Council prepares for votes affecting unhoused

JUSTIN GARCIA
Las Cruces Bulletin

Two high-profile city council bills seem destined for a close vote at the Las Cruces City Council on Aug. 5.

Queries from the Las Cruces Bulletin, combined with previous public statements, show the council apparently split, with at least one member still making their decision.

If passed, the measures would reshape the Las Cruces Police Department's approach to policing homelessness even as unhoused residents and community advocates call the suggested changes inhumane and ineffective.

The topic has become a flash point for Las Cruces politics as conservative and pro-business groups such as Coalition of Conservatives in Action and Businesses for a Safer Las Cruces have backed LCPD in pushing for the changes.

When he spoke to the Bulletin on July 30, Mayor Eric Enriquez said he'd decided to vote for both proposals and lamented that the public debate had reached a boiling point.

"What I see and say as a mayor is we've got to start somewhere, and we move towards the direction that's going to benefit us all, including those on the street," Enriquez said. "It's not just 'enforce a law' or that we just penalize and incarcerate everybody, it's a law that we try to make our city safer."

Yet that is precisely the criticism the bills have received from civil rights groups and community advocates. They decry the bills as criminalizing homelessness.

"The proposed ordinance is both cruel and impractical," Nicole Martinez, the executive director of Community of Hope, wrote in an op-ed. "The alternative interventions proposed in the ordinance for individuals who are charged do not currently exist in Las Cruces, leaving the police with no option but to jail people."

What the bills and officials say

No advocate for the legislation has been more determined than LCPD Chief Jeremy Story.

Since presenting these two proposals to the council on Apr. 29, Story has consistently

County Commission narrows manager search to four

BULLETIN REPORT

The Doña Ana County Board of County Commissioners announced the selection of four finalists as the county prepares to select its next county manager.

The finalists include two locals and two people from out of state. Stephen Lopez, the current interim county manager, and Barbara Bencomo, a longtime top administrator of the city of Las Cruces, are joined by Scott Andrews, an assistant city manager in Bakersfield, Calif., and Mark Tyner, a former County Administrator from Alabama.

“The Board of Commissioners is excited about this pool of qualified candidates and hopes to have a new county manager identified in the coming weeks,” Commission Chair Christopher Schaljo-Hernandez said in the news release announcing the candidates.

The board’s determination follows the commissioners’ decision to move on from Fernando Macias, who served as county manager for seven years until this year. Macias and the board could not come to terms on Macias’ contract. The board wanted to allow county elected officers—like the sheriff, the clerk, and the assessor—to have a role in evaluating Macias, something he firmly rejected.

“We are committed to including our community in the selection process and look forward to introducing the finalists to residents, highlighting their expertise, while showcasing the unique features that make Doña Ana County a great place to live, work and thrive.”

The county also included a slew of resume details in its news release. The county said locations and times for interested residents to meet the candidates would be announced.

Scott Andrews

Andrews has served as assistant city manager in Bakersfield, Calif. (pop. 415,000) for the last two years and has more than 21 years of experience in various public sector roles.

He oversees human resources, finance, parks and recreation, information technology services, economic development, community relations and risk management.

His prior experience includes another three and a half years as city manager in Covington, Ga., and over two years as assistant city administrator in Smyrna, Ga.

Additional public sector executive experience includes three years as economic development director in Sugar Hill, Ga.

Andrews has a Bachelor of Science in business from the University of South Florida/Univ. of Phoenix, a Master of Public Administration from Strayer University and a Doctor of Education from Argosy University.

Barbara Bencomo

Bencomo has served as chief administrative officer for the city of Las Cruces

(pop. 114,000). Bencomo has worked for 14 years with the city and has a background in both the technology and health-care business sectors.

Her current role includes oversight of financial services, information technology, and organizational development. Prior experience at the city includes developing organizational and legislative policies and implementing the city’s key priorities, including reimplementing the Munis ERP software system.

She also served in prior roles with the city of Las Cruces as chief of staff, deputy finance director and interim assistant city manager. Before her work at the city, she was an independent consultant in the healthcare sector with Wellspring Group, Huron Partners, and Memorial Medical Center. Bencomo is a graduate of the University of Texas at Austin with a Bachelor of Arts and Master of Business Administration in finance.

Stephen Lopez

Lopez is the current interim county manager of Doña Ana County (pop.

225,000). Lopez was appointed to that position on May 1.

Prior to his current role, he was the county’s emergency manager for three years. In that role, he worked closely with the Board of County Commissioners, other county departments and many other organizations throughout the county, developing a strategic plan and community collaboration efforts.

Lopez has extensive law enforcement experience, having served as the chief of New Mexico State University police for 10 years, deputy chief for seven years and in various other law enforcement assignments before those leadership positions with New Mexico State University.

Lopez holds a Bachelor of Arts degree and a Master of Strategic Planning for critical infrastructure from New Mexico State University.

Mark Tyner

A recently retired County Administrator, Calhoun County, Ala.

(pop. 116,000). As county administrator for six years, Tyner oversaw general operations, services, and capital improvement programs of the 350-employee organization.

This experience included budget oversight and collaboration with several elected officials in the county.

Before that, Tyner was county administrator for 15 years in Bibb County, Ala., overseeing multiple operations and services. Early career experience includes city clerk and a special assistant to a city administrator, both in Alabama communities. Tyner has a Bachelor of Arts and a Master of Public Administration from the University of Alabama.

pushed for their passage, whether at a council meeting or before the state Legislature.

“At this point, I’ve heard hundreds of stories, and I have my own with my family and my daughter, of people being assaulted, people not being able to shop or put gas in the car because of aggressive behavior,” he said.

But Story also felt the conversation around the bills had widened to a point where the range of outcomes was misrepresented. In an interview, Story and City Attorney Brad Douglas outlined expectations for the public and police officers if the bills pass.

The first bill, Council Bill 25-007, also known as the solicitation bill, would make solicitation or loitering on or near a median illegal, punishable by a fine of up to $500 or 90 days in jail. However, a judge could order community service or mandate mental health or substance abuse treatment.

“When someone is charged with a misdemeanor, it makes it more difficult for them to get a rental lease or a job in the future. Adding charges to the records of individuals living on the street will undermine our community’s ongoing, holistic approach to homelessness through housing, support services and enhancing employability,” Martinez said.

The bill also clarifies the language regarding solicitation already prohibited under city code and removes unconstitutional and unenforceable language regarding roadway solicitation and solicitation on private property.

“The goal of this legislation is to ensure that solicitors are acting in a safe manner by not entering busy streets with speed limits posted at or above 30 miles per hour and to keep persons off thin slices of pavement where there is traffic passing in both directions,” said Douglas. “So long as the median area has a flat surface at least four feet in diameter, and the activity doesn’t cause any person to illegally walk upon an area not marked for pedestrian foot traffic, solicitation would still be allowed.”

The solicitation bill presents itself as a traffic safety ordinance, its preamble stating that pedestrian fatalities in the city increased 150 percent from 2020 to 2023 and that New Mexico has led the country in pedestrian deaths per capita for seven years.

New Mexico Department of Transportation data confirms that vehicle vs. pedestrian deaths are high compared to the rest of the state and country – but there is no evidence to suggest that panhandling in the median is a significant cause of this trend in Las Cruces. A review of news articles, news releases and other public data did not yield a single instance in which a pedestrian was killed in the median while panhandling. A request for data from the city was pending as this edition of the Bulletin went to press.

Story also could not cite an instance in which a person was hit or killed panhandling in recent memory. He noted that most vehicle vs. pedestrian incidents result from pedestrian error.

“Pedestrian error means that a pedestrian is leaving the sidewalk or median and entering traffic and being struck. And so, this isn’t just about panhandling. This will apply to someone who’s standing in a median, whether they’re doing nothing or whether they’re panhandling,” he said.

But it’s also not entirely clear if the bill would reduce visible panhandling since only a few medians in Las Cruces would be affected.

“Is it going to stop all fatalities? No,” Story said. “Is it going to hopefully reduce the amount of injuries and deaths that are occurring from pedestrians? That’s the hope. And even if it’s just one or two fatalities a year, I’ll take it.”

The second bill, Council Bill 25-008, also known as the shopping cart bill, would create a new section of municipal code addressing businesses that use shopping carts and people who use them outside of a business.

Businesses would be required to prevent shopping carts from leaving their property by affixing restraints to them and securing them outside of business hours. They would also be required to document plans to prevent shopping cart removal. Non-compliance would result in fines and potentially jeopardize the business’ ability to operate in Las Cruces.

The shopping cart bill also penalizes people caught with a shopping cart outside a business. A conviction would be a petty misdemeanor carrying a potential jail term of up to six months and a fine of up to $500. However, a judge could choose to sentence the person to community service, substance abuse counseling or mental health treatment.

“It’s one piece—maybe even a small piece—of a larger solution to the issues that we’re facing,” Story said. “It’s not going to solve homelessness. No one’s claiming that it would.”

If implemented, Story said LCPD would begin with a “non-enforcement” period during which officers would approach shopping cart users and tell them they need to find an alternative. Story also said the city and LCPD were working on offering other means of storing items beyond what’s already available.

However, Story also noted that the carts represent a problem of perception. Possessing stolen property is illegal, and shopping carts fall into that category.

“That’s a very important point for me,” Story said. “We’re essentially turning a blind eye to that, which does have ramifications down the line for many other crimes.”

A different perspective

So far, business owners and public officials have dominated the conversation around the two bills; yet the changes would have the most significant effect on Las Cruces’ unhoused residents.

One such resident emphasized the importance of her shopping cart.

“Everybody has a different reason why they are homeless,” the woman said, requesting anonymity to speak about her situation because she believed she could secure housing soon and did not want to jeopardize the opportunity. She divulged that she had lived in Las Cruces for about two years after moving from the Alamogordo area.

“For a homeless person, it’s just safer,” she said when asked why she used a shopping cart to carry her belongings. “And I’m not going to need it after a couple of months, until I get at least a driver’s license and I can get back inside.”

With a shopping cart as opposed to a backpack or pull-along cart, she said she worried less about rodents and bugs with her belongings open to the air. She also said it allowed police to see what was in it quickly.

She reported being regularly gifted with carts by employees of large businesses and, at least on one occasion, had been given a letter by a store manager endorsing her use of the cart.

“I think it’s really important for a homeless person to have a cart,” she said. “One time, from when I was still active duty, we got together and got some carts for the homeless people and they really appreciated it.”

Another man who spoke to Bulletin said he’d been paying attention to discourse about shopping carts and panhandling. He, too, requested anonymity, stating that he feared the dialogue had reached a point that jeopardized his safety.

Both people told the Bulletin that they felt the unhoused were wrongly targeted on the shopping cart issue. They noted that other people, ostensibly with housing, used the carts to ferry their groceries to a bus stop or their residence before abandoning them in desert areas.

“Aint no homeless people leaving their cart in the desert,” the woman said. “It doesn’t make no sense because they’re going to have their stuff with them.”

As for panhandling, which they called “flying a sign,” both people listed several factors they consider before approaching a car and asking for money. They also acknowledged that some who ask may be intoxicated, increasing the risk of walking in front of oncoming traffic.

Still, they said moving into the median was sometimes preferable since drivers stopped at a light are easier to approach.

“You know, it just depends on how safe it is,” the woman said.

STEM education takes off at Aero-Knowledge Center

JEWEL DOMINGUEZ
For the Bulletin

New Mexico Senator Bill Soules, D-Las Cruces, and Experimental Aircraft Association member and local engineer owner Brett Hahn want everyone to have the confidence to feel like they can fly. The two men teamed up to launch the Aero-Knowledge Center in 2023 as a hands-on aircraft and aviation mentorship program for students of all ages.

Hahn, who began mentoring students with Carl Bogardus in 2012 through the New Mexico State University Capstone Students program, has extensive engineering experience working for Mazda, White Sands Missile Range, Hawaii Space Flight Laboratory, NASA and more. His and Bogardus' work with local students in the area has led students of all identities to obtain engineering degrees as well as jobs at places such as White Sands Missile Range, Lockheed Martin, Raytheon, Guardian Glass, Yuma Proving Grounds and the U.S. Navy.

Bogardus, a lifelong educator, pilot and local science teacher, passed away in 2018.

Soules has dedicated 40 years to teaching and school administration and has served New Mexico since 2013 as a state Senator for District 37. Soules learned to fly in Ohio but obtained all his training in New Mexico, and has held a pilot's license since 1977. He even owns a plane. Hahn is also a pilot, learned to fly in 1995 at the Las Cruces International Airport and owns an aerobatic biplane.

occupies a hangar that once belonged to Apollo 8 astronaut Frank Borman, located at the city-owned airport. It has a fully functional paint booth, a complete aerospace welding and machining facility, a library and five Redbird-certified flight simulators.

The space gives students a place to learn about aviation and the basics of engineering, work on projects and learn how to fly a plane.

Soules and Hahn currently guide eight students. Among them are Sebastian Ojeda, recently graduated from Las Cruces High School and is planning to study aerospace and mechanical engineering at NMSU; Jorge Carrillo, a senior at Mayfield High School; Dominic Orona, a junior at Las Cruces High; Ruben Sanchez, a junior at Organ Mountain High School; and Levi Henderson, who attends a Christian private school.

The students applied for the internship through the Doña Ana County Summer Student Internship Program, which uses state funds to pay students up to $15 an hour at no cost to busi-

“It was luck of the draw really,” Ojeda said. “I got called by Bill at Walmart, and he asked me if I was ready to work at an airport.”

Since beginning their mentorship this summer, students at the Aero-Knowledge Center have done it all. In the first two weeks, Hahn said, “These guys have gotten this hangar together and ready.” They established internet service in the hangar and Carrillo installed workbench lighting in the fabrication shop before proceeding to connect the HVAC system in their paint booth to another room in the hangar.

“I prefer this to sitting behind a desk,” Carrillo said.

Orona and Ruben are aspiring mechanics and have worked with motors and engines since they were children. They are working on turning a lawn mower motor into a basic tug that can pull small planes. Ojeda is working on a bottle opener shaped like a plane, learning the basics of woodworking in the process. Levi, joining the program a few weeks ahead the rest of the group, has moved equipment from one hangar to another and designed a new logo for the program.

The group has heard presentations on women in aviation, and some of the students have accompanied airport maintenance on their inspections to learn more about the airport and the planes.

“We get to do so much, I definitely feel like I am learning a lot,” said Carrillo.

The students have also taken to the flight simulator with ease. “They have flown around the airport and landed, all with minimal direction,” said Soules, who is the resident instructor for the program. Soules expressed hope that allowing students to fly using the simulator will generate more interest in aviation.

“It is all about opportunity,” he said. “This is a white guy type of profession, and because of that, the profession is suffering. We want to be able to show everyone they can do this, too.”

Soules and Hahn have big plans. Soules would like to establish the complete restoration of a plane as a standing project for the program. When the hangar is fully up and running, they plan to host the Boys and Girls Club for a tour and invite schools to take field trips here in the fall.

The program is looking to expand beyond its usual summer mentorship, and accepts donations from anyone willing to contribute to the program.

The Doña Ana County Summer Student Internship Program has already reached capacity for this year, but students applying next year can specify that they want to be placed at the Aero-Knowledge Center.

More information on the program and how to get involved are available via Brett Hahn at brettvhahn@gmail.com and Bill Soules at bill.soules@nmlegis.gov.

Doña Ana County approves the 2024-2025 budget

BULLETIN REPORT

The Doña Ana County Board of County Commissioners unanimously approved the $364,446,382 budget at its regular meeting on July 23.

The budget outlines the services to be provided and covers the period from July 2024 through June 2025. According to county finance director Asma Dawood, this year’s budget required the county to dip into its reserves for about $74 million to pay for a slew of one-time expenditures.

“We’ve seen in the past several years that we usually receive revenues higher than budgeted, and expenditures are lower than our budget, and we end up adding to our reserves,” Dawood said.

Like nearly all New Mexico municipalities, gross receipts and property taxes are the primary driver of revenue for Doña Ana County. For the upcoming fiscal year, the county expects to receive around $84.4 million in GRT and $56.3 million in property taxes.

The new budget also included money for increased pay for some staff based on newly negotiated union contracts, a new staff attorney and a public information officer for the county’s public safety departments.

Operating costs largely drove the increase in expenditure. Some of those costs included repairs to fire trucks, new lights for the 3rd Judicial District Courthouse and new radios for DASO.

Next, the budget will be sent to the state Department of Finances and Administration for final approval.

Supreme Court rules on Patrick Howard case, sets new hearing

JUSTIN GARCIA
Las Cruces Bulletin

The New Mexico Supreme Court kicked back a highly-criticized ruling for a former teacher convicted of sexually assaulting a student in 2017.

Patrick Howard, a 61-year-old former agricultural sciences teacher and Future Farmers of America advisor at Las Cruces High School, was due in court on Aug. 1 after the state's high court found that a Las Cruces judge should reconsider Howard's suspended probation. Justices took up the case after the New Mexico Attorney General filed a petition requesting the court to reconsider the suspended probation and remove the case from the 3rd Judicial District Court.

The Supreme Court did force the judge, Douglas Driggers, to reconsider his previous probation suspension but did not take the case from him, as the AG requested.

Howard was charged with three counts of criminal sexual contact with a minor and one count of battery. He pleaded guilty in 2021 to one count of criminal sexual contact with a minor and a count of battery.

Driggers sentenced him to five years of probation but did not require him to formally register as a sex offender – a deal that the 3rd Judicial District Attorney's Office approved at the time but has since backtracked on.

In March 2024, Driggers suspended the sentence early. It's unclear from court records what prompted the suspension other than Driggers' belief that Howard had “satisfactorily fulfilled the conditions of his probation.”

That series of events prompted AG Raúl Torrez to bring the case to

“It does not appear to us that the District Court complied with the constitutional protections that are set forth and guaranteed under law,” Torrez said.

Shopping cart ordinance is no solution

NICOLE MARTINEZ
Guest columnist

The Las Cruces City Council will consider an ordinance at the August 5 meeting to make shopping cart possession outside of the normal grocery radius a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine or time in jail. (Theft of a cart is already a crime.) Proponents suggest the ordinance will help "clean up the streets," but those arguments are deeply dehumanizing and flawed.

The proposed ordinance is both cruel and impractical. The alternative interventions proposed in the ordinance for individuals who are charged do not currently exist in Las Cruces, leaving the police with no option but to jail people. The city, county and state should be working together to (re)build mental health infrastructure, expand diversion programs and fund substance use treatment. As taxpayers, we should question whether incarcerating someone for possession of a shopping cart or asking for money in a median at the cost of $186 per day is the best use of our money. In comparison, it costs $25 per day to house someone in an efficiency apartment.

In the past year, the Mesilla Valley Community of Hope served 2,584 women, 400 veterans, 130 children in homeless families and 104 people over 65. Do we really want to be a community that sees incarceration and punishment of women, veterans and seniors, and diverting children from their families to the foster care system as the means to render invisible the homeless population?

People experiencing homelessness are a very vulnerable population. Most have suffered successive traumas, and often their whole world is reduced to a shopping cart. One veteran reflected on his life on the streets and said it is more terrifying than being in combat. Unhoused people are often the victims of violent crime, especially women and elders.

When someone is charged with a misdemeanor, it makes it more difficult for them to get a rental lease or a job in the future. Adding charges to the records of individuals living on the street will undermine our community's ongoing, holistic approach to homelessness through housing, support services and enhancing employability.

Homelessness is a crisis that calls for community efforts and creative solutions, not rhetorical and legal villainization.

Instead of reactively punishing the poor in an attempt to remove them from view, we urge the city of Las Cruces to further invest in innovative solutions to address homelessness. As a community, we can and will overcome the challenges that contribute to people becoming unhoused, but not by giving tickets to folks whose entire world has been reduced to what will fit into a shopping cart. We urge the city council to vote no on these ordinances.

Nicole Martinez is the executive director of Mesilla Valley Community of Hope.

Town hall should alert lawmakers

If the town hall meeting on public safety called by Gov. Michelle Lujan Grisham last week was intended to demonstrate the public's concern about crime, it was a huge success.

They expected it to draw about 200 people and take two hours to complete. Instead, a crowd of more than 500 packed the convention center ballroom for a discussion that lasted long into the night.

There were a couple of clear takeaways. The first is a growing belief among residents that Las Cruces is no longer the safe community that it once was. When a man asked how many in the audience had been victims of crime in the past year, it looked like about two-thirds of the hands went up. People are frustrated and concerned.

The second takeaway is that most residents have faith in Police Chief Jeremy Story, who was at the meeting. While there was anger at the police for failing to respond to low-level crimes, there was strong support for Story, who has been chief since December.

WALT RUBEL

The View
From Here

To her credit, Lujan Grisham stayed until everyone who wanted to speak had the opportunity to. And she took a personal interest in many of the problems that were expressed. Much of the night involved her taking down phone numbers and promising to have the right person get back in touch.

It was a terrific display of retail politics. But if the intention was to pressure the state Legislature, which refused to consider a series of public safety bills sought by the governor during a recent special session, that didn't happen.

Most of them weren't there. And with the primary election now over, the governor doesn't have a lot of leverage. Obviously, she's not going to support Republicans running against Democrats who disagree with her.

One of the few legislators who did attend the meeting was Sen. Joseph Cervantes, who is chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee. Cervantes and Rep. Joanne Ferrary were guests on the community radio show I co-hosted the day before, as was Benjamin Baker from the governor's staff. Cervantes explained why the remedies Lujan Grisham

Lujan Grisham town hall lasts longer than special session

JUSTIN GARCIA
Las Cruces Bulletin

Gov. Michelle Lujan Grisham promised a crowd of about 500 that she'd stay for as long as they had questions. And she kept that promise, staying for six hours at a town hall in Las Cruces on July 25.

Perhaps the biggest takeaway was Lujan Grisham's call for the Las Cruces community to pressure local legislators into supporting her crime package that opponents have decried as inhumane and ineffective.

The town hall drew dozens of questions from the public and several statements from the governor about police salaries, involuntary commitment, pretrial detention and other policy issues.

"Do not let me vilify innocent people," Lujan Grisham said, referring to civil rights organizations. "Do not let me vilify people of color. Do not let me vilify innocent immigrants and their families, and do not let me vilify people on the streets. But I do intend to make New Mexico safer."

Lujan Grisham's stop in Las Cruces is the first of three following the legislature's rebuke of her public safety package last week. Notably, the governor's fellow Democrats in the legislature mostly stayed away from the event except for state Sen. Joseph Cervantes, a Las Cruces Democrat who chairs the Senate Judiciary Committee. Two Republican state senators – Mark Moores of Albuquerque and Crystal Diamond Brantley of Elephant Butte – were also in attendance.

The governor convened a special legislative session on July 18. Typically, these sessions last a few days or weeks. This one lasted just five hours, with legislators tossing aside Lujan Grisham's public safety proposals but approving money for Ruidoso fire relief and money for assisted outpatient treatment in New Mexico courts. The governor has responded to the swift adjournment with anger.

pling with it.

But there were far too many testimonials at the town hall from frustrated store owners and homeowners who said they routinely see crimes being committed, but have given up reporting them to police because they often don't respond, and when they do it doesn't result in arrest and incarceration. That has to change.

murder), ease the process for courts to commit people accused of crimes involuntarily, oblige police departments to report crime statistics better, and a crackdown on organized crime, among other public safety topics.

Civil rights organizations called the package dehumanizing, while Democratic lawmakers bashed it as ineffective.

Other lawmakers told the Bulletin that Lujan Grisham's office prioritized airing the package of working with legislators to find common ground.

But the special session's adjournment was not the end of the fight. After failure in the Roundhouse, Lujan Grisham took her pitch for a more punitive approach to criminal justice on the road.

In Las Cruces, she met over 500 people from dozens of walks of life. Conservative organizations, civil rights groups, state senators and police filled two rooms at the Las Cruces Convention Center.

The questions varied but often focused on issues relevant to the Las Cruces and Doña Ana County communities.

For example, one question concerned a house with trash out front. The questioner said that LCPD codes do not respond. Another stated that police don't respond to a retail shop in town, while others told the governor they were disappointed in her harder-line stance on crime.

However, the crowd at the convention center largely supported Lujan Grisham's proposals and LCPD.

"Your presence is power, and we thank you for that. It has been hugely cathartic for our community," said one person, who stayed until 11:30 p.m. to speak to Lujan Grisham.

Las Cruces police chief Jeremy Story, appearing on stage with Lujan Grisham and responding to some questions, announced the launch of a law enforcement initiative he called "Operation Not In Vain." The name makes reference to slain police officer Jonah Hernandez.

Story told the Bulletin after the meeting that the operation would commence in August and feature LCPD partnering with state and federal agencies for an increased police presence in Las Cruces.

"We're targeting several different things," Story said. "One of them being retail theft, another being our violent repeat offenders."

Story said the initiative would also see LCPD providing training and resources to businesses to better fortify their locations both with physical barriers and information about insurance.

is seeking – mandatory treatment for those found to be incompetent to stand trial and a prohibition on panhandling from street corners – were too complicated to be addressed in a special session.

Local leaders who brushed off the town hall as "a distraction" aren't listening to their constituents. While it's true that we need to address the root causes of crime, we also need to deal with the criminals.

To that end, Chief Story has announced a new initiative named in honor of fallen LCPD Officer Jonah Hernandez. I look forward to hearing more about the details in the coming weeks.

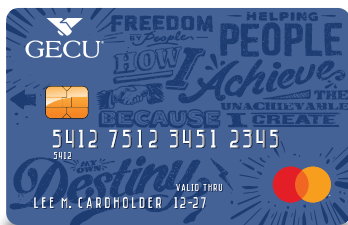

Finding the right balance on issues like pretrial detention, mandatory treatment for those found incompetent to stand trial and aggressive panhandling isn't easy, and we're not the only ones grap-

Maestro serenades Lady Kindness

Lonnie Klein to lead gala concert in Ohio

MIKE COOK
For the Bulletin

Las Cruces maestro Lonnie Klein will be leading the orchestra as one of the world's largest marble sculptures is unveiled during a gala fundraiser in northeast Ohio in August.

"This type of event needs an inspired, motivated, energetic conductor and that's what Lonnie is," said event musical director Mariano Longo of Las Vegas, Nev. "Lonnie is not just regional, he's national, he's global," said Longo, who collaborated with Klein on recent live shows in Las Cruces featuring the Buckingham's and the music of Earth, Wind and Fire.

The unveiling of the 29-foot statue, representing Lady Kindness and carved in Carrara marble weighing nearly 80 tons, promises to be "the most spectacular party ever," in the words of Dr. Farid Naffah, a physician and founder of the Avamar Foundation. Billed as "An Evening Under the Stars," the fundraiser benefits the foundation.

Naffah, 68, immigrated to the United States from Beirut at age 20 and built a medical practice.

"I'm a representative of the American dream," he said. "I came here with very little. I was able to make a life that was beautiful and successful. My passion has always been the arts and culture."

Naffah created the Avamar Foundation about 20 years ago "to help the needy elderly in our community pay for prescription medication," he said, and began the annual gala, "An Evening Under the Stars," at his estate to support the foundation's efforts.

Naffah said he chose Klein to lead the 50-piece orchestra because the Las Cruces conductor "saw this project for what it was and wanted to be part of it and wanted to help."

The unveiling will cap the 16th annual gala on Saturday, Aug. 17. Tickets to the event cost $300.

Klein retired in 2021 after more than 20 years as director of the Las Cruces Symphony Orchestra. He maintains a busy schedule guest-conducting orchestras in New Mexico and in other states and countries.

"It's tailor-made for me," he said about the unveiling. "It's been my focus all summer, getting the music ready, setting the score."

The unveiling will be a mix of classical and pop music performed by "a hand-picked orchestra from all the orchestras in the area," Longo said, including Cleveland, Pittsburg, Youngstown and Akron, along with two vocalists from Las Vegas.

The orchestra will open with "Rhapsody on a Theme of Paganini," by Sergei Rachmaninoff, and the sculpture will be unveiled during the finale. The concert will also feature pop songs from the 1960s, '70s and '80s.

"I have a really fine orchestra, a beautiful setting," Klein said. "It's going to be a celebration."

The Lady Kindness statue is described as "the largest ever robotically carved marble sculpture"

Sara Haines

OF THE VIEW ON ABC

Q: Wasn't Sara Haines, of "The View," on "Today" many years ago?

A: She was, and she actually worked behind the scenes of the NBC morning show before becoming an on-air presence on it. In fact, she was behind the scenes at the network overall, since she initially was a page, assisting on various programs and also giving studio tours. After her time doing that, she became a production coordinator on "Today," again filling a variety of functions in helping to get the show on the air. Eventually, Haines became a contributing correspondent for the fourth hour of "Today" from 2009 to 2013, which set her up to make a move to ABC News. Though she did general reporting, she also became the entertainment-news anchor on weekend editions of "Good Morning America." That gave her a visibility that surely helped when "The View" needed someone at its table, a job Haines filled a number of times as a guest before she was named a permanent co-host of the show in 2016. In 2018, Haines left "The View" to join Michael Strahan as a host of a third weekday hour of "Good Morning America," with Keke Palmer joining them later as another host. When the coronavirus pandemic began in 2020, that incarnation of the hour was replaced by "GMA3: What You Need to Know" (which has remained since), and Haines returned to "The View."

Haines also has done other work for ABC, in both news and entertainment programming. She has hosted a version of the game show "The Chase," and she recently served as a correspondent – along with W. Kamau Bell – for the 17th season of the John Quinones-hosted "What Would You Do?"

"2012" (Available Now)

Dr. Adrian Helmsley (Chiwetel Ejiofor), part of a worldwide geophysical team investigating the effect on the earth of radiation from unprecedented solar storms, learns that the earth's core is heating up. Meanwhile, writer Jackson Curtis (John Cusack) stumbles on the same information. While the world's leaders race to build "arks" to escape the impending cataclysm, Curtis struggles to find a way to save his family.

"Alita: Battle Angel" (Available Now)

Set several centuries in the future, the abandoned Alita (Rosa Salazar) is found in the scrapyard of Iron City by Dr. Ido (Christoph Waltz), a compassionate cyber-doctor who takes the unconscious cyborg Alita to his clinic. When Alita awakens, she has no memory of who she is, nor does she have any recognition of the world she finds herself in. As Alita learns to navigate her new life and the treacherous streets of Iron City, Ido tries to shield her from her mysterious past.

"Behind Enemy Lines" (Available Now)

Fighter navigator Chris Burnett (Owen Wilson) wants out, looking for something more than the boring recon missions he's been flying. He finds himself flying the lone Christmas day mission over war-torn Bosnia. But when he talks pilot Stackhouse (Gabriel Macht) into flying slightly off-course, the two get shot down. Burnett is soon alone, trying to outrun a pursuing army, while commanding officer Reigert (Gene Hackman) finds his rescue operation hamstrung by politics.

"Hail Satan?" (Available Now)

With unprecedented access, this documentary traces the rise of The Satanic Temple. Only six years old and already one of the most controversial religious movements in American history. The Temple and its enigmatic leader Lucien Greaves are calling for a Satanic revolution to save the nation's soul. But are they for real?

What's Available NOW On

“Young Woman and the Sea” (Available Now)

Based on the book “Young Woman and the Sea: How Trudy Ederle Conquered the English Channel and Inspired the World” by Glenn Stout, this biographical drama stars Daisy Ridley as Trudy Ederle, the accomplished swimmer who was born to immigrant parents in New York City in 1905. Through the steadfast support of her older sister and trainers, she overcame adversity to rise through the ranks of the Olympic swimming team and complete a 21-mile swim from France to England.

“The Sword in the Stone” (Available Now)

According to legend, only someone truly worthy can claim the throne of England by pulling out the enchanted sword that lies locked in a massive stone. Many brave knights have tried, so it seems impossible that a young apprentice named Arthur, known as Wart, could succeed. But with the guidance of the wizard Merlin, help from some hilarious friends and true strength of character, Wart just might become England's greatest king.

“Sleeping Beauty” (Available Now)

After being snubbed by the royal family, Maleficent, a malevolent fairy, places a curse on the their young daughter, Princess Aurora. While only a prince can break the curse, the journey is helped along with the help of three good fairies, Flora, Fauna and Merryweather.

“Anastasia” (Available Now)

The daughter of the last Russian Czar, Nicolas II, Anastasia is raised in an orphanage after escaping the attack that killed her family, with no recollection of who she really is. With a reward from her grandmother promised to whoever can find her Anastasia, two Russian con men, Dimitri and Vladimir, teach the young orphan how to act like a royal, hoping to claim the money by any means. But the evil mystic of the Czar family, Grigori Rasputin, still wants the Romanov family to be destroyed forever. Will Anastasia remember who she is and find happiness?

UFC Fight Night: Sandhagen vs. Nurmagomedov KVIA 1 p.m.

Their days of causing anxiety on the gridiron may be behind them, but their names still reverberate as legends. In this enshrinement ceremony, the likes of Dwight Freeney, Randy Gradishar, Julius Peppers, and others enter the hall of fame in Canton, Ohio.

As Elton John once sang, "Saturday night's alright for fighting." Live from the Etihad Arena in Abu Dhabi, Cory Sandhagen and Umar Nurmagomedov main event an exciting night of intense fights, including Nick Diaz's first bout in three years.

G.I. Jane
SYFY 1:35 p.m.

The U.S. Navy begins accepting women due to political pressure from Senator Lillian DeHaven (Anne Bancroft). Lt. Jordan O'Neil (Demi Moore) is chosen as its first recruit under the challenging command of John James Urgayle (Viggo Mortensen).

The Outsiders
AMC 3 p.m.

When Ponyboy (C. Thomas Howell) and Johnny (Ralph Macchio) get into a brawl that ends in a death, they are forced to go into hiding. They can't run from the truth for long, however, as the consequences of their actions catch up with them fast.

I Thought My Husband's Wife Was Dead
LIFE 6 p.m.

Based on "Unmissing" by author Minka Kent, this thriller follows expectant mother Lola Winters (Sheryllyn Allen) whose world comes crashing down when a woman (LeToya Luckett) shows up claiming to be the late-wife of her husband, Leo (Jamall Johnson).

Junebug
HALL 6 p.m.

Autumn Reeser stars in her 20th Hallmark movie as book editor Juniper. Nearing her 40th birthday, Juniper gets the magical opportunity to reconnect with her eight-year-old self. Rather than a joyful experience, young Juniper questions her life choices.

Ghost Adventures
TRAV 8 p.m.

The adventures of ghost hunters Zak Bagans, Aaron Goodwin, Billy Tolley, and Jay Wasley continue in this new episode. This time, they investigate an abandoned home in La Crescenta, Calif., that's believed to be cursed by Charles Manson.

Elizabeth Taylor: The Lost Tapes
HBO 9 p.m.

From director Nanette Burstein, this documentary explores the life and career of prolific actress and humanitarian Elizabeth Taylor through a new lens uncovered through the discovery of intimate audio interviews with journalist Richard Meryman.

tonight's picks

Alex Guarnaschelli in "Alex vs. America"

The Real Housewives of New Jersey
BRAVO 6 p.m.

Nothing is ever simple for the strong-willed cast of this long-running reality series. Be it personal beefs, marital problems or the occasional disagreement, drama is always a constant for Teresa, Melissa, Dolores, Margaret, Jennifer, Danielle and Rachel.

The Neighbor Who Saw Too Much
LIFE 6 p.m.

When a new neighbor moves next door, a teen becomes convinced that he is a dangerous killer. When none of her friends or family believe her, she decides to take a few risks in order to gather the evidence she needs. Sage Moore and Kia Dorsey star.

Mysteries of the Deep
TRAV 6 p.m.

With new information on the Loch Ness Monster's possible hiding spot, the master of aquatic marvels, Jeremy Wade, heads towards the highlands to check it out. Then, he heads to the Bermuda Triangle to investigate a disappearance with spy implications.

Alex vs America
FOOD 7 p.m.

It's a seafood bonanza in the latest episode of this food competition show as three lobster specialists step up to challenge superstar chef Alex Guarnaschelli for a chance at $15,000. Will their expertise be enough to beat Alex? Eric Adjepong hosts.

America's Funniest Home Videos
KVIA 7 p.m.

Host Alfonso Ribeiro brings back the biggest winners from earlier in the season to compete for a stay at a Disney Vacation Club Resort. With videos involving an unexpected air balloon landing and a friendly neighborhood pig, the competition is tight.

Grantchester on Masterpiece
KRWG 8 p.m.

For such a small town, Grantchester certainly has its fair share of homicides. Luckily, with vicar Alphy (Rishi Nair) and Det. Geordie (Robson Green) handling the investigations, the townsfolk still feel safe and secure in this Season 9 finale.

Orphan Black: Echoes
AMC BBCA 8:05 p.m.

Kira (Keeley Hawes) can no longer keep the truth a secret when Lucy (Krysten Ritter) comes face-to-face with a clone of Eleanor (Rya Kihlstedt). Meanwhile, Jules (Amanda Fix) outsmarts Darros (James Hiroyuki Liao) and Xander (Vinson Tran).

House of the Dragon
HBO 10 p.m.

House Targaryen may be in need of some remodeling. While the Iron Throne looks perfect in any room, it has some people — namely, Rhaenyra (Emma D'Arcy) and Aegon (Tom Glynn-Carney) — going to great lengths to keep it all to themselves in this Season 2 finale.

Sarper and Shekinah as seen in "90 Day Fiancé: The Other Way"

Intervention
A&E 6 p.m.

From their first meeting, Corinne and Joey have been mixing love with drugs. Now, the two live in Northern California, where they scrounge together any money they can get their hands on for meth. However, time may be running out to help them.

90 Day Fiancé:
The Other Way
TLC 6 p.m.

This popular "90 Day Fiancé" spinoff chronicles the stories of Americans in love who leave the country to live abroad with their partners. This season watches their stories unfold in China, Iceland, Ireland, Turkey, Indonesia and England.

BBQ Brawl
FOOD 7 p.m.

Knowing one's way around a grill can go a long way, but becoming a BBQ master means they must know secrets others do not. Team captains Bobby Flay, Sunny Anderson and Michael Voltaggio put their grillers to the test to see who can handle the heat.

61st Street
KVIA2 8 p.m.

Season 2 continues with an all-new episode, in which Martha (Aunjanue Ellis-Taylor) urges the mayor's office to put more pressure on the police. As the department starts searching for a scapegoat, however, Officer Logan (Mark O'Brien) finds himself stuck.

POV
KRWG 9 p.m.

Director Pau Faus brings viewers to a paradoxical spot outside of Barcelona, Spain, where an old shepherd suffering from bone disease herds his goats next door to the animal research center that buys his goats in order to create the medication he needs.

Mayor of Kingstown PARSHO 10 p.m.

With things getting out of control, someone needs to step up in this season finale. But when Mike (Jeremy Renner) delivers a plan that could finally subdue the dangerous factions waging war in Kingstown, Michigan, his ideas are met with surprising resistance.

Tough financial questions?
Ask Jackie.

Martina Navratilova is featured in "Gods of Tennis"

Deadliest Catch DSC 6 p.m.

Sig deploys tactics from the old country in order to zero in on the Bairdi crab motherlode. Jack earns a windfall of new quota, but it comes at the cost of drug testing his crew. Jake gets burned by his own generosity when the Aleutian Lady overstay its welcome.

The Real Housewives of Dubai BRAVO 7 p.m.

There's a lot to be digested as Ayan and Lesa have a falling out over something that happened at dinner. Then, the ladies follow Sara to a spiritual moment in a Balinese jungle. And, Caroline Brooks and Taleen figure it's time to hash some things out.

Gods of Tennis KRWG 7 p.m.

In this series finale, the rivalry of two of the greatest women in Tennis during the 1980s helps make the sport a must-watch event. Then, despite dominating the courts at Wimbledon, Martina Navratilova still struggles to reach Chris Evert's level of popularity.

Entrepreneurs need vacation time

In the heat of this very hot summer, many of us find the time to escape the high temperatures by planning vacations, or ‘holiday’ as they call it in Europe, to cooler areas. The whole purpose of taking a vacation is to relax, enjoy new scenery and to get a new perspective on our work environments. In the current world we live in, however, do we really, really get away? Like most of you, our cell phone goes everywhere with us, even on vacation. Justifying that we need to stay on top of emails, calls and office, we truly never become ‘unplugged,’ do we? I’m as guilty as the next person...just ask my family!

After thinking about the proverbial “vacation,” I began to think about those entrepreneurs, those small business owners, those one-person offices...how do they find the time to take a vacation? Who do they leave in charge of the business? Do they close the business? How do they begin to justify the loss of sales?

These questions are just a few of many the local entrepreneur wrestles with when it comes to planning time away from the business. Research shows that the successful entrepreneur makes and takes the time for vacation. Time away from the business can give them a new perspective, new direction and renewed passion. These “passion-driven” entrepreneurs and small business owners are among some of the hardest working people in world. Funny how it is, when your work life and personal life is one, it can be complicated to draw a line between work and home. Taking this time away can be reinvigorating for everyone.

There are three simple things an entrepreneur can gain from taking time away:

Take a Staycation!

1. Renewal of passion. The entrepreneur typically begins their business based on passion. That vision to be their own boss, manage their own schedule and make their own decisions. Adding all the pressures surrounding the art of “owning” your business, the passion oftentimes takes a backseat. Finding a different venue, new environment, will provide you opportunity to find your passion again. Passion drives vision and vision drives success.

2. Renewal of focus. While it may not drive the entrepreneur like passion, success cannot be achieved without focus. Have you ever kept looking at a piece of paper and all the letters seemed to be scrambling together to the point it can’t be read? This can also happen to a business owner who has looked over their business plan so many times they can’t see the end from the beginning. Stepping away can bring new ideas to the forefront and bring those jumbled letters into focus. Focusing in on the next goals, the next step and the next new product can bring that business plan back to life once again.

3. Renewal of Purpose. There’s not an entrepreneur I have met over the past thirty years who, not only have a purpose for their business, but also a passion for their community. Making an impact, whether it is their family, their employees or the community around them becomes a central part of the heart of their business. Visiting new communities, those quaint local shops, gives us opportunity to have a conversation with the owners, managers and employees of the impact they make in their area. New ideas are born, along with a revival of purposeful impact.

While far away trips are good, I trust you consider some "stay-cations" in our beautiful state! Truly nothing matches up to the wonderful beauty we experience every day in the Land of Enchantment. Full of its culture, unique shopping venues and excellent food, it is a great place to create memories. It continues to be my passion, my focus and my purpose to provide the tools for our visionary entrepreneurs in our community to achieve success and be impactful. The success in "unplugging" can be challenging at best. Perhaps, though, relaxation at some level can give us new energy, new passion and renewed focus.

The Greater Las Cruces Chamber stands ready to help your business be successful. Want to get involved? Want to make a difference? Give me a call at the Chamber at 575.524.1968.

"Gabby's Dollhouse" - Season 10 (Aug. 5)

Gabby and Pandy are excited to get tiny and give a cat-tastic Dollhouse welcome to their newest kitty friend, Marty the Party Cat! Marty and his a-mew-zing new home in the Dollhouse, the Party Room, are filled with endless surprises and with a wave of his magical "party tail" the Party Room can transform into any celebration you could imagine!

"Rising Impact" - Season 2 (Aug. 6)

After encountering a female professional golfer named Kiria Nishino, third grade baseball player Nanaumi Gawain becomes enchanted by golf when he hits the ball over 300 yards on his first drive. Afterward, Kiria helps him move to Tokyo and enroll at Camelot Academy, a world-famous school for junior golfers. There, his innate talent for golf blooms as he ruthlessly competes against gifted rivals from all around the world!

"Shahmaran" (Aug. 8)

The long-awaited prophecy has been fulfilled; Shahmaran begins to awaken in Sahu's (Serenay Sarkaya) body. Meanwhile, Lilith (Saadet Isil Aksoy) emerges from her curse well, ready to exact revenge for the betrayal she endured for love, and Cihan (Mert Ramazan Demir) will accompany her as she tries to navigate this new world after centuries. Sahu and Maran will be tested by their love, while Shahmaran and Lilith will not relent in their struggle over the Cycle of the Universe.

"Blue Ribbon Baking Championship" (Aug. 9)

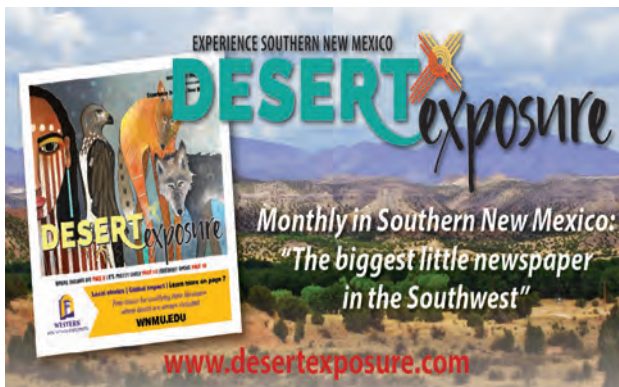

For over 100 years, the American state fair has been the proving ground for the most wildly talented bakers across the United States. Now, for the first time ever, Blue Ribbon winning bakers from state fairs across the nation get the chance to compete against each other in the Blue Ribbon Baking Championship. Featuring host Jason Biggs and co-host and judge Sandra Lee, 10 award-winning pastry masters from across the U.S. gather to compete in the biggest blue ribbon bake off yet – and the chance to win $100,000.

"Industry" - Season 3 (HBO/Max — Aug. 11, Season Premiere)

Season 3 of this drama series sees Pierpoint looking to the future, taking a big bet on ethical investing. Yasmin (Marisa Abela), Robert (Harry Lawtey), and Eric (Ken Leung) find themselves front and center in the splashy IPO of Lumi, a green tech energy company led by Sir Henry Muck (Kit Harington), in a story that runs all the way to the very top of finance, media, and government. And, since leaving Pierpoint, Harper (Myha'la) is eager to get back into the addictive thrill of finance and finds an unlikely partner in FutureDawn portfolio manager Petra Koenig (Sarah Goldberg).

"SEAL Team" - Season 7 (Paramount+ — Aug. 11, Season Premiere)

The seventh and final season of this thrilling drama series makes its premiere. Jason Hayes (David Boreanaz) struggles to balance his warrior's existence with the responsibilities of single fatherhood, while Ray Perry (Neil Brown Jr.), his trusted second in command, questions whether he will be able to leave the battlefield behind as his retirement nears. Dedicated door-kicker Sonny Quinn (A.J. Buckley) battles against changing tides as Jason and Ray's shifting focus means that other teammates must shoulder more responsibility. Toni Trucks, Raffi Barsoumian and Beau Knapp also star.

"Emily in Paris" - Season 4, Part 1 (Netflix — Aug. 15, Season Premiere)

After the dramatic events of Camille (Camille Razat) and Gabriel's (Lucas Bravo) misbegotten wedding, Emily (Lily Collins) is reeling; she has strong feelings for two men, but now Gabriel's expecting a baby with his ex and Alfie's (Lucien Laviscount) worst fears about her and Gabriel have been confirmed. At work, Sylvie (Philippine Leroy-Beaulieu) is forced to confront a thorny dilemma from her past for the sake of her marriage, and the Agence Gateau team navigates personnel shakeups. Mindy (Ashley Park) and the band prepare for Eurovision, but when funds run dry, they're forced to get thrifty.

Kevin and Franklin Jonas host "Claim to Fame"

Finding Amelia
DSC 6 p.m.

Amelia Earhart and navigator Fred Noonan famously disappeared while on a 29,000-mile flight around the world in 1937. But, in 1945, a group of Australian soldiers said they found the plane in Papua New Guinea. Experts use their notes to locate the plane.

See No Evil
ID 6 p.m.

A suspected serial killer threatens Anchorage, Alaska, in 2016 when authorities find 20-year-old Brianna Foisy and 41-year-old Jason Netter shot to death along a bike path. Police are stumped until similar killings take place in the same area.

Tyler Perry's Sistas
BET 7 p.m.

Being a divorce attorney means never having to say sorry, but Andi (KJ Smith) starts looking at the details from a different angle when someone's life is at risk. Then, Sabrina (Novi Brown) is ready to throw caution to the wind for her true desires.

Million Dollar Listing
Los Angeles
BRAVO 7 p.m.

The Joshes compete to see who can sell their Trousdale Estates listing first in the latest episode of this real estate-based reality series. However, things get complicated when Josh Flagg becomes enraptured by Josh Altman's property.

Pawn Stars
HISTORY 7 p.m.

Rick Harrison runs the most famous — and only — family-owned pawn shop in Sin City. Over the years, they've seen some amazing items walk into the shop. Along with his son, Corey, and Chumlee, they take a look at pieces that are truly awe-inspiring.

My Strange Arrest
A&E 8 p.m.

Brian Buckmire gives viewers an intimate look at some of the strangest arrests to take place on American soil. From a golf course stalker to a pizza-making criminal, these are some of the weirdest, wildest and most bizarre crimes ever committed.

Claim to Fame
KVIA 8 p.m.

With $100,000 on the line, the remaining celebrity relatives will do everything in their power to keep their identity and lineage a secret. However, will it be enough to keep the other contestants from connecting the dots? Kevin and Franklin Jonas host.

Tracker
KDBC 9 p.m.

Justin Hartley stars as survivalist Colter Shaw, traveling the country in his camper as he solves mysteries throughout each episode of this new series. In the midst of working through his own issues, Colter utilizes his tracking skills to find answers.

Pretty Woman
HBO 10 p.m.

A wealthy businessman (Richard Gere) hires an out-of-luck call girl (Julia Roberts) to be his companion at social events for a week in this classic Garry Marshall romance. As the pair's relationship grows, it becomes more than a simple transaction.

Niecey Nash hosts "Don't Forget the Lyrics"

Alone HISTORY 6 p.m.

The Arctic can be a cruel associate. As new weather patterns appear on the horizon, several survivalists need to rethink their foraging strategy. Then, one contestant is left wondering why nature took back its gift, while another gets a second chance.

Don't Forget the Lyrics! KFOX 7 p.m.

Niecey Nash welcomes a new crop of contestants to perform songs with the studio band. The lyrics appear on screen until they're taken away in this high-stakes karaoke contest. If a contestant can sing nine songs correctly, they get a shot at $1 million.

Outchef'd FOOD 7:30 p.m.

In his search for the GOAT, Eddie Jackson brings home cook Sejal Patel to the streets of New York City to take on world-famous chef Jet Tila in a series of challenges focused on goat meat. If street judges decide Sejal has the best goat, she wins $5,000.

Masters of Illusion KVIA2 8 p.m.

Host Dean Cain brings together talented acts to perform in front of a studio audience. These modern magicians demonstrate skills such as sleight-of-hand, interactive magic tricks, comedy, escapes and more.

Inmate to Roommate A&E 8 p.m.

Following a disagreement with his studious roommate, Aaron makes a life-changing decision. Meanwhile, Jennifer takes hold of her fate and Jason does something drastic to try to smooth things with Emily.

“Judy Justice” - Season 3, Part 2 (Aug. 5)

Held by television icon Judge Judy Sheindlin, this court program sees Judge Judy — joined in the courtroom once again by lawyer Sarah Rose, who serves as the law clerk; court stenographer Whitney Kumar, a board-certified court reporter in the state of California; and bailiff Kevin Rasco, a retired Los Angeles probation officer — as she adjudicates real-life high-stakes claims.

“5x Comédia” - Season 2 (Aug. 8)

An adaptation of the theatrical franchise of the same name, which has been a hit on stages in Brazil for over two decades, this season's theme is return to work, turning its cameras on types of jobs that are in tune with current times. A suburban eyebrow designer, a charismatic celebrity dog agent, a 15-year-old millionaire entrepreneur, a vengeful telemarketer and a canceled TV host are just some of the individuals that lead us through unthinkable universes.

“One Fast Move” (Aug. 8)

An action-adventure thrill ride, this movie follows a young man down on his luck who seeks out his estranged father to help him pursue his dream of becoming a professional motorcycle racer. With the help of his small town love interest and a motorcycle shop owner who moonlights as his mentor, he begins to break down the walls that his father's absence had built up. K.J. Apa, Eric Dane, Maia Reficco, Edward James Olmos and Austin North star.

“The Mallorca Files” - Season 3 (Aug. 8)

Set on the sun-drenched and glamorous island of Mallorca, this crime drama centers around ambitious British detective Miranda Blake (Elen Rhys) and her laid-back German partner Max Winter (Julian Looman) who make up the perfect team — if only they could see it. In Season 3, amid high-stakes adventures, treasure hunts, arson, kidnappings and murders, Max and Miranda's personal tensions and odd-couple partnership are put to the test.

Tom Cruise in "Collateral"

"COLLATERAL"

Tom Cruise and Jamie Foxx make an intriguing acting duo in director Michael Mann's 2004 drama, now making its 4K Ultra HD Steelbook debut. Foxx – who also had worked with Mann earlier as Drew "Bundini" Brown in "Ali" – plays a Los Angeles cab driver who picks up a dangerous fare: a hit man (a very atypical Cruise) bent on forcing the cabbie to take him to various locations to commit murders. Naturally, the trip becomes very long in multiple ways for the man behind the wheel, as he tries to outwit his likely passenger before each killing can happen. Jada Pinkett Smith, Mark Ruffalo, Peter Berg, Bruce McGill and Javier Bardem are in the supporting cast; Jason Statham, who was building his career as an action star at the time, makes a brief appearance. ★★★ (R: AS, P, V)

"AND SOON THE DARKNESS"

This British 1970 thriller is part of a double-feature package being marketed on 4K Ultra HD as "Peril & Distress," which is an accurate description of what the female characters go through here. Pamela Franklin plays a nurse who's on a bicycling vacation in France with a peer (Michele Dotrice) when the latter disappears, leaving her friend to comb a nearby village for any trace of the missing woman. Sandor Eles also stars as an enigmatic man who's willing to help ... supposedly. Many of those involved in the film (which was remade in 2010), including producers Albert Fennell and Terry Nation and composer Laurie Johnson, also worked on the classic spy series "The Avengers." The second attraction, "Sudden Terror" (originally titled "Eyewitness"), also is a 1970 release starring "Oliver!" alum Mark Lester as a youth chased by political assassins who know he saw their crime. ★★★ (PG: AS, V)

Men Who Cook celebrates 16 years

DAVID SALCIDO
Las Cruces Bulletin

Food and wine, two of life's greatest pleasures, will be the featured attraction when Men Who Cook brings wine country to the Las Cruces Convention Center on Saturday, Aug. 10, 2024. Mesilla Valley Hospice Foundation's largest fundraiser of the year celebrates its 16th year bringing the area's most talented community leaders, business people, local celebrities and supporters together to showcase their culinary skills.

"The whole purpose for this event is as a fundraiser for Mesilla Valley Hospice," said MVH Provider Relations Representtative Staci Mays. "We feel that everybody deserves to die with dignity, and we want to serve everybody. We don't turn anybody away. Not everybody we serve has insurance or is of Medicare age, so part of the proceeds of this fundraiser go to that charity fund."

To make this happen, Staci and her team are pulling out all the stops. "Being wine country, we want it to be completely immersive," she said. "This year we went for an outdoor vineyard kind of vibe, with the décor and the lighting. In addition to providing wine, D.H. Lescombes (Winery and Bistro) brought in wine barrels, wine bottles for the tables with specialty labels for Men Who Cook, corks to decorate and all three of their flatbed vehicles. Also, Sunland Park Nursery is providing all the greenery to make it more outdoorsy."

As usually happens with this event, the volunteer chefs will decide what they will be cooking based on four categories: Appetizer, Main Course, Side Dish and Dessert. The entries are evaluated by a panel of judges to determine the overall winner in each category. All dishes are prepared in the convention center's kitchen, then transported to the ballroom to be distributed by the chefs to the judges and attendees.

Some of the celebrity chefs who have already confirmed are Rick Al-tamirano, from Steinborn and Associates, who will be teaming up with Toucan Market; Vic Vilalobos, owner of Fetching Designs and Las Cruces Dock Diving, who will team up with Bite of Belgium; Chad Getz, owner of Getz Funeral Home, and Mike Tourtillott with the Sisbarro Dealerships will be there, along with chefs from Chope's Bar and Café, Les Rendez-vous Café, Urban Café and others.

Confirmed judges are NMSU Basketball Coach Jason Hooten; Jean Hertzman, director of the school of hotel, restaurant and tourism management at New Mexico State University; and the Las Cruces Fire Department's Mobile Integrated Healthcare coordinator, Paul Ford. Emcees for the evening will be Salina Madrid and Jessica Gonzales from KFOX-14.

Tickets are $125 each, and advance tickets are available at Mesilla Valley Hospice, 299 E. Montana Ave. They can also be purchased at the door on the day of the event. The 16th Annual Men Who Cook fundraiser takes place from 6 to 10 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 10, at the Las Cruces Convention Center, 680 E. University Ave. More information is available at MVHospice.org and via Staci Mays at smays@MVHospice.org or 575-642-8338.

“Hello, Dolly!” at Las Cruces Community Theatre

Las Cruces Community Theatre presents the musical adaptation of Thornton Wilder’s hit play “The Matchmaker,” bursting with humor, romance, comedy, and some of the greatest songs in musical theater history. Written by Michael Stewart and Jerry Herman, the Tony Award-winning musical follows the exploits of Dolly Levi, a widow, matchmaker and professional meddler, who has decided that the next match she needs to make is for herself. Set in New York City at the turn of the 19th century “Hello, Dolly” features such memorable songs as “Before the Parade Passes By,” “It Only Takes a Moment,” “Put on Your Sunday Clothes,” and the title number, “Hello, Dolly!”

“Hello, Dolly!” runs August 9 – 25 at Las Cruces Community Theatre, 313 N. Main St., Las Cruces. Showtimes are 7:30 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays, and 2 p.m. Sundays. Info: 575-523-1200 or LCCTNM.org.

on a website dedicated to the monument, LadyKindness.com. It stands on a small island in a pond on Naffah’s 168-acre estate in Bazetta, Ohio, southwest of Cleveland. Naffah said the model and face were sculpted locally while an Italian company created the statute using robotic stone-carving technology.

“Amid strife and division in our country and in the world ... kindness is boundless and powerful,” the website states. “Lady Kindness offers a rose, symbol of love, to each and every one, but especially to the neglected, the abandoned, the forgotten.”

“The statue will be unveiled from darkness with the music crescendoing to a climax,” Longo said. “It will be quite an event.”

“Agave,” by Sylvia Sierra will be on display throughout the month of August at the Agave Artists Cooperative Gallery in Mesilla.

Agave Artists Cooperative Gallery presents the work of Sylvia Sierra Agave Artists Cooperative Gallery welcomes Sylvia Sierra as the Artist of the Month for August 2024. Sylvia works in both pastels and oils, creating beautiful landscapes and portraits utilizing the illumination of varied natural and majestic light sources. As a member of the Agave Gallery, Silvia has embraced the artistic approach of different artists and enjoys the exchanges that come with working in a cooperative gallery. Silvia considers herself an artist always in training, observing other artists and exploring other media such as ceramics. Silvia’s artwork has incorporated acrylic as well as recycled glass as mixed media. Her paintings have a sense of dimension and connection to the landscapes she creates.

Sylvia will present an Artist’s Talk from 1-3 p.m. Saturday, August 17 at the Agave Artists Cooperative, 2250 Calle de San Albino, Mesilla. Hours are 11-5 Friday through Monday. Info: AgaveArtists.com.

The Super Secret Improv Show Returns

Join local actors Rachel Thomas-Chappell, Casi Galban, Joshua Taulbee and Erin Wendorf as they introduce you to “spontaneous ensemble theatre,” performing a blend of short form improv games, followed by a full-length one-act play, all based entirely on audience suggestions. Even if you’ve caught this troupe before, they guarantee that every show is fast-paced, unpredictable, and totally different from anything you’ve seen before. The proof is in the performance. The differences come with the audience.

The Super Secret Improv Show turns comedy on its ear at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, August 10, at the Black Box Theatre, 430 N. Main St., Las Cruces. Info: 575-523-1223, or No-Strings.org.

OF THE MESILLA VALLEY

Alfie: 1 year, Male (N)

I'm always up for a game of fetch or a romp in the park. You'll never be bored with me around. My goofy antics are sure to bring a smile to your face every day. If you're patient and kind, we'll have a blast together. I'm also great at snuggling up for movie nights. I've got so much love to give, and I'm just waiting for the right person to share it with. So, why should you adopt me? Because life with me is one big, fun-filled adventure. I promise, you won't regret it!

City libraries to close for a week

BULLETIN REPORT

Las Cruces Public Libraries informed the public they will close next week to work on several projects under the libraries' master plan.

The closure will take place from Aug. 4-10. According to a news release, the staff of 41 will conduct annual facility improvements, complete professional development seminars, update the library collection, relocate computers available for the public's use and see to some interior painting jobs.

The city stated that the projects came as recommendations from Godfrey's Associates, a library consultant firm based in Dallas, Texas, in the development of the library master plan. Public input on the plan was sought at an open meeting in March.

The closure includes the Thomas Branigan Memorial Library next to city hall as well the Sage Café and Munson Senior Center locations.

State seeks funds to expand broadband service

BULLETIN REPORT

Gov. Michelle Lujan Grisham announced last week that New Mexico had received federal approval to seek $675 million in grants to expand broadband service in the state.

“This funding empowers New Mexico to bridge the digital divide and create equal opportunities across the state, especially for our rural and tribal communities,” the governor stated in a news release.

The National Telecommunications and Information Administration, a federal agency under the Department of Commerce, cleared the way for New Mexico’s application after approving a proposal from the state under the Broadband, Equity, Access and Deployment program, known as BEAD. The program allocates $42.45 billion for internet expansion nationwide.

The governor’s office said the application process will include input from local governments, tribal communities, nonprofits, internet service providers and electric cooperatives. Grant money would fund infrastructure projects delivering high-speed internet service to households with inadequate service – or none at all.

“In today’s world, high-speed internet is not a luxury but a necessity,” Drew Lovelace, acting director of the state Office of Broadband Access and Expansion, stated in the news release. “Ensuring access to broadband in rural and hard-to-reach areas means New Mexicans will gain access to essential services like telehealth and distance learning, and communities will enjoy upload, to underserved areas. Final approval would come in 2025, the governor’s office said.

New Mexico reports that 16 percent of serviceable locations are unserved or underserved, including more than 70,000 locations unserved.

Infrastructure is one barrier to access. Another is affordability.

U.S. Sen. Ben Ray Luján, in a statement, celebrated the path forward for New Mexico’s grant application, but lamented the end of the federal Affordable Connectivity Program, a pandemic-era fund that subsidized internet service for low-income households. Lacking an appropriation for additional funding, the program concluded in May.

“...the failure to extend the Affordable Connectivity Program threatens to dilute the impact of this funding,” Luján said. “It is imperative that we reinstate this vital program. While this funding represents significant progress toward 100 percent connectivity, there remains an ongoing need for next-generation technology to support rural areas, low-income communities, schools, and libraries.”

greater economic opportunities.”

After gathering that input, the state is expected to submit a final proposal within a year detailing how the funds would be used and who would receive them, showing how the result would deliver broadband access, of at least 100 Mbps download speed and 20 Mbps

Las Cruces Home Builders Association rebrands, expands mission

BULLETIN REPORT

The Las Cruces Home Builders Association announced in a news release July 29 they’ve rebranded as the New Mexico Construction Association.

“This change reflects our expanded mission to advocate for the entire New Mexico construction industry, not only those who build, but also those who design, develop, maintain, supply, and support the industry, ensuring continued growth and success,” the news release said.

LCHBA, now NMCI, is an industry interest group that provides educational opportunities, advocates for regulations that benefit a strong housing market, and ensures members are provided the resources necessary to continue improving the quality of life in our community, according to their website.

The Las Cruces branch is affiliated with the New Mexico Home Builders Association and the National Association of Home Builders.

Aggie volleyball schedule released

MATTHEW KNOPE
New Mexico State University

The second edition of NM State Volleyball in Conference USA is on the horizon. Head Coach Mike Jordan, entering his 27th season with the program, announced the full 31-match slate of 2024 competitions last week. Before the NCAA Tournament, NM State could play up to 19 matches in the Bor-derlands, as UTEP is set to host the Aggies in both the regular season and the Conference USA Championship, Nov. 22-24.

The Aggies are returning nearly every student-athlete from last year's 21-10 squad that finished as CUSA runner-up in the regular season and postseason to undefeated Western Kentucky. Not only are 97.66 percent of the points and all 13 members who started at least once returning, but Jordan and the coaching staff added nine new student-athletes consisting of incoming transfers and new freshmen.

The 51st season in program history will begin with a trip to Georgia Tech, where the Aggies will take on a pair of Power Four opponents and two NCAA Tournament teams from 2023.

Word on Friday and Saturday, respectively. NM State is 1-0 all-time against Southern, sweeping the Panthers in 2016. The Aggies have never matched up with the Cardinals, so each side will be looking to start the all-time series with a win.

The beginning of the 2024 CUSA calendar will be momentous for the Aggies, as they will travel to Kennesaw State for what will be the Owls' first two matches in the league. Additionally, the matches will be the first between the two in program history.

NM State will take on every Conference USA opponent twice, with both matches being one day apart in one location. Home CUSA matches will include Louisiana Tech, FIU, Liberty and Jax State. The Aggies will travel for two matches apiece at Kennesaw State, UTEP, Sam Houston, Western Kentucky and Middle Tennessee.

The Conference USA Championship will be held in UTEP's Memorial Gym from Friday, Nov. 22 through Sunday, Nov. 24. The top eight teams from CUSA will qualify for the three-round, single-elimination tournament. The champion will receive an automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament, which begins Thursday, Dec. 5.

Teen gymnasts shine at nationals

BULLETIN REPORT

Six young local gymnasts shone at the 2024 men's western national championships in Chandler, Ariz.

The boys, ages 12-17, comprised a team from Gym Magic Kids, a sports center and preschool in Las Cruces. In April, they traveled to Arizona for the USA Gymnastics championships in April. Coach David Meyer expressed pride in the team and said "he can't wait to see what next year brings."

Holden Abrams, 12, won gold on vault in youth level 7, and came in third on the floor due to a single step deduction, according to Meyer. In the same division, Santiago Sandoval, 12, overcame physical struggles to score 9 or higher on each event in his first year at the national competition.

In the level 9 senior division, Jack Robertson,

17, made it to the top 10 on the floor and on parallel bars, in his second trip to the nationals.

Meyer also pointed to some personal accomplishments and firsts for the gym.

Aidyn Rodriguez, 15, became Gym Magic's first boy athlete to qualify for the nationals two years in a row.

Calvin Cabrera, 13, made the top 10 on the vault in a performance where Meyer said the athlete "threw many unique skills, surprising many of the coaches and judges." In the same division, results showed Cameron Robertson, 13, performing strongly across events, his coach calling him "one of the best level 7s in the nation."

In addition to the hosting Yellow Jackets, NM State will take on new Big Ten member UCLA and reigning Sun Belt Champions Coastal Carolina. The Chanticleers fell to CUSA champion Western Kentucky in the First Round of last year's NCAA Tournament, while Georgia Tech advanced to the Round of 16 before coming up short against top-seeded Nebraska.

After their trip to Atlanta, the Aggies will head to the West Coast for a spot in the Sacramento State Invitational. Along with the hosting Hornets, San Francisco and Cal State Northridge round out the four-team weekend. The Aggies' match against each host - Georgia Tech and Sacramento State - will be streamed live. Links can be found at NMStateSports.com.

The Aggies will play their final seven non-conference matches in New Mexico, including six at home. First, the annual Borderland Invitational will bring Big 12 member Arizona, former WAC foe Abilene Christian and Texas Southern to Las Cruces.

A rivalry will be renewed as The Battle of I-25 is set to resume for the first time since 2019. After five years removed from the Rio Grande Rivalry, University of New Mexico will take on NM State once again. The Aggies have won the past nine sets, going 3-0 with three sweeps. After taking a Tuesday trip to Albuquerque on Sept. 17, the Aggies will host the Lobos two days later on Thursday, Sept. 19.

Later that same weekend, the Crimson & White close out non-conference play with home bouts against Birmingham Southern and Incarnate

Golf tournament benefits Serving Seniors

The Southwest Center on Aging and Friends invite all golfers to play in and support their charity golf tournament at the New Mexico State University Golf Course on Friday, Sept. 30. All proceeds will be donated in support of local seniors in our community through Serving Seniors of Southern New Mexico. The organization aims to improve health and quality of life for the thousands of older adults living in this part of New Mexico.

This is the fifth playing of this super fundraising event, organized by Dr. Jesus R. Duran, who started his medical clinic, Southwest Center on Aging several years ago in Las Cruces. In the past, this tournament has provided funding for the Alzheimer's Association and Casa de Peregrinos. The partnership with local charities has been fruitful and made a huge impact on our community.

Sponsorship opportunities for the golf tournament are still available. Sponsorships range in value from a golf cart sponsor at $200, hole sponsor at $350, all the way up to a title sponsorship at $10,000 and a corporate sponsorship at $5,000. There are numerous benefits and advertising exposure at all levels of sponsorship. Go to swcogolf.com for more details.

Registration for a four-person team is $500. That includes golf with cart, lunch, prizes and raffle. There are prizes for holes in one, long drives and more, with a super raffle for donated gifts. The format is a four-person scramble, which means that each golfer hits a shot and the team picks the best one, then repeats the process until they hole out. Registration starts at 11 a.m. Shotgun start is at 1 p.m.

Serving Seniors of Southern New Mexico was founded in 2023 based on the need of Duran's patients for support services and equipment, while recognizing the lack of affordability and resources in our community. Due to the limitations of federal health insurance and state assistance, our older adults often have nowhere to turn for support. Duran's goal was to make sure that no older adult or caregiver in need would have to suffer the limitations of losing independency. SSSNM operates through the Community Foundation of Southern New Mexico, which provides support and assistance to older adults, as well as connecting them with resources in their area no matter where in New Mexico they live.

To help individuals take a proactive approach to their overall health, SSSNM provides free lectures and information at sites across the southern region of New Mexico to promote healthy aging. The commitment of the SSSNM Charity Fund derived from the collaboration of their leadership, seasoned staff, strategic partners and loyal supporters. Beginning as an idea a few years ago, this charity golf tournament has now grown into a full charity fund with the goal to assist as many older adults as possible in our community and improve their quality of life.

In case you're wondering about my keen interest in giving my overwhelming support to this worthy cause, it goes further than being an "older adult" myself. During my work as a clinical psychologist, specializing in geriatric assessments and diagnoses, I traveled throughout southern New Mexico, interviewing and testing patients in long-term care facilities and rural hospitals. I quickly became acutely aware the difficulties, failing abilities and lack of resources that these individuals were challenged with. In 2011, part of my work was assisting Dr. Duran in his offices by interviewing and diagnosing his patients, which sometimes meant that families needed to be informed of the lack of decision-making competency of their loved one. In knowing and working with him for the better part of 16 years, I have realized how much of a treasure he is here in Las Cruces.
