COVER ARTIST

Mike Biskup is a contemporary watercolor painter living and working on Washington's Majestic Olympic Peninsula. His colorful, upbeat paintings consistently bring smiles to faces and can be found in collections worldwide.

A longtime staple of the Port Townsend Arts scene, Biskup has also shown paintings at art fairs, galleries and museums in Washington State, Los Angeles and New York. Born in 1970 in Los Angeles, he spent his youngest years voraciously drawing quirky characters, complex contraptions and way out worlds with his two older brothers. Decades later while earning a degree in Fine Art at UC Santa Cruz, Biskup swam in a richly blended stream of artistic freedom, Zen Buddhism and Native American spiritual consciousness.

After school, Biskup spent two decades homeschooling three intrepid children in the wilds of Port Townsend. Nest emptied, he embraced his role as a bringer of visions in the Artist/Shaman tradition elucidated profoundly by Joseph Campbell. At age 50, a powerful mystical experience shed new light on Everything...

In 2021, Biskup and his wife Laura acquired five acres in Gardiner, Washington. The land, called The Green Way, is located one mile from 101 and one mile from The Salish Sea between Port Townsend and Sequim. It's a breathtaking mix of tall trees, sunny clearings, gardens and natural meadows. The 44-by-60-foot Great Hall houses his painting studio and art gallery. Visitors are welcomed every 1st and 3rd Sunday to see works in progress, painting demonstrations, and rotating exhibitions of paintings for sale. The studio also serves as the home base for The Green Way Sunshine Sunday Social Club.

Biskup also sells a selection of original paintings, prints, and cards Saturday mornings at The Port Townsend Farmer's Market, April through December.

"In my paintings, Everything flows together," says Biskup. "Diverse colors, lines and shapes - People, places, plants and things are woven into one harmoniously functional ecosystem. I want to subtly remind viewers that we humans, in all our diversity, are essentially interconnected, and with thoughtfulness, can function together harmoniously as well."

Visit Biskup's website anytime to contact him, learn more about his work, sign up for The Sunshine Sunday Social Club, schedule a studio visit, or purchase paintings via his online shop at mikebiskup.com

T t's like no other place, this landscape of rainforests, seashores, and chilly Pacific waters bobbing the hulls of historic wooden boats.

Here you'll find a range of friendly faces, from local students studying at the nationally recognized Northwest School of Wooden BoatBuilding, to award winning poets highlighted by Copper Canyon, a local press, and young families biking iconic paths like the Olympic Discovery Trail. There is a certain Peninsula flair you're sure to feel as you flip through these pages.

And speaking of pages, as a community sounding board for more than 134 years, The Port Townsend and Jefferson County Leader newspaper delights in making this annual Getaway Guide available to you. We're proud to champion the people and products that make our home such a delightful place to explore. Find unique lodging at a restored Victorian mansion, or camp under the stars at a local park. As you'll see from our featured vendors, the Olympic Peninsula terroir all but bursts from local seafood, wine, hard cider, and the scads of fresh fruits and vegetables the nutrient-rich soil of the area produces.

Rested and nourished, getting outside is easy: The hardest part might be deciding what to do first. Swim, paddle board, charter a sail, hike your heart out, wander sea marshes and take the dog for a run at the local fairgrounds.

Check out our events pages, support our local businesses, and soak up the magic of Jefferson County and the greater Olympic Peninsula. We have the feeling you'll probably return, both to this guide, and the place it reflects.

On behalf of the Leader crew,

IT'S FINALLY TIME, AND YOU'RE READY TO MAKE YOUR GETAWAY. BUT IS YOUR GETAWAY READY FOR YOU?

Travelers heading to the Olympic Peninsula should make plans to plan ahead. It's a sure way of making the old phrase "Getting there is half the fun" live up to its promise.

Advance planning is especially important for the Summer of 2023, and not a bad idea for 2024, as well.

Washington State Ferries is still struggling to come out of its coronavirus coma — beset by canceled sailings, reduced capacity, and crew shortages due to the pandemic and other factors — and the Port Townsend-Coupeville route is still awaiting the restoration of two-boat service between the Olympic Peninsula and Whidbey Island.

For travelers heading in either direction, that means making a reservation for a sailing a smart move.

Reservations can easily be made well in advance online, and travelers aren't charged the full amount of passage until they arrive at the toll booth in Port Townsend or Coupeville.

Travelers can also sign up online at wsdot.wa.gov/ ferries to get alerts when ferry sailings may be canceled due to the weather and tidal conditions.

Making a reservation is also crucial for high-travel times during the busy summer months.

Reservations are also advised for the San Juan Island ferries, or international service out of Anacortes. Callcenter hours are 5 a.m.-8:15 p.m., seven days a week at 888-808-7977, or go online to wsdot.wa.gov/ferries.

For the other ferry routes, expect heavier traffic (and a possible wait) when heading westbound on a Friday and eastbound on a Sunday.

Those headed for the Hood Canal Bridge should also be aware that critical renovation work is slated for the span on selected dates this summer, which will mean a complete closure of the bridge at times. Check Hoodcanalbridge.com for information on planned closures.

The bridge also opens frequently for marine traffic.

The 6,521-foot span closes to vehicles when it opens for sailboats, and (without warning) for Navy vessels from the nuclear submarine base on Hood Canal.

For those traveling on US Highway 101, be sure to check for construction alerts on wsdot.wa.gov.

Summertime is prime construction season for state highways as well as US 101, and a large number of projects have been planned for local roadways over the next three years, from Hood Canal Bridge, to Port Townsend, and along US 101.

Bicycle travel on the Peninsula has a good mix of lowtraffic, two-lane roads and features such as the Larry Scott Trail in Jefferson County and the Olympic Discovery Trail in Clallam County. The trails do not connect – yet – but plans are in the works. For those biking to Port Townsend from a ferry terminal at Kingston or Bainbridge Island, law enforcement suggests crossing the Hood Canal Bridge on Highway 104, and turning north to Port Townsend using Center Road.

Motorcycle groups and car clubs often pick the Olympic Peninsula as a destination. Again, Center Road is a smooth connection between the scenic drive along Hood Canal, the agritourism options in Chimacum and the Victorian architecture to be seen in PT. But don't be surprised if you come to PT on a summer Saturday and decide to spend the night – and find there are no rooms at the inn.

It is possible to plan an Olympic Peninsula visit without your own motorized transportation. If you carry what you need on your back or on a bicycle, a combination of public transport and ferries can get you almost everywhere you want to go.

E CORRECTIONES DE LA CORRECTIONE

The Olympic National Park is a nature lover's paradise. With its vast forests, rugged coastline, and snow-capped peaks, the park offers a diverse range of ecosystems and outdoor activities.

For those looking to spend a few nights under the stars, here are five great campsites in and near the Olympic Forest and Olympic National Park.

HOH RAIN FOREST CAMPGROUND

For those looking to explore one of the most unique and awe-inspiring ecosystems in the world, the Hoh Rain Forest Campground is the perfect place to stay. The Hoh Rain Forest is known for its dense canopy of moss-covered trees, ferns, and other plants, as well as its abundant wildlife. The campground is located near several trailheads that offer access to some of the best hiking in the park, including the Hall of Mosses Trail and the Hoh River Trail. nps.gov/olym/planyourvisit/ visiting-the-hoh.htm

SOL DUC HOT SPRINGS CAMPGROUND

Located in the heart of the Olympic Forest, the Sol Duc Hot Springs Campground offers a unique camping experience. In addition to traditional campsites, the campground also features several natural hot springs pools that are open to campers. After a long day of hiking or exploring the surrounding forest, there's nothing quite like soaking in a hot spring surrounded by towering trees and fresh mountain air. nps.gov/olym/planyourvisit/ camping.htm.

- Continued on page 13

KALALOCH CAMPGROUND

If you're looking for a campsite with a view, the Kalaloch Campground is hard to beat. Located on a bluff overlooking the Pacific Ocean, this campground offers stunning views of the coastline and easy access to several beaches. In addition to camping, the Kalaloch area is also popular for beachcombing, whale watching, and storm watching during the winter months. nps.gov/olym/planyourvisit/kalaloch-area-brochure.htm

DEER PARK CAMPGROUND

For those looking to get away from the crowds and enjoy some solitude in the mountains, the Deer Park Campground is a great option. Located high in the Olympic Mountains, this campground offers stunning views of the surrounding peaks and valleys. The campground is only accessible via a narrow, winding road, so be sure to bring a vehicle that can handle steep grades and tight turns. nps.gov/olym/planyourvisit/ deer-park-area-brochure.htm

LAKE LELAND CAMPGROUND

Close to the Port Townsend with year-round fishing opportunities, Lake Leland is a locals' favorite. Be sure to bring a swimsuit and hiking boots. Lake Leland is also perfect for paddle sports. jeffersoncountywa.myrec.com/ documents/final map of leland campground layout. pdf

Overall, the Olympic Forest and Olympic National Park offer a wealth of camping opportunities for those looking to escape the hustle and bustle of city life and reconnect with nature.

Whether you're looking for a rustic campsite deep in the woods or a campground with all the amenities, the park has something for everyone. So pack your tent and sleeping bag, hit the road, and prepare to experience the beauty and tranquility of the Olympic Peninsula.

Fresh, creative seafood, pasta and steak dishes.

The Brinnon General Store is right near Dosewallips State Park.

For visitors short on time or residents in a rush, a nice spot for grabbing quick grub or other goods can be invaluable. Whether one is seeking a scrumptious snack, a quick refreshment, or a last-minute gift, these Jefferson County businesses have you covered.

1. GETABLES

Downtown Port Townsend's perfect pitstop for just about anything has to be Getables.

Need a quick snack and fizzy drink? Getables has you covered. Need a cool postcard to send to loved ones while in town? Getables has your back. The small shop is smack-dab in the middle of downtown and offers a wide range of goods from local gifts to snacks and wine and beer to bring on a beachside picnic. You can even get a cup of coffee, tea, or hot chocolate to warm up or cool down. The business is located at 810 Water St. For more information, go to ptgetables.com.

2. BRINNON GENERAL STORE

For those in south county, the Brinnon General Store has plenty to offer. With two gas pumps up front, the business makes for a great break spot for road-trippers, but also has plenty of goodies to-go.

Beyond just snacks and beer, the general store offers a selection of groceries like eggs, fruit, milk, and other items. Whether it's a quick stop on the way to Dosewallips State Park or a last-minute grocery run, the Brinnon

General Store's got the goods. The shop is on US Highway 101, just north of Dosewallips State Park.

To learn more, visit facebook.com/pages/Brinnon%20 General%20Store/147858178569524.

3. CHIMACUM CORNER FARMSTAND

Lovingly known as "the Corner" by locals, the Chimacum Corner Farmstand is a great stop-and-shop for local produce and goods harvested and sold on the Peninsula.

The shop has it all, whether it's local meats, organic produce, baked goods, fresh food from the corner kitchen, or plants from the nursery. Starting in a former auto parts store amidst an economic recession in 2010, the Chimacum Corner Farmstead has continued to expand and become the Tri Area's go-to spot, located at 9122 Rhody Drive. Offering curbside pickup to customers, the Corner can make quick errands that much faster.

For more information, go to chimacumcorner.com.

4. QUILCENE VILLAGE STORE

This business is way more than just a gas station. For Quilcene locals in search of a freshly-made sandwich or tourists in town looking for last-minute camping equipment, the Quilcene Village Store has your back. Located on US Highway 101 just northwest of central Quilcene, the business offers plenty of product. Whether it's gas, food, liquor, housewares, tea, coffee, snacks, locally-baked goods, clothing, or picnic supplies, the Village Store makes for a great stop-n-shop for a variety of needs. While the cozy storefront may look small from the outside, the variety of items for sale is anything but miniscule.

To learn more about the Quilcene Village Store, visit quilcenevillagestore.com.

5. ALDRICH'S MARKET

The ever-present Aldrich's Market has been a staple of Uptown Port Townsend since 1895. Feeding folks for more than a century, the business offers a mix of the eclectic with the ordinary.

While visitors can grab everyday grocery goods, Alrich's offers a unique collection of products from around the world, whether it's Belgian Looza juice or Loacker Quadratini crackers from Italy. For those short on time and looking for lunch, the grocery store's deli offers panini sandwiches, hot soups, espresso and coffee, and Granita smoothies.

Aldrich's is located at 940 Lawrence St. For more information, go to aldrichs.com.

TTES

The Bridgehaven community is located a few miles south of the west end of the Hood Canal Bridge and is operated by the Bridgehaven Community Club Association. The community has about 200 lots, most with homes on them.

x Tow

Bridgehaven operates with an elected board of directors, a water board and an architectural committee. Bridgehaven has a water manager to maintain its Class A water system, which supplies Bridgehaven and communities just north and south of it.

Bridgehaven contains about 300 feet of waterfront property, with a large picnic pavilion, a boat launch and parking, as well as a 20-slip floating marina dock and a fish-cleaning station.

Bridgehaven is located about 25 miles south of Port Townsend and 9 miles south of Port Ludlow.

census-designated place in South Jefferson County, Brinnon is home to about 800 residents as of the latest census. Known for being the oldest Boy Scout Camp west of the Mississippi, founded in 1919, Brinnon was named in 1860 after Elwell Brinnon, who took a donation land claim at the river's mouth.

Brinnon is located about 61 miles north of Olympia on the Olympic Peninsula's east side, along Hood Canal on the eastern edge of the Olympic National Forest.

Brinnon is about 38 miles south of Port Townsend and about 13 miles south of Quilcene. For a spectacular "aerial" view of the region, head a few miles north of Brinnon to the Mount Walker lookouts.

TERRITORY OF WASHINGTON. TO ACCOMPANY REPORT OF SURVEYOR GENERAL. 1865.

The Chimacum Valley is named for the Chemakum tribe that once lived on the land. The unincorporated community on the Eastern Olympic Peninsula is known for its agriculture.

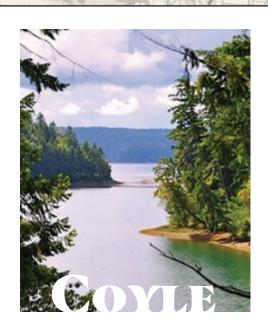

Chimacum is 10 miles south of Port Townsend and 8 miles northwest of Port Ludlow. Places to explore are Anderson Lake State Park, HJ Carroll Park, Tamanowas Rock Sanctuary, Gibbs Lake and Chimacum Woods. For more information, visit jeffersoncountywa.com.

Clearwater, located about 8 miles north of Queets, is named for the nearby Clearwater River and consists mostly of timberlands with limited private ownership.

The unincorporated community is on the west coast of Jefferson County, just outside the boundaries of the Quinault Indian Reservation. The influence of the Pacific Ocean gives Clearwater heavy year-round precipitation and an oceanic climate. Guests can use a Discover Pass to visit nearby Cleawater State Park. A amed after George Coyle, an early settler, Coyle is located about 16 miles south of Bridgehaven on the Toandos Peninsula in an unincorporated area.

The Toandos Peninsula is frequently called the Coyle Peninsula after the community of Coyle, located at its point. It is also known as the Dabob Peninsula, as it separates Dabob Bay from the rest of the Hood Canal.

Since 2009, the community has hosted Concerts in the Woods, a free-admission musical showcase. (See coyleconcerts.com for latst updates).

Coyle is also known for its clam and oyster harvest. The beach is mostly rocky, and digging is difficult but productive for native littleneck and butter clams in the mid-low tidal zone. There are also some horse clams and cockles. Geoducks can be found in the sand at extreme low tides (-2.0 or lower) below the rocky zone.

The waters off Toandos Peninsula State Park stay colder in the summer than most of Hood Canal, perfect for shellfish.

D abob Bay is one of the largest and most pristine salt marsh bay estuaries in Puget Sound. It is located on the east side of the Bolton Peninsula, which separates Quilcene and Dabob Bay. On the north end of Hood Canal, Dabob Bay is home to numerous shellfish companies, and is known worldwide for the quality of its water, shellfish and diverse wildlife.

Dabob is located about 13 miles south of Discovery Bay, and about 23 miles south of Port Townsend.

Dabob is home to Dabob Bay Natural Area, established in 1984 to protect rare intact salt marsh and sand spit plant communities within one of Washington's highest-functioning coastal spit and tidal wetland systems. Initially created as a natural area preserve, the site was enlarged in 2009 to include additional land designated as Natural Area Preserves, along with lands designated as natural resources conservation areas. This provides additional opportunities for low-impact public use.

Located about 13 miles southwest of Port Townsend, Discovery Bay, aka "The Lavender Capital of North America," is a small bay that has clean water along forested slopes. Discovery Bay enters the Strait of Juan de Fuca between the Miller and Quimper peninsulas. Its mouth is just south of Protection Island and is between 6 to 7 miles in length. It is fed by Snow Creek, among other small watercourses. It is also the site of many habitat conservation projects that endeavor to restore native salmon and Olympia oyster species. Make a stop at Discovery Bay to walk along the Olympic Discovery Trail and take in the sparkling water views!

G ardiner is an unincorporated community, partially in neighboring Clallam County, and is about 6.5 miles north of Discovery Bay on the Miller Peninsula.

Farming, lumber and fishing still figure into Gardiner's economy, but the area is following the Jefferson County trend away from agriculture, as old homesteads and family farms are subdivided into residences.

During the last census, roughly 300 people lived in the area. Although Gardiner is considered within Jefferson County, the area is served by Clallam County Fire District 3.

ndian Island is an unincorporated community located between Port Townsend and Kilisut Harbor.

Until the construction of the Port Townsend Ship Canal, Indian Island was connected to the mainland by a broad sand flat and back-shore marsh.

It is occupied by the Indian Island Naval Reserve, and although the last census showed about 200 residents, there are no civilian residences on the island. The Naval Reserve is home to Naval Magazine Indian Island.

Indian Island also has a large trail system along the coast. The Indian Island trail is divided into three segments; Portage, Lagoon and Isthmus, with miles of shoreline that can be hiked on the beach, bluffs or a combination of the two. Leisurely beach ramblers and trail runners and have access to nature and the breathtaking scenery of Oak Bay.

Named after early settler Laura Andrews, Leland is an unincorporated community within Jefferson County.

The area is known for Leland Lake, with a shallow and largely underdeveloped shoreline.

The lake is stocked in April and May with catchable-size rainbow trout. Good numbers of coastal cutthroat trout broodstock, weighing about 1 pound each, are stocked in March.

The lake also receives larger rainbows in the fall, providing good fishing even in winter months. There is good fishing for stocked rainbows during fall, winter and spring, with largemouth bass, bluegill sunfish and yellow perch from spring through the summer. Black crappie fishing can be productive during the cooler months of fall.

of Indian Island, was home to about 950 people.

At the north end of the island is Fort Flagler State Park, a military base built in 1907 to protect the entrance to Puget Sound. Fort Flagler existed as a military base until the early 1950s, when it was decommissioned and turned into a state park. The Fort Flagler barracks and bunkers are preserved today and open to the public. There are hiking trails with views of Mount Rainier, Mount Baker and the San Juan Islands.

In 1842, the town and bay were named in honor of Lieutenant Augustus C. Ludlow, by the Commander of the U.S. Exploring Expedition, Lt. Charles Wilkes.

The first shipments of timber from Puget Sound to San Francisco in 1851 stimulated interest in the business potential of sawmills on the sound. John R. Thorndike and W. P. Sayward sailed to Puget Sound in 1852 and found the environs of Port Ludlow promising. Thorndike filed a timber claim of 318 acres, and began building a mill there.

Following the completion of the nearby Hood Canal Bridge in 1960, Port Ludlow became the site of resorts and planned communities, attracting retirees, vacation home buyers or those needing a more convenient commute to the business centers on the west side of Puget Sound.

He contracted with the Washington Mill Company to build a sawmill on the spit of a low bank of land off the bay with deep enough water for tall ships to moor.

It was there that Hadlock established a large mill, shipping lumber to San Francisco and as far away as Australia and Hawai'i.

Construction started on the alcohol plant in 1909. It was completed in 1910 and began manufacturing wood alcohol from sawdust.

The residential section was in upper Hadlock. After the lumber mill burned, businesses began to move uptown.

William Sehrs, of Sehrs Shipyard, built the Masonic Temple in 1911 and the Nordland ferry and bridges across the Chimacum Creek.

The Tri-Area, which includes Port Hadlock, Irondale and Chimacum, was a growing, viable township.

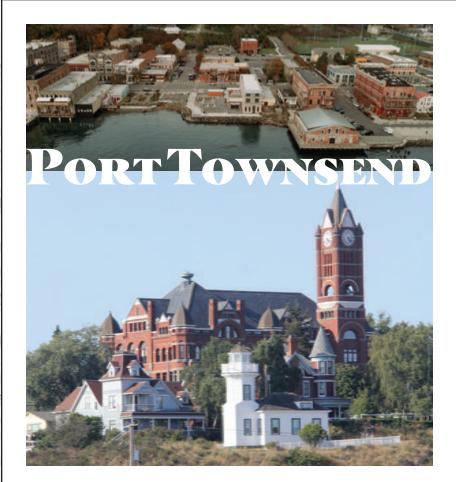

The first iron-producing blast furnace in Washington was completed in Irondale in 1881. About 1,200 tons of pig iron was produced during its first year of operation with ore obtained from Chimacum Valley. The plant closed in 1889.

The initial hope was for Irondale to become a major iron and steel producer for the western United States. At first, it looked as though this dream might come true. After only two years of production, Irondale had several bars, boarding facilities for both men and horses, and homes and accommodations for more than 200 workers. Before the local economy and the plant failed in 1889, there were more than 400 men employed at the foundry. The town expanded and grew on the sandy bluffs that overlooked the waterside plant.

As of the most recent census, the population for Irondale and Port Hadlock combined is around 3,500.

Port Townsend is the only city in Jefferson County, with about 10,600 residents, it is also the county seat.

In addition to its natural scenery at the northeast tip of the Olympic Peninsula, the city is also known for the many Victorian buildings remaining from its late 19th century heyday, numerous annual cultural events and as a maritime center for independent boat-builders and related industries and crafts. The Port Townsend Historic District is a U.S. National Historic Landmark District.

Port Townsend is also called "The City of Dreams" because of the early speculation the city would be the largest harbor on the West Coast of the United States.

Fort Worden and Point Wilson Lighthouse should be on your list to visit.

Quilcene is an unincorporated community and census-designated place in Jefferson County, whose population was 664 as of the 2020 census.

The community is located on the Olympic Peninsula at the head of Quilcene Bay, an arm of the seawater-filled glacial valley of the Hood Canal.

Early inhabitants of the area were the Twana people, inhabiting the length of the Hood Canal. The Quilcene ("salt-water people") were a distinct band.

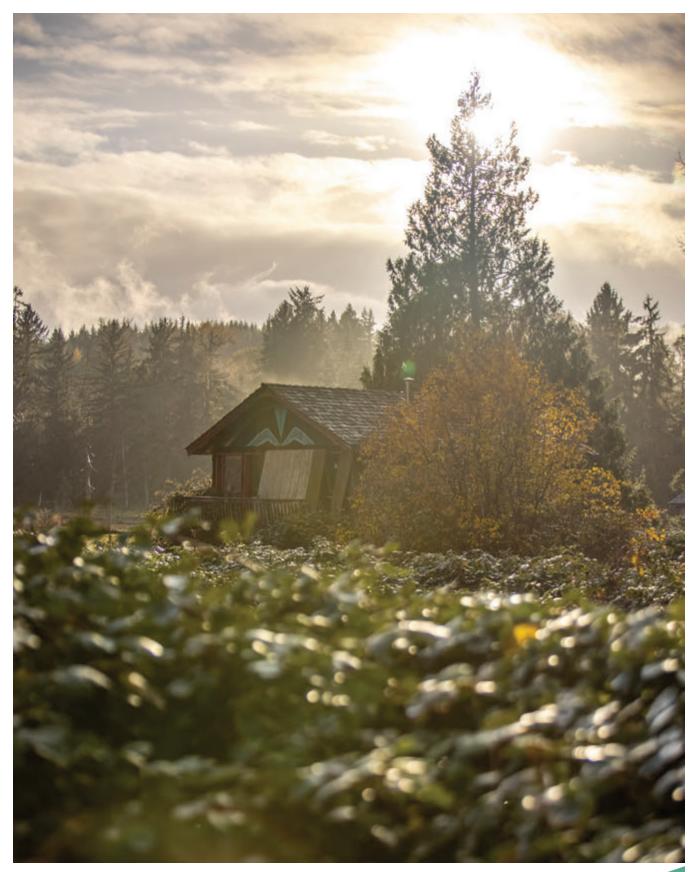

The Wilkes Expedition charted the place as "Kwilsid" in 1841. Hampden Cottle, a logger from Maine, and several other families settled there in 1860 and eventually established a town. The town was originally situated on the banks of the Quilcene River before being moved to higher ground. The economy in Quilcene was based primarily on farming and logging, and by 1880 the town had a population of 53.

UNDERRATED TRAILS ON THE OLYMPIC PENINSULA

1. SOL DUC HOT SPRINGS

Located 12 miles into the northern end of Olympic National Park, the Sol Duc Hot Springs are the perfect visit for those in need of a natural detox. Located at 12076 Sol Duc Hot Springs Road and available by drive, the hot springs also include a resort for guests looking for a longer stay, but people not staying at the resort can still use the springs by paying an entrance fee. Better yet, the hot springs are in close proximity to a collection of trails and sites, with the 2.5-mile Mink Lake Trail and Lovers Lane Trail (5.8 miles) both starting right at the resort. To learn more about the Sol Duc Hot Springs, visit www.nps.gov/ olym/hot-springs.htm.

2. UPPER LAKE LENA

The Upper Lake Lena Trail is an amazing hiking destination for the more experienced of explorers. With a 12-mile hike to get to the trailhead, Upper Lake Lena the isn't for the faint of heart, but it boasts mesmerizing views of the lake and surrounding mountain ridges along the eastern side of Olympic National Park. The Lower Lena Lake Trail may be one of the more popular destinations for Peninsula travelers, but those who venture to the upper part can leave the crowds behind for a tranquil trail experience. For more information about the Upper Lake Lena Trail, go to wta.org/go-hiking/hikes/upper-lena-lake.

3. KLAHHANE RIDGE

Exquisite views of nature's bounty will encompass the views along the Klahhane Ridge Trail. The 5-mile trail can be moderately difficult to trek with 1,700 feet of elevation gain, but it's well worth the effort to see meadows of wildflowers, jaw-dropping views, and local fauna. To access the trailhead, hikers can connect from multiple points, with the Switchback Trailhead at Hurricane Ridge being the easiest access point. It's best to tour the Klahhane Ridge Trail during the summer to view Indian paintbrush, lupine, glacier lilies, and other beautiful meadow flowers along the way. Not to mention, one might come across mountain goats, marmots, and black bears along the way. Go to wta. org/go-hiking/hikes/klahhane-ridge to learn more about the underrated trail.

4. OLYMPIC DISCOVERY TRAIL

For those looking for a longer expedition on a more accessible path, the Olympic Discovery Trail is the perfect compromise. Currently 80 miles in total and set to expand to 130 miles once finished, the trail spans from Port Townsend to La Push. Much of the path goes along an old railroad, with existing roads and trails connecting the Olympic Discovery Trail between La Push and Port Townsend. The trail can be biked or walked and allows for visitors to take on sections of the pathway or go all in for a multi-day experience. For more information about the Olympic Discovery Trail, go to olympicpeninsula.org/ stories/olympic-discovery-trail.

5. STAIRCASE RAPIDS LOOP

Located at the Staircase entrance at the southeast end of Olympic National Park is the Staircase Rapids Loop. While the path is a relatively popular spot for visitors to the Peninsula, it marks an easy starter trail for folks just getting into hiking or travelers who want to see the aquatic beauty of the national park without spending their entire day hiking. The trail offers exquisite, up-close views of the Skokomish River and Lake Cushman — all within a 49-minute trek. The path is also well maintained with only 213 feet of elevation gain, making for a solid beginner trail to explore.

Whith western shores kissed by the Pacific, eastern beaches caressed by the Sound, and the miles inbetween untouched by civilization, Jefferson County — and the Olympic Peninsula as a whole — has a lot to offer in the way of natural beauty. There is no doubt this place has inspired and influenced a lot of the artwork found around the community.

Maps of the county are dotted with multiple art galleries where visitors can find just as much visual stimulation indoors as they can outside.

The Port Townsend School of the Arts and the Northwind Arts Center recently married as one OLYMPIC MUSIC organization, formally becoming Northwind Art. An institution of education, exhibition, and advancement, Northwind Art operates both the Grover Gallery and the Best Gallery in downtown Port Townsend. Located at 236 Taylor St., Grover Gallery features a wide array of rotating exhibits. The Best Gallery is positioned at 701 Water St. and is equipped with two different exhibit spaces. Visit northwindart.org to see all there is to explore at their galleries.

Representing artwork from the Coast Salish, Haida, Nuu-chah-nulth, Tlingit, and Cowichan tribes, the Pacific Traditions Gallery offers visitors a look at original art from The First People of the North American Coastal Tribes. This gallery can be found at 637 Water St. in Port Townsend. Learn more at pacifictraditions.com.

Also located on Port Townsend's Water Street is the fine art cooperative, Port Townsend Gallery. It features the work of local artists in its indoor and outdoor exhibit spaces. Find more information at porttownsendgallery. com.

Port Townsend's Gallery 9 is another Water Street art hub. With revolving art, ceramic, and jewelry exhibits, you can always spot something new here. Visit gallery-9. com for more.

Port Ludlow Art League is another cooperative gallery in the county. Located on Oak Bay Road in Port Ludlow, this gallery celebrates a community of artists. See the original art, photography, fiber and wood art, and more that grace the gallery walls. Information at portludlowart.org.

Come see the art that plays a big role in the community. Support the galleries that support our artists.

ocated on the furthermost point of the Quimper Peninsula, Port Townsend has always had some the advantages in maritime world. At the mouth of Puget Sound, seafaring vessels found welcome а stopover before heading on into the Pacific Ocean. By the 1894, growing town had become a prestigious official US Customs stop, and all foreign vessels were required to drop anchor before continuing on their journey elsewhere.

Photo courtesy Diana Talley Waptain NMODER Tow to inclu Chandleries sprouted up. Crew were in high demand. A captain could expect to find virtually anything he needed to service a ship in Port Townsend in the late nineteenth century.

As the little seaport town boomed, ornate Victorian mansions dotted the hillsides. The city seemed poised to become a major industry player.

But the railroad never made it to Port Townsend, isolating suppliers and increasing the difficulty of bringing in goods.

New steam-powered ships blasted through rough seas that made wooden boats all too thankful to go ashore for a spell. Then Port Townsend suffered from the economic st NASEND'S MARCHARM downturn of ships particular of the ships particular of downturn of 1893, helplessly watching ships pass right by the seaside town. In 1913, stripped of customs duties, which were relocated to Seattle, the maritime industry seemed doomed.

With renewed vision, the city clamored to become an official sea port district, and in 1924 did so. But the later years were tough on the port, which while rich in ideas, lacked significant funding.

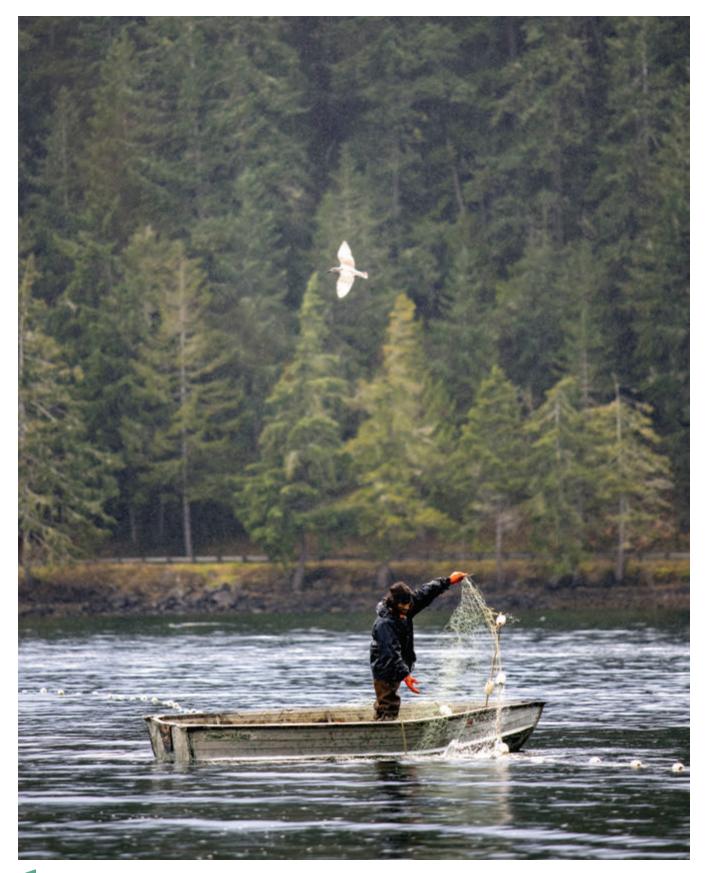

The port's first capital project, Port Townsend's Boat Haven Marina, was completed in the early 1930s. Along with the Port Townsend Yard, which expanded to included the Port Townsend Boat Yard (nicknamed "The Boatyard" by locals), these staples continue to create the bulk of the port's annual revenue. Additionally, the port manages an airport, three marinas, an RV park, and numerous boat launches, among other enterprises.

The Wooden Boat Festival, launched in 1978, helped jump-start a renewed interest in wooden boats. With the addition of the Northwest School of Wooden Boatbuilding in 1981, Jefferson County has developed a reputation for excellent boat building, care, retrofitting, and design for boats of all kinds.

WEDDINGS, CIRCUSES & RACES WORTHINGTON PARK BECOMES A YEAR-ROUND DESTINATION

by Brian Cullen

Worthington Park in Quilcene has emerged from 2022 as truly a year-round destination – welcoming private and public events for every season. Families booked overnight stays at the newly opened and restored Victorian mansion over the winter holidays – and more and more visitors are seeking out the park for unique and memorable experiences.

The "10 acres of possibilities" were extensively landscaped over the winter to host an even broader range of special private and public events. The historically charged and elegant setting of the mansion and surrounding grounds offer couples who might be tying the knot, or those who just want an overnight retreat - an opportunity to pamper themselves in a regal setting for their big day ... or night.

Visitors will enjoy expansive views of the Olympic Mountains while they enjoy their events alongside the historic barn, beside a tranquil pond or rippling river, wandering the forested trails, or dancing the night away at the Linger Longer covered pavilion. The unencumbered freedom of the meadow and surrounding grounds offers a sprawling space to entertain hundreds of guests at the foot of the mountains and minutes away from the picturesque Quilcene Bay.

While Worthington Park increasingly offers a unique experience for private events it has also expanded its schedule of public events.

First up this year will be the third annual Gravel Unravel "gravel grinder" endurance bike race returning to the park on June 17. The event is produced by Peninsula Adventure Sports out of Port Angeles in partnership with Worthington Park. Gravel Unravel is a race series, with the Quilcene race - Bon Jon Pass Out, the second of three races. Riders do not have to do all three races, and can sign up for just one or two. Participants can choose one of three different distances, all summiting Bon Jon Pass in the Olympic National Forest. There are seven different racing categories, or participants can choose the noncompetitive Gran Fondo ride. Find out more at GravelUnravel.com.

Back by very popular demand on July 8 is the Up, Up, Up circus for their third year. Founded in 2020, the troupe is a nonprofit touring circus ensemble bringing their performances to all over the Hood Canal region. Their stage is a flatbed truck with a hand cranked crane for aerial acts and a 100-year-old baby grand piano for live music. Their whimsical and fun performances last for about an hour and are geared for all ages. As in years past the circus will be followed by an outdoor movie on Linger Longer stage – free to the public. Families gather at the park's Linger Longer meadow for this event to be entertained for the entire afternoon and evening in a beautiful setting.

August 11 will also see the return of the Annual Tasting Gala which, in partnership with local wineries, breweries, and distilleries, is held in the afternoon where visitors enjoy libations and live music under majestic shade trees alongside the historic pond.

The annual Oyster Races half marathon, 10K and 5K, presented by Pacific Seafood, are also returning on September 17. This year they have teamed up with two other nonprofit Olympic Peninsula races – the Rhody Run (May 21) and the North Olympic Discovery Marathon (3-4 June) for a series they have called Olympic Summer Running! Runners can now look forward to participating in three great summer foot races across the Peninsula in jaw-dropping locations to benefit those in need. Registration and details at: QuilRaces.com.

The fall will also bring the very popular Sheep-2-Shawl Quilcene Fiber Festival (now scheduled for October 7), showcasing regional fiber artists and our local wool industry. Last year's event brought a record number of vendors and attendees and for the first time encompassed much of the park's 10 acres. This year's event is expected to further expand its offerings.

Finally, the heart and soul of the park, the Quilcene Historical Museum, has enjoyed a refresh of its exhibits this past winter. This work has included updating the museum layout and exhibits to improve visitor appreciation of the region's history and prepare for what promises to be another year of record visitation. The museum is open from April through September (Friday – Monday).

More details on the happenings at Worthington Park can be found at: worthingtonparkquilcene.org.

COUNTY PARKS OFFER MILES OF TRAILS, RESERVATION-FREE CAMPING AND SCENIC PICNICKING

Jefferson County has 20 parks and four campgrounds, with miles of trails for walking, hiking and mountain bike riding, as well as camping, picnicking and relaxing on the beach.

As the weather warms up, these parks offer an alternative to state parks, which often fill up fast and require a Discovery Pass.

A highlight of the county's parks system is that there are no passes required.

Not only that, but Jefferson County's campgrounds do not require a reservation.

"You can usually find a spot at one of the four of them," said Matt Tyler, manager of the Jefferson County Parks and Recreation programs. "If you have not planned ahead and you need a place to stay, try our campgrounds. They are wellmaintained and supervised."

Anderson Lake State Park

Anderson Lake State Park is located in Chimacum, about 10 miles south of Port Townsend, and includes 476 acres of wooded and wetland areas for visitors to enjoy biking, hiking and wildlife.

Located at 1061 Anderson Lake Road, the state park is centered around Anderson Lake, which has 8,250 feet of freshwater shoreline and covers 70 acres.

"Anderson Lake is one of the few parks in the area to offer equestrian and bike trails, which slope down to a lake teeming with birds and wildlife," the Washington State Parks website states.

The park includes boating, 8 miles of hiking trails, 7 miles of bike trails, and 5 miles of equestrian trails.

DABOB BAY Natural Area

Dabob Bay Natural Area is located about 8 miles northeast of Quilcene and about 23 miles south of Port Townsend. The area was established in 1984 to protect intact salt marsh and sand spit plant communities, according to the Washington Department of Natural Resources.

Dabob Bay's shoreline boasts good fishing for salmon and spawning searun trout, and there are places where you can pick up and eat oysters while you fish. In 2009, the state's Natural Area was enlarged as a natural reserve to permit low-impact public use.

The reserve has 2,771 acres of shoreline, marsh and forest. The bay is large, making it an excellent place to explore by boat.

"The natural area includes mature coastal forests, coastal streams, feeder bluffs, forage fish spawning areas, eelgrass beds, native Olympia oyster beds, nearshore tidelands and mudflats utilized by juvenile salmon and shorebirds, and open marine waters used by salmon, marine birds, harbor seals and orcas," according to Washington DNR.

Dosewallips State Park

Dosewallips State Park is located in Brinnon, about 44 miles south of Port Townsend, near where the Olympic National Park-born Dosewallips River drains into Hood Canal.

"This freshwater/saltwater park makes a perfect day or weekend trip," according to the Washington State Parks website.

Dosewallips Park has 1,039 acres and 5 miles of shoreline on the Hood Canal and Dosewallips River, known locally as "The Dosie."

Not only does the state park have forests, mountains, rivers and beaches, the area is a delight for clamdiggers, anglers, boaters and beach explorers, the state parks website states.

"Evening may find you grilling up a shellfish dinner and retiring to your cabin or tent, where you'll fall asleep to the sound of the river, enchanted by this lush, green corner of the country," according to DNR.

Fort Flagler Historical State Park

Located on Marrowstone Island, Fort Flagler Historical State Park was built in the 1890s and active during World War I, WWII and the Korean War. Currently, it houses a military museum and gift shop, which offers tours of gun emplacements and the 1905 military hospital that can be guided or explored freely.

A person visiting the historical area can plan a trip around hiking, boating, kite-flying, beach exploration, saltwater fishing, clam digging and crabbing, according to Washington State Parks.

"Beachfront tent and RV sites boast some of the best views in the region," according to Washington State Parks. "So gaze out on the Strait of Juan de Fuca to the north, the Olympic Peninsula to the west and Whidbey Island to the east, and breathe deep of the ocean air."

Fort Flagler Historical State Park comprises 784 acres of marine camping surrounded by about 3 miles of shoreline.

Fort Townsend Historical State Park

Fort Townsend Historical State Park was built in 1856 to operate an Army base over the years. But a fire in the barracks in 1895 closed down the fort.

The park, located about 6 miles south of Port Townsend, has a 414acre camping park with 3,960 feet of shoreline on the Port Townsend Bay.

"Fort Townsend provides a quieter alternative to its bigger, busier northern neighbor, Fort Worden," the Washington State Parks says. "Explore a historic torpedo tower that held state-of-the-art technology during World War II."

Visitors to Fort Townsend Historical State Park can enjoy self-guided and guided tours of the area, ballfields for children and hiking paths that also allow bikes.

Fort Worden Historical State Park

Covering 433 acres as a multi-use park, Fort Worden Historical State Park has facilities, a conference center, 2 miles of shoreline and more, all comanaged by the Fort Worden Public Development Authority.

In the last century, times changed for the fort, which at one time housed 1,000 troops and officers in training to defend Puget Sound from enemy forces.

"Enjoy a meal in the Guard House

Pub, and peruse the photogenic 1914 Point Wilson lighthouse," Washington State Parks advises adds. "Explore defunct coastal defense batteries, and imagine the compound teeming with enlisted men, officers and staff during World War I and WWII."

For those looking for indoor accommodations, Fort Worden Historical State park also offers lodging.

In addition to historical displays, Fort Worden hosts music festivals, conferences and is the headquarters for artist-in-residence programs. Check out the Fort Worden and Centrum organizations' websites to see what's going on.

Olympic National Park

Olympic National Park is found mostly in Jefferson County, but sprawls north and south into Clallam and Grays Harbor counties, defining the Olympic Peninsula's skyline and attracting more than 3 million visitors per year.

Comprising almost 1 million acres, the park embraces vast wilderness, human history, a startling range of ecotones from arid peaks to rain forest, plus more than 70 miles of coastline.

A dozen rivers spring to life in the high country of the park and fall steeply downhill to the Pacific Ocean, Hood Canal and the Strait of Juan de Fuca, providing crucial spawning and rearing for salmon, steelhead and trout, among other species.

President Grover Cleveland created the Olympic Forest Reserve in 1897 to protect the forests of the Olympic Peninsula from poor logging practices. In 1909, President Theodore Roosevelt proclaimed part of the reserve as a national monument. Finally, in 1938, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed a bill establishing Olympic National Park. There are only a few roads leading into the park, which makes it a favorite for those who hike, ride horses or float rivers.

"Plan your park activities with time and distance in mind. Olympic is very large and there are no roads that cross the park," the National Park Service notes. "The summer months of June through September are the busiest time of year."

Because of its diverse ecosystems, Olympic National Park serves as a laboratory for scientists and students, some informally, some in graduate school programs and some at the onsite NatureBridge campus.

Reservations can be made for local campgrounds, but all other sites are on a first come, first served basis.

Quillayute Needles National Wildlife Refuge

Tucked away on the far West Coast of Jefferson County, Quillayute Needles National Wildlife Refuge is a magnet for birders. Set aside by Teddy Roosevelt in 1907 to protect and enhance habitat for the seabird population, the refuge comprises 800 offshore rocks, reefs and islands stretching from Cape Flattery to Copalis Head, except for those that are part of designated Native American reservations.

"Because of the fragile and remote nature of the refuge, all the islands are closed to human disturbance," the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service notes. "A 200-yard buffer surrounds each island to protect the wildlife. However the refuges and their inhabitants may be viewed with binoculars or spotting scopes from several beaches along the coast, including Shi Shi, Cape Alava, Rialto, Second, Ruby and Kalaloch."
