AWARDS

Myles Frost and Tony Dokoupil, while announcing the 76th Annual Tony Awards nominations

76th Tony Awards hits CBS and Paramount+

One could say that “things are all right in America” if you are a Tony Award nominee in America. Such is the case for a select few lucky contenders this year as “West Side Story” (2021) actress and Broadway star Ariana DeBose returns to host the 76th annual Tony Awards for a second consecutive year. The ceremony airs live from United Palace in New York City’s Washington Heights Sunday, June 11, on CBS and Paramount+.

A reborn classic leads the nominations for the 2022-2023 pool, which is presented by the Broadway League and the American Theatre Wing. “Some Like It Hot,” a new adaptation of the 1959 film of the same name starring Marilyn Monroe (“The Seven Year Itch,” 1955), Tony Curtis (“Spartacus,” 1960) and Jack Lemmon (“Grumpy Old Men,” 1993) — which was, in turn, an adaptation of the 1935 French film “Fanfare of Love” — has earned a total of 11 nominations at this year’s awards, including Best Book of a Musical (for Matthew López and Amber Ruffin), Best Original Score (Music and/or Lyrics) Written for the Theatre (for music by Marc Shaiman and lyrics by Shaiman and Scott Wittman), Best Performance by an Actor in a Leading Role (for both Christian Borle and J. Harrison Ghee), and Best Scenic Design of a Musical (for Scott Pask), among others.

Other big nominees this year — all with nine nods apiece — include the highly acclaimed and often discussed “& Juliet,” a “jukebox musical” that reimagines Juliet’s story and takes a look at what her life could have been if she hadn’t thrown it all away for Romeo; “Shucked,” following “an unlikely hero, an unscrupulous con man and a battle for the heart & soil of a small town” (per ShuckedMusical.com); “New York, New York,” a post-war ode to the City That Never Sleeps, loosely based on the 1977 film of the same name; and, with eight nominations, “Kimberly Akimbo,” the “story of a teenager who has a medical condition that causes her to age rapidly” (according to Variety).

Talent rains outside the musical sphere as well, especially when taking into consideration highly nominated stage plays such as the Jessica Chastain (“Zero Dark Thirty,” 2012) -led “A Doll’s House,” adapted by Amy Herzog from the original by Henrik Ibsen; the Lee Daniels (“The Butler,” 2013) -backed comedy “Ain’t No Mo’,” which sadly closed during the winter of 2022 after 28 performances; and Tom Stoppard’s “Leopoldstadt,” a “humane and heartbreaking” play set in the Jewish quarter of Vienna, Austria, at the turn of the 20th century. All of the listed plays are tied at six nominations, with “Ain’t No Mo’” and “Leopoldstadt” running against “Between Riverside and Crazy,” “Cost of Living” and “Fat Ham” in the Best Play category.

For those who are interested in not missing a minute of the awards or the lead-up to it, CBS and Pluto TV are joining forces to present “The Tony Awards: Act One,” a pre-show airing just prior to the awards ceremony. (Pluto TV is available via smart TV, mobile app and online for free and without sign-in or subscription.)

Don’t miss a second of the 76th Tony Awards when the event celebrates all “525,600 minutes” of last year on Broadway. The ceremony begins live Sunday, June 11, after the “Act One” pre-show on CBS and is also available to stream on Paramount+.

'Outchef'd' and outdone: Competition returns to Food Network

The battle between talented home cooks and trained pros is renewed when "Outchef'd" returns for a second season, Thursday, June 15, on Food Network. Episodes will also stream on discovery+.

Hosted by NFL player-turned-chef Eddie Jackson, each episode introduces a confident home cook, who arrives on-set thinking it's an audition but is suddenly revealed to be a full-on, head-to-head culinary battle against a world-renowned chef. As Food Network describes it, it's immediately "lights, cameras, action," as the participant tries to simultaneously process what's happening and rise to the challenge.

Viewers first got a taste for the competition series when it premiered last September, and it seems to have been a hit with TV audiences and Food Network executives alike.

"Capturing the mind-blowing moment these home cooks find out they are heading straight to set to battle a culinary superstar is such fun – and the action only heightens from there," Betsy Ayala, head of content for Food at Warner Bros. Discovery, said in a statement. "They have all watched cooking competitions and thought they have what it takes to win – and in 'Outchef'd,' we actually find out if they do!"

If you're thinking the ambush approach doesn't sound terribly fair, know that the show does try to level the playing field between pro and amateur(ish) competitors.

There's an initial ingredient-themed cooking round, but after that, Jackson heads out into the streets to randomly recruit four people to serve on a blind-tasting panel. All it takes is just one vote from these four — rather than the unanimous verdict delivered on similar competitions — for the home chef to win the $5,000 prize.

In Thursday's premiere, Rocco DiSpirito is the seasoned industry veteran who will face off against Season 2's first competitor (reportedly, an entrepreneur). Other elite chefs competing this season are: Eric Adjepong, Kelsey Bernard Clark, Tiffani Faison, Darnell Ferguson, Alex Guarnschelli, Robert Irvine and more.

Expect shocked reactions and quick-on-their-feet thinking from the competitors featured in Season 2 of "Outchef'd," and don't think the celebrity chefs will be taking it easy on the challengers, either. The new season premieres Thursday, June 15, on Food Network and discovery+.

BEST HUMPHREY BOGART MOVIES

"The Petrified Forest" (1936): Bogart's star began to rise with his portrayal of mobster-on-the-run Duke Mantee in this adaptation of Robert E. Sherwood's play.

"The Maltese Falcon" (1941): An obvious "must" for this list, director-screenwriter John Huston's version of the Dashiell Hammett novel casts Bogart as hard-boiled detective Sam Spade, probing the murder of his partner in a case also involving a statue that's "the stuff that dreams are made of."

"High Sierra" (1941): A tough Bogart is terrific as an ex-con who still has a taste for larceny in this Raoul Walsh-directed classic.

"Casablanca" (1942): You certainly must remember this, at least if you are a true movie lover. Bogart is unforgettable as cynical cafe owner Rick (Bogart), who has an indelibly dangerous wartime reunion with his former flame Ilsa (Ingrid Bergman), in one of the most famous films ever made ... packed with scenes that are immediately recognizable.

"To Have and Have Not" (1944): Bogart and Lauren Bacall sizzle together in this version of an Ernest Hemingway tale, and it's little wonder, since the two stars fell in love while making the picture and later married.

"The Big Sleep" (1946): Returning to the world of literary detectives, Bogart plays Philip Marlowe in this top-notch telling of Raymond Chandler's mystery that involves the sleuth with murder and a very complicated family.

"Dark Passage" (1947): Bogart and Bacall are together again in this saga of a fugitive who goes to great lengths to prove himself innocent of killing his wife.

"The Treasure of the Sierra Madre" (1948): The search for gold fuels the adventures in this iconic film, which brought Oscars to two Hustons ... director-screenwriter John and co-star Walter.

"Key Largo" (1948): A hurricane threat isn't the only problem that those at a Florida hotel have, thanks to the gangster (Edward G. Robinson) holding them prisoner, in another teaming of Bogart and director Huston. A play by Maxwell Anderson is the source here.

"In a Lonely Place" (1950): Bogart gives a great performance as a screenwriter who just might be involved in a murder, to the alarm of his new love (Gloria Grahame). Turner Classic Movies shows the film Tuesday, June 13.

"Movie: Chitty Chitty Bang Bang"

Q: Has "S.W.A.T." been canceled? - Al Lerner, via e-mail

A: CBS canceled the police-drama reboot, but then "uncanceled" it after a few days. That owes largely to a big outcry from the show's fans, which was fortified by a statement from star and executive producer Shemar Moore, who expressed (with abundant frankness) his disappointment with the network's first decision about the show for the 2023-24 lineup.

'S.W.A.T.' is staying on the beat for now

That came down to a matter of money, since CBS wanted to pay the same licensing fee for a seventh season, when costs would go up for such expenses as the salaries of regular cast members. In the end, CBS reversed itself and ordered a series-concluding Season 7 that will consist of 13 episodes rather than the more typical 22, saving some of the cost that way.

Q: When "Will Trent" resumes next season, will it pick up with the sto-

A: You can pretty much bank on that. As with the Karin Slaughter novels that the ABC show is based on, the characters' past experiences form a big part of who they are, so the revelations that played out in the first-season finale — particularly for police detectives Will (played by Ramon Rodriguez) and Angie (Erika Christensen) — are virtually certain to keep playing out into Season 2.

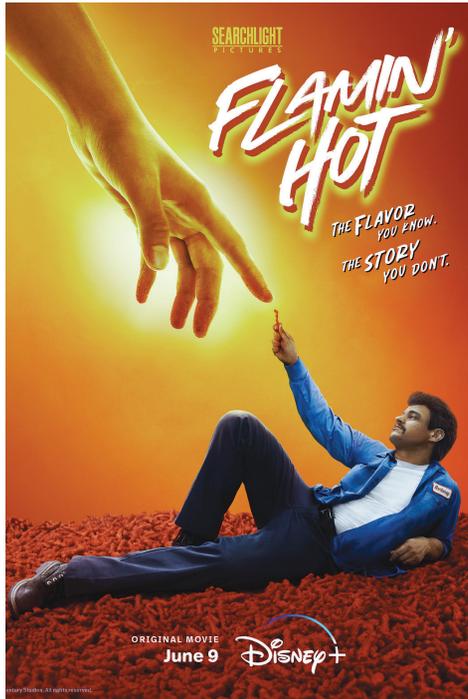

Q: When did Jenna Bush Hager

start co-hosting the last hour of "Today" with Hoda Kotb? - Kristin Myers, via e-mail

A: That NBC weekday hour became "Today With Hoda & Jenna" in April 2019, after Kathie Lee Gifford relinquished her role opposite Kotb following an 11-year run in that chair. Hager often contributes reports to the earlier "Today" hours as well — and, of course, Kotb also shares anchor duties with Savannah Guthrie for the first two hours of "Today" each Monday through Friday.

Two of my friends recommended Creeks to me and I'm so glad they did. The estimator was friendly, open and honest and gave several options and the installers were courteous, on time and cleaned up the working area. Plus, the system works great. No one likes to have to buy a new AC in the middle of summer, but their price was fair and the work was good. Highly recommend! - Renay T.
