Tyler Hoechlin and Elizabeth Tulloch star in "Superman & Lois," premiering Tuesday on The CW.

'Superman & Lois' takes off as CW series premieres

The Man of Steel and Lois Lane have been married on television before, but viewers now can see what they're like as parents, too.

The CW expands its DC Universe again by launching "Superman & Lois" Tuesday, Feb. 23, with a 90-minute premiere followed by a behind-the-scenes special. Tyler Hoechlin and Elizabeth Tulloch reprise the iconic roles they've played on "Supergirl" and in the crossover sagas "Elseworlds" and "Crisis on Infinite Earths," taking the characters back to Smallville as they raise their sons Jonathan and Jordan (Jordan Elsass, Alexander Garfin). Still there is Lana Lang (Emmanuelle Chriqui), now married to the local fire chief (Erik Valdez) and with her own child, Sarah (Inde Navarrette).

"I really don't have a history with the character," friendly "7th Heaven" alum Hoechlin admits about Superman before starting to portray him. "I played baseball and was acting at a young age, so all of my free time was taken up, and comic books weren't really my thing ... but in what I think in a fortunate way, that lack of history is beneficial, in that I can approach (Superman) in a way that's very honest and intuitive."

Tulloch says she feels "it doesn't get much better" than to land as prominent a part as Lois, and she feels the new show's appeal is in presenting Lois and Superman's earthy alter ego Clark Kent as "modern, working parents who are kind of the best of the best in their careers, but as parents, they're flailing a lot. Especially in 2021, when we've had a difficult past year, a lot of people are struggling. Lois and Clark make mistakes. And their kids react accordingly."

Hoechlin believes having played Superman a number of times before starting his own show in the role was helpful, "though the tone is very different from what we did on the other shows. We've never seen this before, and that's a very freeing experience on the set."

The wife of David Giuntoli of ABC's "A Million Little Things" (and his co-star on the earlier "Grimm"), Tulloch – who used to go by the first name "Bitsie" professionally – was well into a pregnancy when she first played Lois in the "Elseworlds" miniseries.

"I am very career-driven and ambitious," Tulloch states in likening herself to Lois, "so I never saw myself not being a working actress/mother. David has much shorter working days than I do, so it's tough on the days when I go to work at 5:30 in the morning and come home at 9 or 10 at night and don't see my daughter once during the day. I make sure I spend a lot of time with her on the weekends."

Jonathan Knight, best known as one of the New Kids on the Block, has the "right stuff" to host this new makeover series, in which he offers his advice on meticulously restoring centuries-old New England farmhouses that deserve a second chance. Each of the six episodes in Season 1 features Knight, who has renovated more than 200 houses, preserving the home's original craftsmanship and historic charm, while modernizing room layouts and updating interiors. "Tournament of Champions" (Food Network — season premiere, March 7)

Guy Fieri returns as host for a new season of this bracket-style culinary competition series wherein 16 of the best chefs from the East and West Coasts go head-to-head in sudden death cooking battles. Chefs representing the East Coast include Madison Cowan, Maneet Chauhan, Darnell Ferguson, Amanda Freitag and Marc Murphy; West Coast chefs include Cat Cora, Antonia Lofaso, Brian Malarkey, Jet Tila and last year's winner, Brooke Williamson.

"A House on Fire" (Lifetime — TV movie premiere, March 13)

To the casual observer, Dr. Deborah Green (Stephanie March) had a perfect life with a thriving career, two well-behaved children, a doting husband (Shaun Benson) and a picture-perfect home in an affluent neighborhood. What many people fail to notice is that Deb's bedside manner leaves a lot to be desired and she has trouble working with her medical colleagues. She also is seething with jealousy that her husband's professional life overshadows her own. This situation does not end happily for most of them.

"THE CROODS: A NEW AGE"

Of the movies that have had simultaneous debuts in theaters and on On Demand during the coronavirus pandemic, this is one of the biggest success stories to date. The animated sequel finds the prehistoric Croods encountering another, more privileged family, and it doesn't take long for the two clans to find numerous problems with each other. However, they ultimately find they must get along in order to survive, very literally. The notable voice cast includes returnees Ryan Reynolds, Emma Stone and Nicolas Cage, plus additions Peter Dinklage ("Game of Thrones") and Leslie Mann. DVD extras: five "making-of" documentaries; audio commentary by crew members; deleted scenes; outtakes; three short subjects. ★★★ (PG: AS) (Also on Blu-ray, 4K Ultra HD and On Demand)

"THE LAST VERMEER"

Art thefts and related sales were big business during the World War II era, and this fact-inspired drama delves into such a situation that might not turn out as anticipated. Claes Bang ("The Affair") plays a former Dutch Resistance fighter turned sleuth dedicated to tracking down stolen works, a trail that leads him to an art expert (Guy Pearce) who apparently has made such deals with Nazis ... a crime so serious at the time, a death sentence was among the possible penalties. However, the detective comes to believe the suspect may be innocent, altering the probe considerably. Ridley Scott ("Gladiator") is among the executive producers of the film directed by Dan Friedkin; Vicky Krieps also stars. ★★★ (R: AS, N, P, V) (Aso on Blu-ray and On Demand)

"INSIDE AMY SCHUMER: THE COMPLETE SERIES"

A big element of Schumer's rise to bawdy-humor stardom was this Emmy- and Peabody-honored, four-season Comedy Central show, praised regularly during its run for its inventiveness. In each episode, Schumer appears in several segments, principally as a fictionalized version of herself as she deals with (and frequently breaks) social boundaries. Dating and relationships are big topics here, and the structure of the vignettes allowed for a parade of guest stars to pass through. The many familiar faces featured include Lena Dunham, Tina Fey, America Ferrera, Paul Giamatti ("Billions"), Jeff Goldblum, siblings Jake and Maggie Gyllenhaal, Bill Hader, Jennifer Hudson, Laura Linney,

Liam Neeson, Julia Louis-Dreyfus, Julianne Moore, "Science Guy" Bill Nye, Dennis Quaid, Jerry Seinfeld, Michael Strahan and Chrissy Teigen. ★★★ (Not rated: AS, N, P)

"LADY SINGS THE BLUES"

In a role ideally suited to her, music superstar Diana Ross made a dynamic acting debut — and earned an Oscar nomination — in this compelling biography of singer Billie Holiday, making its debut on Blu-ray a year short of its 50th anniversary. As legendary as her vocal talent has remained, Holliday had a famously troubled personal life encompassing prostitution and drug abuse ... and the depth of Ross' portrayal is all the more impressive when one considers she hadn't really acted before. Billy Dee Williams (with whom Ross would reteam on "Mahogany"), Richard Pryor and Scatman Crothers are among other notable cast members; the Holiday song standards re-created by Ross include "My Man," "Good Morning Heartache" and "God Bless the Child." Deleted scenes and an audio commentary featuring Motown Records founder (and Ross mentor) Berry Gordy Jr. — who enjoyed a huge success with the film's soundtrack album — are included. ★★★★ (R: AS, P)

Who said that?

Identify the authors of the following quotes:

- 1) "Do things you don't like to do; bear down that much harder on what you hate doing. It'll make you a lot better player. And a lot better person."

- 5) "I don't create controversies. They're there long before I open my mouth. I just bring them to your attention."
- 6) "Ask not what your teammates can do for you. Ask what you can do for your teammates."
- 7) "I asked a ref if he could give me a technical foul for thinking bad things about him. He said, 'Of course not.' I said, 'Well, I think you stink.' And he gave me a technical. You can't trust 'em."

A 'Beard' now grows in Brooklyn

When the Brooklyn Nets acquired All-Star guard James Harden from the Houston Rockets in a Jan. 14 trade, it sparked plenty of excitement among fans envisioning a big three of Harden, Kevin Durant and Kyrie Irving lighting up scoreboards throughout the NBA. But it also raised a number of questions.

How will they decide who is the go-to guy in the closing minutes? How will Harden blend in with the other two alpha scorers? And what will his presence mean for an already defense-challenged team?

Well, nearly a month after the deal, the answers appear to be it varies, just fine and it depends on the opponent. The formula so far has been to get efficient offense from the three All-Stars and count on one to have a monster game. Opponents will have no answer for the Nets' three-headed monster, so the defense needs to be only good enough to outscore the other side. Which has happened often.

As of early February, the Nets were 7-2 since the trade and Harden was being Harden, averaging 24.1 points and 12 assists with Brooklyn. Included in those totals were four triple-double efforts plus a 34-point, 12-assist, six-rebound game against the Bucks on Jan. 18 (his second game with the Nets) and a 31-point, 15-assist, eight-rebound effort against the Hawks on Jan. 27. All were wins.

So far unselfish play has been the calling card of the Nets' big three and that is reflected on the scoreboard. The Nets and the man known as "The Beard" can be seen in action on national TV twice this week: On the road against the Los Angeles Clippers Sunday, Feb. 21, on ESPN; and at home versus the Dallas Mavericks Saturday, Feb. 27, on ABC.

Ali Khan embraces the culinary experiences on 'Spring Baking Championship'

It stands to reason that if you're a judge on "Spring Baking Championship," you need to have an adventurous palate.

After all, the confections you're sampling may not be to your liking or within your comfort zone but you do have to be open to the experience.

Same holds true for the host. While Ali Khan ("Cheap Eats") isn't rendering a judgment on the confections created by contestants on the show, he does try everything. And says he's the better foodie for it.

"What's interesting with being a part of this show, and really any food show," he explains, "is trying things that you would never actually order. So things that involve fruit and things like that, I'd be like, 'I don't want that. I don't want oatmeal raisin fruitcake. That sounds like a horrible idea.' But you are on this show and the smell of butter, I can get over my whole chocolate crutch right there. ... it's really fun to try things that I would never order on my own."

As the competition series opens its seventh season with a fresh batch of 10 episodes Monday, Feb. 22, on Food Network, Kardea Brown ("Delicious Miss Brown") joins the judging panel with Duff Goldman and Nancy Fuller as 11 talented professional and home bakers from across the country take on two rounds of spring-themed baking challenges for a shot at a $25,000 grand prize and a spot in Food Network Magazine.

In Monday's two-hour opener, the competitors are tasked with creating farm stand-inspired breakfast treats, followed by a dessert challenge that celebrates happy, dancing cows.

For his part, Khan is a fly on the wall as he listens to Brown, Fuller and Goldman deliberate on the strengths and problems with every dish. He frequently finds himself blown away by how these seasoned pros can analyze and pick apart a contestant's creation. Goldman's skills, in particular, leave him agog.

"I think we called him 'Professor Duff' more than once when we'd introduce him as a judge," Khan says. "And I think that just reflects the fact that he's a classically trained chef, his years of experience in the art of pastry is very, very obvious. And I think ultimately when you have people who really, really understand this, they can break down, when they taste something, certainly where something goes wrong.

She goes, 'He didn't cook the wine enough ... so you're tasting the alcohol.' I'm like, 'Oh my God, that's what that is.' Duff very much still holds that role."
