Welcome to THING!

We at Seattle Theatre Group (producers of this event) want to express our immense and sincere gratitude to all who are supporting THING, particularly the residents of Port Townsend, our hosts at Fort Worden, the artists, volunteers, and of course, the attendees. It is our hope that patrons show up bright and early with an open mind and an appetite for checking out something new and different. This spirit of discovery is at the heart of THING. It is our belief that taking in a wide variety of arts and culture is essential to a life well lived and perhaps even a path toward better understanding each other. Since THING's maiden voyage in 2019 we have strived to improve representation on our stages and evolve to be more inclusive and accessible.

THING exists as a unique event in a unique part of the world. The Pacific Northwest has long earned a reputation for innovation and independence. We try to reflect this by programming an eclectic mix of established artists such as Modest Mouse, Sparks, Father John Misty and Jungle, alongside exciting rising stars such as Goose, Yves Tumor, Freddie Gibbs, and Wet Leg. We are thrilled to welcome several acclaimed international artists: Mdou Moctar (Nigeria), Jose Gonzalez (Sweden), Wet Leg (UK), Hiatus Kaiyote (Australia) as well as Arooj Aftab (US-based, first-ever Pakistani to win a Grammy!) and Lido Pimienta (Colombia-born, living in Canada).

It also remains a priority to shine a light on up-and-coming artists from the region: Delvon Lamarr Organ Trio (#1 on Downbeat Magazine's critics poll as Rising Star Organist), electrifying seven-piece rhythm-and-soul group The Dip, psychedelic electro-cumbia artist Terror/Cactus, innovative rapper Jarv Dee, the versatile and jaw-dropping vocals of Shaina Shepherd, and the scrappy indie rock sounds of Tacoma's acclaimed Enumclaw.

Seattle Theatre Group is a year-round nonprofit arts organization with three historic theatres and a robust slate of education and community programs, including the DANCE This camp which also take place at Fort Worden. Get a taste of what these programs offer by checking out a variety of workshops and showcases for our signature programs: DANCE This, More Music @ the Moore, and ELEVATE!

Beyond the music we invite you to explore Fort Worden and its 434 acres with 12 miles of forested hiking trails and two miles of walkable saltwater beaches. On the festival site you'll find a wide variety of "Other THINGS" to surprise and delight, including: The Future Is 0 (a satirical game show), a lecture deconstructing The Beatles' Revolver album, native storytellers Elaine Grinnell & Delbert Miller from the Jamestown S'Klallam and Skokomish tribes, and Architects of Air who return to THING with a brand-new Luminarium (an inflatable sculpture of light and air) titled Timisien.

Lastly, it has been an unimaginable time for all of us. Don't forget to laugh. We are extremely fortunate to be joined by two present and future legends: Robert Smigel as Triumph The Insult Comic Dog and Jerrod Carmichael. Let's remind each other what it feels like to experience the joy of arts and culture with a community of people in the spectacular natural setting in which we are so lucky to live. Take care of each other and have fun. Let's do this THING!

A Note from Fort Worden

Fort Worden Hospitality officially welcomes you to Fort Worden State Park in Port Townsend. We are honored to host you for THING presented by Seattle Theatre Group.

We appreciate our partnership with Seattle Theatre Group and the care and attention they take in respecting the history and the natural beauty of the park. They have curated a weekend that truly invites everyone in to experience the music, arts and culture that make this event so unique.

Connecting to the past while innovating for the future allows us to acknowledge the origins of this place that date back to the S'Klallam tribe with the historic buildings being built around the turn of the 1900s when the military established Fort Worden. Present-day people stay here while on vacation, attend a conference or program, celebrate an occasion over a meal or simply visit to get outdoors to enjoy the natural beauty.

Fort Worden is such a vibrant place featuring many different nonprofit organizations that all contribute to the experience guests have here on campus. From the arts and culture corridor, museums, park trails, and marine life education to the venues, restaurants and vacation rental homes the experience at Fort Worden will certainly be memorable.

Port Townsend is a special community and Fort Worden Hospitality thanks you for your support of this and all the programming that happens on campus year-round.

This is going to be a great weekend to connect with each other, this place and the outdoors. We hope you return for future visits to explore more of what Port Townsend and the surrounding Olympic Peninsula have to offer. Visit our website at fortworden.org to learn how you can stay, eat, meet and play here at Fort Worden.

PORT TOWNSEND PSYCHEDELIC SOCIETY

Port Townsend Psychedelic Society aims to cultivate value and respect for entheogens and their healing potentials within our community. We support a grow-gift-gather approach and are committed to ensuring these medicines are made equitably accessible. We seek to educate and empower our community members to engage with psychedelics in safe, respectful, and efficacious ways. We believe entheogens can help us create a healthier community composed of stronger relationships to one another, our community at large, and nature.

THE VERA PROJECT

The Vera Project is an all-ages nonprofit space dedicated to fostering personal and community transformation through collaborative, youth-driven engagement in music and art. A music venue, screen print shop, recording studio, art gallery, and safe space for radical self-expression, VERA is a home to Seattle's creative community.

KPTZ

In 2011 more than 500 people gathered together for the launch of the first community radio station in Port Townsend. The dream of a few supported the heartfelt desire of many in our community. The desire at KPTZ is to be the voice of Port Townsend that serves the Northeast Olympic Peninsula. The KPTZ mission is to build and strengthen community throughout the Northeast Olympic Peninsula, actively engaging our listeners through high quality community radio programming that is educational, entertaining, and service oriented.

MOTLEY ZOO

Motley Zoo Animal Rescue is a volunteer and foster based animal welfare organization, whose mission is to end the euthanization of healthy, adoptable pets through advocacy of rescue / adoption and spay / neuter. They fight to end animal neglect, abuse and homelessness, to alleviate the suffering of animals and to improve the lives of animals everywhere.

JUMPING MOUSE CHILDREN'S CENTER

Jumping Mouse Children's Center transforms lives by providing expressive mental health therapy for as long as necessary. They nurture each child's healthy development and supportive relationships at home and in the community, seeing children ages two to twelve for a variety of reasons, most often when they have experienced emotional stress or trauma that has deeply affected them and their families. Some are grieving the loss of someone close to them; others have experienced domestic violence, abuse, or neglect. Sometimes, they are coping with changes in family structure, or a serious illness or medical problem. When these and other stressors affect a child's ability to communicate, to attend school, or to relate to others, Jumping Mouse can help.

SMASH

SMASH (Seattle Musicians Access to Sustainable Healthcare) provides access to free and low-cost medical, dental, and mental health services to low- and limited-income working musicians plus provide support for navigating the complicated and frustrating healthcare system. SHOUT YOUR ABORTION

Shout Your Abortion is normalizing abortion and elevating safe paths to access, regardless of legality. SYA makes resources, campaigns, and media intended to arm existing activists, create new ones, and foster collective participation in abortion access all over the country.

BLOODWORKS NW

MUSIC MOVES US. BLOOD BONDS US. Bloodworks Northwest is a non-profit organization that collects and provides 95% of the life-saving blood used in hospitals across the Pacific Northwest. We're excited to launch Music's in Our Blood, a campaign in partnership with the music community to highlight the importance of blood donation and the urgent need that exists, to keep our community healthy. Our goal is to empower 20,000 new or re-engaged blood donors, through education, inspiration, and community engagement. SO HERE'S TO THE MUSIC we hear and feel, on the air, on a stage. And to the power of music that heals and gets our blood pumping. Let's use that power for good: by giving life-saving blood for others, and just like that soul-saving song, let's turn it up loud and share again and again—FOR LIFE!

CREATIVE ARTS ALLIANCE

The newly formed Creative Arts Alliance includes Centrum, Copper Canyon Press, Corvidae Press, KPTZ Radio, Madrona MindBody Institute, Northwind Art, Port Townsend School of Woodworking and Rainshadow Recording. These eight creative arts non-profit groups are making plans to reside in Fort Worden's historic newly renovated Makers Square, creating an arts and culture corridor on the campus. From classes to artists-in-residence to performances and movement, there are lots of activities, programming and events in which to engage.

New Opportunities for Creative Arts at Fort Worden

Article Courtesy of Renee Klein of Madrona Mind Body Institute and KPTZ

Among the many lessons of the past two+ years is that with resiliency and creativity, new opportunities are forged. This is the message offered by members of the newly formed Creative Alliance that is strengthening the creative arts and lifelong learning at Fort Worden.

Even before the pandemic, Centrum, Copper Canyon Press, Corvidae Press, Madrona MindBody, Northwind Art, the Port Townsend School of Woodworking and Rainshadow Recording shared ideas, resources and, occasionally, programming. Now joined by Jefferson County's community radio station KPTZ as it moves onto the campus, these eight organizations have aligned to better expand creative arts opportunities and to secure their future on the Fort Worden campus.

Foundational to this new future are long-term leases with the Public Development Authority (PDA) which manages Fort Worden on behalf of Washington State Parks. With that work largely complete, the group can approach funders to help renovate the buildings — many of which are 100+ years old — that Alliance members occupy.

"We are assuming responsibility for maintenance and capital repairs for our buildings," said Centrum's Executive Director Robert Birman, "so together, we will approach foundations and other grantors to upgrade these vital spaces. Collectively our voice is more compelling, and we hope to greatly expand investment in the campus for the long-term benefit of the community and our organizations."

In addition to raising an expected $15 to $20 million over the next 20 years, the group is strategizing how to expand the scale and reach of arts programming. For example, the newly renovated Building 305, from where KPTZ will broadcast, is envisioned as a vibrant multi-purpose space that also can house art exhibitions and studio space, as well as curated shows, talks, lectures, and musical performances.

"This is very exciting for all of us involved with lifelong learning at Fort Worden," added Northwind Arts' Teresa Verraes. "We're eager to bring even more vibrant arts experiences to Port Townsend and those we reach beyond our community."

The Fort Worden Creative Alliance will be represented throughout the 3-day THING festival: Northwind Arts offers a Lantern-making workshop and KPTZ's Living Room tent, also in the THING Market on the parade grounds, features the Creative Alliance and provides information in a comfortable, shaded setting.

STG EDUCATION & COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT EVENTS AT THING

CHECK OUT THE MULTIPLE PERFORMANCES AND WORKSHOPS HIGHLIGHTING STG'S MISSION-BASED WORK

MORE MUSIC @ THE MOORE

For 21 years, More Music @ The Moore has featured exceptional young musicians mixing up diverse music styles with the opportunity to learn through group collaborations, mentorships from music industry professionals, as well as opportunities for production and promotional support. THING performances include alumni artists Aurora Ave and Samara Reign (Friday), and Osvaldo Ribas and The Geoducks (Saturday).

ELEVATE

ELEVATE uplifting Black and Brown voices through the art of spoken word. ELEVATE shares untold and unseen work centered around local and national historical events, the impact of systemic racism and individuals challenging racist ideologies. Spokenword artists include Jazzmin Barrett and Rahma Mohammed (Friday), Harlem Yarbrough, Maya Russell, and Tia Nache Yarbrough (Saturday), and Chase Roberts, Kyle Danielson, and Gianni Johnson (Sunday).

PNW FUTURE OF HIP HOP SPOTLIGHT

For generations the Pacific Northwest has been an artistic home for Hip Hop that has influenced the rest of the world. This Pacific Northwest Future of Hip Hop Spotlight will feature DJ Pax and artists from 206Zulu: Reezay Ray and Frank Saga, The Residency: Rosé Prosecco and grxtyy, STG: Critical and Shemar, and Totem Star: Kiddus Fecto and Ajani Q performing Sunday night.

DANCE THIS PERFORMANCE + WORKSHOPS

STG's signature dance program, now in its 24th year, DANCE This brings together youth & adult performers from diverse communities for collaboration & to share their culture through the art of dance. It is a multi-faceted program consisting of performance and training opportunities for all ages. THING Workshops include: "Breaking" with Robert Eyeran at 4:00pm on Friday, and "Afro Dance Workshop" with Niya

Cakpo at 4:00pm on Sunday. The DANCE This Showcase is Sunday at 12:30 and will feature performances by Northwest Tap Connection, Grupo Folklorico Herencias Mexicanas, and Afro Beats with Niyafath Cakpo & Michel Mughisa.

DANCE WITH LIFE WORKSHOP

Dance with Life are dance classes for people living with physical and cognitive challenges. The classes inspire students of all levels of ability and mobility to investigate movement and music in ways that engage their mind and body artistically, intellectually, and physically. Dance with Life classes contribute to the participants' health and wellness, while addressing such concerns as balance, coordination, flexibility, and depression. A one-hour seated and standing workshop will be offered Saturday at 4:00pm led by teaching artists Angie Bolton and Kirsten Barron Kinney and accompanied by Travis Corwin.

FAMILY WORKSHOPS

STG's Education and Community Engagement Teaching Artist Team provides training, workshops and classes focused on personal and professional development for the community in a wide range of art disciplines. Experienced Teaching Artists partner with schools, organizations and communities to empower, enrich, and celebrate participants' quality of life using the arts.

Teaching Artists modify experiences to meet all comfort levels. One-hour workshops will be offered by STG teaching artists throughout THING and include "Improv for Wellness" with Teague Parker on Friday at 1:00pm, "Samba Music & Art" with Dora Newman on Saturday at 1:00pm, and "Musical Theatre Adventures" with Brad Walker & Gabi Shutt on Sunday at 1:00pm.

RE:DEFINITION

Alaskan Tlingit Native Margie Morris is Raven/Frog clan and has created various Tlingit art for over 40 years: dance robes, tunics, beading, carving, with a focus on making elk hide drums designed with her form line designs painted in acrylic. Margie will be at THING (1:00pm to 6:00pm near the Parade Ground stage) painting canvases with line form designs which will include 4 crests heads: Eagle, Raven, Wolf and Whale along the edges. These pieces will invite festival goers to learn and contribute to the creation of the live painting experience.

STG's Commitment to Equity

Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Access (DEIA) are fundamental priorities for our organization and the communities we serve; therefore, we are committed to examining, challenging, and modifying our business practices.

We believe that we must be intentional with every opportunity we have in order to achieve our goals of being the People's Theatre and creating more equity in arts and culture. In addition to taking action, DEIA work includes listening to the community's needs. The feedback of the community, artists, volunteers, and staff in the inaugural year was essential to the preparation for this year.

In addition, it is important that our content and engagement strategies aim to establish a relationship with the populations we serve. As part of the festival's commitment to accessibility and inclusiveness, admission for children under the age of twelve will be free. Half of the artists identify as Black, Indigenous, or as People of Color.

We offer ASL interpretation, special viewing areas, modified interactive sessions, sensory + break areas led by Sensory Access, and dance classes for those with varying levels of mobility.

OTHER THINGS TO DO AT THING

COME EARLY

Arrive early for THING and enjoy some of the fun activities the Olympic Peninsula and Port Townsend have to offer. Explore the outdoors, enjoy a variety of arts, music, & entertainment, and check out the local restaurants, wineries, and cider houses.

Reduce your carbon footprint and ride your bike to THING. Port Townsend and the surrounding area are very bicycle friendly with bike lanes, trails, and cycle mechanics prevalent throughout. The Cismahan trail showcases the Indigenous history of the area and is bikeable from 1 to 12 miles.

Take the Kingston Ferry from Seattle to Kingston, along with your bike, then board the Kingston express Shuttle to Port Townsend. The entire trip takes less than 2 hours and is the fastest and least expensive route from Seattle to Port Townsend.

SOUNDCHECK

In the seven days leading up to THING, Port Townsend will be bursting with performances, art and interactive events celebrating local arts and culture. Soundcheck kicks off on Friday, August 19th with Band-o-Rama and runs through August 25th. Catch a show from a great band, take in a gallery walk, dance the night away at a swing event, marvel at a burlesque troupe, and take in collection of short films.

Hop on the free Soundcheck shuttle bus on Thursday night (THING camping opens on Thursday!) and visit breweries, wineries, and late-night venues around downtown Port Townsend. Check out ptsoundcheck.com for details.

DOWNTOWN PORT TOWNSEND

Steeped in history, downtown Port Townsend has dozens of one-of-a-kind shops and galleries and over 30 dining spots. Small towns can make you feel right at home. Mingle with the locals, sample the food and drink, explore the outdoors, and take in the nightlife. Enjoy music and entertainment including the Concerts on the Dock series on Thursdays July and August.

OLYMPIC PENINSULA

The Olympic Peninsula has a variety of places to stay before, during or after THING, including several parks, beaches, trails, and resorts. Visit enjoyolympicpeninsula.com to plan your itinerary.

The Olympic Culinary Loop has fresh and delicious culinary treats. The Olympic Peninsula local fare is influenced by the region's diverse climate, coastal proximity, and Native American heritage. You'll find an abundance of locally grown produce, game, sea fare and wine. Visit olympicculinaryloop.com for more information.

TAKE THE FREE SHUTTLE!

Festival goers are free to come and go from Thing Festival to explore downtown and environs. There will be a FREE shuttle to take you back and forth from Jefferson County Campground to downtown.
