coverstory
BY JAY BOBBIN

Timothy Omundson

Peacock blooms in full as streaming service gets wider premiere

Fans of a certain series are bound to be particularly “Psych”-ed about the wide debut of Peacock.

After a version of it debuted three months earlier for subscribers of parent company Comcast, NBC Universal’s streaming service gets total national distribution starting Wednesday, July 15. Drawing from the past and present series libraries of NBC and its affiliated cable networks, as well as the movie vault of Universal Pictures, Peacock also will have original offerings in scripted and unscripted programming plus (when such events resume) sports.

Among the new Peacock options available at full launch will be “Psych 2: Lassie Come Home,” the second movie sequel to the comedy-mystery series that spent eight seasons on USA Network. Sleuths Shawn and Gus (James Roday, who also co-wrote the script with executive producer and director Steve Franks, and Dule Hill) investigate an attack on their police comrade Lassiter (Timothy Omundson), as does his former partner Juliet (Maggie Lawson), who’s now married to Shawn.

Seen recently on the Fox sitcom “Outmatched,” Lawson says a huge appeal of “Psych 2” for her was the chance to work again with Omundson, whose work on the first “Psych” movie sequel was limited by a stroke he suffered. “It was such an emotionally charged time and experience for all of us,” the pleasant Lawson reflects of making the latest follow-up. “We felt whole again. And to watch Tim in this ... he does such a good job.”

Other new Peacock programs available on July 15 will include: “Brave New World,” adapting the Aldous Huxley sci-fi novel and starring Demi Moore; the British mystery “The Capture”; “Intelligence,” a British-made spy comedy with “Friends” alum David Schwimmer; the unscripted “Lost Speedways” (with Dale Earnhardt Jr.) and “In Deep With Ryan Lochte”; and the children’s series “Cleopatra in Space” and “Where’s Waldo?” Families also can watch new episodes of “Curious George.”

However, exactly what is available to Peacock viewers will depend on which tier of the service they have. Those who choose the free, ad-supported version will have access to certain episodes of its original series. Full seasons of the shows can be seen by those who pay for a “Premium” version that also will have ads, and also by those who subscribe to a version that will cost more but will be without commercials.

Lawson says she’s game to do more “Psych” projects for Peacock, especially if it means getting to do more scenes with Omundson. She credits Franks with letting them improvise for “Psych 2”: “That emotion, he let a lot of it play. You can see it in the movie, yet it’s still the ‘Psych’ everybody knows. And that’s one of my most favorite things about it.”

In Focus

“Helter Skelter: An American Myth” (EPIX — series premiere, July 26)

The untold story behind cult leader Charles Manson and his followers’ heinous crimes is told in this six-part docuseries through interviews with former members, archival footage and newly unearthed images. The program may also upend the views of those who tune in as new light is shed on the “Crime of the Century.”

"12 Monkeys"

"12 MONKEYS: THE COMPLETE SERIES"

Inspired by the same-named movie, this Syfy show had a fairly healthy run, lasting four seasons. Using the same basic premise, it casts Aaron Stanford as a fugitive from the future, sent to the present day by those behind the so-called "Project Splinter" to eliminate the cause of a plague that eventually will wipe out mankind. A doctor (Amanda Schull) helps him, but only partially willingly, since assisting him sometimes forces her to go against her professional oath. The regular cast also includes Kirk Acevedo, Noah Bean, Emily Hampshire and Barbara Sukowa. The movie's Charles Roven also was an executive producer here. ★★★ (Not rated: AS, P, V) (Also on Blu-ray)

"IMAX: JOURNEY TO SPACE"

With astronauts having gone back to the cosmos recently in the first U.S. space launch in some time, there might be extra interest now in this documentary, making its DVD debut (an interesting twist, since that's the physical home-video format that typically comes first) along with some other features made for the immersive IMAX theatrical format. None other than "Jean-Luc Picard" himself, Patrick Stewart, is the appropriate

"Fridge Wars" (The CW — series premiere, Aug. 2)

Two top chefs are pitted against each other with a challenge to create extraordinary meals using only the ingredients taken from the fridges of ordinary families. Host Emma Hunter visits a family's home and conducts a surprise fridge raid. Then everything is taken back to the studio where the family's fridge is recreated for both chefs. Once the clock starts, the chefs have 45 minutes to get dinner on the table — cooking with ingredients they've never seen for people they've never met.

"The Real Housewives of Potomac" (Bravo — season premiere, Aug. 2)

Love, babies and houses are all new, as is new housewife Wendy Osefo, but you can be sure that the drama will never grow old as Season 5 of this reality series opens. Returning faces include Gizelle Bryant, Karen Huger, Ashley Darby, Robyn Dixon, Monique Samuels, and Candace Dillard Bassett.

narrator as the focus is placed on the space shuttle program and its achievements — including its role in such projects as the Hubble Space Telescope and the International Space Station. Capping the program is a projection of a mission to Mars, which would see travelers remain on the so-called "red planet" for a reasonably long period of time. ★★★ (Not rated) (Also on Blu-ray and 4K Ultra HD)

"THE MAGICIANS: SEASON FIVE"

After recently concluding its run, this Syfy show puts forth its fifth and final round on home video. The last set of stories begins with a meteor shower that indicates something has gone haywire in the realm of magic ... but in a more immediate level for the regular characters, the fate of some of them hangs in the balance, a situation that runs right up to the closing moments of the series finale. Stella Maeve, Olivia Taylor Dudley, Hale Appleman, Arjun Gupta and Summer Bishil are among cast members who saw the show through from its start to its finish. A "Complete Series" set also is available. ★★★ (Not rated: AS, P, V) (Also on Blu-ray)

"RIDE WITH NORMAN REEDUS, SERIES 1"

His success with "The Walking Dead" helped cast member Reedus land his own AMC series, a documentary of sorts in which he joins other motorcycling enthusiasts to discuss various aspects of the biker culture, often while they're literally on the road. Among his guests in this freshman season was someone who personified the theme for many people ... the since-deceased Peter Fonda, iconic for his starring role in the movie "Easy Rider." Balthazar Getty and filmmaker Robert Rodriguez also are featured. The show, which has gone on to feature many more stars and their bikes, has been renewed for a fifth season. ★★★ (Not rated: AS, P) (Also on Blu-ray)

"KOBE: LIFE OF A LEGEND"

Tributes surely were bountiful when basketball icon Kobe Bryant died with several others, very sadly including his daughter Gianna, in a helicopter crash last January. This documentary also recalls the athlete's life and times, which encompassed many milestones during his two decades with the Los Angeles Lakers ... including five NBA championships. His not-always-smooth relationship with teammate Shaquille O'Neal is considered, as are his Summer Olympics stints that brought him two Gold Medals as a member of the USA National Men's Basketball Team. He also was an Oscar winner for writing and narrating the animated short subject "Dear Basketball." ★★★ (Not rated)

Eight years after his first "Golden" handshake, Patrick Cantlay got another with a monumental final round at the 2019 Memorial Tournament.

Down four shots going into Sunday, the 28-year-old Californian turned in a performance for the ages, playing bogey-free golf and birdying eight holes, including an 18-foot putt on the 72nd hole to finish with an 8-under 64, the lowest final round score in tournament history. His two-stroke victory over a faltering Martin Kaymer was the second of his PGA career and earned him a handshake from the Golden Bear himself, Jack Nicklaus, the tournament's founder and host.

"I finished it," he told Nicklaus as he walked off the 18th green.

He first met the Golden Bear in 2011, when he won the Jack Nicklaus Award as the top college player when he was at UCLA. Going into Sunday's action, he used a bit of advice Nicklaus gave him to help him focus – just relax and enjoy the surroundings.

And that he did. His win with a 19-under 269 moved him up to sixth in the FedEx Cup standings and somewhat atoned for his failure the year before, when he blew a two-shot lead on the back nine to miss a playoff. This year, he putted for birdie on every hole on the back nine.

He'll return to Muirfield Village Golf Club in Dublin, Ohio, to defend his title in the 2020 Memorial Tournament, which airs Thursday through Sunday, July 16-19, on Golf Channel and CBS.

Answers:

- 1) The Los Angeles Coliseum
- 2) Sportsman's Park
- 3) The Polo Grounds
- 4) Colt Stadium
- 5) Hilltop Park
- 6) Navin Field
- 7) Braves Field (Boston), County Stadium (Milwaukee), Atlanta-Fulton County Stadium (Atlanta), Turner Field (Atlanta)
- 8) Jarry Park
- 9) Los Angeles Wrigley Field
- 10) Crosley Field

Craving Cajun? Log on for some savory recipes

Anyone who has ever been to New Orleans has tried Cajun.

Whether it's at a fine-dining establishment, a diner or even an airport snack bar, the cuisine is a constant presence in the Crescent City and many who have visited there have gotten hooked.

From gumbo and jambalaya to etouffe and seafood boils, there certainly is a lot to like and if you fall into that category, you might even want to try your hand at a recipe or two.

Toward that end, there are a number of amateur and professional chefs online who can give you guidance. So boot up the laptop or tablet and take in some video knowledge from these experts.

Emeril Lagasse (www.youtube.com/playlist?list=PLFecQJRJd4b-LH2eldgBlcgeU8cYlkQ3): No one is more passionate about Cajun than the affable Emeril and in the "Big Easy Food" section of his YouTube channel, you'll find not only the requisite gumbo, jambalaya and etouffee recipes but also how-tos for making unusual dishes such as chorizo stewed in cider, oysters casino and crawfish imperial. You can't go wrong with Emeril.

Cajun Cooking TV (www.youtube.com/user/mikestokes1): Baton Rouge, La., native Beryl Stokes is your host for this informative series of weekly videos aimed at working folks that walks them through the steps of making restaurant-quality Cajun meals at home. Its nearly 150 videos show how to make not only things like beignets and shrimp and grits but also explain the finer points of cooking with a cast-iron skillet.

Creative Cajun Cooking (creativecajuncooking.com): Mixed in with recipes and ads for its catering service and Cajun food products are dozens of how-to videos for dishes such as a swamp burger, a Mardi Gras dip, a Cajun prime rib and redfish buras. And for a side, there is a gator pickle potato salad – which, by the way, contains no gator meat.

Captain Coby's Cajun Cooking (www.youtube.com/channel/UC1vFUMMXI0nmhrm3nLxZhPg/ featured): While a lot of Cajun cooking can be centered on seafood, Captain Coby's channel has a little bit of everything, showing how to make dishes such as pulled pork, smothered cabbage, pralines, steak in gravy, white chocolate bread pudding and a pig roast. But not to worry, seafood lovers, there are also shrimp, redfish and crab recipes as well.

Cajun Cousins Cooking (www.youtube.com/channel/UCPO665BfRudnhh8KXiUf6kQ): Chef Brett Hebert is about as Cajun as it gets and all his recipes are made from scratch, among them red beans, rice and sausage, home-made fried chicken, stuffed pork loin, a garlic cheese bread and a seafood mac and cheese with crab, shrimp and lobster. These are detailed videos so take notes.

Louisiana Cajun Recipes (www.youtube.com/user/007bondjb): An entertaining character named JB isn't above having a cold one as he demonstrates how to smoke brisket, do a crawfish boil and make New Orleans bread pudding with whiskey sauce, among other dishes. And you'll have a few laughs along with the knowledge.

What's Available NOW On

“Work in Progress”

Lilly Wachowski (“The Matrix,” “Sense8”) co-wrote this half-hour comedy series co-created by and starring Chicago improv comedy star Abby McEnany as Abby, a self-identified overweight lesbian currently struggling with despair and rotten luck in equal measure. Unexpectedly, those same factors lead Abby into a new relationship that could turn out to be truly transformative. Karin Anglin, Celeste Pechous and Julia Sweeney also are featured.

“Liar”

This psychological drama starring Joanne Froggatt (“Downton Abbey”) and Ioan Gruffudd (the “Hornblower” movies) keeps the viewer guessing as to who the guilty party is. Froggatt stars as a schoolteacher who agrees to go on a date with the father (Gruffudd) of one of her students, a renowned surgeon, and she winds up filing rape charges after waking up from a drug-induced haze.

“Annie Oakley”

Gail Davis (“Wagon Team”) stars in this 1954-57 Western, a fictionalized account of the life of Old West gunslinger Annie Oakley, who with her little brother Tagg (Jimmy Hawkins, “It’s a Wonderful Life”) and Deputy Sheriff Lofty Craig (Brad Johnson, “Death Valley Days”) maintained law and order in the quiet town of Diablo.

“Absentia”

As Season 3 opens, Emily (Stana Katic) is serving out the final days of her FBI suspension when an international criminal case hits too close to home, threatening to upend her family and everything she holds dear and forcing she and ex-husband Nick (Patrick Heusinger) to intervene. Geoff Bell, Josette Simon and Matthew Le Nevez also star in the new round. (ORIGINAL)
