Good Housekeeping

Bold Berry Granita

Frosty, fruity and fat-free, this heat-beating Italian ice doesn't require any special equipment — just a metal baking pan. Fill with a mix of pureed raspberries and strawberries and sugar syrup, then freeze. Scrape with a fork into prechilled dishes to serve.

- 1 cup water
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 lemon (up to 2)
- 1 pound strawberries
- 1/2 cups raspberries

1. Make sugar syrup: In 2-quart saucepan, heat water and sugar to boiling on high, stirring until sugar dissolves. Reduce heat to low and simmer, uncovered, 5 minutes. Set aside to cool slightly, about 5 minutes.
2. Meanwhile, from lemon(s), grate 2 teaspoons peel and squeeze 1/4 cup juice. In food processor with knife blade attached, blend strawberries and raspberries until pureed. With back of spoon, press puree through sieve into medium bowl; discard seeds.
3. Stir sugar syrup and lemon juice and peel into berry puree. Pour into 9-by-9-inch metal baking pan.
4. Cover and freeze mixture 2 hours or until frozen around edges. With fork, scrape ice at edges into center. Cover and freeze until completely frozen, at least 3 hours or overnight.
5. To serve, let granita stand at room temperature 15 minutes or until slightly softened. With fork, scrape across surface of granita to form ice shards and spoon into chilled wine goblets or dessert bowls. Serve immediately. Makes about 5 cups.

Bold Berry Granita

Frosty, fruity and fat-free, this heat-beating Italian ice doesn't require any special equipment — just a metal baking pan. Fill with a mix of pureed raspberries and strawberries and sugar syrup, then freeze. Scrape with a fork into prechilled dishes to serve.

- 1 cup water
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 lemon (up to 2)
- 1 pound strawberries
- 1 1/2 cups raspberries

1. Make sugar syrup: In 2-quart saucepan, heat water and sugar to boiling on high, stirring until sugar dissolves. Reduce heat to low and simmer, uncovered, 5 minutes. Set aside to cool slightly, about 5 minutes.
2. Meanwhile, from lemon(s), grate 2 teaspoons peel and squeeze 1/4 cup juice. In food processor with knife blade attached, blend strawberries and raspberries until pureed. With back of spoon, press puree through sieve into medium bowl; discard seeds.
3. Stir sugar syrup and lemon juice and peel into berry puree. Pour into 9-by-9-inch metal baking pan.
4. Cover and freeze mixture 2 hours or until frozen around edges. With fork, scrape ice at edges into center. Cover and freeze until completely frozen, at least 3 hours or overnight.
5. To serve, let granita stand at room temperature 15 minutes or until slightly softened. With fork, scrape across surface of granita to form ice shards and spoon into chilled wine goblets or dessert bowls. Serve immediately. Makes about 5 cups.

- On July 2, 1900, in the sky over Germany's Lake Constance, Count Ferdinand Graf von Zeppelin successfully demonstrates the world's first rigid airship. The 420-foot, cigar-shaped craft was lifted by hydrogen gas and powered by a 16-horsepower engine.
- On July 7, 1912, Jim Thorpe wins the pentathlon at the fifth modern Olympics in Stockholm, Sweden. He would later medal in the decathlon. In 1913, though, he was stripped of his Olympic medals because he had played minor league baseball. The medals were restored posthumously in 1982, 30 years after his death.

Starting summer with a bang: Atwood Florist a rare combination of flowers, fireworks

By JACOB MARROCCO

Atwood Florist owner John Dick saw seven years ago that business was dipping during the months of July and August. That sparked an idea.

Dick decided to add fireworks to his stock from June until early July, and sales have exploded ever since. He said he sells to plenty of graduates and brides who are looking to add some flare to events like parties and beach weddings.

Even surprised customers who stumble upon the fireworks at 1041 Atwood Ave. usually end up leaving with some sparklers in tow. "So I've got a little market there with the brides and the grads, and then once that kicks off ... that will go into Fourth of July customers," Dick said. "I go up to about $20,000 in sales, so [there is] a lot of traffic. I'm proud of it."

Dick said summer sales tend to slow down because the prom and school dance season has ended, and fewer weddings are held during the warmer months. The period from September to June typically brings the "big push" for flowers, which led Dick to get creative for July and August.

"In the summer, they're doing their own gardening, they're on vacation, they're preoccupied with other things," Dick said. "When they come back, it's the babysitters, the daycares, the teachers, the dances, you know, it just goes right into the holidays."

Last July was difficult, Dick said, because the Fourth was on a Wednesday. That led to a conundrum of whether to celebrate on the weekend before or after, but this year he won't experience that issue. The Fourth falls on a Thursday this year, and Dick anticipates people taking Friday off en masse for the long weekend.

There's a product for everyone, too – from the curious newcomer to the firework aficionado – and prices range from $1.99 to $350. The latter price tag applies to the new Backyard Bash, which features dozens of items and stands almost as tall as a person.

Most often, though, Dick will see customers gravitate toward the $100 Backyard Barrage, an assortment package that fits "a good price point for a lot of people." Other top-sellers include Crown Jewels and Komodo Dragons, which can last upwards of six minutes and are suitable for grand finales to wrap up firework shows.

He said some customers don't even purchase the products for themselves. Dick recalled one repeat buyer of both flowers and fireworks who will buy an assortment every year for the kids in her neighborhood.

"She buys flowers all the time," Dick said. "[She says] 'I'm going to get my assortment package for the children.' And she has no children of her own, but she loves to see them enjoy it so she buys a package every year, an assortment, just for the neighbors to do it. Everybody likes it."

Dick – who has been running the business for 25 years – is no stranger to competition. Despite the fact that he starts earlier than most sellers, he stills competes with local supermarkets and tents popping up across town. Dick has his committed clientele, though. One of his most popular flower products is the $5 love bunch, which includes baby's breath, carnations and daisies in a wrap. When customers cross the threshold and see what else he has in stock, though, the reactions can leave Dick laughing. "They're like, 'What are you doing? Fireworks?'" Dick said, with a chuckle. "But they know I'm still the florist, but they are taken aback and they still look. And they end up picking up some sparklers or something."

He originally operated the fireworks portion of the business in front of his home, but asked the town if he could move it inside when setup and cleanup became too arduous. Now, Atwood Florist is home to more than just plants, but also the sparkling spectacles that have become synonymous with almost any summer celebration.

"Normally, the fireworks all come 11 days before the Fourth," Dick said. "That's kind of a standard, but because I don't have to pay for the tent and the tables ... all they have to do is ship it to me. So they allow me to do it a little earlier. I just try to get that jump."

Ironically, Dick didn't have much interest in fireworks growing up, but it has turned into a lucrative venture. However, he admitted that he was warmed up to fireworks, and he even partakes in the festivities as well.

"We have a lake house in Maine, so I'll bring some up there and bring them on the lake," Dick said. "You've got to have a little ambience to go with it."

WHAT'S IN STORE: These are a few examples of the fireworks that John Dick offers at Atwood Florist on 1041 Atwood Ave. in Johnston. He said prices range from $1.99 up to $350 for the largest assortment available.

Thanksgiving Novena to ST. JUDE

O Holy St. Jude Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ. Faithful intercessor of all who invoke this special patronage in time of need. To you I have recourse from the depth of my heart and humbly beg you, to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return, I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. Say three Our Fathers, three Hail Marys and three Glory Be's. Publication must be promised. St. Jude pray for us and all who invoke your aid. Amen. This novena has never been known to fail. It helped me. Thank you St. Jude for answering my prayers.

JS

Prayer to St. Jude

Most holy Apostle, St. Jude, faithful servant and friend of Jesus, the church honors and invokes you universally, as the patron of hopeless cases, of things almost despaired of. Pray for me, I am so helpless and alone. Make use, I implore you, of that particular privilege given to you, to bring visible and speedy help where help is almost despaired of. Come to my assistance in this great need that I may receive the consolation and help of heaven in all my necessities, tribulations, and sufferings, particularly (your request) and that I may praise God with you and all the elect forever. I promise, O blessed St. Jude, to be ever mindful of this great favor, to always honor you as my special and powerful patron, and to gratefully encourage devotion to you. Amen.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Coming up with a new way of handling a tedious job-regulated chore could lead to more than just a congratulatory memo once the word reaches the "right people." Good luck.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) What you might call determination, someone else might regard as stubbornness. Look for ways to reach a compromise that won't require a major shift of views on your part.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You're still in a vulnerable mode vis-a-vis "offers" that sound too good to be true. So continue to be skeptical about anything that can't be backed up with provable facts.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Thrift is still dominant this week. What you don't spend on what you don't need will be available for you to draw on should a possible (albeit temporary) money crunch hit.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Staying close to home early in the week allows for some introspection about your social life. Sort out your feelings before rejoining your fun-time fellows on the weekend.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) It can be a bit daunting as well as exciting to find yourself finally taking action on a long-delayed move for a change. It helps to stay with it when others rally to support you.

BORN THIS WEEK: Your love of home and family provide you with the emotional support you need to find success in the outside world.

to your good health WITH Dr. Keith Roach

Summer Sun Bakes Mail-Order Meds

DEAR DR. ROACH: I get all of my medicine by mail. Since the manufacturers stress keeping the pills at cool room temperatures, I wonder what the excessive heat does to them. The medicine must cook all day in the mailbox — way over 100 degrees here in Florida. I wonder how much the pills or liquids are deteriorating, and how the effectiveness is influenced. — F.N.

ANSWER: You are right to be concerned. All medicines should be stored in a cool and dark place, as direct sunlight and heat can damage their effectiveness. Hormones, such as oral contraceptive pills, thyroid hormone and insulin, are among the most sensitive. Nitroglycerine is as well. Although some are shipped in packaging with cold packs and insulation, that's not always the case. I recommend using a local pharmacy, but many people have prescription plans that require them to use mail order. If that's the case for you, try to make sure the medicine will be delivered when you are available to receive it. If you have a temperature-sensitive medicine, such as the ones I mention above (ask your pharmacist about others), ask your mail-order pharmacy to send it in special packaging during warm-weather months.

DEAR DR. ROACH: I am a 68-year-old male. I had triple bypass surgery two years ago. Post-surgery complications included diabetes, pneumonia and renal failure. I spent approximately three months in intensive care. After discharge I started physical therapy, as my arms and hands had atrophied. I am still doing therapy, but continue to have limited use of my arms and hands (I cannot curl my hands without force). Any insight you have as to why I am unable to use my hands would be appreciated. — C.M.

ANSWER: Muscle weakness is common after an ICU stay (it's seen in more than 25 percent of patients), due to several separate causes. Prolonged immobility can lead to weakness, atrophy and even contractures (involuntary bending at certain joints, such as the elbow and ankle). Both critical illness myopathy (affecting muscles; it's common in people who received steroids, like prednisone) and critical illness polyneuropathy (affecting nerves; it's common in people with severe infection, like sepsis) can lead to weakness and atrophy.

Medications are sometimes needed to paralyze muscles in surgery or in critical illnesses, and these can have long-lasting side effects, including weakness. Malnutrition is common in ICU patients, not because ICU doctors and nurses don't know or don't want to feed patients, but because the body may be unable to absorb necessary nutrients. Some or all of these may combine to leave lasting physical effects from a long ICU stay.

Physical and occupational rehabilitation services are the key to the recovery of function. Return of physical strength is slow and may be incomplete, so it may be necessary to use aids and to learn new ways to perform tasks. It has been my repeated experience that almost everyone can benefit from therapy, and patients who work harder, are more driven and are more optimistic tend to have the best results. Although most benefit is seen in the first year after loss of function, you still may continue to improve with therapy, perhaps utilizing different modalities. Definitely seek an occupational therapist if you haven't already.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu.

Rookwood Fountain

Flowers were an important part of the lives of Americans from the 1880s to 1950s. Technology had advanced to a time when pottery could be made in multiples in molds and large kilns. New types of plants had been introduced to the country, flower arrangements were a sign of wealth and good taste. Formal gardens were important.

In 1902 that were groups about 3- to 5-feet high, with water pouring from rock crevices or mouths of large fish. Today, a Rookwood fountain can sell for $3,000 to $8,000, depending on the artist, subject and condition. It is not unusual to have many chips, stains even firing cracks in a fountain after years outside, but it still sells for thousands of dollars. It also pays to get expert repairs that will raise the value and add to the life of the fountain. A Rookwood fountain sold by Brunk auctions a few years ago brought $2,300 even though it was damaged. Wear and tear on a garden piece adds to the romance and aged look. Check the backyards of house sales or even houses for sale for overlooked fountains and birdbaths or ornaments. You might find a forgotten treasure.

This 32-inch-high Rookwood faience fountain featuring a child and a dolphin spouts water from the dolphin's mouth into a pond. The water recirculates thanks to a pump, and when the water evaporates either a hose or rain refills it. It cost $2,300 at a Brunk auction in North Carolina a few years ago.

Q. I have a print by Henry Aiken and wonder if you could tell me anything about it — the year and someplace besides eBay where I can sell it.

A. Henry Thomas Aiken (1785-1851) was a British artist known for his pictures of sporting scenes. Some of his oil paintings sell at auction for thousands of dollars, but many original works have been reproduced and are available online for as little as $10 or less. Your print should be seen by an expert to determine if it is an original and what its value might be. If it's an original, it would sell for a satisfactory price at an auction.

COUCH THEATER DVD PREVIEWS
 BY AMY ANDERSON

hotshot who gets a little too big for his britches and is sent down to the minor-league office in upstate New York — where he was born and raised. And for some reason, this little town is the epicenter of a Russian mafia bitcoin empire. Complete with a Hemsworth brother, Kurt Russell as an aging potato farmer and Alexis Bleidel on the karaoke mic, you are sure to get a kick out of this “thriller.” Suspend all of your disbelief and enjoy.

Us (R) — After a terrifying experience as a child — she wanders off to a hall of mirrors at a beachside carnival, where she runs into her living, breathing mirror image — Adelaide (Lupita Ny’ongo) understandably has reservations about vacationing at the very same beach. But nevertheless, she sets out with her husband Gabe (Winston Duke) and their two children with high hopes. Unfortunately those hopes are dashed when they return to their beach house to find red-jumpsuited versions of themselves — part of an army of tethered dopplegangers across the country — executing a hostile takeover of reality. Director Jordan Peele (“Get Out”) proves yet again that he can comfortably deliver a disturbing horror story.

Lupita Ny’ongo in “Us”

Hotel Mumbai (R) — In November 2008, armed men terrorized the Indian city of Mumbai, including a popular grand establishment, the Taj Hotel. In this gripping — and perhaps, too-soon — retelling, we see the action inside the hotel unfold from the perspective of those affected: the hotel restaurant’s celebrated chef Hemant Oberoi (Anupam Kher) and his dedicated staff, a Sikh waiter named Arjun (Dev Patel), a vacationing American couple (Armie Hammer and Nazanin Boniadi) with their baby, and an old-school Russian special forces soldier (Jason Issacs), among others. They all must fight for their lives, and to save the lives of their fellow humans. It’s very definitely heart-pounding, and well-presented. These brutal events happened only a scant 10 years ago.

brothers with only themselves and their faith to lean on. Zach is a superstar football player (surprise!) eyeing a scholarship that can lift them both out of the poor Florida town they live in. Their mother died of cancer, their father is mired in his own grief, but the local pastor (Mario Van Peebles) and their loving godmother (Frances Fisher) keep them on track. When Zach suffers a career-ending injury it looks like all is lost — including Zach’s faith in God’s plan — until Dave steps in with a fierce talent for track.

The rose plant itself is said to be around 35 million years old; it has a very long history as a symbol for love and beauty and for politics and war. Cultivation of roses began some 5,000 years ago, probably in China. During the Roman period, they were used as confetti at celebrations, for medicinal purposes, and as a source of perfume. Roman nobility established large public rose gardens in their cities.
