A traffic signal should be in place at the busy U.S. 231 North-State Highway 82-Eady Road intersection by this time next summer, officials say.

The intersection has been arguably the most dangerous in Bedford County for years. Several fatalities have occurred and crashes are frequent.

Tennessee Department of Transportation has approved a signal. Studies are underway and a signal is expected to be in place by spring or summer 2023, Bedford County Highway Superintendent Mark Clanton said.

"It's a go," Clanton said Monday. "I requested this from TDOT a year ago. It is 100 percent a TDOT project," Clanton said, explaining no county funds will be involved.

Clanton said the exact time when the lights will be in place hasn't been determined. "Timing is where we don't know much."

A turn lane will be added on Highway 82, Clanton said.

Corridor studies are underway along U.S. 231, which has seen a large increase in traffic as the area has grown in the past few years.

In addition to population growth, events at Uncle Nearest Distillery have brought more traffic to the area near the intersection. Vanderbilt Bedford Hospital and Shelbyville Municipal Airport draw many visitors. Upcoming industrial development and the new Tennessee College of Applied Technology and Middle Tennessee State University aviation department campuses near the U.S. 231-Frank Martin Road intersection are expected to increase traffic further.

The Tennessee Downs auto facilities proposed for the Eady Road side of the intersection are likely to bring even more vehicles into the area.

And events in Bell Buckle often leave traffic backed up for a mile or more on the Highway 82 side.

City buying 1.5 acres at airport

Council meets Thursday

By DAWN HANKINS
dhankins@t-g.com

Shelbyville City Council is set to approve 6 p.m. Thursday the purchase of 1.5 acres of land at 2782 Highway 231 North. The parcel is adjacent to Shelbyville Municipal Airport's western property line, so officials were very interested in purchasing this acreage at a cost of $75,000.

Special called meeting

Last Tuesday, Council approved several items during a special called meeting at Shelbyville Recreation Center. One of those was a resolution which would authorize a contract with Tennessee Department of Transportation (TDOT) for assistance in construction and completion of a State Industrial Access (SIA) roadway for Project Cardinal under the provisions of the Industrial Highway Act of 1959.

Project Cardinal is an industrial development project with goals of increasing local employment opportunities and enhancing local revenue streams. Some aspects of the project remain under wraps within the economic advisory board.

Back in February, City Council approved a resolution which would authorize and endorse actions necessary to enhance Project Cardinal, including the waiving of City development and building fees. The motion to approve was made by Council member Rick Overcast and seconded by Council member Stephanie Isaacs.

Moving into next year

Get an RC and MoonPie

Bell Buckle fest is June 18

By DAWN HANKINS
dhankins@t-g.com

Country music artist Jimmy Wayne will be "king" this year during Bell Buckle's annual RC-MoonPie Festival—planned for the third Saturday, June 18, from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. It's a time each June, organizers note, when the perennial crowd favorites take top billing within all the fun.

"This Festival just keeps making people happy," said Jenny Hunt. "Even 'Southern Living' magazine picked up on the happiness this year with an article about the Bell Buckle Café being one of the best places to eat because it is that good."

Hunt, who is the public relations and marketing person for the railroad town, said it's really that good because you can get chocolate, strawberry, banana, and lemon MoonPie Sundaes all year long. "Imagine just making that Bell Buckle RC-MoonPie feeling last all year!"

For any festival novices, just know that MoonPies are tossed into the crowd during the parade; they're also tossed into the air during the MoonPie Toss games. Best of all, said Hunt, the treats are served as the pièce de résistance when the World's Largest MoonPie is delivered and served to every single festival goer!

"And we never ever never release the flavor of that World's Largest MoonPie before it's presented at the end of the day," confirmed Hunt. "It's just not how we 'mint'"

AOG's Forsee retires after 37 years

By DAWN HANKINS
dhankins@t-g.com

After 37 years of service, Pastor Glenn Forsee preached his finale sermon on Sunday at First Assembly of God Church in Shelbyville. He says he and wife, Linda, are ready for the next journey.

The Forsee family filled the pews of the church. Friends associated with Forsee and many at the local church, now having moved to other cities, came back to wish him well.

He was pretty strong, until the closing remarks, he admitted. His final text selection was from the Book of Jude. Forsee encouraged his congregation to press forward, prayerfully, into the future with new leadership, which is much

First Assembly of God Church members and friends became 'one body' Sunday, engaging their hearts in prayer for changing leadership. A new pastor, J.P. Cannon of Franklin, has taken the reins at the church located on Highway 231 North. Current Pastor Glenn Forsee, front, has retired.

OBITUARIES

James Everette Grammer

June 4, 2022

Mr. James Everette Grammer of Shelbyville passed away suddenly from this life on Saturday, June 4, 2022.

The family will receive visitors on Tuesday, June 7 from 4-8 p.m. at Feldhaus Funeral Home with funeral services Wednesday, June 8 at 1 p.m. Burial service will follow at Wheel Cemetery with Pastor Tommy Barrett officiating.

Born on June 9, 1948, he was the oldest son of the late Cecile and O'Dell Grammer. Everette was raised in Lynchburg and from his childhood learned to love the rural farming lifestyle at an early age. In his youth, Everette loved to fish, hunt, and farm the land. He later developed a love for riding motorcycles and rebuilding and restoring antique Ford trucks.

Everette was known by all as a hard worker and a jack-of-all trades. In addition to his extensive knowledge of farming, he was a carpenter, a roofer, a plumber, an electrician, and so much more. He could perform essentially every trade associated with building houses. In his early adult life, he was a dairy farmer and for many years operated his dairy farm while simultaneously working full time at George Dickel and raising his family. Later in life, he built a beautiful home for his wife Helen and their blended family. He once again became a self-employed businessman as the owner/operator of G & G Roofing for 30+ years until retirement. Additionally, he and Helen operated the kennel Grammer's Gentle Giants, where they bred and raised show quality St. Bernards and other large breed dogs. Throughout all of his years, he continued to take care of his cattle, grow vegetables, cut hay, and enjoy his rural farm life until the very end.

Everette will always be remembered for his quick and infectious laugh, his head full of bright silver hair, and his daily uniform of a white t-shirt and overalls. His beloved overalls were a constant reminder of the lifestyle that he loved and cherished. Everette leaves behind a legacy of a large and loving family, who will forever treasure the memories that were made with him.

Everette is survived by his wife of 32 years Helen Grammer and their children: Tim (Mary Lynn) Grammer, Anita (Jesse) Cripps, Janie Grammer, Lavonda (Bryce) Mull, Stacie (Tommy) Barrett, and Janet (David) Anderson. He is also survived by his many adoring grandchildren: Logan Kight, Christian (Michaela) Barrett, Jordan (David) Kirby, Kimberly Grammer, Shanna (Jacob) Bentley, Ethan (Cassidy) Barrett, Elijah Martin, Hannah Cripps, Cody Cripps, Olivia Grammer, Blake Mull, great-grandchildren Hannah and Harley Kight, Amelia and Ethan Everette Barret II and another precious great-grandbaby on the way. He is also survived by his brothers Tommy (Lena) Grammer and Ricky (Tat) Grammer as well as many friends and neighbors who loved him greatly.

Feldhaus Memorial Chapel is assisting the family with the arrangements.

at its recent special called meeting which would adopt the annual operating and capital improvements budget, all funds for the fiscal year 2022-23, with an effective date of July 1.

An ordinance establishing the municipal property tax levy for the fiscal year 2022-2023 moved through with Council approval. There could still be some amendments, prior to July 1, as budget workshops have been planned by Council and will be advertised as public notices in the T-G.

Workshop discussions will include the approval of the municipal property tax rate. Once all corrections, additions and deletions are made to the FY 2022-23 budget, the City will schedule a public hearing and the second reading, prior to the effective date of July 1.

City Treasurer Kay Parker is currently serving as interim City manager. Applications for the open City manager job are being received and MTAS (Municipal Technical Advisory Service) officials, who are helping oversee the process, note out of a recent 17 applications received, about half were qualified for the administrative position.

Late fall election

A resolution has passed which approves for a General City Election on Tuesday, Nov. 8. City Mayor Wallace Cartwright's office, as well as Council seats from Wards 2, 4 and 6 will be on the ballot. Council member terms are 4 years and those elected in November will start work at the December 2022 Council meeting.

younger J.P. Cannon and family.

The retiring pastor said his departure feels more like "a graduation." It's a lengthy ministry; his pastorate of 37 years — service time which encompasses about half of the life of the church.

He remains humble, willing to serve Jesus the rest of his days. "My life has exceeded my dreams. God has been so good to me. I have no regrets. It's easy to wallow in the what-ifs, but either I must believe the Bible, personally, or I don't. His Word will not come back void."

Forsee would like his ministry to be known as one which led people to know Jesus better. Most of all, he wants to be remembered as a pastor who, by the Grace of God, represented Jesus in an honorable way.

He notes that on May 28, the church observed "Celebration Sunday" and last Sunday was, "Transition Sunday." Terry Bailey, superintendent of the Tennessee Ministry network of Assemblies of God and a "long-time friend" to Forsee, was on hand to commission the new pastor J.P. Cannon.

The Cannon family will begin their ministry in Shelbyville this week. (More about Pastor Cannon and family in a future T-G edition.)

Forsee said that he and wife, Linda, will be keeping their membership at First Assembly here, but will be attending other churches for at least 6 months. He is open to speak at other AOG locations.

"We want to give the new pastor at least 6 months . . ." said Forsee. "We'll see where things are from there. In no way do I want to interfere with his pastoral leadership."

Forsee's final sermon on Sunday was full of life and inspiration, keeping suit with these last 3 decades. The church had a good time, laughing and singing.

The long-time pastor smiled as the congregation sang, "It Is Well, With My Soul." A touching First Assembly video, previously prepared for the church, once again highlighted the service. The retiring pastoral team decided to end the service with a little whimsy by singing the old Roy Rogers tune, "Happy Trails."

Forsee says he will continue to serve on Bedford County Board of Education for the next 2 years. Though he'll be elsewhere for a while for worship, his family will continue to reside in Shelbyville.

The pastor, who had a hand in moving the congregation from Church Street to the newer facility on Highway 231, says he has no doubt that he was called to serve the church. But now, it's time for a change of life.

"There's a place of living out my faith in the pulpit. There's another . . . living out my faith on the sidewalks and in the marketplace—just living out Jesus."

His ministry credentials go way back to 1978. Still, even in his golden years, Forsee believes Christian discipleship is forever.

"The Bible says 'go into all the world.' That's just not to pay a missionary to go. But for me to go, not to another country or region, necessarily, but to go to the culture of my community and take Jesus [and] show people a real Jesus, without compromise."

Photos from Sunday's service are available inside today. Please see Saturday's Faith Page for Forsee's final message and a glimpse into his pastoral career.

to build that excitement. So you'll not get even a hint of that flavor from us!"

The "Sweetest Race Ever" starts the day's fun with the 10 Mile and 5K races. Both courses are certified and attract enough runners to quadruple the population of Bell Buckle. "Both of these certified courses have become a major running competition with well over 1,000 runners entering each year," said Hunt. "The race includes a T-shirt for all registered runners, Finisher's Medals, awards in all age categories, and a full breakfast."

Registration and all other information pertaining to the race can be found at <https://bellbuckle-rc-moonpie10mileand5krun.com/>. Simply put, this race is just plain fun, explain organizers.

Entertainment on the festival grounds at the stage area includes music, cloggers, tongue-in-cheek humor, featuring The MoonPie Show, on stage with some favorite characters and maybe a few new ones.

"This year's King and Queen will be the fun kind of royalty that will reflect their wacky kingdom!" said Hunt.

The 2022 RC-MoonPie King is award-winning country recording artist Jimmy Wayne. "Jimmy has performed at the Grand Ole Opry a whopping 224 times!" said Hunt.

"He lives in neighboring Nashville and works tirelessly on behalf of at-risk foster youth."

Wayne's hits include "Stay Gone," "Paper Angels," "I Love You This Much" and "Do You Believe Me Now?" which earned him BMI's prestigious Million-Air Award for receiving more than one million radio spins in America.

"Our Bell Buckle royalty is a bit of everything and a lot of over the topness!" said Hunt.

"Her Royal Highness" is a Leadership Music alum, a member of The Recording Academy, Country Music Association, Academy of Country Music, the American Association of Independent Music, and she proudly serves on the Academy Awards (Oscars) Public Relations team.

The rest of the day will be filled with the RC-MoonPie games—the MoonPie toss, RC Walk while balancing an RC or two or more, and many other of the crowd favorites! Enjoy contests, art and craft booths, live entertainment, and food booths featuring such Southern fares as Tennessee Smoked Barbecue, hand squeezed lemonade and deep fried Moon Pies!

Hunt says wait . . . the crème de la crème is yet to come! The serving of the World's Largest MoonPie serves as the day's grand finale.

What flavor will it be this year? Come on out to Bell Buckle and find out.

BIG G DRIVER OF YEAR

Big G Express recently announced that driver, Bobby Mallory, has been selected as the Tennessee Trucking Association's 2022 Driver of the Year! Officials said this is a well-deserved honor. Mallory is entering his 10th year with Big G Express; he has over 35 years total commercial driving experience. Big G officials said their employee is known for his humility and willingness to help others and stated how he is the "epitome of what we look for in a professional driver." Because of these qualities, he was named the 2021 Big G Express Driver of the Year and driver of the month in December 2020.

THE VERSATILE PEONY

The great thing about peonies, according to the experts, is that they go with every color tablescape. Put them in a hurricane vase and you're done! The natural beauty is a sure fire winner for dinner.

SPRING'S FINEST

Most folks prefer the pink peony, as it is brilliant in gardens in spring time. But there are really many colors from which to choose, growers note.

Poplin Memorial History Award winners named

The Bedford County Historical Society has announced the winners of the 2022 Poplin Memorial History Award at each of the county's three public high schools.

•Cascade High School's honoree is Caroline Jean Stone, daughter of Jody and Susan Stone. Besides her outstanding academic achievement in numerous honors and dual-enrollment courses, Caroline participated in a variety of extracurricular activities, including the Interact Club, Student Council, and varsity softball and soccer. Her community citizenship and service included volunteering as kids' sports camps, Haven of Hope, and the Bell Buckle Moonpie Festivals. Caroline is planning a career in nursing. Guidance Counselor Debbie Watkins administered the applications.

•Cayden Puckett, son of Josh and Erin Puckett, is the honoree at Shelbyville Central High School. Cayden excelled in history and government studies and a variety of other academics. He participated in numerous school activities, including special needs student assistance, home improvement projects, Veterans Day ceremonies, and library community days. Cayden plans to pursue a career in athletics.

Guidance Counselor Tracey Perryman administered the applications.

•Community High School's honoree is Breanna Whitaker, daughter of Chad and Beverly Whitaker. Breanna excelled in several honors and dual-enrollment courses. Her extracurricular activities included varsity basketball and golf, Key Club, and FCA. She volunteered for several community projects, including Leadership Bedford, Manna Missions, and food booths at the TWHNC. Breanna plans to become a nurse anesthetist. Guidance Counselor Casey Couch administered the applications.

These $1,000 awards are funded by donations from Society members and memorials from the public. The Historical Society salutes these outstanding graduates for achieving this major milestone, and urges them to go forward and make more history in their communities and careers.

Safe food handling

Dear Heloise: Why do people think that they can touch anything and still handle food as long as they are wearing plastic/rubber gloves? I was recently traveling and stayed overnight in a very nice, nationally known hotel chain. When I went down for the continental breakfast, this was observed:

The lady came from the kitchen to refill some of the food containers. She emptied scrambled eggs into the container and stirred them around with the same spoon that everyone was using to serve themselves. She then dumped biscuits in the biscuit container and proceeded to use her hands, wearing the same gloves, to move the biscuits around. She then reached down and opened a cabinet and continued to work.

I have observed similar things in supermarket delis and restaurants. Just because you are wearing gloves doesn't mean that you can handle anything that you want and then use the same gloves to handle food. It's no different than not wearing gloves.

People need to use common sense! Thanks for your column. -- Regular Reader, via email because they don't break, they do not get twisted up, they are easy to handle and they can also be used on packages for the freezer. -- Priscilla Zanni, Vancouver, Washington

MICROWAVES

Dear Heloise: Following the three Rs -- reduce, reuse, recycle -- to cover food cooked in the microwave, rather than using paper towels or coffee filters, you can purchase microwave covers. They come in sets of different sizes. This keeps paper towels and filters out of the landfill. I am pleased that the Ventura County Star (California) is now running your column five days a week, with more column inches. -- Lilith, Ventura, California

A STEP UP

Dear Heloise: My beloved golden retriever Izzy loved to go to the park and for rides in the car. But as she aged it became exceedingly difficult for her to jump into the SUV. At 72 pounds I could not lift her. She needed a step up. Instead of purchasing an expensive special stair step for her at the pet store, I took a plastic storage tub, removed the lid and flipped it over, giving her the perfect height first step that she could reach. She then could take the next step right up into the backseat.

The tub was lightweight, not cumbersome and served a second purpose in my SUV. I stored the tub in the back of my SUV, where it kept my grocery and shopping bags neatly contained so they wouldn't spill or roll around the back of my vehicle. -- Debbie in Kerrville, Texas

AG NOTES

EUROPEAN HORNET

BY JOHN TEAGUE
UT/TSU Extension

FARMERS MARKET

I haven't heard from all of the vendors, but I will complete my contacts with them in the next couple of days. Opening the Farmers market is always weather dependent, and it's just been a struggle for our vendors. I'll make an announcement for sure on our Facebook page, our market website, and in my email newsletter. I'll post in this article next week. Just be patient.

WHAT IS THIS?

I always get calls and pictures or specimens this time of year about big wasp, and these calls are wanting to know if they are the Asian hornet, sometimes referred to as the 'murder wasp'. First, let me say they do not murder anyone or anything. Second, they are not here, they are in Washington state, and they have been contained as far as anyone knows. There is a special team focused on surveillance out there, and they are doing a great job.

What we do have here is a European wasp. It is also called a European hornet. It is a big one, and looks worse than it is. These critters are black with yellow stripes, and they do look ferocious. But the reality is they do sting, but usually they have been provoked.

Here is an excerpt from a publication from Penn State University entitled "European Paper Wasp" by Steve Jacobs, PSU Extension associate, found at <https://extension.psu.edu/european-paper-wasp>

Before 1981, the European paper wasp was not recorded in North America. In its native region, P. dominula is the most abundant paper wasp in those countries around the Mediterranean. It is also found in southern Europe, northern Africa, the Middle East, and eastward into China. A highly successful colonizer, this wasp has rapidly increased its distribution in the United States during the past 20 years.

It is frequently mistaken for a yellowjacket. Smaller than the native northern paper wasp, the European paper wasp is yellow and black, resembling the pattern (especially on the abdomen) of the yellowjackets in the genus Vespula.

As in all paper wasps, the "waist" is very thin. During flight, the hind pair of legs trail below in an extended fashion. The nest is the characteristic upside-down umbrella shape, and the open cells can be seen from below. Cream-colored larvae are legless and remain within their cells until they emerge as adult wasps.

I've attached a photo to help identify it.

WHAT'S THE MARKET?

Drs. Andrew Griffith and Aaron Smith, UT livestock and crop economists, shared these comments.

Fed cattle traded $1 to $2 lower compared to last week on a live basis. Prices on a live basis primarily ranged from $135 to $138 while dressed prices were mainly $221 to $222. The 5-area weighted average prices thru Thursday were $137.84 live, down $1.09 compared to last week and $221.73 dressed, down $2.26 from a week ago. A year ago, prices were $119.89 live and $190.73 dressed.

Based on Tennessee weekly auction market reports, steer prices this week were steady to $2 higher compared to a week ago while heifer prices were $3 higher compared to last week. Harvest cow prices were steady while bull prices were also steady compared to the previous week.

Milk production in the 24 major states during April totaled 18.3 billion pounds, down 0.9% from April 2021. Production per cow for April averaged 2,054 pounds. The number of milk cows was 8.91 million head, unchanged from March 2022. March production was revised up 0.1% from preliminary estimates.

Crop comments were not available this week.

WISDOM

The April issue of "Progressive Farmer's Cornerstones" quotes had some good comments about horses. Since horses are so important in our county, I'll share some of these.

Winston Churchill said "No hour of life is wasted that is spent in the saddle." Herman Melville said "No philosophers so thoroughly comprehend us as dogs and horses." Abraham Lincoln said "I can make a General in five minutes, but a good horse is hard to replace." John Wayne said "Courage is being scared to death by saddling up anyway." Will Rogers said "There is something about riding a horse down the street on a prancing horse that make you feel like something, even when you ain't a thing."

The one I like is from W. C. Fields. He said "Horse sense is the thing a horse has which keeps it from betting on people." Think about it!

We got to watch some really good baseball last week. Hank's team is now the only undefeated team in the league. He has played at second, center and right field, pitched, and finished a game as catcher. He loves it all, and I think he's good at it. If I didn't, what kind of a Grandee would I be?

Ford finished school last week, and he had a get-together of his friends. There were seventeen boys in one place at the same time. Talk about chaos, it was loud to say the least. But there was not one single issue, which says a lot about Ford and his friends. Good kids.

Piper had dance recital last week, and it was so much fun to watch her expressions and her wiggles and giggles! She made faces with the music. I love to watch these little ones grow! And she showed her pony this weekend, and was reserve. She loved it every bit, but the most fun she had was playing with her little friends after the class. I love it when little ones are so good with each other and true friends.

PEACE BEFORE THE DAY

The sun rises over farmland which is uncertain to prosper. But one thing is for certain that farmers still maintain a lot of the land surrounding our communities. And where would we be without them?

EARLY MORNING VIEW

Farmers said this week it's either been too dry or too wet on some days for hay production. These fields look primed and ready.

NEWTON CANNON CEMETERY

'Strangers from Texas' praise local hospitality

By DAWN HANKINS
dhankins@t-g.com

The T-G recently received a nice "Letter to the Editor," which greatly complimented the hospitality of Bedford County. So we jumped right in to find out a little more about George and Sherrian Moore of Amarillo, Texas.

"My wife Sherrian and I recently visited your area so she could do some genealogical research and locate three cemeteries and family gravestones. Being strangers from Texas, we were unsure as to how we would be received should we need assistance in locating the cemeteries. We were blown away and truly blessed by the warmth and friendliness of the folks who went out of their way to assist us."

George was kind, saying he didn't want to "embarrass anyone by mentioning names," so he just mentioned a few incidents. "The first was a gentleman she stopped at a roadside stand to seek assistance locating Newton Cannon's grave. He spent several minutes locating it on a phone app and directing us to the location. This was followed a few minutes later by the warm reception we received from the owner of the property on which the grave was located."

He said he couldn't neglect to mention the "valuable assistance" provided by a member of the local historical society and a member of the sheriff's department who "probably spent 20 minutes locating a cemetery for Sherrian."

"The final cemetery was located deep in a farm field with the assistance and warm hospitality of the lady who owned the farm, and as it turned out is a distant cousin of Sherrian."

What a small world from Amarillo to Bedford County.

"This was our first visit to Bedford County and our first boots on the ground genealogical search," said George. "Sherrian and I want to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to all of the folks who went out of their way to assist us. Bedford County is truly a special place with special people. You have blessed us and warmed our hearts with your hospitality."

Three hurt as motorcycles collide

By DAVID MELSON
dmelson@t-g.com

Three people were injured when two motorcycles crashed Saturday afternoon on Red Hill Road near Normandy.

Travis and Tiffany Seibers, both 33, of Shelbyville, were seriously injured in a collision with a motorcycle operated by Michael Owens, 38, of Shelbyville, said Trooper Nathan Archer of the Tennessee Highway Patrol. "Both were northbound on Red Hill Road," Archer said. "Owens was in front and Seibers was behind. Owens slowed, Travis Seibers couldn't slow down in time and rear-ended him."

Travis and Tiffany Seibers were each airlifted to Vanderbilt University Medical Center in Nashville in separate helicopters. Both were in critical but stable condition, Archer said, and were conscious and talking to medical personnel at the scene.

Owens suffered a concussion and leg injury and was taken by ambulance to Vanderbilt Tullahoma-Hartom Hospital, Archer said.

Drug arrests

Weekend traffic stops by Shelbyville police in the North Main Street area led to five drug arrests.

•Ashley Blair Chappell, 38, of Brooklyn Circle was arrested Friday night for possession of schedule II, III and IV drugs.

Chappell was charged with DUI following a traffic stop on North Main Street, a report said. She allegedly pulled a pill bottle containing Fentanyl, crack cocaine, Suboxone and Xanax from her clothing on arrival at Bedford County Jail.

She was charged with two counts of possession of a schedule II drug, possession of schedule III and IV drugs and paraphernalia, third offense DUI and second offense driving on a revoked license. and held on $85,000 bond.

•Two Florida residents were arrested on drug charges Friday after marijuana was found in their vehicle by Shelbyville police.

Sharod Daevon Washington, 18, and Sha Genie Chanel Washington, 20, both of Bradenton, Florida, were charged with simple possession and possession of drug paraphernalia.

They were in a vehicle owned by a Shelbyville relative and stopped after Sharod Washington was clocked at 44 mph in a 30 mph zone on North Main Street, police said. He was also charged with speeding and driving without a license.

Sharod Washington posted $3,500 bond and Sha Genie Washington $2,000 bond.

•A hand-rolled cigar containing marijuana and a small marijuana bud were found in a truck by Shelbyville police during a traffic stop Friday morning on North Main Street, a report said.

Zachary Wilson Youngblood, 21, of Bottle Hollow Road was charged with driving on a revoked license (third offense), speeding (49 in a 30 mph zone), financial responsibility, and simple possession. Youngblood posted $6,000 bond.

•Marijuana was found in a vehicle driven by a Kentucky woman after a police officer allegedly saw her run a traffic light at the Madison Street-North Main Street intersection.

Kaona R. Nichols was cited for simple possession of a schedule VI drug and running a red light.

Thefts

•A witness saw from a distance someone steal a cell phone from the unoccupied back porch of a home in a Belmont Avenue apartment complex Saturday night, police said.

Also reported to area authorities:

•A leaf blower and Weedeater were stolen between Thursday and Sunday from the bed of a pickup truck at Walmart.

•Eight packs of cigarettes were taken from a Sims Road residence over the weekend, police were told Sunday.

•The theft of $800 from a Brooklyn Circle home was reported Saturday, police said.

A suspect who has access to the home was named.

Jail intake

The following were charged since Friday by the Bedford County Sheriffs Office, Shelbyville Police Department, Tennessee Highway Patrol or 17th Judicial District Drug Task Force. They are only charged; guilt or innocence will be determined by the courts.

•Joshua Adam Castiglione, 34, Murfreesboro; driving on suspended license, due care; summons issued

•Cesar Castillo Jimenez, 36, Lenoir City; no driver's license/exhibited on demand, speeding; summons issued

•Ashley Blair Chappell, 38, Brooklyn Circle; possession of schedule II drug (two counts), possession of schedule III drug, possession of schedule IV drug, DUI (third offense), driving on revoked license (second offense), possession of drug paraphernalia; held, $85,000 bond

Gunmen kill 50 in Nigeria church

OWO, Nigeria (AP) — The gunmen who killed 50 people at a Catholic church in southwestern Nigeria opened fire on worshippers both inside and outside the building in a coordinated attack before escaping the scene, authorities and witnesses said Monday.

Although Nigerian security forces have not yet identified who carried out Sunday's attack on St. Francis Church in the town of Owo in relatively peaceful Ondo state, analysts suggested they came from elsewhere in the West African nation, which is plagued by violence from various armed groups, kidnappers and extremists.

No one has claimed responsibility for the church killings, in which children were among the dead and the gunmen used some kind of explosive. Scores of people were wounded, although an exact number was not released by overwhelmed hospital workers.

"The attack is undoubtedly terrorist in nature, and the scale and brutality suggests it was carefully planned rather than impulsive," said Eric Humphery-Smith, senior Africa analyst at Verisk Maplecroft risk intelligence company.

Oyediran said security forces, including the military, pursued the attackers, "but unfortunately, we could not catch up with them."

Nigeria, which is Africa's most populous country with 206 million people, has grappled for over a decade with an insurgency in the northeast by Islamic extremist rebels of Boko Haram and its offshoot, the Islamic State West Africa Province. The extremists, who have killed more than 35,000 people by a U.N. count, are fighting to establish Shariah law and to stop Western education.

Ondo, however, has long been considered one of the safer states in the country.

Sunday Adewale, who works in the palace of the local chief, said the gunmen used the element of surprise to their advantage.

"Everybody felt relaxed and had gone to church," he said. "Within 30 minutes, they did what they wanted and went away."

The attack came as worshippers were celebrating the feast of Pentecost, an important Catholic post-Easter holiday. Bishop Jude Arogundade said some gunmen entered the church while others stayed outside to shoot anyone who fled. Steven Omotayo, who lives nearby, heard the gunshots and rushed to the scene.

"I saw a lot of dead bodies — both young and old, even children," he said. "The people came in and started shooting from the gate."

He said the church has three entrances and the main entrance was said to have been locked, making it difficult for many to escape.

"They were just shooting. If they see anyone trying to escape or stand up, they will just shoot the person," he said. "Everybody standing was bombarded with bullets."

The Rev. Vincent Anadi, who was away from his church at the time, said the gunmen also set off some kind of explosive or grenade.

He said he was making his way back to the church when he saw people running away chaotically, including two altar servers that he knew.

They "stopped me and said, 'Father, father, stop, stop! Don't go to the parish. They are killing people in the parish!'" Anadi recounted.

Pastoral change for First Assembly of God Church

Forsee retires after 37 years

FORSEE RETIRES

Pastor Glenn Forsee officially retired as pastor of First Assembly of God Church on Sunday, marking a pastorate there of 37 years.

'A pastor doesn't just pastor a church. He needs to be available to assist everyone in whatever he can. We're in the people business.'

Glenn Forsee

FOR EVERY SEASON . . .

Life is about changes, says Pastor Glenn Forsee during his last sermon Sunday. And how we are called to serve during that change is personal and a reflection of our commitment to discipleship.

T-G Photos by Dawn Hankins

NEW PASTOR COMMISSIONED

Retiring Pastor Glenn Forsee passes the shepherd's hook to incoming First Assembly of God pastor J.P. Cannon and wife, Tamara, on Sunday before the congregation.

FINAL SONG

Linda Forsee sang her final song as pastor's wife on Sunday at First Assembly of God Church. She also served as church pianist.

SPECIAL PRAYER

The congregation of First Assembly of God Church has new challenges ahead with the changing of the pastor. Members prayed for strength on Sunday.

FROM THE HEART

Though there are a lot of changes at the church, one thing remains constant and that is how people open their hearts to the Holy Spirit.

FINDING NEW DIRECTION

Terry Bailey, superintendent of the Tennessee Assemblies of God Network, presented Pastor Glenn Forsee with a compass. It was a symbol for the long-time pastor—to see his way back and meet the future with purpose and direction.

OLD FRIENDS VISIT

Pastor Forsee affectionately hugged friends and congregation members Sunday during his farewell from the pastorate.

PASTOR'S EMBRACE

How many times in our lives does a pastor's embrace touch our hearts. Glenn Forsee will now become a member of First Assembly of God Church—something he's not done in 37 years. He's anxiously awaiting to see what it feels like to listen to a sermon by someone else.

FAMILY THAT PRAYS TOGETHER

Likely it is true that a family that prays together, stays together. This might be said for the Forsee family—all in attendance Sunday.

Dylan Norris signs his letter of intent to continue his career at Vol State Community College.

Norris signs with Vol State

Viking standout a threat at plate, on mound

By CHRIS SIERS
sports@t-g.com

Throughout his time at Community, Dylan Norris made an impact for the Vikings, both on the mound and at the plate.

That dual-threat not only helped the Vikings push to the Class 2A state sectional this season, but also helped Norris find his way onto a college roster.

Recently, Norris signed this letter of intent to continue his baseball career at Vol State Community College.

"I'm just happy to be here and hope that it all goes well in college," he said.

Like in high school, Vol State has plans to utilize Norris' abilities in the field and on the mound.

"They're going to make me a two-way, playing first and pitching," he said.

"Dylan comes from a baseball family and his talent and skill level on the field is one of the best I have had the opportunity of coaching," Viking coach Robbie Davis said.

Norris has been a student of the game for the bulk of his life and has played both for school and travel ball since he was four years old.

Throughout the years,

Norris catches five from Community coach Robbie Davis after slugging a home run against cross-county rival Cascade.

Norris has proved efficient on the mound and at the plate.

Of all his memories playing, Norris' favorite memory playing the game was beating the Forrest Rockets in a 2-1 victory during his freshman season, which came the night after a 9-0 loss to the Rockets.

"Probably beating Forrest my freshman year was pretty good," Norris said.

"I have no doubt his best baseball is ahead of him and he has an opportunity of playing the game for a very long time," Davis said.

Norris is still several months from beginning his freshman season, but will be on a workout and meal plan regiment to help prepare him for college baseball.

"They want me to play in a couple of tournaments and get on a meal plan and they will send me workout plans," he said.

Norris plans to pursue a degree in business.

Tennessee atop NCAA field in super regionals

By ERIC OLSON
AP Sports Writer

Tennessee was right where it was expected to be Sunday night, celebrating an NCAA regional title on its home field and eager to continue one of the most dominant runs in college baseball history.

The No. 1 national seed Volunteers, No. 4 Virginia Tech, No. 5 Texas A&M, Texas and Notre Dame closed out their regionals and advanced to super regionals beginning Friday.

No. 6 Miami was the first top-eight seed eliminated, losing 4-3 to Arizona in Coral Gables, Florida.

Tennessee (56-7) beat Georgia Tech 9-6, never leading until it scored six runs in the ninth inning. Next up is a best-of-three series against Notre Dame.

Virginia Tech broke through for its first regional title, defeating Columbia 7-2 to complete a dominant three-game run. They'll host Florida or Oklahoma next.

Texas A&M took the lead with a seven-run ninth inning and first-year coach Jim Schlossnagle's Aggies knocked out TCU, his former team, 15-9. The Aggies will host Louisville or Michigan in supers.

Texas' Ivan Melendez became the first player to hit 30 homers since San Diego's Kris Bryant in 2013, connecting in a five-run first inning that sparked a 10-1 victory over Air Force. The Longhorns will play Coastal Carolina or East Carolina.

Notre Dame, which got 7 2/3 strong innings from John Michael Bertrand, is heading to super regionals for the second straight year after edging Texas Tech 2-1.

No. 2 Stanford, Oklahoma State, Maryland, Florida, Louisville, Coastal Carolina, North Carolina, Southern Mississippi and Vanderbilt won Sunday night to set up winner-take-all finals Monday.

Stanford beat Texas State 8-4, with Pac-12 home run leader Carter Graham connecting twice and driving five runs as the Cardinal kept alive their hopes for a third straight super regional.

Roc Riggio and David Mendam each homered and drove in three runs as Oklahoma State avenged Saturday's meltdown against Arkansas with a 14-10 win.

Nick Lorusso's bases-loaded single in the 11th inning gave host Maryland a 7-6 walk-off victory over Connecticut, a No. 3 regional seed bidding for its first super regional since 2011.

Carsten Finnfold took over for struggling starter Timmy Manning after three batters and pitched nine innings of relief in host Florida's 7-2 victory over Oklahoma.

Host Louisville beat Michigan 20-1 to put itself on the cusp of its seventh super regional in nine years.

Nick Parker and Reece Maniscalco combined on a four-hitter as Coastal Carolina rolled past No. 8 East Carolina 9-1. Parker pitched eight innings and struck out 10, both career highs, and allowed three hits.

Host North Carolina beat No. 3 regional seed VCU 19-8 with Vance Honeycutt homering for the ninth time in 10 games.

Justin Storm pitched five innings of two-hit shutout relief to lead host Southern Mississippi past LSU 8-4.

Vanderbilt staved off elimination for the third straight game, beating No. 3 national seed Oregon State 8-1.

Auburn's final against UCLA was suspended until Monday because of rain with the Tigers leading 9-0 in the sixth.

Prodigious offense once again was on display at regional sites across the country. Another crazy game in Stillwater, Oklahoma, was Example A.

Oklahoma State came back from a 12-0 deficit to beat Missouri State 29-15 in an elimination game. It was the highest-scoring game in tournament history and happened less than 24 hours after the Cowboys blew a 10-5 lead entering the seventh and lost 20-12 to Arkansas.

The Cowboys' turnaround against the Bears was complete when Griffin Doersching hit a grand slam for a 17-14 lead in the seven-run sixth inning. They pulled away with 12 more runs in the eighth and ninth.

Oklahoma State has scored 65 runs and allowed 50 in four regional games and Nolan McLean has hit five homers.

Last year during regionals, there were an average of 12.84 runs per game (both teams). Through Saturday's games, the average was 14.57 — and that number will go up after Sunday.

Then there's Texas Tech

Texas Tech managed to score just eight runs in four games. The Red Raiders entered the tournament 10th nationally in scoring at 8.7 runs per game. They hadn't scored so few runs since they put up five runs in their last four games in 2014.

Former Vandy star Rocker back on mound in minors

By JOHN KEKIS
AP Sports Writer

TROY, N.Y. — Kumar Rocker was back where he belongs, on a pitcher's mound throwing his blazing fastball in a live game after being idle for nearly a year.

The former Vanderbilt star right-hander started on Saturday night for the Tri-City ValleyCats of the independent Frontier League, and his first experience as a pro ended after four innings of work, the first three nearly flawless.

"It was a long year, a lot of work put in," said Rocker, whose parents were there to take it all in. "I'm glad to see good results. I had a process. When I got the start date, it was attack, attack, attack — go out there and do my thing."

With a slew of major league scouts and a near sellout crowd of 4,088 at Joseph L. Bruno Stadium on hand to get a glimpse of Rocker's first game since last June 30, the hard-throwing, 6-foot-5, 245-pounder breezed through the first three innings against the Trois-Rivières Aigles, his fastball topping out at over 98 mph to go with an effective changeup, curveball, and a sometimes nasty slider. He threw 38 pitches and struck out five, all but the first one swinging, and allowed just a bloop single to left field by the second batter he faced, second baseman Ricardo Sanchez.

"I thought he pitched great for a guy that hasn't pitched in a year," Tri-City manager Pete Incaviglia said. "He had good command. I think he made one mistake. Everything else was really good. I was thoroughly impressed. For him to go out there and pitch the way he did with the command he had for not pitching for a year, you've got to tip your hat."

Rocker ran into trouble in the fourth, hitting the leadoff batter and tossing a wild pitch that prompted Incaviglia to make a brief visit to the mound with cleanup hitter Carlos Martinez in the midst of a long-at bat. Rocker stayed in and allowed a homer to left field to Martinez on a 3-2 slider as Trois-Rivières took a 2-0 lead.

That was it for Rocker, whose new teammates bailed him out, rallying for a 10-2 victory. He faced 16 batters, threw 60 pitches, 43 for strikes, struck out six, did not walk a batter, and allowed three hits and two earned runs.

"He's very intense when he pitches, but he's very laid-back and you hardly know his heart's beating when he's in the clubhouse," Incaviglia said. "We're fortunate to have him. We're trying to get him ready to get to the big leagues ... not to just get drafted but to be ready to pitch in the big leagues when he does get drafted."

Three years ago, Rocker led Vanderbilt to a College World Series title as a freshman and as a junior was drafted No. 10 overall last year by the New York Mets. He then walked away from the Mets when the two sides failed to reach an agreement by the August deadline because of concerns over the health of Rocker's right arm. He was the only first-rounder not to sign.

Now 22, Rocker signed a minor league contract with Tri-City in mid-May that will keep him active until the MLB draft in July.

Basketball camp

Shelbyville Recreation Center and the Shelbyville Golden Eagles are holding a basketball camp July 12-14 for ages 5-14 from 9 a.m.-noon daily.

Fee is $75 per camper. Sign up at the Shelbyville Parks & Recreation's website or Facebook page.

Rocker

"He should've been back a long time ago," Vanderbilt coach Tim Corbin said Saturday at the NCAA Tournament in Oregon. "All he did for our school was compete. And I'm just glad he's getting to play and get out there and refresh himself a little bit. He looks great."

At Vanderbilt, Rocker was a three-year standout and posted a 2.89 ERA in 42 games (39 starts), leading the Commodores to a national championship in 2019. He was named MVP of the College World Series, racking up 44 strikeouts in 28 postseason innings, including a 19-strikeout no-hitter in the NCAA Super Regional against Duke. His ERA was a microscopic 0.96 in four postseason starts.

He went 28-10 for Vandy and opted not to go back to college after not signing with the Mets, training instead on his own. The short stint with the ValleyCats will allow him to get back in the groove of live action.

"He's the real deal," Incaviglia said. "It's not just his stuff that makes him, it's his will to compete. He loves to compete. He loves to take the ball every day. Those guys are special."

Rocker's draft prospects are uncertain since scouts haven't been able to see him throw until now, but he still could go on the first round again, though not as high. He's expected to make at least three more starts in June for the ValleyCats.

Green set tone in Warriors' win

By TIM REYNOLDS

AP Basketball Writer

SAN FRANCISCO —

The first sign Game 2 of the NBA Finals was going Golden State's way came on the first possession.

Boston controlled the opening tap. Marcus Smart dribbled across midcourt and flipped the ball to Jayson Tatum, who quickly tossed it to Al Horford near the top of the key.

When Horford tried to make a move, he ended up on the floor, on the wrong end of a wrestling match with Draymond Green — who got his hands on the ball and did what he does best, create havoc.

It only took 11 seconds. The tone was set.

The Warriors vowed to be tougher in Game 2 and lived up to that plan — led by Green. A 107-88 win on Sunday night knotted things at a game apiece, with the Warriors leading by only two at the half and outscoring Boston by 27 in the first 13 minutes of the second half.

"We knew we had to come with a much better focus and sense of aggression, and I thought that started right from the beginning," Warriors coach Steve Kerr said. "Draymond played a huge role in that."

Of course he did. That's what Green does.

Hockey has what's called a Gordie Howe hat trick, when somebody has a goal, an assist and a fighting penalty in the same game. Basketball should have what's called a Draymond Green boxscore: He finished Sunday night with nine points, seven assists, five rebounds, a technical, might have come close to a second one after a little shove and generally was a thorn in Boston's side all night long.

"You know, when he's out there playing with that intensity and when he's flying around making plays, you know, not only our team feeds off that but the crowd feeds off that," the Warriors' Kevon Looney said. "When he's out there getting steals, getting blocks, getting assists, it makes the game easier for everybody."

Not that it's breaking news. After all, Green said as much on Twitter.

Stephen Curry was the offensive star with 29 points. Jordan Poole had the play of the night, a 39-footer to end the third quarter. The biggest contribution from Green, who took only three shots all night: He might have gotten into Boston's head.

And if that happened — and if he can stay in Boston's head — that's a huge edge for the Warriors as the series shifts to the Celtics' home for Games 3 and 4 this week.

"I mean, he's going to do what he does," Horford said after Game 2. "We're not worried about him. We're going to do what we do, focus on us. We just didn't get it done tonight. We'll be better at home Game 3."

The comforts of home await Boston. More than 18,000 fans, most wearing green, a city that used to celebrate Celtics titles like they were annual holidays and have gotten to see only one since Larry Bird's last in 1986.

Make no mistake, it'll be a huge boost for the Celtics.

It'll also be a huge boost for Green. He led the emotional charge in Game 2, and the Warriors hope it continues.

"We couldn't go into Boston being down 2-0," Warriors guard Gary Payton II said. "He lit the fire under us. He lights it and everybody else follows, and tonight was one of those big nights that everybody responded."

Joey Logano takes the checkered flag on Sunday in the Enjoy Illinois 300 at WWT Raceway on Sunday.

Logano beats Kyle Busch in overtime at Gateway

By DAVE SKRETTA

AP Sports Writer

MADISON, Ill. — Joey Logano watched helplessly as Kyle Busch drove away from him on a late restart Sunday, seemingly ending his hopes of delivering a much-needed win for Team Penske in the NASCAR Cup Series debut at World Wide Technology Raceway.

He took advantage of overtime, too, winning a drag race with Busch into the first corner in overtime, then jockeying briefly for the lead, before pulling away to take the white flag and eventually Logano's second win of the season.

"It doesn't get much better than that, racing for the lead like that with Kyle, one of the best, crossing each other back and forth," said Logano, who made it a banner day for Team Penske, which won the IndyCar race with Will Power earlier in the day in Detroit. "I knew it was coming. I did it to him. I knew he was going to do it to me."

The victory must have felt even sweeter for Team Penske given its recent struggles. In the last five points races, Logano has the only top-10 finish for the entire team with his victory last month at Darlington.

Kurt Busch finished second Sunday with Logano's teammate, Ryan Blaney, in fourth and Aric Almirola in fifth.

"I'm way out of breath here," Logano said. "What a great car. Really fast."

Ross Chastain was fast all day, too; he just couldn't stop hitting people. He got into Denny Hamlin and Chase Elliott at different points in the race, leading both of them to retaliate on the track.

"It was terrible driving," Chastain said afterward. "It's one thing to do it once. I kept driving into guys. At this level I have to be better than that. It's a shame. I had all these people believing in me. They deserve better."

By the end, Logano had watched Kyle Busch drive away on a restart with 13 laps remaining, only to get a reprieve when Harvick crashed with five to go. That led to a green-white-checkered finish at the 1 1/4-mile hairpin east of St. Louis, where Busch chose the outside lane as Logano drove his No. 22 car to the inside once again.

This time it was Logano that won the race to Turn 1 and moved in front of Busch, who crossed him over and took the lead into the sweeping third and fourth turns. That's where Logano went low and pulled ahead, gaining the space he needed to pull away when Busch got a little sideways coming out of Turn 4.

"We stayed in the running all day and fought hard," Logano said, "and thought maybe we could, and that was it."

The first Cup Series race at World Wide Technology Raceway, nestled just across the Mississippi River from the Gateway Arch and downtown St. Louis, produced a thrilling throwback to the early years of NASCAR, when tempers in the cars ran just as hot as the temperature outside — it soared over 90 degrees Fahrenheit in the sun.

Chastain had a lot to do with it.

The trouble for the eighth-generation watermelon farmer began in Stage 2, when Chastain ran up on Hamlin's rear coming out of the tight first and second turns and sent the No. 11 into the outside wall.

"I owe half the field an apology and words aren't going to fix it," Chastain said. "I'll have to pay for it on the track."

Indeed, Hamlin spent the rest of the afternoon trying to get even: He nearly drove Chastain down onto the grass down the back stretch, then slowed to a crawl around the track and nearly kept him from making the minimum speed.

"It's good he takes responsibility but ultimately it ruined our day," Hamlin said. "I think we were racing hard there for a while on the inside. He tried to keep sliding up in front of us and wasn't able to because I wasn't willing to just back off and let him slide up front. It didn't take long before he tucked behind us that he wrecked us."

Hamlin wound up with some support when Chastain got into Elliott's quarter panel later in the stage, spinning him out. And when the race resumed, Elliott nearly nudged Chastain into the wall before Hamlin took another swipe at him.

All the drama kept a sellout crowd of more than 60,000 on their feet in the blistering afternoon sun. Chastain wound up finishing seventh, Elliott was 21st and Hamlin finished 11 laps down in 34th place.

"We all have learned the hard way. We've all had it come back around on us," Hamlin said, "and it'll be no different."

Front to back

AJ Allmendinger won the Xfinity race Saturday in Portland, Oregon, then flew to St. Louis to start at the rear of the field Sunday. Ben Rhodes was supposed to qualify his No. 15 for Kaulig Racing but crashed in Turn 3 during practice and did not make an attempt. Allmendinger drove through the field to finish 10th.

Saturday is state's Free Fishing Day

Tennessee's 2022 Free Fishing Day is set for Saturday, when anyone may fish free without a license in Tennessee's public waters.

Those events include the annual Ed Carson Memorial Fishing Day at Bedford Lake. Children ages 4-15 are invited

The Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency provides the annual free day in hopes of increasing interest in fishing. The day allows anyone the opportunity to try this great outdoor sport to celebrate fishing as a wholesome and healthy recreational opportunity. In addition, children ages 15 and younger may fish without a license beginning on Free Fishing Day through the following Friday (June 17).

The day and week are annual events in Tennessee and are great opportunities to introduce children to the enjoyment and excitement of a day on the water catching fish. The TWRA is among several organizations planning special fishing events, primarily for youngsters. The TWRA annually stocks several thousand pounds of fish for various events.

For a list of the events, visit the TWRA website at www.tnwildlife.org and the fishing page. Anglers and potential anglers should check the events list often since special events are frequently added.

Free Fishing Day and Week apply to Tennessee's public waters, TWRA owned and operated lakes, and state park facilities. Some privately owned pay lakes and ponds continue to charge during this special day and week. Anglers will need to consult with those operators if there are any questions about a facility.

Tennessee hunting, trapping seasons set for fall, next year

NASHVILLE — The Tennessee Fish and Wildlife Commissions have set the state's hunting and trapping seasons for 2022-23. The Commission established the regulations at its June 2-3 meeting held at the Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency's Region II Ray Bell Building.

Complete hunting seasons dates and regulations will be available on the website (www.twra.org), TWRA App, and in the printed 2022-23 Tennessee Hunting Guide, which will be mailed to Lifetime and Sportsman's license holders and available for free at TWRA license vendor locations in mid-July.

After hearing growing reports of decreasing turkey populations, the Commission voted to delay the statewide turkey season to improve reproduction and nesting success. The bag limit will also be decreased from three birds to two birds, and only one bird can be a juvenile or jake.

Statewide, 2022 spring turkey harvest came in at 29,940 birds, down roughly 10 percent from the 5-year average. However, the number of successful hunters was 21,209 which continues to be in line with the 5-year average of 21,259. To reduce predator pressure on turkey nests and poults, the Commission voted to extend racoon and opossum hunting season to March 15 and double the bag limit.

The TFWC approved bobcat hunting during the statewide deer archery, muzzleloader, and gun seasons.

The controversial practice of fanning or reaping turkey was also banned on wildlife management areas (WMAs) to ensure public safety. It is still allowed on private land.

To simplify regulations, hunters will no longer need the Type 94 licenses to hunt antlerless deer on private land, but it will still be required on WMAs. Changes to deer season dates will be calendar year changes only. To make progress reducing the number of chronic wasting disease (CWD) positive deer, the Commission voted to extend the rifle season in the CWD zone by two weeks, to increase the buck limit to three, and to adjust the "Earn-A-Buck" program to be one doe, instead of two that earns one buck tag. Since the beginning of the program, hunters have harvested nearly 8,700 antlerless deer, with just more than 2,000 does entered in the "Earn-A-Buck" program. TWRA has also been developing a new strategic plan over the last year, which includes more targeted deer management zones to ensure the best science is used to address CWD rates.

TWRA staff did not recommend any changes to elk regulations. There are currently elk in five counties, with elk hunting allowed in public zones. Each winter, TWRA completes a ground survey of elk populations and has seen an increasing trend in elk populations. Currently, 15 elk tags are issued annually.

Cook with Heart Health in Mind

FAMILY FEATURES

Healthy eating doesn't have to be difficult or require you to take favorite meals off your family's menu. In fact, making smart choices when cooking at home can give you more control over the types of tasty, heart-healthy dishes you put on the table.

High cholesterol is one of the major controllable risk factors for heart disease and stroke, with about 38% of American adults diagnosed with high cholesterol, according to the American Heart Association. These cooking tips can help you prepare heart-healthy meals that could help improve cholesterol levels by reducing excess saturated fat and trans fat.

Cook Fresh Vegetables the Heart-Healthy Way

Roasting, steaming, grilling or baking can help bring out the natural flavors of vegetables. Adding herbs and spices can also help make veggies tastier, including combinations like basil with tomatoes, oregano with zucchini, dill with green beans or rosemary with peas and cauliflower.

Reduce Saturated Fat in Meat and Poultry

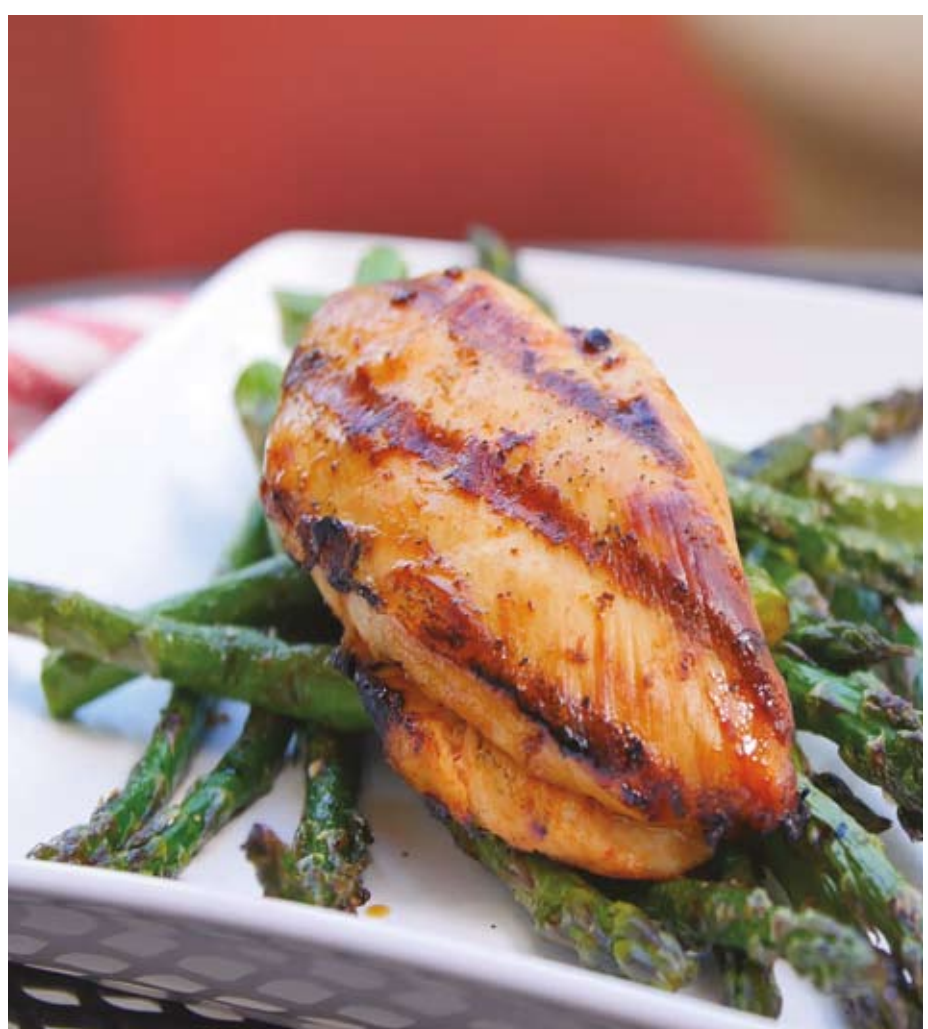

The amount of saturated fat in meats can vary widely, depending on the cut and how it's prepared. Opt for poultry and fish over red meat and look for lean cuts of meat with minimal visible fat, which should be trimmed away before cooking. Also limit processed meats such as sausage, bologna, salami and hot dogs, which are often high in calories, saturated fat and sodium.

Use Liquid Vegetable Oils in Place of Solid Fats

Some fats are better for you than others. Liquid vegetable oils such as canola, safflower, sunflower, soybean and olive oil can often be used instead of solid fats, such as butter, lard or shortening. If you must use margarine, try the soft or liquid kind.

Grilled Tequila-Lime Chicken with Grilled Asparagus

Frozen Yogurt Bark

Recipe courtesy of the American Heart Association
Servings: 8

- 1 1/2 cups 2% low-fat plain Greek yogurt
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 2 tablespoons chopped, unsalted almonds
- 1/2 cup chopped mango
- 1/4 cup blackberries or raspberries
- 1/2 cup blueberries

In medium bowl, mix yogurt and honey.

Line 9-by-13-inch baking dish with parchment paper. Use spatula or knife to spread yogurt over entire bottom of dish.

Pour chopped nuts over yogurt. Use fingers to slightly press into yogurt. Top yogurt with mango, blackberries and blueberries and slightly press into yogurt.

Cover with plastic wrap or foil and place in freezer overnight.

To serve: Lift parchment paper from baking dish onto cutting board. Use hands to break bark into pieces.

Frozen Yogurt Bark

Grilled Tequila-Lime Chicken with Grilled Asparagus

Recipe courtesy of the American Heart Association
Servings: 4

- 1/4 cup tequila or white vinegar
- 2 teaspoons lime zest
- 1/2 cup fresh lime juice
- 2 medium garlic cloves, minced
- 1 tablespoon chipotle pepper, canned in adobo sauce, minced, plus 2 tablespoons adobo sauce
- 1 1/2 pounds boneless, skinless chicken breasts, fat discarded
- nonstick cooking spray
- 3 bunches asparagus spears, trimmed
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon black pepper, divided
- 2 tablespoons canola oil or corn oil

In small bowl, stir tequila, lime zest, lime juice, garlic, chipotle pepper and adobo sauce. Pour into large resealable plastic bag. Add chicken and seal bag tightly; turn bag to coat. Refrigerate 2-12 hours.

Preheat grill to medium-high heat. Lightly spray grates with nonstick cooking spray.

In large dish, sprinkle asparagus with salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Drizzle with oil. Turn asparagus over to coat.

Remove chicken from marinade. Discard marinade and wipe most of it off chicken. Sprinkle chicken with remaining pepper.

Grill 8-12 minutes, or until chicken is no longer pink in center. Transfer to plate and cover with aluminum foil.

Place asparagus on grill, facing opposite direction of grates. Grill 7 minutes, or until tender crisp.

Serve asparagus with chicken.
