First Coast Lighting and Fans provides experience, family approach

First Coast Lighting and Fans opened in September 2018, after owner Peter Duprey made the decision to start something of his own after running showrooms for others throughout the Jacksonville area for 15 years.

"I have run a few showrooms over the years and have many friends in the industry," Duprey said. "I tried to take ideas I learned over the years and make the best of all of them to create what we have today."

That experience has come in handy since opening First Coast Lighting and Fans, and just like the name says he and his staff look to be there for residents across the area in the process of choosing lights and fans for their homes.

"We offer full-service lighting and fan design for our customers," Duprey said. "We offer our services to many builders in the local area from Southern Georgia down to Palm Coast. Right now, we work with over 30 builders in the area to help their customers get the look and design they want in their homes."

Duprey has a staff of 13 employees with more than 75 years of combined lighting experience, which plays an important role in helping customers achieve their dreams of how they want their home to look and feel.

They also have a retail store that has many updated lighting styles ranging from modern, traditional, coastal, industrial, farmhouse and many more in between.

"I have 13 employees that really care about this business and their customers, and it shows," Duprey said. "We are extremely efficient in what we do and work really hard to get our customers their product in a timely manner. That can be really complicated these days, but we always do our best to make sure we are up front and honest with our customers. I feel that goes a long way with having a good store/ customer relationship."

The store, located at 11701, Suite 30 on San Jose Blvd in Jacksonville, provides a showroom where customers have the opportunity to see hundreds of lighting fixtures and fans on display all in one place.

However, they sell more than just lighting and fans at their facility. They also have a large amount of mirrors, artwork and other decorative pieces to help finish off the design of a home.

A lot of their items are delivered directly from their warehouse.

"Our goal is to make this a pain free process, so we strive to make it easy on everybody included," Duprey said. "It has seemed to work, as we have many repeat customers and a large word-of-mouth customer base. To me, those type of customers are the best as they have had somebody tell them to come see us after having had a great experience."

According to Duprey, it is the fun and vibrant atmosphere provided that customers feel most comfortable with.

In just five years, Duprey has seen the impact his business has had on local homeowners, and he is excited to see what the future holds.

"We are a true family-owned start-from-scratch business," Duprey said. "We started with a plan and followed it. The last five years have been nothing short of incredible, but I am happy to get to share it with great employees and wonderful customers."

“Movie: Lou”

Allison Janney does a stark departure from her “Mom” character to star in this thriller as the title character, a woman trying to put her dangerous past behind her — that is, until a neighbor (Jurnee Smollett, “Lovecraft Country”) begs her to help find her kidnapped daughter. Logan Marshall-Green and Ridley Asha Bateman are also in the cast for director Anna Foerster (“Underworld: Blood Wars”). (ORIGINAL)

“Movie: Blonde”

From writer/director Andrew Dominik (“Killing Them Softly”) comes this drama movie that reimagines the life of one of film’s most enduring icons, Marilyn Monroe, exploring the widening split between her public and private selves. Ana de Armas (“Knives Out”) stars as Monroe in a stellar cast that also includes Bobby Cannavale, Adrien Brody and Julianne Nicholson. (ORIGINAL)

“Movie: Rainbow”

This coming-of-age tale from Spanish director Paco Leon (“Kiki, Love to Love”) puts a modern-day spin on “The Wizard of Oz” in telling the story of Dorothy, who faces the challenges of being a teenager in today’s society. Dora Postigo, Ayax Pedrosa, Wekafore Jibril, Carmen Maura, Carmen Machi and Luis Bermejo head the cast. (ORIGINAL)

“Entergalactic”

Scott “Kid Cudi” Mescudi (“X”) and Kenya Barris (“black-ish”) are the creative forces behind this animated special that tells the story of Jabari, a charming, streetwear-clad artist, who after a chance run-in with his cool new photographer neighbor Meadow, has the chance to attain success and love. (ORIGINAL)

The great outdoors supplies the ingredients on Hulu's 'Chefs vs. Wild'

At a time when grocery prices are going through the roof, foraging for one's own ingredients seems like a good idea. And as it turns out, a tasty one as well, judging by a culinary competition series coming to Hulu.

In "Chefs vs. Wild," an eight-episode series premiering Monday, Sept. 26, two world class chefs are dropped in the wilderness, where they'll be tasked with not only surviving but also foraging enough wild ingredients to create a restaurant-worthy, five star meal. After a head-to-head competition in a wilderness kitchen, the final products are then judged by wild foods expert Valerie Segrest and chef and adventurer Kiran Jethwa, who is also the host.

Of course, the foraging-for-food subgenre of foodie TV has been expanding over the past decade or so and the following is just a fraction of what is available.

"Gordon Ramsay: Uncharted" (Available on Disney+ and Prime Video): The British celebrity chef and restaurateur shows his wild side in this National Geographic series as he ventures to some of the most remote locations on Earth in places like New Zealand, Peru, Tasmania and Morocco, to dive, forage, fish and even jump out of helicopters for extraordinary ingredients, from which he will create meals certain to impress the locals.

"Wild Harvest" (Available on YouTube): "Survivorman" Les Stroud and chef Paul Rogalski are your guides for this series that originally aired on PBS stations, in which they explore the culinary potential of wild ingredients in locations across Canada and the United States. Among their stops: the Oregon coast for mussels and wild radish; the Canadian Rockies for horsetail and dandelion; Alberta for grouse and Labrador tea; and Ontario for lambsquarters and raspberries.

"Original Fare" (Available on PBS online and YouTube): From PBS Food comes this foodie/adventure series that follows host Kelly Cox as she hunts, forages and farms her way around the globe to search for the best ingredients our planet has to offer. Her travels take her to places such as Bodega Bay Calif., to hunt for gaper clams; Texas Hill Country to check out the wine; South Carolina to gather oysters; and Puget Sound, Wash., to catch crabs for crab rangoon.

"WildFed" (Available on iTunes, Spotify, Stitcher and Google Play): Hosted by Daniel Vitalis, this podcast aims to deepen listeners' connection with the natural world through hunting, fishing, foraging and understanding that wild food is all around us if we just pay attention.
