Local hand-crafted products highlight artisan atmosphere

A lot of faith has gone into helping make Coconut Barrel the business it is today, which includes two locations in St. Johns County.

The first of those locations was opened by Kori and Steve Smith in 2018 at 3175 U.S. 1 S., Suite 3 in St. Augustine and is considered an “artisan market” that features more than 200 local artisans and the products they create.

“The first location is set up more like a craft mall with individual booths,” Kori Smith said.

Adding to the unique nature of the business, it offers a storefront for each artisan to design and display their work.

By taking that approach it means that the store is never short on the variety of products offered to its customers.

The fact that the products are made locally is another draw that Smith takes pride in.

“More than any time in our lives, people really want to buy local,” Smith said. “There are a lot of advantages and the money spent stays in the local economy.”

Smith is originally from Ohio, but moved with her family to West Palm Beach 20 years ago and have now called St. Augustine home for the past five years.

Smith said, “I was looking for a place to sell my craft and couldn't find the right fit. Praying to God for guidance on whether I should go back to the corporate world or pursue another path, he gave me the clearest vision to open a craft mall. I started the research and opened the doors six months later.”

Her husband likes to say, “Never be afraid to dream too big,” and that phrase was ever present for the couple as they were confronted with the decision of opening the business.

Especially, after the first space they looked at was a 9,000-square-foot warehouse, which they both knew was bigger than what they needed.

However, as they continued to look around, they realized that 4,000 of the space's square feet had been rented by another business, cutting the size to a much more manageable 5,000 square feet.

“After that, it seemed like it was meant to be,” Smith said. “It truly was a leap of faith.”

One hundred vendor spots were filled in 28 days and 300 others were placed on a waiting list.

Six months after the couple's initial purchase, the other side of the building and the remaining 4,000 square feet became available once again and they quickly jumped at the opportunity to lease the extra space.

“We had always prayed about one day owning a business, but we also wanted to make sure we were serving others at the same time,” Smith said.

The business's structure allows this to be achieved by presenting local artisans a necessary outlet to help them spread their creations to the public and in turn get their name out there among the local community.

“A lot of them do this for a living and can be seen at various outdoor markets,” Smith said.

In March the couple took another leap of faith by opening a second Coconut Barrel location at 35 San Marco Blvd., just two blocks from the St. Augustine Visitor's Center.

The new location is different than the original, as it is considered a “artisan boutique” and still delivers a similar array of locally crafted items, but on a smaller scale.

Both locations are closed Mondays and open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Coconut Barrel will be celebrating its fourth anniversary at its original location

“Feud”

An eight-episode limited series from Ryan Murphy about the bitter hate-fest that went on between Bette Davis (Susan Sarandon) and Joan Crawford (Jessica Lange) while they co-starred in “What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?” has a sky-high potential for campiness, but what we get is far richer: a sympathetic portrait of two aging screen legends struggling to hang onto their careers. Catherine Zeta-Jones also stars.

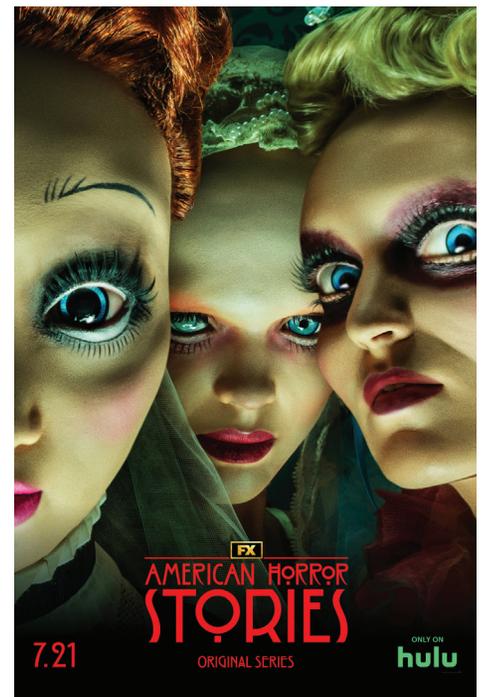

“Movie: Minamata”

Johnny Depp gives a finely tuned performance in this 2020 drama movie in which he stars as 1970s war photographer W. Eugene Smith, who travels back to the titular Japanese city where he documents the devastating effects of mercury poisoning in coastal communities. Akiko Iwase and Kogarashi Wakasugi also star for director Andrew Levitas (“Lullaby”).

“Movie: The Bob's Burgers Movie”

Series creator Loren Bouchard wrote, produced and directed this feature-length film that finds the Belchers in emergency mode when a ruptured water main creates a giant sinkhole in front of Bob's Burgers, forcing the restaurant to close and jeopardizing the family's plans for a successful summer. The voice cast includes Kristen Schaal, H. Jon Benjamin, John Roberts and Dan Mintz. (ORIGINAL)

“American Horror Stories”

The spinoff of FX's popular “American Horror Story” anthology franchise created by Ryan Murphy and Brad Falchuk returns for its sophomore round with few details available, save for the fact that it will contain seven episodes that feature independent narratives that explore different terrifying myths and legends within the franchise. “D.B. Cooper: Where Are You?!”

This limited documentary series looks at the 50-year quest to find the mysterious man who hijacked a Northwest Airlines passenger jet in November 1971 and escaped with $200,000, never to be seen again — a case that remains one of the greatest mysteries of the 20th century. (ORIGINAL)

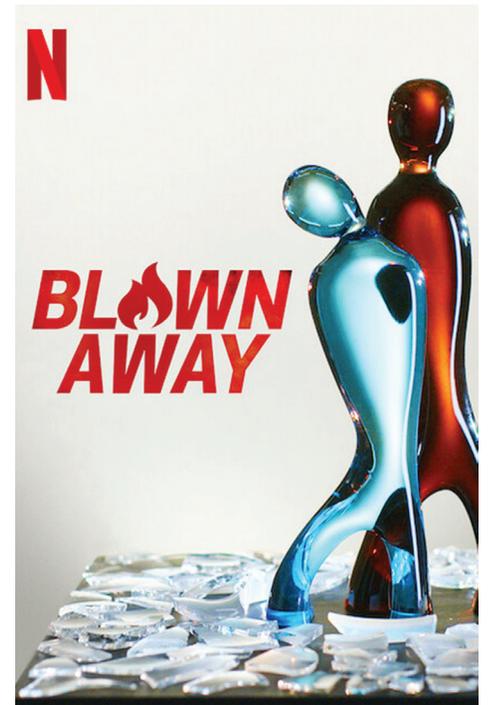

“Virgin River”

The fourth season of this drama finds Mel (Alexandra Breckenridge) looking forward to realizing her dream of becoming a mother though the question of paternity gnaws at Jack (Martin Henderson). Hope (Annette O’Toole), meanwhile, continues to recover from her car accident though the lingering psychological effects of her brain injury will have profound consequences. Tim Matheson and Zibby Allen are other cast returnees. (ORIGINAL)

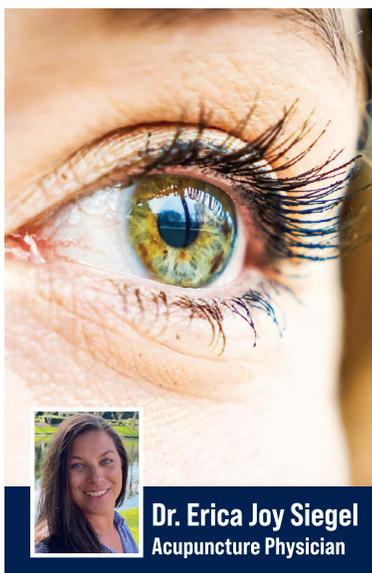

“Movie: The Gray Man”

Ryan Gosling stars in this espionage thriller as the title character, aka Court Gentry, a skilled CIA operative who accidentally uncovers some dark agency secrets and finds himself the subject of a global manhunt by international assassins when a psychopathic colleague puts a bounty on his head. Ballpark food: It's not just hot dogs anymore

To take a tour of major league ballparks these days is to take a culinary tour of America.

Indeed, gone are the days when the fare at baseball games were limited to hot dogs, pretzels, peanuts and Cracker Jack. Now, diners can expect diversity and imagination with an emphasis on local ingredients when they plunk down their hard-earned cash to see their favorite team.

That's especially the case at Oriole Park at Camden Yards in Baltimore, where crab is king and the crab cake sandwich is the popular choice. Its ingredients are simple – lump crab with Old Bay seasoning topped with lettuce, tomato and onion on a bun. At $11, it's relatively inexpensive slice of heaven from the sea.

Also a local favorite is the Rocky Mountain Oyster Po'Boy at Denver's Coors Field, home of the Colorado Rockies. If you're not in on the joke, Rocky Mountain oysters are bulls testicles, which in this case are skinned, coated in flour, pepper and salt then deep-fried and served on a roll with guacamole, green chili ranch sauce, garlic coleslaw, pico and cotija cheese. These "oysters" are considered a delicacy in Colorado, which is about 1,500 miles from any ocean, though others might look at it as cuisine based on a dare.

Also on the esoteric side are the Toasted Grasshoppers of T-Mobile Park, where the Seattle Mariners call home. It's actually a Mexican delicacy from the state of the Oaxaca, where they're harvested, and since they were introduced in 2017 sales have skyrocketed. At $5 for about 40 insects, it's a bargain for anyone looking for a high-protein treat.

Polish food is big in Pittsburgh, home of the Pirates and PNC Park, where an eccentric concoction known as the Pittsburgh Cone is popular. As the name implies, it's a waffle cone stuffed with kielbasa, pierogi, Swiss cheese, sauerkraut and Russian dressing. It's not exactly for those who are watching their weight but it's a must for anyone who loves imaginative Polish food.

And while we're on the subject of coned delights, how about the Wowfulls at New York's Citi Field, where the Mets play? It's basically an ice cream cone on steroids – an oversized waffle cone filled with ice cream and anything from sprinkles and chocolate chips to Fruity Pebbles and Oreo Crumbs, depending on which of three variations you order. It's so good even the Mets' broadcasters make reference to it on the air.

And for pure meaty enjoyment, try the BBQ Burger at Kansas City's Kauffman Stadium, home of the Royals. KC knows how to do steak and this steakburger with cheese, pulled pork, onion rings and BBQ Sauce isn't too shabby, either. It's decadent but something that shouldn't be missed.
