Did You Know?

Port Townsend is called the “City of Dreams” because of the early speculation that the city would be the largest harbor on the west coast of the United States. Guarding the gate of Puget Sound, it would become known by its other nickname, the “Key City”, a title that remains to this day.

WELCOME TO THE 2020

THIS YEAR HAS BEEN A YEAR LIKE NO OTHER.

That's why we are excited to bring to you this special publication. Inside these pages, you will find coupons from area businesses, menus from local restaurants, and much more — including profiles about businesses and nonprofits that have adapted to these changing and challenging times by hosting virtual classes or other online offerings.

Jefferson County is filled with magnificent wonders that only nature can provide, and the community has worked diligently to maintain the delicate balance between our priceless past and our great outdoors — while at the same time, supporting thriving businesses and providing for safe neighborhoods.

As Jefferson County and the surrounding area open back up for business, we encourage you to shop local and support your neighbors.

Stay safe, please, and remember to wear a mask while visiting these vital local businesses.

Thank you for shopping local!

FARMS REACH CAFE

Farm's Reach Cafe in Chimacum, owned by Arianna and William "Bege" Patterson is a small cafe that makes most everything from scratch (with love) and prioritizes local/organic ingredients. They use many of our local farms right here in Jefferson County for in-season produce and feature them on their menu board.

They seek out environmentally friendly products including "To Go" packaging that can be composted. Arianna Patterson, co-owner said, "We think it is important to be conscious of our impact on the environment and strive to minimize negative impact by recycling when we can, composting when we can and donating to many of our local community programs."

At Farm's Reach Cafe people can find a large variety of baked goods including gluten-free items, traditional breakfast/brunch, house-made soups, lunch items and espresso that is sourced locally through Port Townsend Coffee Roasting company. Staying local and dining local helps to keep our local economy stabilized. Farm's Reach Cafe is doing their part by spending their money locally, which helps support the many small farmers and families that work so hard to keep our region prosperous.

The best part of Farm's Reach Cafe is the small town feel. "So many of our regular customers have been coming daily/weekly for years. We know just as much about their families and we enjoy our relationships with our community," Patterson says.

OWL SPRIT

*Kim Hendricks and Tina Funk
Owl Sprit owners*

Owl Sprit was started by two friends who wanted to make wholesome food with the best ingredients they could find. Ten years later, they're still at it, adapting as they go. Owl Sprit uses local organic meats and organic produce in everything from soups to juices made by hand. They offer numerous vegan, gluten-free, vegetarian options. The authentic Mediterranean dishes and sauces are a favorite...not to mention their famous hand-cut sweet potato fries! Delicious options for any palate or dietary preference.

Shopping local feeds the whole community...its a cycle of giving back and supporting your neighbors.

Owners Kim Hendricks and Tina Funk say the best part of doing business in Jefferson county is "Our loyal local regulars who are more like family than customers."

DUSTY GREEN

Kassandra Swindler of the Dusty Green Cafe is a wife and mother of two kiddos, and a Port Townsend local. “I care about our community,” she says. “I want to provide the best food for our community at the best prices.” Swindler believes dining out shouldn’t be a hassle or break the bank. It should be an enjoyable and positive experience.

Dusty Green Cafe offers customers locally-sourced meals, prepared in the cafe and served by staff who treat their guests like family in a beautiful park-like setting.

The Cafe is currently offering inside dining as well as takeout and free delivery to those that are unable to venture out in today’s circumstances.

Swindler says shopping locally not only stimulates our economy, it gives our residents jobs and is a gateway to learn from our neighbors. “I can’t say enough great things about our county. They have been amazingly helpful when it came to all my cafe opening questions and concerns. I enjoy seeing our regular guests and welcoming new ones! We enjoy watching our community grow with the new relationships we’re creating here at The Dusty Green Cafe.”

JEFFERSON COUNTY FARM TOUR

A VIRTUAL TOUR OF JEFFERSON COUNTY FARMS

September 19 and 20, 2020

The 18th annual Jefferson County Farm tour will be new and innovative while remaining committed to celebrating and supporting locally grown food, fiber and farm made products. Farm Tour will not be an in-person event this year, for the health and safety of local farmers and community members, but they are working hard to make sure that the third weekend of September will still provide a unique opportunity for you to engage with the local farming community.

Stay up to date with the plans for this year's farm tour at

1 VEGGIES

With our temperate maritime climate, local farmers can grow a cornucopia of vegetables throughout the year – that are fresher and more nutritious.

MUSHROOMS

SPROUTS

KALE & LEAFY GREENS SQUASH

CARROTS

BEETS

POTATOES

ONIONS & GARLIC

2 FROZEN BERRIES

Find fresh and frozen blueberries, strawberries, blackberries and raspberries.

3 SEAFOOD

The beautiful Salish Sea is rich with salmon and shellfish, and many local fishermen travel up to Alaska, returning with wild-caught bounty.

4 HONEY

Touting flavors like wild flower and raspberry, experts say local honey may help with seasonal allergies too!

5 DAIRY

Find cow, goat, and sheep cheeses and yogurts, plus raw cow and goat milk made right here on the peninsula.

6 EGGS

Farm-fresh eggs are a treasure to behold. Eggs from pastured hens contain up to 20 times more healthy omega-3s than those from factory hens. Egg-cellent!

PASTURE =

OMEGA 3

9 BEER, WINE, & MORE

We love our beverages, and lucky for us we have cideries, wineries, breweries, local kombucha, and more.

7 GRAINS

Locally-milled flours and grains turn into products like local breads, pastas and pastries!

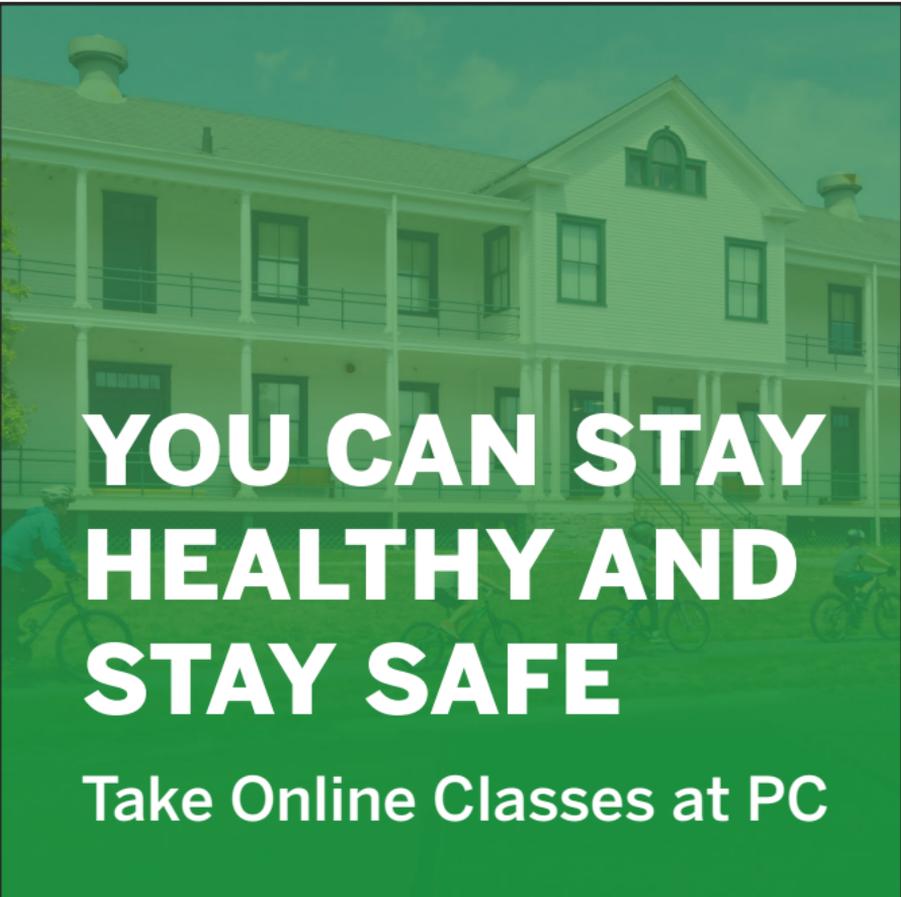

8 MEAT & POULTRY

Sustainable, humanely raised pork, beef, chicken, turkey and lamb are all here. Stock up your freezer and load up the grill.

TYLER ST. BARBERSHOP

*Sean Dulaney
Tyler St. Barbershop owner*

Sean Dulaney, owner of Tyler St. Barbershop, is 35 and has been a barber for 10 years. He has been working at his current location for 1 year. He graduated from Bates Technical College, and his first job as a barber was with the Shoe Shiner.

Tyler St. Barbershop offers a classic barbershop experience in a historical downtown building. Customers can count on Dulaney's commitment to quality, a small town feel, and a shop that is locally owned and operated.

When you spend money in town, it affects everyone's enjoyment of the town.

Jefferson county has attracted people of all walks of life with interesting stories of how and why they got here. Dulaney has always paraphrased a saying when discussing this area as, "Port Townsend is a place four strangers to go to get away from it all."

Top Ten Reasons to Shop Locally

When you buy local ...

You are supporting yourself.

When you buy local, you're putting money back into the pockets of other local business, who also shop locally.

You are supporting nonprofits that support your community.

Studies show that nonprofits receive an average of 250 times more support from small businesses than large, national corporations.

You are supporting one-of-a-kind businesses.

Check out the Port Townsend Farmers Market on any Saturday from April through December. It's a showcase of small businesses.

You are supporting the environment.

When you shop close to home, you're saving gas and the planet.

You're creating jobs!

Local businesses hire local employees. It's that simple.

You get better service.

When you buy goods and services from local people on a regular basis, odds are you'll get known and get better service.

You are investing in your community.

Think Quimper Mercantile, and so many other businesses that make the community a better place to live, work and play.

Local taxes, local infrastructure

The more you buy locally, the more sales tax revenue is generated to help the city and county pay for services you also need and enjoy.

Local prosperity

The more you spend locally, the more money circulates where you live, not where bankers and big corporations are based.

Local fun

It's so much more fun to get to know people and become Jan, Susan, Tom, David or (your name here) than it is to go some place where people don't know you and only want your money.

So shop local, and have fun!

THE STORY OF CANNABIS IS ROOTED IN THE LAND

At the Chimacum Cannabis Company our passion is cannabis produced using regenerative, sustainable, and organic growing practices from the most skilled cultivators and rich riparian valleys across Washington. In addition to some of the best premium sungrown, greenhouse, and indoor cannabis flower from our region we offer you a fun exploration of diverse cannabis appellations beyond the Chimacum Valleys. We will take you on an adventure from the pristine Methow Valley and fertile Nooksack floodplain to distinct terroirs north and south along the Yakima River.

High quality cannabis concentrates are also close to our heart. Whether crafted through old world traditional solvent-less methods or using modern techniques, allow us to share with you the best variety of curated hashish and cannabis oils on the Olympic Peninsula.

Recognized by High Times Magazine as one of the best cannabis dispensaries in Washington, we are also very grateful to be selected as the best cannabis store in Jefferson County four years in a row by readers of the Port Townsend Leader. Our wonderful weed enthusiasts look forward to providing you with a cannabis shopping experience you can be proud exists in your community.
