The iconic beagle flies high in Apple's 'The Snoopy Show'

For those who have delighted in the adventures of the Peanuts gang over the decades, "The Snoopy Show" offers up pure red meat.

Indeed, the half-hour series that premieres Friday, Feb. 5, on Apple TV+, presents the further adventures of the care-free beagle made famous in late animator Charles Schulz's 1950-2000 comic strip and subsequent TV specials, joined by his best friend Woodstock. Charlie Brown, Linus and Lucy and the rest of the crew serve as background characters here.

Each episode consists of three seven-minute vignettes that are based on the iconic comic series and features the signature animation style that has entertained audiences for more than seven decades.

The objective, says executive producer Mark Evestaff, is to stay as true to Schulz's original creation as possible.

"For a lot of the people working on the show, they're all fans first and all the artists are fans first, so the opportunity to give Snoopy his own series felt like the right thing to do," he explains. "And certainly there was enough material with Charles Schulz producing like almost 18,000 strips over the years, and a lot of our stories are mined from those strips specifically to create stories in the show. ... We really did go back to the strips and really looking at the details of Schulz's poses and even of course lines from the strip, if we can use them and it still works, then absolutely. We tried to stay as close and faithful to that spirit."

And part of that spirit lies in the dialog – or lack thereof. As a dog and a bird, Snoopy and Woodstock don't speak human English so Evestaff and the team had to come up with ways to tell stories without the use of words.

"It really was just more animation, more acting and then adding, of course, the odd vocalizations to what we do have and carried that through ...," Evestaff explains. "You throw enough artists at it, enough talented artists that have a passion and bring that passion, we're able to tell these stories and it's really wonderful how that some of our best stories are almost without dialog at all through seven minutes and are some of our most heart-warming and our best friendship stories."

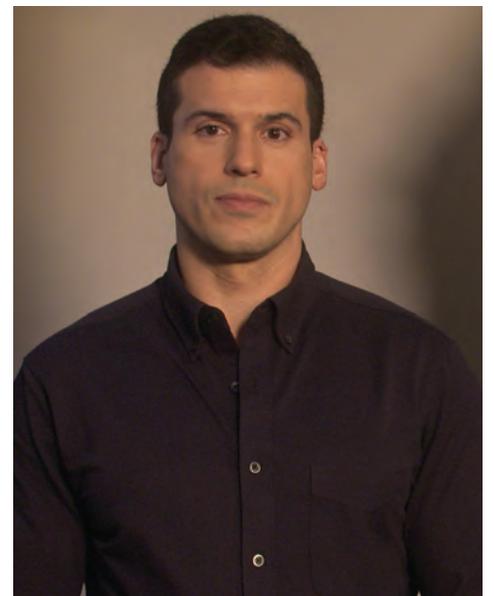

In the end, this is a story of a friendship between two iconic characters with whom viewers have had a long relationship and Evestaff didn't want to betray that.

"There's, of course, a lot of trepidation off the top – are we going to ruin Snoopy in all these things?" he admits. "But truthfully, I think if you pack it with enough of the right people and they bring enough of that passion and hard work, then the results sort of speak for themselves."

"I Survived a Crime" (A&E Network — series premiere, Feb. 17)

It's probably safe to say no one would choose to be the victim of a harrowing crime simply to have that experience, but for those who have a curiosity about what that trauma is like, this new docuseries takes viewers inside that ordeal, starting with that initial adrenaline-fueled moment when a victim first becomes aware of his or her danger. As this program premieres with two back-to-back episodes, host Gio Benitez of ABC News uses surveillance and cellphone footage to capture victims thrust into a life-of-death crisis.

“Movie: Escape From Alcatraz”

Shot on Alcatraz Island, this 1979 film is based on the true story of the only escape from the maximum security prison built on an island surrounded by shark-infested waters. Clint Eastwood stars as an inmate with an extensive track record of prison breaks, belying the self-important warden’s (Patrick McGoochan) claims that Alcatraz is escape-proof. Danny Glover plays an inmate in his first screen appearance.

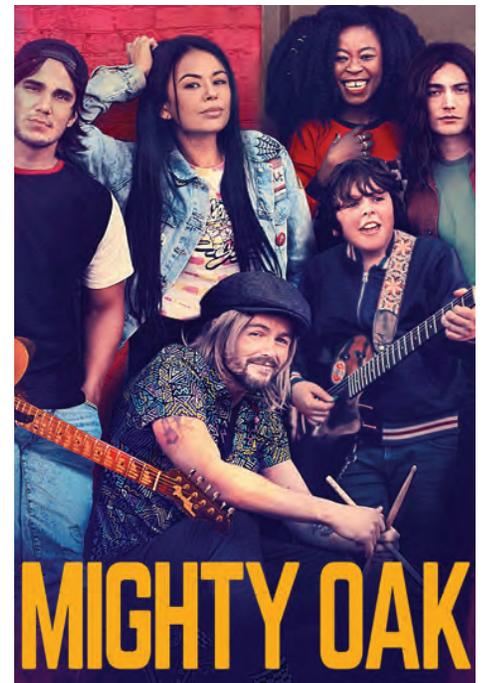

“Movie: Terra Willy”

From France comes this 2019 animated space adventure about Willy, a boy separated from his parents after the destruction of their ship, who lands on an uncharted planet and must figure out how to survive with the help of a robot until a rescue mission can be launched.

“Gordon Ramsay’s American Road Trip”

This Fox special follows chef Ramsay as he embarks on a road trip with two of his best friends, chef Gino D’Acampo and restaurant staff manager Fred Sirieix. The trio takes in the sights of the western United States from their RV, exploring hidden culinary gems in Arizona, California, Nevada and other locales. It’s a bromantic side of the famously grumpy Ramsay most fans have never seen.

“Movie: Mighty Oak”

From director Sean McNamara (“The Miracle Season,” “Bratz”) comes this 2020 comedy/drama that stars Janel Parrish (“Pretty Little Liars”) as a young woman who meets a guitar prodigy and begins to think he’s the reincarnation of her brother, who was killed years earlier in a car crash. Carlos and Alexa PenaVega, Tommy Ragen and Raven-Symoné are also in the cast.

"For All Mankind: Season 2" (Apple TV+ — season premiere, Feb. 19)

Season 2 of the Ronald D. Moore-created alt-history of the space program jumps the storyline ahead 10 years to 1983, when the Cold War is in full swing, Ronald Reagan is in his second term as president and the U.S. and Soviets are vying for the moon's valuable resources at their respective (and greatly expanded) bases at Shackleton Crater. Joel Kinnaman, Sarah Jones, Shantel VanSanten and Wrenn Schmidt are among cast returnees.

"Snowfall" (FX — season premiere, Feb. 24)

Season 4 of this historical crime drama opens on Jan. 1, 1985, where Ronald Reagan successfully has won re-election to the presidency. Yet while this president declares that it's "morning again in America," the demand for crack cocaine on the streets of South Central Los Angeles remains higher than ever. Franklin Saint (Damson Idris) and his dealers are reaping the benefits of this rise in drug addiction, but the Los Angeles Police Department is diverting unprecedented money and resources to Washington's new "war on drugs."

Ethan Hawke and Eve Hewson

"TESLA"

The title name can apply to a number of things, but in the case of writer-director Michael Almercyda's biographical drama, the subject is the electrical genius (played by Ethan Hawke) who started out as an employee of Thomas Edison (Kyle MacLachlan) and eventually became his professional rival. Nikola Tesla then went to work for George Westinghouse (Jim Gaffigan), and though he made great strides with his work, funding concerns threatened to derail it at any number of points. Eve Hewson plays the narrator of the film, which had its debut at the Sundance Festival last winter, with its major exhibition coming last summer via On Demand, once the coronavirus pandemic had promoted the closings of numerous theaters. Ebon-Moss Bachrach, Hannah Gross, Josh Hamilton and Peter Greene also appear. ★★★ (PG-13: AS, N) (Also on Blu-ray and On Demand)

"WILD MOUNTAIN THYME"

Coming to home video shortly after the theatrical run it was able to have, this drama from the acclaimed Pulitzer Prize, Oscar and Tony winner

John Patrick Shanley — the writer of "Moonstruck" — involves an Irish family at odds over the patriarch's (Christopher Walken) plans for their business, which he plans to give to an American nephew

(Jon Hamm) rather than letting his own son (Jamie Dornan, "Fifty Shades of Grey") succeed him. Adapted and directed by Shanley from his play "Outside Mullingar," the film was made on location and also features Emily Blunt and (reprising her role from the stage version) Dearbhla Molloy. ★★★ (PG-13: AS, P) (Also on On Demand)

"DO THE RIGHT THING"

Though Spike Lee's 1989 comedy-drama has been relevant ever since its release, it has enhanced meaning now as it makes its debut in the 4K Ultra HD format. A Bedford-Stuyvesant pizzeria becomes the setting for racial unrest prompted largely by the "Wall of Fame" maintained at the site by the owner (a superb Danny Aiello). Writer-producer-director Lee also has one of the central acting roles in the film, whose stunning cast also includes spouses Ossie Davis and Ruby Dee, Giancarlo Esposito, Bill Nunn, Rosie Perez, Martin Lawrence, Samuel L. Jackson, John Turturro and John Savage. The movie was named the best of its year by a number of critics' organizations. Extra features include a retrospective documentary, plus deleted and extended scenes. ★★★★ (R: AS, P, V)

"LOVE, WEDDINGS & OTHER DISASTERS"

Already familiar with making comedies centered around weddings, Oscar winner Diane Keaton is back on that territory with this entry, though she plays someone who's just long for the ride this time. The woman is linked to a caterer (fellow Academy Award owner Jeremy Irons) who's involved in a couple's forthcoming nuptials, as is a wedding planner (Maggie Grace, "Taken") who hasn't had much practice at her job. Andrew Bachelor, Jesse McCartney and Chandra West also appear in the story — and so does its screenwriter and director, frequent Adam Sandler collaborator Dennis Dugan ("Happy Gilmore"). DVD extras: "making-of" documentary; audio commentary by Dugan; descriptive audio commentary. ★★★ (PG-13: AS, P) (Also on Blu-ray and On Demand)

"BREACH"

Through his largely action-driven movie career, Bruce Willis has ventured into sci-fi on occasion ("The Fifth Element," "Armageddon"), and he does so again in this tale with a theme that may hit a bit too close to home for some now ... a plague that devastates Earth. That sends survivors into the cosmos aboard an enormous spacecraft, but the passengers may be able to stay safe for only so long, since an alien being that can change shape invades the vessel. Thomas Jane, Rachel Nichols ("P2"), Cody Kearsley and Johnny Messner (who has worked with Willis several times) also appear. ★★★ (R: AS, P, V) (Also on On Demand).

Henry blossoms into a leader at Michigan State

The old adage says that there is "no I in TEAM." Nor is there in AARON HENRY.

Indeed, the Michigan State junior swingman may have all the tools to get on the NBA draft radar – great instincts, quick feet, toughness, disruptive defender, capable scorer – but he also possesses the intelligence and humility to know that winning comes before personal accolades.

That was evident in an early January game against Rutgers, in which Henry did it all with 20 points, eight rebounds (seven on the defensive end), four blocked shots and two steals in leading the Spartans to a 68-45 home victory. But afterward, all he wanted to talk about was the team's defensive intensity – and accountability.

"I'm always going to put my head down and go to work," he said. "I can only control what I can control. I'm a guy that I'm always going to go back to the gym. I'm never going to be complacent. I try to hold everyone accountable."

Those are the kind of words MSU coach Tom Izzo loves to hear. Henry's numbers on the season (through 12 games) are certainly solid – 13.9 points, 5.6 rebounds, 3.7 assists, 1.6 blocks, 1.6 steals – but it is the intangibles like his team-first attitude that make him a valuable presence and leader in East Lansing.

Henry and the Spartans can be seen in action when they go up against the Ohio State Buckeyes in a clash of Big Ten rivals airing Sunday, Jan. 31, on CBS.

truTV's 'Fast Foodies' celebrates an underappreciated culinary artform

In an era when we're all trying to eat healthy, there is still a place for fast food.

Be it a burger, pizza, fried chicken or some other quickie comestible, there's no doubt they scratch an itch no matter how much they may make the cholesterol or blood sugar level climb. And "Fast Foodies" celebrates that.

Premiering Thursday, Feb. 4, on truTV, the lighthearted half-hour series sees three award-winning chefs – Kristen Kish, Jeremy Ford and Justin Sutherland – competing to see who can recreate and then remix fast food dishes that will best satisfy the palate of a celebrity guest, be it Joel McHale, Andy Richter, Fortune Feimster or James Van Der Beek. The winner takes home the Chompionship Trophy while the losing chefs are at the wrong end of a gag-inducing prank.

In the opener, the chefs are tasked with recreating the world-renowned Chicago-style hot dog – basically an all-beef frank garnished with chopped white onions, pickled sport peppers, sliced tomatoes and other toppings – then use many of those same ingredients to make a totally new concoction that calls to mind the original. It was a fun exercise in imagination for the chefs, especially Sutherland, who gravitates toward the Chicago dog's unpretentious nature.

"It's a hot dog and a salad. It's the whole sport peppers and for me it's the celery salt ...," Sutherland, a Minneapolis restaurateur and one-time competitor on "Iron Chef America," explains. "I mean, just all-beef Vienna dogs. You know, they're usually steamed or boiled. They don't get too fancy with grilling them or any of that. And I like that they don't toast the bun. It's kind of that steamed bun that's still soft. It's the total package. I mean, you have to have all of those ingredients for the perfect Chicago dog and I think that's why it's perfect, is because they always all hit those notes and they don't try too hard to be awesome. They just are."

That episode also brought forth another challenge in the form of guest star McHale, whose formidable improv chops kept the chefs on their toes – and in stitches.

"It was kind of hard to get a word in edgewise," Sutherland recalls. "One time, Kristen was just like, 'Joel, this is our show! This is not the Joel McHale show!' ... But once we got into our rhythm, it was great. I mean, he is the ultimate a... in the nicest sense of the word. I mean, just always has the sarcastic quip to come back with. Absolutely hilarious and it was a blast."
