Each spring the Old Drum Ambassador Contest identifies “The Best of Man’s Best Friend” to represent the city for the coming year.

This year’s Old Drum Ambassador, named in April at the Old Drum Festival, is Rocky, a 3-year-old Saint Bernard/heeler mix that loves to meet new people and dogs.

He makes the rounds as a registered therapy dog, visiting local schools, hospitals, nursing homes and even the veterans home. His owner is Allison Sterling.

His favorite activities are playing fetch with balls or sticks, and driving his owner crazy with squeaky toys.

Hello!

All of us here at the Greater Warrensburg Area Chamber of Commerce would like to give you a warm welcome to our community. We hope that as you come here — to the “Home of Man’s Best Friend” — you will recognize the many opportunities we offer to work and learn, you will sit and partake in all the services our community has to offer, and most importantly we hope you will take time to play and engage in our city. In doing so, you will interact with many of the local businesses and organizations that contribute to our community.

Our primary purpose at the chamber is to support our businesses through ongoing education and networking opportunities, and to provide a legislative voice in matters involving our community and businesses. We believe it’s important for our community’s economic development for our businesses to have the support they need from those visiting our city, those who live in our city, and those who run our city. We host a variety of events each year to help our business owners build those relationships with each other and develop opportunities to help one another grow in business. We like to think of ourselves as Warrensburg’s “Business’ Best Friend.” Our abilities to help local businesses gain referrals and build leads through networking opportunities is something of which we are very proud.

Our chamber membership is also incredibly diverse. We not only represent businesses located within the city of Warrensburg and in Johnson County, but also business outside of the area. Here in Warrensburg, we have an incredibly charming downtown business district. It’s the perfect place to spend an afternoon or a weekend partaking in one of our many community festivals and events or simply window shopping and dining at one of our award-winning restaurants. Venture just slightly outside the downtown area, and we have hundreds of businesses — both those independently owned and those that are franchised by local community members.

Our mission at The Greater Warrensburg Area Chamber of Commerce is to create opportunities that drive commerce and promote business. We work as a #BusinessBestie to help our businesses flourish and we are proud to live in a community that supports our local businesses. Warrensburg has everything you need for entertainment, shopping, dining and day-to-day services. If there is anything we can do to help you navigate through Warrensburg or find a business to meet your needs, we’d love to meet you. Our friendly staff is eager to show you what our community has to offer. So please, come, sit and play in Warrensburg, the “Home of Man’s Best Friend.” We know you will be impressed!

COME AND WORK

Working with a growth mindset

By Johnson County Economic Development Corporation

Warrensburg is a thriving community of just under 20,000 residents. As the regional hub of a six-county area and home to the University of Central Missouri and nearby Whiteman Air Force Base, Warrensburg is well positioned for continued economic growth. Warrensburg's centralized location, its affordable business climate and its sophisticated small-town appeal have provided tremendous growth momentum recently.

From small friendly boutiques to large retail stores and unique antique shops, there is something for everyone to enjoy. There are countless reasons to come, sit and play. The Warrensburg business community offers approximately 70 restaurants/bars and over 100 retailers. Recent additions of new companies such as Big O Tires, Break Time Truck & Convenience Store, Chipotle, CVS Pharmacy, FFO Home, Gordmans, Schlotzsky's, Smokestack BBQ, Summers Pharmacy, and Zaxby's show that businesses and residents alike recognize the wonderful assets Warrensburg has to offer.

This recent growth has also had a positive impact on employment and the number of jobs available in the Warrensburg area, as the heartland work ethic and community pride make it a great place to do business. This has helped to create a diversified job base that provides the area with a secure and growing economy.

In the public sector, major employers include nearby Whiteman Air Force Base with over 7,400 civilian and uniformed personnel on its $357 million payroll and the University of Central Missouri with over 1,100 faculty and staff members.

Private corporations have also contributed to the area's high employment rate and bright economic outlook. Recently, after fierce competition, Warrensburg was selected for the site of the 23rd Dollar Tree Distribution Center, a $110 million project, which services more than 850 stores across an 11-state region. The company, which has been operational since July 2018, employs approximately 375 at their 1 million-square-foot facility in eastern Warrensburg. When not working, residents enjoy a high quality of life including access to quality education, recreation, shopping, appreciating home values and a low cost of living. Warrensburg boasts the best of rural life: an educated available labor pool, a world-class university, a burgeoning downtown and an engaged community that works hard every day to improve the place they call home.

Warrensburg's amenities rival larger cities but with a mid-America, small-town feel. First-rate health care, first-rate infrastructure, and plenty of entertainment and leisure activities allow for all community members to enjoy and thrive in Warrensburg.

The economic development partners of the City of Warrensburg, Warrensburg Main Street, the Greater Warrensburg Area Chamber of Commerce, and the Johnson County Economic Development Corporation dedicate their efforts to preparing and growing the Warrensburg community.

At the ready to serve the nation

Whiteman Air Force Base, home of the B-2 stealth bomber and the future home of the B-21 Raider, is a world-class location for active-duty and reserve personnel in the U.S. Air Force and Army.

Just 15 miles east of Warrensburg, Whiteman is the only B-2 Spirit base in the world, and the base will also soon be home to the B-21 Raider. The B-21 is expected to begin to replace the B-2 in the mid-2020s, building on the legacy of the stealth bomber.

When that announcement was made in May 2018, the B-21 was described as representing the next generation of the stealth global strike capability of the United States

Team Whiteman provides strategic deterrence, global power and support to combat and joint force commanders anytime, anywhere. The B-2 stealth bomber is able to leave Whiteman and fly nonstop to deliver ordinance anywhere on the planet.

The 509th Bomb Wing manages and employs all of the Air Force's B-2 Spirit stealth bombers. Additional units at Whiteman Air Force Base that stand at the ready to serve the nation include the 442nd Fighter Wing, the 131st Bomb Wing, and the 1-135th Assault Helicopter Battalion.

Col. Jeffrey Schreiner became the commander of the 509th Bomb Wing in May 2019.

"I am excited and humbled to have the opportunity to lead the 509th, and look forward to watching our amazing airmen guard America with our most lethal combat airpower," he said during the change-of-command ceremony.

Team Whiteman made history in 2019 when it received the Omaha Trophy for Strategic Bomber Operations for the second year in a row. Previously, it had not been awarded to the same wing in back-to-back years. The Omaha

Trophy, sponsored by Omaha's Strategic Command Consultation Committee, is awarded annually to outstanding units that represent USSTRATCOM's mission areas, their role in global operations and USSTRATCOM's continued emphasis on strategic deterrence.

Whiteman Air Force Base is the largest employer in the Warrensburg area. The 509th Bomb Wing is made up of about 5,000-plus members of the military and 2,000 civilian employees. With Air Force and Army personnel, the base has significant missions that individually and combined make Whiteman a gem in the national defense crown.

Whiteman also is a source for fun. Thousands converge on the base for the biannual air show Wings Over Whiteman. The next show will be in 2021.

Base members live and participate in Warrensburg's civic life. They join community groups and churches and are critical to the success of many activities, from beautifying Children's Memorial Gardens to planting flags on every veteran's grave on Memorial Day.

2nd Lt. George Whiteman's legacy

Whiteman Air Force Base was named as a tribute to one of the first American airmen killed in the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, which marked the entry of the United States into World War II.

2nd Lt. George Allison Whiteman of the U.S. Army Air Corps made the ultimate sacrifice Dec. 7, 1941, while attempting to take off in his P-40B aircraft to defend Bellows Air Field in Oahu, Hawaii. He was 22 years old.

Whiteman, the eldest of 10 children, was born on a farm near Longwood, Missouri, in Pettis County. He was a graduate of Smith-Cotton High School in Sedalia and attended the Rolla School of Mines in Rolla, Missouri, before enlisting 1939.

He was posthumously awarded the Silver Star, the Purple Heart, the American Defense Medal with a Foreign Service clasp, the American Campaign Medal, the Asiatic-Pacific Campaign medal with one bronze star, and the World War II Victory Medal.

In a December 1955 dedication ceremony, the recently reopened Sedalia Air Force Base was renamed Whiteman Air Force Base in honor of the pilot.

Older veterans can find an expert and caring environment at the Missouri Veterans Home in Warrensburg, which is recognized nationally. Learn more about this facility by visiting the website mvc.dps.mo.gov/homes/warrensburg.php.

Agriculture

Agricultural, forestry and related industries support more than 2,800 jobs in Johnson County.

The Missouri Department of Agriculture reports that, combined, these industries contribute $441.2 million in sales in the county, which in turn translates to $145 million in added value to the area after $296.2 million worth of inputs are purchased. Labor income makes up $75.3 million of that added value.

CITY GOVERNMENT

The city of Warrensburg has a city council-manager form of government in which an elected city council serves as the city's primary legislative body and appoints a chief executive officer, called a city manager, to oversee day-to-day municipal operations, to draft a budget, and to implement and enforce the council's policy and legislative initiatives.

City Council members serve staggered three-year terms with elections held annually in April. Council members may serve a maximum of two consecutive terms before they are term-limited, but they may sit out for a term and run again.

The council currently is composed of Mayor

Casey Lund (term expires 2020), Chairman Pro Tem Bryan Jacobs (2021) and council members Nolan Brooks (2022), Robin Allen (2020) and Scott Holmberg (2022).

The city's administrative offices operate out of City Hall at 102 S. Holden St., on the city campus that includes the Municipal Building across the street and Fire Station 1 and the Police Department buildings west of City Hall.

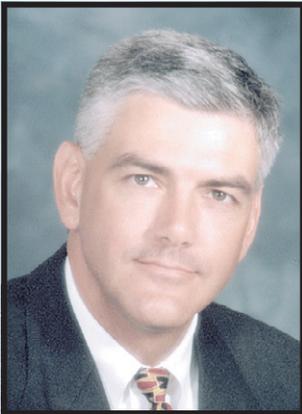

City Manager Harold Stewart II oversees the city's daily operations. Department heads, including the police and fire chiefs, human resources, community development, planning, finance and public works directors, answer to Stewart.

The city also has numerous boards and commissions composed of volunteer members who report to the council.

Members of the public may attend the City Council meetings, generally held at 7 p.m. on the second and fourth Mondays of every month at the Warrensburg Municipal Center.

For more information about council meetings or for general information about city operations, call (660) 747-9131 or visit the city's website at www.warrensburg-mo.com.

The Roman goddess Minerva looks out across Johnson County from atop the county courthouse in downtown Warrensburg.

Dressed in a gown with a patterned sash, she holds a spear in her right hand and a flashy sword in her left. The virgin goddess of poetry, medicine, wisdom, commerce, weaving, crafts and magic also wears a gem-adorned crown.

The all-white statue weighs 800 pounds and stands 10 feet tall.

Best leadership practices

University of Central Missouri's president talks about what it's like being the school's top administrator and leading one of the area's top employers

By Derek Brizendine

After joining the University of Central Missouri in 1995, Dr. Roger Best worked his way up through the ranks and is now the 16th president of the university.

He began serving as interim president Aug. 1, 2018, and was named president by the Board of Governors on Nov. 5, 2018.

Serving a student body of nearly 12,000 with about 1,200 university employees, UCM is one of the biggest employers in the area, behind only the nearby Whiteman Air Force Base. After a year in the president's office at UCM, Best weighs in here about how he approaches the job.

What do you like about being part of the University of Central Missouri?

"What I like about working in this profession and what I like about working at the University of Central Missouri specifically is that the nature of students that come to study here or study with us through online or study with us at our Lee's Summit facility are very similar to me when I was a student.

"We have a lot of first-generation college students. We have a lot of students who come from rural areas, but all of them are seeking something. We have 150 degree programs, graduate or undergraduate, that are able to meet whatever it is they are seeking and help them achieve that.

"It is incredible for us to see the impact we have on our students, and that is life-long. I tell our alumni that regardless of who is president, you are alumni for life.

"We, being the collective 'we' at the University of Central Missouri, we are always part of the lives of our students, not just while they are here but for the rest of their lives. To me, that is an awesome responsibility to have and an awesome responsibility to ensure we are doing our best for them every single day."

You are fairly new to your current leadership role. What made you pursue this position?

"I don't know that I was actually pursuing the position. I came here as a faculty member in 1995 and at various times I ended up in different administrative positions, but I had never envisioned being president of this or any other university. It was when our former president announced that he was leaving for a different opportunity that the Board (of Governors) asked if I would serve as interim. That was really when I first started thinking about serving as the president of the university.

"Even coming into the interim position, I was thinking of it as this temporary position and I was to help prepare the campus for who the next president would be. But after I got into the position, I realized that it was a position I fell in love with, realistically. I owe that to UCM. I do not see myself wanting to serve as president of any other university. I suppose that once I was in the interim position, I began to think about what it would be like to serve as the 16th president of the university. In that regard, I was interested in serving because I wanted to make a difference for my colleagues and for the students."

What is your leadership philosophy?

"My leadership philosophy is really probably couched in the old-school servant-leadership approach. Realistically, what my desire is as leader is to create vision or set vision for our faculty and staff and for our students as well and to talk about what is possible and where we are not only today, which I believe we are an incredible institution with high-quality programs and with great faculty and staff, but where we could go even further in the future.

"Philosophically as a leader, it is necessary for me to set some vision for the campus and for our various constituents, but in the day-to-day operations, I see my role as helping to procure the resources we need to carry out the mission we have and to help us accomplish the goals we have set. So really, it is two-fold: setting the vision about the future and then on a day-to-day basis, what does our faculty and staff need to be successful in the roles that which we have hired them? If we can provide those resources and create that environment where they are successful, that means that collectively the university and our students are successful."

What makes this organization succeed?

"Our people. What I have found in my time here is that our people very much care for each other and care for students. They want to ensure that our students are successful. I will be very open to say that our students have to work hard and what I openly say on top of that is that if our students are working hard and trying to succeed, then we are going to work equally hard to help them. Our job is to facilitate their success but not to create it for them. They have an obligation to study, to work hard and engage in the learning process with us, but if that is where they are, that is where we are going to be too. This is a special place to me because of the people and that is who makes us successful at the end of the day."

What is your favorite place on campus?

"I would say the Quad is one of my favorite places on campus because it is, personally, beautiful and there is a peace about it.

"The Quad has been there since we were founded. You sit there and there is all this history that has passed by. ... So, I love the Quad, but I have to say there are many places on campus that are my favorite."

What surprises people most about the university?

“There is nothing that surprises me necessarily. I can say that I am regularly impressed — impressed by what our students achieve. That is while they are here in their various competitions, winning national awards in both in athletics, we win national championships, and in academic team competitions.

“I am constantly impressed by the achievements of our students here and when they leave and what they are able to do in the world and the differences that they are able to make when they are our alumni. When you take a step back from why they are able to do that, I am impressed by the amount of work our faculty and staff put into ensuring that they are well prepared, that they mentor them while they are here, correct them when necessary and lead them through the learning process, then support them when they become alumni.

“I tell our alumni and usually tell our students when they are about to graduate, ‘You may think you are done with us, but we are not done with you. We will always be here for you.’ So our goal is to support our students when they are now through alumni, and we encourage them to stay in touch with us even if it is for nothing other than to help celebrate their successes with them because we know they are going to be successful.

“I constantly tell our alumni, ‘We are here for you, whatever you need, come back and let us know.’ So, I can’t say that I am surprised by stuff, necessarily, but I am certainly impressed, continually, by what happens here.”

What else do you want people to know about UCM?

“I would say to explore what we have to offer, and that is not about academic programs. Certainly if you are interested in academic study, we have programs, we have certificates that you can achieve, we have short courses and we have any number of opportunities to learn. But, we do much more than that. We have great athletic events. We have great cultural events on campus whether music, theater or art. We have great speakers who come to campus on a regular basis. So, just come to campus and explore what we have to offer, even beyond the academic programs and academic classes that we have available.”

Derek Brizendine is the managing editor of digital publishing for the Daily Star-Journal.

History & Heritage

Warrensburg secured its place in American history a little more than a decade after Missouri became the 24th state in August 1821.

The city's legacy dates back to 1833 when Martin Warren arrived from Kentucky and settled along the Osage Indian Trail. In 1834, Johnson County was established, and the town of Columbus was the center of county government until 1836. That changed in 1838 when a group of early Missouri leaders, including Daniel Morgan Boone, chose the site for the county courthouse in the growing village that was to become Warrensburg. The county court commissioned the building of the courthouse in that same year, and it took four years to complete.

Warrensburg's incorporation as a city came in 1855, and the railroad arrived in 1864. A thriving new commercial district sprouted along the tracks, five blocks southeast of the original town (or town square), and nearby sandstone quarries helped spur growth.

Visit one of these sites of historic interest and become part of Warrensburg's rich heritage.

Historical Society

Preserving our past has become a focus for our community and the Johnson County Historical Society. Historical sites in the Johnson County Historical Society's Museum Complex at 302 N. Main St. include:

- 1838 Old Courthouse — The famous Old Drum trial, Burden vs. Hornsby, took place here and Warrensburg became the Home of Man's Best Friend following a eulogy to a hunting dog during the trial. The restored building includes a period courtroom and is the site of special events, performances and exhibits.

- Mary Miller Smiser Heritage Library and Main Street Museum — The lower level of the building houses the Archives of Johnson County. The street-level floor includes the library and the museum. The museum exhibits a variety of artifacts that illustrate the history of the area. The library has a wealth of information for history enthusiasts, genealogists and other researchers. Collections include newspapers, county records, family files, school yearbooks and more. Digital databases also are available.

- Elm School — This restored one-room school was originally in western Johnson County. Now it hosts reenactments, tours and other special events.

- Culp Building — Collections and exhibits on agriculture and 20th century homemaking highlight the treasures found at the Culp Building.

To find out more about these sites, including admission fees, contact the nonprofit historical society at (660) 747-6480 or visit www.jocomohistory.org.

Blind Boone Park

One of Warrensburg's parks, located in the city's historic area, has been restored and is now known as Blind Boone Park, located at 402 W. Pine St., west of downtown.

The completed restoration includes a gazebo for public musical events, picnic areas and a statue of Blind Boone, a walking trail and nature area.

J.W. "Blind" Boone was a beloved member of our community who, blind and of multi-ethnic heritage, succeeded in working past many physical, cultural and economic limitations to become a famous concert pianist.

Pertle Springs

Visitors from far and wide once trekked to Pertle Springs to partake of the supposed healing powers of the water here. A single-track streetcar route shuttled the guests between Warrensburg and a prosperous resort with cabins, an auditorium and three-story hotel overlooking the lakes. The property is now owned and maintained by the University of Central Missouri and home to the Mules National Golf Club.

The University of Central Missouri McClure Archives and Museum houses a variety of exhibits focusing on the history of the university and natural history.

Man's best friend

The special relationship between people and their canine pets was first put into now-familiar words right here in Warrensburg.

"Man's best friend is his dog" quickly won fame across Missouri and beyond after being spoken by George Graham Vest during a trial in 1870 as part of a eulogy to a hunting dog named Old Drum.

Now the city's mascot, Old Drum is one of the most celebrated figures from Warrensburg's past.

Vest, who would later become a U.S. senator, made his now-famous speech while arguing in a Johnson County courtroom on behalf of Charles Burden, whose favorite dog was shot by the ward of Leonidas Hornsby. Burden sued and the case eventually wound up in the Missouri Supreme Court, where the plaintiff was awarded $50.

The trial advanced Vest's political career, and in 1958 his "Tribute to a Dog" was cast in bronze beneath the statue of Old Drum on the courthouse lawn.

A Tribute to the Dog By George Graham Vest

Gentlemen of the jury: The best friend a man has in this world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has, he may lose. It flies away from him, perhaps when he needs it the most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our heads. The one absolutely unselfish friend that a man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, and the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog.

Gentlemen of the jury: A man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground, when the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer, he will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounters with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince.

When all other friends desert, he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces, he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him to guard against danger, to fight against his enemies, and when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in its embrace and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by his graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad but open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true even to death.

Retrograde brings old school fun to Warrensburg with vintage toy museum, arcade

Retrograde Charitable Toy and Videogame Museum offers the Warrensburg community the unique opportunity to play hundreds of classic arcade games and take a look at an extensive amount of vintage toys and games dating back decades.

Retrograde is located at 112 W. Gay St. in a two-story house that was converted into a business, with the arcade on the first floor and the museum on the second.

The nonprofit community-organized museum/arcade was founded in June 2017.

Pinball machines and arcade cabinets are available for customers to play and compete for high scores. A number of board games are also available for some friendly competition.

Visitors will find original video game hardware from manufacturers such as Atari, Nintendo, Sega, PlayStation and Xbox; autographs and memorabilia from movies and television shows; a massive library of vintage toys; and an opportunity to relive countless childhood memories. You can even rent the space for birthday parties or other events that you want to celebrate with an old school backdrop.

Game on

The first floor of Retrograde is dedicated to the arcade, where $5 grants access to as many plays on as many of the arcade machines as one wants from the time they arrive until close. Gamers will find arcade cabinets such as Street Fighter II, Mortal Kombat, Pac-Man, Double Dragon, Galaga and various others. Some of the cabinets hold more than one game and some hundreds of individual classic arcade titles.

Hundreds of board games that visitors are welcome to open and play with friends also can be found on shelves and racks.

Tabletop role-playing games such as “Dungeons & Dragons” are part of the mix too.

Pop culture history

The museum, which is spread out across three rooms on the second floor of Retrograde, is home to a myriad of toys and memorabilia that will make one feel as though they stepped straight into the bedroom of a child obsessed with all of the most popular forms of entertainment from the '70s, '80s and '90s.

Each of the three rooms has its own theme and collection of vintage collectibles.

These rooms house a wide collection of lunch boxes, toy cars, stuffed animals and action figures. Various franchises and characters from a number of different eras and mediums can be found here.

1970s and 1980s movie memorabilia includes “Star Wars” toys featuring Darth Vader, Luke Skywalker and the Millennium Falcon, and Xenomorph and Ripley figures from the “Alien” franchise.

There are action figures and toy models from classic cartoons such as “Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles,” “Transformers” and “The Simpsons” alongside figures of comic book characters such as Spider-Man, Batman, Captain America, Iron Man, The Punisher and Hulk.

Another room on the second floor holds a number of other classic characters and franchises that aim toward a younger audience such as Barbie, Garfield, Charlie Brown and Snoopy from “Peanuts,” as well as “Sesame Street” characters Elmo and Cookie Monster.

In addition to the toys and games on display, Retrograde also displays a variety of posters and autographed memorabilia.

Every corner of Retrograde showcases a piece of pop culture history.

“We also have cartoon production cells that are all original, a lot of things signed by their actors, voice actors, their artists and things of that nature,” President of Retrograde Brian Chamberlin said.

Chamberlin and the other members of Retrograde set out to make their arcade and museum a place for people to come and enjoy the experience of visiting an arcade, whether a kid or an adult wanting to relive fond childhood experiences.

“We are about bringing everyone together about being a kid. That’s what we really drive and strive for here — to give people that experience,” Chamberlin said.

The good and the bad of video gaming

Yet another room contains a number of retro and more modern video game consoles and handhelds such as the original PlayStation, Super Nintendo Entertainment System, Nintendo Gameboy, Sega Genesis and Xbox 360.

In addition to the game consoles are a number of peripherals that were sold alongside certain video games or consoles. Among them were toy guitars used for the “Guitar Hero” series, the “Fallout” series’ Pip Boy (a device with a second screen that fits around the wrist) and a set of bongos compatible for “Donkey Kong Jungle Beat” that allowed the user to control the character by beating the bongos.

Even the Virtual Boy — an obscure Nintendo creation released in 1995 that was marketed as the first video game console able to display stereoscopic 3D graphics — sits atop one of the shelves.

It was discontinued the year following its release after selling less than 800,000 models worldwide and releasing only 22 games due to poor sales.

It was also infamous for the health concerns it caused with reports that came out claiming that using the console resulted in side effects such as headaches, nausea and dizziness caused by staring at its monochrome red screen.

Nintendo even advised children aged 7 and below to not use the console at all due to the risk of causing the child to develop a lazy eye.

The Virtual Boy is, for better or worse, a famous piece of video game history.

Something for kids

The idea behind Retrograde came from their realization that there were not enough local establishments for kids to have fun outside of school.

“The seed that really created all of this was that there was not much for the kids to do,” Chamberlin said. “Kids don’t want to hang out at school after school is out or continually go to events there.”

Chamberlin fondly remembers times when he was younger and would visit an arcade to play video games and talk with his friends, cementing the arcade as an important and nostalgic place for him.

“I always joke that Tempest was the video game that kept me away from God,” Chamberlin said. “I was supposed to be going to the Lutheran church for catechism every Wednesday night, but I would steal off to the arcade on my bike with all the quarters I had found and I would hang out with the older kids and hang out at the arcade in my little town.”

Nostalgic connections

Those at Retrograde have packed the house to the brim with their games and toys, which surprises first-time visitors who may not be expecting such an expansive collection to be found in a relatively small place.

“When people walk in, they do not expect to find what they find here or the depth of it or how much stuff is crammed into this place, especially with the arcade and toys and stuff,” Chamberlin said.

With the museum overflowing with vintage items, it creates more of a chance that those who visit will take notice of a toy they played with as a kid. Chamberlin wants visitors to see at least one toy they had when they were a child to bring a sense of nostalgia during their visit.

“It’s one thing as they walk through that they might connect with,” Chamberlin said. “We want to have that one thing for them to make them gasp and have that moment of, ‘Oh, I had that when I was a kid. It was my favorite,’ and to bring back all of those memories through that nostalgia.”

In addition to welcoming its own guests, Retrograde has taken part in programs such as Tools for School, Bare Necessities and Edutainment: Educating Through Play and a Toy and Game Library, aiming to bridge the gaps between community and local organizations.

When it's time to unwind, the Warrensburg community has just the right spot, whether you want to stretch your legs on a trail, curl up with a good book, take in an art exhibit or hit the links. Here are just a few sites of note you may want to visit while you're in town.

Warrensburg Parks & Recreation — Warrensburg Parks & Recreation operates some of Warrensburg's most popular sites for leisure time activities for all ages. Parks, playgrounds, a dog park, Nassif Outdoor Aquatic Center and the Warrensburg Community Center are all part of the amenities maintained by this city department. The city's nine parks cover 400 acres and feature hiking trails, a skate park, tennis courts, playgrounds, ballfields and soccer fields. Additionally, the Warrensburg Community Center has a full-size gymnasium, volleyball and pickleball courts, a walking track and an Indoor Aquatic Center. The Warrensburg Senior Center and the award-winning WCC Fitness Center are located here too. Warrensburg Parks & Recreation hosts a variety of special events such as Dive-In Movie Night, Doggie Dive, Swimming Under the Stars, and more.

Trails Regional Library — The Warrensburg branch of the library system, at 432 N. Holden St., offers a full slate of programs, including children's story hours, downloadable ebooks and ereader assistance. The eight Trails Regional Library branches in Johnson and Lafayette counties maintain more than 100,000 volumes — books, periodicals and audio-visual media.

Gallery of Art and Design — The Gallery of Art and Design at the University of Central Missouri provides arts programming emphasizing cultural and artistic diversity through a series of exhibitions, lectures and workshops.

The gallery hosts Missouri-based, national and international artists and designers, as well as exhibiting UCM student and faculty work.

Knob Noster State Park — Eight miles east of Warrensburg is a state park with woodland, prairie and a meandering creek. Knob Noster State Park — nestled between Warrensburg and nearby Whiteman Air Force Base — covers more than 3,500 acres and offers fishing; camping; covered pavilions; picnic areas; equestrian, mountain biking and hiking trails; campsites; and restroom facilities. The park includes a nature center with exhibits, several small lakes, and ample opportunities to explore nature. Kayaks are available for rent from April through the end of October.

Golf Courses — Warrensburg is home to two 18-hole golf courses within the city limits, and another is near Whiteman Air Force Base.

Mules National Golf Course is owned and operated by the University of Central Missouri. This full-service 18-hole facility is equipped with a restaurant and pro shop.

Hidden Pines Country Club is a semi-private club with an 18-hole course, restaurant, pro shop, pool, banquet facilities and bar.

Royal Oaks Golf Course is associated with Whiteman AFB and is open to the public via a guest program. There is a pro shop and snack bar on site.

Warrensburg inclusive playground offers something for everyone.

By Randy Speer

Tucked away inside Cave Hollow Park, 1001 W. Gay St., is a wonderland of activity for people of all abilities.

The Warrensburg inclusive playground, finished in 2018, offers a space where anyone can experience the joys of a jungle gym.

"The park itself was designed as best we could to accommodate just as many people as we could with all kinds of different abilities," local community leader Scott Holmberg, who helped spearhead the project, said.

The play area features a ramped play structure with sensory panels, multiple climbing structures and a slide as its focal points.

A zip track with both a standing and a sitting option, a saucer swing and a four-person merry-go-round compliment the main structure.

The area holding the playground has a flat rubber floor, a feature Holmberg said was designed to allow for wheelchair users as well as people who need walking aids to be able to use the playground.

The swing set includes multiple types of seats to accommodate anyone wanting to break the bounds of gravity for a moment.

"The community built this," Holmberg said. "This was truly a community effort."

Community fundraising, along with grants and help from the City of Warrensburg allowed for the construction of one of only two inclusive playgrounds in Johnson County.

"I think it is pretty cool what we did as a community and it certainly shows what people can do when they want to do something positive," Holmberg said.

Cave Hollow Park, where the playground is located, is open from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. every day, barring inclement weather, and features two baseball/softball fields, Old Drum's Best Friends dog park, a walking trail, barbecue grills, restrooms and rentable picnic areas.

GREEN TRUCK BAKERY

Green Truck Bakery has been making artisan bread since 2012. Carl and Carmen Schick and their son Ryan Schick are the owners and the bakers. In 2017, a 135-year-old building was purchased and renovated in the historic district in downtown Warrensburg. Part of the renovation was to build a 10' x 8' wood fired oven. Carl and Ryan took on that project and it performs today, baking artisan breads, crackers, sweet and savory croissants, cinnamon rolls, sticky buns and granolas. Green Truck Bakery fills a niche in Warrensburg and surrounding communities for artisan hearth breads, using all natural ingredients. The bakery has a weekly rhythm. Every loaf takes three days, from start to finish, beginning the process each Monday. Weekly, Green Truck Bakery provides sourdough rolls for all of the seven schools in the Warrensburg R-6 District as well as graham crackers to the elementary schools. You can sample our breads at the bakery or at Café Blackadder and Muddy Creek BBQ & Honky Tonk. Yes, there really is a Green Truck, a 1951 Chevy Truck gifted to Carl on Father's Day over 20 years ago. On Sundays, the bakers and oven have a brief rest with Monday finding them back at work with the prep work and baking, capturing some of the leftover heat stored in the masonry of the oven.

The bakery is open on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays noon to 7 p.m. as well as Saturdays 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Stop by or visit www.greentruckbakery.com to find out more.

L&L TERMITE & PEST CONTROL

Family owned and operated, L&L Termite & Pest Control works to keep customers comfortable in their homes by eliminating common household pests and treating lawns.

Owners Mark and Lynne Lewis make it a priority to provide their pest control services for a reasonable price with trustworthy advice.

"Trust your family with our family," states the company's Facebook page.

They are experts in the control and elimination of termites, ants, roaches, fleas, spiders, boxelder bugs, Asian beetles, clover mites, stinging insects, rodents, ornamental and turf treatments and more.

The best action in combatting warm-weather pests is spraying the perimeter of the house and monthly maintenance, says Mark.

The spraying season normally starts in April.

To help control fleas and ticks, both your lawn and pets should be taken into consideration.

"Make sure the grass stays cut, especially around the house and treat the animals," he said.

During the winter months, the cold temperatures can help keep pests at bay.

"We needed a week of below freezing temperatures to kill off the young insects and eggs," says Mark.

About 20 percent will survive to hatch, and that's when it's time to call L&L Termite & Pest Control.

Both residential and commercial services are available with no contract.

Outside of their pest control work, the civic-minded owners of L&L support the community through donations of gift certificates for treatments and other donations to various organizations throughout Johnson County.

L&L Termite & Pest Control, located at 615 E. Hale Lake Road, is open 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday to Friday and responds to emergency calls as needed. Call (660) 429-3383.

JAEGER TIRE

Jaeger Tire, with the slogan “More Than Just Tires,” specializes in high-quality, American-made tires, as well as brakes and alignments.

Located at 400 N. Holden St., Jaeger Tire has been part of the Warrensburg community for over 70 years, opening in 1944 as mainly a tire store for new tires, repair and recapping. In the '70s, the Jaeger Family added gasoline, brakes and alignments and moved to its present location.

Dwayne Jackson retired from the military and became the owner of Jaeger

Tires in 2004. He removed the gasoline pumps while expanding services to include oil changes and other routine auto services along with road service and on-the-farm repair.

Jaeger Tire is a recognized dealer for Goodyear. Jackson and his highly trained full-time staff also became a Michelin dealer in 2016 and have recently added the Cooper line to their inventory.

“More Than Just Tires” includes free tire pressure checks, tires for lawn mowers and tractors, road and farm service, nitrogen inflation, shocks and struts, front end work of all kinds, Road Force Wheel Balancing, and more.

Jaeger Tire is open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday to Friday, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, and closed Sunday. Find out more by calling (660) 747-5822 or visiting jaegertire.com.

JOHNSON CO. UNITED WAY: YOUTH UNITED

Johnson County United Way is about making an impact.

The nonprofit is doing that by working with youth in a way that builds confidence and pride in themselves and their community. Local residents’ partnerships with the United Way support community organizations that create a program serving youth between 8th and 10th grade. The community-specific program contains these elements:

- Leadership and interpersonal training/experience;
- Serve a Neighbor;
- Serve a Community Group;
- Cook from a Garden;

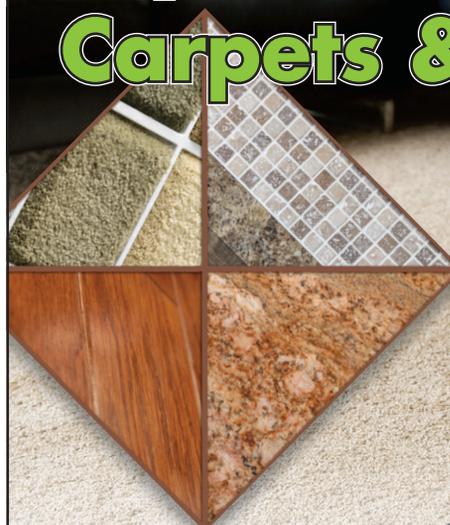

- Celebrate Individual Creativity Project;
- Impact the Community Project;
- Capstone Project.

To paraphrase thinker Arthur C. Brook, “A prosperous society like ours will always have the ability to sustain its citizens in ways that may be materially adequate, but this can be totally bereft of any meaningful sense of autonomy or earned success.” Efforts must go beyond helping by empowering individuals to achieve a position in which they are needed, necessary, integral participants in our economy and our communities.

Consider collaborating with Johnson County United Way with your time, talents and treasure. Host a fundraiser, volunteer to work or teach a session within one of the community programs.

SWISHER'S

If you need it, there's a good chance Swisher's has it.

"Most of our customers are impressed and pleased with the selection as soon as they walk in the door," said owner Rick Swisher, whose family has been behind the store at 907 N. Simpson Drive for more than half a century. "Nobody's ever disappointed."

What began as 10,000 square feet of retail space opened in 1965 by Ray Swisher and Louis Feldman supplying everything from everyday household items and work clothes to fencing and other farm-related items is now more than 40,000 square feet of retail, warehouse and loading space with an extensive inventory.

It has been much more than a farm and home store for many years.

The vast array of products has expanded to include fashion clothing, giftware, toys, home décor and seasonal items, scouting needs for both boys and girls, hardware supplies, lawn and garden products, tools, boots, and animal care supplies.

From essential oils to welding supplies, Swisher's is the first place you should look to find what you need.

"People really need to come in and look at what we have to offer," said Rich Swisher, who said he enjoys running a business in his hometown because of the personal connections he has with his customers.

He continues to uphold the idea the original store was founded on: bringing quality products at a fair price to Warrensburg and the surrounding communities.

With an eye on the future, Swisher's will continue introducing new, unique and relevant products to ensure it always has something for everyone.

To contact the store, call (660) 747-9196 or visit www.shopswishers.com. Swishers is open 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday to Saturday.

WESTERN MISSOURI MEDICAL CENTER

Western Missouri Medical Center was awarded the Healthgrades 2019 Patient Experience Award for the second consecutive year, recognizing WMMC in the top 15% of hospitals in the nation for patient experience.

WMMC is also a designated Level III Trauma, Stroke, and STEMI (heart attack) center, meaning that the emergency staff can get patients the critical care they need when time matters.

This fully accredited acute care facility and not-for-profit community medical center offers comprehensive health care services to residents of Johnson County and west central Missouri, fulfilling its vision to be the regional preferred provider of exceptional health care services.

With a history dating back to 1963, WMMC values community involvement and staying local by hosting several annual events like Ladies' Night Out that raises breast cancer awareness. We participate in numerous health fairs and lead the community CHNA to assess collaboration between local partners to enhance the health of our community. As a result, the WMMC Foundation raised funds to launch Talk2Me, an anonymous texting service for mental health needs.

The main hospital location, at 403 Burkarth Road in Warrensburg, has a state-of-the-art birthing facility, orthopedics surgery center, rehab, pain center and so much more. Additionally, WMMC has family practices in Warrensburg, Knob Noster, Concordia and Higginsville, as well as specialized pediatrics and sports medicine providers in Warrensburg.

With a mission "to improve the health of our greater community by providing quality healthcare services, exceeding the expectations of those we serve," WMMC is the fourth largest employer in Johnson County with a workforce of about 550.
