

A new 'GRAMMY Salute to Music Legends' honors John Prine, Chicago and others

Each year, several music icons get a special tribute from the organization that presents the Grammy Awards - and, at least in that respect, this year is no different.

Airing again as a PBS "Great Performances" presentation Friday, Oct. 16 (check local listings), the "GRAMMY Salute to Music Legends" honors another diverse assortment of singular talents who have received the Recording Academy's 2020 Lifetime Achievement Awards: Roberta Flack, Iggy Pop, the groups Chicago and Public Enemy, and - posthumously - Isaac Hayes, John Prine and Sister Rosetta Tharpe. Among others feted are composer Philip Glass and longtime Grammy-show producer Ken Ehrlich.

Jimmy Jam hosts the program, which features performances of the honorees' music by Laurie Anderson, Philip Bailey, Brandi Carlile, Cynthia Erivo, Chris Isaak, Jason Isbell & Amanda Shires, Cyndi Lauper, Sam Moore, Leslie Odom Jr. and Yola. Presenters include John Legend, LL Cool J, Joe Mantegna ("Criminal Minds"), Henry Rollins, Rhiannon Giddens and music producer Don Was.

Jimmy Jam notes he has "some connection" to every artist celebrated on the show, "because that's the great thing about what music does. I have to say Chicago was my favorite group growing up. I was a sax player when I was younger, and I tried to play all

"Moonbase 8" (Showtime series premiere, Nov. 8) This new six-episode comedy series stars Fred Armisen ("Portlandia"), Tim Heidecker ("Tim and Eric Awesome Show," "Great Job!") and John C. Reilly ("Walk Hard: The Dewey Cox Story") as three subpar astronauts living at NASA's Moon Base Simulator with high hopes of being chosen to travel to the moon. As they work to complete their training, the trio quickly encounter a series of unexpected circumstances that make them question whether or not they are cut out for space trave their horn parts. I was a drummer, and I tried to play all their drum parts.

"The first concert my parents took me to when I was young was a Chicago concert," adds Jimmy Jam. "When my partner Terry (Lewis) and I were inducted into the (Songwriters) Hall of Fame, we went in the same year as Robert Lamm of Chicago, so I got to meet my hero."

The "Salute's" writer, journalist and musicshow staple David Wild, laments that Prine being named such a "Legend" came in the same year the singer-songwriter died of coronavirus complications. "He wanted to perform" on the special, Wild reports. "He was scheduled to fly back, I think it was, from Dublin. Instead, we are going to honor him. One way or another, we are going to keep that music going." (Carlile, Isbell and Shires perform Prine songs on the program.)

Staging familiar events such as the "GRAMMY Salute to Music Legends" during a pandemic can be challenging, but Wild maintains, "The writing is the last and easiest part. Working with people like Jimmy Jam ... like, when Prince passed. I had worked with Prince and knew him. Jimmy happened to be already in the room, and I said, 'Jimmy, we need you to go out there and say something about Prince before we say anything else.' When you have the right talent to work with and the right sort of souls to work with, everything else is possible."

"EL CAMINO: A BREAKING BAD

BY JAY BOBBIN

For those who thought they'd seen the last of some hugely memorable characters when the widely acclaimed AMC series ended, a great surprise was in store with this follow-up from writerdirector Vince Gilligan, which was shown on Netflix as well as AMC (and also had a limited theatrical run). Aaron Paul reprises the role of Jesse Pinkman, who tries to tie up the remnants of his past and make a new beginning. That's much easier thought than done, though, as Jesse runs into fresh trouble in the course of starting over. Since the structure of the movie llows for plenty of flashbacks, several other "Breaking Bad" alumni – who won't be specified here, to allow maximum enjoyment for those who don't already know - also are seen in their original parts. DVD extras: audio commentary by Gilligan and Paul; deleted and extended scenes; outtakes; "Scene Studies With Vince Gilligan." ★★★ (Not rated: AS, P, V)

"THE FLINTSTONES: THE COMPLETE SERIES"

The "modern Stone Age famlly" has been a staple of animation ever since the Hanna-Barbera show premiered in primetime 60 years ago, earning an Emmy nomination for outstanding comedy series along the way. As it makes its Blu-ray debut, this set compiles all of the original program's episodes (166 of them), tracing the misadventures of prehistoric pals and co-workers Fred Fiintstone and Barney Rubble and their household members in the town of Bedrock ... and even their pets, including dinosaur Dino. Interestingly, the hugely familiar theme song "Meet the Flintstones" wasn't added until the third of the six seasons. Tony Curtis and Ann-Margret were among the guests who voiced characters inspired by their images. A very notable extra here is "The Man Called Flintstone," a 1966 theatrical feature that cashed in on the spy craze of the time by taking Fred (voiced by the TV show's Alan Reed, with his singing done by Henry Corden, who succeeded Red on television) into the world of espionage. $\star \star \star$ (Not rated)

"The Wonderful World of Mickey Mouse" (Disney+ — series premiere, Nov. 18) Just in time for the iconic character's birthday celebration, the streaming service debuts a series of animated shorts, with 10 rolling out this year and an additional 10 in 2021. Mickey and his best pals - Minnie, Donald, Daisy, Goofy and Pluto embark on amazing adventures and navigate the world of Disney magic in each of the seven-minute episodes.

would make it a prime target for thieves, and Jean Reno plays the leader of such a gang that wants to procure all the pricey works of art they can lift from the place. Though the result clearly is a variation on "Die Hard," Rose's presence puts some twists on a very familiar formula. Rupert Evans and Louis Mandylor also are featured, and here's an interesting footnote: The film's lead originally was supposed to be Katie Holmes instead of Rose.  (R: AS, P, V) (Also on Blu-ray)

"FRIDAY THE 13TH COLLECTION (DELUXE EDITION)"

Any fan of the horror franchise will find their dream (or nightmare, depending on your view) set here, and it's appropriately being released on the 13th of the month. It encompasses all of the original thrillers, along with such later entries as "Freddy vs. Jason" and the 2009 remake of the first film. As any devotee of the genre knows, the series starts with camp counselors - including one played by Kevin Bacon early in his career – being targeted at Crystal Lake by the masked, murderous and supposedly deceased Jason Voorhees. Expectedly, the set is packed with extras such as audio commentaries by cast and crew members and "making-of documentaries, some carried over from previous video releases of the titles here, but others made expressly for this edition. And for those with 3-D capability, "Friday the 13th: Part 3" is offered in that format (along with a "standard" version). $\star \star \star$ (R: AS, P, GV)

"Blackpink: Light Up the Sky" Caroline Suh ("Salt Fat Acid Heat") directed this documentary that combines exclusive interviews with never-beforeseen footage to chart the story of K-pop band Blackpink, from their early days to the global sensations they are today. The film culminates with their historic 2019 performance at the Coachella Valley Music and Arts Festival, where they became the first all-female K-pop group to take the Coachella stage. (ORIGINAL)

"Social Distance"

Hilary Weisman Graham ("Bones," "Orange Is the New Black") created this anthology series set in the early months of the pandemic and follows the stories of isolated people forced to communicate remotely and rely on technology to maintain any sense of human connection. Gianna Aragon, Shakira Barrera and Guillermo Diaz are in the large cast. (ORIGINAL)

"Movie: The Trial of the Chicago 7"

From "The West Wing" and "The Newsroom" creator Aaron Sorkin comes this drama movie that looks back at the initially peaceful protests outside the 1968 Democratic National Convention that ended in a violent clash between demonstrators, police and the National Guard. Eddie Redmayne, Alex Sharp, Sacha Baron Cohen, Jeremy Strong and John Carroll Lynch head the cast. (ORIGINAL)

Katie Cappiello wrote and produced this drama series that tells the stories of five high school students as they struggle with sexual, racial and economic politics and fight to succeed and chart their futures. Brittany Adebumola, Odessa A'zion, Amir Bageria, Odley Jean and Alphonso Romero Jones II head the cast. (ORIGINAL)

Hamilton has Schumacher's title record in crosshairs It's become routine in Formula One - another year, another

Lewis Hamilton World Championship. Indeed, the six-time champ is once again leading the points race in the prestigious international open-wheel racing series, at this writing sitting 55 points ahead of his closest pursuer, Valtteri Bottas, at the season's midpoint. Of course, there are still 10 races to go but if this year holds to recent form, he'll be celebrating his seventh F1 title (and fourth in succession) in Abu Dhabi in

That would tie him for most career titles with Michael Schumacher, the retired German driver whom many (including Hamilton) regard as the greatest of all time. It would also be another laurel in the the 35-year-old Brit's storied 14-year F1 career.

And those are many. In addition to the six World

Championships, Hamilton owns 90 career victories (second alltime), as well as records for career points (3,621), poles (95) and podium finishes (158) plus season marks for grand slams (three) and points (413). It wouldn't be an understatement to say he's F1's Michael Jordan.

December.

And as highly regarded as he is in racing circles, he's also well known away from the track, being credited with raising Formula One's profile to a broader world audience and being involved in environmental and social causes.

Sunday, Oct. 11, on ESPN2, Formula One returns to the Nurburgring in Germany after a seven-year absence, where Hamilton goes for his second victory of 2020 on the 3.2-mile, 15-turn road course in the Aramco Eifel Grand Prix.

Get in the Halloween spirit with programming from Food Network and Cooking Channel

Admit it. The thought of a socially distanced the horror movie jump scare moment, with Halloween has got you down.

In some cities, trick-or-treating is banned due to the pandemic, meaning no friends or neighbors stopping by with their little ones for candy and conversation. Also, Halloween parties and other social events are fewer to nonexistent, so those Halloween-themed cakes, candies and other treats will likely be absent this year as well, as will your kids' Halloween stash. And then no one in the office is dressing up because everyone is working from home.

So how does one get into the Halloween spirit? If you're a foodie, try tuning in to Food Network and Cooking Channel, which offer up a plethora of content related to Halloweenthemed comestibles, parties and competitions. It just might be the elixir you need to jolt you out of your quarantine funk and into a good Halloween gloom.

It starts Sunday, Oct. 11, on Cooking Channel with "Carnival Eats," in which host Noah Cappe visits two fall festivals. At Fright Nights in West Palm Beach, Fla., he tries the dreaded chicken and waffles, while at the New Hampshire Pumpkin Festival, he samples a pumpkin pie cannoli. Scarily delicious.

Over on Food Network that night, "Halloween Wars" finds the contestants undertaking the final challenge, creating a treat that best captures the terror and fun of the winning team taking home a $50,000 grand prize.

Immediately following on "Outrageous Pumpkins," the final four carvers are tasked with creating terrifying monsters-in-law and larger-than-life monster party scenes using Atlantic Giant pumpkins, with a $25,000 prize at stake. There's certain to be some impressive craftsmanship on display here.

Monday, Oct. 12, on Food's "Halloween Baking Championship," host Carla Hall is in the devil's den challenging the six remaining bakers to conjure up a devilish dessert using random ingredients such as beets, canned tomato soup, tamarind paste and sauerkraut. No doubt with Tums at the ready.

Then on "The Big Bake: Halloweeen," the teams must cast their culinary spell on judges Harry Eastwood, Erin Erler, Eddie Jackson and Brad Smith as they make cakes inspired by Halloween's first lady - whomever that might be.

Finally, Saturday, Oct. 17, on Food's "The Pioneer Woman," host Ree Drummond and her kid crew are hard at work in her Oklahoma kitchen cranking out an array of Halloween treats such as dirt cups, pretzel spider webs, peanut butter cookie ghosts, doughnut eyeballs and concession stand crackers. A countrified Halloween to be sure.

"Movie: Evil Eye"

From horror mavens Blumhouse and twin brother directors Elan and Rajeev Dassani comes this chilling yarn about a superstitious woman who is convinced that her daughter's new boyfriend is the reincarnation of the man who tried to kill her 30 years ago. Sarita Choudhury, Sunita Mani, Bernard White and Omar Maskati head the cast. (ORIGINAL)

"Movie: Nocturne"

First-time feature filmmaker Zu Quirke wrote and directed this Blumhouseproduced supernatural thriller about a gifted pianist who makes a Faustian bargain to overtake her older sister at a prestigious institution for classical musicians. Sydney Sweeney ("Euphoria"), Madison Iseman ("Annabelle Comes Home"), Jacques Colimon ("The Society") and Ivan Shaw ("Casual") head the cast. (ORIGINAL)

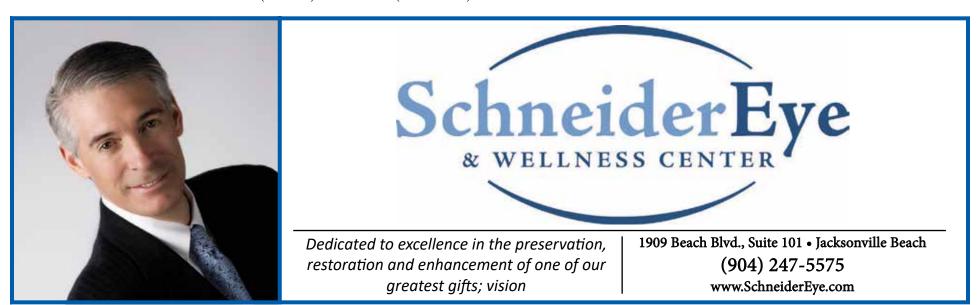

"Bug Diaries"

This series for the preschooler set returns for a second season with more adventures of the unlikely insect trio of Fly, Spider and Worm as they get in and out of predicaments in the sometimes unfriendly world that surrounds them, thus creating fascinating entries for their bug diaries. (ORIGINAL)

"Movie: Antebellum"

Former advertising copywriters Gerard Bush and Christopher Renz made their feature film directorial debut with this 2020 horror movie about a successful author (Janelle Monáe) who is trapped in a nightmarish Civil War-era reality that forces her to confront the past, present and future before it's too late. Jena Malone, Gabourey Sidibe and Jack Huston are also in the solid cast.
