School votes to offer preschool class

By Randi Pierce
Staff Writer

After discussing the matter at multiple work sessions and a special meeting, the Pagosa Peak Open School (PPOS) Board of Directors voted unanimously on March 6 to move toward opening a preschool class and applying to serve as a Colorado Universal Preschool, also called UPK, host.

UPK was created with House Bill 22-1295, with the Colorado Department of Early Childhood (CDEC) launching UPK for the 2023-2024 school year.

The program offers, according to a fact sheet, “a minimum of part-time (10 hours/week) or half-day (15 hours/week) of high-quality, voluntary preschool to every Colorado child in the year before they are eligible to enter kindergarten.”

The idea of becoming a UPK host was introduced during the board’s Feb. 21 work session by Julie Simmons and Michelle Carpenter.

Carpenter explained the “dire need” for preschool spots, indicating Seeds of Learning and Wings Early Childhood Center both have wait lists.

Carpenter also serves as the quality improvement navigator for the Early Childhood Council of Archuleta County (ECCAC).

She noted PPOS keeps coming up in discussions due to the space available in the school’s building and that, at the moment, there is not a program in Pagosa Springs with the capacity to take on opening another space.

She suggested PPOS could do a pilot preschool class of 16 students, accept 4-year-olds and charge tuition for hours not included under the UPK program.

“I just see it as a big win,” she said.

Board president Ursula Hudson noted she didn’t want much discussion on the topic at that work session since the topic wasn’t explicitly on the agenda, but noted it fell under discussion related to the school’s strategic plan.

Hudson voiced concern over the school having the capacity to get the project done and suggested that a more concrete plan be presented.

Simmons suggested the matter be fast-tracked due to grant deadlines, with Carpenter noting a Town of Pagosa Springs’ grant deadline on March 10.

“I just know there is a need right now,” Carpenter said.

During its meeting immediately following the work session, the board set a work session for March 1 to hear more about the proposal.

At that work session, the board discussed the idea more in depth, including with Laura Mijares, executive director of the ECCAC.

To begin, Carpenter explained that the proposal was for PPOS to consider opening a preschool classroom within PPOS, which would require a license from the CDEC and could potentially allow PPOS to take in students enrolled in the UPK program.

In response to a question from board member Bill Hudson about the ages proposed for the class, Carpenter noted that the proposal

Construction work is resuming for the McCabe Creek culvert project on U.S. 160, seen above during the 2022 construction season. Crews are planning for the project to be completed in June.

Work resuming on McCabe Creek project

Colorado Department of Transportation

Construction crews have returned from winter shutdown to resume work for the McCabe Creek culvert project on U.S. 160 in Pagosa Springs. The work zone is on San Juan Street (U.S. 160) and South 6th Street.

Weather permitting, crews are planning for the project to be completed in June of 2023.

When work resumes, construction crews will begin work on the north side of U.S. 160 to enhance drainage and place stone riprap to protect the creek banks and new culvert structures. On the south side, work includes pipe removal, constructing three retaining walls, completing drainage features, final revegetation, and repaving U.S. 160 in the project area.

During the 2022 construction season, work progressed at a slower-than-expected rate due to excessive amounts of rainfall in the 20-square-mile drainage basin located in the mountains north of Pagosa Springs. This rainfall flooded the surrounding project area, leaving crews unable to remove the existing 84-inch culverts and retaining wall that originally supported the old shopping center previously at this location.

Traffic impacts

- Concrete barriers will be placed in the outside travel lanes to move traffic into the middle of U.S. 160 for one-way traffic each way.
- South 6th Street will remain closed for one block from U.S. 160 for the duration of the project.

County discusses Pagosa Junction bridge problems, next steps

By Josh Pike
Staff Writer

The Archuleta County Board of County Commissioners (BoCC) discussed the problems with the Pagosa Junction bridge with Public Works Director Kevin Pogue at its March 7 work session.

The discussion came during a Public Works Division update from Pogue.

Commissioner Ronnie Maez opened the discussion by noting that the county has not done anything to the Pagosa Junction bridge, which puts the county in “arrears” concerning the Colorado Department of Transportation’s (CDOT’s) expectations in terms of the bridge.

According to a letter to the county from CDOT dated Nov. 1, 2022, the bridge was recommended for repairs following a bridge inspection due to severe rust along the bottom chord and inboard gusset plates caused by the accumulation of dirt and gravel on the truss bottom chord and panel points.

The letter states “There are areas of up to 50% section loss to the inboard gusset plates and the top

Health district discusses bonuses for staff during dissolution

By Josh Pike
Staff Writer

The San Juan Basin Public Health (SJBPH) Board of Health (BoH) heard the results of an employee engagement survey and discussed bonuses for staff during the dissolution of the district at its Feb. 23 meeting.

SJBPH Human Resources Director Ann Camp presented the employee engagement survey results, noting that she hoped the survey would lay a baseline for the discussion of bonuses.

Camp highlighted that high levels of employee engagement improve retention, employee productivity and quality of work.

She noted that the engagement survey results are assessed over time and used to formulate programs and initiatives to increase engagement.

Camp stated that the employee engagement surveys are performed in January and include approximately 45 questions falling into five categories of work engagement, work environment, total rewards, relationship management and career development.

According to Camp, these questions are then benchmarked against an industry dataset.

She also stated that SJBPH performs two shorter surveys in May and September to focus on emerging issues within the workforce.

Camp stated that the surveys from 2022 and 2023 indicate that SJBPH has a highly engaged staff who is highly committed to the district’s mission, highly satisfied with their work environment and has positive relationships with their colleagues and supervisors.

She added that the 2023 survey showed that there was still strong support for SJBPH among staff despite the district’s dissolution being

OUR VIEW

Is there hope for saving the Parish Hall?

The Diocese of Pueblo's bishop has directed the sale of the Parish Hall, parking lot and the old rectory, locally referred to as the "Father's House," located next to the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church in downtown Pagosa Springs.

The Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church will thankfully remain under the ownership of the diocese.

The Parish Hall was closed down due to safety concerns back in August of 2022. There are numerous issues with the building, including structural issues and mold, among other things. We were told an estimated $200,000 to $250,000 is needed to make the needed repairs.

You cannot put a price on the sentimental value of the Parish Hall and Father's House to those who were born and raised here and to many who have made Pagosa Springs their home over the years.

Locals have started a letter-writing campaign to the bishop in a last-ditch effort to save the property. They are going to "give our best to save the property."

Some hope to raise the money to repair the Parish Hall, citing it is an asset to the community as a whole. They would like to hold dinner fundraisers. Even previous community residents are offering their help to save the property by sewing and making items for silent auctions. People are also offering to volunteer to help repair the building.

With the property being prime real estate in downtown Pagosa Springs, there is concern among locals, especially "old-timers" over what will happen to the hall if it is sold.

There are priceless memories of weddings, church parties and meals served by the Guadalupanas to those who lost loved ones that weigh on the heartstrings of many. Some feel the Parish Hall is a landmark in the community and that the property is part of Pagosa's history. Even people who are not Catholic say that the property is close to their heart.

The hall has been used to serve the entire community, not just for those of the Catholic faith. There have been countless fundraisers, dances, Knights of Columbus fish fries, weekly bingo games, fashion shows, baby showers, bridal showers, classes, meetings, wedding receptions and numerous other community events held at the Parish Hall.

The Knights of Columbus have resorted to offering takeout meals for the fish fries this year up at Pope John Paul II Catholic Church on South Pagosa Boulevard. Sadly, there remains the missing element of being able to have social interaction between community members which has made the event so successful and attractive in the past. The traffic to get uptown to pick up orders is less than desirable for many.

Thankfully, bingo has been able to relocate uptown to the same location.

One of the biggest and most frequent events that happened at the Parish Hall since 2005 has been Loaves and Fishes, a volunteer-run community meal program that offers a free lunch every Thursday. Each week, a different community organization prepares a meal that nourishes not only the body, but the soul.

Its mission statement reads: "Loaves and Fishes provides a weekly nutritious hot meal, free of charge to anyone seeking nourishment and fellowship. We also provide access to community services and resources to those in need, while allowing volunteers the opportunity to give of themselves in service to others."

When you would walk into the Parish Hall on a Thursday at lunchtime, you would discover a sense of community like you have never experienced before.

The kitchen once buzzed with laughter and camaraderie as community-based nonprofits and church groups prepared a hot, nutritious meal in service to those who have gathered.

The pandemic changed things and meals became curbside takeout for quite some time. Things were set to reopen to indoor dining just when the hall had to be closed in August.

Volunteers scrambled and the Community United Methodist Church, located across the street from the Parish Hall, generously made its kitchen available for Loaves and Fishes; however, a commercial stove and commercial kitchen are needed to continue providing meals. They also need space for indoor dining like the hall once offered. The downtown location has been ideal since many people walk there to pick up food.

Last year, Loaves and Fishes served up 10,019 hot meals. Along with the hot meals every week, local stores provide frozen food items to distribute to those in need, with 8,184 servings of frozen items handed out last year. Bread and other bakery goods were also handed out throughout the year.

Just last Thursday, volunteers served 230 nutritious meals.

There aren't any options to relocate the program that the group is aware of. They are in a precarious situation. The Parish Hall has also provided storage and much-needed space for meal preparation.

One Loaves and Fishes volunteer told The SUN that if the hall is sold, "We are pretty much out of business."

Archuleta County Commissioner Veronica Medina posted on Facebook this week: "Friends and family we need to save our church, the parish hall and fathers house downtown. The Historical Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church is a huge part of Pagosa Springs history and culture. Even if you are not Catholic you know this to be true. Please start attending Mass at IHMC to show that we need and want our church. We can do this together! SUNDAY MASS IS AT 11:15 AM

"... help spread the word to save our beloved Immaculate Heart of Mary Church downtown please attend church. I am also attaching contact information for the Bishop [https://www.diopueblo.org/bishop]. We need to flood him with letters of support for our church property downtown that includes the parish hall, parking lot and father's house..."

When we left work last Wednesday, the stained-glass windows in the downtown Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church simply took our breath away.

Change is never easy. There is no doubt that the potential loss of this unique property could be a huge detriment to our community as a whole.

The board of county commissioners met Tuesday morning with all members and officers present, and continued in session until Wednesday evening, when they adjourned to Monday, April 2nd.

The principal business involved the preliminary arrangements and assignments for the coming spring work on county roads. Instead of one county road supervisor, it was decided to appoint emergency repair men throughout the lower section of the county, which has no telephonic connection with Pagosa Springs, while the roads north of Primary Road No. 15 and Secondary Road No. 67 will be under the supervision of Commissioners Reavis and Dunagan, who will personally arrange for emergency work.

Those appointed are as follows: Chas. D. Horner for the Allison-Arboles road; J.N. Chavez, Pagosa Junction-Arboles; Trinidad Martinez, Pagosa Junction-Dyke; Flabio Garcia, Trujillo-San Juan-Talian; Fidel Martinez, Pagosa Springs, Trujillo; Fidel Archuleta, Coyote Park-Trujillo; A.W. Montgomery, Edith to Road 67; Rube Darling, Edith-Chromo.

Main Street received a free "facial" treatment Wednesday afternoon, with several score of strawbosses helping out with advice.

A manufacturer was demonstrating a new truck and grader for county officials and they used the snow-strewn streets for a sample of what their equipment would do.

If Pagosa could have enough demonstrations during the year, we'd probably be able to get those slit-trenches repaired too.

A monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association will be held in Pagosa Springs High School auditorium on Tuesday afternoon, March 16, at 3 o'clock. Pupils of the second grade will present the program, and the sixth grade mothers will serve tea.

At this meeting, Principal Elbie L. Gann will talk on "The Purpose of Education."

It was announced this week that the Aspen Ski Wear Co. factory scheduled to be started here has been canceled. Officials of the company said that this was due to lower than estimated sales this winter plus an oversized inventory. They did not, however, rule out the possibility that the plant might not be located here several months hence, depending upon several factors. Some local residents had already been employed, and others were expecting to start work this week.

Hank Rivas won his weight class at the regional Golden Gloves boxing tournament in Farmington this week. He will now participate in the New Mexico State Golden Gloves event this weekend at Roswell, N.M. Another Pagosa Springs boxer, Girard Gallegos, was runner up in this weight class at Farmington but this does not allow him to advance to the state tournament.

Skating at Wolf Creek is excellent these days. Crowds are somewhat smaller than earlier in the season and the new snow has made the skiing some of the best to be found anywhere.

The Lady Pirates lost in the state championship game 33-30 to the Lutheran Lights in overtime Saturday night, but they returned to Pagosa Springs as the best girls' team the town has ever produced. They can also lay claim to the 1998 title of "Best Home Grown 3A Team" in the state.

After winning over a lion's share of the fans in the Air Force Academy field house with heart-stopping wins over Denver Christian last Thursday and Faith Christian on Friday, the Ladies came up just short against the muggers from Lutheran in an extraordinarily physical title match-up.

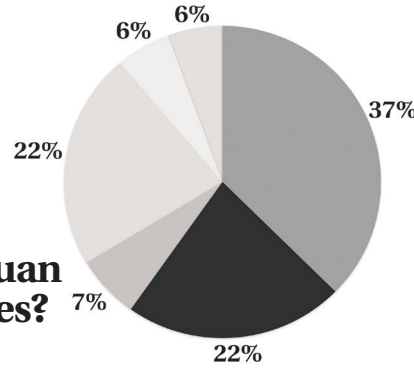

The Lights were given free reign to assault the Ladies under the basket. In the game's end, Lady Pirate post players Sara Fredrickson and Jancy Savage both looked like they had waded through a river populated with over-sized leeches. Despite the Lights' sledge-hammer zone, which never allowed unimpeded looks at the basket underneath, Fredrickson went to the foul line only four times for the game, Savage only twice.

Help students in need

Dear Editor:
My name is Lisette Lescas and I'm part of the Pagosa Springs Middle School 8th grade Student Council. I am working on a committee responsible for organizing a new project called "The Pirate Closet." I want to tell the people in this town about it. The Pirate Closet is an idea our committee came up with after we attended an assembly earlier this year about Rachel's Challenge. It was meant to inspire us to show kindness to others. Here is a link with information about what Rachel's closet and Rachel's challenge is: <https://rachelschallenge.org/blog/rachels-closet/>.

Because of this assembly, we decided that we wanted to create a place for our classmates who may be in need of food or clothing. They could have free access to non-perishable food and nice clothing whenever they find themselves in need. It will be just like a food/clothing pantry for our fellow students.

We are already preparing a place at school for the new "Pirate Closet." Now, we are in need of donations to fill the Pirate Closet. I would like to ask anyone in the community to please help us spread the word about our need for donations. We need non-perishable food items, new or like new clothing in all sizes for teens and pre-teens, shoes, personal hygiene items and any other necessities one can think of. Donations may be dropped off anytime at the Pagosa Springs Middle School front office.

We are hoping to have the Pirate Closet continually restocked. Thank you in advance for the help.

'I do love Pagosa'

Dear Editor:
Once upon a time, I suffered dizzy spells. At my age, I sloughed them off. However, after a fall at City Market, I gave up and admitted to pushing the envelope a bit too much. That's when I set aside my pride and embarrassment and began to use the electric chariot when I needed to shop.

Here's how my story goes — a week ago, during a break in the storms, things remained icy even in the handicap parking spaces at the grocery store.

As I climbed out of my car, this lovely young woman trotted up to me. "Can I help you across this ice?" She reminded me of my granddaughter.

She offered her arm and guided me to where we found clear pavement. I thanked her for her kindness and she went on her way. Wasn't that nice of her?

I climbed aboard my chariot and foolishly bought more than I would be able to carry. I made the choice to ride my trusty steed back to the car. One of the clerks said someone would follow and return the cart to its parking spot.

The ice underfoot proved not just slick but thick, enough so I only got as far as my RAV's cargo door. I managed to load the two bags of groceries. As I closed the door, another lady walked up and said, "Can I help you?"

"They're sending someone out to take this chariot back inside, so I'm waiting, but thanks."

Before woman #2 moved twenty yards away, three, count them, three more approached with the same question. The cold forced me to accept their offer. "If somebody would drive this cart back inside, I would be grateful."

One of them replied, "I don't know how to drive it."

I chuckled. "I didn't either three weeks ago. Push this and you'll go forward, pull that and you'll go backward." I shrugged. "Don't do either and you stop."

Off she went with the cart. But the other two, #4 & #5, insisted they should help me to the driver's door. One gave me her arm (not literally) and the other opened the door for me.

I am overwhelmed with the kindness in our little town. Twenty-five years ago, I moved here from a mega city and such a thing would never have happened, certainly not in the city itself and not in the suburbs either.

As I drove away, I shouted, "I do love Pagosa."

Thanks to the five of you who poured your graciousness on me, and to the clerks in City Market who are consistently so willing to help me as I'm checking out.

'Growing old'

Dear Editor:
The beauty of growing old is our memories of "the times" — the good ones and the not-so-good ones. Interestingly, it is the "not so good ones" that often cause us to laugh at ourselves, how we overcame and put our ship "back on course". By the way, what defines "old"? We ask a little child, "How old are you?" How strange.

Those of us from the WWII generation have experienced many changes over our life times, for me it is "going on" 96 years. Born two years before the "Great Depression", our childhood was somewhat limited. We were fortunate if our Dad had a job. There was not much extra money. Clothes that were too worn out to "pass down", went into our dress-up box to play "make believe". If mother broke a dish in the kitchen, the big pieces became plates for our mud pie store. I remember my brother liked to play like he was a one-legged pirate. He would bend one knee back, fasten a belt around it to keep it bent, then use a branch from a tree for his crutch. Mother never put all the food from the stove onto the table as she knew there would be a knock at the door from someone needing a meal. They always offered to do a job for the meal but she never had anything for them to do. So that was what influenced our early childhood.

Then came WWII for our teenage years. It was a time for sacrifice and our generation certainly understood. We knew that, following graduation from high school, every boy would be drafted into the military. If they volunteered before their 18th birthday, they could choose their branch of service. We were taught that intimate sexual relationships were saved for marriage — intended for responsible love, not "recreation" outside of marriage.

So, those years of growing, requiring sacrifice, shaped who we became — to be thankful and live our lives to include service to our community, to be strong and tough with confidence to meet whatever challenges life would toss at us. Yes, looking back, it has been a wonderful life. Some of us even decide to write a book. To honor the spirituality of my parents, I published under my maiden name, Patty Sue Patton. Yes How "old" are you?

So, live life with love, OK?

Nonprofit board training series will delve into best practices

By Kelly Quach
Community Foundation serving Southwest Colorado

The Community Foundation serving Southwest Colorado is hosting a three-part nonprofit board training series to delve into best practices and professional development for a high functioning, effective organization. The training series is ideal for nonprofit leadership and new/existing board members.

The series will be a combination of two in-person and one on-line class. Topics will include the board's role in financial oversight, maintaining a strategic focus on your board, building a solid governance foundation, recruiting high-powered board members, fundamentals of fundraising, and the board's role in advocating for resources. The series is a great way to start getting your nonprofit ready for Rural Philanthropy Days.

Classes will be held in Cortez, Durango and Pagosa Springs. The three sessions will take place the week of March 27, week of April 3 and week of April 10. The cost is $60 for the entire series, includes registration for one staff and one board member from each organization.

For more information on the series and registration links, visit the Community Foundation's website at <https://www.swcommunityfoundation.org/nonprofit-resources/#upcoming>.

The Community Foundation coordinates professional development for nonprofit leaders to increase the success and efficiency of local organizations, ensuring the best possible outcomes for the communities they serve. The Community Foundation serves Archuleta, Dolores, La Plata, Montezuma, and San Juan counties.

Obituaries

James Calvin Hill

James Calvin Hill, age 85, passed away on March 2 surrounded by family and loved ones after receiving a terminal diagnosis merely a month prior. Born in Roswell, N.M., in 1937 to James Madison and Zella Anola Hill, he first journeyed to Pagosa Springs in 1955 when he rented horses from the Jewel Carol Ranch with his dad and brother to pack into the Weminuche Wilderness for a fishing trip up around Granite and Divide Lakes. In 1960, he finally moved to Denver, Colo., pursuing a degree from the University of Colorado and has called this state home ever since. In his career, he sold insurance for State Farm for over 35 years in Broomfield, where he met the love of his life, Mary Beth. They married on Nov. 24, 1978. Jim's life was not his career, though. Much as he enjoyed his work, his true calling was always the outdoors. Over the course of his life, he summited numerous 14'ers, enjoyed backpacking and camping, rock hounded all over the country, and traveled the world exploring different cultures. Fly-fishing especially captured his heart. As a child, he learned to fish in New Mexico, and as an adult his passion for fly-fishing in particular led him to fish extensively throughout the West, as well as in the Bahamas, New Zealand, Belize, South Texas, Florida, South America and even Northern British Columbia. In his retirement, he and Mary Beth moved to Pagosa Springs, where he taught fly casting lessons for over 20 years while tying his own flies in his home office and serving as a fly-fishing guide on the Rancho Piñoso and other notable ranches in the area. Amongst his many accomplishments, his favorites were, of course, fishing-related. He was featured on the cover of Southwest Fly Fishing Magazine in 2011 and in the book "Fifty More Places To Fly Fish Before You Die" by Chris Santella after personally guiding the author along the Rio Blanco. Jim was preceded in death by his parents; his sister Saranna; his son

Kevin; and his beloved wife of 42 years, Mary Beth. He is survived by his three remaining children: Brett (Anne), Stephanie (Tim), Kimberly (Bill), six grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren and his brother, Jere (Lois), all of whom will miss him dearly as patriarch of the family. The measure of a man is not in his accomplishments or those he leaves behind, however. It is in how he lived. I believe most people would agree in feeling his passing comes as a shock not because it was unexpected or sudden, but because Jim Hill was the type of person you imagined would just always be there. No matter what, he just kept on going, kept on fishing, kept on doing all the things people told him he was "too old" for. He took his boat out fishing on Lake Pagosa by himself every day up through his last summer. You could find him out raking his own pine needles from his yard every spring and fall. He'd insist on shoveling the snow from his own deck and driveway as long as it was "less than six inches." He was the whole family's self-appointed weatherman no matter where they lived or traveled. He read books too thick for most people to get through and lectured anyone who'd listen about what he was learning from physics to botany to archaeology. Talking to him, it seemed he knew something about nearly everything and experienced almost as much of it himself — a true Renaissance Man. Even though he wasn't the most vocal, outspoken or extroverted person, you always knew he was there. You could depend on his advice, his stories, his traditional chile verde, his precisely concocted gin martinis and his unwavering presence through the years. A true friend to innumerable people from his journeys near and far, his legacy is one of love and adventure. With a say with assurance that his memory will be something everyone who knew him can depend upon just as reliably as the man himself. He lived well until the end. He loved well until the end. A celebration of his life will be held later this summer, but in the meantime, please take time to honor his legacy in your own way and by surrounding yourself in the beauty of nature, as that's how he would have wanted everyone to remember him. Donations in his memory can be made to Fly Fishers International, Trout Unlimited or The Folded Flag Foundation in lieu of flowers.

Tourism board approves funding for events and infrastructure projects

By Derek Kutzer
Staff Writer

The Pagosa Springs Area Tourism Board recently considered funding for several upcoming events and tourism-related infrastructure projects. For events, the board has $100,000 budgeted to help attract and retain events. For infrastructure, it has $437,500 in its budget to help projects related to this goal. On the events front, event organizers came before the board over the course of two meetings, Jan. 24 and Feb. 21, giving presentations about how their events would benefit the Town of Pagosa Springs and its tourism industry, especially during the slower tourism months, often called "the shoulder season." Up for the board's consideration were events such as the Pagosa Open disc golf tournament, ArtPagosa!, the Folk n' Bluegrass Festival, the Pickleball Grand Opening Tournament, Paddle Pagosa's White Water Kayak Race, Loggerpalooza, the Chile Cha Cha and more. At the January meeting, there was consensus among the board that there were "no duds" among the presenters and that each of these events should be fully funded. It was noted by board member Julian Caler that the Chimney Rock Interpretive Association (CRIA), which had not yet presented a formal application, would be asking for around $10,000 to help fund some of its events, but at a later date. Jennifer Green, executive director of Visit Pagosa Springs, explained that this could be considered later at the regular February meeting, noting that "event applications are gonna come in as received, so keep that in mind." There was some question about whether the board should vote on each funding request individually or lump them all together since there seemed to be general agreement to fully fund all of the requests in front of the board at the meeting. Green explained that if the board approved, "those who were here tonight [on Jan. 24] and presented for the full amount they requested," it would come to a total of $23,500, which would still leave a significant amount left over of the total $100,000 pot for future event applications. Green added that this total would not include the funding previously provided to Skis and Saddles for its Skijoring event held during WinterFest, which took place prior to the meeting. A motion was then made to fully fund this first batch of event requests. The motion was carried by the board unanimously. Events that received funding by the board at the January meeting include the Pagosa Pickleball Club (receiving $2,500 for its two-day tournament), the Pagosa Springs Arts Council (receiving $5,000 for its ArtPagosa! event) and Friends of the Upper San Juan (receiving $3,500 for Pagosa Paddle, a whitewater slalom and down-river racing event on the San Juan River through downtown). KSUT's Folk n' Bluegrass Festival, the Pagosa Open Disk Golf Tournament and KSUT's Four Corners FolkFest also received funding from the board at the January meeting. At the Feb. 21 meeting, the board considered another batch of event requests. CRIA asked for $30,000 over a three-year period ($10,000 per year), but was only funded at $7,500 per year, over three years, with the caveat that CRIA does more to promote Pagosa Springs at its events. Additionally, the 17-year-old Chile Cookoff and Roasting event, the Chile Cha Cha, asked for $5,000 and received $1,000. The board suggested that the event start to charge a small entry fee to become more self-sustainable. A hot air balloon triathlon event was given $5,000, but the board promised up to $15,000 if the organizers could increase the number of competitors. Loggerpalooza, Pagosa Weather and the local "Beauty and the Beast" stage production also received funding at the meeting. In total, the board has potentially funded $57,600 for events, which includes the contingency of the balloon triathlon attracting more competitors for its competition, according to Green. Should the triathlon not attract more competitors, it will receive its base request of $5,000, bringing the total number down to $47,600 so far for 2023. On the tourism-related infrastructure front, the board could only begin considering the applications once it had decided the definition of "tourism-related infrastructure." This came on the heels of a $200,000 request by Wings Early Childcare Center to use some of the board's infrastructure money to help fund its expansion project. The board ultimately decided that such a project does not qualify as tourism-related infrastructure and has since more concretely set its conditions for infrastructure funding. The board has identified the following types of infrastructure projects as tourism-related: "Parks or Venues (additions, enhancements, upgrades); Trails; Activity-specific (pickleball, climbing, ice skating, nordic [sic], etc); Signage; Holiday Lighting; River Access; and Public Art," according to Green. With this more specific criteria in mind, the board considered a number of infrastructure requests at its Feb. 21 meeting. Archuleta County Manager Derek Woodman came before the board asking for $76,020 for a new restroom facility at county-owned Cloman Park. The double-vault toilet would replace the portable toilet currently on site. The board awarded the funding. Other projects that received funding at the February meeting included Trout Unlimited for River restoration, the Pagosa Nordic Club to upgrade its grooming capabilities, the Town of Pagosa Springs Arts Committee for a bronze sculpture by Walmart, and DUST2 for a field kitchen for its volunteers working on and maintaining a network of mountain bike trails. The Pagosa Pickleball Club was denied $3,550 for equipment. It was also decided to wait on allocating infrastructure money for the upgrade of lighting and electrical equipment at the town's parks until more information could be gathered on where more lighting and electrical hookups are needed, and what the cost and labor estimates would be to complete this project. In total, the board approved $160,230 at the February meeting. Requests for $50,000 for town parks electrical upgrades and $23,900 for a pavilion at the South Pagosa Park ice rink will be considered at the next meeting in March. derek@pagosasun.com

Colorado Supreme Court seeks public comment regarding the continuation of virtual proceedings

By Robert McCallum
Colorado Judicial Department

Recent public health concerns caused Colorado's trial courts to quickly change the way they had conducted business for more than a century prior. Public health policies and the courts' concerns for public safety effectively put the brakes on in-person hearings. However, laws guaranteeing timely hearings did not pause, and the courts turned to virtual appearances and live streaming to continue operations during this time. Today, public health concerns aside, the effectiveness and efficiency of having litigants appear for certain hearings virtually, as well as the value of allowing streaming of virtual proceedings in the interest of openness and transparency for the public cannot be denied. As such, the Colorado Supreme Court intends to codify how virtual proceedings will be used through uniform guidance offered by Chief Justice Directives (CJDs). "It is a forgone conclusion that virtual proceedings are here to stay, and they provide a tremendous benefit in many respects," Colorado Supreme Court Chief Justice Brian Boartright said. "Before the court takes any action regarding this valuable public resource, we feel it is critically important to hear from all stakeholders who have now had nearly three years to adapt to this new environment and technology." Boartright added that any CJD issued by the court defining how virtual participation and live streaming may be used will ensure that judges retain discretion over the proceedings. The draft CJDs are posted to the "Special Announcements" section of the court's homepage. The public comment period will close on March 15. Comments may be sent to supremecourt.rules@judicial.state.co.us.

Training opportunities for businesses, individuals

By Mary Jo Coulehan
Pagosa Springs Area
Chamber of Commerce

Multiple training opportunities for businesses and individuals are in the works; however, we need input from the business community to help us assess the demand.

We start off with a project that the Chamber of Commerce and Pagosa Springs Community Development Corporation (PSCDC) have been collaborating on for more than six months now. We have been able to help get certification and tuition assistance for CDL trainees and get workforce placed in demand jobs here in Pagosa.

There are still CDL opportunities for tuition assistance and training, yet we need to know the demand from those industries that need drivers. We "hear" there is still a great need for CDL drivers; however, we would like to get a more accurate assessment of the actual need. There are also various class certifications for CDL drivers, i.e., Type A or B licensing, hazmat. We would like to know if your industry is still in need of CDL drivers and the number of drivers you need and the classification. This would include businesses such as construction and materials industries, product delivery, transportation or any other industry that might require a CDL driver.

The second training that we are preparing to offer is QuickBooks training in conjunction with the Small Business Development Center. We are looking to offer both an introductory QuickBooks class and some one-on-one training. To get an idea of the demand in each type of training and how many classes we may need, we would like to hear from our business community.

For all of these training requests, we ask that you drop a line to the Chamber at director@pagosachamber.com or by calling Mary Jo at (970) 264-2360 to express your interest in any of the aforementioned topics. We are planning for all of these classes to take place in the next few months, so your prompt input is requested.

In addition, some of the grant funds may run out, so we want to service the greatest number of people that we can. All these training programs will either help develop people to meet your staffing needs or help you run your business better. Some of the trainings will be virtual and some in person, again, to help meet your needs and schedules. Help us develop great training programs for you by taking just a few minutes to contact us with your needs.

New program seeks to resolve disputes between businesses and consumers

Attorney General Phil Weiser's office

Attorney General Phil Weiser this week announced that, building off a one-year pilot program, the Department of Law is establishing a new consumer complaint referral program that will seek to resolve disputes between consumers and businesses through informal negotiations overseen by the department.

In 2022, the department received nearly 18,000 complaints from consumers from all over the country. These complaints are generally used to inform enforcement efforts and to educate consumers to avoid being victims of fraud. Historically, the department has been unable to address every complaint through enforcement due to limited resources or other constraints. In addition, many complaints may not raise a violation of law, but instead may reflect a disagreement between a business or a consumer, or even just a misunderstanding. By creating this Consumer Mediation Program, the department will be in a position to resolve more complaints and help more consumers receive satisfaction.

"During our pilot mediation program, we found that many Colorado businesses may want to resolve disputes with customers but are unaware of the concerns of their customers or are uncertain how to reach a resolution," Weiser said. "By establishing this new program, we can address, and hopefully resolve, a broader range of complaints for consumers. This program will also help businesses better address consumer concerns and promote model business practices, thereby helping protect more consumers in the future."

The pilot program was launched in March of 2022. This pilot program was developed by student interns and recent graduate fellows working at the department. To date, the pilot program has resolved 65 disputes and returned more than $127,000 in value to consumers. Due to the success of the pilot, the department instituted this permanent complaint referral program to serve consumers and businesses in Colorado.

Not every dispute can be resolved through this informal process. In some instances, for example, mediation may not be appropriate where a so-called business may be looking to simply scam consumers. But in many instances, a business may recognize that they could have done better or may be interested in building good, sustainable relationships to accommodate consumers by making a change in how they treat consumers. Consequently, this new program will help the department protect consumers and promote responsible business practices.

If you or someone you know believes they are the victim of fraud, file a report at stopfraud-colorado.gov or call (800) 222-4444.

County hears citizen proposal on short-term rental regulations

By Josh Pike
Staff Writer

At its Feb. 28 work session, the Archuleta County Board of County Commissioners (BoCC) heard a presentation from an independent citizen study group concerning potential short-term rental (STR) regulations.

The presentation was led by Bill Hudson with group members Fabienne Van Cappel and Mike Knapp also participating.

Hudson opened the presentation by noting that the commissioners may have had an opportunity to examine the report the group had submitted to them and noting that the group's goal was to collect the concerns and ideas of community members about STRs.

"This proposal doesn't reflect any particular person's ideas," Hudson said. "It's really a compromise between folks who thought there should be some stringent controls on the STR industry and people who thought there should be very little control on the STR industry. So, what this really represents is an attempt to find a middle ground."

He continued that the group started from the three priorities of supporting tourism as a key economic contributor; preserving the small-town, rural quality of life for county residents; and increasing the availability of affordable workforce housing that had been presented by the county planning department.

Hudson noted that he did not think the proposal would "do much" to address workforce housing, but it would address the other two priorities.

He then outlined several new definitions created by the group, such as classic vacation rentals, which consist of condominiums and townhomes and which real estate agents in the group felt were traditionally used as vacation residences.

He also explained investor-owned vacation rentals, which are residential dwellings purchased with the intention of becoming a vacation rental, according to the report Hudson submitted to the commissioners, and owner-occupied vacation rentals, which are vacation rentals where the property owner lives at least nine months of the year, according to the report.

Hudson stated that the group was recommending that the county grandfather in all existing permits and establish a 10 percent density cap on investor-owned vacation rentals in residential subdivisions.

The report notes that grandfathered permits would end upon the transfer of a property to a new owner and that the new owner could apply for a permit so long as the STR would fall under the density caps and setback requirements established by the regulations.

Hudson noted that most subdivisions in the county are below 10 percent STR density and that this cap would allow for growth in the STR industry, although not in subdivisions above the 10 percent cap.

He added that the group recommends that classic vacation rentals be capped at 15 percent and that owner-occupied vacation rentals and STRs in commercial, agricultural ranching and agricultural estates zoning districts be exempt from the caps.

He also explained that the group is recommending that no STR permits be allowed in multifamily apartment buildings to ensure that apartments remain available to the workforce.

Hudson then discussed the group's recommendations on setbacks, which, as stated in the report, are that new STRs be allowed as long as no existing home becomes adjacent to more than one STR.

As noted in the report, adjacency is defined as sharing a property line with a property, being directly across the street from it or, in the case of an intervening greenbelt, directly behind it.

Van Cappel noted that distance-based setbacks are problematic on larger parcels, which led to this approach to setbacks.

In response to a question from Commissioner Warren Brown, Hudson noted that it would be the responsibility of the Planning Department to determine if a property is directly across the street and that there would be some "judgment call involved in that."

Hudson then delivered the group's recommendation that the county's moratorium on new STR permits remain in place until the county implements density cap and setback regulations.

He also explained the benefits of the group's approach, including preserving or increasing the level of lodging tax collections by grandfathering in all existing units, not causing increases in traffic on subdivision roads, preserving the community character "over the long haul" and potentially having some positive impacts on housing availability.

Hudson noted that the group is planning to continue meeting and begin considering potential fees or taxes on STRs.

Van Cappel noted that Archuleta County has the lowest lodging taxes in the region.

Knapp stated that he attended the group's final meeting, and commented, "It was productive, but I would say, when we talk about 'we' in this ... there's a lot of stuff in here that wasn't in agreement in our meeting. You're presenting ... like we're all in agreement, these are recommendations. You know, I ... left with that meeting with a really strong sense of, 'Wait a minute.' I think there's accountability with the county for their own things, holding their other departments accountable for housing and roads. We discussed [The Root Policy Center study on the impact of STRs commissioned by the Town of Pagosa Springs] that it wasn't really affecting ... workforce housing and there was quite a bit of discussion about that neighborhood community. There was a lady there that said she didn't like seeing the lights on next door and we said, 'Well, you know, somebody could be living there.' So, there was quite a bit of discussion at that group that didn't really line up with what's being presented right now. So, I don't know ... what format I get to say or where I get to talk about that, but you're presenting it as we all agreed and we didn't."

Hudson and Knapp then began to debate, with Hudson stating that the group had not all agreed and Knapp claiming that six of the eight people at the final meeting did not agree with the report being presented.

Commissioner Ronnie Maez interrupted, stating that he did not want a "back and forth here" and asking Knapp what he did not agree with.

"Well, what are we getting at anyway?" Knapp responded. "We got the Root study that showed that the impact of vacation rentals on workforce housing is minimal. The town did that. So, why are we beating at this? Why are we still trying to create vacation rentals as a villain when they're not? They bring jobs, they bring income, they bring taxes. You know, the county planning department permitted these homes to be lived in. If they were being lived in full-time, the use of the roads and the county services would be at a 100 percent and they're not. So ... vilifying the vacation rentals and saying they're causing all these problems in the county, we're kind of left with the overwhelming feeling that that's not really the case."

Knapp then raised objections to the adjacency rules, questioning whether having STRs next to each other would be better and highlighting that planning staff would have to decide on a case-by-case basis whether a STR is allowed or not.

He also questioned what putting a density cap in place would accomplish and commented on the proposed regulations treating residents and nonresidents differently.

"We're still all Americans," he said. "We still have the Constitution to follow in the country. You have a property, you're given rights. You have [a homeowners' association (HOA)] that oversees the neighborhood if you bought in an HOA, they have authority, you read the rules, you move forward. You don't have to read the rules and see how the rules are going to change next week or the week after. So ... we weren't in agreement on the separation of property types and classes and overcomplicating things."

Van Cappel began to speak and Maez said, "I don't want to get all argumentative ... Basically, I want facts."

Knapp also mentioned that the group is not in agreement on requiring new permits for existing rentals when they transfer to a new owner.

Maez noted that Hudson, Knapp and Van Cappel had some "valid points," adding, "To me, I think you guys probably need to go back and have a few more meetings and maybe come back with a better product or a better proposal, I don't know."

Hudson noted that he had sent the report out to all of the 24-person group and 20 had written back indicating, "I'm not happy with it, but I can live with it."

He added the report represents a compromise, not being what either he or Knapp and potentially Van Cappel would choose, "but it's something that the majority of our group could stand behind. And so ... if you wanna hear what the community feels and if you think our group was somewhat representative of the people who live here, ... then I think we're done with this presentation. We're gonna go back and look at fees and make you a recommendation about fees, but this is a community group."

Maez questioned if the group voted on the report and Van Cappel noted that the group had, although at a different meeting from the one Knapp had attended.

Maez noted that this is why he had asked Hudson to have as much of the committee as possible at the work session, and Hudson stated that this was all he could get.

"I don't think all this is a bad thing. I don't think it's all a good thing either, but I did wanna give you guys a voice by allowing you to speak today, too, but I do think if you guys can get back together and get a reasonable consensus and a reasonable vote, an actual vote, on what you guys can present to us, better and more substantial on solid ground, I think that would be better for us," Maez continued.

Brown noted that he appreciated Knapp bringing these issues up as his follow-up question was going to be what portion of the group agreed on all elements of what was presented in the report.

He highlighted the importance of the range of backgrounds in the group, which are noted in the report, and commented, "We have another citizens' group that we formerly had put together that volunteered to come in, so I think that's important."

Maez noted that County Manager Derek Woodman had put that, group together.

"Yes. When I say we I mean the county, not necessarily the board," Brown responded. "That's the small type on my ad."

He added that community input is important, noting that the report was "very well done," although he would like "to feel a little more consensus from your group."

Commissioner Veronica Medina stated that she appreciated the group's time and effort and that she did not feel that it was necessary for the group to redo their recommendations, particularly since the county would also be hearing input from its STR task force and would not be taking 100 percent of its decision from any specific group.

She added that she would like to have Knapp and Hudson make statements on their positions.

Knapp then spoke against the moratorium, questioning what the moratorium was accomplishing and asking the county to "not harm the public while you guys get organized."

Hudson commented that the moratorium was put in place to allow the BoCC to hear community ideas, such as from the STR task force, which the BoCC had not yet heard.

He added that the recommendation presented by the group was a compromise and advocated for continuing the moratorium until the county could hear from its task force, examine the report presented by his group and make a decision on new regulations, after which the moratorium could be lifted.

Van Cappel noted that the county task force has two phases and that

Commissioners updated on development services

By Josh Pike
Staff Writer

At its Feb. 7 work session, the Archuleta County Board of County Commissioners (BoCC) heard an update from Development Director Pamela Flowers.

Flowers began her update by explaining that the planning division has had a variety of staffing changes over the year as well as a change in the vacation rental permitting software the county utilizes, both of which slowed work, although vacation rental permitting is now becoming faster and more efficient as staff masters the software.

She noted that the county vacation rental permitting moratorium was still in place and that staff had approved five or six "special exceptions" for properties that were under contract when the moratorium went into effect but had not closed until after it took effect.

Flowers indicated that lot consolidations had increased due to changes in property tax rules, which she expected to remain high in the future.

She noted that, for 2023, her goals for the planning division are to continue training staff and improving their skills and that she expects in 2023 to present the BoCC with new regulations on short-term rentals (STRs) as well as a density bonus program for workforce housing and modifications to the mobile home standards to facilitate the construction of tiny home villages.

Flowers also indicated that the department needs to perform a zoning map update in 2023 to ensure that recently created minor subdivisions have zoning designations appropriate to their size instead of the designations they held before the property was subdivided.

She also explained that she would be working with the assessor's office to address parcels that were previously combined for tax purposes but are now being uncombined due to changes in tax rules and thus need new addresses.

Flowers stated that the building division has two positions that have been difficult to fill, although she noted she needed to speak further with Chief Building Official Tim Hatch to determine the exact responsibilities associated with one of the positions.

She indicated that Hatch has been working on researching energy codes and noted that, if the county updates any element of the building code it would have to adopt the most recent energy code, which Flowers noted she feels would be ideal to avoid.

She added that her 2023 goals for the building division include filling the vacancies, working with the assessor to address unpermitted structures in the county and changing policies to facilitate the construction of tiny homes.

Flowers noted that the code enforcement division had had a large amount of staff turnover in 2022, requiring constant training, but that the new software implemented in April 2022 has significantly improved the efficiency of the division.

She stated that she also divided the department's staff between focusing on STR violations and on other types of code violations, which has improved the processing of non-STR violations.

She also noted that the code enforcement division is working on developing a list of resources and potential supporting grants to assist county residents in cleaning up properties and rectifying code violations.

Flowers also discussed that the planning division will be taking on permitting for on-site wastewater treatment systems (OWTS) as part of the transition to a county health department.

She indicated that some of the work involved in preparing for this responsibility will include determining staffing needs and hiring staff for the work, creating space for the staff to work in and developing regulations, policies and procedures.

She noted that the regulations will likely be changed from those currently used by San Juan Basin Public Health (SJBPH), although the department would begin from the baseline of the health district's standards.

Flowers stated that she is working with SJBPH Environmental Health Director Brian Devine to develop policies and operational procedures for Archuleta County as well as reaching out to the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment and other counties that perform OWTS permitting through their planning departments.

She noted that she would need to hire some staff to take responsibility for this work and that she will likely present to the BoCC at a later work session on her plans for how the OWTS permitting will be staffed.

Jeff Posey resigns from town council

By Josh Pike
Staff Writer

During council comments at the March 7 Pagosa Springs Town Council meeting, Mayor Shari Pierce announced that council member Jeff Posey had resigned effective March 6.

In his resignation letter, Posey states, "After long soul-searching and deep discussion with my family, and with reluctance but certainty, I hereby resign from Town Council, effective immediately, to focus on taking better care of some lingering health issues and my family. I have enjoyed working with you all, and I wish you the very best of luck. Thank you!"

At the meeting, Pierce commended Posey's passion and supportiveness as well as stating that she would miss the "lively conversations" that occurred between them.

Council member Gary Williams also commended Posey's knowledge and depth of thought about small-town governments.

Pierce added that Posey did "everything 1,000 percent."

Town Manager Andrea Phillips stated that filling Posey's seat on the council would be discussed further at the council's March 23 meeting, as well as potential interim appointments for the boards and committees Posey served on and the potential appointment of a new mayor pro-tem.

Special districts cancel May elections, declare elected candidates

By Randi Pierce
Staff Writer

Several local special districts have canceled their May elections and deemed board members elected due to the number of candidates not exceeding the number of board positions available.

Following is information on the canceled elections and candidates declared elected.

For the Pagosa Area Water and Sanitation District, Gene Tautges is declared elected for a two-year term, with William "Bill" Hudson and Glenn Walsh deemed elected for four-year terms.

For the Upper San Juan Health Service District, which operates as Pagosa Springs Medical Center, Mark Zeigler, Kathleen Douglas and Gwen Taylor are declared elected for four-year terms.

For the Pagosa Fire Protection District, Ernest LeRoy Lattin and Ronald Lee Beckman are declared elected for four-year terms.

For the Piedra Park Metropolitan Improvement District, Jay Holliday, RC Caveness and Patrick Hughes are deemed elected to two-year terms. Edna Marquez and Raymond Torres are declared elected for four-year terms.

Woodman and Development Director Pamela Flowers had indicated to the task force that the moratorium would not be lifted until the task force discusses density caps, which would occur in the yet-to-be-completed second phase.

Medina noted that she did not know how many phases there are and that the decision lies with the BoCC, not with Woodman or the task force.

Maez commented that the moratorium was put in place to allow the county to gather information and that many of the best decisions come from compromise.

"Just hold that committee accountable," Knapp commented. "Hold our county ... people accountable. Don't just continue the moratorium cause people didn't get their job done. They gotta get their job done, they gotta get the data. This is what you guys are paid to do, this is what you guys have to do. Just continuing on a moratorium because we don't have enough info that was maybe late getting to them ... don't let the excuses control things. Let's hold people accountable and let's move this county forward in a positive direction."

Maez noted that it was over a year ago when he wanted to make a decision and that, after the BoCC receives the necessary information, he feels it is time to act.

"Please stop bringing it up," Knapp said. "If we do somethin' can we move on for at least ... a couple years, let's be honest?"

Maez noted that he would likely not want to revisit the county's decision once it is made.

"I don't know why it's so easy for people in the county and to point fingers and say all of our problems are caused by those people," Knapp said. "It's separation and it's division and it's not. We got a lot of things we gotta focus on and we're too busy in one direction. We need to get it solved and let's move forward so we can focus on repairing, is for a pre-kindergarten (pre-K) classroom that would be available to 4- and 5-year-olds who would be eligible for kindergarten the following year.

Preschool

Mijares then gave the board an overview of UPK and called it “fantastic” that the board was considering being a host site “for some of our youngest learners.”

She noted that demographics studies show there are between 120 and 150 kids every cohort or age span, though “much less” than that are being served in Archuleta County currently with the early care and education centers.

“There’s just not enough slots for all the kids that we have,” she said, acknowledging that not all families would take advantage of slots, but adding there are many people on wait lists “anxious” to get their kids in an educational setting.

She further explained that the state has organized the UPK program with local coordinating organizations (LCOs) spread out throughout the state.

The San Juan BOCES is the area’s LCO, she noted, and the ECCAC is working with the San Juan BOCES to look at the slots allocated for the area and to “understand how those are going to be divided up.”

Currently, she explained, three organizations have committed to taking students under the program: Seeds, Wings and Head Start.

Between those three, she added, there will be somewhere between 45 and 60 kids enrolled.

She noted Gov. Jared Polis wants the program to be universal for every 4-year-old, but added that since it’s the first year, the area is starting where it’s at and is hoping to build on that, suggesting expanded programs or new centers could help increase the number of spots available over time.

Mijares then discussed the requirements for a program such as PPOS to participate and models being used elsewhere.

“The requirement for an organization such as yours would be for a half-day program, and, in theory, there are organizations that are having a morning program and then an afternoon program,” she said. “And so, hoping to build out a preschool program that is divided in the day, but there are also plenty of models out there where they are getting reimbursed for the 15 hours a week, which is the designated service, and then either charging parents or somehow creating a funding stream to support the other hours.”

Mijares then discussed a reimbursable state grant, the Emerging and Expanding Child Care Grant, which the board has also discussed, to help develop a program.

“There is money available for organizations that have not served preschoolers or early ... learners but are looking to do that,” she said.

Carpenter urged her fellow board members to not get stuck on the details of the different models of offering half-day or full-day programming, outlining that it’s hard to predict if kids will qualify for the half-day amount (15 hours) versus full-day programming (30 hours) because that determination is based on risk factors.

As the presentation continued, Carpenter explained “there is definitely a hole” in terms of the number of slots compared to the number of kids.

She added that the state recognizes Archuleta County as a “child care desert” because there aren’t enough slots for the number of kids and the needs in the community.

“I don’t foresee there being a lack of students interested or having the need for a preschool slot,” she said.

Carpenter also noted that PPOS Director Angela Reali-Crossland had reached out to Seeds and Wings about opening another location at PPOS, but Carpenter indicated she doesn’t anticipate anyone having the capacity to expand to a second location.

Carpenter noted that it is clear PPOS has the space to open a preschool classroom and briefly discussed potential curriculum.

Simmons then discussed the financial side of the proposal.

She explained anticipated funding sources and uses over five years, noting the program would be in the black after five years.

Simmons noted the proposal projects 18 students the first year, which would give them a 9-to-1 student ratio, which is considered best practice by the National Association for the Education of Young Children.

She noted there could be both students enrolled under UPK and non-UPK slots. The students not enrolled under UPK would pay full tuition, adding they hope to have a sliding scale for tuition costs, and there would be some tuition paid by UPK families.

She explained the proposal is to, for the first year, hire three full-time equivalents to cover a day spanning from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., with that likely being two full-time employees and two part-time employees.

Carpenter noted that to meet the state’s requirements, you have to maintain that ratio at all times, meaning there would have to be two teachers in the classroom at all times.

She then briefly discussed all the other expenditures in the pro forma budget for the administration, equipment, rent, utilities and more, noting that including all of those items in a potential budget help show that the program can be self-sustaining without being subsidized by the school’s other funding sources.

Simmons also discussed a potential timeline for opening the program by August 2023, including a timeline for applying for grants, but noted they could look at a longer timeline.

Reali-Crossland explained she wanted the board to feel comfortable enough to vote on the matter and when they would like it to be open, adding there are pros and cons to aiming to open by August 2023 and to aiming to open by August 2024.

In response to a question from PPOS Instructional Coach Emily Murphy about if the pre-K classroom would be a different program or not, Carpenter explained she envisions that the classroom will be just another classroom at PPOS and the pro forma budget is just to show that the additional class would be sustainable.

Murphy also suggested that trying to open and be licensed by next August could be stressful and that she wants it to be done “with integrity,” though she noted looking at it as opening just another classroom helps it not seem like as big of a task as starting a new program.

PPOS Kindergarten Lead Advisor Maggie Saunders also talked about the pros and cons of the timing, noting there’s a big need to help families.

She added she has experience setting up a pre-K program.

She noted the biggest hang-up in terms of licensing would be the playground, but that it was her understanding that could be in progress.

Carpenter explained she had a call in to the licensing specialist about the playground, and she and Reali-Crossland noted the school has a spot and budget for a temporary playground while PPOS is working on its larger playground project.

Those present also discussed what remodeling in the building may be necessary to create dedicated spaces for the preschool classroom and the first- and second-grade classroom.

Ursula Hudson again expressed concern over having the capacity to open a new classroom, suggesting the school doesn’t have the capacity to serve its current population.

In response to that and another question on the topic, Carpenter noted that the program could be structured several different ways and the school likely already has people qualified for the administrative side of things.

Reali-Crossland noted she would like a stipend or salary for someone to do the work.

Other questions and comments from the board and staff centered on the curriculum and the preschool being a way to improve and adapt to what the community needs, that the school should address what its school community needs before expanding, that the preschool could help bring students into the school and bring in more funding sources, and that the school can help students be ready for and more successful in kindergarten.

At the March 6 special meeting, the board voted to move forward with planning and applying for grants, applying for a UPK license from the CDEC and to stipend staff to apply for a grant from the Town of Pagosa Springs and the license.

Discussion at the special meeting largely centered upon the timing of opening the program and whether or not the school should push to open a preschool classroom by August 2023 or set the goal as August 2024.

The motion by Ursula Hudson that ultimately passed stated that PPOS would move toward opening the classroom within 24 months.

Bridge

It also indicates that the 2018 load rating for the bridge accounted for this damage and that the load capacity was reduced due to it.

The letter provides options for repair, including repairing the areas of section loss to restore the bridge’s original capacity, adding fill retainer plates to mitigate continued rusting if funds are not available for repairs or potentially replacing the bridge entirely.

The letter states that CDOT recommends that the essential repairs for this structure be completed within 90 days and categorizes them a “High Priority Repair,” the second most urgent classification available.

The letter also requests that the county respond within 14 days and provide “a very brief plan of action that includes what repairs are planned and a general timeframe for when you expect repairs will be made.”

At the work session, Maez continued to state that the county has not been deeded the right of way for the bridge by the Southern Ute Indian Tribe despite an agreement created by previous commissioners that the county would maintain the road.

Maez then asked how much responsibility the county would have for the road.

Pogue stated that the road and the Pagosa Junction bridge are the county’s responsibility and that he reached out to the tribe “numerous times” to attempt to establish a temporary easement or other agreement, “to no avail.”

“I understand the environmental ... sensitivities of the location of the bridge ... in terms of the creek that goes underneath it,” Pogue said. “We will take all efforts that need to be put in place to ensure that that doesn’t get any damage.... I’ve tried as much as I can to remind them that we will do our due diligence to return that area back to the way it was when we found it, but, like I said, I can’t even send a surveyor over ‘cause we don’t even have a temporary easement.”

Pogue stated that he did not understand why the county could not get a temporary easement agreement and noted that it is “disappointing” that, until this occurs, he cannot order the replacement bridge that has been designed to replace the current bridge.

He added that the company that would supply the bridge has a six-month lead time, meaning that, if the project is to be completed this year, “I need to get things moving.”

Pogue noted that the county has already been given guidelines from CDOT on how to address the bridge and time constraints on addressing it, and “we haven’t done anything about it.”

“I think at some point, just from my perspective, I look at it as a liability on the county’s side because, if something happens to a resident or somebody going across that bridge, then it falls back on the county,” Pogue said.

County Attorney Todd Weaver said, “It maybe falls back on the county,” adding, “there are no absolutes.”

In response to questions from Maez, Weaver explained that the universal right of way agreement between the tribe and La Plata County took eight years to be completed, and he projected that, in an optimistic scenario, it would take at least two years for Archuleta County and the tribe to reach a similar agreement.

Pogue commented that he had been in communication with a representative of the tribe and had “essentially established” a right of way agreement for around the bridge, although this project lost momentum when this representative retired.

He stated that, at this point, he is only asking for a temporary easement so that the county can address the issues at the bridge, but had been unable to get a response.

Maez asked Weaver what alternatives the county has given he is concerned about the safety of the bridge and wants to avoid county citizens being hurt.

Weaver noted that the county’s alternatives are to do nothing or close the bridge, adding that with the CDOT letter “there may not be a choice but to close the bridge.”

Pogue noted that CDOT’s priority classification of the bridge repairs suggested the issue needed to be resolved quickly, adding, “The fact that that bridge has been an issue for 20 plus years now and has never gained any momentum should say something in itself.”

Maez noted that the county is already beyond the 90-day period stipulated by the CDOT letter.

When asked by Maez if the county has given “any type of excuse to CDOT as to why we have not got that done,” Pogue stated “Not yet.”

In an interview, County Manager Derek Woodman confirmed that the county has not yet responded to the CDOT letter.

Maez commented the county’s biggest problem is that its “hands are tied” concerning the right of way and noted that the county needs to make a “serious decision” concerning what to do until the county gains the right of way.

He then asked the other commissioners, Weaver and Woodman for their opinions on the issue.

Commissioner Warren Brown questioned if it would be valuable to send a formal letter of request to the tribe, including the letter from CDOT illustrating that the road would likely close if repairs are not completed, to see if the county could get “some expedited movement” on the issue.

Weaver commented, “It’s worth a shot,” and added that, in the BoCC’s recent work session with the Southern Ute Tribal Council, the council had indicated that some of the delays are being caused by difficulties in getting a response from the cultural office.

Woodman agreed that is an element of the delay, noting that this meeting was the first time he had heard about the involvement of the cultural office and the need to do a cultural survey.

He added that it would be the county’s responsibility to hire a consultant to perform the cultural survey and the Bureau of Reclamation would also be involved since the project involves a waterway.

Commissioner Veronica Medina agreed with Brown on sending a letter and added that the county should give public notice to residents in the area to notify them that “more than likely the bridge may be closed very soon” due to its poor condition and the amount of time it would take to acquire the right of way.

Pogue noted that the tribe has seen the letter from CDOT since he provided it to them.

Brown noted that the reason for his suggestion of the letter is that he feels it is important that the public understand that the county has been working on the issue for “multiple years and it’s not that we’re waiting until it’s got to the point where ... there’s no going back.”

He added that there was a “genuine effort” by the tribe and the county to resolve the issue prior to receiving the letter from CDOT.

Maez noted that the tribe and the county have been working on the issue since he was elected.

Brown agreed that Maez had been working on the issue, but added, “We’re not making any progress at all.”

Pogue highlighted that the county had made progress on its end in terms of developing a solution for the bridge’s problems, although without an easement the county’s efforts are “null and void.”

He added that all the times the county attempted to approach the tribe with ideas to complete the project, “It’s gotten nowhere every single time.”

Maez expressed his agreement with Brown’s ideas, stating, “It’s unfortunate, but red tape’s always red tape.”

In the interview, Woodman indicated that the county’s letter to the tribe and notifications to area residents about the potential bridge closure would likely “go hand in hand.”

He also stated that he is unsure how many residents would be impacted by a potential closure, although he noted it would be a “significant inconvenience” and that the bridge is currently causing difficulties for the county since snow plows cannot cross the bridge due to the reduced load limits, which necessitates the county send snowplows from two separate directions to plow County Road 500.

Camp highlighted that both surveys had a high response rate, which indicates that staff were engaged and believed that SJBPH would act on the results of the survey.

She added that the survey results from 2022 and 2023 are consistent and show that work engagement, relationship management and work environment are the organization’s most favorable categories, which are strong indicators of workforce satisfaction.

Camp emphasized that employees had a high level of understanding and engagement with the organization’s mission and work.

She noted that the least favorable questions on the survey involved overall compensation and career development opportunities, although she noted that questions on compensation are rarely highly positive and none of the least favorable negatives garnered a majority of negative responses.

SJBPH Executive Director Liane Jollon noted that SJBPH has put in “tremendous work” to provide pay increases, although she noted that the compensation is difficult in the area given the high cost of living.

Camp explained that a question on the reason for why staff might leave revealed that compensation was the No. 1 reason, with 2023 having the dissolution and career development as the second and third highest ranking reasons while in 2022 the second most common reason was career development. Benefits and workload were tied for third place.

BoH member Jon Bruss commented that understanding the reasoning behind the negative answers is critical, as is the relationship between general dissatisfaction and dissatisfaction with compensation.

Camp highlighted that SJBPH staff satisfaction is high according to the surveys and that compensation is an issue across the region.

The discussion moved on to potential bonuses and incentives for staff, with Camp highlighting the need to improve compensation, provide additional career development, and address anxieties and instability over the dissolution of the district.

She referenced that SJBPH will dissolve at the end of 2023 and stated that many SJBPH staff will want to continue work at a county health department.

Camp highlighted that her goal is to ensure an orderly dissolution while maintaining continuity of service and assisting staff in transitioning to their new positions, and that the only way to maintain continuity is to retain integral SJBPH staff.

She explained that she was presenting compensation and retention strategies to help achieve this, including a transition bonus program, assistance for employees who experience a loss or gap in compensation or benefits as a result of personnel policy at either of the counties, and additional professional development opportunities related to the transition.

BoH member Bob Ledger asked if there had been any discussion between SJBPH and the counties on how the process of the transition, particularly in terms of hiring staff, would occur.

Camp explained that La Plata County has described a process where the county will open positions where staff can apply and compete for roles similar to their roles at SJBPH and that Archuleta County had described the process as both a transition and an open, competitive process.

What has not been extensively discussed, according to Camp, is the transfer of elements such as benefits or retirement, which she added is a particular concern given the already existing difficulties with compensation.

Camp stated that the transition bonus program includes retention bonuses, recognition bonuses and sign-on bonuses, with the most used bonus likely being the retention bonus.

She added that the recognition bonus would be for staff if they are expected to take on additional duties in the dissolution process and the sign-on bonuses would be available if SJBPH needs to hire in 2023.

Bruss asked how Camp was proposing to structure the retention bonuses given they are partially intended to retain staff at the counties and commented that such retention bonuses potentially would need to come from the new organizations, not from SJBPH.

Camp stated that SJBPH can only control what is happening at its own organization and needs to retain its staff through the end of 2023 to provide services.

Bruss asked if there is a concern about losing staff, highlighting the apparent disconnect between the high satisfaction of staff working at SJBPH in the survey and the potential of losing staff.

Camp stated that exit interviews within the last week had pointed to uncertainty about next steps and noted in response to another question from Bruss that staff are being recruited away to other partner organizations.

BoH member and Archuleta County Commissioner Warren Brown asked if there would be a way to remind SJBPH staff that Archuleta County will also be looking for employees.

Camp stated that SJBPH has been highlighting the opportunities at both counties to staff.

In response to a question from BoH member Shere Byrd, Camp explained that she was looking for direction from the board about whether the proposed bonus program aligned with the board’s intentions.

Byrd also asked where the funding for the bonuses would come from.

Camp responded that she estimates the bonuses will cost between $700,000 and $1.2 million, which will come from the fund balance for the district.

The board agreed that the bonus program is necessary, with Byrd stating “we have to do this” and Bruss highlighting the importance of both retaining staff at SJBPH and ensuring they transition to the county public health agencies.

Brown highlighted the value of SJBPH’s staff and noted that, although the program has a “sizable price tag,” the costs of recruiting staff unfamiliar with SJBPH and the communities it serves “will cost far more.”

Firefighters

The PFPD honors the tradition of camaraderie by issuing challenge coins to firefighters after their first year with the department. The following firefighters and board members received their coin this year: Edward Patton, Ian Lewis, Taz Waller, Jason Packer, James Martin and Wayne Hooper.

Service pins are given to recognize every five years of service. The following firefighters received service pins: Danial McAdam for five years, Eric Ziminsky for 10 years, Lyle Hoffschneider for 10 years, Mark Salazar for 10 years, Michelle Clark for 10 years, Bill Wilcox for 20 years and Robertson for 40 years.

The PFPD, through its members, is devoted and committed to our community. The pride for the department and its community members shows not only when a call for assistance goes out, but is a constant, never failing for those who need it.

Destination Imagination teams qualify for state competition

Destination Imagination

Two Destination Imagination teams from Pagosa Springs Elementary School competed at the DI Regional Competition at Escalante Middle School in Durango on March 4. They competed against teams from Cortez, Durango, Dolores and Utah. Both teams qualified to go on to compete in Denver at the state level.

The first team, "The No Name Dogs," made up of Savannah

Graves, Kaci Moeller, Jeri Moeller and Maheyla Witting, competed in the scientific challenge. They had to create a story in the style of a tall tale that include an exaggerated character with a hyperbolic trait and a scientific analysis to determine whether or not the exaggerated character could actually exhibit the hyperbolic trait. This team was coached by Jill Witting and received a first-place medal.

The second team, "The Bamboozlers," including Maheyla Witting, Ashlynn Mathis, Ana Romero Gallegos, Riley Sanders, Bodhi King and Gabriela Padilla, was coached by Ben and Wells Witting. They competed in the engineering challenge and placed second. Their challenge was to design and build a roller coaster with a launching mechanism that starts moving a golf ball along the roller coaster track with a skit depicting the ride. They earned points for how far and how fast the ball went.

Destination Imagination is a competition that challenges students in one of seven open-ended challenges requiring teams of young people to apply science, technology, engineering and math (STEM), in addition to improvisation, theater arts, writing, project management, communication, innovation, teamwork and community service.

The state competition will be at the Denver Auraria Campus on April 1. This tournament has teams competing from public schools across the state and from every level, 5A to 1A, as well as students who are home-schooled or from private schools.

PPOS middle schoolers get hands-on with water study

By Emily Murphy
Pagosa Peak Open School

This year's Pagosa Peak Open School middle schoolers have spent the year on their science projects, considering environmental problems, creating inquiry questions and designing solutions.

"In this way, student interests are motivating the learning," lead middle school advisor Joey Wychesit said. "When students have choice within guidelines, the learning becomes active, applicable and real for them."

After a study of desertification, water as a precious resource and the impacts humans have on water quality, students got to work. With background knowledge support through research, field work and experts, they proposed their topics and began designing in small groups. Groups are working with questions around water safety and health, flooding and drought effects on crops and ranches, water power and filtration. Students have designed their own experiments, including things like testing the pH of bottled water, and creating filters and water wheels.

"The pH of this bottled water is the same as vinegar," eighth-grader Annie said.

"That begs a question, doesn't it?" Wychesit asked.

Students will present their findings during the PPOS school-wide showcase at the end of the school year, where all students will share the learning through project presentations.

"[Project-based learning, PBL] is not an easy teaching style because there isn't a clear-cut solution matrix," Wychesit said. "It involves problem solving for students and teachers, which I enjoy. It also gives me a chance to embrace failure as a way to engage students in critical thinking, problem solving and creativity. In real life, you have access to a computer and a calculator. You can find the 'what.' When you are a PBL student, the work they do is behind the 'why' and the 'how,' preparing you for those real-world skills you need later in life."

Early Childhood Council of Archuleta County

On a snowy February evening, the Early Childhood Council of Archuleta County (ECCAC) hosted a lovely appreciation dinner for educators and caregivers working with infants, toddlers and preschoolers.

The council representatives donated warm soup, homemade rolls and a tableful of unique desserts as a token of our appreciation for the educators' demanding and essential work. Educators socialized, learned about state and local support, and shared a few laughs with the drawing of donated door prizes.

Marcy Mitchell, council president of the ECCAC, expressed that our hardworking educators spend so much energy caring for our precious local children that it was refreshing to pamper them.

While we can all agree that young children are one of our most precious assets, it is crucial to recognize those who dedicate a career to teaching and nurturing them. All early care and education providers and the general public are invited to learn more about the ECCAC on our website, <http://eccarchuleta-county.org>.

Charter school students hold poetry reading

By Emily Murphy
Pagosa Peak Open School

The stage was set, chairs lined up and food ready for snacking. Pagosa Peak Open School (PPOS) families poured in through the doors of the Tennyson Building Event Center on Feb. 28 for their children's first poetry reading: The Moon, Sun and Stars Celebration of Learning.

First-grader Torin kicked off the event with his poem and artwork. "It is sunset. The sun is orange and purple. The sun sees animals going to bed," he read to the crowd.

PPOS advisors Kelle Bruno and Katie Young worked for the past few months with students on this project, ending it not only with the celebration, but also bound books for families containing all the poetry from the class.

This project began with fictional stories and folktales about the sun, moon and the stars, and students making observations about why people write about the sky. Students studied the patterns seen in the sky, including the difference between day and night, and the phases of the moon.

"What really brought this project to life for the kids was visiting the planetarium at San Juan College in Farmington," Bruno said. "They were in awe of the close-ups of the planets and the moon and fascinated by the constellations. We brought the project full circle by having the students write a poem about the sun or the moon. It is exciting for them to see their work in a professionally bound book."

Field work, authentic audiences and inquiry are a part of the projects at PPOS.

"I am so proud of our first- and second-graders," Young said. "During the course of this project, they had to learn the process for writing and revising their own poems, and now they get to celebrate being published authors. This is my first time working at a project-based school and I am so impressed with how these students get to take charge of their learning and share that learning with the community."

County hears update on regional oral health programs

By Josh Pike
Staff Writer

At its Feb. 21 work session, the Archuleta County Board of County Commissioners (BoCC) heard a presentation on San Juan Basin Public Health's (SJBPH's) regional oral health program from Regional Oral Health Specialist Courtney Justice.

Justice explained that the oral health team consists of three people, including herself, and she moved to the area in October 2022 to help rebuild the program.

She added that the program connects to the Colorado core public health capabilities by addressing health equity and social determinants of health.

She also explained that it aligns with the foundational services of maternal, child, adolescent and family health; chronic disease; and access and linkage to health care.

Justice explained that the regional oral health program is funded by the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment and serves five counties, including Archuleta, La Plata, Montezuma, San Juan and Dolores, and is intended to address access to care issues in rural communities.

She noted that recent research shows that, in the last 12 months, 50 percent of individuals below the federal poverty line did not visit a dentist and that, for individuals in SJBPH's catchment area, 20 percent cited cost as the primary barrier.

Justice explained that tooth decay is the most common chronic disease in children and adolescents 6-19 years old and that poor oral health is linked to diabetes, dementia and heart disease.

She stated that her role consists of providing clinical dental services through the school-based oral health program, assistance with dental navigation, facilitation of the Southwestern Colorado Oral Health Coalition, and creation and implementation of virtual dental visits.

She noted that the school-based oral health program is one of the program's largest activities where it brings dental services into the school which can have a highly positive impact on preventing tooth decay.

Justice noted that participation in the program was reduced by COVID-19, but staff have seen a recent recovery in engagement.

Justice explained that the program prioritizes schools with students at high-risk of poor oral health, a risk which is stratified using a tool that incorporates data on tooth decay and participation in the free and reduced lunch program.

She stated that the program's dental navigation component helps community members navigate dental benefits, advocates on their behalf and assists persons with complex oral health needs.

Justice added that the Oral

Health Coalition is a group of dental experts, organizations, businesses and interested citizens who work to improve oral health in the community.

She also stated that the newly created teledentistry program is in cooperation with Delta Dental of Colorado and provides remote dental consultation, diagnosis and patient education.

Justice explained that the regional oral health program will be using existing programs to reach pregnant women and children 0-6 for risk assessments, referrals to dental health and fluoride treatments, although this program is still in the planning phase.

Lady Pirates set to kick off season at Gunnison tournament

By Josh Pike
Staff Writer

The Pagosa Springs High School Lady Pirates soccer team will begin its season on Friday, March 10, at a tournament in Gunnison.

Coach Lindsey Kurt-Mason explained that the team currently has 21 players on its roster, with a “few more” players who will join later once they complete their eligibility documentation.

He stated that the roster currently contains seven freshmen, seven sophomores, three juniors and four seniors.

Kurt-Mason noted that the team is a “good bunch” and recently competed in four scrimmages in Canon City against Canon City, Salida, Manitou Springs and Pueblo West.

“By the last game, we got into our rhythm and we got organized and ... played like we knew what we were doing,” he said. “It just was the first time out on a dry field that we’ve had so ... the girls, they rallied and understood the shape that they needed to be in on defensive and offensive moments. ... We’re improving all the time.”

Kurt-Mason noted that the team’s leadership is strong and that the preseason went well, with team members being excited to practice.

He noted that a major challenge for the team was that its field in Pagosa Springs is currently not usable due to winter conditions, although the team is having success practicing indoors.

Kurt-Mason added that he is looking forward to seeing the team play at the Gunnison tournament due to the improvements in communication, organization and vision the team made during the scrimmages.

He commented that there is “a lot of parity” between the teams in the 3A division for this season, although it is difficult to assess the skill level of individual teams before they have played this season.

Last year, the team posted an overall record of 5-8 and a league mark of 0-6.

Schedule

The following schedule was accurate as of March 7, but is subject to change.

The Lady Pirates will begin their season at the Gunnison tournament in Gunnison on March 10 and 11, where they will play Telluride on March 10 at 1 p.m. and Basalt at 6 p.m. They will play Aspen at 1:15 p.m. on March 11.

The team will then face Ignacio in Ignacio on March 28 at 4 p.m. before playing Bayfield at home at the Golden Peaks Stadium at 4 p.m. on April 4.

The Pirates will play Alamosa in Alamosa at 4 p.m. on April 7 before facing Montezuma-Cortez in Cortez at 11 a.m. on April 8 and Lake County in Leadville at 4 p.m. on April 14.

The team then returns home to the Golden Peaks Stadium to play Buena Vista on April 15 at 11 a.m. and Alamosa at 4 p.m. on April 21.

The Lady Pirates will then travel to Bayfield to compete against Bayfield on April 24 at 4 p.m. before returning home to conclude the regular season by playing Montezuma-Cortez on April 29 at 11 a.m. and Ignacio on May 4 at 4 p.m.

TRACK

Pirate track teams set to open season at Piedra Vista Invitational

By Randi Pierce
Staff Writer

The Pagosa Springs High School Pirate track and field team will open its 2023 campaign Saturday, March 11, at the Piedra Vista Invitational in Farmington, N.M.

The meet will also be the first time the team is on a track this year, with coach Connie O’Donnell noting in an email the snow on the track at Golden Peaks Stadium was still up to the team’s knees Tuesday.

She adds that the team went to the track to try to break up the snow to help it melt quicker.

“The snow is starting to melt pretty quickly and we should be on the track after spring break,” she wrote. “It does make it difficult to practice technical events without a track, but we are doing the best that we can in the gym, in the halls and on the pavement. We have a bunch of nervous athletes going into a meet on Saturday without the preparation on the track. We will have to rely a bunch on our upperclassmen to help get our newcomers through the meet.”

According to O’Donnell, the team’s goal for the Invitational, which is slated to begin at 9 a.m., is to “just get the jitters out.”

She also notes she’ll be looking for the Pirates to pick up where they left off last season.

“It is really fun for athletes who run their best times (or close to it) at the beginning of the season,” she wrote. “It shows that they have grown as an athlete. They get really excited for the rest of the season at that point.”

The Invitational, O’Donnell wrote, is the only meet that we are going to that is not a state qualifier for Colorado.

“It is really just a chance to run on a track and get the experience,” she wrote. “We get to enter 8 in each event which is a really large amount.

Most meets let you enter 4.”

The increased number of athletes allowed per event will also help the team play to what O’Donnell describes as its strength — its numbers.

O’Donnell notes the team has about 60 athletes out so far this season.

“It does make it difficult to practice technical events without a track, but we are doing the best that we can in the gym, in the halls and on the pavement. We have a bunch of nervous athletes going into a meet on Saturday without the preparation on the track.”

Coach Connie O’Donnell

“We have all of our state qualifiers back with the exception of one thrower, a hurdler, and a couple of relay runners,” she wrote, adding later, “I think that our strength is in numbers. Not only do we have a bunch of freshmen eager to try the sport, but we have several juniors and seniors coming out for the first time as well. My team is great at recruiting. Most of the team is made up of athletes from other sports.”

She adds that the team is “going to have a crazy amount of jumpers this year.”

“We have a bunch of basketball players who tend to be good at jumping,” she wrote.

She adds she’s excited about the team’s athletes this year, writing, “I have some good anticipation that it is going to be a great year.”

The coach points out several Pirates who are expected to bring leadership to the team and who she is excited about.

“Chantelle Caldwell is about the most athletic girl that we have in the high school,” she wrote. “I’m really looking forward to her hurdles, high jump and relays. As a senior, she is a great leader and fun kid to be around.”

She adds that Kameron Winkler “is such a passionate athlete when it comes to sprinting. He puts a lot of time into perfecting his craft.”

Reece Peterson, she wrote, “is a positive leader who will be the rock of our girls’ team.”

She continues, “Kyle Marotta has a knack for being an encouraging leader that pushes others and will be a standout teammate on our distance team.”

Rylie Carr, she wrote, is looking to be one of the fastest girls in the league again this year.

O’Donnell also noted there are several new athletes on the team this year “that will make a positive impact on our team and scoring this year.”

Schedule

The following schedule was accurate as of Tuesday, but is subject to change. All meets are scheduled to begin at 9 a.m.

After this week’s Piedra Vista Invitational, the team will head to Bayfield on March 17 for the Bayfield Invite.

Following a hiatus for spring break, the team will be back in action in Bayfield on April 1 for the Pine River Invitational.

On April 7, the Pirates will head to Mancos for the Mancos Blue Jay Invitational.

The team will hit the road for Del

Norte on April 15 to take part in the Del Norte Tiger Invitational.

On April 18, the Pirates will head back to Bayfield for another meet.

On April 22, the Pirates will take part in the Ron Keller Invitational in Durango.

On April 25, the team will head for a meet in Alamosa.

That will be followed by the league track meet in Cortez.

On May 6, the Pirates will host the Terry Alley Invitational at Golden Peaks Stadium.

On May 12 and 13, the team will take part in the Tiger Invitational in Grand Junction.

The state meet is set for May 18-20.

Pirates swinging into season at Aztec Tournament

By Randi Pierce
Staff Writer

The Pagosa Springs High School (PSHS) Pirate baseball team is slated to kick off its season at the Aztec Tournament March 9-11 in Aztec, N.M.

"I'm just excited to go compete. I think we'll have a good showing, ... and I expect one," coach Nathan Morales said.

The team will open its season on Thursday, March 9, with a 12:30 p.m. game against the Aztec Tigers. The Tigers are 3-1 on the season.

The following day at the same time, the Pirates are slated to take on the Kirtland Central Broncos, who are 1-2 entering the tournament.

On Saturday, March 11, the Pirates will take on the Montezuma-Cortez Panthers at 12:30 p.m. The Panthers are also opening their season at the tournament.

The Pirate baseball team, like the other PSHS spring sports, has been unable to practice on a playing field so far this season, with Morales indicating the team is doing what it can with indoor practices.

"It's baseball," he said. "It's tough. ... You can only do so much without a field."

But, regardless of that and the fact that the Pirates will be taking on teams who have been on fields for weeks, Morales expressed he expects the team to compete and win games.

"It just is what it is," he said. "We're not going to make any excuses. As long as we throw strikes and put the ball in play we're going to be just fine, just like any other baseball team."

Morales explained the program has about 30 athletes so far and features a number of returning players since the team lost only one senior from last year's squad — something he counted as a strength.

He added that another positive is that it's the team's second year with the current coaching staff.

Last year, he explained, the athletes and coaches were new to each other and were trying to figure each other out for the first six weeks, whereas this year the players know what to expect from the program and coaches.

Morales also indicated pitching will be one of the team's strengths this season.

"I think our pitching is gonna be one of our strengths of our team," he said. "That's exciting, 'cause I think if you have a couple guys that can throw strikes and dominate a few innings for you, you can win baseball games."

But, he added, the team still has to field the ball, put the ball in play, score and get the outs.

"Everyone's gotta do their part," he said.

In 2022, the team went 7-14 on the season and logged a 3-5 league record.

Schedule

The following schedule was accurate as of Wednesday, but is subject to change.

Following the Aztec Tournament, the Pirates will head to Delta for the Delta Tournament on March 17 and 18, with game times and opponents to be announced.

On March 28, the team will head to Bloomfield, N.M., for a doubleheader that is set to begin at 4 p.m.

On March 31, the Pirates will take on Salida at 11 a.m. as part of the Salida Tournament.

The following day at 10 a.m., they will take on Coal Ridge as part of the tournament, and will face Calhan at 12:30 p.m.

On April 4, the team will head to Ignacio for a doubleheader that is set to begin at 3 p.m.

On April 8, the Pirates will head for Alamosa for a doubleheader that is set to begin at 11 a.m.

The team will face off against Montezuma-Cortez in a doubleheader on April 15 beginning at 11 a.m. in Cortez.

On April 18, the Pirates will host Del Norte for their home opener at 4 p.m.

The Pirates will take on Centauri in a home doubleheader beginning at 11 a.m. on April 22.

The team will welcome Durango to town for a 3 p.m. affair on April 25.

On May 6, the Pirates will close out their regular season by taking out Bayfield in a home doubleheader beginning at 11 a.m.

support all statewide hatchery and fish-stocking operations.

CPW stocks 90 million fish annually into waters throughout Colorado in order to ensure quality angling opportunities. From warmer waters to mountain streams, Colorado angling opportunities are world-renowned. Funding from fishing license sales may allow for additional public access, community angling grants and habitat improvement projects that support state birds, fish and other small game.

"CPW biologists and volunteers will soon be spawning fish to replenish our walleye and saugeye fisheries," said CPW Aquatic Section Manager Matt Nicholl. "Our hatcheries are also stocking Front Range waters with trout while water temperatures remain cool for added angling opportunities."

Colorado 2023-2024 fishing licenses now available

Colorado Parks and Wildlife

Colorado Parks and Wildlife (CPW) reminds anglers the 2023-2024 fishing season is officially here.

The 2023-2024 fishing license is valid from March 1 through March 31, 2024. Regulations and pricing for annual, daily and multiday fishing licenses can be found in the 2023 Colorado Fishing Brochure (Pesca en Colorado (en Español). For individuals, ages 18 through 64, an $11.50 Habitat Stamp is required with the first license purchase for the year. Youth under age 16 can fish with one rod for free and CPW provides opportunities throughout the season to learn how to fish.

Coloradans and nonresident visitors can purchase fishing licenses online, by phone at (800) 244-5613, at a local CPW office or from authorized sales agents statewide. CPW does not receive general tax dollars, and fishing license sales and more than 1,300 lakes and reservoirs. Fishing in Colorado provides the possibility of catching 35 species of warm-water and cold-water fish.

Fishing is a great activity to share with family and friends, and the perfect chance to get outside and enjoy Colorado's natural resources.

"Spring is around the corner and so is the opportunity to get out and enjoy the active, outdoor Colorado lifestyle by going fishing," said CPW Angler Education Coordinator Andre Egli. "If you are new to fishing, there are many classes offered around the state. Classes are available for new anglers, families or seasoned anglers that want to learn a new technique like fly fishing."

CPW fishing classes, events, seminars and tournaments are posted on the Fishing News and Events Web page.

Town shifts gears on legal services, contracts with familiar law firm

By Derek Kutzer
Staff Writer

At its Feb. 23 meeting, the Pagosa Springs Town Council decided to go in a different — albeit familiar — direction regarding the position of town attorney.

According to an agenda brief on the topic, “The Town Attorney serves at the pleasure of Town Council, subject to the terms of a contract for services.”

It notes that, while the town attorney is not a town employee, the town staff, including the town manager, “interface heavily” with the attorney to prepare information for council meetings; gain legal advice on municipal issues; prepare and review legal documents, contracts and ordinances; and to assist in elections and with land-use issues.

Clay Buchner, who also serves as the town’s prosecutor, has been under contract as the town attorney since March of 2020, but this contract term ended on Dec. 31, 2022.

Town Manager Andrea Phillips said that Buchner has “graciously been helping us in this interim period, so we can extend our appreciation for that.”

With Buchner’s contract termination date approaching, the town council previously directed staff to advertise for attorney services through a request-for-proposal process.

The town received two proposals, one from the Lakewood-based law firm Collins, Cole, Flynn, Winn and Ulmer PLLC and one from Buchner.

A selection committee comprising Mayor Shari Pierce, council member Jeff Posey, Andrea Phillips and Town Clerk April Hessman was formed. The committee reviewed the two proposals and conducted in-person interviews with the candidates.

The committee unanimously decided to recommend to the council that it award the contract to Collins, Cole, Flynn, Winn, and Ulmer, citing the firm’s “many years of experience in municipal law, the depth of their team experience, and their previous experience and knowledge with the Town of Pagosa Springs,” according to the brief.

Phillips told the council how the committee came to its conclusion, emphasizing the long relationship between the town and the firm’s lead attorney, Bob Cole, who was present at the meeting via Zoom.

“Bob has 28 years of experience with the Town of Pagosa Springs and 36 years experience with municipal law,” Phillips said, stressing that municipal law is a “specialty within attorney services and it’s very broad in scope and it’s complex and always evolving.”

Beyond Cole’s individual experience, Phillips also highlighted the firm’s “deep bench of experience,” with its “associates and paralegal and staff.”

She mentioned Allison Ulmer, who “has over 15 years of experience with municipal law and several years with the town.”

Phillips added, “They can really cover a broad swath of different issues that municipalities deal with and can specialize in different areas if needed.”

In addition to serving previously as town attorney for Pagosa Springs, Phillips noted that Cole and his firm have served as the town attorney for other municipalities, such as Gypsum and Centennial, as well as “special council for Grand Junction, Mount Crested Butte, Castle Rock” and other towns and cities.

Phillips reiterated Cole’s depth of local knowledge.

“In fact, when thinking about it, Bob Cole has actually worked for the town longer than any employee that we currently have on staff,” she said, adding that Cole “definitely knows the people and the issues. Granted, a lot has changed in the last few years ... but he definitely knows a lot of the players that are still here today.”

Phillips added that Cole served as town attorney when it transitioned from a statutory town to a home rule municipality in 2003, and through the town’s annexations on U.S. 160, “which was foundational to the town’s footprint and its continued success.”

She noted that while the “firm is not local,” she thought that with some of the recent changes in technology, which allow remote work settings, such as Zoom, Cole and his “team of attorneys” could be “very helpful” to the town.

Phillips suggested she thought the issues that would be most beneficial to have this experienced legal team work on would include ongoing sanitation issues, which could involve “some deep negotiations” with the Pagosa Area Water and Sanitation District (PAWSD), as well as big development projects, such as Pagosa Views, and other complex issues.

But some on the council members questioned the idea of changing attorneys at this time.

Council member Mat deGraaf suggested the change could “triple our legal fees.”

Pierce acknowledged that it would be an increase in the hourly rate for the town attorney, but that she didn’t think it amounted to a tripling of the fees.

deGraaf added, “If I may be blunt, I feel like the committee’s selection is more personal than practical, and I think Bob has done a great job for the town for the many years that he served, but I feel that Clay has done an equally good job.”

He also expressed concern that since the firm is not local, the town would get stuck paying for “airfare and rental cars” for the attorney to “come down here” from Lakewood, adding that “we can’t predict the weather.”

He added that “we want an actual person here” and that it is not in the “town’s best financial interests” to go in this direction.

Pierce stated that, from her experience working with Cole in the past, she did not recall the attorney having to “come to Pagosa Springs very often. It would be a rather large issue that we would have to have before we would have him come in person at a meeting.”

Hessman, who also has extensive experience working with Cole, agreed with Pierce that it was rare for him to need to come to the council meetings in person.

It would be more “if we need him, or ask him to come down,” she said, adding that he “wants to stick within our budget.”

Posey added that even if it’s more expensive, the depth of experience would be worth paying a little bit more for the legal services.

Council member Gary Williams said that his “preference is always to hire locally” when it comes to town business, but he pointed to the nexus study on housing as an example that “sometimes you gotta go outside the community to get something done.”

He added, “And I think the town staff’s concern about the increased complexity of some of the things we’re dealing with and the fact that they’re the ones who are dealing with it and we want professional staff to run the town, you know, I think we should support their decision.”

Council member Brooks Lindner mentioned that “Mr. Cole and Mrs. Rupp [the firm’s paralegal] are pretty far along in their careers. Do we have any concern about them stepping down or retiring, and then what we are left with after that, in terms of, you know, you guys having weighed so heavily on the experience that’s here?”

Since the firm has such a “deep bench,” Phillips suggested she does not have many concerns about this issue, because there would always be someone to “pinch hit” if the town needed it.

A motion was made to appoint the law firm as town attorney, which was seconded and carried by a majority of the council, with deGraaf casting the lone “Nay” vote.

This new contract for legal services will go into effect on the date in which both parties agree to and sign the document and the contract will be for a three-year period from the point of that agreement, according to the contract document.

Commissioners hear update on CSU Extension activities

By Josh Pike
Staff Writer

At its Feb. 21 work session, the Archuleta County Board of County Commissioners (BoCC) heard a departmental update from Colorado State University (CSU) Extension Director Robin Young.

Young noted that it has been a “fast-and-furious” year so far.

She explained that the CSU Extension office is working on developing and finding funding for an emergency response class, as well as updating handouts for the public on emergency preparedness with a particular emphasis on animals and on developing emergency plans in advance.

Young explained that she is facilitating the Colorado Building Farmers program, which focuses on developing business plans for agriculture, and is also running the Seed to Supper class which provides cultivation instruction for the mountains, which she indicated has been very successful.

She noted that she and Terry Schaaaf are now certified CPR instructors and have been assisting with classes.

Young added that she would be offering a livestock and forage growers update webinar on March 2; a landowner basics 101 class on March 11 teaching about water rights, weeds, pasture and range health, and living with wildlife, among other topics; and a viticulture workshop.

She noted that she was hoping to make the viticulture workshop coincide with a discussion with the state climatology team about the Community Collaborative Rain, Hail and Snow Network, a nationwide project that uses community data to measure precipitation and provides key information for the public and state agencies.

She also explained that the seed potato program would be occurring on May 10 and 11, although the varieties of potatoes offered would be different due to failures in the harvest of the typical varieties last fall.

Young mentioned that Extension would also be holding a babysitting class on March 3 and 4 and is preparing for the county fair and working on 4-H.

She noted that the shooting sports program is flourishing and that she is hoping to develop a western heritage program to integrate with it.

The Hughes Pavilion is now open, Young explained, with some events scheduled to occur in the location this summer.

Young also stated that the public comment period for Colorado Parks and Wildlife’s (CPW) wolf reintroduction and management plan was closing on Feb. 22, although public comments on the plan could still be made online and would likely be considered prior to the May deadline for the completion of the plan.

She indicated that negotiations are underway with other states to bring in wolves and that 15-30 wolves would be released depending on how many could be acquired.

Commissioner Warren Brown commented that Young has “a lot” of activities going on, which Young said is “all right.”

She also commented that in the future she is hoping to have workshops on hunting ethics and dressing animals, as well as the impact of new apex predators such as wolves and potentially wolverines and grizzly bears, which she predicted could both come back to Colorado.

Young added that, even though the focus tends to be on livestock, all residents would need to adjust to the presence of large and potentially dangerous predators such as grizzly bears.

Commissioner Ronnie Maez commented that CPW would suffer the largest negative impacts from the introduction of these large predators due to the negative impact on deer and elk populations he perceived they would cause.

Young noted that the high density of humans in Colorado could lead to dangerous encounters between wolves and humans.

She also commented that CPW has limited funds for paying for livestock compensation from wolf kills and for implementing the program.

Maez suggested that the problem with the program would be money and that CPW would apply a high degree of scrutiny to all potential wolf kills.

Young’s presentation ended with the BoCC thanking her and her offering that, if the commissioners heard of any needs or potential needs in the community, she would be willing to work on organizing programs to address them.

High school to present Disney's 'Beauty and the Beast'

Pagosa Springs High School

Pagosa Springs High School is proud to present Disney's "Beauty and the Beast."

Under the direction of Dale Scrivener and Dan Burch, the Music and Theater Department has spent the last nine weeks preparing for the spring musical.

With more than 50 high schoolers involved, the cast and crew of this show have worked tirelessly to put together this classic tale.

"Beauty and the Beast" is one of the most timeless tales ever written. As Belle takes her father's place as captive in the castle of a monstrous beast, she learns that "home" can come in different forms, and not always the way we would expect. Meanwhile, the beast, who was once selfish and heartless, learns to love unconditionally. The two main characters take time to develop their newfound relationship.

"Beauty and the Beast" is one of very few fairy tales that show that relationships actually take time to develop trust, companionship and ultimately a true, selfless love.

With the support from many, we have been able to mount this timeless Disney classic. With costumes provided by Theatre By Design, sets designed by Dale Scrivener and Amelia Berndt, choreography by Casey Rumberger, coaching by Gus Palma and music direction by Dan and Venita Burch, You are bound to be blown away by this talented group of students as they bring this timeless classic story to life on the Pagosa Springs High School stage.

Tickets are available for $15 in advance online at <https://our.show/pagosabeast>.

Tickets will be $18 at the door. Get your tickets now before they sell out. With only five performances from March 14 through 18 at 7 p.m., tickets are bound to go fast.

Rise Above Violence seeking volunteers

By Jennifer Sutherland
Rise Above Violence

With busy lives, it can be hard to find time to volunteer. However, the benefits of volunteering can be enormous. Volunteering offers vital help to people in need. Victims in our community need you. Rise Above Violence provides hotline coverage 365 days a year 24 hours a day. As a volunteer, you have the unique opportunity to help someone when they need it the very most.

The benefits of volunteering can be even greater for you, the volunteer. Volunteering allows you to connect to your community and make it a better place, learn new skills, and even advance your career. All the training is free and provided to you.

Giving to others can also reduce stress and keep you mentally stimulated, and provide a sense of purpose when you help a victim in crisis. While it's true that the more you volunteer, the more benefits you'll experience, volunteering doesn't have to involve a long-term commitment or take a huge amount of time out of your busy day; committing to volunteering will not interfere with your normal daily activities. When on call, we ask that you be available to respond to any calls that come in. We do not expect you to put your life on hold during your shift, just that you remain accessible to respond to a crisis call if you are needed.

Giving in even simple ways can help those in need and improve your health and happiness.

People with disabilities or chronic health conditions can still benefit greatly from volunteering. In fact, research has shown that adults with disabilities or health conditions all show improvement after volunteering.

Rise provides all the necessary training to become a victim's advocate with ongoing support and monthly trainings. Trainings can be conducted remotely or via Zoom for anyone who cannot show up in person. Free lunch to be served during all monthly trainings, held on the third Wednesday of the month.

There are many benefits to volunteering; here are the top eight: make new friends, build your network, expand your resume, improve your confidence, develop emotional stability, feel happier, learn something new and explore your interest.

When it comes to being a volunteer advocate, passion and positivity are the only requirements.

If any of this has sparked your interest, volunteer now. Join us for our volunteer informational meeting on March 16 from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. Please call to let us know you are interested in coming and to get more details.

Reach out to Rise at (970) 264-9075 for more information or email Volunteer Coordinator Jennifer Sutherland at Jennifer@riseaboveviolence.org with any questions or possible interest in volunteering.

Rise is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit that provides 24-hour support and advocacy services for victims of domestic violence and sexual assault or other forms of violence, serving around 400 victims each year. Rise also works to eliminate violence through education for youth and our community. All programs and services are free and confidential, including emergency prevention education and empowerment programs. Visit www.riseaboveviolence.org for more information or call (970) 264-9075 to talk to an advocate today.

Gala event to support library expansion project

By Sally Neel
 Ruby M. Sisson Memorial Library Foundation and Friends

It's time to put on your Ruby slippers in honor of the Ruby M. Sisson Memorial Library's The Library Affair, a gala fundraising event on April 15 at the Pagosa Springs Center for the Arts.

The doors will open at 6 p.m. The evening offers a unique bidding opportunity to take home beautiful and creative table settings serving up to eight people. The table designs will be based on themes from books ranging from children's to adult literature. The winning bidders will collect the complete content of the tables, including china, stemware, silverware, napkins, tablecloths and centerpieces.

In addition to the fabulous table settings, each table offers its own unique add-on benefits included with your purchase. Examples include a day of guided fly-fishing on the Lindner El Rancho Pinoso in the Blanco Basin, a spa experience; lift tickets for Wolf Creek, a catered picnic at a beautiful setting on the shores of the Blanco River and many other incredible bonus opportunities when you win your bid. Be sure to check the complete list of offerings at each table.

"Each table is being designed by teams of 'celebrity' decorators, specially chosen for their incredible artistic and creative skills" said chairperson Jann Pitcher. "The tables will carry out the theme of a selected book of their choosing. Some tables will be whimsical, others elegant, but all will be something wonderful to take home and enjoy."

Beginning March 15, for a donation of $2 per vote, you will be able to vote online for your favorite table. The table that receives the most votes will be awarded the prestigious Pagosa Pulitzer Prize, created by ceramic artist Jim Lutomski. The five tables with the highest number of online votes will go into a live auction at the Garden education series continues, seed-starting workshop set for March 18

By Suanne McLellan
Healthy Archuleta

There is clearly a gardening bug going around in Archuleta County.

In January, registration opened for Seed to Supper, a six-week basic gardening class presented by Healthy Archuleta, Colorado State University (CSU) Extension and the Pagosa Lakes Property Owners Association. The class filled quickly and there was such an overwhelming interest that a second section of the class was added, allowing for 50 people to learn the fundamentals of gardening at high altitude. In addition, there are 10 students enrolled in a Spanish-language section of the class.

If you missed the registration for Seed to Supper, there will be plenty of opportunities this spring and summer to learn about how to grow your own food. The Mountain High Garden Club, Healthy Archuleta Grower's Group and CSU Extension are teaming up for a series of 10 garden workshops this year, covering a wide range of essential gardening topics. The first event will be a Seed Swap and Seed Starting Workshop on Saturday, March 18, at the CSU Extension building.

The Seed Starting Workshop will start at 10 a.m. and will be taught by Suanne McLellan, former president of the Mountain High Garden Club and an experienced gardener for more than 35 years. To garden successfully in our short growing season, strong, healthy plant starts are a must. Starting your own transplants is a great way to save money and allows you to grow varieties that you might not be able to find for sale.

Workshop topics will include setting up the environment for growing indoors and what materials you will need and how to plant, water and thin seedlings. We will also demonstrate how to pot up the seedlings as they need more room to grow. There will be a $10 fee for the workshop and registration is required. You can register for the workshop at www.foodcoalition-4archuleta.org/garden-education.html.

Following the workshop, there will be a seed swap, starting at 11:30 a.m. and going until 1 p.m. The seed swap is free and all are welcome to join. This is always a fun community event. If you have seeds you would like to bring, come as early as 10 a.m. to set up. Please have your seeds in envelopes and clearly label them with name, variety and the year they were harvested. You can bring both flower and vegetable seeds.

This is a great way to learn which varieties grow best here in Archuleta County and to try new varieties that others have had good success growing. You are still welcome to come to the swap even if you don't have seeds to bring. Our Archuleta gardeners are happy to share their abundance of seeds to make Pagosa healthier and more beautiful.

To learn more about the entire 10-workshop series, visit www.foodcoalition4archuleta.org/garden-education.html.

McLellan will teach a Seed Starting Workshop on Saturday, March 18.

gala event. The table that receives the highest bid, silent or live, at the event on April 15 will win the Ruby Award, created by glass artist Mary Kurt-Mason.

Tickets for this evening of fun are $50, with proceeds going towards construction costs for the expansion of the library. Delicious hors d'oeuvres will be prepared by Todd Stevens and the Pagosa Springs High School culinary class, and a cash bar will offer beer and wine. The evening will be enhanced by the beautiful music of acoustic guitarist Steve Blechschmidt.

Tickets and online voting will be made available by going to the library's website at [\[pagosalibrary.org\]\(http://www.pagosalibrary.org\) beginning March 15. You may also purchase your tickets in person at the Ruby M. Sisson Memorial Library \(check or cash only\).](http://www.pa-

Two fun free art programs for kids tomorrow celebrating Youth Art Month

By Carole Howard
PREVIEW Columnist, and the library staff

Two new free children's programs take place tomorrow, Friday, March 10, to help kids celebrate Youth Art Month.

Little Picassos from 10-11 a.m., for artists aged 1 to 4, uses art to teach literacy skills. Participants should come ready to get messy. All materials are safe and nontoxic. This will be a monthly program.

Kids Create! from 2-3 p.m. is for kids ages 5 to 8. Participants will practice reading while creating mixed-media art pieces based on a picture book. Tomorrow's theme is Funky Faces. This also will be a monthly program.

Flu season protocols

The curbside service that we began for COVID safety continues — and it's also a healthful option in the cold and flu season. To save your energy and lessen germ exposure to other patrons, we recommend you use our curbside service — or add a name to your account authorizing that person to pick up items for you while you recuperate.

Knowledge Bowl today

Our second free middle school Knowledge Bowl takes place today, Thursday, March 9, from 4 to 5 p.m. for tweens and teens. Participants will form teams of up to six people to compete against each other by answering questions that cover a range of topics from math to spelling to pop culture.

Knowledge Bowl runs every second and fourth Thursday for the remainder of the school year. It is open to students in grades four through eight, or ages 11-14. Registration is not required.

Legal clinic tomorrow

The free legal clinic this month is happening by appointment tomorrow, Friday, March 10, from 2 to 3 p.m.

Come into the library to meet privately via Zoom with our volunteer attorney who will answer your questions, show you legal documents and help you fill out the necessary forms.

To schedule an appointment, at the beginning of the month, send an email titled "Sign-up for Free Legal Clinic," with your first name and phone number, to ruby@pagosalibrary.org, or phone (970) 264-2209 or stop by the library. The volunteer attorney's time is limited so it's first-come, first-served. This clinic takes place on the second Friday of every month.

Gaming tomorrow

Enjoy free all-ages video gaming on the Xbox 360 Kinect tomorrow, Friday, March 10, from 3-4 p.m.

LEGO Club on Saturday

Kids aged 6 and up are invited to bring your imaginations — LEGOs are provided — on Saturday, March 11, from 11 a.m. to noon for the free LEGO Club.

LEGO challenges also are posted on Facebook if you can't make it to the library.

Adult knitting on Saturday

A new Sit and Knit adult knitting time launches this Saturday, March 11, and will happen on the second Saturday of each month from 1 to 3 p.m. It is aimed at anyone over the age of 18 who would like to come and work on your project or get some help if you are stuck on a project.

Among the several health benefits of knitting are reducing stress and anxiety, improving cognitive function, boosting self-confidence and helping combat depression.

More online author talks

There will be three talks this month in our free online virtual series featuring New York Times bestselling authors and thought-leaders giving live, professionally moderated book discussions you can view on your computer, tablet or smartphone with Internet access. You will have an opportunity to ask questions of the authors.

On Monday, March 13, at 11 a.m., we'll meet with David Epstein, author of "Range: Why Generalists Triumph in a Specialized World."

Tuesday, March 21, at 2 p.m. will showcase author and celebrity chef Jernard A. Wells.

Tuesday, March 28, will feature Pam Jenoff, author of historical fiction often set during World War II and featuring strong women; her latest, published last month, is "Code Name Sapphire."

Children's Spanish class on Monday

Join us next Monday, March 13, from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. for a Spanish class for kids aged 6 to 11 to help youngsters learn and improve their Spanish.

Ruby's Book Club next Tuesday

Ruby's Book Club meets from 2 to 3 p.m. on Tuesday, March 14, to discuss "Remember: The Science of Memory and the Art of Forgetting" by Lisa Genova. Copies are available at your library.

This book club is held the second Tuesday of each month, alternating between fiction and non-fiction titles. Anyone is welcome to attend.

Spanish conversation

Next Tuesday, March 14, from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m., we will gather to practice speaking and listening skills together at this free session. There is no minimum skill level required to attend.

You also can learn Spanish and many other languages using the Transparent Language Learning database available at

SJBPH radon event next Thursday

Let's hope snow doesn't affect this rescheduled event again: Next Thursday, March 16, from noon to 1 p.m., a SJBPH representative will discuss the dangers of radon gas in homes and businesses, take your questions, and distribute free radon test kits. Winter is the best time to test for the cancer-causing gas because levels are highest when windows and doors are closed.

The kits are preaddressed, so once you've finished the test, you can just seal it up and drop it in the mail. You'll get your results via email or mail from the lab that made the tests. The geology of southwest Colorado leads to an increased risk of radon gas here, so this is an important topic for us to understand. In fact, radon exposure is the leading cause of lung cancer, even in people who have never smoked.

Writing challenge

A new all-ages writing challenge will be posted March 13 on the library's Facebook page. We hope you will challenge your creativity by participating in this free activity.

Homework and tutoring help

Our highly popular free homework assistance and elementary tutoring are available for students in kindergarten through fourth grade on Wednesdays from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. There is a registration packet for parents and guardians to fill out to enroll your child that you can get by emailing the library or coming in. This program has been a big hit because it helps build essential skills in core subjects. You still can register your child, but you may be put on a wait list.

Family storytime

Wednesdays from 10-11 a.m., join us for free in-person children's stories, games, and plenty of reasons to get up and move.

ESL classes

Free in-person evening classes take place on Tuesdays and Thursdays, with 4 to 5 p.m. reserved for beginners and 5 to 7 p.m. for both intermediate and advanced students. Please help us spread the word about these classes to others in our community who would be interested, and contact us by phone or email if you have any questions.

PALS/GED adult education

Mark is available for his free PALS sessions on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5:30 to 8 p.m. to help with high school equivalency, GED, college prep, financial aid, tutoring and more. No registration is required.

Tech Time

Free in-person slots are available from 10 a.m. to noon Tuesdays and 2 to 4 p.m. Thursdays. Judy will help you with basic questions relating to computers, smartphones and tablets and also provide assistance in accessing any of the library's online resources. You do not need an appointment for these drop-in sessions.

Downloadable books

CloudLibrary has a wide variety of downloadable e-books and audiobooks for all ages, and accessing this free digital collection is very easy. You just need to download the cloudLibrary app, answer a few simple questions, select AspenCat Union Catalog for the name of your library, then enter your library card number and four-digit PIN. You are now ready to browse, borrow and read e-books and audiobooks using cloudLibrary. Library staff are happy to help you set up your device if you need assistance.

Senior discount card available to those 60 and better

By Rose Chavez
PREVIEW Columnist

The Pagosa Senior Center is continuing its annual tradition of providing a local discount card for those ages 60 and better.

The discount card encourages seniors to support local recreational, restaurant, medical and retail services. These local businesses provide a discount ranging from 5 percent to 20 percent off services.

For more information, visit our website, <http://www.psseniors.org/discount-club.html>.

Legal services presentation

The Archuleta County community is invited to a public meeting on Wednesday, March 15, at 9:30 a.m. at the Senior Center to listen to an overview on free legal services available for seniors in southwest Colorado and how to apply for Colorado Legal Services programs.

There will be a Q-and-A session about the programs and resources available, but no legal advice will be provided as part of this presentation.

Sourdough lesson

The Senior Center is kicking off our homesteading essentials workshop series with a sourdough basics course on March 20. A free class will be put on by local baker Alison Braun.

The course will include history and health benefits of fresh, local sourdough, tools you really need for bread making, starting and maintaining a starter, fermentation tactics/times, details for mixing and proofing, and sharing of favorite sourdough formulas. Registration to attend is required, so please call (970) 264-2167 to put your name on the list. Limited seats are available.

Future workshops will include composting, food preservation, growing dome and backyard gardening, herbalism and more. We are looking for local experts to share their knowledge in this series supporting self-reliance and sustainability in our community.

Please contact us if you are interested in leading a class or participating.

Free seasonal art class

The next free art class at the Senior Center will be Tuesday, March 28, at 1:15 p.m. No reservations are required, but space is limited so be sure to be there by 1:15 p.m. The class will last approximately an hour and a half.

Have you ever wondered how lilies came to be at Easter? In this class, we’ll be exploring that answer as well as making some lilies from paper. No art skill is required for this class, just a desire to have fun and learn something about the history of the Easter lily while making your bouquet. All materials will be provided including the scissors, paper and glue. Templates will be provided to trace and cut out the various parts that go into making this lovely lily.

All ages are invited, so find a friend and bring them along. Our teacher will again be Denise Fisk, who is a retired elementary art teacher from Iowa. So, come and hear about the traditions around the lily and help us bring springtime to life in this special way.

St. Patrick's Episcopal Church will host its St. Patrick's Day celebration on Saturday, March 18, including the "world's shortest parade."

St. Patrick's Day celebration to be held March 18

By Anthony Aldwell
St. Patrick's Episcopal Church

One of the first hints of spring in Pagosa Springs is St. Patrick's Episcopal Church's St. Patrick's Day celebration, featuring the "world's shortest parade" at 11:15 a.m. on March 18.

The celebration starts at 11 a.m. at St. Patrick's Church, next to the hospital, and will also include vendor and nonprofit booths, bagpipes, free hot dogs, Irish coffee and beer for sale, and the opportunity for children to ride on the float with St. Patrick. Donations of canned goods for the food pantry will be appreciated.

Vendors who have not registered yet can do so at no charge by contacting Lynne McCrudden at (970) 731-5801.

Snow or shine, sport your green and help St. Patrick celebrate the day.

Mahjong

Mahjong is a 19th century Chinese tile-based game that is commonly played with four players. Each player receives 13 tiles with a goal to make matching sets and pairs (like poker). To win, a player must form four sets and one pair. Come to the Senior Center to learn or play every Tuesday at 1:15 p.m.

Bridge

The longest-played bridge game in Archuleta County takes place on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 1 p.m. We have eliminated Monday bridge due to lack of consistent participation and will be replacing it with different programming.

Bridge is a four-player card game with partners sitting opposite each other around a table. It is a trick-taking card game using a standard 52-card deck. Come alone or bring a partner.

Engaging pictures

Engaging pictures are needed from seniors and their families who live, work and play their best lives in Archuleta County. We are looking for pictures that convey people's active lifestyles, families, culture and more. We would like to use these pictures in our grant applications, on social media and on our website. Please email all pictures to rosa@psseniors.org or feel free to drop them off.

New Thought topic: ‘De-cluttering our Life and Making Room for your True Expression of your Spiritual Gifts’

By Shayla McClure
New Thought Center for Inspirational Living

The March 12 Sunday service at 11 a.m. with Shayla McClure, spiritual director, will be “De-cluttering our Life and Making Room for your True Expression of your Spiritual Gifts.”

“Just imagine becoming the way you used to be as a very young child, before you understood the meaning of any word, before opinions took over your mind. The real you is loving, joyful and free. The real you is just like a flower, just like the wind, just like the ocean, just like the sun.” — Don Miguel Ruiz, author of “The Four Agreements.”

Upcoming events

SpiritHeart Band practice is Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. We welcome musicians and singers to join SpiritHeart band. Please text Bruce at (970) 507-0739 for band information.

March 21, 6 p.m.: Spring equinox drumming circle and ceremony at the New Thought Center. Bring drums, rattles and musical instruments. Text/call (970) 510-0309 for more information.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you’ll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here’s How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Archuleta County Fair Board seeking members

By Tonya Steadmon
Archuleta County Fair Board

The Archuleta County Fair Board needs members of our community to help us plan one of the most significant historical events of the year. We are looking for more individuals to join our board. We are a working board with seven members and can have 15.

Do you reside in Archuleta County? Are you new to the community? Do you want to be a part of our history and traditions?

We are celebrating 72 years of the Archuleta County Fair this year, and our goal is to continue our traditions while embracing the growth of our community. We need help to grow our fair and make it the biggest yet.

While this requires quite a bit of work throughout the year and the actual event, it is also fun and rewarding. We enjoy seeing our community get together and make memories, visit with old friends, and make new friends.

We work closely with the Colorado State University staff, 4-H leaders, 4-H kids and parents, livestock board, volunteers, Pagosa Mountain Rotary Club and community organizations. They and others give an incredible amount of time and dedication to this event, and it would not be possible to do this without them. We are proud of our community and its commitment to our youth.

We need you. Your community needs you. Please consider helping us by either joining the board or volunteering. Contact us at archuletacountyfair@gmail.com or Tonya Steadmon at (970) 759-8086. We would love to visit with you and give you more information.

Bird of the Week

This week's Bird of the Week, compliments of the Weminuche Audubon Society and Audubon Rockies, is the sandhill crane.

In winter, immense flocks of sandhill cranes are found in the Bosque del Apache National Wildlife Refuge in New Mexico and in other areas of the southern United States and northern Mexico. Before these birds head off to northern breeding areas, they congregate in the thousands at sites known as staging areas.

These areas, like the National Wildlife Refuge in Monte Vista, provide places to feed and rest. Here these cranes feed on seeds, grains and small animals in nearby fields, loaf during midday and roost at night in large groups, standing in shallow water areas which provide some protection against predators.

With long, broad wings, neck stretched out and feet trailing, sandhill cranes are strong fliers capable of flying up to 400 miles per day. Many of the birds stopping in Colorado head as far as Idaho, Montana and Wyoming to breed. Following courtship, pairs mate for life and stay together throughout their long lives. Dancing to each other with leaps into the air strengthens pair bonds. This activity is not limited to courtship displays and, once started, can spread throughout the flock at any time of year.

Powerful feet with sharp claws and strong bills are used by adults against predators in defense of nests and young birds called colts. A female typically lays two eggs in a hidden ground nest near water, but most often only one young survives to fledgling stage.

Adult sandhill cranes are large, tall birds colored slate gray with a rusty wash on the back and red on the crown that extends over the eyes. Spending time with huge numbers of these majestic birds while listening to their constant chatter is mesmerizing, an experience available now until early April in Monte Vista.

An article in last week's (March 2) SUN by Colorado Parks and Wildlife describes the Crane Festival held in Monte Vista from March 10 to 12 to celebrate these amazing birds.

Oregano

Oregano means “mountain joy”. It is a rich natural source of vitamin K, also has anti-bacterial properties as it contains thymol and carvacrol, two oils which have remarkable bacteria-fighting power. In fact, researchers recently discovered that oregano is a better treatment for giardia than the prescription drug commonly prescribed to treat the illness. Thymol and an acid called rosmarinic are potent antioxidants that oregano offers. Oregano is high in iron, manganese, and other important minerals for health. It's one of the healthiest and tastiest herbs you can try.

What Seventh-day Adventists Believe...

#8 of 28: The Great Controversy: “All humanity is now involved in a great controversy between Christ and Satan regarding the character of God, His law, and His sovereignty over the universe. This conflict originated in heaven when a created being, endowed with freedom of choice, in self-exaltation became Satan, God's adversary, and led into rebellion a portion of the angels. He introduced the spirit of rebellion into this world when he led Adam and Eve into sin. This human sin resulted in the distortion of the image of God in humanity, the disordering of the created world, and its eventual devastation at the time of the worldwide flood. Observed by the whole creation, this world became the arena of the universal conflict, out of which the God of love will ultimately be vindicated. To assist His people in this controversy, Christ sends the Holy Spirit and the loyal angels to guide, protect, and sustain them in the way of Salvation.”

“And war broke out in heaven: Michael and his angels fought with the dragon; and the dragon and his angels fought, but they did not prevail, nor was a place found for them in heaven any longer. So the great dragon was cast out, that serpent of old, call the Devil and Satan, who deceives the whole world; he was cast to the earth, and his angels were cast with him.”

The perils of poor vision

By Stan F. Counsell
PREVIEW Columnist

In my youth, it was most dreaded having to wear glasses. Hearing someone shout out, “Here comes four-eyes!” would sink my stomach. I bet most, if not all, who called out that disparaging phrase have their own vision issues now.

But, as adults, we no longer hear that offense or feel the embarrassment of wearing glasses or contact lenses. For most, it’s a part of life just like breathing, and such insults are a distant blur now for anyone who experienced them. We have the freedom to choose any cool color, size and design that complements our unique look and personality.

But, when it comes to the saving knowledge of Jesus Christ, we were given a new vision that doesn’t require glasses because nothing is hidden from us by our Lord. Suddenly our thoughts of a real heaven, hell or an eternal relationship with Jesus became stunningly 20-20.

There is a profound and glorious afterlife, but it doesn’t have differing roads that lead to it. That one and only road is Jesus Christ, who made it profoundly clear that he was the only way to a glorious never-ending afterlife. In John 14:6, Jesus clearly says, “I am the way, the truth, and the life. No one can come to the Father except through me.” That is pretty clear, huh?

But, with poor vision, we can think there are other ways to God too. We can wrongly believe such roads are wide with unnumbered lanes from which to choose. Yet, Jesus said in Matthew 7:13, “You can enter God’s Kingdom only through the narrow gate. The highway to hell is broad and its gate is wide for the many that choose that way.”

The extent of spiritual blindness is shown by Jesus in Revelation 3:17: “You say, ‘I am rich. I have everything I want. I don’t need a thing!’ And you don’t realize that you are wretched, miserable, poor, blind and naked.” Yes, we can have it all and think that there is no real need for Jesus. Yet, Psalm 119:15, 18 says, “I will fix my eyes on Your ways” and “Open my eyes that I may see the wonders of your Word.”

Yes, God’s Word is wonderful. Spiritual gold, silver, diamonds, emeralds and other precious stones of His truth are just beneath the surface for us all to find and see.

A previous Matter of Faith writer made it easier to grasp: “God hugs” are a constant. Each gift that we discover, just below the surface, is a personal hug from the Lord. We find hugs of comfort in times of stress, sorrow, failures, the dentist office and when the “walls are closing in.” We are never alone. “God hugs” can even be found at work; many can attest to that.

That cry for Jesus’ love, comfort and correction should be the call of every follower of Jesus, even for those seeking the genuine truths that are found only in the Word of God. Paul, the apostle, addressed the issue of poor spiritual sight in 1 Corinthians 13:12, “For now we see in part.”

Here, he was referring to the followers of Christ who need to keep their eyes on Jesus Christ. While on this earth we aren’t a “finished product”; our vision needs to be constantly of importance so as to ensure a consistent growth as we follow Jesus on that narrow road.

Sure, it’s great to go, and belong, to a good Bible-believing and teaching church where we see many a good friend. There should be no shame in that. I do it, too. A smile, handshake, hug and laugh is wonderful to experience. But, our first goal is to have God anoint our eyes to seek and find the truth of His Word, to experience its liberation from short-sighted spiritual vision, to be set free to love Him and others.

Doctor Jesus, the great physician, has no waiting room for us to cool our heels in. His office is always open, his chair more than delightful, his voice comforting and his concern for our health peacefully thorough. After barely entering Jesus’ office, the angels will always call out, “The doctor will see you now.” Wow, no waiting. How cool is that?

Countywide Women’s Bible Study continuing study of Joshua

By Stan Counsell
Countywide Women’s Bible Study

With the roads no longer being a hazard of snow and ice, the women’s study is back on track, and the ladies enjoyed returning to a warm, joyful ambiance of friendships and the Word of God made easy to understand while learning many interesting facts.

The study continues in the Book of Joshua. Much history, archeology and culture has made Jericho and its destruction quite eye-opening. Just how did Joshua and his Hebrew followers experience and handle profound fear mixed with the celebration of a mind-blowing victory when Jericho’s walls fell? Sadly, many try to discredit the Bible, trying to dismiss the story of Jericho, but the study’s moderator clearly provides the historical, cultural and biblical evidence, its archaeological discoveries and understanding of the Jewish experience.

Occasionally, having your own struggles, as followers of Christ, it is heart-warming to learn of Joshua’s own limitations. Superman would not at all describe him. He was a flawed human being just like everyone. He didn’t possess mighty leadership skills; he was just an imperfect man. Yet God was loyal to him, bathed him with His love, grace and forgiving guidance.

Have you ever heard the expression, “Want to make God laugh? Tell Him your plans.”? That applies to all who walk this earth. Not including the Lord in your daily plans can prove to be disastrous. Joshua found this out not once, but twice.

Your facilitator is Roberta (‘Bert’) Counsell. She’s an ordained women’s pastor from an international evangelical organization encompassing over 4,400 churches in 116 countries. Her delight is the deep researching of biblical passages and stories in order to joyfully teach hungry and inquisitive minds, and make the difficult easy.

The women’s Bible study meets every Tuesday morning from 10 to 11:30 a.m. in the spacious and warm fellowship hall of the Grace in Pagosa campus. It is located at 1044 Park Ave., across from the recreation center. Bring your preferred Bible and personality; learning is fun when bathed in laughter. The study is always free. You can visit any Tuesday and be heartily welcomed. Should you have any questions or comments, please call (970) 264-9931.

Trustworthy.

Spiritual Experiences Group to host HU event March 12

By Laurah Brock Young
Spiritual Experiences Group of Pagosa Springs

I have been singing HU, an ancient mantra and sacred sound, for over 40 years. Singing HU has helped change my awareness, acting as a tuning fork, aligning me as soul with unconditional love, creativity, healing and expanded awareness.

HU is an ancient name for God, a carrier of love between soul and God. It has been sung for thousands of years and, in many places, for spiritual unfoldment. It can uplift people of any religion, culture or walk of life.

The following quote illustrates my own experience: “When you sing HU, you are spiritualizing your attention. You are saying, ‘I am putting all my attention, heart, and soul upon the highest good I can imagine.’” — “The Sound of Soul” by Harold Klemp, page 39.

During the upcoming event, you will have the opportunity to experience some of the benefits of singing HU: inner peace and calm, expanded awareness, alignment with your true purpose and healing of the heart. To learn more about HU, you can read more at www.hearhu.org.

The event includes singing HU for 15-20 minutes and a few minutes of quiet contemplation followed by a spiritual conversation with others of like heart. Our discussions are free and open to people of all faiths and beliefs.

The events are sponsored by Eckankar and will be held at the Pagosa Lakes Property Owners Association Clubhouse, 230-A Port Ave., on Sunday, March 12, at 1 p.m.

Use the following link to find other in-person discussions and online events offered by the Spiritual Experiences Group of Pagosa Springs: <https://www.meetup.com/pagosa-springs-spiritual-experiences-group/events/>.

An acquired taste for poetry

Not everyone’s palate has acquired a taste for poetry. One morning as my Sweet Al and I sat with coffee in hand, Bible and a book of Luci Shaw’s poetry, I emboldened myself against my Sweet Al’s resistance. “I don’t want to hear any more poetry. Just read from the Bible.”

Wow! How can you not love Luci Shaw’s sacramental poetry? Even Eugene Peterson, translator of The Message, had great swelling words about her work.

He said, “Each book is a reliable companion in exegeting the word and presence of God. I turn a page and see a piece of creation that I had seen but not seen, recognize a soul’s syllable that I had heard but not heard. They are resurrection poems.”

“Al, we’re seeing things we hadn’t paid any attention to before. They make us feel deeply about God’s creation. Her words are life-giving words,” I said.

“I don’t care. You read them three or four times and I still don’t get anything out of them. And you are so redundant.”

“Because I’m trying to explain her poetry to you. I just ordered another book. I am so enthralled with her. I want to write like her.”

“You’re even starting to talk like her. I don’t want to hear it.”

“But, Al, listen to this. Her words are so powerful to my spirit. When she writes of the birth of Christ, her words gently rise in my soul and I fly into the presence of God. Not too many authors can do that for their readers.”

Shaw writes, “Small-folded in a warm dim female space, the Word nine months dumb, infinity walled in a womb, the Mighty submitted to a woman’s pains, helpless on a barn-bare floor first tasting bitter earth.”

“Do you get it? She’s telling us how Jesus, the glory of Almighty God, was walled in a small space, didn’t say a word for nine months, submitted to his own birth through a woman’s pain and tasted bitter

Artist’s Lane

earth for the first time.”

“Why can’t you just say, ‘Jesus was born in a manger? Cut it short.’”

I didn’t pay any attention to him. This week, I mimicked her style, not in rhyme or cadence, but in strong, intended words for the first chapter of book two of my series.

I want to write like Shaw. She explained the wind this way: “Intimate cottonwoods lifted their leafy skirts and blew their small soft kisses into my tent.”

Wow. The wind is flirting with us. Can’t you see it? Can’t you feel it?

“No. Just say the wind blew the leaves. I’ve got work to do.”

I met with Al’s resistance again. Al has plenty of time to hear, but, impatient to learn, he wants to get on with life. Are the hearts of people too much in a hurry to read and ponder on things? Cut it short and to the point — is that what life’s all about today? I continued to elaborate and my excited words took their last breath and died on Al’s ears.

I must defend Shaw, one of the greatest poets of our time. Said of Shaw, “She has learned not just to scratch the ground but to plow deep. When she writes of a Christmas tree, or a star, or a sonic boom, or a gull, or a garbage truck, we can, if we read with care, hear the voice of the infinite.”

Shaw yearned to unveil God’s splendor and grace. I yearn to have that capability, to move readers in a deeper way, so they will yearn to be one with the God of this universe.

Shaw died in 2022 at the age of 94 and described her dedication to the art as a burden to speak into a culture that finds it hard to listen.

Well, if Shaw could have heard my Sweet Al this morning, she would have definitely felt the burden to speak. But I know the spirit whispers in her ear and she is where she yearned to be. She threw caution to the wind, even willing to be misunderstood, because hungry hearts crave to taste life-giving words.

With an acquired taste of hearing God's words, readers know what Shaw wrote is from God and has the power to pierce between soul and spirit, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart.

Final brushstroke: Shaw learned, whether people listen or not, she must speak. Her words have passed through the needle eye of who she was as a writer, but more than that, she has met with God and has become one with him.

Can hearing devices help you?

1. Do people seem to mumble or talk in a softer voice than they used to?
2. When in a crowd or in a busy restaurant, is it hard for you to follow the discussion?
3. Do you feel the need to turn up the volume on your TV or radio such that it is too loud for others?
4. Do you often need to ask others to repeat themselves?
5. Has someone close to you pointed out that you may have a hearing problem?

If you answered "YES" to one or more of these questions, call us today!
