Local economic leader Shane Hooper tells a crowd Friday how beneficial the new Tennessee Downs elite auto track will be to this area.

Tennessee Downs unveiled with soft opening

By ZOË HAGGARD
 zhaggard@t-g.com

A soft opening/informational session was held Friday afternoon at the future Tennessee Downs site on Highway 231 North. The exotic car club track, estimated to cost between $30 and $40 million, is coming to Shelbyville.

The track is owned by Jeremy Carpenter, the founder and manager of GC Performance Classics in Nashville. Living in Murfreesboro, Carpenter said he saw the property after coming down to Bedford County.

Carpenter is set to close on the 185-acre property at the end of the month. "We're going to keep some of it in the greenbelt," Carpenter told the T-G. "There's a lot of reasons why it's called Tennessee Downs. It really fits the terrain and we're going to try to keep the aesthetics of the area."

The trees will be saved to help mitigate any sound. Carpenter emphasized that the complex will be a club track with an atmosphere more like a golf course than a racetrack.

"This vision has evolved out of the desire and need for an automobile country club in Nashville," Carpenter said, who has many clients and college friends involved in the exotic car industry. The garages and complex will be able to hold around 500 cars.

Ground-breaking is planned for late summer. Development for the complex will be in phases over the next 5 years. The official opening will be planned for the end of 2023.

"Tennessee Downs will be special because of where it's at," said Carpenter. "It's beautiful out here."

Economic development

"We are pleased to see business and commercial investor interest in Shelbyville and Bedford County," said Shelbyville-Bedford Partnership CEO Shane Hooper. "The phased-in plans for the Tennessee Downs project include more than 100 jobs across the campus, $30 million in capital investment, and thousands of annual visitors."

He added, "Good paying jobs, taxable capital investments, and visitors with expendable income represent vital components for shared economic prosperity. Visionary and futuristic projects like Tennessee Downs increase educational and job opportunities for the citizens of Shelbyville and Bedford."

Hooper, Graham talk industry

By ZOË HAGGARD
 zhaggard@t-g.com

Many who are following the County's workforce development and the 231 North Industrial Park project are asking about Project Cardinal and Project Turquoise, which are potential industrial plant developments coming to the park.

At the March Board of Commissioners meeting, the board unanimously passed the resolution that approved the commission "authorizing and endorsing actions necessary for Project Cardinal's location in the 231 N. Business Park."

Even though specifics of Project Cardinal and Project Turquoise have not been released, Shelbyville-Bedford Partnership CEO Shane Hooper said it would "provide additional employment opportunities to our Citizens, promote new private sector capital investment in our community, and to increase local tax revenue . . ."

"Why do we talk about things in terms of project names?" Hooper said at Thursday's Chamber Luncheon. "It's to protect everyone involved."

"Companies in the United States, especially publicly traded companies, are governed by the SEC." The SEC "gets you" for things like insider trade—that is when you share information about a company that you have that no one else has.

Disclosing such information can result in fines and jail time.

"So, no, I'm not going to involve myself in insider trading and disclosing information that we shouldn't talk about," Hooper said.

Project Cardinal

Hooper said Project Cardinal is going to be a $117 million project. In the first stages of the project, they plan to employ some 160 people.

"I can tell you from the type of work they do and because they ask about doctorate programs at MTSU [Middle Tennessee State University] and programs in the STEM field, that means that they're hiring...very good workers. And that's one of the other things, too: we're trying to find jobs that are above our average pay here," Hooper said.

Project TN Downs

Hooper added, "We are pleased to see business and commercial investor interest in Shelbyville and Bedford County. The phased-in plans for the TN Downs project include more than 100 jobs across the campus, $30 million in capital investment, and thousands of annual visitors. Good paying jobs, taxable capital investments, and visitors with expendable income represent vital components for shared economic prosperity. Visionary and futuristic projects like TN Downs increase educational and job opportunities for the citizens of Shelbyville and Bedford."

Project Turquoise

Project Turquoise will be about $12 million in capital investment and about 60 jobs.

Capital investment is important, Hooper said, noting there is one company in Bedford that paid $750,000 in taxes last year.

"That $750,000 is what your elected officials use to provide services here in Shelbyville and in Bedford," Hooper said. "The more industry that we have, the more we're able to not raise taxes. Let the industries pay for it when they bring in equipment."

For example, Hooper discussed how one plant/industry purchased $12 million in machine equipment. That money in personal and real taxes, according to Hooper, will go into the "coffers of Shelbyville and Bedford without tax increases."

They are also going to work on incentive zones. "Most developers, especially if they're coming from somewhere else have dealt with communities that already have incentive packages on the table. That's their expectation, especially if they know what they're doing," Hooper said.

"We don't really have one right now, so what we're trying to do is get in a position where we have one where we can lay out if you do this, this, and this in the area, we will do this for you or we will help you do that."

This is important, according to Hooper, because companies do not have to come to Bedford, they choose to.

The mayor's take

Bedford County Mayor Chad Graham recently told T-G, "From our perspective, the state economic development folks (we call it the ECD [Economic & Community Development]), they're the ones really that drive when and what an announcement would look like with these folks because those companies in the end will either come or not come mostly based on what the state will do to incentivize them to put their plant there."

Across Tennessee, the state offers incentive packages to bring companies to certain areas, which according to Graham also increases the competition. "...They don't want one trying to compare what one incentive might be available to them versus another," Graham said.

"There's a lot of information and details I don't have...but I do know what we're trying to get done with Cardinal," Graham said.

He said the importance of the industrial park is there can be a designated area for industry. "The industrial park is zoned for the kind of activity that would go there," Graham said. "The other thing is trying to make sure you've got the right utilities," especially having a capacity for sewer and water. This is in addition to having U.S. 231 front road access.

"The industrial park was almost more of a concept. The City and County bought the land, they identified it and zoned it as an industrial park," Graham explained.

Graham said utility work had not truly been installed or put in place. As a result, the Shelbyville-Bedford Partnership and 231 North Industrial Park Board have prioritized utility installation.

Graham said, "Because industries whenever they're looking, once they... say, 'we're coming,' they want to be operating in 18 months. If all you've got is a cow pasture and a promise, you can't be ready in 18 months."

Shelbyville-Bedford Partnership has secured over $7 million in grants to begin adding utilities and access to the industrial park, according to Hooper. Six million of that will come from a State Industrial Access (SIA) grant, while $1 million will go to the construction of a sewer system.

"That's one thing that's hurt us in the past in actually attracting a more robust industry that will bring what I call living wage jobs to your community. And we think we're overcoming that," Graham said.

He added, "I believe that these decisions and the things that we're working towards are going to make Bedford better. It may not fix it over night, but the truth is this, it didn't get in this shape overnight. It's not going to get fixed overnight. But if we don't use the systemic approach to resolve these problems, we'll never lift the entire ship."

FIRE BREAKS OUT

Smoke was visible for miles at mid-afternoon Friday when fire broke out in two barns adjoining M & L Greenhouse, Benford Road. Richard Davis of M & L said hay and lumber was stored in the barns. A calf perished in the flames and a pickup truck was destroyed. The fire is under investigation and Bedford County Fire Department said the cause and source are undetermined. The greenhouse was undamaged.

Pedestrians crossing the street

Dear Heloise:
When a pedestrian wants to cross a busy, multilane street, I frequently see one lane of traffic will stop, but other drivers in other lanes don't see the pedestrian and keep going. Scary! To improve safety, I turn on my car's hazard lights when I stop for pedestrians. This lets other drivers know to slow down and pay attention. -- Julia, Spokane, Washington

Julia, this is such a good suggestion for all of us who face traffic issues almost daily and many times can be in a hurry. -- Heloise

IS THE YEAST STILL ACTIVE?

Dear Heloise: I love to make homemade bread, but sometimes I find that my yeast is past its expiration date. If it's "outdated," can I still use it, and how can I tell if it's still good? -- Lisa F., Eugene, Oregon

Lisa, if it's too old (or, as you say, "outdated"), it's dead. However, if it was stored in a cool, dark and dry place, it still might be active. To test it, stir 1 teaspoon of sugar and 2 1/4 teaspoons of yeast into 1/4 cup of warm water. Do not use hot water, because it will kill the yeast. Wait 10 minutes while the yeast dissolves. If the mixture begins to bubble and rise and has a strong yeast smell, it is still active. The yeast can be used for your bread making. -- Heloise

NEWSPAPER SLEEVES

Dear Heloise: I'm glad other people are finding uses for the plastic sleeves that newspapers come in. I use them for keeping bottles of cooking oil and sprays in once they have been opened and start getting sticky. My mother had many of your ideas taped inside cabinet doors in her kitchen and laundry room. I have put them in a notebook and am enjoying your column. -- Lynn T., Woodstock, Virginia

PLUMPING PILLOWS

Dear Heloise: To give our accent pillows a refreshing look, I spritz them with water and put them in the dryer with a few tennis or dryer balls on low for 20 minutes. They come out refreshed and plump! -- Nancy O., San Antonio, Texas

TOILET SEAT DILEMMA

Dear Heloise:
Regarding the classic toilet seat dilemma: This is simple, and I don't understand why everyone doesn't do it. My husband and I agreed that we would both put the lid down. This way, our bathroom always looks better with the lid down, it keeps odors and germs in, and it is fair. Both parties have to open the lid, and there are no surprises. -- Marcie Miner, via email

WATCH BATTERIES

Dear Heloise: I learned something today that might help others. I went to the store to get a new watch battery. The battery rack had lots of different sizes and styles of batteries, Reducing food waste can be a significant strategy in the fight against climate change. According to Project Drawdown, a nonprofit organization devoted to developing a future with reduced levels of greenhouse gases in the atmosphere, roughly one-third of the world's food is never eaten. But even food that ultimately goes to waste utilizes resources and produces greenhouse gases during the production cycle. In fact, Project Drawdown notes that roughly 8 percent of the world's global emissions are emitted producing food that ultimately isn't eaten. Improving infrastructure for storage, processing and transportation can help reduce food waste in lower-income countries, while widespread change at the retail and consumer levels in higher-income countries can further reduce waste and carbon emissions.

AG NOTES

By John Teague
UT/TSU Extension

FIRE ANTS

We've had imported fire ants for a good while now. They are adapted to our area and seem to thrive. The mounds are appearing quickly now. These things are busy raising brood and enlarging the mounds. My granddaughter spots them for us when we are riding in the farm ATV.

When they first showed up it was scary. Many colonies number around 200,000 ants, and they can rally in a second or two to fight invaders. We heard of all kinds of dangerous things, and they can do damage to humans and animals alike, but they are manageable. There is no way we can eliminate them, but we can work to manage them in high-risk areas.

We have a great publication. It is The Two-Step Method: Managing Fire Ants Around Homes and In Neighborhoods (SP 419). It's adapted for Tennessee from information at Texas A&M University by Karen M. Vail, Associate Professor, Patrick Parkman, IPM Coordinator, Tahir Rashid, Post-doctoral Research Associate; and Roberto Pereira, Adjunct Assistant Professor, Entomology and Plant Pathology, all University of Tennessee specialists. I'll share some of it here.

Recent research from The University of Tennessee indicates the hybrid form found in East and parts of Middle Tennessee is more cold-tolerant than either parent species (the red or black imported fire ant). Therefore, we must learn how to manage these pesky ants. Once fire ants are established in an area, we'll need to apply the two-step method twice a year.

The first step is to broadcast a fire ant bait over the entire yard. Baits are a product containing a food plus a moderately slow-to slow-acting insecticide. When collected by worker ants, bait particles are carried to the colony and shared with the queen and other ants.

Less pesticide is needed with baits, because this kind of delivery is so efficient. We use the worker ants to share the poison with the rest of the colony. Baits work best when scattered lightly over the entire yard. This way, workers from small, undetected colonies will also collect the bait, reducing the need to individually treat these colonies. Hand-held seed spreaders are ideal for applying fire ant baits. Set the spreader on the smallest opening and make one pass over the area to be treated. This should apply the recommended rate (1 to 1½ pounds per acre for most products). Push-type fertilizer spreaders put out bait too quickly, leading to an overapplication of pesticide and greater cost.

Be patient. Baits work slowly. Products containing active ingredients such as indoxacarb, abamectin, hydramethylnon or spinosad control ants within two to four weeks, or sooner. Insect growth regulator baits or IGRs (fenoxycarb, methoprene and pyriproxyfen) usually require two to six months. The advantage of growth regulators is that they prevent reinvasion by new queens and thereby need to be reapplied less often when treating areas larger than an acre.

Apply baits at the right time. Baits are effective only when fire ants are actively searching for food. Ants remove baits from the soil surface within a few hours if baits are applied during peak foraging times. Fire ants forage actively when the soil surface temperature is between 70 and 90 degrees F, late May to September, in most of Tennessee.

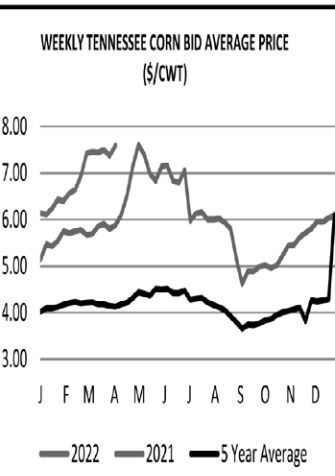

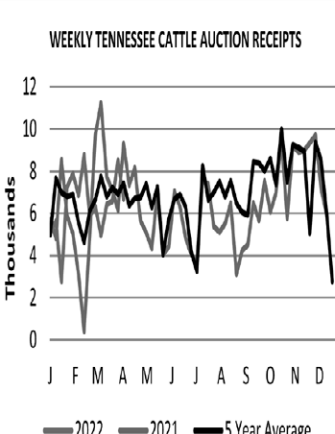

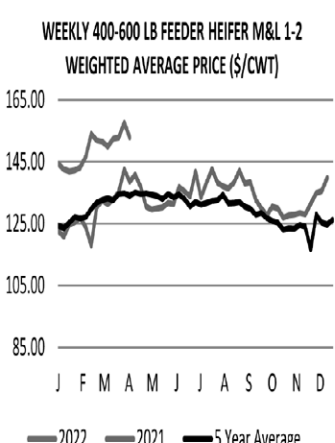

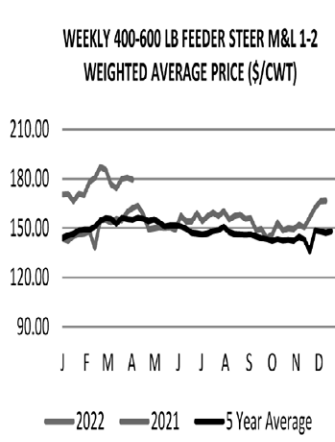

Seven to 10 days after broadcasting a bait, the second step is completed by treating colonies needing immediate attention. A mound treatment destroys one colony at a time and is the fastest way to get rid of individual colonies. It's not necessary to treat all fire ant colonies with mound treatments after applying a bait. Limit Step Two treatments to mounds located next to house foundations, in high-traffic areas or other trouble spots.

There is a lot of other information in this handy publication. There is a chart that lists products that can be used to help control these critters. I can share the link, so send me an email and I'll get it right back to you. For those who don't have internet, I'll be glad to share a copy.

The recent Shelbyville Woman's Club play brought a lot of laughs from members attending at River Bend Country Club.

Maleah Claxton played a rather dejected bride after her groom mysteriously disappeared at her wedding. She sits with her best friend, played by Jan Young.

Eat In!

From "The Gardener & The Grill" (Running Press) by Karen Adler & Judith Fertig

Serves 4

Recipe of the Week

Wood-Grilled Shrimp & Yellow Peppers

- 1/2 cup moistened wood chips or dry wood pellets
- 1 1/2 pounds large shrimp (18 to 20 count), peeled and deveined
- 30 medium-size spinach leaves
- 2 yellow, red, or orange bell peppers, stemmed, seeded, and cut into quarters
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- Kosher or sea salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

Prepare a hot fire on one side of your grill for indirect cooking.

Wrap each shrimp loosely with a large spinach leaf. Place the shrimp in a disposable aluminum pan. Lightly season with sea salt and pepper, and then drizzle lightly with olive oil.

For a charcoal grill, throw 1/2 cup moistened wood chips or dry wood pellets directly on the coals right before you want to grill. For a gas grill, enclose the wood chips or pellets in a foil packet with holes poked in the top; place the packet on the grill grate over the heat source.

When you see the first wisp of smoke from the wood, place the shrimp on the indirect side of the heat and the peppers on the direct side. Close the lid and grill for 8 minutes. Open the lid and turn the peppers. Grill for another 8 minutes. Open the lid and transfer the peppers to the indirect side. Close the lid and grill for 15 to 20 minutes more, or until the shrimp are cooked through and they have a pleasant, smoky aroma.

To serve, cut the peppers into strips, arrange on plates, and top with the shrimp.

5 Tips for Gardening with Kids

Family Features

After months of cool weather, the first hint of spring will likely have the whole family eager to dive into outdoor activities. This year, as you begin tackling the garden, find ways to get the youngest family members in on the action, too.

Not only is gardening an activity you can enjoy together, there are numerous ways to incorporate age-appropriate, teachable moments from counting and colors to responsible care of living things.

Creating a positive first experience with gardening can start with this simple advice:

- Dedicate a spot for a junior garden, which allows you to instill a sense of pride and ownership in the little gardener while protecting your own garden areas from ambitious young hands.
- Provide appropriate tools in child sizes. Just as you would teach a child the finer points of baseball using a bat and glove, demonstrate the joys of gardening with tools such as a rake, hoe and trowel, all of which can be found in sizes more manageable for little helpers.

- Let the kids choose what to plant. Whether flowers or food plants, allow children to make their own decisions (within reason) about what they would like to grow. This can help them engage in the magic of watching items they selected emerge from the ground and grow into their finished forms.

- Encourage exposure to unfamiliar plants that entice the senses with appealing smells and flavors. Herbs such as chives, mint and basil are good choices, or consider edible flowers such as pansies or violets.

- Set an example for your child to imitate by giving regular and proper care to your own garden. Remember to bring the lesson full circle by enjoying the bounty of your garden together, whether it's a small hand-cut bouquet or a meal featuring your child's fresh-grown produce. Find more tips for gardening with your kids at eLivingtoday.com.

Champs get hits but Vikings take win

By CHRIS SIERS

UNIONVILLE — After three extra days of waiting, Cascade and Community were finally able to meet for Game 2 of the District 7-AA series during a Good Friday afternoon matinee.

After Cascade struggled with consistency at the plate in Game 1, the Champs looked as good as they have all season at the plate, out-hitting the Vikings 13-3, but in the end, just couldn't push enough runs across the plate in a 7-6 loss in Unionville.

Right out of the gates, Cascade threatened with a single by Hunter Lemmons to center field on the game's first pitch.

Community flashed the leather and turned two when Conner Melson flied out to right field and right fielder Gage Underwood came up firing the throw to second base for the double play.

Cascade went on to load the bases in the top of the second inning after a lead off walk by Kobe Inmon, a single by Chance Brown and a sac-bunt by Caden Hammonds, who safely reached following a Viking fielding error.

With the bases loaded and nobody on, Noah McCreary singled to center field, plating the game's first run.

But after the McCreary hit, Community pitcher Mason Russell settled in and recorded the final outs of the inning to leave the bases loaded.

In the bottom of the inning, it was Community who loaded the bases with a walk by Drew Harris and Blaine Paschal and Jaxon Roberts were each hit by a pitch, loading the bases in the Vikings' favor.

Like Cascade in the top half of the frame, it was pitcher Walker Craig who worked his way out of the jam and left the bases loaded.

Both teams struggled at the plate through the next few innings and it wasn't until the top of the fourth that Cascade once again loaded the bases with two outs.

Lemmons was hit by a pitch and Melson followed him on base with a ground ball single before Craig drew a walk to once again load the bases.

Needing a two-out hit to break the game open, Russell again forced a pop out to end the threat and leave the bases loaded once again.

In the bottom of the fourth, Community was finally able to push several runs across the plate.

Sam Holley drew a one-out walk and senior left fielder Stratton Lovvorn was hit by a pitch, bringing Maki Fleming to the plate.

Fleming safely reached on a Champion fielding error and Community had the bases loaded with just one out.

A savvy at-bat by Dylan Norris ended with a bases-loaded walk and Community scoring the first run of the inning.

Corey Paterick then singled in two more runs on a hit to center field and Lovvorn was able to score on a wild pitch, giving the Vikings a 4-1 lead by the end of the fourth.

The lead didn't last long as Cascade once again was able to work the plate and post a big inning to tie the game at 4-4.

Kobe Inmon and Brown connected on back-to-back singles before Jake Bates, who took over on the mound in the bottom half of the fourth, helped his own cause with a 2 RBI double to center field.

Lemmons tacked on a third run of the inning on a hit to center field that fell in for a single.

After struggling through the fourth inning, Bates settled in and sat the Vikings down in order in the bottom of the fifth.

Mason Russell got the nod for the Vikings and pitched five innings for the Vikings.

Cascade took advantage of the opportunity and it was a two-run homer by Ryan Inmon that gave the Champs a two-run lead.

Craig doubled to lead off the inning before Inmon clubbed the two-run blast to left, giving the Champs a 6-4 lead.

Following the home run, Community turned the mound over to relief pitcher Gage Underwood, who retired the Champions in order and prevented another big Cascade inning.

But it was Community who came through with a decisive sixth inning.

Lovvorn led off the inning with a walk and Fleming reached via Cascade error before Norris was hit by a pitch to load the bases with no outs.

Cascade reliever Tyler Knight answered with a strike-out and force a pop up, but a bases-loaded walk by Harris brought Community within one run.

Underwood then helped his own cause with a single to right, driving in two runs, including the game-winner.

After Knight struck out the final Viking batter of the inning, Underwood settled in on the mound and sat the Champions down in order to preserve the one-run victory.

Cascade certainly hit the ball better during Game 2 against the Vikings.

As a team, the Champs belted out 13 hits, with Hunter

Eagles fall in tourney

T-G STAFF REPORT

JASPER — Shelbyville Central had a mixed bag of results during the Mountain Valley Classic over the weekend.

The Eagles dropped a heartbreaker, 9-8 final score to Lenoir City, but slugged their way past Sequatchie County before falling to Marshall County.

Lenoir City 9, SCHS 8

Shelbyville Central orchestrated a monster second inning, but just couldn't get over the hump in a 9-8 loss to Lenoir City.

The Eagles knocked around the Panthers pitching staff to the tune of seven runs in the top of the second inning.

Lenoir City answered and plated six in the bottom of the frame before pushing the tying run across the plate in the bottom of the third inning.

The Panthers played add on and took a one-run lead in the bottom of the fifth inning.

Shelbyville answered with a tying run in the top of the seventh, only to surrender the game-winner to the Panthers in the bottom of the frame.

Caden Thomas was the top offensive producer for Shelbyville, going 3-for-4 with a double, while Marquis Williams connected for three base hits.

Mason Shavers, Arye Kavanaugh, Carston Williams, Caleb Molder, William Bobo and Nick Hopper all singled as well.

Thomas pitched 1 2/3 innings and was tagged for six runs on seven hits.

Nick Hopper and Carston Williams also pitched in relief for Shelbyville as well.

After belting out 14 hits against Lenoir City, the Eagles were the beneficiary of a big win, downing Sequatchie County, 10-8.

Shelbyville had to fight for its win over the Indians as Sequatchie plated three runs in the bottom of the first inning.

Shelbyville didn't get on the board until the top of the third inning when the Eagles plated two.

Sequatchie answered with one in the bottom of the inning, only to surrender four to Shelbyville in the top of the fourth.

Both teams scored four in the seventh inning, but was Shelbyville Central who was able to preserve the two-run lead and hold on for the win.

The Eagles only managed six hits against the Indians, but half went for extra bases.

Arye Kavanaugh, Caden Thomas and Nick Hopper all connected on doubles, with Marquis Wilson driving in a pair of runs.

Palmer Edwards went 6 1/3 innings for the Eagles before Jarius Brown pitched the final 2/3 inning in relief.

Not much went the Eagles' way in an 11-0 loss to Marshall County. The Tigers belted out 12 hits and closed the game with a five-run seventh inning against Shelbyville.

Caleb Molder went 2-for-3, while Carston Williams also singled.

Marshall County's Trey Warner did the bulk of the damage for the Tigers with a 3-for-4 night, including two home runs and two RBIs.

6th inning uprising lands Vikes win vs. Hornets

By RICKEY CLARDY
Sports Writer

UNIONVILLE — The Community Vikings trailed the Huntland Hornets heading into the bottom of the sixth inning before the Vikings erupted for three runs without the benefit of a hit to take the lead and the win as Community took a 5-3 decision in a non-district baseball game Friday night.

The Vikings held to Hornets to just three runs despite Huntland leaving runners on base in each inning and stranding 12 runners for the game.

The Hornets used sacrifice flies in both the second and third innings to score runs as Huntland took a 2-0 lead.

Huntland challenged in the fourth as three walks loaded the bases, but the Vikings escaped unscathed as the Hornets could not add to their lead.

Community took advantage of two walks to tie the game in the bottom of the fourth.

After the Vikings scored their first run on an error following a stolen base, Sam Holley connected on a two-out RBI single to tie the game at 2-2.

The Hornets pieced together three hits to score a run and take a 3-2 lead in the fifth before the Vikings came back in the sixth.

After a hit batsman and two walks loaded the bases with one out, Maki Fleming and Dylan Norris each drew walks to force in runs and give Community a 4-3 lead.

A sacrifice fly by Mason Russell gave the Vikings an insurance run and a 5-3 advantage.

Huntland put the tying run on base to lead off the seventh, but Viking hurler Blaine Paschal reached back for a little extra and struck out the side to preserve the Community win.

Jaxon Roberts pitched the first three innings and struck out two for the Vikings while Paschal came on in the fourth and fanned eight to record the win.

Russell drilled two doubles to lead the Vikings at the plate.

Community returns to District 7-AA action with a road game at Grundy County on Monday and a contest at Forrest on Tuesday.

Tide honors Black pioneers

By JOHN ZENOR
AP Sports Writer

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. — John Mitchell and Wilbur Jackson already had their place in Alabama football history. Now, the Crimson Tide's first Black players also share a prominent spot outside Bryant-Denny stadium.

The university unveiled a plaque honoring Jackson and Mitchell Saturday in a ceremony before the current team's end-of-spring A-Day game, more than 50 years after they broke the color barrier.

"It was a moment I will never forget," said Mitchell, who had become emotional when he spoke at the ceremony. "It was very touching. You grow up a little Black kid from south Alabama and these are things you never dream of."

The two 70-year-olds were also honored at half-time.

The introverted Jackson became the Tide's first Black scholarship football player when he signed on Dec. 13, 1969. In 1971, defensive end Mitchell, a transfer from Eastern Arizona Junior College, became the first to play in a game.

Walker Craig started on the mound for Cascade and pitched a flawless three innings, while striking out two.

Ryan Inmon is greeted at the plate by Kobe Inmon and Walker Craig after mashing a two-run homer in the top of the sixth inning.

Lemmons, Walker Craig and Chance Brown all connecting for two hits.

Lemmons, Craig and Bates all doubled, while Ryan Inmon's two-run blast was the biggest hit of the afternoon.

For Community, it was a game of hits far and few between, with Fleming, Paterick and Underwood accounting for the only three hits of the day for the Purple and Gold.

Russell got the start on the mound and allowed six runs on 13 hits, while striking out six.

Underwood pitched the final two innings and didn't allow a hit, while striking out one.

Craig started for Cascade and went three innings of no-hit baseball, while striking out two.

Bates worked two innings in middle relief and gave up just two hits and struck out three, before Knight took over and pitched the final inning.

Both teams returned to District 7-AA play on Monday afternoon, with Community traveling to Grundy County, while Cascade made the trip to Chapel Hill.

Both games' results were unavailable by press time.

Kyle Busch took his first win of the season on the dirt track at Bristol over the weekend.

Kyle Busch steals Bristol win as Reddick, Briscoe crash

By JENNA FRYER

AP Auto Racing Writer

BRISTOL — Kyle Busch backed into the record book by stealing a win at dirt-covered Bristol Motor Speedway.

That's what he'd say if it had been anyone else, right?

Busch won his first race of the season Sunday night by sliding past the leaders as Tyler Reddick and Chase Briscoe spun racing for the win. Busch tied Hall of Famer Richard Petty's NASCAR record for victories in consecutive years at 18.

But his tune was far different at Bristol than it was six weeks ago when Alex Bowman won at Las Vegas and an irate Busch complained that Bowman is "the same (expletive) guy who backs into every (expletive) win that he ever (expletive) gets."

When it was Busch's turn to inherit a win, he had no problem collecting the checkered flag.

"We got one, you know?" Busch said. "It doesn't matter how you get them, it's all about getting them."

Later, he acknowledged that he did "back into one" but said it felt good.

Reddick was chasing the first Cup win of his career, led 99 of the 250 laps, and controlled the race from the final restart with 24 laps remaining. Lapped traffic gave Briscoe a shot and Briscoe made his move in the third turn as he tried to slide inside past Reddick.

The move backfired and both cars spun out of control and Busch, who was running third, simply skirted through for his first win.

Busch won for the ninth time in Cup at Bristol — first time in two dirt races — and was booed by the smattering of fans who waited out two rain delays that pushed the first race on Easter Sunday since 1989 to nearly four hours.

"I mean, man, I feel like Dale Earnhardt Sr. right now. This is awesome. I didn't do anything," Busch said of the 1999 race in which Earnhardt was booed for bumping Terry Labonte out of the way for the win.

Reddick finished second and faulted himself for not holding off Briscoe. Briscoe went from two turns away from the win to 22nd and immediately found Reddick on pit road to apologize.

"I was going to spin out, I think, either way," Briscoe said. "I'm sorry. I just wanted to let you know. I am sorry. I wish you would have won."

Reddick was understanding and admitted he should have been more defensive.

"I don't think I did everything right. Briscoe was able to run me back down there," Reddick said. "I should have done a little bit better job of just, I don't know, I shouldn't have let him get that close. He ran me back down. Worked really hard to do that."

"I mean, you're racing on dirt, going for the move on the final corner. It's everything that as a driver you hope to battle for in his situation. Made it really exciting for the fans. I should have done a better job and pulled away so he wasn't in range to try to make that move."

Rain had stopped the race for a second time moments before the race was supposed to go green with 30 laps remaining.

"It's slimy," Busch, who was running second as the rain slicked the track, said of the conditions.

From inside his cockpit, Reddick knew he had his work cut out for him if he was to win.

"One of the best in stock car racing, Kyle Busch, he's definitely going to make me earn it," Reddick said from inside his Chevrolet.

But Briscoe got past Busch when the rain finally stopped and it was Briscoe who wrecked Reddick's trip to victory lane.

The race was NASCAR's second attempt at running a Cup race on dirt and it turned into a wet and muddy mystery when rain paused the racing and most of the drivers seemed clueless about the rules.

Bristol dumped more than 2,300 truckloads of Tennessee red clay onto its beloved concrete 0.533-mile bullring to help NASCAR add variety to the schedule at a time the stock car series is experimenting with radical changes. Fox Sports then convinced NASCAR to take the prime-time television slot on Easter Sunday, the first time since NASCAR's 1949 inception the Cup Series deliberately chose the date.

NASCAR had held 10 previous Cup races on Easter Sunday in its history, but all because of weather-related rescheduling. This purposeful event was designed to dominate a television audience gathered together as a family the same way the NFL and NBA do on Thanksgiving and Christmas.

What the new audience saw was a mid-race mass of confusion because few drivers seemed to understand the rules during the first stoppage. Some drivers pitted — presumably because their teams knew scoring was halted under the red flag and wouldn't resume until the race went green.

Busch was among many drivers who did not pit — perhaps because they assumed they'd move up in the running order. So it was Busch who had his car out front when NASCAR halted all activity, but Briscoe, who had pitted, was scored as the leader.

Denny Hamlin, who had already been eliminated from the race, was watching on Fox Sports and saw what he claimed was a rules explanation that lasted longer than a minute.

"What's wrong with this picture," Hamlin wrote on Twitter. "As a fan sitting on my ass right now watching, it's hard to take this seriously."

Carson Hocevar, the runner-up in Saturday night's Truck Series race, posted a meme that at intimidated NASCAR was making up the rules as it went along. In actuality, NASCAR was clear in its pre-race rules video that scoring would be stopped at the end of the stage and not resume until the race went green again.

The confusion up and down pit road indicated few had a clear grasp of the procedures, which at Bristol differed from all other Cup races. NASCAR held a mandatory pre-race driver meeting prior to the pandemic in which rules were discussed; it has since been replaced by a video.

The race did resume — with Briscoe as the leader — with the entire third stage still remaining.

Dale Jr. to Fox booth

NASCAR Hall of Famer and NBC Sports analyst Dale Earnhardt Jr. will be in the rotating guest in the Fox Sports booth next Sunday at Talladega Superspeedway.

Earnhardt will join Mike Joy and Clint Bowyer on Sunday. He has a record six wins at Talladega and is the 15-time winner of NASCAR's Most Popular Driver award.

"Calling a race from Talladega is an incredibly fun experience," Earnhardt said in a statement issued by Fox Sports. "You absolutely have to be on your toes at all times. It doesn't take much for all hell to break loose."

Fox Sports and NBC Sports split NASCAR's 38-race schedule. Neither network had an explanation for the sharing next week of Earnhardt. Fox Sports all season has used a different guest analyst as the replacement for Jeff Gordon, who returned to a competition role at Hendrick Motorsports this season and left the network with a two-man booth.

New MLB prospects show off in debut performances

By NOAH TRISTER

AP Baseball Writer

Even in this era of triple-digit fastballs and high strikeout totals, Hunter Greene has a chance to stand out.

The Cincinnati rookie went toe-to-toe with the powerful Dodgers on Saturday night, shutting them out for five innings before Trea Turner finally hit a two-run homer off him in the sixth. In just his second big league start, Greene threw 39 pitches that were 100 mph or faster, the most since pitch tracking began in 2008.

According to Statcast, Greene is averaging 100 mph with his four-seam fastball so far.

Greene is ranked as baseball's No. 22 prospect by MLB Pipeline. He's one of a handful of noteworthy newcomers who have debuted in this young season. Here are a few others:

— Bobby Witt Jr., Royals (No. 1 in MLB Pipeline's prospect rankings): The No. 2 pick in the 2019 draft, Witt started with a flourish, hitting a key double in a win on opening day. At this point, however, the 21-year-old shortstop is batting just .156.

— Julio Rodríguez, Mariners (No. 3): Jarrod Kelenic had a difficult debut last year, and Rodríguez, another Seattle outfield prospect, is struggling so far at the plate as well. He's 4 for 32.

— Spencer Torkelson, Tigers (No. 4): There's a symbolic passing of the torch in progress in Detroit, with Miguel Cabrera closing in on 3,000 hits while Torkelson shows off his power. The top pick in the 2020 draft has homered twice in his first nine games.

— C.J. Abrams, Padres (No. 9): The injury to Fernando Tatis Jr. gives Abrams an opportunity, but the 21-year-old shortstop is 3 for 26 so far. He did hit his first career homer Thursday.

— Nick Lodolo, Reds (No. 41): The 24-year-old lefty could form a nice partnership with Greene in Cincinnati for years to come. He made his debut Wednesday, allowing five runs in four innings in a start against Cleveland.

— Bryson Stott, Phillies (No. 44): Stott has already started at second, third and shortstop for Philadelphia, but he's 4 for 26 with just one extra-base hit.

— MacKenzie Gore, Padres (No. 85): The No. 3 pick in the 2017 draft, Gore finally made his big league debut Friday, allowing two runs in 5 1/3 innings against Atlanta. Gore was one of the game's top prospects, but he struggled at Triple-A last year, and his current MLB Pipeline ranking suggests expectations are more tempered now.

Russia lonely for WNBA

By DOUG FEINBERG

AP Basketball Writer

For the elite athletes in the WNBA, spending the offseason playing in Russia can mean earning more money than they can make back home — sometimes even two or three times as much.

But those who have done that also describe the loneliness of being away from family and friends, of struggling with an unfamiliar language and culture, and of living in a place with only a few hours of sunlight in the winter and temperatures well below freezing.

Brittney Griner is one of those players who went to Russia in recent years to earn extra money. For the two-time Olympian, however, it has turned into a prolonged nightmare.

Since arriving at a Moscow airport in mid-February, she has been detained by police after they reported finding vape cartridges allegedly containing cannabis oil in her luggage. Still in jail, she is awaiting trial next month on charges that could bring up to 10 years in prison.

Her arrested came at a time of heightened political tensions over Ukraine. Since then, Russia has invaded Ukraine and remains at war.

A half-dozen American players contacted by The Associated Press shared their experiences on playing in Russia. Although none found themselves in the same situation as Griner, they described difficulties such as isolation and boredom, apart from basketball.

"Playing there was not easy because the lifestyle and the way of living is a lot different than what you experience in other places in Europe and America," said DeLisha Milton-Jones, one of the first marquee American players to play in Russia in the early 2000s.

"The extremes of the weather — it's pitch black dark at 5 p.m. I had to wear my big jacket warming up sometimes since it was minus-40 degrees outside," said Milton-Jones, who played for UMKC Ekaterinburg — the same team as Griner.

The former All-American at Florida, WNBA All-Star and two-time WNBA champion with the Los Angeles Sparks said the decision to play in Russia was simply a "business one."

In the early 2000s, top WNBA players could earn about $125,000 a year as part of a marketing deal with the league. Today, the salary for elite players is about $500,000. By playing in Russia, those players can earn another $1 million to $1.5 million.

Players say the Russian teams try to make them as comfortable as possible, including sometimes providing drivers and translators. The clubs also give players extra days off during breaks, knowing they have longer travel back to the U.S., if they go home.

ASTROGRAPH

ARIES – Mar 21/Apr 20
Aries, now is a great time to try your hand at a new creative pursuit. You may be surprised at the results. Encourage others to join and embrace a collaborative effort.
TAURUS – Apr 21/May 21
Taurus, this is the ideal week to get outdoors more. The great outdoors can be a medicinal, so take advantage of any opportunity to bask in the fresh air.
GEMINI – May 22/June 21
Gemini, it is easy to get frustrated with a close friend or romantic partner who is less ambitious than you. Try to be patient, as each person moves at their own pace.

CANCER – Jun 22/July 22
Try to get some group activities together this week, Cancer. This can be valuable if it has been some time since you socialized. Enjoy the change of pace.
LEO – Jul 23/Aug 23
Leo, if you have been lacking a regular exercise regimen, this could be the week to make some changes. Participate in an organized sport if heading to the gym isn't your thing.

VIRGO – Aug 24/Sept 22
It's a good time to put your ambition into action, Virgo. You're likely to be full of energy and you have had plenty of good ideas just waiting for an outlet.
LIBRA – Sept 23/Oct 23
Libra, do not hesitate to take on projects this week, particularly those that show your management skills in action. Others will be quick to complement your organizational prowess.
SCORPIO – Oct 24/

Nov 22
Expect to feel a renewed sense of energy and purpose this week, Scorpio. This will motivate you to finish existing projects or to get started on new ones.
SAGITTARIUS – Nov 23/Dec 21
This week you may be feeling extra creative and ambitious, Sagittarius. Use your strengths to work on an artistic project or one that is outside of your comfort zone.
CAPRICORN – Dec 22/Jan 20
This is a good week to tackle projects that require you to get up and go, Capricorn. It may involve heavy yard work or even rearranging furniture.

AQUARIUS – Jan 21/Feb 18
Aquarius, any lethargy you've been feeling will likely vanish in the days to come. Fresh air and physical exercise can be just what you need to feel reenergized.
PISCES – Feb 19/Mar 20
Pisces, it is time to take charge of your health. Consider all aspects of well-being, including physical and mental health.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEE'S SALE

Sale at public auction will be on May 31, 2022 at 12:00PM local time, at the south door, Bedford County Courthouse, 1 Public Square, Shelbyville, Tennessee pursuant to Deed of Trust executed by Patricia M. Niles and David E. Niles, to David W. Kious, Trustee, as trustee for Mortgage Electronic Registration Systems, Inc. as nominee for Guaranty Trust Company on June 4, 2015 at Book TD836, Page 649; conducted by LLG Trustee TN LLC, having been appointed Substitute or Successor Trustee, all of record in the Bedford County Register's Office. Default has occurred in the performance of the covenants, terms, and conditions of said Deed of Trust and the entire indebtedness has been declared due and payable.
Party Entitled to Enforce the Debt: WILMINGTON SAVINGS FUND SOCIETY, FSB, AS TRUSTEE OF QUERCUS MORTGAGE INVESTMENT TRUST, its successors and assigns.
The real estate located in Bedford County, Tennessee, and described in the said Deed of Trust will be sold to the highest call bidder. The terms of the said Deed of Trust may be modified by other instruments appearing in the public record. Additional identifying information regarding the collateral property is below and is believed to be accurate, but no representation or warrant is intended.
Street Address: 1902 Springdale Ave, Shelbyville, Tennessee 37160
Parcel Number: 0690 B 005.00
Current Owner(s) of Property: Patricia M. Niles
This sale is subject to, without limitation, all matters shown on any applicable recorded plat; any unpaid taxes; any restrictive covenants, easements, or setback lines that may be applicable; any statutory right of redemption of any governmental agency, state or federal; any prior liens or encumbrances including those created by a fixture filing or any applicable homeowners' association dues or assessments; all claims or other matters, whether of record or not, which may encumber the purchaser's title and any matter that an accurate survey of the premises might disclose.
The following parties may claim an interest in the above-referenced property to be affected by the foreclosure: any judgment creditor or lien holder with an interest subordinate to the said Deed of Trust or any party claiming by, though, or under any of the foregoing. Such parties known to the Substitute Trustee may include: Ascend Federal Credit Union. Terms of Sale will be public auction, for cash, free and clear of rights of homestead, redemption and dower to the extent disclaimed or inapplicable, and the rights of Patricia M. Niles and David E. Niles, and those claiming through him/her/it/them. Any right of equity of redemption, statutory and otherwise, and homestead are waived in accord with the terms of said Deed of Trust, and the title is believed to be good, but the undersigned will sell and convey only as Substitute Trustee.

The right is reserved to adjourn the day of the sale to another day, time, and place certain without further publication, upon announcement at the time and place for the sale set forth above. If you purchase a property at the foreclosure sale, the entire purchase price is due and payable at the conclusion of the auction in the form of a certified/bank check made payable to or endorsed to LOGS Legal Group LLP. No personal checks will be accepted. To this end, you must bring sufficient funds to outbid the lender and any other bidders. Insufficient funds will not be accepted. Amounts received in excess of the winning bid will be refunded to the successful purchaser at the time the foreclosure deed is delivered.
This property is being sold with the express reservation that the sale is subject to confirmation by the lender or trustee. This sale may be rescinded only by the Substitute Trustee at any time. If the Substitute Trustee rescinds the sale, the purchaser shall only be entitled to a return of any money paid towards the purchase price and shall have no other recourse. Once the purchaser tenders the purchase price, the Substitute Trustee may deem the sale final in which case the purchaser shall have no remedy. The real property will be sold AS IS, WHERE IS, with no warranties or representations of any kind, express or implied, including without limitation, warranties regarding condition of the property or marketability of title.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to its existing Annual Review Mechanism tariff, Atmos Energy Corporation (the Company) filed a Petition with the Tennessee Public Utility Commission (TPUC) on February 1, 2022 in Docket No. 22-00010, proposing to change its rates for natural gas service now in effect. The rates proposed by the Company are subject to approval by the TPUC. The TPUC may adopt, reject, increase or decrease any of the proposed rates in part or in whole. A complete copy of the proposed rate changes and the reasons for them are on file with the TPUC and are available for public inspection. A complete copy is also available in the Company's local offices. The Company has requested this change in rates in accordance with the procedures approved in its Annual Review Mechanism tariff. The predicted impact of the proposed changes on the average residential customer is an increase of approximately $13.82 per year. The predicted impact of the proposed changes on the average small commercial class customer is an increase of approximately $62.92 per year. The matter is set for hearing May 9, 2022, beginning at 9:00 a.m. or as soon thereafter as it may be heard in the TPUC's Hearing Room in the Nashville room in the William R. Snodgrass Tennessee Tower, 312 Rosa L. Parks Avenue, Nashville, Tennessee 37219. The Company's current and proposed rates are as follows and do not include gas cost that is recovered through the Purchased Gas Adjustment.

Chamber Luncheon talks economic development

By ZOË HAGGARD
 zhaggard@t-g.com

The Shelbyville Bedford Chamber of Commerce hosted a luncheon on Thursday with guest speaker Shane Hooper, the Shelbyville-Bedford Partnership's CEO.

Hooper discussed the accomplishments and goal of the Partnership in developing workforce development, by bridging educators with local industry, as well as economic development and infrastructure, by growing the 231 North Industrial Park in Shelbyville.

"I think at this point we can compete with about 60 to 70 percent of our peer counties. I'm not talking about Murfreesboro or Nashville. They're not peers. I'm talking those counties right around us," Hooper told T-G. "Because of the work that we have invested in economic development, I believe we can beat about 30 percent of them."

The industrial park will be filled with Project Cardinal, Project Turquoise, and the new Tennessee College of Applied Technology in Shelbyville. Hooper said it's been over 20 years since a new industry has been introduced to Bedford.

He added that in about 6 months the industrial park will be ready to begin its next development phase. "But we're closer than we've ever been since 25 years ago," Hooper said.

Keep up with the T-G for information on the industrial park and economic projects.

Shelbyville-Bedford Partnership CEO Shane Hooper spoke at the Chamber Luncheon Thursday to give an update on the City and County's economic development.

Bill Rich, former Chamber president and current president of Vanderbilt Bedford Hospital.

Joe Marchesoni from United Communications with Lori Johnson owner/manager sales team of Mobile Living.

RIGHT: Bedford County Mayor Chad Graham speaks with Chavigny Beasley, center, one of the owners of Glass Hollow restaurant and tavern on the Square in Shelbyville, which is planned to open in August.

The luncheon was held at The Fly Arts Center.

Purdom's BBQ provided the lunch.
