River Stonework offers full commitment to a customer's design

River Stonework & Design can help create a path where a person's creative ideas are realized, literally, as they are a full-service company providing professional stonework and pavers for their clients.

Phillip Raposo started the business, which is located at 8570 Philips Highway in Jacksonville, in 2007.

"We wanted to promote an outdoor living lifestyle by enjoying the contact with nature, neighbors and family," Raposo said.

Raposo immigrated from Brazil and learned to speak English and is now living the "American dream" and thriving as a business owner in his new home of the United States.

"Our journey wasn't easy, but it fueled our passion for excellence," Raposo said. "We handpick team members who share our drive. No outsourcing here, we have our own skilled crew, trusted and proven."

According to Raposo, from the very beginning the mission of the business was to promote the wellbeing of our customers.

"We are committed to valuing our employees, listening to our clients, and operating under the ideals or moral integrity, quality and accountability," Raposo said. "This commitment leads our paving contractors to provide the highest quality service and promote unforgettable moments for our clients."

And he believes that nothing creates wellbeing much better than being outside and enjoying the fresh air, especially in a place like Florida.

That belief is still as strong today as it ever has been, and it remains the primary reason why he enjoys doing what he does for a living.

He felt like the best way to get people to enjoy and spend time outside is to help them accomplish a much more comfortable environment in which to spend their outdoor time in.

This is something that has spread to the nearly 40 employees and subcontractors that take part in certain projects.

"We take care of everything from the design and construction, down to the flowerpots," Raposo said. "No detail is overlooked, which gives our paving contractors a leading edge over the competition."

River Stonework & Design has a variety of outdoor living specialties, including patios, outdoor kitchens, pool decks, pergolas, gazebos, screen enclosures, driveways, walkways, seating walls, benches and retaining walls.

According to Raposo, the array of design options they offer is not the only thing that sets the company apart, as they also strive for there to be quality and accountability associated with each project.

"Accountability is a key to success in the construction business," Raposo said. "Every customer should feel special, understood, valued, and above all, they should feel like they're your only customer. It's more likely that your customer will be a repeat one if you treat each and every one this way."

River Stonework was voted a 2022 "Neighborhood Favorite" by Nextdoor.com. Other awards include winning the 2018 Super Service Award by Angi.com (formerly Angie's List), a 2022 Best of Florida nominee to go with them being "top-rated" on Google and Facebook.

Their commitment to making sure their customers have the best experience possible also includes offering a five-year warranty, budget-friendly options and helping a customer discover what the best project is for their needs and budget.

"We strive to help you to achieve the outdoors of your dreams," Raposo said. "We provide all assistance to regular loans and private payment plans domestically. We strongly believe it is possible to do business based on trust and goodwill."

Six teams of friends reunite in groups of four in order to relive their glory days, competing in a wild assortment of crazy physical and mental challenges in order to potentially win a life-changing $150,000 prize. The catch is – while fighting to win, they must all live together in the same lake house. Hosted by Josh Duhamel, Season 1 of this new game show, "Buddy Games," premieres Thursday, Sept. 14, on CBS. Read up on the show (and on Duhamel himself) at paramountpressexpress.com/cbs-entertainment/shows/buddy-games/talent/?view=josh-duhamel-2

Video may have killed the radio star, but nothing can stop these stars from shining on screen. The best in the music video game are celebrated in this yearly event, where the industry and fans at home recognize the talents of musical geniuses like Taylor Swift and SZA. A groundbreaking year for the awards (as for the first time, all nominees for Artist of the Year are women), 2023's "MTV Video Music Awards" air Tuesday, Sept. 12, on MTV. For a full list of nominees, check out mtv.com/vma/vote/video-of-the-year

Henson's horrors: 'Halloween Baking Championship' returns for spooky season

Kids are in school, "PSLs" are back, and that can only mean one thing: "Spooky Season" is right around the corner. Pumpkin-flavored everything, apple pies galore, cinnamon practically hanging in the air — no one does Autumn like Food Network, delighting with more tricks and treats in a new season of "Halloween Baking Championship," premiering Monday, Sept. 11.

Season 9 of the competition sees the return of John Henson ("Wipeout") as host, alongside the all-star panel of celebrity judges who reigned supreme in Season 8: chef Carla Hall ("The Chew") and patissiers Stephanie Boswell ("Bake Or Break") and Zac Young ("Top Chef: Just Desserts").

Food Network has released descriptions for the series' first two episodes. According to the network, the season begins as "host John Henson welcomes a dozen bakers to the Henson & Sons Carnival, where they're ready for the ride of their lives. First, they must layer a 'tarot-misu' depicting the carnival's untimely demise. Then, the bakers scare up a new carnival mascot by designing creepy clown cakes."

Those lucky enough to make it to the second episode will face a frightfully gory night, with the Food Network promising a particularly "bloody" competition. "Do not try to steal John Henson's dream job," they say, "or things might get bloody."

The remaining bakers make bloody filled doughnuts to commemorate an unfortunate accident. Then it's a joyful bake for some and doomed one for others as the competitors take judges [Hall, Boswell and Young] round and round on the creepiest carousel ever."

Each episode will see two rounds of spine-chilling competition. The bakers begin with the "Preliminary Heat," where they receive a bite-sized, Halloween-themed challenge that must be completed within a tight time frame. The patissier who presents the spookiest (and most delicious) treat will gain a mystery advantage — a trick to play against their fellow bakers, perhaps — heading into the "Main Heat."

This second round sees some intense frights and delights, as competitors are given a new theme and a longer time period to create whatever creepy-crawly confection they'd like. The bakers must present something larger than life, as the winner of the "Main Heat" immediately advances to the next round while one baker is eliminated from the game. The final three (or four) then compete in a winner-take-all finale, with one monstrous baker winning $25,000.

Sharpen your teeth and prepare to dine. Season 9 of "Halloween Baking Championship" begins Monday, Sept. 11, on Food Network.

Robert Redford and Sydney Pollack behind the scenes of "Three Days of the Condor"

BY JAY BOBBIN

BEST SYDNEY POLLACK MOVIES

"Jeremiah Johnson" (1972): Frequent Pollack colleague Robert Redford is a believable mountain man under the filmmaker's direction. Turner Classic Movies shows the film Saturday, Sept. 16.

"The Yakuza" (1974): Robert Mitchum is terrific in Pollack's melodrama about a detective's infiltration of the title Japanese crime syndicate.

"Three Days of the Condor" (1975): For all the government-paranoia thrillers of the mid-1970s, this Redford-starring CIA saga stands out. The excellent cast also includes Faye Dunaway, Cliff Robertson, Max von Sydow and John Houseman.

"Bobby Deerfield" (1977): This moody, underrated drama draws fine work from Al Pacino as a troubled race-car driver.

"The Electric Horseman" (1979): A fun reunion of Redford and Jane Fonda revolves around a reporter who sees a story in a washed-up rodeo star.

"Absence of Malice" (1981): In a superb journalism drama, Pollack directs Sally Field as a reporter who bends rules to get the goods on a businessman and supposed criminal (Paul Newman).

"Tootsie" (1982): Leave it to someone steeped in directing dramas to come up with one of the best comedies ever. Pollack doubles as a co-star here, as the flummoxed agent of an actor (Dustin Hoffman) who dresses as a woman to get work.

"Out of Africa" (1985): Pairing Redford with Meryl Streep, Pollack won an Oscar for directing this scenic, true tale.

"The Firm" (1993): Pollack confidently directs Tom Cruise and a sterling supporting cast — ranging from Gene Hackman, Holly Hunter and Paul Sorvino to Hal Holbrook, Wilford Brimley and Steven Hill — through the long but compelling John Grisham law drama.

"Random Hearts" (1999): Critics were lukewarm about the movie overall, but Pollack (also the director here) gives a terrific performance as a political-campaign adviser who has his hands full with a candidate (Kristin Scott Thomas) whose plane-crash-victim husband was caught cheating on her.

"Michael Clayton" (2007): As an actor, Pollack hit one of his career highs as the head of the law firm for which Clayton (George Clooney) fixes troublesome situations.

“Written in the Stars” - Season 1 (Sept. 15)

In this astrological dating show, each of the debut season’s 12 episodes introduces a single person who represents one of the zodiac signs. This person goes on dates with four bachelors or bachelorettes with whom they have different zodiac compatibilities, hoping that the stars can guide them towards their perfect match. Hosted by Ingrid Guimarães, the series also stars astrologer Papisa, who comments on the events with her knowledge of the astral plane.

“Wilderness” - Season 1 (Sept. 15)

Based on B.E. Jones’ novel of the same name, this U.K. thriller follows British couple Liv (Jenna Coleman) and Will (Oliver Jackson-Cohen), who seem to have it all: a rock-solid marriage; a glamorous new life in New York thousands of miles from their provincial hometown; and still young enough to feel that their whole lives are ahead of them. Until, that is, Liv learns about Will’s affair. Revenge is her only option, and when Will proposes a trip around America’s epic National Parks to give their relationship a fresh start, Liv knows just how to get it.

Lifetime movies dawned at just the right time for Brec Bassinger

A: She landed the “Dawn” job shortly after “Stargirl” wrapped filming, and she told us that she felt fortunate to be available for the Lifetime set of four films, with her reporting to the set within days of having her first conversation about the opportunity. She also said that she appreciated the timing of that production, since she felt that diving right into it right after parting company with her “Stargirl” colleagues gave her something else to focus on ... rather than only experiencing sadness over the end of her three seasons of work on that show.

Q: I read somewhere that Dr. Joyce Brothers was a big game-show winner before she became a psychologist. Is that true? – Ken Winter, Elkhart, Ind.

A: She proved to be hugely knowledgeable about the subject of boxing when she was a contestant on the classic show “The $64,000 Question,” ultimately winning the top prize of ... well, $64,000. Her husband was a boxing fan, inspiring her to choose that subject, and she did a huge amount of research on the topic – helped by the photographic memory she had.

Later, Brothers appeared on the related series “The $64,000 Challenge,” and she again claimed the maximum prize amount. Part of the appeal clearly was her being such an unlikely expert on boxing, and her fame from the games earned her a spot as co-host of the series “Sports Showcase” in the mid-1950s, making her one of TV’s first female commentators on sports. That led to many other television appearances in which Brothers largely focused on the psychological information she wanted to dispense to viewers.
