Elizabeth Banks

OF PRESS YOUR LUCK ON ABC

Q: I'm glad to see Elizabeth Banks and "Press Your Luck" back on the ABC schedule, but I know I've seen some of the episodes before. Are there new ones coming?

A: There are. One of the strong suits of the game-show revival has been its repeatability, but it's true that those who watch the program constantly may well recognize certain episodes as ones they've seen before. Reruns are being used during the early part of ABC's summer season, but new installments are slated to resume on July 18.

A big reason for that timing may be the network's desire to use "Press Your Luck" as the lead-in for a new game that premieres that night. "Lucky 13," with Shaquille O'Neill and Gina Rodriguez (the latter coming off the now-canceled ABC sitcom "Not Dead Yet") as interestingly paired co-hosts posing 13 true-or-false trivia questions to contestants who have the chance to win $1 million. That sum also continues to be the top prize on "Press Your Luck," and Banks has been so busy with work as an actress and filmmaker lately, it's a lucky thing for ABC that she wants to continue to make the game she was eager to revive when the current version premiered in 2019. It will be entering its sixth season in July, with Banks serving as one of the executive producers (along with her husband, Max Handelman) as well as the host.

As with most game shows, multiple episodes of "Press Your Luck" can be taped in one day, so the time commitment for Banks to turn out a whole season lasts only so long. Still, she has many other creative commitments — which presently include an animated, adult-themed "Flintstones" series update titled "Bedrock" (she's an executive producer and the voice of Pebbles) and a movie thriller titled "DreamQuil" — so it's no small thing that she isn't letting "Luck" run out.

Supermarket Stakeout FOOD 7 p.m.

Nothing says "welcome to the parking lot" like a delicious flatbread competition. Host Alex Guarnaschelli has the four chefs forage the lot for ingredients. Then, it's off to the fryers to crisp a little something before the final two spice things up.

Christopher Stevens (Matt Letscher) and Sean Smith (Christopher Dingli), an officer for the Foreign Service. Stationed less than one mile away are members of the Annex Security Team (James Badge Dale, John Krasinski, Max Martini), former soldiers assigned to protect operatives and diplomats in the city. With her life not going according to plan and determined to turn things around for herself, Rex, with the help of her best friend, Nadine (Poppy Liu, "Hacks"), submits an embellished application to NASA's ultra-competitive astronaut training program. Using her quick wits to get through the program — and hopefully to the top of her class — Rex will have to get through her training and blast off before she can be caught as a fraud.

"ANCHORMAN: THE LEGEND OF RON BURGUNDY"

Understandably a favorite in television newsrooms ever since its release, this 2004 satire gets a 4K Ultra HD release to mark its 20th anniversary, offering Will Ferrell (who also co-wrote it with director Adam McKay) in one of his best parts to date as the title character. Burgundy is one of the most popular personalities in San Diego, Calif., but he fears that some of his local stature will be usurped by his new co-anchor (Christina Applegate). Paul Rudd, Steve Carell and David Koechner also play members of the news team; Fred Willard, Kathryn Hahn, Danny Trejo, Ben Stiller, Jack Black and Seth Rogen are among other familiar faces here. Two included Blu-ray discs offer a bounty of related special features including Burgundy's supposed audition for a slot on ESPN, plus "Ron Burgundy: The Lost Movie," a feature-length film unto itself that's assembled from material shot for (but not used in) the original picture. ★★★ (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"ICONS UNEARTHED: THE SIMPSONS"

Anyone seeking a thorough history of how the animated Fox staple was devised, then thrived and endured right up to the present day and beyond, will find it in what constituted the second season of the "Icons Unearthed" documentary miniseries that was shown on Vice. The Matt Groening-created comedy about unconventional Homer Simpson and his family and acquaintances had its start as a short-subject franchise on "The Tracey Ullman Show," then was spun off into its own program in late 1989 and it has set several records for longevity since then, one being its status as the longest-running scripted series in American TV history. Though some interviews were done for this offering, others are archival and taken from other sources. Groening., executive producer James L. Brooks and some of the "Simpsons" voice talents are among those who comment. ★★★ (Not rated: AS)
