Maura Tierney

OF LAW & ORDER ON NBC/PEACOCK

A: In fact, it is. Early in her career, before she became a co-star of "NewsRadio" and "ER," Tierney also appeared on NBC in a Season 2 episode of the parent "Law & Order" show titled "Aria," about a would-be actress whose drug-overdose death was blamed on her demanding mother. At the time, Michael Moriarty and Richard Brooks played the prosecutors in the series, while Chris Noth and Paul Sorvino were teamed as the police detectives. Tony Roberts and comedian Lewis Black also were in the guest cast.

That episode originally aired in 1991, so it would take a long memory or a true "Law & Order" devotee to remember that Tierney had first been on the series then. She also had done a short stint on CBS's "The Van Dyke Show" (teaming father-and-son Dick and Barry) and a guest turn on NBC's "Family Ties" before that, and TV work would continue to be a career mainstay for her.

Though she was intended to be a star of NBC's second, longer-lasting attempt at a series inspired by the movie "Parenthood," health considerations caused Tierney to leave that project (she was succeeded on the show by Lauren Graham). However, Tierney went on to recurring roles on FX's "Rescue Me" and CBS's "The Good Wife," and she had an especially prominent part as Helen Solloway on Showtime's "The Affair." Showtime actually gave her a lot of employment in recent years, since she also was featured there on "Your Honor" and "American Rust."

Q: It's interesting to see Maura Tierney as a regular cast member on "Law & Order" now. Sometimes, actors return to that franchise after having been guest stars in it earlier. Is that the case with her?

“Interior Chinatown” - Season 1 (Nov. 19)

Based on Charles Yu's award-winning book, this new series follows Willis Wu (Jimmy O. Yang), a background character trapped in a police procedural. Relegated to the background, Willis goes through the motions of his on-screen job, waiting tables and dreaming about a whole world beyond Chinatown. When he inadvertently becomes a witness to a crime, Willis begins to unravel a criminal web in Chinatown, plus his family's own buried history, while he learns what it feels like to be in the spotlight.

“Drugstore June”
(Nov. 19)

After the pharmacy in her small town is robbed, June (Esther Povitsky), who still lives at home with her parents (Beverly D'Angelo and James Remar), takes matters into her own hands to solve the crime. At the same time, June is trying to get over her ex-boyfriend (Haley Joel Osment) and become more of an adult.

“Missing” (Nov. 20)

When her mother disappears while on vacation with her new boyfriend, June's (Storm Reid) search for answers is hindered by international red tape. Stuck thousands of miles away, June creatively uses all the technology at her fingertips to try and find her before it's too late. But as she digs deeper, her digital sleuthing raises more questions than answers.

“Jim Gaffigan: The Skinny” (Nov. 22)

Kicking off "Hulu's Laughing Now," this special from Jim Gaffigan was taped at the Wilbur Theater in Boston.

“Big City Greens” - Season 4, New Episode (Nov. 20)

“Out of My Mind” (Nov. 22)

In partnership with World Cerebral Palsy Day, this new movie, based on the bestselling novel by Sharon M. Draper, follows Melody Brooks (Phoebe-Rae Taylor), a sixth grader with cerebral palsy. Melody has a quick wit and a sharp mind, but because she is non-verbal and uses a wheelchair, she is not given the same opportunities as her classmates. When a young educator notices her student’s untapped potential, Melody shows that what she has to say is more important than how she says it.

“Piglet’s Big Movie” (Available Now)

Piglet (John Fielder) disappears into the Hundred Acre Wood after hearing he is “just too small” to help with the gang’s hunny-gathering scheme. Pooh (Jim Cummings), Tigger (also Cummings), Eeyore (Peter Cullen) and the others “think, think, think” and decide to use Piglet’s scrapbook of memories as clues to find him. Soon, they realize just how big a part Piglet plays in their many adventures together.

Some artists work in clay. Others in paint. To be considered a true artisan in the world of cookies, you need to have your gingerbread skills on point. This week, hosts Eddie Jackson and Ree Drummond ask their bakers to put their festive fumbings aside while working with Christmas's most finicky cookie: gingerbread. One baker walks home $10,000 richer during a brand-new episode of "Christmas Cookie Challenge," airing Thursday, Nov. 21, on Food Network. Need more holiday cheer?
