Man confesses to murder

By DUNCAN DENT
duncan@neshobademocrat.com

A Noxapater man confessed to killing his girlfriend in Harrison County hours before he was arrested by Neshoba County deputies at his mother's home here early Friday morning, the authorities said.

Jeremy Charles Childress,

46, of Noxapater was arrested in the early morning hours Friday by Neshoba County Sheriff's Deputies responding to a disturbance call in the Bond community.

Neshoba County Sheriff Eric Clark said the call came in at about 5:30 a.m. from a residence on Road 2822.

Clark said that when they arrived on the scene they found a man who was later identified as Childress with a handgun talking about killing himself.

Clark said that after a brief standoff they were able to get him to put his weapons down and take him into custody.

Clark said that while making the arrest Childress voluntarily confessed to murdering his girlfriend in Saucier in Harrison County.

"He stated that he had killed his girlfriend and driven up to see his mom before whatever happened, happened," Clark said suggesting that Childress knew he would be arrested or he would kill himself.

Clark said his office then contacted the Harrison County Sheriff's Office and gave them details about the murder and where to find the body. He said that HCSO said that the information provided "checked out."

"We did not have the crime scene here but we did have a lot of the elements," Clark said. "His information was spot on."

Clark said he cannot add many more details because the case is still open but said that they recovered .357 magnum and a .45 caliber Glock belonging to Childress as well as his truck.

Smith named new director of county library

By SARAH KATHRYN WATKINS
news@neshobademocrat.com

Brittinae Smith has been named the Director of the Philadelphia-Neshoba County Library.

"I am very excited about my new role," said Smith of Philadelphia, who has worked for the library for seven years.

Smith said she had an interest in books since she was a child and after a friend told her about the job opening at the library seven years ago, she decided to apply and landed the job.

She said she has enjoyed working at the library and looks forward to taking the leadership role.

"Seeing children come in with such a love for books and reading as I did at that age is such an amazing joy," Smith said of her work.

Smith is a graduate of Neshoba Central High School, and she holds a bachelor's degree in business administration from Mississippi University for Women. Her parents are Tyron and LaTonya Smith.

Smith said she is excited about the future of the library, especially since things are opening back up after being closed to in-person visits during the COVID-19 pandemic. Patrons can once come inside to access computers, fax, make copies and check out books from the library's large selection, she said.

"After a year and a half of offering limited services, due to COVID-19 restrictions and having a new HVAC system installed, we are happy to say that the Neshoba County Public Library is fully opened," Smith said.

This summer, the library hosted its summer reading program with the theme "Tails and Tales" in which children were able to learn about animals while doing crafts.

At 10 a.m. Wednesdays, the library is now offering Preschool Story Time and from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. on Wednesdays, the library offers an after-school program called "Wind Down Wednesday."

Smith said she has a few adult programs in the works and she hopes to conduct a fall book sale.

She said the library is constantly adding more collections of books.

"We welcome and encourage everyone to stop by and visit us," Smith said.

The library's Facebook page is (Neshoba County Library) and their website(www.neshobalibrary.net) for updates, or call the at 601-656-4911.

ELECTION

Clemons challenge moved to Oct. 18

By SCOTT HAWKINS
scott@neshobademocrat.com

A challenge to the June 8 alderman-at-large election has an Oct. 18 court date after being postponed due to rising COVID-19 numbers.

Leroy Clemons, the incumbent Democrat, lost by one vote and filed the challenge to the results on June 28, the day newly-elected city officials were sworn in.

Republican challenger James Carson Waltman beat Clemons 670 to 669.

Clemons' 10-page court challenge states in part, "There were widespread irregularities in the failure to secure ballot boxes in accordance with Miss. Code Ann. Section 23-15-595. The ballot boxes lacked substantial security to safeguard the contents of the ballot boxes to prevent the taking away of legally cast votes and ballot box stuffing in the Municipal General Election."

Clemons said he is looking forward to having the case heard in court.

"Both sides will present their evidence and then a decision will be made," Clemons said. "We are saying there are votes that were not counted. They should have been. ... There were some irregularities in the election process that may or may not have caused some votes not to be counted."

Clemons said he would not characterize what he is seeking as a recount.

"We are actually asking for them to go back through and make sure the election was done properly and that all the votes that should have been counted were counted," Clemons said.

PAPA LOVE'S ROLLING GRILL

Food trucks roll into Philadelphia

By DUNCAN DENT
duncan@neshobademocrat.com

As the number of mobile food vendors increases in Philadelphia, city officials said they welcome the business as long as they have the proper paperwork in place.

Mayor James Young said he has heard no bad reports regarding mobile food vendors and food trucks.

"I have not heard of any problems. At least I have not received any negative phone calls," Young said.

Bobby Joe Lovern, 52, has lived in Neshoba County his entire life. He is the owner of Papa Love's Rolling Grill.

He has thrown himself full-time into the mobile food business after a roughly 30-year career with Williams Brothers where he most recently held the position of market manager.

"I just enjoy cooking," Lovern said. "I would rather do that than anything else."

Lovern is not new to the restaurant business. He has cooked at a number of places in town, most recently County Line Steakhouse.

Popular spots for him to set up are The Spot, Neshoba General Hospital and M and S Furniture. He makes regular posts on his Facebook page "Papa Love's Rolling Grill" to let people know where he will be. Another traveling operation in town is Pam Bam's Soul Food which also posts where it will be on Facebook.

Young said the city has no regulations about where food trucks can park unless it is somehow hindering the flow of traffic.

Lovern said he has established a good relationship with many of the local business owners where he has set up shop.

"We usually end up bringing each other some business," Lovern said.

Young said the city that while the city has no ordinances concerning food trucks, proprietors of food trucks are required to have a transient vendor tax ID so that they can pay local taxes, and they have to meet certain requirements set by the health department. Young said they also have to have proper insurance.

Lovern said an early priority for his business was ensur-

Branning for eliminating income tax

By SCOTT HAWKINS
scott@neshobademocrat.com

State Sen. Jenifer B. Branning likes the idea of eliminating the state income tax.

A group of state lawmakers met at the Capitol last week to hold hearings on the possibility of eliminating the state income tax.

"I definitely think it is a conversation we need to have," said Branning, a Republican from Philadelphia representing District 18. I know we received a lot of good information from the hearings."

Branning was unable to attend committee hearings in person but was able to view them on YouTube and she is glad the Legislature is studying the issue.

"I am supportive of the idea," Branning said. "I don't want to do any tax swap."

Branning said she supports the idea of eliminating the state's income tax, because it will keep more money in Mississippians' pockets.

Speaker of the House Philip Gunn is leading the effort after a measure to eliminate the state's income tax passed the House last session but failed to make it out of a Senate committee.

Gunn, a Republican representing Hinds and Madison counties, said he believes the House measure is a sound plan and he supports the Senate's decision to study the issue before the next session.

"That's why the Senate and House held an in-depth two-day joint hearing to hear from economists and tax policy experts," Gunn said. "The purpose was to get a clear-eyed look at the data and expert analysis and take their advice seriously."

Lawmakers are in the study phase and no action can be taken on eliminating the state's income tax until the full Legislature is in session, which barring any special sessions would be January.

Gov. Tate Reeves has pushed eliminating the state income tax.

"I'm also very glad that the Lt. Governor, Speaker, and I all agree that the income tax should be eliminated, and that doing so best positions Mississippi for long-term success," Reeves said. "I hope that once the hearings are over, the Legislature will realize that eliminating Mississippi's income tax is needed and reducing the tax burden on Mississippians across the board is the best way to ensure our state's economic prosperity."

Reeves said he does not support eliminating the state's income tax in exchange for another form of tax.

"I hope that once the hearings are over, the Legislature will realize that the best way forward is to not swap the income tax for increases in sales taxes, agriculture taxes and other taxes," Reeves said. "I'm opposed to robbing Peter to pay Paul. In fact, I want Peter and Paul to have more money in their pocket. I've been in contact with small businesses throughout Mississippi — including in the manufacturing and agricultural industries — outside think-tanks, and other stakeholders. Based on my conversations with them, it's clear — the consensus is that eliminating, not swapping the tax burden, is the way to go."

Reeves said he believes Mississippi is in a good financial position now to eliminate the state's income tax.

"Mississippi is in the best fiscal and financial shape in the state's history, thanks in large part to Mississippians' willingness to go back to work despite a global pandemic," Reeves said. "Thanks to them, Mississippi ended the year $1 billion over revenue estimates."

Reeves said that when he was the state's Lt. Governor he proposed the largest tax cut in the state's history.

"We were able to eliminate the 3% tax bracket without increasing taxes in other areas," Reeves said. "We did it before, and it is my firm belief that we can do it again."

Democratic Sen. Hob Bryan of Amory told the Associated Press last week that he opposes eliminating the income tax because of the state's infrastructure problems, which include poor roads and bridges, water and sewer problems and lack of internet access.

"Do you know a single human being on the face of the earth that would move to Mississippi if only we didn't have a state income tax?" the AP reported Bryan saying. "It's laughable on its face."

During the joint Tax Study Committee hearings held Aug. 25 and 26, tax economists from the University of Mississippi and other tax reform proponents, including Grover Norquist, founder and president of Americans for Tax Reform, and Russ Latino, president of Empower Mississippi, spoke.

Norquist told the group of lawmakers that eliminating the state income tax is a good incentive to bring people and businesses to the state.

"There is a movement now that is moving state by state," Norquist told members of the joint Tax Study Commission on Aug. 26. "Utah is getting in on the conversation about moving down toward zero. Even some of the blue states are talking about inching their extremely high-income taxes down and certainly not increasing them and they are explicitly saying because people will leave."

Norquist presented data that he said showed states with lower or no income taxes have more people moving into them while states with higher income tax rates have people moving away from them.

"Pretty soon everyone is going to be a no-tax state, so the question for Mississippi is are you going to be an early adopter or are you going to be catching up?" Norquist said. "California and New York are going to be catching up."

Norquist said eliminating state income tax tells people you support their success.

"This is not a state consumed with envy," Norquist said of the message no income tax sends. "This is not a state that will celebrate your success when you come here. We are glad you are here. We are glad you're successful. We won't decide, 'You've made more money than the guy down the street so I think we will take something from you.' People tend to move away from neighborhoods where that exists in history. The early adaptors will have the advantage over the people who decide to start this five, six and seven years from now."

The Associated Press reports that Alaska, Florida, Nevada, New Hampshire, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Washington and Wyoming do not charge any state income tax.

"Individual income taxes made up 34% of Mississippi's state tax revenue during the state budget year that ended June 30, according to the state Department of Revenue," the AP reports. "That was about $2.2 billion from individual income taxes in the nearly $6.6 billion the state collected for its general fund."

COVID cases continue to decline in county

By SCOTT HAWKINS
scott@neshobademocrat.com

Neshoba County recorded 211 new COVID-19 cases and four new deaths in the past week, according to the Mississippi State Department of Health's Aug. 31 report.

Neshoba County has now recorded a total of 6,000 cases of COVID-19 and 190 deaths since the pandemic began in March 2020.

Last week, Neshoba County reported 222 new weekly cases, and three weeks ago 426. The total new weekly cases have dropped from the peak three weeks ago with 451 cases in one week when the New York Times COVID-19 database reported that Neshoba County was the No. 1 hotspot per capita in the world.

The Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians has reported 72 new positive cases of COVID-19 and two deaths in the past week as of Aug. 29, with the total number of positive cases for the Tribe standing at 2,339 with 120 deaths since the pandemic began in March 2020. Five new hospitalizations have been reported.

In Neshoba Central Elementary School 18 students tested positive for COVID-19 between Aug. 16-20 and 18 students tested positive during that period at Neshoba Central Elementary and 8 students at Neshoba Central High School and 8 at Philadelphia Elementary School, according to the Aug. 20 schools report from MSDH.

As of Monday, 24% of Neshoba County's population is fully vaccinated, according to MSDH, and 29% of the county's population had received one of the 15,180 total doses of COVID-19 vaccines administered in the county.

Vaccinations are being administered at Walgreens at 1002 W. Beacon Street in Philadelphia, according to MSDH.

Statewide, since the pandemic began in March 2020, 257,383 confirmed COVID-19 cases have been recorded by the MSDH along with 179,339 probable cases, totaling 436,722 cases. There have been 5,741 confirmed COVID-19 deaths, along with 2,668 probable deaths, totaling 8,409 deaths.

Tame Ida shakes a few trees, sprinkles in county

By DUNCAN DENT
duncan@neshobademocrat.com

There were no reports of significant damage related to the remnants of Hurricane Ida that passed through on Monday as schools and businesses closed.

Neshoba County Administrator Jeff Mayo said Monday that reports of power outages were “sporadic.”

Central Electric had a total of 513 electric customers of 11,353 without power Monday morning, but all power had been restored as of Tuesday morning.

Neshoba County Emergency Management Director Darrell Wilson said they received nine 911 calls regarding trees or limbs on roadways.

“All have been removed,” Wilson said. “No structural damage has been reported to 911 or the EMA office.”

Sheriff Eric Clark said he were relieved to see the damage kept to a minimum. He said he had some deputies doing traffic control while emergency responders worked to clear limbs from the roadways. Specifically, he said there was a call on County Road 365 on Monday.

Clark thanked the many volunteer fire departments in the county for their quick response times.

“Our volunteer firefighters have done a great job,” Clark said. “They are a lifeline to the Neshoba County first-responder community.”

Wilson said a Flood Warning remains in place for the Pearl River above Philadelphia until Friday morning Sept. 3.

The Neshoba County Board of Supervisors held an emergency meeting Sunday afternoon and declared a state of emergency. The Neshoba County Courthouse, Justice Court and non-public safety and non-public works offices were closed Monday as was City Hall. An online tax sale proceeded Monday. Sanitation ran as long as it was safe to do so, Mayo said.

The National Hurricane Center downgraded Ida to a tropical storm overnight as it moved inland after making landfall near Grand Isle, Louisiana, Sunday morning and causing severe damage in southern Louisiana and along the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Millions of people in Louisiana and South Mississippi are still without electrical service.

Ida made landfall on Sunday with 150 m.p.h. winds, the fifth strongest to ever hit the US mainland.

Ida — a Category 4 storm — hit on the same date Hurricane Katrina ravaged Louisiana and Mississippi 16 years earlier, coming ashore about 45 miles west of where Category 3 Katrina first struck land.

Lovern said he tries to go out most weekdays that the weather allows. He usually stays in the area but has traveled to Union on occasion and recently set up at a rodeo in Brandon.

His menu consists of sandwiches, easy to eat on the go. Some of his regular menu items include grilled chicken sandwiches, ribeye steak sandwiches, burgers, tenderized pork-chop sandwiches and smoked sausage sandwiches. He said he puts together his catering menu based on the client's request but a staple is a steak, salad and baked potato.

He has also catered weddings, birthdays and church events.

The majority of Americans indeed wanted out of the “forever war” in Afghanistan. They just never imagined our withdrawal would be met with a stunning surrender to a terrorist organization and the cost of the lives of 13 U.S. service members.

Today was President Joe Biden’s stated evacuation date, and come hell or high water; he was going to stick with it. This weekend, there were still 250 Americans stranded in war-torn Kabul, let alone those unaccounted for in the rest of the country. Access to and from Kabul’s airport was shut down due to security threats. Reports from the ground indicate Americans were told to go to a specific gate for evacuation only to arrive there and find it wasn’t open.

The Biden administration outsourced security to the Taliban, which then outsourced checkpoints to and from the airport to the Haqqani Network, a terrorist organization that harbors al Qaeda and has carried out strikes against U.S. coalition forces, innocent civilians, and the government of Afghanistan. To help with the evacuation, the U.S. unconscionably gave a list of names to the Taliban for safe passage. The move is akin to giving Schindler’s list to the Nazis.

It didn’t have to be this way. On August 15, the day Afghanistan’s capital fell to the Taliban and its president fled the country, the head of the Taliban’s political wing, Abdul Ghani Baradar, made an offer to the U.S. – either the U.S. military takes responsibility for securing Kabul, or we will do it – according to reporting from the Washington Post. The Biden administration declined, saying it only needed the airport to complete its mission, and surrendered security to the Taliban.

Mr. Biden could’ve controlled both the airport and Kabul and evacuated everyone but chose not to. The disregard for American life, especially those U.S. service members killed last Thursday at the airport gates in a suicide attack, is staggering. But it wasn’t Mr. Biden’s only mistake.

In our hast to leave Afghanistan, more than $85 billion of U.S. taxpayer-funded military equipment has been left in the hands of the Taliban, including 33 Black Hawks, more than 22,000 Humvees, 358, 530 assault rifles, and 169 armored personal vehicles. Courtesy of the U.S. government, the Taliban is now one of the most well-armed terrorist organizations in the region. Undoubtedly our own equipment will be used against us.

The decision to abandon Bagram airbase was another massive miscalculation. Bagram, which was well-fortified, with two runways, about 40 miles from the city center of Kabul, was abruptly abandoned in the middle of the night by the U.S. military in July. Mr. Biden has blamed his generals for the pullout. His generals said Mr. Biden gave them little choice.

“Our task given to us at that time, our task was to protect the Embassy in order for the Embassy personnel to continue to function,” General Mark Milley, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said in a briefing last week, adding, “we had to collapse one or the other.”

A third option was to send more U.S. troops to protect both the airport and the Embassy before the evacuation of U.S. citizens. As commander-in-chief, Mr. Biden didn’t give his military leaders that option. The buck stops with him.

Throughout the last two weeks, Mr. Biden has outright lied to the American people, his rhetoric simply not reflecting reality, trying to spin victory in the hands of defeat. The American people deserve the truth, especially when American lives are on the line. Mr. Biden has proven incapable. More blood will be on his hands.

— The Washington Times

PATRICK J. BUCHANAN

The triumphant Taliban

“April is the cruellest month,” wrote T. S. Eliot in the opening line of what is regarded as his greatest poem, “The Waste Land.”

For President Joe Biden, the cruellest month is surely August of 2021, which is now mercifully ending.

When has a president had a worse month?

On the last Sunday in August, Biden watched solemnly, hand over heart, as the coffins of the American dead in the Kabul airport terrorist massacre of Thursday were carried off the plane at Dover.

The American dead had been carrying out an evacuation of U.S. citizens and Afghan allies from America’s lost war, a defeat dealt to us by the same Taliban we ejected from power in 2001 for providing sanctuary for the al-Qaida terrorists of 9/11.

We have lost our longest war, and the triumphant Taliban are now back in power and presiding over and assisting our departure from Kabul.

When the U.S. withdrawal from Afghanistan is complete Tuesday, the fate of the hundreds of U.S. citizens and thousands of Afghan allies we leave behind will be decided by the jihadists we have been fighting for two decades.

Throughout the Biden presidency, we will be reading of, hearing of and being witness to the evidence of their fates.

That same noon hour on Sunday that Biden honored the fallen at Dover, Hurricane Ida was coming ashore. Ida’s 150-mile-an-hour winds were raking the same Louisiana coast that Hurricane Katrina hit 16 years ago.

By nightfall Sunday, a million residents in and around New Orleans had lost all power, for days and perhaps for weeks.

In this same August, the U.S. moved ever deeper into the fourth wave of the COVID-19 pandemic, with new infections, new hospitalizations and new deaths approaching the numbers they had reached at their worst last

We have lost our longest war, and the triumphant Taliban are now back in power.

August also brought hundreds of thousands more illegal aliens across our southern border in the largest peacetime migrant invasion in memory.

Most of these millions are coming for a better life. Yet, among their numbers are the criminals and rapists who have assaulted women and girls in the exodus, and not a few foreign enemies coming with the intent to bring the war on terror home to these United States.

So it was that, in the first August of the Biden presidency, the U.S. suffered defeat in its longest war, underwent a humiliating evacuation under the guns of its enemies, continued to endure the worst plague in 100 years, and saw an invasion of its southern border by illegal migrants that called into question whether we Americans retain the resolve to preserve our country.

Nor is this all. In this August of 2021, American politics seem at their most poisonous.

Race relations are as raw as they have been since the ‘60s. In the wake of George Floyd’s death under the knee of a Minneapolis cop, an outpouring of hostility against police has brought record retirements and resignations by cops across the country. Result: an unprecedented surge in urban shootings and killings, with children prominent among the victims.

When President John F. Kennedy gave his approval for the invasion of Fidel Castro’s Cuba that ended in the Bay of Pigs debacle, Americans rallied behind Kennedy because, though he had blundered badly, he was our president, the personification of America’s nationhood. His support soared to 80%.

We were one nation then,

RICH LOWRY

Sorry, this was not a success

Talk about a catastrophic success.

The Biden administration wants credit for the Afghanistan evacuation as measured by the sheer number of people it flew out amid a security and humanitarian crisis of its own making.

This is the arsonist bragging about how many fires he has put out.

Those with memories that stretch past a couple of weeks ago will recall the halcyon days when a mass evacuation at a civilian airport exposed to suicide bombers and other attackers wasn’t, according to Joe Biden, even conceivable.

Biden contributed to the collapse of the Afghan military by denying it air cover, gave away Bagram Air Base for no good reason, pulled out U.S. troops before our diplomats and civilians, drastically underestimated the gathering Taliban offensive, and then, caught unawares by the fall of Kabul, scrambled to jury-rig a desperate rescue that shouldn’t have been necessary in the first place.

That the U.S. flew out more than 115,000 people out of Kabul is a testament to the awesome capabilities of the United States military.

It is not in any way a vindication of President Biden’s exit.

The evacuation itself has been costly. Because we outsourced security outside the airport to the Taliban, our service members were forced to operate in dangerous conditions. A nearly inevitable attack last week killed 13 of them. That’s the loss of more Americans in one day than were killed in action most years in Afghanistan since Biden administration in Afghanistan is the arsonist bragging about how many fires he has put out.

Then, we failed by the most important metric. We left hundreds of Americans behind who wanted to leave, a squalid betrayal that was unfathomable before the Biden team began to try to prepare the public for it a week or so ago.

It’s hard to imagine any prior American president, perhaps with the exception of Jimmy Carter, abandoning Americans behind enemy lines. Theodore Roosevelt mustered the naval might of the United States to save one American who had been kidnapped in Morocco in 1904. Barack Obama traded five Guantanamo detainees for Bowe Bergdahl in 2014.

Even Biden felt the impulse to get every last American out. He pledged to do it in his interview with George Stephanopoulos. In order to keep his promise to the Taliban to get out by August 31, though, he broke his promise to his countrymen.

We still don’t know how many U.S. green-card holders, to whom we should also feel an obligation, have been left behind. And there have been reports that the Taliban was blocking our most deserving Afghan allies from getting to the airport, meaning the Afghans we got out weren’t necessarily the most endanand one people. And today? Demands are being heard for the impeachment or resignation of Biden.

This piling on of the president is surely in part payback for what the Democrats did to former President Donald Trump.

Two weeks before Biden took the oath, a mob had invaded the Capitol to protest his formal certification as president.

For that mob intrusion, Trump was impeached a second time for what was variously described as “inciting insurrection,” “an attempted coup,” “domestic terrorism,” “treason” and mounting a mortal threat to “our democracy.”

“There is a great deal of ruin in a nation,” Adam Smith’s observation after the British lost the decisive Battle of Saratoga, is often invoked these days.

And justifiably so. For how much ruin can a nation endure and remain a nation? How much of this can we sustain and survive — at a time when we are carrying the burden of the defense of our allies in Europe, the Middle East and East Asia against a gathering modern axis of Russia and China, which our own interventionist policies helped to bring into being?

Our media are as partisan as they have been in our lifetimes. Our cultural elites endlessly mock the traditional values and beliefs of Middle America. Our national parties appear ever at sword’s point.

Our goal, it is said, is to ever move “toward a more perfect union.”

Does it seem like that is the direction where we are heading?

Are the divisions between us becoming too great for us to remain one nation and one people?

FLASHBACKS

SEPTEMBER 5, 1941

A stalk of sugar cane seven feet tall was brought to the Democrat office this week by J.D. Williamson Route 4. It is of the P.O.J. variety. Ordinarily sugar cane does not reach such a height until November, according to Mr. Williamson.

With what she termed “just fiddling a little,” Miss Maudine Phillips, accompanied by Miss June Russell, both seniors at Blue Mountain College, gave a very entertaining performance at the Rotary Club luncheon at the Benwalt Monday, judging from the enthusiastic way the Rotarians joined in on the choruses.

AUGUST 30, 1951

Maurice Stephens goes to Whynot as Coach and teacher of Science in the school there. Mr. Stephens is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L.L. Stephens of Rt. 4 this city, has recently received his degree from Mississippi Southern College, Hattiesburg.

W.F. Glass, native resident of this city, but for many years a resident of Gulfport was a visitor here last Friday and paid the Neshoba Democrat a visit. Mr. Glass spent a couple of days here calling on old friends and also visiting the graves of his parents in Cedarlawn. He was very complimentary of the splendid growth of the city and the development in general.

AUGUST 31, 1961

Carl Williams of Route One, Preston, had the first bale of cotton ginner here this year. The Ray O. Smith Gin Company ginned the bale Tuesday of this week, which weighed 479 pounds. Mr. Williams has about 25 acres and said he would get about a bale to the acre. He raises the Rex variety.

Although it was too late for the fishing contest, this 7 pound, 6 oz. bass would crowd the winners. Jim Campbell caught it in the Ovelt Gipson pond 3 1/7 miles south of Philadelphia. Jim said he caught the bass with a shiner and had the time of his life landing his biggest catch.

SEPTEMBER 2, 1971

Jan Luke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ray Luke of Philadelphia, Rt. 2, is given a check for $10.00 by Clarence Mitchell. A member of Bond 4-H Club, she was selected to receive the Lamar Life cash award in the 4-H Club’s Junior Health Record Program.

Duane Stokes, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Stoke of this year as chairman of the Employees scholarship Committee. Conditions necessary for being considered for this award are having a parent employed at the Philadelphia plant, being enrolled in an accredited college or university, and having a desire and interest in seeking higher education. Duane’s mother has been employed at Garan for four years.

SEPTEMBER 3, 1981

Mrs. Jessica Price and her daughter, Frankie Harpole, represent an incidence of artistic ability rarely seen in any locale between a mother and daughter. One can sense the pride which each takes in the other’s work and this feeling of closeness, and sharing and family certainly rivals the beauty of the pictures they have created.

AUGUST 28, 1991

Virginia Bates, bookkeeper and underwriter for Philadelphia Insurance Agency was honored Thursday for her 35 years of service with the agency. She was presented a plaque and gifts at a reception attended by her relatives and friends and members of the business community. Others include Lisa Pierce, secretary; Albert Latting, vice president; and Allen Hardy, president and manager.

AUGUST 29, 2001

Several Neshoba County youths recently participated in North Half 4-H Field and Stream competition held in West Point. They competed in archery, pistol and rifle, and muzzleloading events. Winner were presented by Larry Alexander, 4-H youth development specialist.

AUGUST 31, 2011

Members of the sixth grade patrol, as well as cheerleaders and members of the band’s color guard, carry a large flag onto Philadelphia football field last Friday as part of the school’s 9/11 Remembrance Ceremony. As part of the program, the high school marching band performed “God Bless the USA” and “The Star Spangled Banner” while senior class president Tiara Caloway gave the invocation.

Jennie Louise Dickens Swarengen

Jennie Louise Dickens Swarengen was born to Bain and Mae Dickens of Thomastown, Mississippi, on April 28, 1942.

She was the little sister of Gilbert Dickens.

Jennie Lou graduated from Kosciusko High School with the class of 1960 and went on to spend four years in Clinton at Mississippi College where she earned a bachelor’s degree in education. After college, she moved to Mobile, Alabama, to teach at Satsuma High School, but after several years, her father’s health began declining, and she made the decision to move home to Thomastown to help him work in his general store.

Back in Thomastown, she met and married Sam Swarengen, with whom she spent nearly forty years until his passing in 2014. She taught twelve years at Thomastown Attendance Center and after a several year hiatus, she resumed her teaching career at Leake Academy in Madden, Mississippi, where she taught for 19 years before retiring in 2016.

Thanks to Sta Home Health, she was able to keep busy during retirement by calling to check on patients and by writing letters of encouragement to them, both duties that she thoroughly enjoyed. She was a longstanding member of her beloved Thomastown Baptist Church as the pianist and a Sunday and Bible school teacher. Jennie Lou loved young people and truly enjoyed teaching history and geography.

She will be remembered for her famous quote “Now...take care of your business.” During the summer months, she would mail postcards to all her current and incoming students.

Jennie Lou would wish them a great summer and tell them she looked forward to seeing them in the fall. She supported her students at many of their extracur-

Getting the Message/Rev. Chris Shelton

A crisis can help awaken Christians

David is in a crisis. He established earlier in the psalm that God delivered him from the pit of destruction and set his feet on solid ground. The Lord put a new song in his mouth, a song of praise for the salvation of his body and soul. It is this deliverance that teaches David how to respond to a crisis or tribulation.

First David proclaims God's righteousness in the crisis (verses 9-10). He is determined that no crisis will cause him to shrink from proclaiming to God's people the love and faithfulness of God. This is not easy. Any crisis David was in would also affect the people of Israel since he was the King. The human heart is naturally cold toward God; in a crisis it often turns to murmuring, rebuke, and anger. When Moses sought to persuade the Israelites in the desert to remember God's faithfulness, they threatened to stone him. This was because they were not happy with God's providence. Nevertheless, this is exactly what people need to hear. God has shown his favor in delivering you from the pit of destruction. He is faithful. "Whoever is wise, let him hear and consider the steadfast love of the Lord (psalm 107)."

Second, David knew what he needed to endure this trial. He affirms that God's mercy, love, and faithfulness will preserve him (verse 11). David is saying that since you are with me in this Lord, I can endure it and remain faithful. Augustine used to pray, "Lord command what you will, but give what you command." In other words, whatever providence you bring, Lord, I am willing to undergo, so long as your Spirit enables me to endure it and remain faithful through it. A sense of dependence needs to be united with confidence that the Lord provide.

Third, David was poor in spirit. He confesses, "My sins have overtaken me, and I cannot see. They are more than the hairs of my head; my heart fails me" (verse 12). This is often the case for a Christian in a crisis. He feels convicted of sin. It is not unhealthy. Rather, it shows an honest, healthy relationship with the Lord. It prepares you for true comfort, which the Lord alone can give.

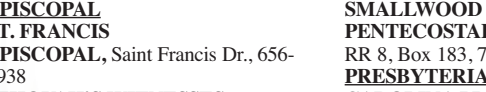

Living in impenitence and sin is a comfortless state. Being self-confident and insensitive to the holiness of God is a wretched condition. David, however, knows he is unworthy. David is in the right frame of mind to be comforted. Do not then be distressed because you are feeling unworthy. It is what God wants you to feel. You are now in God's way. Confess your sins before the Lord and seek comfort in him. Draw near to the Lord. He delights in mercy.

If we get a right view of one sin we are usually given to see that our offenses are countless. David said, "My sins are more than the hairs on my head." The Lord Jesus showed the Samaritan woman (John 4) a particular sin and she went away and said, "Come, see a man that has told me all things that I ever did." She wasn't hurt by this conviction of sin, she was saved by it. Charles Hodge wrote, "The greatest conviction a man can have is conviction of sin."

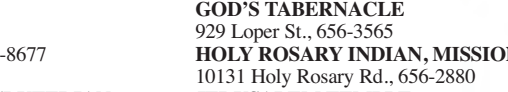

A crisis can help awaken Christians or a church to fresh conviction of how sinful and dependent on God's grace they are. The exalted Christ told the prosperous church in Laodicea, "You say, I am rich, I have prospered, and I need nothing, not realizing that you are wretched, pitiable, poor, blind, and naked." He instructs them to seek grace to see their sin and find their comfort in reconciliation and fellowship with God, not in easy circumstances. He is not a God to leave his people in the misery of indulging sin.

This brings us to the last point, which is for the Christian in a crisis to always return to comfort in the Lord's promise of salvation and to praise the Lord for it. David says, "May those who love your salvation always say, 'The Lord be exalted'" (verse 16). Assured of his salvation, and yet knowing his frailty, David cries out to the Lord to come quickly with help (verse 17). In our trials, effectual help must come from God only. Should you hesitate to call on the one who made the heavens and the earth and has delivered you from the pit?

Neshoba’s unemployment rate improves 1% over the summer

By STEVE SWOGETINSKY
steve@neshobademocrat.com

Neshoba County’s July 2021 unemployment rate of 6.8% dropped a point when compared to the previous month’s rate of 7.8 percent, according to the Mississippi Department of Employment Security.

That’s about the same as the state’s rate of 6.7%. The national percentage of unemployed stands at 5.7%.

The new numbers are a vast improvement over the same time last year in the midst of the COVID-19 Pandemic when Neshoba County’s unemployment rate stood at 13.2%. Businesses and industries were forced to halt or scale back operations and send their employees home to avoid infection. At that time, Mississippi’s unemployment rate stood at 9.6% while the nation’s rate was at 10.3%.

Neshoba County’s labor force in July 2021 stood at 10,450 people, a decrease of 30 people when compared to the previous month. Of that, 710 people were out of work. Mississippi’s not seasonal-

	JULY 2021	JUNE 2021	JULY 2020
Neshoba	6.8%	7.8%	13.2%
Kemper	9.4%	10.8%	13.2%
Leake	6.7%	7.5%	9.7%
Lauderdale	5.9%	7.4%	9.1%
Newton	7.1%	8.1%	9.8%
Scott	5.4%	6.0%	6.6%
Noxubee	10.0%	10.5%	15.5%
Winston	7.7%	8.6%	10.5%
Attala	7.5%	8.0%	10.2%

ly adjusted unemployment rate for July 2021 was 6.7%, decreasing nine-tenths of a percentage point over the month. The number of unemployed decreased 11,000 over the month, while the employed total increased 14,700 from the prior month. The Nation’s not seasonally adjusted unemployment rate for July 2021 at 5.7% decreased four-tenths of a percentage point over the month and 4.8% points over the year.

Mississippi’s nonfarm employment decreased 4,600 over the month but was 44,900 higher than one year ago. The Government sector registered the largest monthly employment loss, followed by the Professional & Business Services sector.

For the month of July 2021, 28 counties in Mississippi posted unemployment rates less than the state’s rate of 6.7 percent. Rankin County posted the lowest unemployment rate for the month of July at 4.5 percent followed by Union County at 4.9 percent. Jefferson County had the highest unemployment rate for July at 19.7 percent followed by Wilkinson County at 15.5 percent.

ricular activities. Jennie Lou loved Thomastown, Mississippi, its people, and her church. She was quick to inform everyone that Thomastown was the geographical center of the state! Even while taking chemo treatments, she jokingly said she was holding class at the clinic. She was teaching her nurses about Thomastown and its importance. She made them all learn how to spell “Yockanookany” River.

She passed away peacefully at her home in Thomastown on the morning of August 30, 2021.

She is survived by her daughter Sally Kaye Swearengen, several “bonus grandchildren,” amazing family, and a whole host of wonderful friends whom she considered family. The people who encountered and knew Jennie Lou loved her. She had impeccable manners and was an example of a true “Southern Lady.” She touched the lives of old and young. Jennie Lou will be greatly missed.

Visitation was held Wednesday, Sept. 1, 2021 at Thomastown Baptist Church from 12:00p.m. to 2:00p.m. Services followed at 2:00p.m. with Bro. Brian Hill officiating. Interment was in Thomastown Cemetery. Wilcox Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were: Dale Edgar, David Shelley, Randy Triplett, Colby Beem, Joseph Lovorn, and Jonathan Spears. Honorary Pallbearers were: Bobby Terry, Michael Ellington, Drew Chandler, Steve Bain, and Bain Dickens.

Memorials may be made in her memory to Thomastown Baptist Church.

Mary Evelyn (Kennedy) Pike

A funeral service for Mary Evelyn (Kennedy) Pike, age 91 of Hideaway, Texas is scheduled at 2:00 p.m. Saturday, August 28, 2021, at the First United Methodist Church in Lindale, Texas with Rev. Michael Peschke and Dr. Jack Cox officiating.

Interment will follow at Mt. Sylvan Cemetery in the Mt. Sylvan Community.

Mrs. Mary passed away, Saturday, August 21, 2021, in Tyler, Texas.

She was born May 19, 1930, in Philadelphia, Mississippi to the late William Maynard and Lucia (Walton) Kennedy. Mary attended Coldwater High School, East Central Junior College, and the University of Southern Mississippi earning a bachelor's degree. She later retired as a Librarian after 33 years serving elementary schools in Mississippi, Georgia, and Texas. After retirement she and Afton moved to Hideaway in 1988 enjoying beautiful East Texas and overlooking the lake.

Mary was a member of the First United Methodist Church in Lindale where she was active in the Busy Bee's Quilting Guild and the Open Door Sunday School Class. She enjoyed reading, cooking, quilting, playing Bridge, and traveling with Afton, including family reunions at Lake Tiak-O-Khata.

Mary enjoyed entertaining family and friends and visiting with them through, email, phone, and in person every chance she got. Friends will remember her homemade Toffee that she would pass out at Christmas and for her wonderful sourdough bread, with melted butter on the first slice for Afton.

Mary will be best remembered as a loving and devoted Wife, Mother, and Nana.

She was preceded in death by brother, Moncreath Kennedy; and sisters, Bobbie Risher and Beverly Clark.

Mary is survived by her husband of 58 years, Afton Pike Sr. of Hideaway, Texas; sons, Afton Pike Jr. of Ridgeland, Mississippi and David Pike and his wife, Shirisse of Flower Mound, Texas; grandchildren, Kevin and Kaylee Pike; and numerous nieces, nephews, cousins, and other loving family members and friends.

Lunch will be served at 12:00 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church fellowship hall. Visitation will then be held from 1:00 p.m. to 2:00 p.m. prior to the service. In Lieu of flowers the family has asked that contributions be made to the First United Methodist Church of Lindale.

We can't wait to serve you!

3 more dealers charged

By DUNCAN DENT
duncan@neshobademocrat.com

Three new arrests have brought a list of alleged drug dealers rounded up so far in an ongoing narcotics investigation to 13, the authorities said.

Stanley Fulton, 56, 120 Hunt Street, Louisville, was arrested Saturday on five counts involving the sale of a controlled substance, Neshoba County Sheriff Eric Clark said.

Three counts are for methamphetamine and in the other two for what is believed to be ecstasy, Clark said. Louisville Police assisted in the arrest, Clark said.

Two other suspects were arrested late Monday just before midnight.

Roventay Peden, 38, 399 Clyde Avenue, and William Shannon Sciple, 46, 3775 Stratton Road, Union, were both arrested and charged with sale of a controlled substance.

Clark said that in both cases the substance is meth and that they were both caught selling it in felony amounts within 1,500 feet of a church.

“We still have people out there on our list to pick up,” Clark said. “We expect to have more arrests in the future.”

Fulton has the most charges of those arrested in the ongoing investigation conducted by the Neshoba County Sheriff’s Office, Philadelphia Police Department and Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics.

The previous 10 individuals charged in relation to the ongoing investigation are Samuel J. Clemons, John Nathan Davis, Johnny Gipson, Austin Todd Jarriel, Billy Morris, Billy Ray Neese, Samuel Powell, James Robinson, Deangelo

Stanley Fulton

Roventay Peden

William Sciple

Warren and Samantha Woodruff.

All 10 were arrested on Wednesday, Aug. 18, between 11:15 a.m. and 4:45 p.m.

Philadelphia Police Chief Eric Lyons said the arrests are part of an ongoing effort to take dangerous drugs and individuals off the streets.

“It is always good when we can get those types of individuals off of the streets,” Lyons said.

Most of the arrests have taken place within the city limits of Philadelphia. Lyons said that he appreciates the cooperative effort made by Clark’s office and MBN officers.

Clark said anyone with information that may lead to an arrest is encouraged to call Crime Stoppers at (855) 485-8477.

Alabama murder suspect surrenders

By DUNCAN DENT
duncan@neshobademocrat.com

A man wanted for murder in Alabama has been arrested by Philadelphia Police and awaits extradition.

The man, Christopher Garcia Spencer, 35, of Birmingham was arrested Friday morning at a local motel, said Bobby Pattillo, Philadelphia Police detective.

“He was taken into custody at the Super Inn & Suites. He faces no local charges,” Pattillo said.

At approximately 9:30 a.m. Friday, Aug. 27, officers from the PPD, working on a tip, took Spencer into custody.

Pattillo said Spencer is wanted out of Jefferson County, Alabama, on a murder warrant.

Pattillo said Monday, that Spencer remained in local custody at the Winston County Correctional Facility as they were working out extradition details with authorities in Alabama.

Waltman said he is letting his attorneys handle the case.

“I’m serving as alderman but as far as the court, I have an attorney and they are handling it,” Waltman said.

Clemons said regardless of the outcome, “I’m at peace. It is going to be what it is going to be.”

Clemons’ attorney is Margarette Meeks of Jackson.

Waltman’s attorney is Bill Hamack of Meridian.

NOTICE OF A TAX INCREASE AND A PUBLIC HEARING ON THE PROPOSED BUDGET AND PROPOSED TAX LEVIES FOR THE UPCOMING FISCAL YEAR FOR THE NESHOBA COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

The Neshoba County Board of Supervisors will hold a public hearing on a proposed ad valorem tax revenue increase for fiscal year 2022 and on its proposed budget and proposed tax levies for fiscal year 2022 on Tuesday, September 7th, 2021 at 10:00 a.m. in the Board of Supervisors’ Meeting Room in the Neshoba County Courthouse, 401 Beacon Street, Philadelphia, Mississippi.

The Neshoba County Board of Supervisors is now operating with projected total budget revenue of Fourteen Million Ten Thousand Five Hundred Eighty-One Dollars and No Hundredths Cents ($14,010,581.00). Sixty-Two and One Hundredths percent (62.01%) or Eight Million Six Hundred Eighty-Seven Thousand Four Hundred Sixty Dollars and No Hundredths Cents ($8,687,460.00) of such revenue is obtained through ad valorem taxes. For next fiscal year, the proposed budget has total projected revenue of Eighteen Million Three Hundred Seventy Thousand Two Hundred Seventy-One Dollars and No Hundredths Cents ($18,370,271.00). Of that amount, Forty-Eight and Twenty-Nine Hundredths percent (48.29%) or Eight Million Eight Hundred Seventy-One Thousand Five Hundred Sixty-Eight Dollars and No Hundredths Cents ($8,871,568.00) is proposed to be financed through a total ad valorem tax levy.

For the next fiscal year, the Neshoba County Board of Supervisors plans to increase your ad valorem tax millage rate by 0.00 mills from 60.80 mills to 60.80 mills. This increase means that you will pay more in ad valorem taxes on your home, automobile tag, utilities, business fixtures and equipment and rental real property.

For the next fiscal year, the Neshoba County Public School District’s funding request requires an increase to your ad valorem tax millage rate by 2.11 mills from 48.06 mills to 50.17 mills. This increase means that in this district you will pay more in ad valorem taxes on your home, automobile tag, utilities, business fixtures and equipment and rental real property.

For the next fiscal year, the Union Special Municipal Separate Public School District’s funding request requires an increase to your ad valorem tax millage rate by 0.98 mills from 54.82 mills to 55.80 mills. This increase means that in this district you will pay more in ad valorem taxes on your home, automobile tag, utilities, business fixtures and equipment and rental real property.

Any citizen of Neshoba County is invited to attend this public hearing on the proposed ad valorem tax increase, and will be allowed to speak for a reasonable amount of time and offer tangible evidence before any vote is taken.

Wilcher cooks fresh produce from her garden

By SARAH KATHRYN WATKINS
news@neshobademocrat.com

Jennifer Wilcher uses fresh produce from their four gardens to prepare home-cooked meals for her family.

Jennifer grew up working in a garden and tending the produce with her now late grandmother, Jonita Tolbert.

Jennifer gives all the credit for their success in the gardens to her husband, Kevin, who she said works very hard to make sure their gardens are maintained. Together they grow vegetables, including corn, zucchini, eggplant and more.

Jennifer grew up in Philadelphia and attended Philadelphia Public School. She has worked in retail for the majority of her life and still works part-time in retail.

Jennifer and Kevin have five children and 10 grandchildren and they live in the Good Hope community, where they have land for their gardens and grandchildren to go fishing and do other outdoor activities.

"I love taking my grandchildren shopping," Jennifer said.

Jennifer is the daughter of Jimmy and Darlene Tolbert and she has three sisters. Together they grew up watching their grandmother cook and work in the garden.

Kevin loves all vegetables, Jennifer said adding he would eat butter beans and cornbread all the time if he could. That is why fresh produce is essential for their family.

Jennifer is known for her zucchini bread. She uses zucchini that comes straight from her garden and she tries different ways to cook her vegetables. She also cans some of her vegetables.

Jennifer is used to cooking in large quantities. One of her favorite things to do is have all of her family together to eat, she said. The family tries to get together as much as possible for cookouts and other occasions. For Jennifer, nothing makes her happier than gathering around the table with her family to enjoy great home-cooked food. During October, the Wilcher family traditionally holds a big Halloween party.

"We always have a big pot of chili or stew," Jennifer said, adding the pots they cook the chili and stew in are massive.

Jennifer said anyone is welcome to attend because she loves feeding a large crowd.

ZUCCHINI BREAD
3 c. shredded zucchini
3 c. All purpose flour
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. cinnamon
2 c. sugar
1 ¼ c. oil
3 eggs (room temp.)
1 tsp. vanilla

Nuts (optional)
Mix wet ingredients together (eggs, sugar, oil, vanilla and zucchini). Mix dry ingredients together (flour, baking soda, cinnamon, salt, nuts). Pour wet ingredients into the dry and mix well. Pour into a greased and floured loaf pan and bake 1 hour at 350. (Makes 2 loaves).

HONEY MUSTARD PORK LOIN
1 large Pork Loin
1 cup Dijon mustard
½ cup honey
1 TBSP. crushed black peppercorns
Slice pork loin ½ thick and season with salt and pepper. Cover and bake at 350 for about 30 minutes. Mix mustard mixture and pour over top, put back into oven uncovered for 30 minutes, or until desired tenderness.

FRIED OKRA PATTIES
1 pound of cut okra (fresh or frozen)

1 cup self-rising cornmeal
1 cup self-rising flour
1 tsp. garlic powder
½ tsp. black pepper
1 cup milk
½ cup chopped onion
Mix all together and spoon into skillet with oil to fry.

A huge thank you to HARDY, otherwise known as Michael Hardy, who made a generous donation to the local Open Arms Ministry! Hardy donated the net profits from T-shirt sales at the Neshoba County Fair where he was a featured performer. The check was written in the amount of $5,923.00 which will help tremendously in the Open Arms Ministry during these difficult times. Hardy said he was "happy to do something for his hometown." He really gave back to our community.

A fun event was held at East Philadelphia Baptist Church on Monday evening, August 23 in the church gym. A "Gather and Graze" charcuterie workshop was presented by Tarrah Boykin to a large group of excited ladies.

Tarrah is the owner of "The 3 Little Pigs Charcuterie." She loves to explore different kinds of food as well as different methods of preparing it and share with her friends and loved ones. This is why she loves charcuterie boards and the room they give to play with different flavors and textures. She also enjoys making them beautiful since we eat with our eyes first. After watching and listening to Tarrah make a board, each person created her own board using a wide variety of ingredients available. She answered questions and made suggestions. Everyone was happily busy.

Although charcuterie boards are a new trend sweeping America, they actually originated in 15th century

France. Shops called charcuteries sold smoked meats, such as ham, sausage, bacon, and other pork selections. They were quite popular with customers who were happy to buy food that was already cooked. Pork was the most frequently used meat because it lent itself to being smoked and preserved.

Today boards are created from a variety of meats, cheese, crackers, fruit, nuts, and other tasty items. They have become works of art with the food beautifully arranged. Tarrah defines grazing as having small bites of food available at all times at our fingertips. Charcuterie boards fit this description perfectly.

At the end of the workshop, each participant had a beautiful board to take home. They were almost too pretty to eat!

The Meridian Public School District announced the hiring of Pamela Gibson Hudson as the new principal of TJ Harris Lower Elementary School. Pam has taught at Forest Elementary School and Neshoba Central Elementary School in her 24 years of experience in education. She is a graduate of Neshoba Central High School and has a bachelor of science in elementary education from Alcorn State University and a master of arts degree in educational leadership.

Pam is a resident of Neshoba Country. Her daughter, Mia Hudson, is a sophomore at Alcorn State University and a graduate of Neshoba Central High School. Mia is following in her mother's footsteps!

Congratulations and best wishes for a great year. I know you will be a tremendous asset to TJ Harris Elementary School.

Live out Love! "Let us love one another for love comes from God." 1 John 4:7. The First United Methodist Church Children's Ministry put this into action on Wednesday after their lesson when they made signs for Mary Mosley Pickering who just returned home on Tuesday after a stay in Blair E. Batson Hospital. Their teachers organized a parade for Mary Mo led by two fire trucks flashing red lights and sirens blaring followed by a sheriff's car with its siren blasting and a caravan of parents and friends with children holding up signs from the windows and balloons floating outside of windows. It was a joyful procession filled with the sounds of loving voices calling out to Mary Mosley who watched and waved from her front porch with her brother, Jackson, and her mother, Jessica Pickering.

Her parents, Blake and Jessica Long Pickering have been on hospital duty 24/7 since their daughter was admitted. Her grandparents and aunt have also been giving their support as well as other members of the family. Prayers continue to be offered for her

Engagements

Margaret Lee McDonald to wed Robert Alvin Blackmon IV Sept. 18

Mr. and Mrs. Michael James McDonald of Ridgeland announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Lee McDonald to Mr. Robert Alvin Blackmon IV, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alvin Blackmon III of Flowood. The bride-elect is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Terrance McDonald of Indianapolis, IN, and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Moore, Jr. of Philadelphia. The prospective bridegroom is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alvin Blackmon, Jr. of Memphis and Mr. and Mrs. Gus Angelo Primos of Flowood.

Miss McDonald is a 2011 Alpha Omega graduate of St. Andrew's Episcopal School. She earned a bachelor's degree in psychology in 2015 from The University of Mississippi and a bachelor's degree in nursing from The University of Mississippi Medical Center in 2017. While at the University of Mississippi she was a member of Delta Gamma Sorority. In 2012, she was presented by the Debutante Club of Mississippi. Miss McDonald is currently a registered nurse at Blair E. Batson Children's Hospital.

The prospective bridegroom graduated from Jackson Preparatory School in 2005. He attended the University of Mississippi and received a Bachelor of Business Administration degree in 2009. While at Ole Miss, he was a member of Phi Delta Theta. Mr. Blackmon is currently employed with Lakeland Development Corporation.

The couple will exchange vows on September 18 at Fonden Church with a reception to follow at the Country Club of Jackson. They will make their home in Jackson.

Lady Rockets volleyball improves to 14-0

By STEVE SWOGETINSKY
steve@neshobademocrat.com

The 14-0 Neshoba Central Lady Rockets volleyball team was to play its first region game Tuesday when the Lady Rockets hosted Starkville.

The Lady Rockets are also slated play at Enterprise on Thursday. They picked two wins last week as they defeated Clarkdale 3-0 and Choctaw County 3-1.

Against Clarkdale, they won 25-10, 25-19, 25-11.

Against Choctaw County, they won 21-25, 25-10, 25-19, 25-11.

The Neshoba Central volleyball team picked up four victories last week and improved its record to 9-0.

The Lady Rockets' scores are as follow:

- Defeated Clarkdale, 25-21, 25-10;
- Defeated Northeast Lauderdale, 25-9, 25-25-10;
- Defeated Southeast Lauderdale, 25-9, 25-18;
- Defeated Enterprise, 25-18, 25-8

Union volleyball squad currently sits at 9-1

By ROBBIE ROBERTSON
robbie@neshobademocrat.com

The Union Lady Yellowjackets continued to pile up the wins on the volleyball court this past week with three more victories.

The Lady Yellowjackets improved to 9-1 on the season as they beat Morton 3-0, Lake 3-0 and Sebastopol 3-1.

"We have been playing pretty well," Union coach Jacob Casey said. "I would say this week that we didn't play our best but have been playing good enough to win. I feel like as long as you can find ways to win when you aren't playing your best, it's the sign of a good team. I thought Lake and Sebastopol played us tough and have gotten a lot better since this summer. We had to play well at both places to get the victories."

On Monday, Union beat Morton 3-0 for a district win. Union won 25-9, 25-11 and 25-10 to cruise to victory.

On Tuesday, Union beat Lake 3-0 as well, winning 25-16, 25-21 and 25-12.

On Thursday, Union finished the week with a 3-1 win over Sebastopol. The Lady Bobcats won the first set 25-23 before Union won the next three, 25-12, 30-28 and 25-20.

This week, Union is scheduled — weather permitting — to go to East Webster on Tuesday and play Stringer at home on Thursday.

"We will get tested this week," Casey said. "Those are two pretty good teams. East Webster has really good athletes and will be very competitive. I haven't seen Stringer but they have been beating everybody. It's going to be two very good tests before we start district play."

Conserving energy by reducing, reusing and recycling

By JAMES L. CUMMINS
Special to the Democrat

Energy conservation is the practice of decreasing the quantity of energy used.

It will not only help to reduce energy costs and the need for new power plants but it will also reduce the need for energy imports. The United States is currently the largest single consumer of energy in the world.

America has become a very wasteful society. We need to make it a habit to be more conscious of our resources and environment. Developing a habit takes time. By spending time considering our actions and doing things to save energy each day, our actions will become a habit.

They are many people that just don't know or understand how they can help with energy conservation. One way to conserve energy is to reduce, reuse and recycle. Did you know that it can take up to 700 years for plastic to decompose in our landfills? It takes 80 to 100 years for aluminum cans to break down and disappear. With just a few small changes in our routines, we can help change the future of our environment and make a positive move toward energy conservation.

We can reduce the amount of garbage we throw away by making some of the following changes. We can use rechargeable batteries instead of disposable ones, use reusable plastic containers for food instead of plastic bags, and use washable dishes and utensils instead of paper plates and plastic utensils that you would tend to throw away. If we create less garbage, our communities can save landfill space.

By reusing items, we can save our precious landfill space and, equally important, we can save natural resources and materials it would take to make a new product. Some items we can reuse are boxes, bubble wrap, foil, coffee cans, and glass jars. Also, plastic bottles can be reused by filling them with water or juice and placing them in the freezer. Put one in your lunch box or reusable lunch bag (instead of the paper one) and it will double as an ice pack. At lunchtime, you'll have an ice-cold beverage. Taking things that would be garbage and reusing them is a great way to help conserve resources. And one day soon, we will likely be making fuel from our garbage.

Recycling is also important. For instance, aluminum cans can be recycled into: pie plates, thumbtacks, foil, and many other items. It takes less than 5 percent of the energy to make an aluminum can from recycled materials than from new material. Recycling allows us to reuse materials instead of having to get more from the Earth all over again.

FELDER RUSHING

By FELDER RUSHING
Special to the Democrat

I have a suggestion of a type of plant most likely to hold up in our gardens this time of year. Heads up: You might be dismayed.

Keep in mind that I just returned from my second home in northern England, during which I reported on the brand-new Royal Horticultural Society garden named Bridgenorth, and wandered through countless villages and home gardens chock full of plants that love their cool climate.

The small, neatly edged lawns, lush flower beds, jumbles of strongly contrasting shrubs, hanging baskets and other containers are notably stunning, for a couple of reasons.

One, British gardeners stick with what they know does well in England. Their botanic gardens are proving grounds, flower shows get the message out, and garden centers have full-blown display gardens demonstrating how to use them. In short, they focus on finding out, then doing, what makes sense in their climate.

They can't fathom why we try doggedly try to force alluring but difficult Floridian, Midwestern, or British plants to perform well in Mississippi.

This doesn't mean their roses and hydrangeas don't have leaf spots, or their weeds are any easier to deal with. They are just less likely to "get their knickers in a twist" over cosmetic issues. And if something doesn't do well at all, they simply replace it and move on, as they have done for centuries. If a tree dies, they plant vines on it or push the stump over to create a little naturalistic focal point. And yes, they distract from less-than-perfection by over-accessorizing with gnomes.

Anyway, when I got back to Jackson it took just half an hour to remember what I've been missing. First clue was, stepping off the plane, being slapped in the face by hot, wet air. By the time I trudged up my garden path and noticed the faded magnolia on my year-old state flag hanging listlessly in the heavy evening air, I was flagging, too.

But nearly all my shrubs, flowers, and even potted plants have done just fine, because over the years I have settled on those that can take months of abject neglect. My overstuffed cottage garden never gets watered or sprayed, and needs very little pruning, because my life's too short to fool with fussy flowers. Those that fail, get composted.

So, after half a century of professional ornamental horticulture, I embrace native, heirloom, and tried-and-true new plants, and including whatever newbies MSU's Gary Bachman has vetted for us. I have a free list, if you email me for it.

But, in the spirit of full disclosure - and please don't be too judgmental, especially if you wear lipstick - a few of my flowers are unnatural. Synthetic, Bogus. Fake. Latin name could be Plastica silkfolia tack-ysanthemum.

You'd actually have to touch some of them to realize they are shams. But consider how most of us already accept some unnatural garden features, including gnomes, fairies, saints, toadstools, rocks hauled from hundreds of miles away, flower flags, and even little water gardens which are just faux ponds.

Likewise, in very difficult settings, plants that are artificial (from ancient Latin artificium meaning "artistry") have their places; besides, modern materials are far more realistic, many even with detailed blemishes, than the old plastic ones.

In a mean prank, I recently posted an uncaptioned photo on the Mississippi Gardening Facebook site of a fabulous English windowbox overflowing with lush flowers. It got many dozens of likes, oohs, and ahhs, 'til someone noticed that the flowers are silk.

But it certainly showed that, when needed, even top garden designers know to surrender to practicality.

Faux flowers allow garden designers to surrender to practicality at times.

Quarterback Eli Anderson scrambles to get a pass off against Hernando Friday night.

Anderson leads Rockets past Hernando in opener with 32-16 victory

By STEVE SWOGETINSKY
steve@neshobademocrat.com

Senior quarterback Eli Anderson completed 18-of-22 passes for 292 yards and four touchdowns to lead Neshoba Central to a 38-6 season-opening victory over Hernando Friday night at Rocket Field.

The Rockets, now 1-0, will play at West Lauderdale this Friday night. The Knights opened the season with a 32-16 win over Newton County.

The Rockets finished with 448 total yards while holding Hernando to 228 total yards – 35 rushing and 193 passing.

Neshoba Central kicked off and the teams exchanged possessions. The Rockets stopped Hernando on fourth down on their second possession and took over on their 27-yard line.

Neshoba Central then put together a 14-play, 73-yard scoring drive. On fourth down, Hunter Bavetta kicked a 27-yard field goal and Neshoba Central led 3-0 with 38 seconds left in the first quarter.

The Rockets defense held Hernando to four downs and the Neshoba Central then put together a 12-play, 59-yard scoring draw. Running back Zander Kirkland scored on a 14-yard run. Bavetta kicked the extra point and the Rockets led 10-0 with 6:14 left in the second quarter.

Again, the Tigers ran out of downs. On first down, quarterback Eli Anderson connected with Ja'Naylon Dupree on a 59-yard TD pass play. Bavetta booted the extra point and the Rockets led 17-0 with 3:59 left in the second quarter.

Later in the second quarter, linebacker Kelbee Holmes intercepted a Hernando pass to give his team ball on the Tigers 30-yard line. On first down, Anderson connected with Dupree on a 30-yard TD pass. Bavetta's kick was good and the Rockets led 24-0 with 2:07 left in the half. And that's how it stood at the half.

In the third quarter, Hernando intercepted at Rocket pass and returned the ball to the Neshoba 1-yard line. On the next play, the Tigers punched it in. The extra point was no good and Neshoba Central led 24-6 with 11:06 left in the third quarter.

With less than four minutes remaining, Anderson connected with Elijah Ruffin on a 24-yard TD pass play. Bavetta kicked the extra point and Neshoba Central led 31-6.

Early in the fourth quarter, Anderson connected with Bryceton Spencer on a four-yard TD pass play. Bavetta's kick was good and neither team would score again.

The Rockets ran the ball 34 times for 146 yards. Kirkland was the leading rusher with 89 yards on 21 carries.

Anderson ran five times for 40 yards. Dupree was the leading receiver with 140 yards on six catches while Spencer had six catches for 69 yards. Ruffin caught four passes for 40 yards.

The Tigers were held to 35 yards rushing. They completed 19-of-39 passing attempts for 193 yards.

Holmes finished with four tackles with four assists and had one interception. Ruffin had three tackles, an assist and two passes broken up. Jaharon Griffin had five tackles and four quarterback hurries. Beau Holley had two tackles, two assists and two quarterback hurries. Jashawn Mathis had two tackles and two assists.

"I thought defensively, we played very well," Coach Patrick Schoolar said. "Offensively, we spread the ball efficiently. Zander came in and ran the ball well for us. He did a good job for us. The O-line did a good job and gave Eli some time."

Jackson Academy snaps Rebels' 14-game win streak

By STEVE SWOGETINSKY

The Jackson Academy Raiders turned the tables on the Leake Academy Rebels on Friday night.

A year after losing a big lead and falling 47-37 to the Rebels, the Raiders bounced back and scored 20 unanswered points in the second half to beat Leake 27-13 on Friday night.

The win snaps a 14-game winning streak for the Rebels and puts them at 1-1 on the season.

Veteran coach Brian Pickens said he knew the Rebels were in for a tough contest heading into Friday night and the Raiders didn't disappoint.

"It was a rough, four-quarter football game," Pickens said. "We knew it was going to be a test. JA played for the 6A state championship last year and has a good chance to play for it this year. They have a real good defense and are solid on the defensive line. And they have some weapons on offense. In the first half, you couldn't ask more out of our kids. They battled and led 13-7 at the half."

Leake Academy got the first break of the game when a short punt by JA gave the Rebels the ball at the JA 31. Six plays later, Rhett Atkinson scored on a 2-yard run with 2:16 left in the first. Cole Arthur hit the PAT and Leake led 7-0.

The Raiders struck right back as Tate Collins hit transfer Dakota Jordan on a quick slant that the Mississippi State commit turned into an 87-yard touchdown with 38 seconds left in the half. The PAT was good and JA tied the game at 7-7.

The Rebels' last score came midway through the second quarter. The Rebels went 72 yards in eight plays as Whitt Welch scored on a 40-yard run with 6:16 left in the half. The PAT failed and Leake held a 13-7 at the half.

In the second half, the Raiders dominated the action and took the lead early as Dakota Jordan scored on a 28-yard run with 10:17 left in the third. Scott Swalley hit the PAT and the Raiders led 14-13.

The closest the Rebels got to scoring was on the first play of the fourth quarter when Cole Arthur barely missed a 45-yard field goal.

The Raiders finally broke through the LA defense with 2:41 left in the game as Marcus Harris scored on a 17-yard run. The try for two failed and JA led 20-13.

The Rebels failed to convert on fourth down and turned the ball over deep in their own territory. The Raiders quickly punched in another score on a 16-yard run by Harris for the final margin.

"We just couldn't get anything going in the second half," Pickens said. "We had some opportunities but just couldn't get going. This was a test and schools like JA are only going to make you better. We played four hard quarters of football and I thought we were in good condition at the end of the game. Our defense played as hard as I have seen them play."

Jackson Academy outgained Leake 280 to 236 on offense. The Raiders had 187 yards passing and 93 rushing while Leake had 188 yards rushing and 48 passing and each team had two turnovers and 13 first downs apiece.

Atkinson was 5-of-18 passing for 48 yards and had two interceptions, both in the fourth quarter. The junior quarterback had 108 yards rushing on 26 carries while Welch had 58 yards rushing on 11 carries. Canon Parks had 22 yards rushing on nine carries.

On defense, Bryce Watkins led the defense with five solo tackles and three assists. Jake Brown had six solo stops while Ethan Dunn and Nick Gomillion each had three solo tackles and four assists. Gunter Scott had 3.5 tackles while Riley Myers had 2.5 tackles and two interceptions.

The Rebels will hit the road this week against a familiar foe as they take on former district rival Starkville Academy.

The Volunteers are 1-1 on the season, beating Lamar 28-14 last week and losing 37-0 to Jackson Academy in week one.

"It's a huge game this week with Starkville and it's always a tight game," Pickens said.

Last year, Leake won a shootout with the Volunteers, scoring in the last minute to take a 49-45 win.

It's time for college football

By DALE MCKEE
sports@neshobademocrat.com

The dog days of summer for some reason arrive about the same time as our favorite football teams begin preparing for the upcoming season.

Most of our high school teams began the season last week, although around 24 games were canceled throughout the state. The college football season began last week with only a handful of games. The only college football game featured the Alcorn Braves playing for the first time in 616 days, but they fell to North Carolina Central, 23-14, in Atlanta in the SWAC-MEAC Challenge.

This week the small colleges in our state open in earnest on Thursday night, as Mississippi College will host Albany State. Delta State entertains Bethel, and Mississippi Valley will head to Murray State.

Mississippi State will host Louisiana Tech on Saturday at 3 p.m. while Southern Mississippi will travel down Highway 98 to Mobile to take on South Alabama that night. Jackson State and "Coach Prime" will travel to Miami on Sunday for a 2 p.m. kickoff against Florida A&M at Hard Rock Stadium, home of the NFL Dolphins. The first week's action concludes in Atlanta in the Chick-Fil-A Kickoff on Labor Day, as Ole Miss will battle Louisville at 7 p.m. at Mercedes-Benz Stadium, home of the NFL Falcons.

There are several non-conference games this Saturday that will be worth watching. LSU visits the Rose Bowl in Pasadena to take on UCLA. Georgia and Clemson will tangle in Charlotte, North Carolina, while Alabama and Miami meet in Atlanta. Another game of interest is the matchup between Florida State and Notre Dame on Sunday night in Tallahassee.

The best junior college football in the country is played right here within our borders. This week all 14 teams will be in action on Thursday night as Hinds visits Coahoma, Gulf Coast visits Holmes, East Central visits East Mississippi, Itawamba visits Southwest, Co-Lin visits Northwest and Northeast visits Jones.

Saints news

The New Orleans Saints have named Jameis Winston as the starting quarterback for their season opener against Green Bay on Sept. 11 in New Orleans. The Saints' preseason game against Arizona was canceled last Saturday night. The Saints also headed to Dallas on Saturday to conduct practice this week at AT&T Stadium in Arlington before the arrival of Hurricane Ida.

Odds & Ends

Former Ole Miss football star Deuce McAllister will join the SEC Network as he joins Dave Neal for the afternoon SEC contests this season. Deuce will also still work on the New Orleans Saints radio network.

The Jacksonville Jaguars traded Gardner Minshew to the Philadelphia Eagles over the weekend. The odd man out for the Eagles was former Southern Mississippi quarterback Nick Mullens, who was cut by the team on Saturday.

The Wall Street Journal reported recently that the National Football League would permit sports-gambling companies to advertise.

The Ole Miss men's basketball team joined the football team as 100 percent of both teams and staff are vaccinated.

LSU offered Oregon and Oregon State as the schools that will require proof of vaccination or a recent negative test to attend football games this fall.

He was Valedictorian of this high school, he was Heisman winner, he was an Olympian, and he also played 12 seasons in the NFL. He announced this week he was running for U.S. Senator in Georgia as a Republican. That's right, Herschel Walker will run again.

The offense of the Union Yellow Jackets was as hot as the late Mississippi summer temperatures.

When the horn blew on Friday night the final score was Union 39 Choctaw Central 13.

The star of the night was Kenyon Clay. Clay ran for 210 yards, along with scoring three rushing touchdowns. He passed for 151 yards and two touchdowns.

The offensive supporting cast behind Clay was also stellar. Xavier Boler, A.J. Wilson, and Ky'Yon Harris made great contributions in rushing yards. Brandon Killens, Kaleb Casey, Matthew Lott, Ky'Yon Harris and Xavier Boler all made great contributions in receiving yards and touchdowns for the Jackets.

The defensive side of the ball also contributed to the cause of the black and gold. Thirteen different Jackets contributed to the success of Union's defensive play. Those Jackets were William Hughlett, Eli Rigdon, Ky'Yon Harris, Cameron Hickman, Tank Harrison, Cameron Jackson, Nate Killen, Jaylon Rogers, Tristan Wallace, Xavier Boler, Carson Kennedy, Germaine Pickens and Davarian McDonald. This defensive core forced three turnovers by the Warriors.

The final stats of the game showed a very balanced attack by the Jackets. Union had 259 rushing yards and 168 passing yards.

Next week the Yellow Jackets will host the Scott Central Rebels. Choctaw Central will travel to Cherokee, N.C., to play in the "Battle of Nations" game.

Philadelphia seeks first win at Raymond

By STEVE SWOGETINSKY

The Philadelphia Tornados will look to get on the winning track Friday night when the Tornados visit the Raymond Rangers in prep football action.

The Tornados put up a good showing in their season-opening 35-14 loss to Meridian High School Friday night. This will be the second week in a row that Philadelphia is playing against a team, not on its schedule. The Tornados were scheduled to open against Noxubee County. The Tigers, however, had to cancel because of COVID-19 concerns. The Tornados were scheduled to visit Bay Spring this week and the Bulldogs are out with COVID-19. So, they now face Raymond which defeated Newton last week, 28-12.

Philadelphia ended up playing Meridian after Laurel had to cancel.

That put the Tornados playing the Wildcats in a Class 2A vs. 6A battle. The Wildcats scored on a 53-yard rush on the third play of the game. They then added another touchdown on a 30-yard pass play to lead 14-0 at the end of the first quarter.

The Tornados came back with an 18-play scoring drive that covered 65-yards. Quarterback Marcus Beamon ran 28 yards to put the ball on the Wildcat three-yard line. One play later, Chancellor Greer carried the ball into the end zone for a touchdown. The extra point try failed and the Tornados trail 14-6 with 11:20 remaining in the half. That's how it stood at the half.

Meridian scored early in the third quarter and led 21-6.

The Tornados took the kick-off and ran off 13 plays before running out of downs. The teams exchanged possessions until Meridian scored again in the fourth quarter with 7:33 remaining and went up 28-6.

The Tornados took over and Beamon connected with Trey Posey on an 83-yard TD pass play. Andrew Carter scored the two-point conversion and Meridian led 28-14 with 5:01 left in the game.

Meridian put its first team back in and scored on the next possession to seal the victory.

"I have mixed feelings but I thought we should have won," Coach David Frey said. "When we were down 14-6, we certainly were in the position to win."

"They were bigger and probably had more athletic people on the field at one time. I still think it should have been a closer game or we should have one."

"When we have a long scoring drive, we have to cap it off. We had two or three turnovers that hurt us. We missed some open receivers. We missed some. We went over that Sunday."

Philadelphia did not practice Monday because of the storm but planned to be back at it on Tuesday.

12-3 Lady Rebels earn two more victories on the diamond

By ROBBIE ROBERTSON
sports@neshobademocrat.com

The Leake Academy softball team picked up two more wins this past week with a pair of run-rule victories.

The Lady Rebels hammered Hillcrest 16-1 on Monday and pounded Park Place 16-2 on Tuesday.

Leake improves to 12-3 on the season.

Leake was scheduled to travel to Magnolia Heights on Monday but that game was canceled because of expected inclement weather from Hurricane Ida. Leake was also scheduled to play at East Rankin on Tuesday in their only scheduled action of the week.

Lady Rebels 16
Hillcrest 1

The Lady Rebels battered the defending 5A champions once again with a three-inning, run-rule victory on Monday.

Hillcrest scored one in the first before Leake answered with 11 runs in the bottom of the frame. The Lady Rebels finished off with five runs in the third for the final margin.

Leake had 11 hits in the contest as Miley Billey was 3-for-3 with two doubles, three runs scored and three RBIs. Lily McDonald was 2-for-3 with a grand slam home run while Caroline Cheatham was 2-for-2 with two runs scored. Jenna Chamblee doubled and scored two runs while Emeri Warren and Ella Bell each scored two runs apiece. Grace Maxey also had two stolen bases.

Raylea Atkinson pitched all three innings to pick up the win, giving up one run on three hits while striking out three.

Lady Rebels 16
Park Place 2

The Lady Rebels needed just four innings to take a run-rule win over the Lady Crusaders on Tuesday in district play.

Leake scored five in the first and second innings and added three in the third and fourth innings to take the win.

Leake had 14 hits in the contest as Warren was 3-for-3 with a double, triple and four runs scored. Olivia Rudolph was also 3-for-4 with a triple and four RBIs while Emmajane Lepard was 2-for-3 with three runs scored and four RBIs. Chamblee was 3-for-4 with a double and three runs scored while Miley Billie scored four runs and had three RBIs. Grace Maxey doubled and had two RBIs as well.

Lynleigh Burt pitched all four innings and gave up two runs on three hits while striking out six to pick up the win.
