$27M projected in Toyota sales

By STEVE SWOGETINSKY
steve@neshobademocrat.com

A new Toyota dealership here will generate an estimated $27 million in annual sales, officials have estimated as a tax incentive program received final approval last week.

Representatives of Doc's Toyota, which is in the process of relocating to Philadelphia from Louisville, expect the dealership to be open next year and employ about 20 people.

"We are very excited about this project," said Christiana Sugg of Gouras & Associates, a law firm that has extensive experience in helping clients secure incentives from state and local jurisdictions.

"We expect it to bring in $27 million in annual sales. It will increase the property taxes for the city and the county and also contribute to the city's sales tax rebates."

The Philadelphia Mayor and Board of Aldermen voted during their Tuesday, Nov. 16 meeting to establish a Tax Increment Financing (TIF) District on the south side of Highway 16 across from Bumpers. The dealership, formerly known as Bullock's Toyota, will be relocating there from Louisville sometime next year.

The action was taken following a public hearing last Tuesday after announcing last month that Doc's Toyota of Louisville would be relocating to Philadelphia.

"We have a TIF district on the north of Highway 16 where Marshall Ford and the other businesses are," said Robert Thomas, city attorney. "We are creating one on the south side for Doc's and any other business that can locate there."

The TIF district is a financing strategy designed to make improvements to a targeted project area or district without drawing on general fund revenue or creating a new tax. Taxes collated are diverted to pay for infrastructure improvements such as roads, sewer and water.

No one spoke during the public hearing. Afterward, aldermen voted to approve the creation of the district.

During an Oct. 19 meeting the board passed two resolutions regarding the TIF.

The first resolution was an engagement resolution.

"The engagement resolution — authorizes Board Attorney Robert Thomas as your attorney, Butler Snow as bond counsel, and Steve Pittman as financial and government consultant, to proceed with the legal analysis and make sure you do everything you need to do," Sam Keyes of the Butler Snow law firm told aldermen at the time.

The second resolution declares the city's intent to proceed with the adoption of a tax-ing-financing plan.

Keyes said state law requires a plan be in place before the city See TOYOTA, page 2A

MURDER CASE

Woman charged with jury tampering

By DUNCAN DENT

A relative of a man convicted of capital murder here last week faces a felony jury tampering charge after officials said she attempted to contact a juror during the trial.

Annie Michelle Miller, 29, of 2032 Empress Drive, Murfreesboro, Tenn., was arrested and charged Nov.

16 with jury tampering. Sheriff Eric Clark said officials arrested Miller at the Neshoba County Courthouse on the morning of Tuesday, Nov. 16, before the trial of James Walter Kelly Jr. resumed. Miller was released the following day around noon on a $20,000 bond.

Clark said Miller is a relative of the defendant in the case and sent a message to one of the jurors on Nov. 15, the trial's opening day. Officials said Miller had also tried to contact the juror on Nov. 16, the second day of the trial, in person at the courthouse.

"The integrity of the court is important to protect," Clark said. "We want to keep everything in order, and as soon as we figured out what had happened, we made the arrest."

A jury found Kelly guilty of capital murder on Nov. 16 after deliberating for approximately one hour. The death penalty was

'The General' stays course in pandemic

By SCOTT HAWKINS
scott@neshobademocrat.com

As Gov. Tate Reeves announced two weeks ago that he was ending the COVID-19 state of emergency, Neshoba General officials reflected on the past 20 months of the pandemic and what is next for the hospital.

"COVID-19 was an unprecedented medical event in the modern time and just like every other medical facility, we had to be proactive, creative and flexible to make it through," said Dr. Andrew Dabbs, general surgeon at Neshoba General. "We were fortunate that we were in a strong financial position at the onset of the pandemic and our management team was very proactive to secure the resources we needed to safely care for the COVID patients."

Scott Breazeale, assistant administrator at Neshoba General, said planning had been key to the hospital weathering the pandemic.

"Our emergency operations planner was on top of things early and we were able to obtain the supplies that were needed to ensure a safe environment of care for the patients and to ensure the safety of our care team," Breazeale said.

The Neshoba General Hospital, Nursing Home and Clinics healthcare teams proved to be resilient, Breazeale said.

"There was no way to get comfortable with daily routines as care plans and protocols rapidly changed to meet the standards of care for the COVID-19 patients," Breazeale said.

Having experienced two waves of the pandemic so far that stressed the healthcare system statewide, Breazeale said he hopes the worst of the pandemic is behind us.

"Currently, COVID-19 cases are low statewide and hopefully, we will not see another increase," Breazeale said.

In announcing that he is ending the state of emergency, Reeves cited declining COVID-19 infection rates and increasing vaccination rates earlier this month.

5A COMPETITION

Neshoba's Big Blue ranks 3rd in state

By DEBBIE BURT MYERS
Special to the Democrat

The Neshoba Central High School Marching Band has had a "stellar season," ranking third and earning the bronze medal in Class 5A at the Mississippi High School Activities Association/Mississippi Bandmasters Association State Marching Championship, the band's director said.

The Big Blue color guard was ranked second, and percussion finished fifth.

"This is the highest the Neshoba Central Band has ever placed in the state competition," said Director Daniel Wade. "It's been a stellar season."

To qualify for the MHSAA state competition, Neshoba rated all-superior at Region 3 competition that took place in Rocket Stadium.

"This was our 42nd consecutive year to earn all-superior at regional," Wade said.

"I like the fact that you have to qualify for the state competition. There are 32 Class 5A bands in Mississippi, but only 10 earned a spot to compete."

Before the state competition, the Big Blue Band was named grand champion, with all superiors, at the Northeast Regional Marching Championship that drew numerous bands from Mississippi, Tennessee and Alabama.

In addition, the NC Band ranked all-superior at the Pell City Band Festival competition in Pell City, Alabama.

The band's show, "Portraits of America," tells the story "of the common man and all the opportunities we have as Americans," Wade said. "Yes, we do have problems, but America is not broken. We can still decide what we want to make out of our journey through this world."

Wade chose Norman Rock-well's portraits for the show because he was an artist who painted to the common Americans, he said.

He also selected all American music by the late renowned composer Aaron Copland.

"Copland composed the fanfare we heard in the commercial breaks during the Olympics," Wade said. "He was considered America's composer. Not many people know who he is, but they certainly have heard his music time after time."

Wade said it was important to select a show that the judges not only liked but found challenging as well.

"If you have a show that is really, really hard, which ours was, you get credit for that, but you have to execute it at a high level as well."

Wade said there was a competitive atmosphere during each performance. At regionals, the

Fatal crash near Brooksville

A Noxapater man died last week when another truck pulled out in front of the log truck he was driving near Brooksville, the authorities said. Benjamin Douglas Kirk, 37, died in the accident that occurred at about 7:50 a.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 17 where U.S. 45 intersects with Highway 388. "We honor Ben Kirk. Heaven's gain is our loss," Woody's in Noxapater displayed on its outdoor sign following his death. A husband and the father of three, Kirk was remembered as "the best dad, the best man, the best friend." He was driving a 1998 Kenworth operated by Philadelphia-based Winstead Logging. The other truck, a 2021 Peterbilt, was driven by Kasey Brock Gearig of Macon who was uninjured. Gearig was hauling cotton seed. Foggy conditions may have limited visibility and contributed to the crash, the authorities said. Funeral services for Kirk were held Saturday at the Noxapater Baptist Church.

not considered in the case, and a sentencing date has not been announced.

The trial began Nov. 15, and the jury was sent out to deliberate just after lunch on Nov. 16. The prosecution called seven witnesses during the trial, including two defendants who had pleaded guilty to their parts in the case earlier this year.

Kelly was convicted in the Oct. 19, 2019, slaying of Demarcus Houston, 19, of Philadelphia, who died by suffocation, the authorities said.

Houston's body was later discovered weighted down and anchored in 4 or 5 feet of water in a small pond at Hope. District Attorney Steven Kilgore said Houston was dead before his body was placed in the pond.

Initially, three people were charged with capital murder in the case. Two of the three pleaded guilty to manslaughter charges. Tyrone Braxton, 24, and Joanna Brook Gilmer, 26, pleaded guilty in a plea bargain with the district attorney's office. Braxton was sentenced to 20 years in the custody of the Mississippi Department of Corrections. Gilmer was sentenced to 12 years.

Houston's family had reported him missing on Oct. 23, 2019. Acting on a tip, Clark and other law enforcement agencies drained the pond and found the body. Initially, the Neshoba County Sheriff's Office and the Mississippi Bureau of Investigations charged nine people after the body was found on Feb. 14, 2020.

Park director recovering after being hit by car

By DUNCAN DENT
duncan@neshobademocrat.com

Cody Bryan has a long recovery ahead of him after being struck by a car two weeks ago on a hunting trip near Linwood, but a close family friend says his physical health before the accident is a big plus.

Cody Bryan

The Northside Park director was injured when he was struck by the car while riding a hunting cart along the side of Highway 15.

Bryan on social media described the incident as "100% accident, all part of a PLAN GOD has in place. Not going to bore you with a big long story because at the end of the day all that matters is both involved got more time with their family," he wrote on Facebook Saturday.

Fortunately for Bryan, the accident occurred within sight of a Linwood Volunteer Fire Department, said Neshoba County Sheriff Eric Clark.

Bryan returned home Friday from the University of South Alabama Hospital where he was airlifted after the Nov. 12 accident and praised the local emergency care he received in Neshoba County saying everyone "should be thankful what we have here in our town for emergency situations."

Lee Ann Fulton, a long-time family friend who has children about his age, said, "He is the kind of person that will make lemonade out of lemons. He is a good, good guy, and I know his family is very blessed and very thankful."

Bryan has made updates on Facebook since returning home.

"Thank you all for the prayers and love shown to me and my family during this time of setback," he wrote. "This accident was 100% accident, all part of a PLAN GOD has in place. Not going to bore you with a big long story because at the end of the day all that matters is both involved got more time with their family."

Bryan thanked his wife Crystal saying she "provides a testament for 'better or worse'" and said, "she's the best."

Clark said a gray Toyota Corolla hit Bryan at 5:32 p.m. on the way back from hunting on private hunting land adjacent to Highway 15.

"I do not have all the details," Clark said, noting that Mississippi Highway Patrol was handling the investigation. However, Clark confirmed that the incident occurred on Highway 15 south just north of Road 351.

Clark said his office assisted along with two EMS units and Philadelphia Fire Rescue and local volunteers from the Linwood and Fairview volunteer fire departments.

MHP Sgt. Jameka Moore said there are no pending charges associated with the accident

Fulton said Bryan's rehab would be difficult but doable.

"All I will say is that he has a long road of rehab ahead of him," Fulton said. "Cody is strong. He is a runner. He is in good physical shape and is up to the task and ready to do the work."

Fulton has known Bryan since he was young. He is good friends with her sons, Coker and Kip.

"He grew up at our house, and our sons grew up at his," Fulton said. "They are just our family, and we love him and will help all we can."

Audit firm interviews mayor

By STEVE SWOGETINSKY
steve@neshobademocrat.com

The city's auditing firm was in town on Nov. 17 interviewing department heads and reviewing procedures.

The Pearl accounting firm of Windham and Lacy was hired in October to catch the city up on its city audits for Fiscal Year 2018, Fiscal Year 2019 and Fiscal Year 2020. Auditors started with the FY 2018 audit.

Auditors asked department heads to fill out a questionnaire on Nov. 17. When hired, Windham representatives said part of the process would be to review how the city departments do business and if all were following policy.

"She interviewed the department heads and myself about general processes," said Mayor James A. Young. "We are on point. I think we are making good progress."

When hired, Windham representatives said the FY 2018 audit could be ready on Nov. 30, depending on how everything came together. Young estimated the FY 2018 audit should be complete soon.

"I don't know, but it should be close. They are getting everything they ask for," Young said.

Alderman-at-Large James

Waltman was appointed by the board as its contact person for the auditor.

"I have spoken to the firm, and they indicated that everything is on track," Waltman said during the board's Nov. 16 meeting. "She said they were working with what they had, and everything that has been requested has been provided in a timely manner."

The audit backlog came to light during the budgeting process after a Neshoba Democrat reporter asked for the most recent audit during a board meeting.

Suspect in Dollar Tree robbery sought

By DUNCAN DENT
news@neshobademocrat.com

A suspect who robbed two Dollar Tree employees dropping money at a bank deposit box two weeks ago is being sought, police officials.

Philadelphia Police Detective Bobby Pattillo said that at approximately 9:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 12, an armed robbery occurred at the Regions Bank, 534 Main St.

"An undisclosed amount of cash was taken and the case remains under investigation," Pattillo said.

The two Dollar Tree employees were making the nightly deposit when a suspect approached them brandishing a pistol and robbed them at gunpoint.

Pattillo said the suspect is a black male, approximately 5-feet, 7-inches tall, with a slim build. At the time of the robbery, he was wearing a gray hoodie, a black mask and dark pants.

Pattillo said officers are currently in the process of obtaining video footage from the bank for review.

Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving remains one of America’s most undefiled holidays.

The first recorded Thanksgiving was celebrated on December 4, 1619, at Berkeley Hundred, a plantation on the northern banks of the James River about 20 miles upstream from Jamestown, the first permanent settlement of the Colony of Virginia.

Thirty-eight English colonists headed by Capt. John Woodlie arrived and this proclamation was read: “We ordain that the day of our ships arrival at the place assigned for plantacon in the land of Virginia shall be yearly and perpetually kept holy as a day of thanksgiving to Almighty God.”

A year later the Pilgrims, Christian separatists who fled England (via Holland) under the tyranny of King James, arrived in New England.

Sighting land on a Sunday morning after a difficult two-month journey across the Atlantic, the Pilgrims, landing at Plymouth, remained on the Mayflower and worshiped God. It was the Lord’s Day and they honored Him.

The Pilgrims were unprepared for the starvation and sickness that first winter brought, but their trust in the Lord endured.

Of the 102 passengers who set sail for America in 1620, only half survived the harsh winter. Providentially, with assistance from the friendly Indians, they would eventually reap more bountiful harvests.

In 1621, led by Gov. William Bradford, they would celebrate with the Indians what is traditionally considered the First Thanksgiving. (It was President Lincoln who declared Thanksgiving a national celebration in 1863.)

The Pilgrims established a successful government, economic system and schools with Bradford leading for 30 years.

Our heritage is a nation built by men and women who gave thanks to Almighty God, the creator and ruler of all things.

The origins of our Thanksgiving are rooted in the three-day feast the Pilgrims declared in December 1621.

Presidents Washington and Lincoln both would later issue Thanksgiving proclamations.

Here, once again, for reflection are a passage of Scripture, Lincoln’s Thanksgiving Proclamation and observations on America by Alexis de Tocqueville, the mid-19th century French statesman:

PSALM 106

Praise the LORD!
Oh, give thanks to the LORD, for He is good!
For His mercy endures forever.
Who can utter the mighty acts of the LORD?
Who can declare all His praise?
Blessed are those who keep justice,
And he who does righteousness at all times!

We have been talking about a bypass in Philadelphia for nearly 40 years.

And there was more talk last week.

Almost $4 billion is headed to Mississippi in the bipartisan federal “infrastructure” bill — the largest non-infrastructure “infrastructure” spending bill in history—but it’s unclear whether Neshoba County will get the nearly $200 million needed to finish the Highway 19 four-landing and the bypass, state and local leaders talked again last week.

The biggest news that emerged talking

Abraham Lincoln’s 1863 Thanksgiving Proclamation

It is the duty of nations as well as of men to own their dependence upon the overruling power of God; to confess their sins and transgressions in humble sorrow, yet with assured hope that genuine repentance will lead to mercy and pardon; and to recognize the sublime truth, announced in the Holy Scriptures and proven by all history, that those nations are blessed whose God is the Lord.

We know that by His divine law, nations, like individuals, are subjected to punishments and chastisements in this world. May we not justly fear that the awful calamity of civil war which now desolates the land may be a punishment inflicted upon us for our presumptuous sins, to the needful end of our national reformation as a whole people?

We have been the recipients of the choicest bounties of heaven; we have been preserved these many years in peace and prosperity; we have grown in numbers, wealth and power as no other nation has ever grown.

But we have forgotten God. We have forgotten the gracious hand which preserved us in peace and multiplied and enriched and strengthened us, and we have vainly imagined, in the deceitfulness of our hearts, that all these blessings were produced by some superior wisdom and virtue of our own. Intoxicated with unbroken success, we have become too self-sufficient to feel the necessity of redeeming and preserving grace, too proud to pray to the God that made us.

It has seemed to me fit and proper that God should be solemnly, reverently and gratefully acknowledged, as with one heart and one voice, by the whole American people.

I do therefore invite my fellow citizens in every part of the United States, and also those who are at sea and those who are sojourning in foreign lands, to set apart and observe the last Thursday of November as a day of Thanksgiving and praise to our beneficent Father Who dwelleth in the heavens.

— A. Lincoln 1863

Observations by a French philosopher and statesman on America

I sought for the greatness and genius of America in her commodious harbors and her ample rivers, and it was not there; in her fertile fields and boundless prairies; and it was not there; in her rich mines and her vast commerce, and it was not there.

Not until I went into the churches of America and heard her pulpits flame with righteousness did I understand the secret of her genius and power. America is great because America is good, and if America ever ceases to be good, America will cease to be great.

— Alexis de Tocqueville, mid-19th century French statesman roads again is that MDOT District Engineer Neil Patterson favors a roundabout at Williamsville, but we’ll just go ahead and say that’s a bad idea.

Mississippi Central District Transportation Commissioner Willie Simmons addressed the more than a dozen local government and business leaders at the Depot.

“We don’t know yet how all that money will be shaken out,” Simmons told the Neshoba countians gathered to talk again about roads.

Right and righteous

Kyle Rittenhouse used his rifle to protect someone else’s property and his own life.

In judging the actions of Kyle Rittenhouse, set aside for the moment Wisconsin law under which he was tried, and consider the natural law, the moral law, the higher law written on the human heart.

In terms of values demonstrated and the deeds done that night that Rittenhouse shot the three men who attacked him, who was on the righteous side?

Consider what Rittenhouse did that night of Aug. 25, 2020, and why.

Watching on television the nightly riots in Kenosha, Wisconsin, a town 20 miles from his home in Antioch, Illinois, that he knew well, Rittenhouse decided to go to Kenosha to protect property that embattled police had been unable to defend during the riots. For protection, he picked up the AR-15 that he kept in Kenosha.

Toward midnight, Rittenhouse was confronted by Joseph Rosenbaum, an ex-con twice his age. Rosenbaum threatened Rittenhouse, backed him into a corner and tried to grab the barrel of his rifle. When a shot rang out nearby, Rittenhouse shot four times within a single second.

When Rosenbaum fell, Rittenhouse took off running, looking for the police to turn himself in, with a mob in hot pursuit.

Out of that mob, an assailant hit him in the head, knocking his hat off. Rittenhouse fell on the street. Another rioter jumped, kicked and stomped his head on the concrete pavement. Another hit him in the head with a skateboard.

Another man confronted him with a loaded pistol and aimed it at Rittenhouse’s face from a few feet away.

Rittenhouse shot and killed Anthony Huber, who had hit him with the skateboard and was grabbing his gun barrel, and wounded the man holding the gun to his face. When Rittenhouse shot both men, he was still on the ground.

While Rittenhouse’s decision to go to Kenosha may have been unwise, it was also unselfish and, indeed, brave.

He was risking his life in a riot to defend another man’s property and do his civic duty in a situation of lawlessness. He could have stayed home, as almost everyone in Kenosha did that night, while their city was burned and pillaged.

And what were the motives and goals of Joseph Rosenbaum, the child rapist and ex-con, and Anthony Huber, who wielded the skateboard?

What were they doing in Kenosha, if not helping to sustain a criminal riot to destroy property Rittenhouse had come to defend?

“Why was he there? I have no answer. I ask myself that question every day,” said Rosenbaum’s fiancée about that night.

Again, whatever one thinks of Rittenhouse’s entering a volatile situation, he emerges as one of the good guys. His actions were taken for commendable goals, whereas his assailants’ purposes were to engage in a criminal rampage and riot.

This is why Rittenhouse is being so fiercely defended. People sense that whatever he did, the 17-year-old went to Kenosha to do the right thing.

Those who believe the Black Lives Matter-antifa riots were justified are the ones who want Rittenhouse to spend the rest of his life in prison — for shooting rioters who were threatening and attacking him for interfering with their crimes.

Sensing Rittenhouse has the country behind him, media efforts have been mounted to find a racial element in Rittenhouse’s motivation. President Joe Biden implied that the Kenosha shootings were the work of white supremacists.

The president’s statement was as ignorant as it was malicious.

Rittenhouse is white. All three men he shot are white.

His defense attorney and the prosecutor are white. The trial judge is white.

Only Rosenbaum is recorded as having used the N-word that night during what was billed as a BLM protest for racial justice.

Under Wisconsin law, the issue came down to self-defense.

Did Rittenhouse fire his AR-15 because he believed, with reason, that he might suffer death or serious bodily harm if he did not?

Or did he provoke the rioters into attacking him so he could run up a body count, as the prosecution alleges?

Shooting the individual who put the loaded pistol in Rittenhouse’s face was surely self-defense. And, according to testimony, Rosenbaum and Huber both sought to grab the barrel of the AR-15 to pull it away, in which case Rittenhouse would have been at their mercy, and possibly dead.

The judge had expanded the range of charges of which Rittenhouse may be convicted, giving the jury a menu of lesser charges if they do not believe that Rittenhouse was guilty of “intentional homicide.”

The prosecution has described Rittenhouse as an “active shooter,” calling to mind the Las Vegas gunman who massacred dozens of people at a music concert by firing from his hotel room.

But a 17-year-old running from a mob and shooting while sitting on the ground and being attacked scarcely fits the description of an “active shooter.”

Kyle Rittenhouse used his rifle to protect someone else’s property and his own life. He was both righteous and in the right. They were in the wrong. A jury on Friday acquitted Kyle Rittenhouse on all charges.

juggernaut is that before he beat the Democrats, he beat Republicans. Beat them like a rented mule.

Surveying Republicans in Congress today, it is hard to see what exactly Republicans stand for — other than just not being the party of Joe Biden.

In the Senate, for instance, 19 Republicans voted for Mr. Biden’s insane $1.2 trillion “infrastructure” bill, including Minority Leader Mitch McConnell. In the House, 13 Republicans joined Democrats to pass the boondoggle, explode inflation and give Mr. Biden a huge political win.

How is it possible that Republican leaders in Congress do not have a vivid alternative vision for the country that would keep their caucus together on such an important matter as the largest non-infrastructure “infrastructure” spending bill in history?

Simple. Republicans are not playing to win. They are simply playing to not to lose.

Which always means the same thing: They win. You lose.

The only solution for Republican voters is to bring back Trump. Or maybe somebody even more destructive. More profane.

There is only one campaign Republican leaders in Washington should be running over the next three years. It’s not why we should vote for Republicans over Joe Biden and his party of lunatics. Democrats make that case well enough on their own.

Republicans need to convince voters why we should vote for them — over Donald Trump.

Otherwise, Mean Tweets 2024!

Republicans playing to lose

How can it be that Republicans had no vivid alternative on such an important matter as the largest non-infrastructure “infrastructure” spending bill in history?

DENVER — Republicans in Washington are positively giddy over all the new polls showing President Biden tanking the Democratic Party ahead of next year’s midterms. Indeed, Mr. Biden is making history.

For a guy who got elected on a single pledge to not send Mean Tweets, Mr. Biden has managed to burn through an astonishing reserve of goodwill in a very short period of time.

All he had to do? Be nice. And don’t touch anything.

After 50 years in Washington, the guy was at the very least a known quantity. Sure, people rolled their eyes when he strolled into a room. They plugged their ears when he droned on and on. They smacked him gently away when he groped children and sniffed your hair. Everyone, of course, knew he made up stories.

But, still, people didn’t really hate Joe Biden. He was old, White and harmless, which is the whole reason President Barack Obama picked him to be his vice president in the first place.

China fuming over Biden’s talk of U.S. Olympic boycott, sends invite to Putin

Yet, somehow, bumbling Joe Biden has managed to become the most unpopular president since the invention of the telephone. And that’s even as the media is still protecting him!

Joe Biden has screwed things up so bad that somebody had to come out with a new bumper sticker. “Mean Tweets 2024.” At this point, Mean Tweets would win.

And you think a 36% approval rating is bad? You just wait until people find out about what his children are up to. Anybody who says that number cannot get any worse, just watch.

Naturally, Republicans in Washington are buoyant over their prospects for next November, especially considering the narrowest of margins by which Democrats control both chambers of Congress. Republicans are sure to win the House and are on track to win the Senate despite facing one of the worst electoral maps in a decade.

It is entirely possible that given the much easier map of seats that are up in the election after 2022, Republicans could be looking at a near supermajority in the Senate by 2024.

And Mean Tweets in the White House.

But there is troubling news — at least for Republican voters.

Republican politicians in Washington are so bullish about their own future that already they are lining up for a “play it safe” campaign for the next couple of years. Don’t say anything. Don’t cause any problems. Stay real quiet and let Joe Biden sink his party.

After all, Democrats always do far more to help Republican politicians than actual Republican politicians ever do. That is why we got Donald Trump in the first place.

What made Donald Trump such an unstoppable political

Neshoba's Big Blue Band drum majors have key roles

By COLEMAN EAKES
news@neshobademocrat.com

From the football stands under the Friday night lights, it might look as if a drum major's job would be easier than being a marching band member who must march in formation while playing an instrument on the field.

However, being a drum major is much more work than it might appear to the casual observer, said two drum majors for Neshoba Central's Big Blue Band.

"We have to be an example to the other students like to show up on time for practice," said Head Drum Major Destiny Kirksey. "Anything other students need, we have to be there to help them out with."

On the field, the drum major's role is to lead the marching band with vocal instructions, hand gestures or by blowing a whistle while carrying a baton. But, off-field, the part goes much deeper, said Hunter Adkins, the co-drum major for the Big Blue Band.

"Yeah, it's almost like we are their parents," Adkins said of the band members. "Like, if someone needs an instrument fixed, we have to fix it, or if someone doesn't have socks, it's our job to help them out and do as much as we can do," Adkins and Kirksey, both seniors at Neshoba Central High School this year, said they had long aspired to become drum majors and relish their roles in supporting the Band Director Robert Wade.

Adapting to difficult and stressful situations comes along with the job, as does communicating with each other to make sure both are on the same page. Seeing each other as equals has helped them throughout their competitions, they said.

Kirksey of the Longdale community is the daughter of Shayla and Randy Robertson, and she has a younger brother named Kamdon Robertson.

"My parents are very supportive, and my mom really became a soccer mom to allow me to do things like play sports and now do band," Kirksey said.

Kirksey said her mother motivates her to strive to do better.

Adkins, the son of Melissa and Stayc Adkins of the Dixon community, has one sister, Kaylee Adkins, who played the saxophone for seven years with Neshoba Central's Big Blue Band.

"I'm really thankful for my parents for always coming to every performance and football game and for always being supportive," Hunter said.

Kirksey's advice to younger students who might be interested in being in the band is "determination and practice go a long way."

Kirksey said she had to learn how to be a drum major in a year, which took a lot of effort.

"Don't settle to be the weakest link," Adkins said in advising aspiring band members and drum majors. "Always try your best and never give up on yourself."

Adkins plans to attend East Central Community College and further his band career, eventually going to Mississippi State University.

Kirksey hopes to attend Ole Miss and continue her band career there. She plans to march in college instead of being a drum major because she misses being on the field.

Both drum majors said they hope to influence current and future band students who wish to excel in Neshoba Central's Big Blue Band.

students were eager to see which bands they would compete against at state.

"It's a fun time for the marching band. Everyone has an opportunity to watch them perform during football games and at competitions," he said.

Sunny Parkerson, a self-proclaimed "very active sports mom," can attest to the band's hard work. She traveled to Pearl to watch the state competition.

"Friday night football just wouldn't be the same without the band there," she said. "They play and cheer and get hype for our football team. They support the football team to their fullest the whole time they are in those stands. In all of my years as a sports mom and loving my awesome Big Blue Band, I never really realized that the halftime show is their game. That is their competition!"

Parkerson said she was so glad that she, her two sons and a friend went to cheer on the band students, who are "there every Friday night" to cheer them on in football.

"Next year, we will be sitting in those stands cheering on our Big Blue Band, and I strongly encourage anyone that has never been to be there also. Football wouldn't be the same without our band, and the cheerleaders and dance team wouldn't be able to do what they do without our band. I will proudly ring my bells for those kids any day of the week. They deserve it more than any of us really know," she said.

Despite all the success the band has seen this school year, Wade said he couldn't say it has been the best in his 17 years at Neshoba.

"It's been one that showed the results of our hard work," he said. "Last year was my favorite because we had to do all this hard work and not have a contest due to the COVID-19 shutdowns. We did all this hard work knowing that these kids would not have a performance opportunity."

Last year's band paved the path for our current band to have this successful year.

"They did not leave the band program in shambles. They left the band better than they found it," Wade said.

Even though this year was special, with all the awards, the praises, pats on the back and social and school media accolades, last year will always be Wade's favorite.

"The support for this band program, the administration, how we get along with the coaches and staff, everything here is the reason for this success. This is a good place. That whole 'onenesshoba' thing is real. It's manifesting itself in this band hall. It really is. This community and this culture are something else," he said.

Remember what God has done

Almost a year had passed since their arrival at the tip of Cape Cod when the Pilgrims held their first Thanksgiving in Plymouth. Many in their company had died, but by all accounts none of the Pilgrims should have emerged from the first winter alive.

They had great faith in God along with the grit and resolve necessary to survive. They had also engaged the Indians for peace, compensated the Indians they had taken com from, and pledged their loyalty to Massasoit, the chief of the Pokanokets, when he needed support. Their prudent diplomacy with the Indians played a vital role in their survival.

It is no surprise then that at the First Thanksgiving, the festival included the Indians. In fact, there was twice the number of Indians than Pilgrims at the feast. About one hundred Pokanoket Indians arrived for the celebration with five freshly killed deer.

We don't know the exact date the First Thanksgiving was held, but it was after the first harvest of corn, beans, barley, peas, and other crops. William Bradford announced that since they “had gathered the fruit of their labors,” it was time to “rejoice together after a more special manner.”

Some of the Pilgrims went “fowling” and after few hours collected a sufficient number of ducks and geese to feed the whole assembly. Fish were so abundant in the fall they were probably added to the menu. The celebration was primarily to give thanks to God, and the Pilgrims enjoyed eating and drinking with the Indians, whom they counted as friends from the Lord. Nathaniel Philbrick writes in his book “The Mayflower,” “There was a lot of bounty and goodwill at the First Thanksgiving.”

Thanksgiving in all circumstances is the will of God for his people. William Cooper, a contemporary of the Pilgrims, wrote, “Thankfulness demonstrates a spiritual and noble frame of soul in the highest pitch of grace. The Lord Jesus taught us thankfulness both by pattern and precept, and he thanked God frequently and fervently. Even when he was to eat common bread, he gave thanks.”

The important thing to the Pilgrims was their spiritual life, their faith in Christ. This they sought to flourish in and share with their Indian friends. One of their primary reasons for coming to New England was to be used of God to plant the Christian faith there.

William Bradford, in listing the reasons the Pilgrims left Holland for America, concludes: “Last and not least, they cherished a great hope and inward zeal of laying good foundations, or at least making some way towards it, for the propagation and advance of the gospel of the kingdom of Christ in the remotest parts of the world, even though they should be but stepping stones to others in the performance of so great a work.” They were not their own but sought the will of Christ the Lord.

They had the spirit of the Heidelberg Catechism which says the only comfort in life and in death is: “That I am not my own, but belong body and soul, in life and in death to my faithful Savior Jesus Christ. He has fully paid for all my sins with his precious blood and has set me free from the tyranny of the devil. He so preserves me that not a hair can fall from my head without the will of my Father in heaven. In fact all things must work together for my salvation.”

Isaiah 42:1 says, “Behold my servant, whom I uphold, my chosen, in whom my soul delights; I have put my Spirit upon him.” God commands us to look upon Christ. The Lord condemns all those who do not look to him. All those who look upon Christ rightly are sure to follow that look. It is a source of great thanksgiving to hear the Lord say, “You are not your own, but bought with a price.”

Isaiah 42:1 is fulfilled at Jesus baptism when the Spirit of God came down and rested upon Jesus. The Father spoke from heaven, “This is my beloved Son, with whom I am well pleased” (Matthew 3:16-17). God is well pleased with all who are united to Christ; they are in a good way, both body and soul. They lack nothing but a further revelation of the Son of God.

So this Thanksgiving, count your many blessings, name them one by one. Remember what God has done. And behold the Servant of the Lord, making him the foundation of all your thanks to God.

Man facing meth, cocaine charges

By DUNCAN DENT
duncan@neshobademocrat.com

A Philadelphia man, one of 37 suspects arrested in May as part of a meth, cocaine and marijuana ring, now faces additional drug charges, the authorities said.

Dexter MaGee, 31, of 532 Valley View Drive, was arrested and charged on the afternoon of Nov. 17 with two counts of felony possession of a controlled substance for marijuana and ecstasy and two warrants for malicious mischievous. Neshoba County Sheriff Eric Clark said MaGee was denied bond because he was already out on bond after his May arrest on two charges of conspiracy to commit a felony in relation to Operation High Life in May. To date, 37 of 38 targets are been arrested in relation to the drug ring officials said is responsible for running methamphetamine, cocaine and marijuana through the county. Clark said MaGee was originally served warrants last week at his home on Valley View Drive for malicious mischief when the deputy detected signs of a possible controlled substance in the house. Clark said the house was then secured, and a warrant was obtained to search the premises on Nov. 17 for illegal drugs. The search found a felony amount of marijuana and eight dosage units of MDMA, also known as ecstasy, and Clark said that possession of more than two dosage units is a felony amount. Officers also found around $1,900 in cash, paraphernalia and five firearms. Clark said the paraphernalia included items such as scales and baggies for distribution. Clark said he did not anticipate any further charges being brought against MaGee though the items found would enhance the controlled substance charges. MaGee remained in the Neshoba County Detention Center on Monday afternoon.

Neshoba County recorded 13 new COVID-19 cases and no new deaths in the past week, according to the Mississippi State Department of Health's Nov. 22 report. Neshoba County has now recorded a total of 6,718 cases of COVID-19 and 210 deaths since the pandemic began in March 2020. The Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians reported six new positive cases of COVID-19 and one new death in the past week as of Nov. 21, with the total number of positive cases for the Tribe standing at 2,477 with 124 deaths. The Tribe reported no new hospitalizations in the past week. Neshoba Central Elementary School and Neshoba Central High School reported between one and five positive COVID-19 cases among teachers and staff. Neshoba Central Elementary and Neshoba Central Middle School reported between one and five positive cases among students during the week of Nov. 12. No students or staff have been quarantined. As of Nov. 22, 29% of Neshoba County's population is fully vaccinated, and 33% of the population has received at least one dose of the COVID-19 vaccine, according to MSDH. Vaccinations are being administered at Walmart at 1002 W. Beacon St., Philadelphia, and Walgreens at 1005 W. Beacon Street in Philadelphia, according to the MSDH. Statewide, since the pandemic began in March 2020, 292,992 confirmed COVID-19 cases have been recorded by the MSDH along with 218,943 probable cases, totaling 511,935 cases. There have been 6,855 confirmed COVID-19 deaths, along with 3,385 probable deaths, totaling 10,240 deaths.

"With more than 3,000,000 doses of the COVID-19 vaccine having been administered in Mississippi and with COVID-19 infections and resulting hospitalizations being effectively managed, it's time to end the State of Emergency," Reeves said in making the announcement. "The additional eight-day extension will provide state agencies with ample time to prepare for the State of Emergency's termination." Although the state of emergency may be ending, that does not mean the pandemic is over, and hospital leaders said they are incorporating the lessons learned through the pandemic in planning for the community's future healthcare needs. "One thing that we learned is that proactive planning is the key to survival with any public health crisis," Breazeale said. "Another lesson learned is there is no substitute for modern technology and that a viable internet network is much needed in our community." Breazeale said the hospital team learned to value alternate means of examinations. "An alternative to traditional physician office visits, mainly telehealth, permitted us to continue serving our community," Breazeale said. "Our Information Technology department worked diligently to resolve issues so that our healthcare providers could continue meeting the needs of the patients that we serve. The support our staff has received from Neshoba County and surrounding communities has been phenomenal."

In the future, the hospital still has challenges to address, including reaching pre-pandemic financial stability, Breazeale said. "Staffing in all departments throughout the facility is a major challenge," Breazeale said. "The uncertainties of COVID-19 forced many out of healthcare early in the pandemic. The recent COVID-19 vaccine mandates by the federal government for healthcare workers has added to this challenge." In the coming months, Neshoba General CEO Lee McCall said the hospital plans to get back to basics. "We will continue to implement our strategic plan and continuously evaluate opportunities to better serve the health and well-being of our community," McCall said.

Date set for Clemons' election challenge

By STEVE SWOGETINSKY
steve@neshobademocrat.com

Leroy Clemons' alderman-at-large challenge has been rescheduled for Jan. 31 in Neshoba County Circuit Court. Clemons, as the incumbent, is contesting the 2021 general election he lost by one vote. Judge Larry Roberts set the date. The jury trial had been set for October but had to be postponed because one of the witnesses tested positive for COVID-19. Philadelphia election commissioners certified the results of the June 8 municipal race, with James Waltman winning, 670-669. Clemons, who was the incumbent, claims there were widespread irregularities and a lack of security of the ballot boxes. He claims the tapes of the voting results from the optical mark reading equipment were not present in the ballot boxes for Wards 1, 2 and 3 when he and his representatives examined the ballot boxes. Clemons also questions the process of how affidavit ballots were considered and disqualified. Clemons is asking the court to determine the true final vote. If that is not possible, he is asking for the election to be thrown out and that a new election be held.

Boatner likes to cook, but loves to bake

news@neshobademocrat.com

Paula Boatner enjoys cooking, but she really loves baking because it satisfies her sweet tooth.

White almond cake, which she and her family call “wedding cake,” is her favorite to make because her family loves it.

“You know we would always go to weddings, and sometimes we wouldn’t be able to have any cake,” Boatner said. “So I made my recipe that tastes like the cake at weddings, and me and my daughters love it.”

Boatner has even made the “wedding cake” for gender-reveal parties, baby showers and birthday parties.

Cornbread is another staple for her family, and she serves it at every meal.

Boatner said her mother, Judy Elwood, and her grandmother, Pauline Elwood, taught her how to cook cornbread and sweet tea before they died.

“My favorite chefs would have to be Paula Deen and the Pioneer Woman... because of how down-to-earth they are,” Boatner said. “They cook just like we do down in the South.”

Boatner said she loves to cook for big crowds, but now she mainly cooks for just her husband, Keith, who owns Boatner Renovations. She loves baking, not only because it satisfies her sweet tooth but because of how relaxing it is for her.

What is her favorite meal?
“My husband’s grandmother’s chicken and dressing, sweet potato casserole, butter beans, cornbread and a cold glass of sweet tea,” said Boatner, who was born and reared in the Deemer Community where she lives today.

Her husband, Keith Boatner, has been self-employed for more than 25 years and owns Boatner Renovations. They have two daughters — Brittany Dowdy and her husband, Drew Dowdy, and Breann Moore and her husband, Ryan Moore — and two granddaughters, Maylee Dowdy and Emmie Moore.

She said they are expecting a third granddaughter in April of next year.

Her mother, the late Lillie Moore Johnson, would be so proud of her daughter. Congratulations and best wishes!

Cody and Ragan Crawford Barrett announce the arrival of twin babies on November 15. Their daughter, Bixley Mae Barrett weighed 6 pounds and 14 ounces, and son, Bennett Ryan Barrett, weighed 6 pounds and 6 ounces. These precious babies have been eagerly awaited by their parents and extended family and friends. Mother and babies are doing fine. Congratulations!

Congratulations to Willie and Shirley Johnson Vaughn who celebrated a milestone anniversary on November 13. The couple has been married for 54 years which is such a wonderful testament of their affection for one another. Best wishes for many more happy years together!

In 2018 The Football Writers Association created a new nationally recognized college football award, The Freshman Player of the Year Award. It was named the Shaun Alexander Award in honor of his tremendous freshman season for the Crimson Tide.

Jarquez Hunter from Auburn has made the Watch List for the award as Freshman Player of the Year. It is a great honor and has nominees from colleges and university football teams all over the United States. Jarquez is a running back and wears #27 for Auburn. Philadelphia Elementary School loves its teachers! The third-grade TAG classes showed some love in the sweetest way with cookies! They delivered cookies to all of the teachers on Thursday, Nov. 18, as a pre-Thanksgiving expression of affection.

Thank you to these students and their teacher, Katie Adkins

Monday, for their kindness. Thank you to Penelope Parks Saxton for making the cookies for them.

Mary Mo is five!! She spent the day in her pajamas cruising the street in her new Power Wheels gift from Mom and Dad, ate some of her amazing birthday cake which had a "City Greens" theme as requested, and supper with her family. She also opened some awesome presents which delighted her.

The birthday celebration continued on Saturday, November 13, with a benefit Cut-a-Thon hosted by Lacey Trout Yates at her Envie Salon which raised a generous sum for Mary Mo and finished with a Birthday Parade in the afternoon down Poplar. Mary Ann Nicholson organized the parade since Mary Mo could not have a party, a parade seemed like a great idea. Mary Mo stood outside and waved and greeted her friends as they drove past. She seems to have had a marvelous birthday! God bless this precious little warrior child. Her parents, Blake and Jessica Long Pickering, made her birthday full of smiles!

Resort hosting USA pageants

By STAFF REPORTS
news@neshobademocrat.com

CHOCTAW — The Miss Mississippi USA and Miss Mississippi Teen USA pageants will be held at the Silver Star Convention Center on April 1 and 2, 2022, officials have said.

"Pearl River Resort is proud to be the new home of the Miss Mississippi USA pageants," said Sonny Johnson, President and CEO of Pearl River Resort. "The young ladies that participate will create a lifetime of memories, and it is truly an honor to be part (of) their special moment."

The winners of the two events will travel on to the national competitions of Miss USA and Miss Teen USA.

"We are very excited to hold our upcoming event more centrally located in the state at the gorgeous Pearl River Resort," said Kim Greenwood, pageant director.

"The magic found at the Pearl River Resort will be the perfect host for the most beautiful and accomplished young women from across the state of Mississippi vying for the titles of Miss Mississippi USA and Miss Mississippi Teen USA."

The reigning Miss USA, Asya Branch, hails from Booneville and competed at the Miss Universe pageant in May, where she placed in the top-21. She made history when she was the first African American to be named Miss Mississippi USA. Then again, she was the first titleholder from Mississippi to win the Miss USA title.

Branch began advocating for prison reform after her father was incarcerated when she was a child. She hopes to make a difference, erase the negative stigma surrounding incarceration, and be a voice for other children of incarcerated parents. Branch will hand over the crown this month to another lucky young lady at the 2021 Miss USA pageant in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Current titleholders Bailey Mae Anderson, Miss Mississippi USA 2021, and Mattie Grace Morris, Miss Mississippi Teen USA 2021, will relinquish their crowns following a year of representing the state at various events and functions.

The titleholders will represent Mississippi in their respective roles at the Miss USA and Miss Teen USA pageants scheduled for Nov. 27, 2021, in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Greenwood Productions is currently accepting applications for contestants to take part in the exciting events. Applications and qualifications for the pageant can be found at www.missmississippiusa.com under the "Apply Now" section. Griffis named TIME Dealer of the Year

By STAFF REPORTS
news@neshobademocrat.com

The Mississippi Automobile Dealers Association is pleased to announce Philadelphia's Bill Griffis as the 2022 Mississippi TIME Dealer of the Year.

Griffis is one of a select group of 47 dealer nominees from across the country who will be honored at the 105th annual National Automobile Dealers Association (NADA) Show in Las Vegas on March 11, 2022.

The TIME Dealer of the Year award is one of the automobile industry's most prestigious and highly coveted honors. Recipients are among the nation's most successful auto dealers who also demonstrate a long-standing commitment to community service.

"Excellent customer service is our motto," Griffis said. "I made a decision a long time ago that we want to be the good guys, not just a car dealership. And it's worked."

A 1972 graduate of the University of Mississippi in Oxford, Griffis earned a B.B.A. in banking and finance. He spent 12 years working for banks in Mississippi before joining his mother, Jean, at her Ford dealership in Philadelphia, where he established an F&I (Finance & Insurance) department and managed sales.

"I watched my mother become the first female Ford dealer in the southeast in the 1970s," he said. "She was an enduring inspiration to me because she lived her passion of work and service to our local community through our small-town dealership."

Griffis Motors is a Chrysler, Dodge, Jeep and Ram store and the family business continues to thrive as Griffis' two sons, a niece, an adopted son and his sister all work at the store. "They all have different job duties and are very good at them," he said. "And I have three grandchildren that I fully expect to be here one day."

He is also proud of the team of employees he has assembled that performs at a high level. "As a dealership in one of the smallest communities in our state, we have consistently outranked many dealers in our district in larger communities," Griffis said.

Griffis is an active member of the Mississippi Automobile Dealers Association and has served in several leadership positions, including chair in 2020, vice chair in 2019 and secretary in 2018.

"During my time on the executive committee and as chairman, our organization put together a bill that was passed by both houses and signed by the governor to give Mississippi dealers the same warranty labor and parts reimbursement as 46 other states," he said. "This initiative has had a positive effect on every dealer in the state."

Griffis has also made an impact in his community by supporting fundraising efforts and continuing education. "Our dealership has always been a big contributor to our four local schools, from providing driver's education cars to helping build new scoreboards for their sports teams to sponsoring every kid that comes into the dealership," he said.

"Over the last thirty years, we have also given a $1,000 scholarship to every employee's child who graduated from high school and continued their education."

FELDER RUSHING

Remove garden clutter by consolidating plantings

By FELDER RUSHING
Special to the Democrat

A red cardinal pecking at my window was all it took to rouse me from my easy chair to look for ways to nip a surprising bout of winter blues in the bud.

I can wrap my head around how longer, chillier evenings affect our circadian rhythms, but for some restless reason, this year's end of Daylight Saving Time triggered an early onset bout of Seasonal Affective Disorder, making me moodier than usual.

So, I'm exploring little ways to get me away from constant emotional snacking by the flickering flames of the TV. And I have come up with a few ideas for accessorizing the darkened garden for sensorial inspiration.

For years now I have designed in garden calmness through the Eastern practice called feng shui (fung-shway), a loose set of general principles for creating more soothing, comfortable arrangements of plants and materials.

Its aim is to maximize good feelings while reducing subtle sources of anxiety. It's about toning down excessive straight lines, sharp angles, narrow walks and steps, poor lighting, clutter, clashing colors, competing sounds, bad weather exposure, difficult plant choices, and so on, to improve the overall feel of a garden. Getting rid of things that cause grudges, and adding more pleasures.

It's easy enough in normal weather. Banish distracting views with carefully placed plants and scattered fence-like screens without blocking good views and cool summer breezes. Lose some of the straight lines by gently curving the lawn between lawn and flower beds, getting rid of tight corners to make mowing easier. Tone down or roundoff corners and break up solid fences or sheared hedges with an irregular plant, sculpture, birdbath, driftwood or other unusual object, or wall hanging.

Remove clutter by consolidating plantings, and in the process gradually lose high-maintenance plants, replacing them with no-fuss species in different sizes, shapes, colors, and fragrances for everchanging all-seasons interest.

In a more sensory vein, go out of your way to attract the color, motion, and drama of garden wildlife. Install a simple water feature with a splashy fountain that faces where you sit to better enjoy the soothing sounds, and add a simple fire feature for cool evenings. Hang a wind chime, install weatherproof Bluetooth speakers.

Other words, make at least part of your outdoor space more inviting, interesting, comfortable and feeling safe and secure, like a cozy living room den rather than a sterile visitor parlor.

That's where the redbird gave me a winter's worth of inspiration. To get him to stop beaking his brains out on my window, I installed a big mirror for him on a north-facing outside wall, which had the unexpected effect of making my little garden seem bigger, and reflected light, color, and motion from an otherwise dark, dreary area.

I hung gnarly crape myrtle branches to prevent birds' thinking the mirror is an open flyway; they also provide easy perches, and makes it look like I have double everything, including birds.

Taking this a step farther, I positioned reflective "gazing ball" orbs and hung glass ornaments to reflect ambient light and dispel gloom in dark spots. Striped liriopie and other light-colored border plants brighten walks, but I also carefully arranged low-voltage night lighting to reveal hidden steps, highlight tree trunks, and accent strategic spots. I even hung a chandelier from my covered pergola where I spend a lot of time on a porch swing by the blazing winter fire and splashy waterfall.

Take a stroll around your garden at dusk, see where you might work in a few of these relaxing ideas. Just thinking about it sets much-needed good vibes into motion.

Neshoba Central's Dedrick McWilliams dives for a deflected pass in the end zone during the Rockets' playoff win last Friday.

Rockets face West Point at North State

By STEVE SWOGETINSKY
steve@neshobademocrat.com

For the second week in a row, Hunter Bavetta kicked the winning field goal in the final seconds to lift the Neshoba Central Rockets to a 23-20 victory over Lafayette in the second round of the Class 5A state football playoffs.

The Rockets, now 12-0, advance to the North State championship game Friday when they visit 10-0 West Point. The Green Wave advanced to the finals by defeating Vicksburg 42-6.

"We beat a very good team," Coach Patrick Schoolar said. "Both the offense and the defense played well. I am going to say we had almost 500 yards in offense. Overall, it was our most complete game."

In 2019, Neshoba Central played at West Point for the North State championship, with the Green Wave taking a 20-7 victory. The Green Wave went on to defeat Picayune for the Class 5A state championship. They have been in the state finals for the past six seasons.

Schoolar said his seniors remember the 2019 meeting with the Green Wave.

"Most of our defense started in that game," Schoolar said. "They are a physical downhill running team. They pound on you, play good defense and keep the ball away from you. They don't make mistakes."

The Rockets kept the ball away from Lafayette in the first quarter, with the offense staying on the field the entire 12 minutes, minus a kickoff return.

The Rockets took the opening kickoff and got the ball on the 35-yard line. On first down, quarterback Eli Anderson connected with Dedrick McWilliams on a 22-yard pass completion that put the Rockets in Commodore territory. Twelve plays later, Anderson found McWilliams again for a 20-yard TD pass play. Bavetta kicked the extra point, and the Rockets led 7-0 with 6:04 left in the first quarter.

Lafayette answered on the ensuing kickoff with a 78-yard kickoff return for a touchdown. The kick was good, and the game was tied at 7-7 with 5:47 left in the first quarter.

The Rockets took the kickoff and ran 13 plays before running into a fourth down on the Lafayette 27-yard line. Bavetta came on to kick a 43-yard field goal with 11:46 remaining in the second quarter. Neither team scored again in the half and the Rockets led by three at the half.

Bavetta kicked a 40-yard field goal during the third quarter to put the Rockets up 13-7.

Lafayette tied the game when running back Jayden Reed ran 28 yards for a touchdown, capping a 63-yard drive that took five plays. The extra point try failed, and the game was tied at 13-13 with 5:36 left in the game.

The Rockets took the kickoff on their 33-yard line. Two plays later, Anderson connected with Elijah Ruffin on a 53-yard TD pass play. Bavetta's kick was good, and the Rockets led 20-13 with 4:56 remaining.

The teams exchanged punts. The Commodores took over on the Neshoba Central 35-yard line. Six plays later, quarterback Charlie Fair found Kylen Vaughn on a 24-yard TD pass play. The kick was good, and the game was tied at 20-20 with 1:07 left in regulation.

The Rockets took the kickoff. Anderson completed consecutive passes to Ja'Naylon Dupree, Ruffin and Bryceton Spencer to put the ball on the Lafayette 15-yard line. Anderson ran for one-yard, and there was a six-yard loss on a run.

With 12 seconds left, Bavetta kicked a 37-yard field goal, and the Rockets advanced to the North State championship game.

The Rockets finished the game with 345 passing yards and 120 rushing yards, giving them 465 total yards. Lafayette had 68 yards rushing and 153 passing, giving them 225 total yards.

Anderson completed 27-of-43 passing attempts for all of Neshoba Central's passing yards. Spencer had six catches for 68 yards, while McWilliams had seven catches for 100 yards. Dupree had eight catches for 85 yards. Ken Drummond was the leading rusher with 72 yards on 13 carries.

Defensively, Jaharon Griffin had 11 tackles and three assists. Ruffin finished with six solo tackles and three assists. Beau Holley had five solos and four assists. Kelbee Holmes had three solos and six assists. Maxton Woodward has one solo tackle and six assists. Braydon Gibson had one solo, a sack and five assists. Anthony Hopson had two solo tackles and seven assists.

Lafayette finishes the season with a 10-3 record.

Bulldogs, Rebels play for keeps

By DALE MCKEE
sports@neshobademocrat.com

Football is fun again in Mississippi. The nation's college football fans and media are certainly paying attention.

We had an exciting Soul Bowl last week between two rivals in Jackson State and Alcorn. This week all eyes will be on Mississippi on Thanksgiving night as we turn our attention to the Egg Bowl between old rivals No. 8 Ole Miss (9-2, 5-2) and Mississippi State (7-4, 4-3). Kickoff is at 6:30 p.m. Thanksgiving evening in Starkville.

Both teams will go bowling, but both have more to gain with a win. Ole Miss is playing for a New Year's Six Bowl bid and a 10-win season. State with a win could finish second in the West and have an eight-win season that could result in a better warm-weather bowl and possibly sway a couple of in-state recruits.

Ole Miss used another solid defensive showing and the passing arm of Matt Corral to defeat Vanderbilt, 31-17. The Rebels finished their home season by winning all seven home games played at Vaught-Hemmingway Stadium.

Mississippi State used the passing arm of Will Rogers to roll over outmanned Tennessee State, 55-10, in their tune-up for the Rebels. Rogers broke two school records in the contest as he now holds the single-season records in passing touchdowns and passing yards.

What can you say about Southern Mississippi head coach Will Hall? The last two weekends, the creative Hall ditched his traditional offense and went to the Wildcat formation to highlight his best offensive players. Frank Gore Jr., the son of NFL great Frank Gore, took the snaps, and the results finally ended an eight-game losing streak as the Eagles won over rival Louisiana Tech, 35-19. Gore passed for two scores and ran for another while wide-receiver Antavious Willis also entered the act and threw a TD pass. USM (2-9) will host Florida International on Saturday afternoon.

Jackson State Head Coach Deion Sanders has put the Tigers football program back in the national spotlight. Sanders led the Tigers (8-0, 10-1) past Alcorn, 24-10, in the "Soul Bowl." It was the 75th meeting of the state rivals, and the game was played before a sellout crowd of 59,000 in Mississippi Veterans Memorial Stadium. It is JSU's first division title since 2013, and the reward is a showdown with SWAC Western Division winner Prairie View in two weeks. The division winners meet in the SWAC Football Championship game that will be played in Jackson on Dec. 4.

The Tigers last won the SWAC football crown in 2007. JSU made a clean sweep of the state as the Tigers defeated Delta State, Mississippi Valley and Alcorn. Alcorn had a run of six consecutive division titles before being unseated by Prairie View this season.

There was some very sad news this week about former Southern Mississippi and Southern Methodist head football coach Bobby Collins passing. Collins was a Laurel native who played at Mississippi State. Collins was 48-30-2 as head coach of the Eagles from 1975-81 and was 43-15-1 at SMU.

Odds & Ends

No. 3 Alabama, with their win over No. 25 Arkansas, won the Western Division championship and will meet No. 1 Georgia for the SEC title.

Former Mississippi State football coach Dan Mullen was fired this past Sunday as the Gators (5-6, 2-6) lost to Missouri in overtime.

Dale McKee, a Waynesboro resident, has been writing sports in Mississippi since 1973. 3 Lady Warriors soccer players to play next level

By SCHOOL REPORTS
news@neshobademocrat.com

The East Central Community College's Lady Warrior soccer team had three sophomores ink with four-year programs to continue their academic and athletic careers.

Nicole O'Neill (Dublin, Ireland), Loren Winters (Ocean Springs) and Molly Moore (Meridian) all signed to move on to the next level.

O'Neill signed with Southeastern Louisiana University. She played and started in 13 matches and posted four goals and four assists on the year. She finished her career at ECCC with eight goals and eight assists.

Winters is moving on to the Mis-issippi University for Women. Winters was a key ECCC defender who started and played in 14 matches this season. In her career at ECCC, she started in 30 matches.

Moore, who signed with Louisiana Christian University, played and started in 13 matches for ECCC this season and finished the year with two assists and five shots on goal. During her tenure at ECCC, she played in 29 matches.

The trio of graduating sophomores continues ECCC's tradition of sending Lady Warrior soccer players to the next level as they join seven players from just the last three seasons playing at four-year schools and universities.

Protect Your Health and Your Future – Avoid Opioid Misuse.
Say “No” to Meth and Other Drugs!

The rise of synthetic opioids and stimulant drugs, as well as amplified mental health conditions related to Covid-19, has caused the highest number of overdose deaths ever. Over 87,000 American lives were taken by drugs!

Facts about these dangerous drugs:

Opioids are a class of drugs that includes prescription pain killers and heroin. Mixing opioids with alcohol or other drugs can slow down or stop your breathing and your heart. Misuse of opioid drugs is a leading cause of accidental death in the United States.

Methamphetamine, also known as meth, is an addictive stimulant drug. Some people notice an urge to use meth after the first use.

Sometimes people use meth in combination with heroin, prescription opioids or other drugs. This greatly increases the likelihood of health problems, overdose and death. Illegal drugs can be mixed with dangerous drugs or toxic chemicals, such as fentanyl, that can cause poisoning or death. Just a sprinkle of fentanyl is deadly.
