “does not violate the (New Mexico Republican Party’s) equal protection rights” under the state constitution.”

That’s when the RPNM appealed to the state Supreme Court.

“We are glad that the State Supreme Court ordered that the District Court’s redistricting decision will be upheld,” the Democratic Party of New Mexico said in a press release Nov. 27. “After a non-partisan, deliberative process that was informed by and invited expert and public input from communities across the state, and subsequently went through the complete legislative process in committees and both chambers, the Supreme

The redrawn U.S. Congressional District 2 map was upheld in its second appeal, this time in the New Mexico Supreme Court.

Court’s decision reaffirms that these maps are fair and representative of New Mexico and our diverse communities.”

The RPNM stated: “We are disappointed in the NM Supreme Court’s ruling to uphold the gerrymandered map that disenfranchises the voices of conservative Democrats, Republicans, and Independents alike and divides up vital industries. We intensely disagree that Democrats did not intentionally entrench the Second Congressional District by shifting it 18 points in their favor. It’s unfortunate the court would agree that 54 percent DPI (Democratic Performance Index) is considered entrenched, but the current map’s 53 percent DPI, is not. The court leaned heavily on the closeness of the last election. Without the specific factors of the previous election that included a popular Republican incumbent and an unknown Democratic challenger, the effects of the entrenchment would be prominent. We are contemplating our next course of action in conference with our legal team. RPNM is proud to fight for the fair representation of every New Mexican, regardless of their political party.”

Navigating the waters of Medicare coverage plans

By ELVA K. ÖSTERREICH

Las Cruces Bulletin

Some days it seems every time the phone goes off, it's another call trying to sell you insurance. The commercials encourage you to call and find out what you might be missing, the cardboard in the mail assures that you need help with your Medicaid/Medicare dual plan.

But do you?

Ariel Fragoso, is one of many southern New Mexico brokers who knows the specifics as they relate to our state. She often hears frustration in the voices of those who come to her. The calls have ramped up to more than 10 a day.

Those calls are the battle to get customer attention since people have a choice of insurers. People with Medicare only can buy insurance to cover things Medicare does not. People with dual plans, Medicare and Medicaid, can get plans which cover things in addition, such as transportation, dental care, vitamins and even groceries.

Medicare is the federal health insurance program for people 65 and over and people under 65 with long-term disabilities. The program helps pay for many medical care services including hospitalization, physical visits and prescription drugs, along with post-acute care, skilled nursing facility care, home healthcare and preventive services.

More than 451,000 New Mexico residents are enrolled in Medicare, according to healthinsurance.org, about 21 percent of the state's population.

Until Dec. 7, people with Medicare have the opportunity to review benefits and features of plans offered in their area and make changes to their Medicare coverage which goes into effect Jan. 1, 2024.

Changes include switching from traditional Medicare to Medicare Advantage plans (or vice versa), switching between two Medicare Advantage plans, or changing Medicare Part D prescription drug plan. Each member of a Medicare Advantage or Medicare Part D plan receives an "Annual Notice of Change" document prior to Oct. 1 which includes all benefits that are changing.

In the Medicare system, Part A is for hospital coverage. Individuals had to work 40 quarters to earn it at no cost, but there is a deductible to meet first if they are only on Medicare, Fragoso said. Part B is for medical care. "That part we never earned through taxes, we pay for it when we are 65," she said. "Everyone pays unless their income is low enough to get state assistance."

This year there are some key changes to the Medicare basics:

Part A deductible is $1,632 per benefit period (up from $1600 in 2023); The Part B monthly premium is $174.70 (up from $164.90 in 2023); and the Part B Deductible is $240 per calendar year (up from $226 in 2023).

This year also, Medicare Part D plans can have a deductible up to $545 (up from $505 in 2023). Each plan uses tiers to determine the copay levels for each medication. Each plan can make changes to the list of covered drugs as well as which tier they're placed under.

Brokers – including local groups, phone solicitors and the numerous ads thrown at us every day – can help individuals sort out what plans and choices are appropriate. This service doesn't cost the consumer anything. Technically, brokers are there to help.

Choosing a local broker, like Fragoso, who works through the Distinguished Choice team, provides the advantage of working with an individual knowledgeable about area providers and systems.

"Our team goal is to work with each other, help each other, teach each other, troubleshoot," Fragoso said. "Who knows Cruces better than Cruces people?"

"We can look at what doctors do you need, then we find those plans that include those doctors," she said. "It's to get the big picture of providers. Every plan covers different medications so if you just assume that meds are covered, we are not doing due diligence. Maybe on Humana you were paying 5 bucks and maybe on another you will be paying 20. You want to know that."

Fragoso suggests consumers take commercials, the junk mail, the 1-800-numbers with a grain of salt.

"Because at the end of the day,

CITY OF LAS CRUCES

BEHIND THE SCENES: Las Cruces Utilities prepares for winter

By Becky Coppa

Though Las Cruces benefits from a mild winter climate, Las Cruces Utilities (LCU) takes winter preparation seriously to ensure the best service to its customers.

“Preparation is year-round,” states Ramiro Pereyra Jr., LCU Interim Deputy Director of Natural Gas and Energy. “We conduct maintenance and inspections throughout the year, so when the wintertime comes, we are prepared for cold weather demands.”

Cold weather demands arise from the significant increase in natural gas use during winter. Jaime Medina, LCU Gas System Operations Supervisor, Gas Pressure and Service, explains that the winter months place higher demands on his department, as many residents are turning on their furnaces for the first time in months.

When starting a furnace for the first time, it is common to smell a burning odor. Usually, this odor dissipates after a few seconds as accumulated dust burns off. However, when this smell lingers longer than a few minutes, it concerns residents. This leads to increased service requests, which results in higher demands for LCU personnel.

As natural gas demands increase, increased oversight of the regulator stations is required. Regulator stations mediate between large pressure stations where gas originates and single homes and businesses. These stations ensure that natural gas pressure is accurately delivered to its intended destination. This past year, LCU implemented the use of RANGER - remote gas pressure monitoring devices. In the winter months, increased gas usage leads to the increased need to respond to alerts the RANGER devices deliver.

While Las Cruces rarely experiences snow or freezing temperatures, LCU is prepared for the occasion if it does. Snow and freezing temperatures can cause frost on regulator stations, requiring LCU personnel to defrost these stations to ensure that natural gas service resumes.

Another service call that Medina's department attends to is carbon monoxide (CO) alarms. As people increase their natural gas usage, their risk of CO exposure increases.

Properly functioning furnaces will ventilate this gas outside of the home, but if the furnace is not properly maintained or has suffered damage, there is a potential for CO to leak inside the home.

CO is an odorless, colorless gas, and exposure can be fatal. Medina urges people to employ CO detectors in their homes and call LCU immediately if the detector sounds an alarm. LCU offers a free 24/7 service for CO-related emergencies.

“You can call anytime,” Medina says. “Better to be safe than sorry. Las Cruces Utilities works year-round to ensure quality service, and in these winter months, we want our customers to know that we are here for any concerns the colder time of year may bring.”

New managing editor joins Bulletin

BULLETIN REPORT

A familiar name in southern New Mexico journalism will join the Las Cruces Bulletin staff Friday, Dec. 1, when Algernon D’Ammassa reports to work as the Bulletin’s new managing editor.

D'AMMASSA

From 2018 to 2022, D’Ammassa covered local government, business, regional and investigative stories for the Las Cruces Sun-News. He left the daily newspaper in fall 2022 to serve as editor of the Deming Headlight after a local publisher purchased the 142-year-old Luna County outlet from the Gannett corporation. Under his leadership, the Headlight recently won seven state journalism awards, including the general excellence award for small weeklies statewide, while the entire news staff took home individual honors for their writing and reporting.

At the Bulletin, D’Ammassa will head an effort to increase news reporting, in addition to the community events and profiles Bulletin readers know and love; and he will contribute local stories and opinion articles on a regular basis himself.

“We are very excited for Algernon to take the helm of our newsroom at the Bulletin,” said Belinda Mills the Bulletin’s Southwest Regional Publisher. “I have followed his work for years and will attest that he is an excellent journalist with a deep understanding of the importance and responsibility of local journalism.”

D’Ammassa emphasized the Bulletin’s approach to news will be an addition to, rather than a drastic change to what readers have come to expect and love from the 54-year-old weekly.

“Las Cruces is the second-largest city in New Mexico,” he said, “and sits near a growing economic engine by way of our border with Mexico as well as the fields of the Mesilla Valley. The Bulletin saw an opportunity to fill gaps in news coverage of our community and I’m excited to help out.”

Bulletin veteran heading in new directions

In my 13-plus years with the Bulletin, I've written more than 600 columns. Some serious, some light-hearted, some educational (I hope), and a lot about sports.

Some of them take several weeks to come together. Others are written in a matter of minutes.

However, none have them have been more difficult to write than this one.

This is my farewell column with the Bulletin; my last day on the job will be Dec. 14.

I'm not leaving Las Cruces, and not retiring or taking another job, at least not right away. But I am looking forward to some real time off.

At my first professional newspaper job, as sports editor of the Weatherford (Oklahoma) Daily News, I sold an ad, not typical for a sports editor, and the advertiser wasn't typical either.

RICHARD COLTHARP

Going Downtown

R.H. Templeton was older than my grandfather at the time, and repaired and tuned pianos. I created a business-card size ad that featured piano keys and some very simple info. He liked the ad, ran it regularly, and it brought him new business.

After I'd been at the newspaper for about a year, I was contemplating leaving the job to spend a few months traveling the country with a good friend. Discussing this possibility with Mr. Templeton, he didn't offer a recommendation, and I didn't seek one.

He did say this: "I've found in life, I don't really have any regrets about the things I did. But I have a lot of regrets about the things I didn't do."

I left the newspaper and took the trip. It changed my life in multiple ways, including setting the path that would eventually bring me to New Mexico.

Since I returned from that trip and took my next journalism job, I've taken very little time off.

I took a two-week road trip in 1990 to travel the Northeast and visit eight baseball parks from Philadelphia to Chicago. In 1996, I took a two-week trip that included a visit to Hawaii. In most years, though, I've given up more vacation time than I've used.

Back in February and March, I spent my Lenten season thinking, praying, researching and talking with others about a possible career change. I had no urgency to leave, but I was interested in exploring a new chapter of my life.

And now the exploring begins.

I've loved the work here at the Bulletin, and I believe we've made a difference in the lives of people in Las Cruces. That will continue with the great team currently assembled here at the Bulletin.

And as much as the work, I've loved getting to know the wonderful people of the Mesilla Valley. That will continue as well, and I look forward to new challenges and adventures in support of the best things in Las Cruces.

Maybe I was wrong about Holtec

The risk of talking to people who are much more knowledgeable on a particular topic is it may require a re-evaluation of long-held beliefs.

Dr. James Conca accurately describes himself as one of the 10 experts in the world on nuclear waste disposal. He was director of the Environmental Monitoring and Research Center for the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant near Carlsbad from 2004 to 2010. WIPP is the nation's only deep geologic site for nuclear waste storage.

Conca has also been an affiliate scientist with Los Alamos since 2004 and was a senior scientist on special assignment to the Hanford Site in Washington state, where a leak of nuclear waste into the soil and water was discovered in 2017. He is currently the senior scientist at a

Washington state-based firm that specializes in the remediation of soil and water following exposure to radiological, heavy metal and organic contaminants.

I grew up with a fear of nuclear power that stemmed from the arms race with the Soviet Union in the 1960s. I was in college in 1979 when some of my favorite musicians organized No Nukes: The Muse Concerts for a Non-Nuclear Future. The partial meltdown at Three Mile Island that same year solidified a mistrust that, for the most part, still remains.

Conca, a presenter for the Academy for Learning in Retirement in October and recent guest on the community radio show I co-host each Wednesday morning, sees things differently. More to the point, he believes WIPP is far better suited than Yucca Mountain to handle our nation's nuclear waste, and the proposed Holtec nuclear waste facility near Carlsbad makes sense for collection and temporary storage.

Conca described nuclear waste as no big deal. "We know what to do with it. We know where to put it. We know how much it's going to cost. And, it's already paid for if we put it in the right rock," he said.

The "right rock" was determined in 1957 when the National Academy of Sciences first looked into deep geologic disposal and found that massive underground salt deposits were the best option. The primary salt formation at WIPP is about 2,000 feet thick, beginning 850 feet below the surface.

I had a chance to tour WIPP several years ago, and came away convinced it was as safe as we can get. It takes a billion years for water to move one inch through that rock, Conca said.

Yucca Mountain will never be the right rock, Conca said. It was chosen based on politics, back when Harry Reid was a junior senator.

"I worked on that for 25 years, trying to make a lousy rock work," he said.

WIPP includes 16 square miles, Conca said. When it completes its original mission of storing transuranic waste, only one square mile will be used. If WIPP is the best location for permanent storage, it may make sense to gather and temporarily store casks that are now spread out at nuclear plants around the country at the proposed Holtec site.

There are still legitimate concerns that need to be addressed. But we should be making these decisions based on science, not politics.

Near-fatal bicycle crash inspires road users group

By MIKE COOK
Las Cruces Bulletin

Barbara Toth founded Vulnerable Road Users New Mexico (VRUNM) in 2020 after her husband was struck by a vehicle and nearly killed while riding his bicycle in a Las Cruces neighborhood.

A vulnerable road user “includes anyone using roads that is not protected inside a motor vehicle, such as bicyclist, pedestrian or road worker,” VRUNM said in a news release.

Toth’s husband, Jim Toth, an avid bicyclist, was struck March 20, 2020, by a 17-year-old driver and suffered a broken back and a partially severed spinal cord. Jim, who had ridden more than 100,000 miles on a bike without incident, was struck about two blocks from his home in the Elks Club area, Barbara Toth said.

She received a call on her cell phone from the Las Cruces Police Department telling her Jim had been stuck and was being taken to the hospital.

“I gathered my wits about me and followed the ambulance,” Barbara said.

“The damage was very bad,” she said, as part of Jim’s spinal cord had to be rebuilt. The Toths had celebrated their 49th wedding anniversary two weeks before the accident, and Barbara wondered if there would be a golden anniversary.

Jim’s first reaction to Barbara was, “How long before I’ll be back on my bike?”

His surgeon’s post-surgery answer was, “You got your miracle today. He will ride his bike again.”

Jim, who was up and walking a day after his surgery, “is incredibly fortunate to still have some function,” Barbara said, and continues to ride his bike whenever he can.

Jim spent weeks in the hospital recovering, and, because of the pandemic, Barbara was not able to visit him very often.

“You cannot imagine what happens to someone’s life,” she said.

The driver who struck Jim was not cited by the police, Barbara said.

“It was so painful to read that report,” she said.

“A very strong bias against bicyclists and pedestrians” was part of Barbara’s motivation to begin VRUNM, she said. “I knew some kind of organization would grow out of it. I think there’s a responsibility in having that voice. Something’s got to happen out of this. This is my heart. This is my passion. Encouraging people to take shared responsibility for everyone who uses our roads is a vitally important message.”

Barbara is the president and executive director of VRUNM. Donald Wilson is vice president of both VRUNM and the nonprofit Velo Cruces, which is also advocating for “a great bicycle and pedestrian community.” The VRUNM board also included an LCPD bicycle patrol officer, Barbara said.

“We’re bicycle people,” she said, but “we’re going to represent everybody,” including bike riders, pedestrians, runners and kids walking to and from school.

The organization has received a New Mexico Department of Transportation (NMDOT) grant and made a Nov. 6 presentation to the Las Cruces City Council. It is also partnering with Las Cruces Public Schools’ Safe Routes to School, which is one of the most successful walking and biking to school programs in the country.

The VRUNM news release said vulnerable road-user fatalities in the United States have increased more than 30 percent in the past 10 years, averaging about 200,000 each year, with an injury or fatality occurring every two minutes.

New Mexico has the highest rate of pedestrian traffic deaths among all states according to the National Highway Traffic Safety Association.

The City of Las Cruces’ Share the Road program has a brochure that includes tips for safe bicycle riding. The brochure includes this message: “Bicycles and automobiles share the roads. They both must operate responsibly and respectfully and obey all traffic laws.” Visit www.lascruces.gov and in the search box at top right, enter “Share the Road.” Then, click on the “Share the Road Brochure (PDF).”

“Pedestrians and bicyclists are reminded to be aware of their surroundings and be as highly visible as possible when interacting with vehicle traffic, while drivers are reminded to be alert and cautious in areas with pedestrian and bicycle traffic, the NMDOT Traffic Safety Division said on www.dot.nm.gov/planning-research-multi-modal-and-safety/modal/traffic-safety.

NMDOT said the state averaged 155 distracted-driving fatalities a year 2016-20, and that figure was expected to grow to 172 a year, 2019-23.

The NMDOT 2023 Highway Safety Plan identified distracted driving as a high-risk behavior for drivers, along with alcohol use, not using a seatbelt and speeding.

In Las Cruces and throughout the state, VRUNM will press for more traffic signage, better marking of traffic and bike lanes and crosswalks, enforcement of traffic laws and more sidewalks, Toth said.

“Hold everyone accountable,” she said. “This is about all of us.”

Gary Oldman in
"Slow Horses"

Gary Oldman returns for Season 3 of 'Slow Horses' on Apple TV+

BY JAY BOBBIN

David Hyde Pierce

OF JULIA ON MAX

Q: Why isn't David Hyde Pierce back as Niles in the new version of "Frasier"?

A: The actor reportedly was approached about rejoining title star Kelsey Grammer in the Paramount+ revival, but he reportedly responded that he felt he had done all he could do with the character. However, that doesn't mean Pierce isn't doing any work at all. He's been appearing as Paul Child, husband of legendary chef Julia Child, in the second season of Max's comedy-drama series "Julia"; he also is performing Off-Broadway in the late composer Stephen Sondheim's "Here We Are."

Pierce already was building a solid career for himself on stage and screen when his memorable portrayal of the persnickety Niles Crane on the original "Frasier" suddenly made him a household name. He had played a bookstore co-worker of Amy Irving's character in "Crossing Delancey" (1988), and just before "Frasier" premiered in 1993, he was in "Sleepless in Seattle" with Tom Hanks and Meg Ryan. While "Frasier" was in its original run, Pierce also was in the movies "Wolf" (1994), "Nixon" (1995) and "Down With Love" (2003).

Over the course of "Frasier's" first run, Pierce earned four Primetime Emmy Awards for his portrayal of Niles. He also has fared well with Broadway's Tony Awards, winning for his acting in the musical "Curtains" in 2007, then receiving the ceremony's Isabelle Stevenson Award for his philanthropic work in 2010. He also was nominated for performing in "Vanya and Sonia and Masha and Spike" (2013) and a revival of "Hello, Dolly!" (2017).

"The Jinglebell Jubilee" (Dec. 3)

"We Live Here: The Midwest" (Dec. 6)

Every family experiences new challenges every day as they learn, grow and adapt together. But many families throughout America also face a rising tide of discrimination and hate in their churches, schools and even their own neighborhoods. Profiling families who are hoping to stay in a part of the country that they love, often where deep roots are already established, the film chronicles their journey to find happiness and safety where they are without having to compromise.

"Culprits" (Dec. 8)

This crime thriller kicks off where most crime stories end: after a high-stakes heist, when the crew of elite criminals have gone their separate ways and have tried to leave their old lives behind. Past and present collide when a ruthless assassin starts targeting them one by one. Why are they being stalked, who is behind the mayhem, and will they be able to find one another in time to protect themselves and the people they love? The series stars Nathan Stewart-Jarrett, Gemma Arterton, Niamh Algar, Kirby, Kamel El Basha, Tara Abboud, Kevin Vidal, Ned Dennehy and Eddie Izzard.

"Meet Me Under the Mistletoe" (Dec. 9)

In this holiday film from Great American Family, rival real estate agents both make the exact same wish during the first snow of the winter: to win the most coveted listing in town. As the business competitors begrudgingly work together, they learn this house comes with a special commission: love. Starring Sarah Fisher and Simon Arblaster.

The 'Magic of the Season'

The sound of holiday music is beginning to permeate many of our homes and businesses and reminds us that the holidays are right in front of us. Again this year, the big debate that remains, as I've witnessed on several Facebook pages and in conversations, is "when" to decorate. Is it before or after Thanksgiving? Is it totally "taboo" to begin before Halloween? Unfortunately, there are no rules, nor do I believe there should be rules when it comes to decorating for the holidays. Whenever you choose to decorate your home, remember the "magic" of the season lies year-round within your heart. The lights, bows, trees are a simple reflection of your heart.

And so here we are, close to the end of the year and the holiday season. We can all find the "Spirit of Santa," that magical feeling which somehow energizes us and keeps us going. Throughout the years, I've been asked many times "why" I collect Santas...well, it's simple. It is the magic that this bearded, red-suited gentleman brings to the world. For a brief season in time every year, the magic replaces the negativity, pessimism and sadness with positivity, optimism and joy.

We all have the ability to apply these five simple elements of this "magic" to our lives and make a true impact in our community.

1. Magic of Making a Difference – There's something very special of giving to a non-profit during the holiday season. This simple gesture of giving of your time and/or dollars to make a difference in someone's life mirrors the joy of the season in so many ways. Take a moment to reach out to those organizations that make such a difference in our community. Teaching our children and grandchildren the art of "giving back" makes the holidays a perfect teachable moment.

2. Magic of Friends and Family – Although the stress of the holidays can often be overwhelming, the company of friends and family can also calm us. I always enjoy watching the proverbial "happy ending" holiday movies. While real life is not always full of happy endings, I have to say that at least for moments of magic during the holidays, they can be a reality. Whether it's friends or family or both, connecting with those we love can brighten our lives as much as the tree lights do our homes.

DEBBI MOORE

3. Magic of Food – The holiday season brings such traditional foods. In New Mexico, these traditions include, but certainly are not limited to, biscochitos, tamales, posole and of course, our own pecan pies. Being raised in Oklahoma, our traditions included chicken and noodles, green bean casserole, cranberry jello salad and Aunt Bill's Brown Candy. The highlight of my memories growing up, however, is my Aunt Sylvia's divinity and fudge. I can still hear the click of the lid on the metal tin where she kept them under layers of wax paper. It's not so much I remember the tastes of the food; once again, it's the magic of the moment.

4. Magic of Shopping – Shopping during the holiday season can, depending on its definition, be calming or stressful. For years, my daughter and I would be the first in line at many of the stores at the crack of dawn to catch all those bargains. In retrospect, I don't remember the bargains, the money we saved or the crowds we encountered. What I do remember is the "magic" of the morning. Spending time with my daughter, laughing as we stood in line or conversing over hot coffee or hot chocolate. Yes, we were often cold as we stood outside, but now, those memories keep me warm. P.S. Always remember to shop local – your investment makes a big difference in our community.

5. Magic of Laughter – One thing most lovable about Santa is his "Ho, Ho, Ho" you hear almost constantly whenever you see him. It always makes me smile and laugh myself. In my collection of Santas I have ones that sing, dance and read stories. There are times when I drive my family nuts because I get them all singing, dancing and reading at the same time...and then I find myself laughing. Laugh with someone this holiday season. It'll make your day.

Be strong. Be kind. Be giving. Be supportive. Be available. All of these define what "being a community" really is. Our wonderful, special community which, while we often have differences, comes together to overcome. Together we turn every challenge into an opportunity. The key is that we do this...TOGETHER!

Am I "over the top" for the holiday, Santa, ribbons, bows and all the colors they bring? You bet I am! The sounds, the sights, the colors...all come together to create the "Magic of the Season." It's my tradition that as the season concludes for another year, I keep a Santa out all year, a simple gesture to remind me that the magic of Santa can be year-round, if we only believe. In my version of those famous words, "Yes, my friends, there is a Santa Claus. Enjoy the magic of the season.

To wrap up 2023, I want to take a few moments to thank our chair, Jason Lazich, for his leadership, as we all once again navigated another year to find our "new norm." On behalf of the Board of Directors and the Chamber staff, we thank you for your expertise, leadership and professionalism as you've lead the Board of Directors and the Chamber through this year. You represent all that's good, kind and caring in business...Thank you!

Harrison Ford in "Indiana Jones and the Dial of Destiny"

"INDIANA JONES AND THE DIAL OF DESTINY"

Harrison Ford returned for a fifth and final round as the archaeologist and adventurer in this enjoyable, nostalgia-inducing caper, on which franchise originators George Lucas and Steven Spielberg served as executive producers. After a clever prologue that "de-ages" Ford to play an Indy still in his prime, the plot moves forward 25 years to the late 1960s, when Jones teams with his goddaughter (played by Phoebe Waller-Bridge) on a mission to retrieve an artifact that reputedly can facilitate time travel. They have a rival in an astrophysicist (Mads Mikkelsen) who has his own agenda for the item, and the result is a race across time in more ways than one. John Rhys-Davies reprises his role as Sallah, and he's not the only familiar co-star to resurface from earlier chapters of the series; Antonio Banderas, Toby Jones, Boyd Holbrook and Shaunette Renee Wilson ("The Resident") also appear for director and co-writer James Mangold ("Walk the Line"). DVD extras : "making-of" documentary; isolated music-score track. ★★ (PG-13: AS, P, V) (Also on Blu-ray, 4K Ultra HD, Digital and On Demand)

"TITANIC"

One of the most successful movies of all time comes to the 4K Ultra HD format, with Leobardo DiCaprio and Kate Winslet starring for writer-director James Cameron as Jack and Rose, two passengers aboard the ill-fated title ship on its first and ultimately last voyage. Smitten with each other, they come from very different stations in life, but they're very much on the same playing field when the ocean liner hits an iceberg, resulting in one of the most legendary of all disasters. Contemporary sequences that bookend what amounts to a lengthy flashback feature Bill Paxton, Suzy Amis (who later became Cameron's wife) and veteran actress Gloria Stuart; other performers seen standing on the Titanic re-creation include Billy Zane, Kathy Bates, Frances Fisher, Victor Garber, David Warner, Eric Braeden ("The Young and the Restless") and Danny Nucci. The winner of 11 Oscars including best picture, the 1997 film picked up one of those awards for the Celine Dion-performed song "My Heart Will Go On." ★★★★★ (PG-13: AS, P, V)

Contrast and complement: 'Changing Perspectives' at Unsettled Gallery

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

Unsettled Gallery, 905 N. Mesquite St., will host an exhibition entitled "Changing Perspectives," featuring the works of local artists Roy van der Aa and Gregory Montreuil.

The show opens a reception 4:30-7 p.m. Friday, Dec. 1, and continues through Jan. 6, 2024. The gallery will be closed Dec. 24-26.

The show's painted collages by van der Aa "are a way of re-imagining landscape painting," the artist said. "Traditional landscape is a static snapshot which freezes a scene. These collages, like plein air painting, combine angles and changing light. I place fragments on their edge and upside down to create an uncomfortable space. Images flow into each other and I wanted to find a way to express that. The variations are almost musical in nature," van der Aa said. "I state a theme and then expand on it thoughtfully and immediately. These works are quirky, moody and self-contradictory. In 2023 I began to take my own photographs rather than using magazines as a source. This created a more unified palette reflective of a region or a neighborhood."

"Both life and art are a question of balance," said Montreuil, who will exhibit oil on canvas paintings and oil and gessoed paper. "In a constant state of flux, adjustments and decisions are required. A deep belief in intuition is what I strive to cultivate in both my art and my life. So rather than imposing my will, I prefer to make calculated micro-decisions, which fit my experimentalist nature. With decisions in place, I try to allow chance and indeterminate actions to function through the work. To paraphrase Willem DeKooning; 'One has to start somewhere.' Once the action is activated rigorous analysis and decisions begin anew. Does it work? Can it be improved? Which direction is up? What might reinforce what has been made visible?"

"In the shared exhibition with Roy Van de Aa I feel our work will both contrast and complement," Montreuil said. "As artists we both use color but in different ways. Roy and I are both committed to abstraction as an important form of visual communication. Layered color serves to create structure in Roy's work. I use color more minimally, to create contrast and energy."

Born in Amsterdam,

Holland, in 1956, der Aa grew up in Montreal. His formal education includes two years of fine art specialty at John Abbott College in Quebec and three years at Concordia University in Montreal studying printmaking and archaeology. He moved to the United States in 1989 and lives in Las Cruces.

With more than 125 solo, two-person and group shows, van der Aa has exhibited throughout the Southwest U.S. and Quebec in Canada. His work can be seen at Rio-BravoFineArt in Truth or Consequences. He has also shown at Gallery 408 in Carrizozo, Dancing Dog Gallery in Tularosa, Cutter Gallery and Art Obscura in Las Cruces; Iris and Schriek Gallery in Amsterdam, where his art was shown alongside works by Spanish artist Joan Miró, Belarusian and French artist Marc Chagall and Pablo Picasso; and Hiatus Collective in London.

Montreuil lives and works in Arrey, New Mexico and Marseille, France. He has exhibited in New Mexico, California, Minnesota, New York, North Carolina and Maine, and in France and Germany. He was an art instructor and guest lecturer in New York City.

His works are in the collections of the National Gallery in Washington, D.C., Yale University, Wadsworth Athenaeum in Hartford, Connecticut and other institutions and in private collections. Montreuil has written about art for Flash Art International, The New Art Examiner, Contemporary Magazine, Art Papers and other publications.

NHCC teams with Arts Council

BULLETIN REPORT

The Doña Ana Arts Council welcomes the National Hispanic Cultural Center for a special ribbon cutting 10 a.m. Friday, Dec. 1, at the Arts Council headquarters, 230 S. Water St.

NHCC Executive Director Zack Quintero will be on hand to formalize a partnership with the Council through the Center's groundbreaking Cultural Ambassador Program. He will be joined by NM Department of Cultural Affairs Cabinet Secretary Debra Garcia y Griego.

This is the first official partnership organized under the Center's Cultural Ambassador Program, which launched last spring. The program is an effort by NHCC to identify historic areas in rural New Mexico and establish formal partnerships with those communities.

This specific partnership enables the Center to loan artwork to the Arts Council for future exhibitions. Moreover, it establishes a formal pathway for artists in Southern New Mexico to work with NHCC and develops community programming hosted by the NHCC at sites across Doña Ana County.

Given New Mexico's size, it isn't always feasible for artists to travel to the Center's Albuquerque campus. The Cultural Ambassador Program is designed to foster strong connections with artists, local school districts, and community organizations in every corner of the state by supporting, and empowering rural populations, artists, and youth across New Mexico.

Established in 1971, the Doña Ana Arts Council is a nonprofit arts organization created to enhance the quality of life in Las Cruces and Southern New Mexico by ensuring that the performing, visual, and literary arts are an integral part of education, economic growth, and community development.

Arts Council features watercolors

BULLETIN REPORT

The New Mexico Watercolor Society (NMWS) Fall 2023 Juried Exhibition is being held at the Doña Ana Arts Council Gallery from December 1-28. The exhibit, entitled "A Happy Place" includes 59 recent works from 46 talented New Mexico watercolor artists from throughout the state.

Sponsored by the Southern Chapter of NMWS, the selected pieces include a wide range of subject matter including landscapes, portraits, florals, and still life in styles both realistic and abstract which depict some aspect of the artists' own personal "Happy Place."

These paintings can be viewed at the Doña Ana Arts Council Gallery, open Monday to Friday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., at 230 S. Water St. A free artist's reception will be noon-4 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 9, with an awards ceremony at 1 p.m. Light refreshments will be provided.

The Gallery will also have extended hours during this exhibit until 8 p.m.

for the First Friday Ramble Dec. 1 and on two Saturdays: Dec. 2 and 16 from 1-3 p.m. The gallery will be closed for the Christmas holidays Dec. 21-26.

Each year the Southern Chapter of NMWS puts out a call to members statewide to enter water media paintings in a juried show.

"Many visitors to the gallery will recognize works by local artists as well as NMWS members from northern New Mexico," chapter president Karen Steinberg said.

"They may also discover new favorites among the many talented artists included in this show."

The judge assigning awards to individual paintings in this exhibit is Sally Kohl, a Las Cruces artist and a member of the Artists of Picacho Hills.

Her work is exhibited and sold in numerous venues in Las Cruces. Awards for the exhibition will be revealed on the evening of Dec. 1.

Black Box stages 'Ben Hur'

BULLETIN REPORT

Friends! Romans! Countrymen! Lend me your - sorry, wrong play. Back in the 19th century, former American Civil War General and former New Mexico Governor Lew Wallace penned an epic story called "Ben Hur: A Tale of the Christ."

A story of an aristocratic Judean thrown into slavery, fighting through sea battles and chariot races while witnessing the rise of Jesus of Nazareth. Enter the Daniel Veil Theatre Collective, ambitious actors who take on the monumental task of performing all 900 pages with only four actors, no Charlton Heston needed.

However, wrong cues, missed lines, backstage drama, and malfunctioning chariots might bring the whole show down and ruin Veil's chances to be a part of theatre history.

Autumn Gieb directs this hilarious tale where anything and everything can go wrong, with performers Joshua Taulbee, Rachel Thomas-Chapel, and Joseluis Solorzano and newcomer to the Las Cruces stage, William Harr-old. Set design is by Karen Buerdsell, Light design is by Peter Herman, Props design is by Darlene De-Mondo, and Costumes are by Gieb.

The production opens at the Black Box Theatre, 430 N. Main St. Friday, Dec. 1, and will continue through Sunday, Dec.

The caves were rediscovered in the early 20th century.

Friday, December 15, Dr. Goehring's topic is "Dissecting a Chinese Ink Painting — Guo XI's 'Early Spring' of 1072.

The discussion delves into landscape painting during the period around 1,000 A.D. and its connections to religion, philosophy and poetry. Dr. Goehring will discuss the artwork, "A Solitary Temple amid Clearing Peaks," by Li Cheng in the Song dynasty.

Monday, Dec. 18, the topic is "Reclusive Gardens." The presentation will include a study of Chinese gardens and landscape arts looking at imperial estates, hunting parks, smaller noble gardens and spots known for natural beauty. Her focus will be the links between gardens and poetry, philosophy and religion.

Register for the Zoom sessions at "Academy for Learning in Retirement." At the Doña Ana Community College website, dacc.nmsu.edu/academis/programs/academy-learning-in-retirement. ## Special time for pet adoption

BULLETIN REPORT

If you're searching for a furry friend to join your family, this holiday season is the perfect time to adopt a dog or cat from ACTION Programs for Animals (APA). The nonprofit animal rescue is offering its 2023 Home for the Holidays Adoption Special now through Tuesday, Jan. 2. Animals at APA's Adoption Center, 537 N. Solano Drive., may be adopted for half price during this period.

APA's Adoption Center is open 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, or appointments may be scheduled at 575-571-4654. APA has many cats, kittens, and trained dogs from its P.A.W.S. (Prisoners and Animals Working Toward Success) program available for adoption. Check out all of APA's adoptable animals at www.apalascruces.org.

"The holiday season is a great time to bring home a new furry family member, because people have more time at home before getting back to work after the new year," said APA Executive Director Michel Meunier. "We also offer a sleepover program so people can take an animal home for a week or two before making their final adoption decision."

APA is also holding a monthly donor campaign through the end of the year. The goal is to reach 1,000 monthly, sustaining supporters by the end of the year. APA currently has 107.

"Monthly donors are very important, because the more people who donate what they are able to monthly – whether it's $5 or $50 – the greater our chances are for having a reliable, steady income, which helps with our planning," Meunier said. "It is also a very affordable way for our community to support our lifesaving work."

The primary reason for the donor campaign is to increase revenues so they outweigh expenses.

"Everything in 2023 increased in price – from vet care to food and supplies – but, unfortunately, our donations did not increase," Meunier said. "We honestly need our community's support to build our revenues back up."

There are three ways to donate:

- Go to www.apalascruces.org and click on the donate button.
- Set up a recurring donation through a bank.
- Use a PayPal account and send the donation to mail@apalascruces.org.

The Cat's Meow needs homes for cats, kittens

By MIKE COOK

Las Cruces Bulletin

The Cat's Meow has 60 adult cats and 40 kittens at its adoption center, 2211 N. Mesquite St. There are 50 cats and kittens in foster homes and a waiting list. In 2023 to date, The Cat's Meow has taken in 40 adult cats and about 400 kittens and has paid tens of thousands of dollars in veterinarian bills.

According to the organization's newsletter, many of the kittens that come into the facility have upper respiratory infections and weak immune systems.

"We try to take care of them in-house but all too often they are critical and need veterinary care," the newsletter said. "Kittens are extremely fragile especially those born outside to feral moms. Even the healthy ones need three rounds of upper respiratory vaccines as well as rabies vaccines, spay/neuter and microchips.

The Cat's Meow is entirely volunteer-based and relies on volunteers "to keep saving cats and kittens.

Here are items from The Cat's Meow's wish list:

• Food: Grilled tuna feast, grilled salmon feast, grilled turkey and giblets feast, liver and chicken pate, turkey and giblets pate, chopped Fancy Feast tender chicken feast, tender turkey feast.

• Dry food: Kittens: Purina Kitten Chow Nuture Muscle and Brain Development; adult cats: Iams Proactive Health Sensitive Digestion and Skin, Rachel Ray Nutrish Real Chicken and Brown Rice.

• Cat litter: adult cat: Dr. Elsey's Ultra Clay Multi-Cat Clumping Litter unscented; kitten: Naturally Fresh Multi-Cat Clumping Litter.

• Misc.: No-splash bleach, latex gloves (extra-large), Clorox spray bottle cleaner, gallon-size freezer zip-lock bags, Scrubbing Bubbles spray cleaner, Down Ultra Platinum dish-washing liquid.

Tech startups complete 'Scale Up New Mexico' at Arrowhead

BULLETIN REPORT

The Scale Up New Mexico program, funded in part by the United States Economic Development Administration and housed at New Mexico State University's Arrowhead Center, recently saw its 2023 cohort successfully complete the Venture Funding Sprint.

The startups in the group represented a wide array of sectors, including climate, energy, space, biotech, health, medical devices, telecom, agriculture, beauty, artificial intelligence, and more. Their groundbreaking ideas and technological innovations have the potential to revolutionize their respective industries.

"Participation in Arrowhead Center's Venture Funding Sprint helped to stabilize our compass which was pointing randomly as if we were at the north magnetic pole, said Jack Lovell, co-founder at IRP Technology. (Visit irptechnology.com.) "The comprehensive program content and the expertise and value of the advisors made available to us, were exceptional. The difficult search for the high-funding amount needed for our hard-tech opportunity to advance has been an erratic walk, which now, with clearer direction, we aim to turn into a sprint towards success," Lovell said.

"I found this sprint a great introduction into the venture funding world," said Thomas

Raymond, chief scientific officer at Scintellite, which is based in Albuquerque and designs and manufactures ophthalmic instruments that improve workflow for comprehensive eye exams. "Each resident mentor and guest speaker brought a perspective rooted in their motivations and experiences in the field. I benefited from the relaxed, open, and in-depth discussions that followed their presentations. I've gained more insight into the venture funding world in the few weeks of this sprint than I had all of last year," Raymond said.

The accelerator program, designed to give New Mexico's tech startup founders the knowledge and skills required to raise capital successfully, achieved significant milestones and empowered promising startups to make meaningful progress toward their fundraising efforts, NMSU said.

Venture Funding Sprint is one of several modules under Scale Up NM, a suite of startup support programming for businesses navigating early-stage technology development. After an extensive selection process, 15 New Mexico-based startups comprising the 2023 cohort embarked on an intensive journey of mentorship, education, and networking.

Over six weeks, the startups benefited greatly from the guidance of a diverse group of mentors and industry experts. These experienced professionals provided hands-on assistance by sharing their knowledge and insights, helping the startups with different aspects of fundraising. This included gaining a better understanding of terminology and financial instruments, engaging in negotiations with potential investors, and creating the necessary tools and materials to attract investment.

pact The Village at Northrise has had on the lives of their patients, residents, families and the community they serve."

For the 2024 edition, U.S. News rated more than 15,000 nursing homes.

The U.S. News methodology factors data such as resident care and safety. Both short- and long-term ratings include data on nurse staffing, use of anti-psychotic drugs, and preventing ER and hospital visits. The long-term care rating also includes if a home changed ownership and weekend staffing.

About Village at Northrise

Aggies prepare for Conference USA title game

BULLETIN REPORT

Post-season conference championship games are relatively new to college football.

When some of the Power Five conferences grew big enough to have two divisions, the conferences set up a big money game between the two division winners.

It was never an issue for New Mexico State University. First of all, they had not even been in a conference since 2017, their last year in the Sun Belt Conference. And most years, the Aggies didn't have a good enough record to qualify anyway.

Well, now in their first year in Conference USA, the Aggies are in a conference championship game.

For the third time in 53 weeks, NMSU travels to Lynchburg, Virginia, to face the Liberty Flames, and this time it's for Conference USA bragging rights. The game kicks off at 5 p.m. Las Cruces time, and will be televised on the CBS Sports Network, and broadcast on 99.5 FM with Jack Nixon and Cory Lucas on the radio call.

Last Nov. 26, the Aggies went to Lynchburg and shocked Liberty 49-14. The game propelled NMSU to the Quick Lane Bowl, which they also won.

Earlier this season, on Sept. 9, the Aggies went back to Lynchburg, and this time, the Flames weren't taken by surprise. They defeated NMSU 33-17.

The Aggies were 1-2 at that point, and have since won 9 of their last 10 games, and are currently sporting a 10-3 record. It's the first time an Aggie team has had double-digit victories since 1960.

Liberty comes into the game 12-0, and ranked 20th in the nation. NMSU has a signature victory with its 31-10 win at Auburn. As it turns out, the most significant victory on the Liberty schedule is NMSU, which though still unranked, received five votes in the Nov. 26 AP Top 25 poll.

The Aggies' eight-game win streak was in peril Saturday, Nov. 25, in their last home game of the season, against Jacksonville State.

After jumping out to a 14-0 in the first half, NMSU only scored six more points the rest of the game. However, three of those points came from the foot of Aggie kicker Ethan Albertson, who booted a 52-yard field goal as time expired to give NMSU a 20-17 victory, their eighth consecutive win.

One of the keys to the Aggies' eight-game win

NMSU PHOTO

The Aggie defense bent, but didn't break Saturday, Nov. 25, as NMSU defeated Jacksonville State 20-17 on a last-second field goal in Aggie Memorial Stadium. The Aggies will play 5 p.m. Friday, Dec. 1, in Lynchburg, Virginia, for the Conference USA championship against Liberty.

streak had been avoiding turnovers. But two costly turnovers in the third quarter helped Jacksonville State stay close in the game.

Aggie teams face Lobos on road

BULLETIN REPORT

Aggie women's basketball: With a 4-2 record on the season, the NM State women travel to Albuquerque for a 1 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 2, game against the University of New Mexico.

The Aggies' next three games will be at home — 6 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 5, against UC-Irvine; 5 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 12, against Western New Mexico; and 2 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 16, against Utah Valley.

NMSU defeated both Hampton and CSU-Bakersfield in the LIU Classic in Brooklyn, and are now on a four-game winning streak.

Senior guard Molly Kaiser leads the Aggies in scoring with 15.5 points per game. Sabou Gueye, another senior guard, leads the team in rebounding, with 6.2 per game, as well as steals with 13 total. Junior guard Jaila Harding leads the Aggies with 10 three-pointers and Kaiser has 9.

Aggie men's basketball: After giving Louisville a scare on their home court and defeating University of the Southwest 84-49 Nov. 28 at the Pan American Center, New Mexico State University hits the road to Albuquerque to face the University of New Mexico at 7 p.m. in the Pit.

The Aggies enter the game with a 4-5 record in Jason Hooten's first traditional rivalry game as NMSU's head coach. The Lobos return to Las Cruces Friday, Dec. 15, in a 7 p.m. game at the Pan Am.

Their next home game will be 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 12 against Northern New Mexico.

Against Louisville Nov. 26, the Aggies led at half-time 30-28. Louisville tied it in regulation, and took control in overtime to earn the victory 90-84.

The Aggies have benefited so far this season from a balanced attack, as seven players are averaging 8.0 points per game. Since receiving an eligibility waiver from the NCAA, Femi Odukale, a 6-6 senior guard from Brooklyn, has given the Aggies a spark on both ends of the floor. In the two games he's played, he's averaged 15 points and 7.5 rebounds per game.

Holiday season means time for giving thanks

It seems as we get older it comes sooner each year. It's the joyful opportunity to consider and remember what we as Americans are so thankful for. I am thankful for so much that I could not express it all in this space. So let me start with thanks for my 35 years spent here in Las Cruces. I earned my doctorate degree in psychology at NMSU and became a licensed clinical psychologist. As a specialist in geriatric assessments and diagnosis I am thankful for the long-term care facilities and hospitals throughout Southern New Mexico that sought my services, including the Mescalero Apache Tribe and Fort Bayard Medical Center.

When my wife, Suzanne, moved here in 1988 we played golf at the NMSU course, and we met Herb Wimberly. I realized immediately this was an individual who was more than a PGA professional and a college golf coach, but a very special person. Eventually, Herb and I would partner in Performance Golf Schools, and it was a joy to teach with Herb for 15 years. On Nov. 8, Herb was inducted into the PGA of America Hall of Fame in a ceremony in Frisco, Texas. Congratulations, Herb.

Next, I thank all first responders, including police, for their work. On Feb. 2, 2011, I suffered a nearly fatal fall from my roof. After a call from my wife, the EMTs were there within 10 minutes, and I was transported by helicopter to University Medical Trauma Center in El Paso where they operated on me within two hours. I was in a coma for three days, but thanks to their response I recovered and was back to work and golf in a few months.

Veterans Day was Nov. 11. We should give our thanks to our active military service members and our veterans who give their all to protect our country and freedom. I am a Vietnam Navy Veteran and proud of it. Yes, in 1968 I was on shore leave in San Francisco when I was spat upon by anti-war protesters, who I suspect were 20-year-old draft-dodgers.

In September I attended the 63rd reunion of my 1960 high school graduating class in Lyndhurst, Ohio. There weren't many of a class of 500 who attended, but several of my closest friends from 1957 to 1960. They were football buddies; our ball coach who is 87 was even there. I was reminded how much I value what these friends indirectly did for me. They were smart and made top grades; I was a C+/B student in 1958. I knew I had to step up my classroom game. In the next two years I made all A's. That was the difference in me getting accepted to the University of Notre Dame. Among these friends, one was an executive at IBM, another a professor at a university in Connecticut, another a business professor at Akron University, our deceased friend was an architect and, finally, one of my best friends retired as president of Apple USA. It was a joy to thank these fellows in person after all these years.

Here in Doña Ana County I am truly thankful we have four championship golf courses at our disposal. That's a lot for a town of our size and, yet, there are times when it's hard to get a tee time. Las Cruces and environs have a lot of avid golfers. And it's no wonder, since the weather here is conducive to golf year-round, which I'm also thankful for.

In January I will start my 19th year writing my weekly golf column for the Las Cruces Bulletin. It has been a joy and a challenge and a rewarding experience all in one. But no money. This has been a labor of love from the beginning. My biggest reward is hearing compliments from our readers. Thank you, Richard Coltharp for all your assistance and unwavering support.

Thank you to New Mexico's Lieutenant Governor Howie Morales for issuing a proclamation naming yours truly as the "Doctor of Golf" for the State of New Mexico, and presenting the proclamation personally in a small ceremony in mid-July. Thanks also to Dave Kimble for championing the award.

Finally, we can all be thankful this holiday season that we are blessed to live in the USA.
