Joshua Stradowski and Daniel Henney star in "The Wheel of Time"

'The Wheel of Time' takes another turn on Prime Video celebrity update

BY JAY BOBBIN

Q: How long has Kenan Thompson been on "Saturday Night Live"?

A: After gaining fame on the Nickelodeon series "All That" and "Kenan & Kel," he joined the ensemble cast of NBC's late-night staple "SNL" in 2003. He actually continued his work on "All That" until 2005, and he also had become known from such movies as "D2: The Mighty Ducks" (1994), "Heavyweights" (1995), "D3: The Mighty Ducks" (1996) and "Good Burger" (1997).

Kenan Thompson

OF SATURDAY NIGHT LIVE ON NBC/PEACOCK

Thompson holds the record for being the longest-running "SNL" regular, and he has said that he only intended to stay with the show until he got another job. As it has happened, he has stayed and earned five Primetime Emmy Award nominations (winning once) for his work on the program. He even has been the star of his own series, NBC's 2021-22 sitcom "Kenan," while continuing on "SNL" (though some had speculated that he might leave the latter show when he landed "Kenan").

A catalog of memorable characters has been established by Thompson on

"SNL," many of them recurring ones that have been seen a number of times. Among them: Darnell Hayes, the host of the game show "Black Jeopardy!"; Reese DeWhat, who presides over the program "Cinema Classics"; Willie, the perpetually sunny neighbor of "Weekend Update" co-anchor Michael Che; and French comic Jean K. Jean.

When he is interviewed, Thompson perpetually is asked why he has stayed with "SNL" for so long, and whether he thinks about moving on in the near future. At the time of the show's 50th-anniversary special that NBC aired in February, Thompson called his "SNL" stint "the greatest job in the world," and he gave no indication that he was planning to leave what he terms that "steady employment" anytime soon.

Over the course of four weeks, they move in together, plan their wedding, and attempt to add a physical connection to their emotional bond. When their wedding day arrives, will they marry the person they fell blindly in love with? Or have the physical realities and external factors sabotaged their relationship? Hosted by Jessica Almenas, this addictive 10-episode series will uncover whether looks, race, or age do matter — or if love really is blind.

This annual competition returns for its eleventh year, as host Jesse Palmer welcomes 13 talented bakers to The Little Shop of Spring Magic, where they are asked to create flower-themed desserts, honey pies and more during the two-hour Season 11 premiere of "Spring Baking Championship," airing this Monday, March 10, on Food Network. For a slate of recipes good enough to impress judges Duff Goldman, Kardea Brown and Nancy Fuller, see foodnetwork.com/shows/spring-baking-championship/recipes

Cats and dogs, cops and robbers ... some dichotomies are as old as time. When Det. Cole Ellis (Giacomo Gianniotti) was paired up with con woman Max (Vanessa Morgan), he figured they'd get along like oil and vinegar. Instead, the two found the perfect balance — one that keeps Cole's career on track and Max's scheming self out of jail. Season 2 of "Wild Cards" continues this Wednesday, March 12, on the CW. To stream past episode, check out cwtv.com/shows/wild-cards/
